

Gc
942.6101
W58h
1267361,

M. L.

GENEALOGY COLLECTION

GEN

ALLEN COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

3 1833 01795 7892

c

HISTORY, GAZETTEER AND DIRECTORY
OF NORFOLK, England

AND THE
CITY AND COUNTY OF THE CITY OF NORWICH; COMPRISING
A General Surbey of the County of Norfolk,
AND THE DIOCESE OF NORWICH; AND SEPARATE
HISTORICAL, STATISTICAL, & TOPOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTIONS OF ALL THE
HUNDREDS, LIBERTIES, UNIONS, BOROUGHES, TOWNS, PORTS, PARISHES, VILLAGES, HAMLETS, AND MANORS; SHEWING

THEIR EXTENT AND POPULATION; MANUFACTURES; FISHERIES; MARKETS AND FAIRS; CHARITIES AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS; CHURCHES AND CHAPELS; THE NATURE, VALUE, PATRONS AND INCUMBENTS OF THE BENEFICES; THE LORDS OF THE MANORS AND OWNERS OF THE SOIL AND TITHES; THE ADDRESSES OF THE INHABITANTS; PUBLIC CONVEYANCES;

Seats of Nobility and Gentry;

MAGISTRATES AND PUBLIC OFFICERS:

AND A GREAT VARIETY OF

ARCHÆOLOGICAL, ARCHITECTURAL, AGRICULTURAL, BIOGRAPHICAL, BOTANICAL, CONCHOLOGICAL, GEOLOGICAL, AND ORNITHOLOGICAL INFORMATION.

—◆—
Third Edition.

—◆—
BY WILLIAM WHITE,

(Member of the British Archæological Association; and of the Archæological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland.)

AUTHOR OF SIMILAR WORKS FOR MANY OTHER COUNTIES.

—◆—
PRICE THIRTY SHILLINGS.

—◆—
SHEFFIELD:

WILLIAM WHITE, FULWOOD PARSONAGE.
LONDON: SIMPKIN, MARSHALL AND Co.

1864.

[ENTERED AT STATIONERS' HALL.]

LEADER AND SONS, PRINTERS, INDEPENDENT OFFICE, BANK STREET, SHEFFIELD.

PREFACE.

— 1287361

In issuing a new and enlarged edition of the "History, Gazetteer, and Directory of Norfolk," the Author has for the third time to tender his grateful acknowledgments to many of the literary and official Gentlemen of the county, as well as to most of the resident Clergy, for their promptitude in replying to his enquiries, and the uniform courtesy with which they have received and instructed his agents. Where the contributors of valuable information are so numerous, it may seem invidious to particularize any; but there are some whose names cannot be passed over in silence. In a county so celebrated for its farming, the Essays on "Agriculture" and "Arterial Drainage," by Clare Sewell Read, Esq., of Plumstead House, will be read with great interest; nor will the elaborate "List of Botanical Productions," so carefully compiled by the Rev. George Munford, M.B.S.L., of East Winch, be less acceptable. The Sketch of the "Geology of Norfolk," from the able pen of the Rev. John Gunn, M.A., F.G.S., of Irstead, and the valuable catalogue of "Shells of the Newer Pleiocene," drawn up by S. P. Woodward, Esq., F.G.S., of the British Museum, will be hailed with pleasure by scientific readers; whilst the "List of Birds," furnished by Henry Stevenson, Esq., of Norwich, will doubtless be a useful acquisition to naturalists. The three articles on the "Sanitary Condition," "Elevations," and "Names of Places," contributed by the Rev. Edward Gillett, of Runham, also afford much useful information. The list of subscribers contains not only the names of His Royal Highness the PRINCE of WALES, the Hon. and Right Rev. the Lord BISHOP of NORWICH, and nearly all the Nobility, Gentry, and Clergy of the county; but also those of a large majority of the Professional Gentlemen, Merchants, Tradesmen, and Farmers; to all of whom thanks are due, as without their support the work could not have been successfully carried out.

The first edition of the "History, Gazetteer, and Directory of Norfolk," was published in 1836, and was so well received, that a second edition was printed in 1845, and met with an equal share of patronage. The success which attended this and similar publications for other counties, excited the cupidity of certain illiterate individuals, who in 1854, under the name of "Francis White and Co.," published a pirated and spurious edition of this work, in which most of the information was copied verbatim, whilst the form and general arrangement were identical. A natural dislike to the entanglements of the law prevented any legal proceedings being taken to punish the perpetrators of this literary imposture; and, encouraged by this mistaken leniency, other parties commenced the like practices elsewhere, and ultimately compelled the Author, both for his own protection and that of the public, to apply to the Court of Chancery for redress. An account of the proceedings in the action "White v. Drake," will be found on the next page; and the Author takes this opportunity of expressing his determination to apply for an Injunction against anyone who infringes the copyright of this or any of his publications; which, having been compiled with great labour and at considerable expense, he will not quietly permit to be purloined by unprincipled persons for their own emolument.

As the Author hopes at some future time to re-publish this work in a still larger and more complete form, he will be happy to receive from time to time any suggestions which may occur to those who peruse it; and as every possible care has been taken to avoid errors, he trusts that the volume will be found as free from inaccuracies as is compatible with the vast body of information, and the great variety of subjects compressed within its pages.

WILLIAM WHITE.

Fulwood Parsonage,
Sheffield, 1st August, 1864.

ACTION FOR INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT.

From the "Sheffield and Rotherham Independent," Aug. 16, 1862.

WHITE v. DRAKE.

This case came on for hearing at the Warwick Assizes, on Wednesday, the 13th inst., before Lord Chief Justice Erle; Mr. Macaulay, Q.C., and Mr. Beasley appearing for the plaintiff, and Mr. Field, Mr. Wills, and Mr. Stephens for the defendant.

The plaintiff, Mr. William White, of Sheffield, is the well-known publisher of county and other directories, rendered extremely popular by the superiority of their topographical and historical contents; and he has, during the last 45 years, brought out Directories of Yorkshire, Durham, Northumberland, Cumberland, Westmoreland, Staffordshire, Lincolnshire, Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Leicestershire, Rutlandshire, and many other counties. The defendant had been engaged collecting information and obtaining orders for plaintiff for four years, but had left Mr. White's employ in December, 1860. At that time, Mr. White was preparing to publish a second edition of his Leicestershire Directory of 1846, with certain emendations and alterations. Defendant was aware of the intended publication, and in the meantime proceeded into Leicestershire, and issued a prospectus of a similar directory, on which prospectus the words "DRAKE AND Co." were printed, in large type, "formerly with" in very small type, and "WILLIAM WHITE" in letters of the same size as those in defendant's name. Defendant published his directory in January, 1861, and in the same month plaintiff applied to the Court of Chancery for an injunction to restrain its publication. It was contended that defendant's directory was copied from the plaintiff's, which had been duly registered under the Copyright Act. Many of the paragraphs in the work were almost copied verbatim. Vice-Chancellor Stuart, having considered the affidavits on both sides, ordered the cause to be tried in a court where witnesses could be examined. From the opening of the pleadings, it appeared that John Kershaw, of Leeds, was a defendant in the cause, as printer of defendant's directory. The first count of the declaration stated that plaintiff was and is the proprietor of the "Historical Gazetteer of Leicestershire and Rutland;" and the breach was that defendant, without consent in writing, printed divers copies of it; the second count reciting that defendant, without consent of plaintiff, disposed of the same. Mr. Macaulay gave an outline of the case, and mentioned that the plan of the plaintiff's work was to give compilations of the ecclesiastical history of the places in reference to which directories were published, together with topographical descriptions, lists of names, streets, &c., and special particulars of the local charities; and as an instance of the way in which Mr. White's work had been copied by defendant, he would mention that the whole of the matter as to the local charities published in 1846, had been pirated by Drake, although the state of those charities had become entirely changed. In this way, also, names of streets, which were quite erroneous, had been imported into the piracy. (Mr. Macaulay compared the two directories, and called attention to various instances in which either the arrangement or the text of plaintiff's work had been copied). . . . Mr. Field said Mr. Macaulay was relying on the scheme and plan of his work being copied, but he should show that the plan and scheme of a directory were no copyright, for the whole plan and arrangement of a gazetteer was very old. The essence of a directory, he submitted, was the names and addresses of persons in any particular city, town, or village, and these parts of Drake's directory were substantially new. . . . His Lordship remarked that all errors copied in defendant's work must be put down to the debit side of Drake's account. . . . Mr. Macaulay proceeded to point out numerous instances of undoubted piracy. He then called Mr. William White, Jun., who explained the manner in which the information for the directory was obtained. Information was collected from various standard authorities and parliamentary documents. This information was placed in the hands of agents, who visited every part of the county to test its accuracy and obtain new information. The alphabetical arrangement of the hundreds was peculiar to White's directory.—At this stage of the case Mr. Field admitted that the debit side of defendant's account, as the learned Judge called it, had become too heavy for him, and agreed, without going into further evidence, to a Verdict for the Plaintiff; and undertook to consent to an INJUNCTION IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY.

INDEX OF PLACES.

- | | | |
|---|--|--|
|  Acle, 443
 Alburgh, 522
 Alby, 662
 Aldborough, 639
 Aldeby, 446
 Alderford, 690
 Althorpe, 972
 Alpington, 481
 Alvington, 675
 Anmer, 774
 Antingham, 639
 Appleton, 774
 Arminghall, 496
 Ashby, 481
 Ashby-cum-Oby, 420
 Ashill, 898
 Ashmanhaugh, 614
 Ashwellthorpe, 554
 Ashwicken, 774
 Aslacton, 555
 Attleborough, 886
 Attlebridge, 599
 Austin Bridge, 624
 Aylmerton, 640
 Aylsham, 662
 Babingley, 775
 Baconsthorpe, 667
 Bacton, 614
 Bagthorpe, 972
 Bale, 1038
 Banham, 876
 Banningham, 668
 Barford, 571
 Barmer, 972
 Barney, 1016
 Barnham Broom, 571
 Barningham (Little), 669
 Barningham Northwood, 640
 Barningham Town, 640
 Barret-Ringstead, 1002
 Barrow, 947
 Barsham (East), 972
 Barsham (North), 973
 Barsham (West), 973
 Barton-Bendish, 825
 Barton-Turf, 615
 Barwick-in-Brakes, 991
 Bastwick, 425
 Bawburgh, 572
 Bawdeswell, 691
 Bawsey, 775
 Bayfield, 1038
 Beaupré Hall, 839
 Beck Hall, 692
 Beck Hyth, 653
 Beckham (East), 641  |  Beckham (West), 669
 Bedingham, 482
 Beechamwell, 826
 Beeston St. Andrew, 599
 Beeston St. Lawrence, 616
 Beeston - next - Mileham, 952
 Beeston Regis, 641
 Beetley, 953
 Beighton, 444
 Belaugh, 669
 Bellemont House, 791
 Bengate, 635
 Bergh Apton, 469
 Berney, 1016
 Berney-Arms, 448
 Berry-Hall, 615
 Bessingham, 641
 Besthorpe, 889
 Bexwell, 827
 Bickerston, 572
 Billingford near Diss, 522
 Billingford, 691
 Billockby, 421
 Bilney (East), 953
 Bilney (West), 775
 Binham, 1017
 Bintree, 692
 Bircham (Great), 991
 Bircham Newton, 992
 Bircham Tofts, 992
 Bittering Magna, 954
 Bittering Parva, 954
 Bixley, 497
 Blackborough End, 793
 Blakeney, 1038
 Blickling, 670
 Blofield, 454
 Blofield Hundred, 453
 Blo-Norton, 877
 Blue Bell Common, 628
 Bodham, 1039
 Bodney, 910
 Booton, 672
 Boughton, 827
 Bowthorpe, 573
 Boyland Hall, 562
 Bracon-Ash, 510
 Bracondale, 243
 Bradenham (East), 910
 Bradenham (West), 911
 Bradestone, 455
 Bradfield, 617
 Bramerton, 497
 Brampton, 672
 Brancaster, 992
 Brandiston, 692  |  Brandon Creek, 837
 Brandon Parva, 573
 Branthill, 1024
 Breckles, 899
 Bressingham, 536
 Brettenham, 889
 Bridge-gate, 635
 Bridgham, 889
 Brimstone Hill, 847
 Briningham, 1040
 Brinton, 1040
 Brisley, 954
 Briston, 1041
 Brockdish, 523
 Brockley, 635
 Bromholm Priory, 615
 Brooke, 467
 Broome, 483
 Broomhill, 864
 Broomsthorpe, 973
 Brothercross Hundred, 1008
 Brumstead, 429
 Brundall, 455
 Buckenham Ferry, 456
 Buckenham (New), 890
 Buckenham (Old), 891
 Buckenham-Tofts, 855
 Bunwell, 556
 Burgh-Apton, 469
 Burgh-next-Aylsham, 672
 Burgh St. Margaret and St. Mary, 421
 Burgh Parva, 1041
 Burgh St. Peter, 470
 Burlingham (North), 456
 Burlingham (South), 457
 Burnham Deepdale, 1008
 Burnham Market, 1012
 Burnham Norton, 1009
 Burnham Overy, 1009
 Burnham Thorpe, 1010
 Burnham Ulph, 1011
 Burnham Sutton, 1011
 Burnham Westgate, 1012
 Burston, 536
 Bustard's Green, 559
 Buxton, 673
 Bylaugh, 693
 Caister-next-Norwich, 498
 Caister - next - Yarmouth, 412
 Caldecot, 912
 Caltotts, 530
 Calthorpe, 674
 Calvelly Hall, 945
 Cantley, 457  |
|---|--|--|

- Carbrooke, 899
 Carleton St. Peter, 483
 Carleton-Forehoe, 574
 Carleton-Rode, 557
 Carlton (East), 510
 Carrow, 243
 Castle-Acre, 776
 Castle-Rising, 779
 Caston, 900
 Catfield, 429
 Catton, 599
 Cavick House, 589
 Cawston, 674
 Cess, 423
 Chedgrave, 483
 Choseley, 994
 Clackclose Hundred, 824
 Clavering Hundred, 465
 Claxton, 484
 Clenchwarton, 806
 Cley-next-the-Sea, 1042
 Clippesby, 422
 Clipstone House, 979
 Cockley-Cley, 912
 Cockthorpe, 1019
 Colby, 676
 Colne House, 643
 Colkirk, 955
 Colney, 511
 Coltishall, 676
 Colton, 574
 Colveston, 855
 Congham, 783
 Corpusty, 677
 Costessey, 575
 Coston, 577
 Coxford Priory, 984
 Crabgate, 708
 Crabhouse Nunnery, 823
 Crabbe's Castle, 1036
 Cranwich, 855
 Cranworth, 932
 Creake (North), 1013
 Creake (South), 1014
 Cressingham (Great), 913
 Cressingham (Little), 913
 Crimplesham, 827
 Cringleford, 511
 Cromer, 642
 Cross Keys' Wash, 803
 Crostwick, 601
 Crostwright, 617
 Crownthorpe, 577
 Croxton near Thetford, 856
 Croxton, 978
 Denton, 524
 Denver, 828
 Deopham, 578
 Depwade Hundred, 553
 Dereham (East), 933
 Dereham (West), 829
 Dersingham, 783
 Dickleburgh, 537
 Didlington, 914
 Dighton, 599
 Dilham, 618
 Dillington, 934
 Diss, 538; Hundred, 535
 Ditchingham, 484
 Docking, 994
 Doughton, 974
 Downham Hamlet, 589
 Downham Market, 830
 Downham Union, 825
 Drabblegate, 663
 Drayton, 601
 Dudwick House, 673
 Dumpling Green, 934
 Dunham (Great), 955
 Dunham (Little), 956
 Dunkirk, 663
 Dunston, 512
 Dunton and Doughton, 974
 Eade's Mill, 707
 Earlham, 216, 242, 328
 Earsham, 525
 Earsham Hundred, 521
 Easthaugh, 699
 Eastgate, 674
 Eastmore, 825
 Easton, 579
 Eaton, 216, 242, 328
 Eau-Brink-Cut, 803
 Eccles-by-the-Sea, 430
 Eccles near Harling, 892
 Edgefield, 1043
 Edingtonthorpe, 618
 Egmere, 1019
 Ellingham near Bungay, 470
 Ellingham (Great), 893
 Ellingham (Little), 901
 Elmham (North), 957
 Elmundale, 681
 Elsing, 693
 Emneth, 806
 Erpingham, 678
 Erpingham (North) Hundred, 637
 Erpingham (South) Hundred, 661
 Etling Green, 934
 Eynesford Hundred, 690
 Fair Green, 793
 Faith's (Saint), 605
 Fakenham, 974
 Felbrigg, 646
 Felmingham, 618
 Felthorpe, 602
 Feltwell, 856
 Fen-end, 812, 814
 Fersfield, 546
 Field Dalling, 1019
 Filby, 414
 Fincham, 835
 Fishley, 445
 Flegg (East and West), 411
 Flitcham - cum-Appleton, 784
 Flordon, 512
 Fodderston, 842
 Foldholme, 445
 Fordham, 836
 Forehoe Hundred, 570
 Forncett St. Mary, 558
 Forncett St. Peter, 558
 Foulden, 914
 Foulsham, 694
 Foxley, 696
 Framingham Earl, 500
 Framingham Pigot, 500
 Fransham (Great), 959
 Fransham (Little), 959
 Freebridge Lynn, 772
 Freebridge Marshland, 802
 Freethorpe, 458
 Frenze, 547
 Frettenham, 603
 Fring, 996
 Fritton, 559
 Fulmodeston, 978
 Fundenhall, 560
 Gallow Hundred, 971
 Garboldisham, 878
 Garvestone, 941
 Gasthorpe, 879
 Gateley, 959
 Gatesend, 989
 Gayton, 785
 Gayton Thorpe, 786
 Gawdy Hall, 529
 Gaywood, 786
 Geldeston, 471
 Gillingham, 472
 Gimingham, 647
 Gissing, 548
 Glandford, 1044
 Godwick, 968
 Gooderstone, 915
 Gorleston, 365
 Gowthorpe, 520
 Greenhoe (North), 1015
 Greenhoe (South), 910
 Gresham, 647
 Gressenhall, 960
 Grimshoe Hundred, 854
 Grimston, 787
 Griston, 902
 Guestwick, 696
 Guiltercross Hundred, 875
 Guist, 697
 Gunshaw, 526
 Gunthorpe, 1044
 Gunton, 648
 Guton, 692

Hackford near Hingham, 579	Holme-next-Sea, 997	Leziate, 791
Hackford in Reepham, 701	Holt, 1045	Limpenhoe, 459
Haddiscoe, 473	Holt Hundred, 1037	Lingwood, 459
Haggard Street, 607	Holverstone, 501	Litcham, 962
Hainford, 604	Honing, 619	Loddon, 489
Hales, 474	Honingham, 583	Loddon Hundred, 481
Halvergate, 446	Horning, 620	Loddon Union, 466
Hamond Lodge, 810	Horningtoft, 961	London (Little), 811
Hanworth, 649	Horsey-next-Sea, 433	Longham, 963
Happing Hundred, 428	Horsford, 605	Long Stratton, 564
Happisburgh, 431	Horsham St. Faith, 605	Lopham (North), 882
Hapton, 560	Horstead, 607	Lopham (South), 883
Hardingham, 941	Houghton, (New), 980	Lovell's Hall, 810
Hardley, 486	Houghton-in-Dale, 1025	Ludham, 436
Hardwick, 561	Houghton-on-Hill, 917	Lynford, 859
Hargham, 893	Holverstone, 501	Lyng, 699
Harleston, 529	Hoveton St. John, 621	Lyngate, 635
Harling (East), 879	Hoveton St. Peter, 621	Lynn (King's), 709
Harling (West), 880	Howe, 475	Lynn (North), 808
Harpley, 789	Humbleyard Hund. 509	Lynn (South), 711
Hassingham, 458	Hunstanton, 998	Lynn (West), 808
Hautboys (Great), 678	Hunworth, 1049	Mannington, 682
Hautboys (Little), 679	Ickburgh, 859	Marham, 838
Haveringland, 697	Illington, 894	Market Dereham, 933
Haynford, 604	Ingham, 434	Marlingford, 585
Heacham, 996	Ingoldisthorpe, 1001	Marsham, 682
Heckingham, 475	Ingworth, 681	Marshland, 802
Hedenham, 486	Intwood, 515	Martham, 423
Heigham, 217, 242, 328	Irmingland, 681	Massingham (Great), 791
Hellesden, 217, 243, 328, 604	Irstead, 622	Massingham (Little), 793
Hellington, 487	Islington, 807	Matlask, 650
Helhoughton, 979	Itteringham, 681	Mattishall, 943
Hemblington, 446	Kelling, 1049	Mattishall Burgh, 944
Hempnall, 561	Kempstone, 961	Mattishall Heath, 518
Hempstead, 432, 1044	Kenninghall, 881	Mautby, 415
Hempton, 979	Kenningham, 518	Meeting House Hill, 635
Hemsby, 422	Kerdiston, 700	Melton Constable, 1050
Henstead Hundred, 495	Keswick, 515	Melton (Great), 517
Herringby, 419	Ketteringham, 515	Melton (Little), 517
Hethel, 513	Kettlestone, 982	Mendham, 526
Hethersett, 513	Kilverstone, 895	Merkshall, 518
Hevingham, 679	Kimberley, 584	Merton, 902
Heydon, 680	Kirby Bedon, 501	Methwold, 860
Heywood, 538	Kirby Cane, 475	Metton, 650
Hickling, 432	Kirstead, 488	Middleton, 793
Highgate, 786	Knapton, 649	Mileham, 964
High green, 537	Lakenham, 243	Mintlyn, 795
Hilborough, 916	Lakesend, 847	Mitford Hundred, 931
Hilgay, 836	Lammas, 682	Morley St. Botolph, 585
Hillington, 790	Langford, 917	Morley St. Peter, 585
Hindolveston, 698	Langhale, 488	Morningthorpe, 562
Hindringham, 1020	Langham, 1049	Morston, 1052
Hingham, 580	Langley, 488	Morton-on-Hill, 699
Hockeringham, 942	Langmere, 537	Moulton-near-Acle, 447
Hockham, 893	Larling, 895	Moulton-near-Diss, 563
Hockwold, 858	Launditch Hundred, 951	Mount Amelia, 1001
Hoe or Hoo, 961	Leicester Square, 1014	Mount Ida, 972
Holkham, 1020	Lenwade and Bridge, 706	Mousehold Heath, 462
Holm St. Bennet's, 620	Lessingham, 435	Muckleton, 1011
Holme-Hale, 916	Letheringsett, 1050	Mulbarton, 518
Holme-next-Runetun, 838	Letton, 942	Mundesley, 650
	Lexham (East), 961	Mundford, 861
	Lexham (West), 962	Mundham, 492

- Narborough, 917
 Narford, 918
 Nayland, 521
 Neatishead, 622
 Necton, 919
 Needham, 526
 Newton-by-Castleacre 920
 Newton St. Faith, 605
 Newton Flotman, 519
 Newton (West), 795
 Northall Green, 934
 North Delph, 848
 Northrepps, 652
 Northwold, 862
 North Walsham, 627
 Norton Subcourse, 476
 Norwich, 139
 Notley, 794
 Oby and Ashby, 420
 Orange Farm, 811
 Ormesby (Great), 415
 Ormesby (Little), 417
 Osmondiston, 549
 Oulton, 684
 Outwell, 839
 Overstrand, 653
 Ovington, 903
 Oxborough, 920
 Oxnead, 684
 Oxwick-cum-Pattesley, 965
 Palgrave, 923
 Palling, 437
 Panxworth, 447
 Paston, 623
 Pattesley, 965
 Pedam, 447
 Pensthorpe, 982
 Pentney, 795
 Peterstone, 1010
 Pickenham (North), 922
 Pickenham (South), 923
 Pinkney Hall, 989
 Pirnhow, 485
 Plumstead, 653
 Plumstead (Great), 460
 Plumstead (Little), 460
 Pockthorpe, 243
 Poringland (Great), 502
 Poringland (Little), 503
 Postwick, 461
 Pott Row, 788
 Potter Heigham, 438
 Pudding Norton, 982
 Pulham Virgin, 527
 Pulham Magdalen, 528
 Pyrleston, 522
 Quarles, 1025
 Quebec House, 935
 Quiddenham, 884
 Rackheath, 607
 Rainham (East), 982
 Rainham (South), 983
 Rainham (West), 984
 Rainthorpe Hall, 512
 Ranworth, 447
 Raveningham, 477
 Raynham Hall, 983
 Redenhall-with-Harleston, 529
 Reedham, 448
 Reepham, 700
 Reffly Spring, 787
 Repps-Cum-Bastwick, 425
 Repps (North), 652
 Repps (South), 657
 Reymerstone, 944
 Riddlesworth, 884
 Ridlington, 624
 Ringland, 703
 Ringstead (Great), 1002
 Ringstead (Parva), 1002
 Rippon Hall, 679
 Rise Green, 566
 Rockland All Saints and St. Andrew, 895
 Rockland St. Mary, 503
 Rockland St. Peter, 903
 Rokeles, 907
 Rollesby, 425
 Roudham, 896
 Rougham, 965
 Roughton, 654
 Roxham, 841
 Roydon near Diss, 548
 Roydon near Lynn, 796
 Rudham (East), 984
 Rudham (West), 985
 Runcton (North), 796
 Runcton (South), 841
 Runhall, 586
 Runham, 417
 Runton, 654
 Rushall, 534
 Rushford, 885
 Ruston (East), 438
 Ruston (South), 624
 Ryburgh Magna, 985
 Ryburgh Parva, 986
 Ryston, 841
 Saddlebow, 822
 Saham Toney, 904
 St. Edmund's Point, 999
 St. Faith's, 605; Union, 599
 Salhouse, 608
 Sall, 703
 Salter's Lode, 828
 Salthouse, 1052
 Sandringham, 797
 Santon, 863
 Saxlingham, 1052
 Saxlingham Nethergate, 503
 Saxlingham Thorpe, 505
 Saxthorpe, 685
 Scarning, 968
 Sco-Ruston, 624
 Scole, 549
 Scottow, 685
 Scoulton, 905
 Scratby, 415
 Sculthorpe, 986
 Sedgeford, 1002
 Seeche, 711, 740
 Seething, 492
 Sennowe Lodge, 986
 Setch or Setchey, 798
 Setchy Parva, 711, 740
 Shadwell Court, 885
 Sharrington, 1053
 Shelfanger, 550
 Shelton, 564
 Shereford, 987
 Shernbourne, 1003
 Sheringham, 655
 Shimpling, 551
 Shingham, 841
 Shipden, 642
 Shipdham, 945
 Shottesham (High), 505
 Shottesham (Low), 505
 Shotford Bridge, 526
 Shouldham, 841
 Shouldham Thorpe, 842
 Shropham, 896
 Shropham Hundred, 885
 Sidestrand, 656
 Silfield, 589
 Sisland, 493
 Skeetholme, 445
 Skeyton, 686
 Sloley 624
 Smallburgh, 625
 Smeeth and Fen, 804
 Smithdon Hundred, 990
 Snarehill, 885
 Snetterton, 896
 Snettisham, 1004
 Snitterley, 1038
 Snoring (Great), 1025
 Snoring (Little), 987
 Somerton (East), 426
 Somerton (West), 426
 Southacre, 923
 Southburgh, 947
 Southery, 843
 Southgate - in - Cawston, 674
 Southgate-in-Snettisham, 1004
 South Green, 934
 Southmere, 994
 Southrepps, 657
 Southtown, 366
 Southwood, 461
 Spa Common, 628
 Spout Common, 1045
 Sparham, 704
 Spixworth, 609

- Sporle-with-Palgrave, 923
 Sprowston, 610
 Stalham, 439
 Stanfield, 967
 Stanfield Hall, 589
 Stanford, 864
 Stanhoe, 1006
 Stanninghall, 607
 Starston, 534
 Stibbard, 988
 Stiffkey, 1026
 Stockton, 478
 Stody, 1053
 Stoke Ferry, 844
 Stoke Holy Cross, 506
 Stokesby, 418
 Stone Bridge, 897
 Stow Bardolph, 845
 Stow Bedon, 906
 Stow Hill, 623
 Stradsett, 846
 Stratton St. Mary, 564
 Stratton St. Michael, 566
 Stratton Strawless, 686
 Strumpshaw, 441
 Sturston, 864
 Sufferd, 657
 Summerfield, 994
 Surlingham, 507
 Sustead, 658
 Sutton, 589
 Sutton, 441
 Sutton Bridge, 803
 Swaffham, 924
 Swafield, 626
 Swainsthorpe, 520
 Swannington, 704
 Swanton Abbott, 687
 Swanton Morley, 967
 Swanton-Novers, 1053
 Swardeston, 520
 Swathing, 332
 Syderstone, 988
 Tacolnestone, 566
 Tasburgh, 567
 Tatterford, 989
 Tattersett, 989
 Taverham, 611
 Taverham Hundred, 598
 Ten mile bank, 837
 Terrington St. Clement, 809
 Terrington St. John, 812
 Testerton, 989
 Tharston, 567
 Thelveton, 551
 Themelthorpe, 705
 Thetford, 865
 Thickthorn House, 514
 Thompson, 906
 Thornage, 1054
 Thornes Great & Little, 925
 Thornham, 1006
 Thorpe Abbots, 534
 Thorpe Hamlet, 243
 Thorpe Market, 658
 Thorpe-next-Haddiscoe, 478
 Thorpe-next-Norwich, 462
 Thorpe Parva, 551
 Thorpland, 849
 Thorpland Hall, 977
 Threxton, 907
 Thrigby, 419
 Thurgarton, 659
 Thurlton, 479
 Thurne, 420
 Thurning, 705
 Thursford, 1027
 Thurton, 493
 Thuxton, 947
 Thwaite-near-Loddon, 494 Thwaite-near-Aylsham, 688
 Tibbenham, 568
 Tilney All Saints, 813
 Tilney St. Lawrence, 814
 Tilney-cum-Islington, 807
 Titchwell, 1007
 Tipsend, 847
 Tittleshall-cum-Godwick,
 968
 Tivetshall St. Margaret, 551
 Tivetshall St. Mary, 552
 Toftrees, 990
 Toft Monks, 480
 Tofts (West), 864
 Toftwood, 935
 Toperoft, 494
 Tottenhill, 846
 Tottington, 907
 Town Green, 589
 Tower-end, 793
 Trimingham, 659
 Trowse Millgate, 243
 Trowse Newton, 507
 Trunch, 660
 Tuddenham (East), 948
 Tuddenham (North), 949
 Tunstall, 449
 Tunstead, 626
 Tunstead Hundred, 613
 Tuttington, 688
 Twyford, 705
 Upton, 450
 Upwell, 847
 Wacton, 569
 Walcot, 441
 Walcot Green, 539
 Wallington, 849
 Walpole St. Andrew, 814
 Walpole St. Peter, 815
 Walsham Hundred, 442
 Walsham (North), 627
 Walsham (South), 450
 Walsingham (Great) 1027
 Walsingham (Little) 1028
 Walsingham Union, 1016
 Walsoken, 817
 Walton (East), 798
 Walton (West), 819
 Warborough Hill, 1026
 Warham, 1031
 Waterden, 1015
 Watlington, 849
 Wattlefield, 589
 Watton, 907
 Waxham, 442
 Wayborne, 1054
 Wayford Bridge, 625
 Wayland Hundred, 897
 Wayland Wood, 902
 Weasenham (Lower), 969
 Weasenham (Upper), 968
 Weeting-with-Broomhill, 864
 Welborne, 586
 Wellingham, 969
 Wells, 1032
 Welney, 850
 Wendling, 969
 Wereham, 851
 Westacre, 799
 Westbrook Green, 539
 Westfield, 949
 Weston, 706
 Westwick, 633
 Weybourn, 1054
 Weybridge Priory, 443
 Wheatacre All Saints, 480
 Wheatacre-Burgh, 470
 Whinburgh, 949
 Whissonsett, 970
 White Horse Common, 628
 Whitlingham, 508
 Whittington, 862
 Whitwell, 701
 Wickhampton, 452
 Wicklewood, 587
 Wickmere, 689
 Wigenhall St. German, 821 Wigenhall St. Mary the Virgin, 822
 Wigenhall St. Mary Magdalen, 823
 Wigenhall St. Peter, 824
 Wighton, 1036
 Wilby, 897
 Wilton, 858
 Wimbotsham, 852
 Winch (East), 799
 Winch (West), 800
 Winfarthing, 552
 Winston, 472
 Winterton, 427

Winwall House, 851	Wood Norton, 708	Wortwell, 533
Wisbech Union, 805	Wood Green, 564	Wramplingham, 587
Witchingham (Great), 706	Woodbastwick, 452	Wreningham, 521
Witchingham (Little), 707	Woodrising, 950	Wretham E. & W., 897
Withergate, 635	Woodrow, 674	Wretton, 854
Wilton-near-Norwich, 465	Woodton, 494	Wroxham, 612
Wilton-near-North Walsham, 634	Wootton (North), 801	Wymondham, 588
Wiveton, 1055	Wootton (South), 802	Wyndell, 472
Wolferton, 801	Wootton Gap, 787	Yarmouth, 329
Wolterton, 689	Wormegay, 853	Yarrow House, 692
Wood Dalling, 708	Worstead, 635	Yaxham, 950
	Worthing, 371	Yelverton, 508

GENERAL INDEX OF SUBJECTS.

Admiral (Vice), 37	Cholmondeley, Marquis, 980	Dutch and Walloons, 218
Agriculture, 59	Churches, 46	East Anglia, 26
Albini Family, 35, 891	Civil Government, 36	Earls and Dukes, 37
Alfred the Great, 146	Civil, Political, & Honorary History, 36	Eau Brink Cut, 719
Ancient Britons, 22	Civil Wars, 36, 155, 342, 717	Ecclesiastical History, 40
Ancient History, 22	Clergy Charity, 232	Elevations of Places, 102
Antiquities, 39	Cliffs, 58, 416, 642, 651, 999	Eminent Men, 37, 185, 363, 743, &c.
Archæological Society, 187	Climate, 57	Eugene Aram, 742
Archdeacons, 44	Coast, 57	Fastolf, Sir John, 412
Arterial drainage, 65	Colenso Bishop, 558	Fenn Lady, 936
Area of the County, 17	Cooper Sir Astley, 468	Feudal System, 32
Assizes, 22, 180	Coke Sir Edward, 964	First fruits and tenths, 49
Astley Family, 1051	Coke Family, 1023	Fisheries, 345, 727
Bacon Family, 478	Commerce, 162, 345, 726	Flint implements, 127
Baronets, 39	Constabulary, 21	Floods, 151, 154, 157, 344, 428, 717
Bathing Places, 329, 642, 650, 998	Coroners, 37, 1056	Floating Lights, 428, 432, 727
Bedford Level, 824	Corporations, 172, 351, 731, 868	Flowering Plants, 70
Benefit of Clergy, 453	County Courts, 21	Flowerless Plants, 90
Beauchamp-Proctor Family, 489	County Debt, 20	Forest Bed, 121
Bigod Hugh, 35	Cowper Wm., Esq., 936	Freemasons, 188
Bigod Roger, 148	Cranworth, Lord, 932	Frere Family, 549
Birds of Norfolk, 131	Cretaceous Formation, 110	Game, 63
Bishop Blaize, 162	Cromwell Oliver, 342, 788	Gault (The), 111
Bishopric, 41	Cropping (Rotation of), 61	Geology, 107
Bishops of Norwich, 42	Dairy Farms, 62	Giant Hales, 427
Bishop's Palace, 198	Dalrymple Family, 186	Giant Hickifric, 804
Blomefield, Rev. F. 546	Danes, 27, 147, 333	Glacial Series, 124
Boileau Family, 516	Dean and Chapter, 45	Godwin William, 697
Boleyn Anne, 670	Deaneries, 44	Gresham Sir Thomas, 941
Bonner Bishop, 936	Deans of Norwich, 46	Grimes Grave, 40
Botany, 67 to 101	Deans (Rural), 52	Harbord Family, 648
Boulder Clay, 124	De Grey Family, 902	Hastings Lord, 1051
British Tools, 557	Devil's Ditch, 40	Headley Henry, 622
Bulwer Family, 680	Dignitaries of Diocese, 51	Herring Fishery, 346
Buxton Family, 652	Diocese, 44	Honors and Liberties, 37
Browne, Rev. Wm., 527	Diocesan Society, 225	Hospitals, 229, 361, 744
Browne, Sir Thomas, 161	Dissenters, 49	Howard Family, 38
Castles, 40, 177, 412, 648, 776, 780, 891	Domesday Book, 31	Hundreds, 18, 20
Cathedral, 191	Druids, 22	Jerningham Family, 576
Cattle, 62		Keppel Family, 884
Chad Family, 1027		Kett's Rebellion, 36, 152
Chalk, 111		King's Books, 50

- Laminated Beds, 123
 Leicester Earl of, 1021
 Lee Warner Henry
 Le Strange Family, 998
 Liberties, 37
 Lighthouses, 428, 431, 642, 999
 Life Boat Stations, 413, 416, 428, 438, 614, 644, 651
 Litchester's Rebellion, 36, 150
 London Clay, 114
 Lothian Marquis of, 670
 Lunatic Asylums, 144, 231, 335, 463, 600
 Mackerel Fishery, 345
 Magistrates, 14
 Manufactures, 162, 166
 Martineau Family, 186
 Members of Parliamt. 1055
 Methodism, 343
 Militia, 157, 1056
 Monastic Institutions, 46, 47, 200, 352, 443, 489, 590, 606, 615, 620, 734, 970, 980, 994, 997, 1017, 1019, 1028, 1055
 Museums, 186, 742
 Names of Places, 101
 Nelson, Lord, 174, 343, 363
 Newspapers, 188, 407, 743
 Nonconformists, 48
 Norfolk Duke of, 37
 Norman Conquest, 30
 Norwich Crag, 115
 Oak of Reformation, 152, 514
 Oolitic Formation, 109
 Orford Earl of, 682, 689
 Ornithology, 131
 Paine Thomas, 872
 Parliamentary Divisions, 20
 Paston Family, 365, 680
 Pedder's Way, 40
 Peers and Baronets, 39
 Pilgrimage of Grace, 47
 Police Divisions, 21
 Polling Places, 20
 Poor Law Unions, 18
 Population, 17
 Porson Professor, 439
 Prisons (Borough), 22, 177, 351, 733
 Prisons (County), 22, 179, 594, 927
 Public Roads, 59
 Public Officers, 1056
 Queen Anne's Bounty, 49
 Ralph Guader, 35
 Railways, 59, 169, 329, 727
 Reformation, 47
 Riots, 149, 157, 159, 732
 Rivers, 58, 167
 Roman Roads, 40
 Romans, 23
 Rural Deans, 52
 Rush Jas. Blomfield, 589
 Sanitary Condition, 104
 Saxons and Danes, 25
 Sea, Incursions of, 58, 130, 344, 637, 642, 651, 999
 Sessions and Assizes, 180
 Shells of Norwich Crag,
 Shipwrecks, 340 [116
 Shire Hall, 179
 Shovel Sir Cloudesly, 1019
 Stamp Offices, 181, 352, 728
 Stewart Rev. John, 688
 Suffield Lord, 648
 Tax Offices, 181
 Taylor Family, 186
 Tithes, 49
 Townshend Family, 583
 Turnpikes, 59
 Turner Dawson, Esq. 365
 Uniformity Act of, 48
 Unions, 18
 Volunteers, 1056
 Walpole Family, 689
 Walsingham Lord, 902
 Whitaker Rev. Dr. 984
 Windham Family, 646
 Winter Rev. John, 936
 Witchcraft, 716
 Wodehouse Family, 584
 Yarmouth Earl of, 365
 Yonge, Chancellor, 924

INDEX TO THE HISTORY OF NORWICH.

- Abinger, Lord, 161
 Agricultural Association, 189
 Almshouses, 235
 Ancient History, 145
 Anglers' Society, 189
 Apprentice Fees, 235
 Archaeological Society, 187
 Archdeaconries, 44
 Arms of the City, 172
 Asiatic Cholera, 150
 Assessments, 143
 Assizes and Sessions, 171, 180
 Attorneys' Society, 233
 Bacon Family, 186
 Balderstone's School, 226
 Ball and Concert Rooms, 190
 Banks, 157, 158, 167
 Barnham Broom Estate, 235
 Bazaar (Royal) 190
 Barracks, 181
 Benevolent Association, 232
 Bethel Hospital, 231
 Bigod Roger, 148
 Bishop Blaize, 158, 161, 162
 Bishop Spencer, 150
 Bishops, 42
 Bishop's Palace & Chapel, 198
 Black Friars, 201
 Blind Hospital & School, 228
 Board of Health, 181
 Boom Towers, 181
 Borough, 142
 Boys' and Girls' Homes, 144
 Boys' and Girls' Hospital, 226
 Bridges, 168, 243
 Bridewell (Old), 177
 Browne Sir Thomas, 161
 Castle, 177
 Cathedral, 191, Precincts, 199
 Cattle Market, 183
 Cemeteries, 161, 222
 Census, 141
 Chamber of Commerce, 198
 Chapels, 220
 Charnel House, 198
 Charities, 228, 240
 Charitable Institutions, 232
 Charity Trustees, 229
 Charity Schools, 225
 Charters, 156, 170
 Chartists, 161
 Choral Society, 190
 Cholera, 150
 Churches, 202 to 219
 City Gaol, 177
 City Police, 175
 Civil Wars, 155
 Clergy Charity, 232
 Cloisters, 193

- Close and Precincts, 199
 Cooke's Hospital, 235
 Commercial School, 225
 Corn Exchange, 183
 Corporation, 172; Income 171
 County of City, 142
 County Gaol, 179
 County Court, 180
 Cucking Stool, 154
 Dalrymple Family, 186
 Danes, 147
 Dean and Chapter, 45
 D. and C. Library, 187
 Deanery, 198
 Dental Infirmary, 230
 Dignitaries of the Diocese, 51
 Diocese, 44
 Diocesan School, 225
 Directory, 246
 Dispensary, 230
 Dissenting Chapels, 220
 District Schools, 225
 Doughty's Hospital, 234
 Duke's Palace, 184
 Dungeon Tower, 181
 Dutch Church, 218
 Dutch and Flemish Artizans, 149 [164
 Dutch and Walloons, 154,
 East Angles, 145
 Ecclesiastical History, 191
 Earthquakes, 153
 Eminent Men, 185
 Erpingham Gate, 199
 Excise Office, 181
 Eye Infirmary, 230
 Fairs, 183
 Fastolf's Palace, 184
 Female Home, 232
 Fire and Life Offices, 190
 Fish Market, 183
 Floods, 151, 154, 157
 Freeman, 172
 Free Library, 182
 Freemasons, 188
 French Church, 218
 Gas Works, 182
 Gates, 166, 199
 Governor's Tower, 181
 Grammar School, 223
 Guildhall, 174
 Great Hospital, 233
 Guardians' Office, 144
 Hailstorm, 161
 Hamlets, 141, 143 242,
 Harford Bridges, 243
 Harvey John, Esq., 160
 Homœopathic Hospital, 230
 Horticultural Society, 189
 Hospitals, &c., 230
 Improvements, 182
 Infirmaries, 230
 Inland Revenue Office, 181
 Insurance Offices, 190
 Jenny Lind Infirmary, 230
 Kett's Rebellion, 152
 Insurance Offices, 190
 Lancasterian School, 226
 Lazar Houses, 201
 Levellers, 150, 152
 Libraries, 186, 187
 Literary Institutions, 186
 Lister's Rebellion, 150
 Loan Charities, 236
 Longevity, 139
 Lunatic Asylums, 144, 231, 463
 Lying-in-Charity, 232
 Madrigal Society, 190
 Magdalen Institution, 232
 Magistrates, 173
 Maneroft Gt. Ward, 143
 Manufacturers, 162, 166
 Market Place, 183
 Markets and Fairs, 183
 Martineau Family, 186
 Martyrs, 151, 152
 Medical Society, 186, 233
 Microscopical Society, 189
 Militia, &c., 157
 Mint, 156
 Monasteries, 200
 Municipal Government, 169
 Museum, 186
 Musical Festival, 189
 Musical Societies, 199
 National Schools, 225
 Navigation, 158, 167
 Nelson, Lord, 158
 Newspapers, 156, 188
 Norfolk and Norwich Hospital, 229
 Norman's Charity School, 227
 Norwich Gates, 166
 Old Street Architecture, 184
 Orphans' Home, 231
 Parishes, 141
 Parochial Charities, 240
 Philharmonic Soc. 190
 Plagues, 151
 Police (City,) 175
 Police (County,) 21
 Population, 141
 Post Office, 324
 Preachers' Money, 202
 Printing, 154
 Presbyterian School, 226
 Public Library, 186
 Pye's Almshouses, 235
 Railways, 169
 Regalia, 175
 Registration Districts, 144
 Religious Societies, 222
 Riots, 149, 150, 152, 156, 157
 Rivers, 158, 167
 Roman Catholics, 219, 226
 Rosary Cemetery, 222
 Royal Visits, 150, 151, 154, 156
 Savings' Banks, 190, 324
 School of Art, 187
 Schools (Charity, &c.) 223
 Silk Mills, 167
 Soup Charity, 232
 St. Andrew's Hall, 175
 St. Ethelbert's Gate, 199
 St. George's Co. 176
 St. Giles' Hospital, 234
 Shire Hall, 179
 Stamp Office, 181
 Stanley Home, 231
 Stevenson family, 186
 Storms, 158, 161, 192
 Strangers' Hall, 185
 Streets, (List of) 243
 Surrey House, 184
 Tax Office, 181
 Taylor Family, 186
 Temperance Society, 189
 Theatre, 190
 Tonnage Act, 161, 181
 Town Close, 142
 Town Council, 172
 Trees Remarkable, 140, 141
 Trustees (Charity,) 229
 Union, 143
 Volunteers, 158, 159
 Volunteer Association, 189
 Voters, 172
 Walls and Gates, 180
 Wards, 143
 Water Works, 156, 182
 Weavers' Hall, 156
 Wellington Statue, 161
 White Friars, 201
 Woolcombing, 162
 Workhouse, 144
 Worthies, 185
 Young Men's Societies, 187

INDEX TO THE HISTORY OF YARMOUTH.

- | | | |
|-----------------------------|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Admiralty Jurisdiction, 332 | Dutch Chapel, 350 | Petty Sessions, 349 |
| Aldermen, 351 | Dispensary, 361 | Piers, 329, 338 |
| Almshouses, 362 | Earls of Yarmouth, 365 | Plague, 335 |
| Ancient History, 332 | Elocution Society, 330, 359 | Police Force, 350 |
| Armoury (Royal,) 335 | Eminent Men, 364 | Population, 329 |
| Assembly Rooms, 360 | Executions, 341, 348 | Post Office, 410 |
| Barracks, 335 | Fisheries, 345 | Protestant Refugees, 342 |
| Barrow Carts, 330 | Fishermens' Hospital, 361 | Public Offices, 354 |
| Baths, 360 | Floating Lights, 341 | Public Library, 359 |
| Batteries, 335 | Fishmarket, 331 | Quays, 331 |
| Benevolent Society, 361 | Freemen, 349 | Races, 331 |
| Benefactions, 361 | Freemasons, 360 | Railway, 329 |
| Black Friary, 353 | Gas Works, 350 | Record Room, 350 |
| Bonding Warehouses, 345 | Friaries, Black, Grey, and White, 353 | Regalia, 343 |
| Borough, 332 | Gaol, 351 | Romans, 333 |
| Borough Court, 348 | Gates and Walls, 335 | Rows, 330 |
| Board of Health, 349 | Gorleston, 365 | Royal Hospital, 361 |
| Bradshaw Judge, 342 | Grammar School, 341, 358 | Royal Life Fund, 362 |
| Bridewell, 351 | Greek Fire, 340 | Royal Visits, 344, 341, 345 |
| Bridge Accident, 331 | Harbour Tax, 339 | Sailors' Home, 347 |
| Bridges, 330, 331 | Haven, 337 | Savings' Banks, 348, 362 |
| Castle, 335 | Herring Fishery, 346 | Schools, 357, 358, 359 |
| Cemetery, 357 | Hospitals, 357, 361 | School of Art, 359 |
| Chapels, 356 | Inland Revenue Office, 352 | School of Navigation, 359 |
| Charities, 357, 361 | Jetty, 329, 338 | Shipping, 345 |
| Charity School, 358 | Leper Houses, 353 | Shipwrecks, 340 |
| Charity Trustees, 352 | Life Boats, 341 | Shipwrecked Mariners Society, 361 |
| Charters, 348 | Literary Institutions, 359 | Silk Mills, 345 |
| Children's Hospital, 357 | Longevity, 332 | Southtown, 330, 366 |
| Churches, 353 to 356 | Mackerel Fishery, 345 | Suspension Bridge, 331 |
| Civil Wars, 342 | Manby Captain, 341 | Streets, 330; List of 367; |
| Coaches, 330 | Market Place, 330 | Tax Office, 352 |
| Coast Guard Station, 336 | Markets & Fairs, 330, 331 | Theatre, 360 |
| Commerce, 345 | Marine Drive, 329 | Town Council, 351 |
| Corn Exchange, 330 | Methodism, 343 | Town Hall, 350 |
| Corporation, 351 | Militia Barracks, 335 | Trade and Commerce, 345 |
| County Court, 352 | Monasteries, 352 [348 | Turner Dawson, Esq., 365 |
| Courts, 348 | Municipal Government, | Walls & Gates, 330, 335 |
| Cromwell, Oliver, 342 | Naval Asylum, 335 | Water Frolic, 332 |
| Custom House, 345 | Naval Column, 343 | Water Works, 350 |
| Denes (The,) 331 | Nelson Lord, 343, 363 | White Friary, 353 |
| Devil's Seat, 355 | Observatory Tower, 336 | Workhouse, 362 |

INDEX TO THE HISTORY OF LYNN.

- | | | |
|-------------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------|
| Acts for Paving, 710 | Civil Wars, 717 | Fleets, 709 |
| Almshouses, 746 | Commerce, 726 | Floods, 717, 720 |
| Ancient History, 713 | Corn Exchange, 729 | Freemasons, 743 |
| Athenæum, 742 | Corporation, 731 | Gas Works, 730 |
| Benefactions, 747 | County Court, 730 | Grammar School, 741 |
| Bonding Warehouses, 728 | Custom House, 727 | Guild Hall, 732 |
| Borough, 711; Gaol, 733 | Earthquakes, 716 | Harbour, 718 |
| Bridges, 710 | Eau Brink Cut, 719 | High Tides, 717 |
| Cemetery, 741 | Eminent Men, 743 | Horticultural Society, 743 |
| Chapels, 740 | Estuary of the Wash, 721 | Hospitals, 744 |
| Charities, 747 | Executions, 717 | Improvements, 71 |
| Charters, 714 | Excise Office, 728 | Inland Revenue Office, 728 |
| Churches, 735 | Fairs and Markets, 728 | King John's Cup, 714 |

Lady Chapel, 709, 734	Police, 732	Sticklebacks, 727
Legal Quays, 728	Population, 711	Streets, 748
Literary Institutions, 742	Port, 726	Tax Office, 728
Loan Funds, 747	Post Office, 771	Theatre, 743
Markets and Fairs, 728	Railways, 727, 771	Town Council, 731
Meters' Office, 728	Red Mount, 709, 734	Turnpikes, 710
Monastic Institutions, 734	Remarkable Events, 716	Union, 711
Museum, 742	Riot, 732	Volunteers, 743
New Bridge, 719	River Ouse, 718	Walls and Gates, 734
New Cut, 720	Royal Visists, 716	Walks, 710
Newspapers, 743	Savings' Bank, 744	Wash, 709
Paving Act, 710	Seven Sisters, 710	Wards, 733
Philharmonic Society, 743	Schools, 742	Water Works, 729
Pilots, 727	Shipping, 726	Witchcraft, 716
Plague, 716	Stamp Office, 728	Workhouse, 712

MAGISTRATES OF THE COUNTY OF NORFOLK.

*(Those marked * are also Deputy Lieutenants.)*

Adair Sir Robert, Flixton Hall, Suffolk	*Boileau Sir J. P., Bart., Ketteringham
Adlington H. Smith, Esq., Holme Hale	*Boileau F. G. M., Esq., Tacolnestone
*Albemarle Earl of, Quiddenhams	Bouverie Ven. Archdeacon, Denton
*Amhurst Wm. A. T., Esq., Didlington	*Bradfield J. B. S., Esq., Stoke Ferry
*Angerstein Major-General, Weeting	Bradshaw Fras. Green, Esq., Drayton
Applewhaite E. A., Esq., Pickenham	Bramhall Rev. John, Terrington
Ashburton Lord, Buckenham Tofts	Branford Wm. W., Esq., Caister
*Astley F. L'Estrange, Esq., Herts	*Brightwen Thomas, Esq., Yarmouth
Astley Hon. and Rev. D. L., Barsham	Brown Thomas, Esq., Thrigby
Back Henry, Esq., Hethersett	Browne J. B. G., Esq., Morley
*Bagge William, Esq., Stradsett	Browne W. J. Utten, Esq., Norwich
*Bagge Richard, Esq., Gaywood, Lynn	Browne Richard Charles, Esq., Elsing
Bagge Rd. Salisbury, Esq., Gaywood	Buckworth T. R., Esq., Cockley Cley
Baring W. W., Esq., Cromer	*Bulwer W. E. L., Esq., Heydon
Baring Hon. A. H., Buckenham Tofts	Bulwer W. E. G. L., Esq., Dereham
Barnwell Rev. C. B., Mileham	Bury Viscount, Quiddenhams
Barton T. E. W., Esq., Threxton	*Burroughes H. N., Esq., Burlingham
Bayly Rev. C. H., Long Stratton	*Burroughes W., Esq., Coltishall
Bayning Rev. Lord, Honingham	Burroughes Rev. J., Lingwood
*Beauchamp Sir T., Bart., Langley	Burroughes Rev. R., Long Stratton
Bedingfeld J. L., Esq., Ditchingham	Burroughes R.R. Esq., Stratton St. Mary
*Bedingfeld Sir H. P., Bart., Oxburgh	Buxton Charles, Esq., Northrepps
*Beever Sir Thos. B., Bart., Yarmouth	*Buxton Sir R. J., Bart., Shadwell
Beever Thomas, Esq., Hingham	*Buxton Sir T. F., Bart., Cromer
Bentinck G. W. P., Esq., M.P.	Cabbell B. B., Esq., Cromer
Berney T. Trench, Esq., Morton	Calthorpe Lord, Ampton, Suffolk
*Berney Sir H. Bart., Leicestershire	*Calthrop John, Esq., Stanhoe
*Berney G. D., Esq., Morton	Caldecott Barnes, Esq., Yarmouth
Berners Lord, Keythorpe, Leicestershire	Caldwell H. B., Esq., Hilborough
Bidwell L. S., Esq., Thetford	Campbell W. H. C. J., Esq., Snettisham
*Bignold Sir Samuel, Knight, Norwich	*Cann W. R., Esq., Wymondham
Bignold Rev. S. F., Tivetshall	*Cator Albemarle, Esq., Woodbastwick
Birch Wyreley, Esq., Wretham	Cator A., jun., Esq., Colkirk
Birch Thomas Jacob, Esq., Wretham	Chad Joseph S. Scott, Esq., Thursford
Birkbeck H., Esq., Stoke Holy Cross	*Chamberlin Robert, Esq., Norwich
Blake Thomas Jex, Esq., London	Chester Lieut.-Colonel, Castle Rising
Blake Thomas, Esq., LL.D., Horstead	Cholmondeley Marquis, Houghton
Blake Wm. L. Esq., Swanton Abbott	*Cholmondeley Lord W. H., Houghton
*Blofeld Rev. T. J., Hoveton	*Clute W. L. W., Esq., The Vyne, Hants
*Blomefield G., Esq., Swaffham	Clarke Thomas T., Esq., Bingham
Blyth H. E., Esq., Burnham Westgate	Cleveland Duke of, Santon Downham

- Cockell Arthur, Esq., Attleborough
 *Coke Hon. Edward. Longford, Derby
 *Coldham H. W., Esq., Anmer
 Coldham H., James, Esq., Anmer
 Collyer John, Esq., Hackford
 Collyer Rev. Canon, Warham
 Copeman G. R., Esq., Hemsby
 Copeman, R., Esq., Hemsby
 Cooper Rev. C. B., Morley, St. Botolph
 *Cowper Hon. Chas. Spencer, London
 Crabbe Rev. George, Merton
 Cubitt Edward George, Esq., Honing
 Cubitt Henry Archibald, Esq., Catfield
 Cubitt Rev. F., Fritton, near Yarmouth
 Currie Rev. Charles, Tilney All Saints
 Curteis Wm. C., Esq., LL.D., Scole
 *Custance H. F., Esq., Weston
 *Dalling Captain J. W., R.N.
 Dalrymple D., M.D., Thorpe, Norwich
 Davy John, Esq., Ingoldesthorpe
 Davy John William, Esq., Kilverstone
 *De Grey Hon. B. N. O., Watton
 De Grey Hon. George, Merton
 *De Grey Hon. Thomas
 *Dewing Richard, Esq., Carbrooke
 Dolphin Rev. John, Antingham
 Dolphin Thomas, Esq., Swafield
 *Donne W. B., Esq., London
 *Dowson Benjamin, Esq., Yarmouth
 Dugmore John, Esq., Swaffham
 Eden Vice-Admiral, Gillingham
 Edwards Rev. Bartholomew, Ashill
 *Edwards H. W. B., Esq., Hardingham
 *Elwes Robert, Esq., Congham
 Elwin Hastings, Esq., Horstead
 Ensor Charles P., Esq., Rollesby
 Ewen Thomas L'Estrange, Esq., Dedham, Essex
 *Fellowes Robert, Esq., Shottesham
 Fellowes Rbt., jun., Esq., Leicestershire
 Fellowes Rev. Charles, Shottesham
 *Fellowes E., Esq., M.P., Haveringland
 Fitz Roy W. S. H., Esq.
 *Fitz Roy H., Esq., Stratton Strawless
 *Foster Sir William, Knight, Norwich
 *Fountaine Andrew, Esq., Narford
 France Rev. George, Brockdish
 Freeman Rev. John, Ashwick
 Frere George E., Esq., Roydon
 Frere Rev. H. Temple, Burston
 Fryer J. R., Esq., Crowe Hall
 Fryer F. D., Esq., Elm, Cambridgeshire
 *Gay James, Esq., Thurning
 *Gay John, Esq., Thurning
 Gay James, Esq., Aldborough
 Gilbert W. A., Esq., Cantley
 Gilbert Robert, Esq., Ashby
 *Girling Barry, Esq., East Dereham
 Goodricke Sir Francis L. H., Bart., Studeley, Warwick
 Gordon J., Esq., Saxlingham
 Gosford Earl of, Worlingham
 Grafton Duke of, Euston, Suffolk
 *Gunn Rev. John, Irstead Rectory
 *Gurdon Brampton, Esq., M.P., Letton
 Gurdon Rev. Philip, Cranworth
 *Gurdon R. T., Esq., Letton
 Gurney Hudson, Esq., Keswick
 *Gurney Daniel, Esq., North Runcton
 *Gurney Francis Hay, Esq., Thorpe
 Gurney J. H., Esq., M.P., Catton
 Gwyn William, Esq., Tasburgh
 *Haggard W. M. R., Esq., Bradenham
 *Hamond Anthony, Esq., Westacre Hamond Anthony, jun., Esq., do.
 Hardy W. H. C., Letheringsett
 *Hare Sir Thomas, Bart., Stow-hall
 Hare J. H., Esq., Docking
 *Harvey R. K., Esq.
 *Harvey R. J. H., Esq., Brundall
 *Hastings Lord, Melton Constable
 Heitland Arthur A., Esq., Colkirk
 Hemsworth Rev. Addison, Bacton
 Henniker Lord, M.P., Thornham, Sffk.
 Hicks Rev. William H., Watton
 Hill J. D. H., Esq., Gressenhall
 *Holmes Rev. John, Brooke Hall
 Holmes Rev. E., St. Margaret's, Suffolk
 Holmes Gervas, Esq., Brockdish
 Holley J. H., Esq., Okehampton
 *Hollway James, Esq., Stanhoe
 Hopper Rev. Augustus M., Starston
 Hoste Sir Wm., Bart., Garboldisham
 Howman Rev. Edward J., Bexwell
 *Howes E., Esq., M.P., Morningthorpe
 Hume W. B., Esq., Somerton
 *Humfrey Robert B., Esq., Wroxham
 Hyde George, Esq., East Dereham
 *Ives Ferdinand, Esq., Norwich
 *Irby F. W., Esq., Boyland Hall
 Jary Wm. Heath, Esq., Burlingham
 Jodrell Rev. Sir E. R., Bart., Sall
 *Jones Sir Willoughby, Bart., Cranmer
 *Kemp Sir Wm. R., Bart., Gissing
 Kemp R. P. Esq., Coltishall
 Keppel Hon. and Rev. E. S. Quiddenham
 Keppel Rev. W. A. W., Hainford
 Keppel Fred. C. Esq., Lexham
 *Kerslake Thomas, Esq., Barmer
 Kerrison Sir E. C., Bart., M.P., Broome
 *Kerrison Roger, Esq., Norwich
 *Kerrich John, Esq., Geldestone
 *Kett G. S. Esq., Brooke
 Knight G. B. L. Esq., Framingham
 *Lacon Sir E. Bart., M.P., Ormesby
 Lacon E. B. K., Esq., Ormesby
 *Lee Warner H. J. Esq., Walsingham
 *Le Strange H. S. Esq., Hunstanton
 Leicester Earl of (Lord Lient.) Holkham
 Loftus Charles, Esq., Norwich
 Lombe Rev. Henry, Bylaugh
 Lome Rev. Henry, jun.
 *Longe John, Esq., Spixworth
 Long R. K. Esq., Dunston
 *Lothian Marquis of, Blickling
 Lucas Rev. R. Gay, Mulbarton

- Lucas Rev. Charles, Filby
 Lyon E. H. Esq.
 Manning Rev. Charles R., Diss
 Marcon John, Esq., Wallington
 Marryat F. S. Esq.
 Marsham Rev. H. P., Hevingham
 Marsham G. A., Esq., Haynford
 Marsham Rev. T. J. G., Saxlingham
 *Mason William, Esq., Necton
 Methold Rev. J. W., Wighton
 Micklethwait Rev. John N., Taverham
 *Middleton George Esq., Norwich
 *Milles Hon. George Watson
 Morse Charles, Esq.
 *Mott John Thos., Esq., Barningham
 Moore Rev. William, D.D., Spalding
 *Newcombe E. C. Esq., Feltwell
 *Norris W., Esq., Wood Norton
 *North F., Esq., M.P., Rougham
 North Charles, Esq., Rougham
 Nugent Sir Geo. E., Bart., Harling
 *Nugent Edmund Charles, Esq.
 Onley Savill Onley, Esq., Stisted
 *Orford Earl of, Mannington
 Ormerod Ven. Archd., Redenhall
 Owen Rev. Henry, Heveningham
 *Palmer C. J. Esq., Yarmouth
 Palmer G. D., Esq., Yarmouth
 Park Rev. James A., Methwold
 Parker Rev. W. H., Saham Toney
 Partridge Rev. W. J., Caston
 *Patteson H. S. Esq., Norwich
 Pellew Hon. and Very Rev. Dean
 Pemberton W. H., Esq., Holt
 *Penrice J. Esq., Yarmouth
 Peto Sir Samuel, M., Bart., M.P.
 *Petre J. Burney, Esq., Westwick
 Phayre Rev. Richard, West Rainham
 Porcher C., Esq.
 Postle Rev. Edward, Yelverton
 *Postle William, Esq., Smallburgh
 Pratt Rev. Jermyn, Campsey Ash, Suff.
 Press G. Latham, Esq., Reymerstone
 *Preston Sir J. H. Bart., Beeston
 *Preston Isaac, Esq., Yarmouth
 Proctor Rev. T. B.
 Ranelagh Viscount, London
 Rising Robert, Esq., Horsey
 Rising William, Esq., Martham House
 *Robinson Sir H. Knapton
 Rolfe C. F. N., Esq., Heacham
 *Rosebery Earl of, London
 *Rous Hon. W. Rufus, Worstead
 *Rowley Sir Charles, Bart.
 Say Richard Hall, Esq., Swaffham
 *Scott Joseph Esq., Colney
 *Scott Thomas E., Esq., Carbrooke Seel Thomas Molyneux, Esq.
 Seymour Rear Admiral, Barwick
 Smith Henry, Esq., Ellingham
 Smith Rev. J. J., Loddon
 Smijth Sir Wm. B., Bart., Essex
 *Sondes Lord, Elmham
 Sparke Rev. J. H., Gunthorpe
 Sparke Edward B. Esq., Gunthorpe
 Spurgeon A. Cooper, Esq., Gressenhall
 *Stafford Lord, Costessy
 Steward Charles, Esq., Blundeston
 *Stracey Sir H. J., Bart., Rackheath
 Stracey Edward John, Esq., Sprowston
 Stokes Rev. W. H., Denver
 Stoughton Clarke, Esq., Bawdeswell
 *Suffield Lord, Gunton
 Sutton Rev. Augustus, West Tofts
 *Taylor John O., Esq., Norwich
 Taylor Thomas L., Esq., Starston
 Thornhill T. Esq., Riddlesworth
 Thornhill T. jun., Esq., Riddlesworth
 Tompson H. K. Esq., Brooke
 Townshend Marquis, Rainham
 Townley Charles Watson, Esq.
 Trafford E. W. Esq., Wroxham
 Trafford W. H., Esq., do.
 *Tuck J. J. Esq., London
 Tyrwhitt Sir Henry, Bart., Shropshire
 Tyssen Charles, Esq.
 *Villebois Henry, Esq., Marham
 *Unthank C. W., Esq., Intwood
 *Upcher H. R. Esq., Sherringham
 Upwood Rev. T. T., Terrington
 Walpole Hon. Frederick, Rainthorpe
 *Walsingham Lord, Merton
 Wellington Duke of, Apsley House
 *Weyland Richd. Hy., Wood Rising
 Whitbread Rev. E. S., Strumpshaw
 Wilkins Rev. Edward, Hempstead
 Wilson Major-General Sir Archdale,
 Bart., Ashwellthorpe
 Windham John H., Esq., Cromer
 *Wodehouse Lord, Kimberley
 *Wodehouse Hon. Berkeley
 *Wodehouse Hon. Edward, Witton
 Wodehouse Hon. and Rev. W. London
 *Wodehouse P. E. Esq., Thorpe
 *Wodehouse Rev. C. N., Norwich
 *Worship Fras. Esq., Yarmouth
 Wright John, Esq., Buxton
 Yates Rev. E. Telfer, Burgh

Third Edition.

PREPARING FOR PUBLICATION, UNIFORM WITH THIS VOLUME,

A NEW AND ENLARGED

HISTORY, GAZETTEER, AND DIRECTORY OF SUFFOLK,

BY

WILLIAM WHITE, FULWOOD PARSONAGE, SHEFFIELD.

GENERAL HISTORY AND DESCRIPTION

OF THE

COUNTY OF NORFOLK.

NORFOLK, which is ecclesiastically situated in the Province of Canterbury, and in the Diocese of Norwich, is an extensive maritime county in the most eastern division of England. Judicially it is in the Northern Circuit, and its Assizes and Quarter Sessions are held at Norwich. It comprises about 435,000 inhabitants, and 1,300,000 acres of land, divided into thirty-three Hundreds, and about 740 Parishes—including the City of Norwich, which forms, with its precincts, a County of itself. Compared with the other counties of England, Norfolk ranks the fourth in territorial extent, and the fourteenth in population. It is celebrated for the diversity and high cultivation of its soil; for the abundance and excellence of its agricultural productions; for its extensive manufactures of silk and worsted; for its herring and mackerel fisheries; and for its numerous antiquities and historical associations. It lies between 52 deg. 17 min. and 52 deg. 56 min. North Latitude, and 1 min. and 1 deg. 45 min. East Longitude from the meridian of Greenwich;—being of an oval figure, extending about 70 miles from east to west, and 42 miles in the broadest parts from north to south. It is about 180 miles in circumference, and the northern half of it is bounded by the German Ocean and the Great Estuary, called The Wash; whilst its southern side is divided from Suffolk by the Waveney and Little Ouse rivers; and from Cambridgeshire, chiefly by the Great Ouse, Welney, and Nene—the latter of which, as well as the Great Ouse, falls into the Metaris Æstuarium, or The Wash, which divides Norfolk from Lincolnshire. Thus surrounded by marine and river boundaries, Norfolk may be considered almost an island. Though it is generally considered a champaign district, the surface in many places rises in bold undulations, and sinks into picturesque vales, especially in the centre of the county, and on the coast, which is nearly 90 miles in extent from Yarmouth to Lynn, and has near Cromer and Hunstanton lofty perpendicular cliffs. A large portion of the southern side of the county is in flat but well cultivated marshes; and in the western and some other parts are extensive tracts of light sandy land, rising boldly from the marshes and fens, which are now well drained, and many of them highly productive. Though more than 200,000 acres of commons and sandy heaths have been enclosed during the last 90 years, there are still in different parts of the county extensive open sheep walks and rabbit warrens, in some places much improved by thriving plantations.

The POPULATION of NORFOLK in 1801 amounted to 273,479; in 1811 to 291,947; in 1821 to 344,368; in 1831 to 390,054; in 1841 to 412,664; in 1851 to 442,714; and in 1861 to 434,791, consisting of 209,005 males, and 225,793 females. There was consequently a decrease of 7916 persons during the ten years preceding 1861; and as during that period there were registered in Norfolk 32,709 marriages, and 137,594 births, but only 91,632 deaths, it is apparent that more than 60,000 of the inhabitants must have left the county to seek employment elsewhere. The decrease appears to be chiefly owing to the emigration of agricultural labourers to America and the colonies, the migration of young persons to the manufacturing districts, the depression of the shipping trade owing to the transit of coals and goods by railway, the giving up of hand-loom hemp-cloth weaving, the introduction of machinery for agricultural purposes, and the removal of a large number of labourers who were employed on railway works at the time of taking the census in 1851. Norwich and Yarmouth are the only places in which there has been any considerable increase, the former in consequence of its manufactures, and the latter on account of its popularity as a watering place and the extension of its fishing trade. The following enumeration of the HUNDREDS and BOROUGHs in Norfolk shews the annual value of their lands and buildings as assessed to the County Rates in 1843, and their population in 1861. Those Hundreds, &c., marked * are in the Eastern Division of the County, and all the others are in the Western Division.

HUNDREDS	Assessed Rental in 1843.	Population in 1861.	HUNDREDS.	Assessed Rental in 1843.	Population in 1861.
* Blofield	£39,154	6,280	* Henstead.....	36,484	5,729
Brothercross.....	25,876	4,614	Holt	50,920	9,942
* Clavering	47,654	6,674	* Humbleyard	37,388	5,620
Clackclose	127,184	21,420	Launditch.....	79,660	13,177
* Depwade	55,526	9,617	* Loddon.....	46,340	7,509
* Diss	44,142	9,851	Mitford	62,241	11,452
* Earsham.....	44,266	8,484	Shropham	49,256	8,906
* Erpingham North.....	49,016	11,191	Smithdon	48,028	9,689
* Erpingham South.....	76,644	14,322	* Taverham	41,084	8,343
* Lynesford.....	69,082	10,748	* Tunstead.....	62,870	10,425
* Flegg East	25,822	4,060	* Walsham.....	44,156	5,241
* Flegg West	29,128	4,571	Wayland.....	43,406	7,783
* Forehoe.....	71,561	13,146
Freebridge-Lynn.....	77,656	14,450	Total.....	1,778,422	310,016
Freebridge-Marshland.....	106,252	14,435
Gallow	61,282	10,021	* Norwich‡	148,560	74,891
Greenhoe North.....	46,548	10,268	* Yarmouth† Part of.....	60,000	30,338
Greenhoe South.....	62,304	10,756	Lynn‡.....	28,000	16,170
Grimshoe	40,772	7,554	Thetford‡ Part of.....	7,000	3,383
Gulteross	39,356	6,748
* Happing	43,558	6,987	GRAND TOTAL	2,021,982	434,798

* In 1861 the Eastern Parliamentary Division contained 254,027, and the Western Division, 180,771 souls.

‡ The gross rental of the city parishes and hamlets of Norwich is according to the assessment made to the Borough Rates in 1862.

† The rental of Yarmouth is according to the assessment made to the District Rates in 1862. The whole borough contains 34,810 souls.

‡ The rental of Lynn and Thetford is an approximate valuation. The whole borough of Thetford contains 4208 souls.

POOR-LAW UNIONS, &c.—As Judge Blackstone says, the Poor-Laws are founded on the very principles of civilised society, and when the lands became property, they carried with them the charge of providing for the destitute. Under the feudal system, the proprietors of land provided for the poor; and after Christianity was introduced the indigent were relieved out of the tithes and estates of the churches and monastic institutions. Many of the latter were richly endowed for religious, superstitious, educational, and benevolent purposes. When Henry VIII. suppressed the monasteries and confiscated their property, the poor were deprived of their ancient rights and left in a state of destitution, which compelled Queen Elizabeth to impose poors' rates on all occupiers of land, houses, and other property. Before the passing of the Poor Law Amendment Act in 1834, the long continued mal-administration of the old poor-law had become an evil of the greatest magnitude, which was eating like a canker into the heart of the nation—pauperising the labourers of whole counties—reducing them to deep degradation—taking away the motive and the reward of industry, and oppressing that capital which was to employ and remunerate labour. In some counties the regular employment of labourers had nearly ceased, many farmers paying their workmen only half wages, and sending them to the overseers for what more was necessary for the bare subsistence of their families. This system cut the very sinews of industry, took away its reward, and levelled all distinctions of skill and awkwardness, and virtue and vice. It made the labourer a pauper, left him without any encouragement for good conduct, and gave him a positive interest in marrying early, however imprudently, as his allowance from the parish was so much per head, and it was so calculated that he was more comfortable with a large than a small family. In like manner, women having illegitimate children were actually gainers by their shame, in consequence of the parish allowance. The New Poor Law amended both the law and the practice; it benefited both the employers and the employed, and raised the labourers of whole counties from the condition of paupers to that of independent workmen, by diverting immense sums of money from the degrading channel of parish pay into the honourable channel of wages of labour.

The following enumeration of the POOR LAW UNIONS and INCORPORATED HUNDREDS into which Norfolk is divided, shows the number of parishes in each, their territorial extent, their population, and number of houses in 1861; the number of paupers their workhouses have room for, and the number of inmates when the census was taken.

UNIONS, and Superintendent Registrars' Districts.	No. of Parishes	Population in 1861.	Number of Acres.	Houses in 1861.	Workhouses. Room for.	Inmates in 1861.
Aylsham	46	19,052	68,123	4511	500	133
Blofield	32	11,521	44,178	2368	250	146
Depwade	43	25,248	72,681	5548	400	244
Docking	36	17,596	101,136	3842	500	127
Downham	34	20,264	83,687	4569	250	215
Eringham	49	20,874	72,513	4981	300	164
Faith's (Saint)	30	11,749	48,304	2529	300	112
*Flegg East and West	20	8631	29,087	1877	400	80
*Forehoe	23	12,818	37,834	3011	400	141
Freebridge-Lynn	32	13,486	78,775	2759	250	138
Guiltcross	21	11,541	44,585	2734	350	194
Henstead	37	11,290	43,358	2441	250	91
Hoxne (part of)†	1	221	1000	59
King's Lynn	4	16,701	5499	4231	300	249
Loddon and Clavering	42	14,242	59,401	3233	400	162
Mitford and Launditch	60	28,020	105,233	6445	700	267
Norwich	43	74,440	6630	15431	730	635
Swaffham	33	13,747	81,200	2946	400	85
Thetford (part of)†	20	11,181	84,100	2400	300	133
*Tunstead and Happing	41	14,516	62,607	3527	500	93
Walsingham	50	21,118	87,342	4835	300	130
Wayland	25	11,562	51,063	2625	300	68
Wisbech (part of)†	13	15,119	70,000	3200	400	473
Yarmouth Great	1	30,338	1510	6435	500	332
TOTAL †	736	431,798	1,300,311	100,120	8980	4412

+ Wisbech Union includes seven parishes in Cambridgeshire. Thetford Union has also 14 parishes in Suffolk. Hoxne Union is all in Suffolk, except the Norfolk part of Mendham parish.

† Of the 100,120 Houses, 4844 were uninhabited, and 355 were building, when the Census was taken in 1861.

* East and West Flegg, Forehoe, and Tunstead and Happing are Incorporations, under local acts. St. Faith's, Loddon and Clavering, Norwich, and Mitford and Launditch were old Incorporations, but are now Unions, under the Poor Law Act. There were several other Incorporations in the county, but they have been joined to Unions, and their Houses of Industry have been adopted as the Union Workhouses, as at Gimmingham, Sherringham, St. Faith's, Buxton, Oulton, &c., but the parishes of Melton-Constable and Brinton are still united under Gilbert's act, and are not connected with any Union. In addition to the 10 or 12 old Houses of Industry, there were built, in various parts of the county, in the years 1835 and '6, about fourteen large UNION WORK HOUSES, each at a cost of from £5000 to £9000; and at the same time, most of the old Houses underwent considerable alteration, so as to adapt them to the new system of classification, inspection, and control. It has been seen in the foregoing table, that the Union and Incorporated Workhouses of Norfolk have room for about 9000 paupers; but they have seldom more than 6000, and in summer only about 3500 inmates. The statistics and officers of each Union and Incorporation will be given with the general descriptions of the Hundreds, at subsequent pages.

PARLIAMENTARY DIVISIONS.—Before the passing of the Reform Bill, in 1832, Norfolk sent twelve representatives to parliament, viz.:—Two for the county, and two each for the City of Norwich, and the Boroughs of Yarmouth, Lynn, Thetford, and Castle-Rising; but by that great public act the latter borough was disfranchised, and the county was separated into two divisions, each returning two knights of the shire to parliament. The EASTERN DIVISION comprises the eighteen hundreds of Blofield, Clavering, Depwade, Diss, Earsham, North Erpingham, South Erpingham, Eynesford, East Flegg, West Flegg, Forehoe, Happing, Henstead, Humbleyard, Loddon, Taverham, Tunstead, and Walsham; and its Polling Places are Norwich, Yarmouth, Reepham, North Walsham, Long Stratton, and Loddon. Norwich is the principal place of election. The WESTERN DIVISION comprises the fifteen Hundreds of Brothercross, Clackclose, Freebridge Lynn, Freebridge Marshland, Gallow, North Greenhoe, South Greenhoe, Grimshoe, Guiltcross, Holt, Launditch, Mitford, Shropham, Smithdon, and Wayland; and its Polling Places are Lynn, East Dereham, Downham, Thetford, and Swaffham, the latter of which is the principal place of election. The number of County voters registered for the Eastern Division, in 1863, was 8089; and for the Western Division, 6636, making a total of 14,725.

HUNDREDS, LIBERTIES, &c.—Alfred the Great is said to have divided England into Counties, Hundreds, and Tithings, to prevent the rapine and disorder which then prevailed in the realm, by making the inhabitants of each district responsible for the damage committed by lawless mobs. This law still exists, so that when damage is done to property by riotous assemblies the injured party or parties claim and receive compensation by rate, levied with the county rate, on the inhabitants of the Hundred in which the damaged property is situated. Tithings were so called because ten freeholders, with their families, originally composed one. A number, perhaps 100, of these Tithings, Towns, or Villis, originally composed a superior division, called a Hundred or Wapentake, in each of which a court was annually held for the trial of causes. An indefinite number of these Hundreds, which now vary both in size and population, form a county or shire. Soon after the introduction of Christianity the Kingdom was divided into Parishes, and afterwards into Bishoprics. Formerly each Wapentake had a Governor, who determined all matters that could not be decided in the wapentake, or hundred courts. Hoveden says, “When a person received the government of a wapentake; at the appointed time or usual place, the Ealdor sort met him; and when he had got off his horse, rode up to him; then he held up his spear, and took security of all present, according to custom; whoever came, touched his spear with theirs, and by this touch were confirmed in one common interest; and thus from Pæpnu (weapons) and Tac (a touch) or Taccæpe (to confirm) they were called wapentakes.”

The ASSESSED YEARLY RENTAL of the County to the Police and County Rates in 1862 was £1,773,440, which yields to a rate of one penny in the pound, £7389. 6s. 8d. For the year ending at Christmas, 1862, the amount levied for County Rates was £18,011. 10s., and for the Constabulary force, £14,136. 16s. 8d. Besides these sums, more than £13,500 were received from government and other sources, for the expenses of prosecutions, the maintenance and conveyance of prisoners, the services of constables, earnings of prisoners, &c. The principal payments during the year, were £1826, for criminal prosecutions; £3375, for Norwich Castle; £3139, for Swaffham Prison; £638, for Wymondham Bridewell; £538, for bridges and roads; £903, for Militia and Militia Artillery; £819, for coroners; £3200 for Lunatic Asylum; £1258, to the Clerk of the Peace; £6125, towards liquidation of debt, and about £16,000 for the constabulary force. The COUNTY DEBT amounted, at Christmas, 1862, to £34,368, borrowed by the county magistrates, chiefly from the Economic Life Assurance Office, of which £23,833 were owing on account of the new buildings at the County

Lunatic Asylum; £7175 on account of the Militia Store Houses, at Yarmouth and Norwich; and £3360 on account of Police Station Houses.

NORFOLK COUNTY COURTS form CIRCUIT No. 32, of which Thomas J. Birch, Esq., of Wretham Hall, Thetford, is Judge. Jonathan Townley, Esq., of Lakenham, Norwich, is Treasurer for all the Courts, except Downham Market, Kings' Lynn, and Swaffham, of which G. E. Foster, Esq., of Cambridge, is Treasurer. The following is a list of the places at which Courts are held, with their respective Registrars and High Bailiffs:—

PLACES.	REGISTRARS.	HIGH BAILIFFS.
Aylsham	W. H. Scott, Esq.	Thos. Kerslake
Downham Market ...	Thos. L. Reed, Esq.	Benj. Parrott
East Dereham	Geo. H. Cooper, Esq.	Thos. Kerslake
Holt	Geo. Wilkinson, Esq.	Thos. Kerslake
King's Lynn	Philip Wilson, Esq.	J. H. S. Durbin
Little Walsingham ...	Geo. Watson, Esq.	Thos. Kerslake
North Walsham	Geo. Wilkinson, Esq.	Thos. Kerslake
Norwich	Thos. H. Palmer, Esq.	William Wilde, Jun.
Swaffham	Thomas Palmer, Esq.	J. H. S. Durbin
Wymondham.....	James Feltham, Esq.	Thos. Kerslake
Yarmouth	Edmund R. Palmer, Esq.	John Cox

Courts are held monthly at each of the above places, except Downham, Holt, Swaffham, and Wymondham, where they are only held every two months. Norfolk is in the London Bankruptcy District, except for cases under £300, which come within the jurisdiction of the County Courts, under the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act of 1861.

The COUNTY CONSTABULARY FORCE now consists of a Chief Constable, a Secretary and Deputy Chief Constable, 13 Superintendents, 8 Inspectors, 9 Sergeants, and 190 Constables. The Chief Constable has a yearly salary of £400, with an allowance of £175 for horses, &c. The Deputy Chief Constable has £170 a-year, and his expenses for office books, stationery, &c., amount to nearly £120 per annum. Five Superintendents have £100, four have £115, and four have £120 each per annum, and the cost of their horses, &c., is about £820 a-year. The Inspectors have 27s. 6d., and the Sergeants 23s. 6d. per week. Seventy-eight Constables have 21s. 6d., seventy-six have 19s. 6d., and thirty-six have 17s. 6d. each per week. The Superannuation Fund consists of nearly £10,000, invested in the three per cent. consols, and annuities to the amount of about £600 a-year are paid to retired officers. The Head Quarters of the force are at Castle Meadow, Norwich. Lieut.-Colonel George Black, is the CHIEF CONSTABLE; Mr. Henry Atthill is Secretary and Deputy Chief Constable; and Mr. Francis Palmer is Chief Clerk. The SUPERINTENDENTS and their DIVISIONS are James Winfield, Acle; Jonathan Chambers, Aylsham; John Amis, Dereham; William Rose, Docking; William Watson, Downham; Edward Jones, Harling; John Mobbs (Inspector), Holt; John Ward, Loddon; Joseph Scott, North Walsham; Henry Atthill (Dept. Chief Const.), Norwich; John Witheford, Pulham; George Lambley, Swaffham; Charles Seaman (of Tilney All Saint's), Terrington; William Blomfield, Walsingham; and Samuel Barrett, Wymondham. The CITY and COUNTY OF NORWICH has 95 Policemen, and Mr. Robert Hitchman is the Chief Constable. The BOROUGH OF YARMOUTH has 32 policemen, and Mr. George Tewsley is the Head Constable. The BOROUGH OF KING'S LYNN has 19 Policemen, and Mr. C. Reeves is the Head Constable. The BOROUGH OF THETFORD has no separate police force, but pays £138 a-year for the county police stationed there.

COURTS, PRISONS, &c.—Assizes for the County of Norfolk, and for the City and County of the City of Norwich, are held twice and sometimes thrice a-year, at Norwich; the former at the Shirehall, at the Castle, and the latter at the Guildhall. General Quarter Sessions are held four times a-year, at Norwich for the eastern, and at Swaffham for the western division of the county. The County Gaol and House of Correction is at the Castle, at Norwich; but there are also County Bridewells at Swaffham and Wymondham, and Lock-up Houses for the temporary confinement of prisoners, at Acle, Aylsham, Dereham, Docking, Downham, Fakenham, Grimstone, Harling, Holt, Loddon, North Walsham, Norwich, Pulham, Reepham, Stalham, Swaffham, Terrington, Thetford, Walsingham, Watton, and Wymondham. The City and County of Norwich, and the Borough of Yarmouth have their own gaols and separate courts of Quarter Sessions. The Boroughs of Thetford and Lynn have also separate Sessions, but their prisoners are kept at the County Gaol, at Norwich, by arrangement with the magistrates. Petty Sessions are held at each of the police stations, and there is a Reformatory, at Buxton, near Aylsham.

ANCIENT HISTORY.—For nearly four thousand years of the world's existence, the history of Britain is almost a blank, except so far as it may be read in its geological phenomena. Prior to the invasion of Julius Cæsar, 55 years before the birth of Christ, very little is known of its inhabitants, though some zealous antiquarians, deceived by fabulous legends, have assigned dates much earlier than that period to some of its oldest cities. In the romantic lore of ancient time, Norwich (North-wic) is said to have been founded by Gurguntus, the son of Belinus, the twenty-fourth king of Britain from Brutus. Historians generally agree that the Aborigines of Britain were a tribe of Gallie Celts, who emigrated from the Continent about a thousand years before the birth of Christ. Before the Roman Conquest, the ancient Britons in the southern parts of the island had made some progress towards civilisation, but the northern tribes were as wild as their native hills, and subsisted chiefly by hunting and the spontaneous fruits of the earth; wearing for their clothing, when the inclemency of the weather compelled them to such incumbrances, the skins of animals, and dwelling in habitations formed by the "pillars of the forest rooted in the earth, and enclosed by interwoven branches." The most powerful nations among the Ancient Britons were the Brigantines, who occupied Yorkshire, and all the northern counties; and the Iceni, who occupied Lincolnshire, and all the Midland and Eastern Counties; but these nations were subdivided into various tribes, bearing different names. Of the Iceni tribes the Cenimanni or Cenomes occupied the counties of Cambridge, Norfolk, Suffolk, and Huntingdon, and parts of Bedfordshire and Northamptonshire. Their name appears to have been derived from the British words Cyni-manni, signifying the "headmost or foremost men;" and Caistor, near Norwich, is supposed to have been their Venta, or first city. Their religion, which formed part of their free monarchical government, was Druidical, but its origin is not certainly known, though some affirm that the Druids accompanied the Celts in early ages from the east; and others say that Druidism was introduced by the Phœnicians of Cadiz, who were the first merchants that discovered and traded to this island, and for a considerable time monopolised its commerce, by carefully concealing their traffic from other nations; but their lucrative trade in tin and other metals with which Cornwall, Devon, and other parts of Britain abound, was ultimately traced to its source, and brought the Romans and other merchants to our shores.

The civil jurisdiction and religion of the Druids prevailed in all parts of Britain. They dispensed justice, not under any written code of laws, but on what they professed to be equitable principles; all their verdicts being determined by such sense as the assembled delegates entertained of impartial justice; and on discordance of opinion in the congress, appeal was made to the Arch-Druid, whose sentence was decisive. Their religious ceremonies were few, and nearly in unison with those of the ancient Hebrews. They worshipped on high places, and in deep groves, and were not addicted to idolatry, as some authors assert, but adored the God of Nature, and rendered him praise on the yearly succession of the seasons, which they kept as solemn festivals. Though they dealt largely in allegory and symbolical representations, they practised but little priestcraft, and held not the ignorance of their votaries in the bonds of superstition; for they clearly explained the mysteries and symbols used in their ceremonies to the initiated, but to none else. To remove from the people all possibility of sophistry and innovation, their maxims of justice were taught orally; the sons of chief personages were disciples in their ethic schools, where the rules of moral life were inculcated as the foundation of human wisdom. They studied medicine and the virtues of plants, of which the mistletoe was their chief specific; and they held nothing so sacred as the mistletoe of the oak, which being very scarce, they gathered with great pomp and ceremony on a certain day appointed for their greatest festival. In their civil government capital offenders were sentenced to death, and publicly sacrificed on the altars of their temples, in the most awful and solemn manner, whilst those convicted of minor crimes were excluded from public worship, and excommunicated from all civil and religious benefits, till they had washed away, with the tears of repentance, the stains with which their guilt had branded them. Julius Cæsar, in his "Commentarii de Bello Gallico" says the Druids (as the Gauls call their magicians and wisemen) inculcated the immortality and transmigration of the soul, and discoursed "with youth much about the heavenly bodies and their motion, the size of the heaven and the earth, the nature of things, and the influence and power of the immortal gods." The British Druids exercised their utmost authority in opposing the usurpation of the Roman invaders, who, fired with equal resentment, determined to secure themselves by exterminating the Druidic Order; consequently its priests were sacrificed to this inhuman policy; those who fled to the Isle of Anglesea perished in the flames, by the orders of Suetonius Paulinus; and subsequently, great numbers of them were massacred in the unsuccessful revolt of the Britons under Queen Boadicea. From this period the power and splendour of the Druids rapidly disappeared.

ROMANS.—Julius Cæsar, having overrun Gaul, invaded Britain, near Deal, in Kent, 55 years before the birth of Christ, and after a sanguinary struggle, renewed in the following year, succeeded in establishing a Roman government in the southern parts of the island, unsettled in its nature, and transient in its duration; for, being distracted by domestic war, the conquerors were obliged to return home, in order to preserve the seat of empire; consequently the Britons remained unmolested till A.D. 48, when the Emperor Claudius sent over an army under the command of Plautius, who was succeeded by Ostorius Scapula, who established a chain of posts or fortresses from the Severn to the Nen, for the purpose of keeping in check the yet unsubdued tribes to the northward. The Iceni who appear to have early formed an alliance with the Romans, which had hitherto continued uninterrupted, regarding this operation as a formidable demonstration against their territory, and resenting the attempts of Ostorius to deprive them of their weapons, took the field in great force, assisted by some of the neighbouring states, who were equally incensed at the conduct of the Romans. Their undisciplined bravery however proved of little avail against Roman weapons and Roman discipline; and after a sanguinary conflict, they were obliged to submit to the harsh terms of their conquerors. This peace was of short duration, for exasperated by new oppressions, combined with atrocities still more galling, the Iceni again had recourse to arms. The death of Prasutagus, their king, and the impolitic arrangements of his will, furnished the Romans with a pretext for coercive measures, and with the most insulting rapacity the realm was plundered by the greedy centurions, the native chiefs were deprived of their estates, the royal family were treated as slaves, and for daring to remonstrate, Boadicea or Bunduica, the widow of the deceased king, was ignominiously scourged, and the chastity of her daughters was violated by the Roman officers. Fired by these atrocities, the Iceni flew to arms, and under the conduct of the injured but intrepid Queen, commenced an exterminating war. The Roman cities of Camulodunum (Colchester) and Verulam (St. Alban's) were reduced to ashes, the infantry of the ninth legion were cut to pieces, and the inhabitants of London were massacred with unsparing fury because they remained faithful to the Romans. Suetonius Paulinus, the Roman general, who had succeeded Ostorius, and was in Anglesea, destroying the temples and groves of Druidism, at the commencement of the insurrection, marched hastily to meet the exulting foe, whose numbers had increased to nearly 250,000 men, whilst Suetonius had scarcely 10,000. Having chosen a spot encircled with woods, narrow at the entrance, and sheltered in the rear by a thick forest, the Roman general and his undaunted band, awaited the attack of the Britons, who being led on and animated by the heroic Boadicea rushed forward to the combat, but flushed by their former successes and confident of victory, they fought in such tumultuous disorder that their vast superiority of numbers, tended only to their own destruction, and the dire conflict ended in the total defeat of the Britons. A dreadful slaughter followed, neither sex nor age being spared, and it is said that about 80,000 of the Britons were destroyed on this fatal day, whilst the loss of the Romans was scarcely 400. Boadicea either died of grief or ended her days by poison, and though the British chiefs endeavoured to collect their scattered forces, and for some time kept the field, they durst not again contend with the Roman power. From this period history is silent as to the annals of the Iceni as a separate nation. Although Norfolk formed part of the territory of the Iceni, and its aboriginal inhabitants must have shared in the disasters which befel that brave people, in their various, but unsuccessful struggles for liberty, there is no evidence in history that this portion of their country was ever the scene of the sanguinary conflicts between them and the Romans. The district of the Trinobantes appears to have been the chief theatre on which British valour was displayed, with so much zeal, as to excite even the admiration of the victors. After the death of Boadicea and the dispersion of the allied armies, Cerealis was sent into this island, and after him Julius Frotinus, both which generals were successful against the vanquished Britons, but Julius Agricola distinguished himself the most, and completed the conquest of Britain, even penetrating into the almost inaccessible forests and mountains of Caledonia. In the time of Suetonius, the Romans divided England into two Presidial Provinces, by a line drawn from Clausentum to Gabrosentum, that is from Southampton to Gateshead, near Newcastle. All the country on the east side of this imaginary line they called Britannia Prima; and all on the west side Britannia Secunda; so that Norfolk was comprised within the former. But after they had gained a firmer footing in the north, they subdivided the country north of Wiltshire, Berkshire, and Middlesex into three other provinces, called Maxima Cæsariensis, Flavia Cæsariensis, and Valentia. Of these the first and third were Consular Provinces; and the other Presidial, like Britannia Prima and Secunda, and included Norfolk and the whole territory of the Iceni. To keep the conquered Britons in subjection, as well as to guard the coast against the frequent attempts of the northern hordes, the Roman generals judiciously appointed a number of military posts in this part of their newly-acquired territory. Five principal stations were established in this county. These were Branodunum, (Brancaster;) Garianonum, (Caistor, near Yarmouth;) Venta-Icenorum, (Caistor, near Norwich;) Sitomagus, (Thetford;) and Ad-Tuam, (Tasburgh;) besides which, several subordinate Castra-Æstiva and Stativa-hyberna were also formed. Of the latter kind were, according to some writers, Buxton, Burgh, near Aylsham, Buckenham, Castle-Acre, and Elmham. At these places have been discovered, coins, urns, and other Roman remains.

Before the reign of the Emperor Constantine, the Roman government in Britain was vested in a Prætor, who possessed the whole administrative, judicial, and military power; a Quæstor, or Procurator, arranged the affairs of the revenue; and a numerous army of legionaries and auxiliaries secured the obedience of the people, and protected the country from invasion. The superintendence of the army was committed to three Dukes; the first commanded from the northern frontier to the Humber; the second, with the title of Comes tractus Maritimi, or Comes litoris Saxonici, i.e., Count of the Saxon Shore, had the command of the troops on the coast from the Humber to Land's End; and the third commanded the garrisons in the interior. The garrisons on the east side of the island are stated to have consisted of 2200 infantry, and 200 cavalry. These numbers are set down in the Notitia, written in the reign of the younger Theodosius, about the year 410. But as this allowance of troops was inadequate for the defence of each station, much more to subdue insurrection, it is probable that to the Romans were joined British conscript troops, not included in this enumeration; for we find that about twenty years after, the imperial armies in this country were comprised chiefly of British auxiliaries, which, together with the few remaining troops, were recalled, to defend the Roman capital, in A.D. 446. The greatest and most protracted struggles of the Romans were with the Caledonians, or Picts and Scots, who, proudly refusing to crouch to the imperial eagle, frequently descended in rage from their native mountains, and penetrated into the Roman territories, even after the great-wall had been extended across the island by the Emperor Severus, from Solway Frith to the mouth of the Tyne, in A.D. 208. In consequence of these irruptions of the Caledonians, the northern parts of England became the chief seats of the power of the Romans; and York, where Constantine the Great was born in 272, obtained the name of Altera Roma. In 287, Carausius, who had been sent from Rome, with a fleet to guard the Belgic coast, passed over into Britain, and usurped the imperial purple at York. On the death of Constantius, in 307, his son, Constantine the Great, assumed the imperial purple at York; but a few years afterwards he removed the seat of empire from Rome to Byzantium, which was subsequently called from him Constantinople. For the better government of his vast dominions, he now divided them into four præfectures, viz., Italy, Gaul, the East, and Illyria. Britain was included in the præfecture of Gaul. After taking with him to his wars in Gaul the flower of the British youth, this country was again left open to the devastating incursions of the Picts and Scots. Constantine embraced Christianity in 312, and made a solemn declaration of his sentiments in the celebrated edict of Milan, which restored peace to the Catholic Church, and promulgated the principles of religious liberty. Constantine died in 337, and though the Romans continued to hold their sway in Britain for more than a century after this event, their writings afford but scanty materials for illustrating the history of this island. In 364, the Picts and Scots renewed their incursions, and the southern parts of the country were at the same time harassed by the Saxons, whose predatory descents on the coast indicated their intention to seize, as a prey, a dominion which imperial Rome now held with a feeble hand. Dissensions within, and assaults from without, were now fast hastening on the overthrow of the mighty empire of Rome; and in 448, the Romans finally relinquished all possession, power, and authority in Britain, after an occupation of nearly four centuries.

Saxons.—After the Romans had abandoned Britain, the country sank into a state of anarchy. Under the Romans, England and Wales contained thirty civitates, governed by their own magistrates, and it is supposed that the Britons, when left to themselves, established the same number of republics. Civil discord terminated in the establishment of military tyrannies, and to aggravate these maladies, the Picts and Scots again renewed their marauding irruptions into England. To crush these savage foes, the British chiefs united their forces under the command of Vortigern, King of the Belgæ. By his advice, the Saxons, under the command of Hengist and Horsa, were at length introduced as auxiliaries against the Picts and Scots, whom they had no sooner overthrown, than, in their greedy concupiscence to possess the fertile country for which they had been fighting, they turned their swords upon the Britons, who made an obstinate resistance, in which they fought many great battles under Vortigern and the renowned King Arthur, who in 520 expelled the Saxons from York, and almost from the kingdom; but after the death of that monarch, they again prevailed, and by slow progression of conquest, at length obtained possession of the whole of that part of the island, which from them obtained the name of England. They were confederated tribes consisting of the Angles, (hence the term Anglo-Saxons), the Jutes, and the genuine Saxons, who had long been settled on the shores of the German Ocean, and extended from the Eyder to the Rhine. The Britons yielded to them no part of the country until it had been dearly purchased with blood, and 111 years elapsed from the invasion of the Saxons before they established the northern part of the Heptarchy, or seven kingdoms of Kent, East-Anglia, Essex, Sussex, Wessex, Mercia, and Northumbria, into which England was divided. Hengist established himself as King of Kent about A.D. 457, and Ællas as King of Sussex in 491. Cerdic, another of the Saxon chiefs, became the first King of Wessex about 495; Uffa became King of East-Anglia in 575; Erkwin, King of Essex in 585; Ethelfrid, King of Northumbria, in 547; and Crida, King of Mercia, about 586.

The Saxon leader, Uffa, established himself in this part of the island in A.D. 575, and assumed dominion over that portion of the country which at present comprises Norfolk, Suffolk, and Cambridgeshire, giving it the appellation of EAST-ANGLIA: and the inhabitants were denominated Uffagines. About this period, it is highly probable, the city of Norwich arose out of the Venta-Icenorum of the Britons and Romans, and from its relative bearing to the old city, was called by the Saxons—North-wic. Some authors say that Grecca, the father of Uffa, was the first sovereign of East-Anglia. Uffa, who died A.D. 578, was succeeded by his son Titul, on whose demise, in 599, his son Redwald assumed the reins of government, and embraced Christianity, but by the influence of his wife renounced it again. He was succeeded, A.D. 624, by his son Erpenwald, who was assassinated by a relation named Richbert, A.D. 633. His half-brother Sigebert, or Sigbert, who succeeded to the crown, established the bishopric of Dunwich, in Suffolk, and formed the first seminary for religious instruction, which led to the establishment of an university in Cambridge. Fatigued with the burden of government, he resigned both his crown and its cares, A.D. 644, to his kinsman Egrie, and retired into the monastery of St. Edmund, which he had founded at Bury. The Saxon kings were now at variance amongst themselves. Penda, King of Mercia, commenced hostilities against Egrie, who called Sigebert from his monastic retirement to head his army; they were defeated and both slain in battle; and Anna, nephew of Redwald, ascended the throne, restored Cenwalch to his kingdom of Wessex, and became the most celebrated of the East-Anglian princes. But Penda bringing against him the powerful resources of Mercia, he fell in battle, A.D. 654. From this period, the Mercian princes seem to have dictated in the choice of monarchs for the East-Angles; and in the year 792, Offa, King of Mercia, united the kingdom of East-Anglia with his own.

The several kingdoms of the Heptarchy, or Octarchy, were reduced by intestine broils and the incursions of the Danes and Caledonians, to a state of confusion, approximating to anarchy, when Egbert ascended the throne of Wessex. He had been brought up in the court of Charlemagne; and from that wise and powerful monarch he had learned to aspire at universal dominion. On his return to this country, A.D. 800, having taken the reins of government, he first directed his attention to the refractory Britons in Wales and Cornwall, whom he so far subdued, as to render them tributary to his crown. He then proceeded to chastise the insolence and usurpations of the contiguous kingdoms, and to execute his plan of a general incorporation of them into one government. Some of the states, too weak for resistance, had previously met the wishes of Egbert, and he soon reduced to compliance the remaining states of Mercia, East Saxony, and Kent. In this manner, the separate kingdoms of the Heptarchy were united into one great nation, about 380 years after the first landing of the Saxons on the shores of Britain, and Egbert was crowned King of all England at Winchester, in A.D. 827. He was succeeded in 838 by his son Ethelwolf, who died in 857, and was succeeded first by Ethelbald, who had rebelled against him in his lifetime; and then by Ethelbert, his second son, during whose short reign the country was again invaded by the Danes. Ethelbert died in 866, and was succeeded by his third brother Etheldred. In 867, the Danes came over in much larger numbers than before, under the command of Hinguar and Hubba, sons of a Danish chieftain named Lothbroch, or Loðbrog, who having been shipwrecked near Yarmouth, was hospitably received by Edmund, King of East Anglia, at his court at Reedham, but was dastardly murdered by the King's huntsman. (See Reedham). The two leaders landed their troops near Yarmouth, and having passed through Norfolk with fire and sword, they burnt the monasteries of Crowland, Thorney, Peterborough, Ramsey, Soham, and Ely, destroying most of the religious occupants. Ubba or Hubba, being left in Cambridgeshire, to protect the collected spoils, Hinguar or Ingwar proceeded with his army to besiege Thetford, then a royal residence of the East-Anglian princes. Having forced an entry, he gave his soldiers free booty; who put most of the inhabitants to the sword, and reduced the city to ashes. Edmund, who was then at Eglesden, a village now called Howne, in Suffolk, received an insulting offer from the Danish leader, purporting that if the king would renounce Christianity, and consent to worship Scandinavian idols, Ingwar would agree that Edmund and himself should share the spoils of the kingdom. This roused the timid monarch to march against the enemy. The armies met at Snarehill, near Thetford, and after great slaughter on both sides, a drawn battle ensued. The spirit of Edmund was subdued, and he made the fatal resolution never to encounter the Pagans again; who, taking advantage of his pusillanimity, seized on his person, bound him in close fetters, and after scourging him, cut off his head Nov. 20, 170. They now overran the whole of East Anglia, but were repeatedly checked in their further encroachments by Etheldred, assisted by his younger brother Alfred, afterwards surnamed the Great. Etheldred was mortally wounded at the battle of Merton in 871, when Alfred succeeded to the kingdom, then reduced to the brink of ruin.

King Alfred fought several great battles with the Danes, but being at length overpowered by numbers and deserted by many of his subjects, he was compelled to leave the Danes in possession of his country for some time, during which he remained in humble disguise at the cottage of a swineherd in the isle of Athelney, amidst the fens of Somersetshire. The Saxons again uniting their forces against the tyranny and savage cruelty of the Danes, Alfred resumed his dominion, and defeated the pagan marauders at Haddington, in Wiltshire. This renowned monarch soon obtained the popular title of Alfred the Great. He divided the country into shires; hundreds, parishes, and tithings, established trial by jury, and composed a famous body of laws, which may be considered as the foundation on which the glorious superstructure of English liberty was finally erected. Alfred was not less generous than brave, and strove to convert the Danes from mortal enemies into faithful subjects, by settling them in East Anglia and Northumbria, on condition of their accepting Christianity. Guthrum, their leader, was to hold East Anglia in capite, or fealty of the crown, as a feudatory prince. Here for a while these marauders betook themselves to the cultivation of domestic duties, and received a code of laws. The great Alfred died in 901, after reigning 28 years. He was succeeded by his son Edward the Elder, whose cousin Ethelwold attempted to wrest the sceptre from his hand, with the assistance of the Danes. Ethelwold being slain in battle, peace was again restored between the Saxons and the Danes, but the restless spirit of the latter could not long brook restraint; and encouraged by fresh arrivals of their countrymen, they again broke out into open hostilities, but were subdued in 910 by Edward the Elder, who died in 925. He was succeeded by Athelstan, who carried his arms to the borders of Scotland, and obtained a complete victory over an almost innumerable host of enemies, who sought to seize his empire. Edmund, who succeeded him in 941, was assassinated in 946. He was succeeded by Edred, who died in 955, when Edwy, a youth of fourteen, became king, but died in 959. His brother Edgar succeeded, and was acknowledged sole sovereign of England. He preserved peace by being always prepared for war. His fleet consisted of about 600 vessels, which constantly scoured the seas on all sides of the island. He kept the Scottish, Welsh, and other inferior princes in subjection. He required of Ledwull, a refractory Welsh prince, to bring the heads of 300 wolves yearly to Winchester, and deposit them at the Bishop's palace, and this was continued till the entire race of these ferocious animals was destroyed in this country. Edgar travelled throughout his dominions to see that the laws were properly executed, and to redress abuses. He died in 975, and was succeeded by Edward the Martyr, who was assassinated four years afterwards. Ethelred then ascended the throne, and obtained the surname of the Unready, from his incapacity in governing the kingdom, or providing for its safety. In 981, the Danes again landed and pillaged the country, and during the succeeding twenty years they became very numerous in England, and lived indiscriminately among the Saxons. King Ethelred being unable to master them in the field or by law, resorted to treachery, and attempted to destroy their power by secretly ordering them to be massacred on the 13th of November, 1002. Great was the slaughter committed on that fatal day, in the Southern parts of England; but in the north the Danes were too numerously intermingled with the Saxons to be sentenced to assassination, and the detestable act so inflamed them with indignation, that in a little time the Saxons became the sport of an infuriated enemy. In the same year the tax called Danegeld or Dane Money was imposed upon the people by Ethelred, and paid by that feeble sovereign to the Danes in order to render them peaceable.

Sweyne, King of Denmark, to revenge the cruel massacre of his countrymen, undertook the conquest of England. Landing with a powerful army in 1010, he fixed his camp on the banks of the Ouse, near York, where Ethelred marched with all his forces to give him battle. The engagement was bloody and well contested, but victory at length declared for the Danes; and Ethelred, with a few of his followers, seizing a boat fled into Normandy, leaving his crown and his kingdom to the conqueror. Sweyne died in 1014 at Gainsboro', where his son Canute was proclaimed king, but being obliged to return to Denmark, the English in his absence, recalled the banished King Ethelred, who after a feeble struggle to regain his crown, gave place in less than a year to his son Edmund Ironside, who fought three bloody battles with Canute. Their success was various, and at length the Danish and Saxon nobility, equally harassed by these convulsions, obliged the kings to come to a compromise, and to divide the kingdom between them. Canute reserved for himself the northern parts of the kingdom; and the southern parts were left to Edmund Ironside; but the latter being murdered about a month after this treaty, CANUTE was left in peaceable possession of the whole kingdom. In 1016, he summoned a general meeting of his nobles at Winchester, and again in 1020. At these parliaments many wise and equitable laws were passed for promoting the peace, prosperity, and morality of his subjects. In 1016, Canute granted his Charta da Foresta, the first law relating to forests. His piety and power were so much praised by his courtiers that some of them affected to insinuate that all things would be obedient to his command. Canute, sensible of their adulation, reproved them in the following manner:—Being at Southampton, he ordered his chair to be brought to the sea shore while the tide was coming in, and commanded the sea to retire. “Thou art under my dominion,” cried he, “the land upon which I sit is mine; I charge thee, therefore, to approach no farther, nor dare to wet the feet of thy sovereign.” He feigned to sit some time in expectation of submission, till the waves began to surround him; then turning to his sycophants, he observed that “the title of Lord and Master belonged only to Him whom both earth and sea were made to obey.” His royal crown, which he never wore after giving this reproof, was presented to the priory of Winchester Cathedral, and suspended over the crucifix of the high altar, as a token of his humility. He died at Shaftesbury in 1036, and was succeeded by his second son Harold, who died in 1039, when his brother Hardicanute ascended the throne. The violent and unjust government of the latter was of short duration, for he died in 1041, in consequence of excesses at the marriage feast of a Danish lord. Harold and Hardicanute leaving no issue, Edward the Confessor, son of Ethelred, the Saxon, ascended the throne, and in him the dominion of the Danes in Britain was for ever extinguished. The Anglo-Saxons, who had long groaned under the Danish yoke, set no bounds to their joy, on finding the line of their ancient kings restored. Though Edward the Confessor had been bred in the Norman Court, and showed a predilection for the laws and customs of that country, he established here such wise and equitable laws as were cherished in his own and subsequent reigns. He married Editha, daughter of Earl Godwin, but from mistaken piety or fixed aversion, he abstained from her bed. Thus having no legitimate issue, when he died in 1066, in the 56th year of his age, and the 25th of his reign, the throne was left in dispute.

The RELIGION OF THE SAXONS, which prevailed till the close of the 6th century, was founded in traditional tales received from their fathers, not reduced to any system. Woden, whom they deemed the ancestor of their princes, was regarded as the god of war, and was the chief object of their religious worship. They believed that if they obtained the favour of this divinity by their valour, (for they made little account of other virtues,) they should be admitted after death into his hall; and reposing on couches, should satiate themselves with strong drink from the skulls of their enemies whom they had killed in battle. Little more is known of their theological tenets. We only learn that they were Polytheists; that they worshipped the Sun and Moon; that they adored the God of Thunder, under the name of Thor; that they had images in their temples; practised sacrifices; and believed firmly in spells and incantations. Their mythology is interwoven with our language. From the objects of their worship the names of our days have been derived. The first and second days in the week they dedicated to the Sun and Moon, hence Sunday and Monday; the third and fourth were dedicated to Tuisco and Woden, hence Tuesday and Wednesday; the fifth, sixth, and seventh, in like manner, to Thor, Frea, and Seator, hence Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Bede says, the intention of converting the Anglo-Saxons to the Christian religion originated with Pope Gregory the First, surnamed the Great. It happened that this prelate, when in a private station, before he was elevated to the Pontifical chair, had observed in the Market place of Rome some British youths exposed for sale, whom their mercenary parents had sold to Roman merchants. Struck with their fair complexions and blooming countenances, Gregory asked to what country they belonged? and being told that they were Angles, he replied that they ought more properly to be denominated Angels. Inquiring further concerning the name of the province, he was informed that it was Deira, a district of Northumbria. Deira, replied he, that is good! They are called to the mercy of God from his anger, De-ira. But what is the name of the king of that province? Ella or Alla, was the reply. Alleluia, cried he, we must endeavour that the praise of God be sung in their country. On his elevation to the Popedom, in 590, Gregory despatched Augustine, a Roman monk, with forty associates, to preach the Gospel in Britain. The marriage of Ethelbert, the King of Kent, with Bertha, a Christian Princess of France, secured the missionaries a favourable reception. This auxiliary founder of the Christian religion in Britain, as she may properly be called, had been very assiduous in her devotional exercises, and had supported the credit of her faith by an irreproachable life. Her popularity in the court, and her influence over the king, had so well paved the way for the Christian doctrine, that Ethelbert himself became a convert; Augustine was created Archbishop of Canterbury, and Christianity obtained a footing which it has never since lost in this island. Lucius, King of the Belgæ, is said to have been converted to Christianity in A.D. 177, and to have built a Cathedral at Winchester, but it was destroyed by the Romans during the Dioclesian prosecution, about the year 297; after which pagan darkness again reigned in Britain till the seventh century. The Normans, though their conquest of England was marked with great cruelty and injustice, were then among the most polished and learned people in Europe, and being zealous professors of Christianity, after they had firmly seated themselves in possession of the country, they began to build churches, as well as castles and mansions, in a more noble style of architecture than had previously been seen in England.

NORMAN CONQUEST.—Harold II., son of Earl Godwin, ascended the throne on the death of Edward the Confessor, in 1066, but was opposed by his brother Tostig, the exiled Earl of Northumberland, who at length induced Harfager, King of Norway, to assist and accompany him in his invasion of England. They entered the Humber with a numerous army, and having sailed up the Ouse, to within ten miles of York, they moored their vessels, and a desperate conflict ensued, in which Tostig and the Norwegian King were both slain, and Harold was victorious. But Harold's triumph was of short duration, for a messenger having arrived from the south on the following day, announced to him, as he sat in state at a magnificent entertainment in York, that Duke William of Normandy, (whom Edward with his dying breath is said to have nominated as his successor to the crown,) had landed at Pevensey, in Sussex, on the 29th of September, 1066. On receiving this unexpected intelligence, Harold marched at the head of his army, through London to Sussex, in order to expel the invaders. The two armies met at Hastings, where, on the 14th of October, a sanguinary battle was fought, in which Harold lost both his life and his kingdom, together with 60,000 men. Thus ended the Saxon monarchy in England, which had continued for more than 600 years.

William the Conqueror was nephew to Edward the Confessor, and had no sooner established himself on the throne of England, than he set up various claims to his new possession. He dispossessed the English of their estates and offices of trust and confidence, and gave them to the numerous train of military adventurers who had come over with him from

Normandy under the promise of reward. The roll of Battle Abbey, as given by Holinshed, contains the names of 629 Normans, who all became claimants upon the fair territory of Britain. After so mighty an agitation as that produced by the conquest, some years necessarily elapsed before the country could be restored to a state of harmony; and the inhabitants of the ancient kingdom of Northumbria, still cherishing their wonted spirit of liberty and independence, were among the last to bow their necks to the Norman yoke. A violent struggle took place in the north of England in an attempt to expel the Conqueror, and York was constituted the rallying point of the patriot army; but he gained unmolested possession of all the southern counties immediately after the Battle of Hastings. In the south-western part of Hampshire, between Southampton Water and the river Avon, he laid waste 36 parishes to form the NEW FOREST. For the purpose of gratifying his love for the chase he destroyed 36 churches, and a great number of villages, hamlets, and scattered dwellings, and laid waste upwards of 60,000 acres of land; driving out the inhabitants, and stocking it with deer, boars, and other beasts of chase. The Conqueror's son and successor William Rufus, was accidentally killed in this extensive forest in 1100. Richard, another of his sons, was gored to death there by a deer; and Henry, his grandson, (son of Robert Curtois,) while eagerly following the chase, "was stricken by a bough into the jaws, and so entangled in it, that he, like Absalom, was hanged there till he died." Thus divine vengeance is said to have been taken in the Conqueror's family, for his cruelty to the inhabitants of that part of England. Though the ruthless Norman Conqueror found but little opposition in the south, a period of three years elapsed before he could subdue his rebellious subjects in the North of England, where the Northumbrians, aided by the Scots and Danes, fought many battles with the Normans, routed them on several occasions, and put thousands of them to the sword. At length the Conqueror hastened to the north, at the head of a powerful army, swearing "by the splendour of God" (his usual oath,) that he would not leave a soul of his enemies alive. After re-taking York he laid the whole country waste from the Humber to the Tyne, and destroyed more than 100,000 of the inhabitants by sword and famine.

DOMESDAY BOOK.—After the Norman Invasion, Norfolk experienced a complete revolution in its civil and manorial privileges, as the Conqueror divided it, like the rest of the kingdom amongst his relations and followers. No sooner was William seated on the throne of England than he showed that his policy was to root out the ancient nobility, and to degrade the native inhabitants of the humbler classes to the rank of miserable slaves, and being conscious of the detestation in which he was held, he built and garrisoned strong castles to overawe the insulted and oppressed inhabitants; and, as he entertained a perpetual jealousy of the English, he obliged them, in the wantonness of his power, and the restless apprehensions of his wicked mind, to extinguish their fires and candles every night at the hour of eight o'clock, on the toll of a bell, which obtained the name of the "Curfew." Having by these sanguinary atrocities, silenced the disaffected, and constrained the country to a state of sullen repose, he caused a survey to be taken of all the lands in the kingdom, on the model of the Book of Winchester, compiled by order of Alfred the Great. This survey was finished in 1086, after a labour of six years, and was registered in a national record, called DOMESDAY BOOK, in which the extent of each district, the state it was in, whether meadow, pasture, wood, or arable; the name of the proprietor, the tenure by which it was held, and the value at which it was estimated, were all duly entered. This "Book of Judicial Verdict," written in Roman, with a mixture of Saxon, is still preserved amongst the national archives; and in the 40th year of the reign of George III., (1800,) a large number of copies of it were printed for the use of parliament and the public libraries of the kingdom. Portions of it have also been recently reproduced in facsimile by the aid of photography. Through all time it will be held in estimation, not merely for its antiquity, but for its intrinsic value. It afforded the Conqueror an exact knowledge of his own land and revenue, while the rights of his subjects, in disputed cases were settled by it; and to this day it serves to show what manor is, and what is not ancient demesne. That nothing might be wanting to render it complete, and its authority perpetual, commissioners were sent into every county to superintend the survey, and their returns were made under the sanction of juries of all orders of freemen in each district, empanelled for the purpose. The inquisitions taken in each county were sent to Winchester, where the substance of them was formed into the register now called Domesday Book, from the Saxon Dom Bok, signifying the book of laws, though some have supposed it was so called by the dispossessed Saxons, who were doomed by it to serfdom, or slavish dependency. When first written it was called Liber de Wintonia, that is Book or Roll of Winchester, which was also the title of the register of a similar survey, said to have been made by order of Alfred the Great, about A.D. 900, when he divided the kingdom into counties, hundreds, and tithings. Alfred's Register is said to have been extant at the Norman Conquest, but being of little use after the Norman Survey, it was neglected and lost; which has caused some antiquaries to doubt even its existence. As we occasionally give in the parish histories in this volume a translated copy from Domesday Book, of all that is important relative to the manors and estates of Norfolk, it is necessary to explain the land measures, and obsolete feudal terms, used at the time to which it refers.

MEASUREMENT, &c., IN DOMESDAY BOOK.—A Perch, 20 feet. An Acre, 40 perches in length, and four in breadth. An Oxgang or Bovate, as much as a pair of oxen can keep in husbandry, usually 15 acres. A Virgate, or Yard Land, about 40 acres. A Curucate, Carvc, or Plough Land, generally 100 acres, or eight oxgangs. A Hide, an uncertain quantity, generally about 120 acres. A Knight's Fee, five hides. Berewicks, are manors within manors. Merchet, or Maiden's Rent, was a payment to the lord of the manor, in commutation of his right with the virgin bride on the marriage of a vassal's daughter. Heriot, a tribute to the lord for his better maintenance in war. Theam, was a manorial jurisdiction; and Infangtheof, the power of passing judgment on any theft. Socmen, were inferior land-owners, who held lands in the Soc, Soke, or Liberty of a great baron, by copyhold or socage tenure. Bordars, were small occupiers, living in a bord or cottage; and supplying eggs, &c., for their lord's board or table. Villeins or Villains, were husbandmen, servants, &c., little better than the Saxon serfs;—attached to the soil, though on taking the oath of fealty they had the right of protection from cruelty, but were not allowed to acquire property of any sort.

FEUDAL SYSTEM.—In carrying out the machinery of the feudal system, all lands in England were described as being held of the King; and all great vassals of the Crown, whether lay or clerical, were compelled to have a certain quota of knights, or horsemen, completely armed, and to maintain them in the field during the space of forty days. By this regulation the King, at any time, could raise an army of 60,000 horsemen. The chief tenants, or lords, generally divided their estates into two portions, one of which (viz. the demesne) they let or cultivated themselves, and the other was bestowed on military tenants, with the obligation of serving on horseback. Fealty and homage were required from all the free tenants. The military tenants of the crown were obliged to attend the court at the three great festivals, and hence were called the king's barons, and their lands baronies. By degrees two classes arose, viz. the lesser and the greater barons, and as the latter only attended the king, they alone retained the title of barons. The king's great barons, who held a large extent of territory of the crown, granted out smaller manors to inferior persons, to be held under them; and this seigniorship was termed an honour. The barons were bound to keep their honour courts "every year at least, or oftener if need be; at which court all the freeholders of the manors that stood united to the honours were required to make their appearance as suitors, and not to sit, but to stand bare-headed." All the fees granted by the Conqueror were in perpetuity to the feoffees and their legitimate descendants. But in case of the failure of heirs, of felony, or treason, the fee was escheated, or forfeited to the crown. Fees of inheritance were always enjoyed by the nearest heir; but what the tenant acquired by purchase, or from favour, was at his own disposal. When the heir of a fee was a minor, he became the ward of the lord: when the fee descended to a daughter, the lord claimed the right to dispose of her in marriage, also the homage and service of her husband. These grievances continued until the 12th of Charles II., when "all tenures of honour, manors, lands, &c., were turned into free and common socage." The Normans preserved most of the Anglo-Saxon laws and customs; but despising the fiery ordeals of the English, they preferred their own trial by battle, as more worthy of freemen and warriors. They separated the spiritual from the secular courts, which produced much rivalry between the two jurisdictions. The old distinction of classes, viz. Earldormen, Thanes, Cearls, and Theowas, were preserved under the names of Count, or Earl, Baron, Knight, Esquire, Free-Tenant, Villein, or Villain, and Neif.

Under the government of this military aristocracy, the miseries inflicted upon the natives were severely oppressive, and the authority of the monarch was insufficient to repress the irregularities of his haughty and warlike barons. The lord who had strength sufficient to wrest land from another, was suffered to retain his acquisition till superior violence forced it from him. Young knights and esquires exercised themselves in rapine and robbery; even the bishops, during the reign of King Stephen, joined in the general practice of depredation; and in King John's reign, the castles of the barons are said to have been little better than the caves of robbers and the dens of thieves. While society was in this state of military chaos, knight-errantry arose in England, and became a popular and lucrative profession. These knights travelled about the country for the purpose of redressing such wrongs as the laws were too feeble to remedy, but their principal objects were the acquisition of honour and wealth. As the manners of the people became more refined and domesticated, the utility of chivalry diminished, and after the reign of Edward III., it disappeared with the evils which it had contributed to remove. The Norman Lords or Barons, who enjoyed the landed property of England, after the Conquest, held their possessions as they had obtained them, by the sword; but some of them were subsequently dispossessed on account of disaffection, and their estates were conferred by William and his successors on subjects more devoted to the interests of the crown.

The order generally observed in writing DOMESDAY BOOK was to set down at the head of every County the King's name, and then a list of the Bishops, Religious Houses, Churches, and great men, according to their rank, that held of the King in capite, or serjeantry, in that county. After this list of tenants, the manors and possessions which belonged to the King and to each owner throughout the whole county, whether they lie in the same or different Hundreds, are collected together, and minutely noted, with their under-tenants. The following is a list of the chief tenants enumerated in Domesday Book, as holding the manors in "Nordfole," at the time of the Norman Survey; with some additional notes and explanations:—

REX WILLELMUS (William I.)

NORWICH BURGENSES.

BURGENSES in H. de H.

FRANCI de NORWIC in Novo BURGO.

YARMOUTH.

THETFORD.

TERRE REGIS quas GODRIC servat.

TERRE STIGAND, Epi. quas custodi.

W. DE NOIERS in manu regis.

ODO, BISHOP of BAIEUX. He was brother to the king by the mother's side, received 22 manors in this county, and was created Earl of Kent.

EARL DE MAURITANIO, Earl of Mortain in Normandy, and of Cornwall, in England. He was half brother to the Conqueror.

ALAN RUFUS. Received 81 manors, and was created Earl of Richmond, in Yorkshire.

EARL EUSTACE, of Bonillon, in Picardy. He married Goda, sister by the father's side to Edward the Confessor, and was father of the famous Godfrey de Bonillon, who won Jerusalem from the Saracens.

HUGH DE ABRANCIS. He was nephew to the Conqueror, and was surnamed Lupus. He was a person of great note amongst the Norman nobility, and a very expert soldier. His earldom of Chester was given him to hold as free by the sword as the king held England by the crown, and he received 12 manors in Norfolk.

ROBERT MALET. He held the office of Grand Chamberlain of England under Henry I., but was disinherited and banished for taking part with Robert Curthose.

WILLIAM DE WARREN. Earl of Warren, in Normandy, and nearly allied to the Conqueror. He received as a "meed of valour," 139 lordships in this county, and was constituted one of the chief justiciaries of the kingdom. William Rufus conferred upon him the Earldom of Surrey.

ROGER BIGOT.

BISHOP of THETFORD, ad episcopatum pertinens. (William Galsagus, or Beaufoe).

FEUDUM EJUSDEM.

ST. MICHAEL, NORWICH.

OSBERN BISHOP of EXETER. He was kinsman to Edward the Confessor, and allied to the Conqueror. His brother, Wm. Fitz Osbern, Earl of Hereford, was the chief and earnest adviser of the Conqueror enterprising the crown of England, and had the principal command at the Battle of Hastings.

GODRIC DAPIFER.

HERMERUS. He was a powerful Norman baron, and takes place in the Survey before the Abbots. His possessions came afterwards to the Lords Bardolf.

ABBAY OF ST. EDMUND.

ABBAY OF ELY.

ABBAY OF RAMSEY.

ABBAY OF HULME.

ST. STEPHEN of CAEN. This Church was founded by the Conqueror in 1064, and he was buried there in 1093.

WILLIAM DE SCOCHIES. Had large possessions in Norfolk, most of which he sold in the reign of Henry I. to Walter Giffard, Earl of Buckingham.

RALPH DE BELLOFAGO. He was a near relation, if not the son of William de Beaufoe, bishop of Thetford. His only daughter and heiress married Hubert de Rie, second son of Hubert de Rie, a trusty servant of the Conqueror.

RAINALDUS filius IVONIS. He had many lordships granted to him, all which came into the family of the Earls of Clare.

RALPH DE TODENI. He was descended from Roger de Toden, or Toenio, standard bearer to the Conqueror, and received 19 lordships in this county. His son Ralph married Judith, daughter of the great Earl Waltheof.

HUGH DE MONTFORT. He was one of the commissioners appointed by Wm. I. for the restitution and reseizing of whatsoever had been unjustly taken from the bishoprics and abbeys all over the kingdom, and lost his life in a combat with Walchslane de Ferrers.

EUDO DAPIFER. Fourth son of Hubert de Rie, and steward of the household to William I., received 9 manors in this county.

WALTER GIFFARD. Was son of Osborne de Bolebec and Aveline his wife, sister to Gunnora, Duchess of Normandy, and great grandmother to the Conqueror. He was created Earl of Buckingham, received 28 manors in Norfolk, and was one of the principal persons who compiled the Survey.

ROGERII PICTAVIENSIS. Quæ fuerent.

IVO TAILBOIS. Was brother to Fulk Earl of Anjou and Lord of Holland, and married Lucia, sister of the Earls Edwin and Morcar.

RALPH DE LIMES. Was nephew to the Conqueror, and had only one lordship in this county.

EUDO filius SPAREUIC. The founder of the Tattershall family in Lincolnshire.

DROGO DE BEURERE. Was a noble Fleming, who attended the Conqueror on the invasion, and was rewarded with large estates in several counties. He was probably ancestor of Wm. Briwere, who stood in great favour with Henry II., Richard I., John, and Henry III.

RALPH BAINARD. The head of whose barony was Baynard's Castle, in the city of London.

RANULPH PIPERELL. The reputed progenitor of the families of Piperell and Peverell.

ROBERT GERNON. Was descended from the house of Boulogne, and from him the noble family of Cavendish is lineally descended. William, his second son, assumed the name of Montfichet.

PETER VALONIENSIS. Was a great baron, and married Albreda, sister to Eudo Dapifer. He had 20 lordships in this county, and his descendants made the castle of Oxford the principal seat of their barony.

ROBERT filius CORBUTIONIS.

RALPH frater LGERI.

TEHEL BRITO. He was surnamed Brito, being undoubtedly one of the Britons or Armoricans, who served under Alan, Earl of Brittany.

ROBERT DE VERLI.

HUMPHREY filius ALBERICI.

HUMPHREY DE BOHUN. From him descended Humphrey de Bohun, who marrying Margery, the eldest of the sisters of Mahell, Earl of Hereford, and Constable of England, possessed those honours in her right.

RALPH DE FELGERES.

GILBERT filius RICHERI.

ROGER DE RAMIS. He was created Baron of Raines.

IVIKELLIS THE PRIEST.

COLEBERNUS THE PRIEST.

EDMUND filius PAGANI.

ISAAC.

TOVUS. One of the Conqueror's attendants. He had several manors in Norfolk.

JOHN NEPOS WALERANI.

ROGER filius RENARDI.

BERNERUS ARBALISTARIUS.

GILBERT ARBALISTARIUS.

RALPH ARBALISTARIUS.

RABELLUS ARTIFEX. He had the command, as an engineer, of all the engines, or brakes, and the direction of them at the battering of forts, &c.

HAGO VEL HUGO.

RALPH filius HAGONIS.

ULCHETELLUS.

ALFRED.

ALDIT.

GODWINUS HALDENUS. He seems to have been an old English Saxon or Dane, and was apparently the only person in Norfolk, who was allowed to keep the lands he held at the Conquest.

STRACOLFUS. A Dane who for his services to the Conqueror against King Harold, had lands granted to him in this county.

EDRIC ACCIPITARIUS.

LIBERI HOMINES ad nullam firmam pertinentes T. E. R. These were freemen who held their lands independent of any lord, as in the time of King Edward.

LIBERI HOMINES REGIS. These were Thanes, or servants of the king.

INVASIONES IN NORDFOLC. Under this title were entered such people as retained their lands or had possessed themselves without a title from the Conqueror. There were many of these Invaders or Intruders, but more in Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex than in any other counties.

The Conqueror created Ralph Waher or Guader, Earl of Norfolk and Suffolk, and bestowed upon him nine manors in this county. To William de Albini Pincerna, his bursar, he gave the possessions of a Thane, named Edwin, comprising the four manors of Snettisham, Sharnborn, Stanhoe, and Buckenham, the latter to be held by the service of bursar, or butler to the king; whence De Albini took the additional name of Pincerna. During the reign of the Conqueror, Ralph de Waher having forfeited his honours and estates, by taking up arms against his sovereign, both were conferred on Hugh Bigod, who had distinguished himself in the battle of Hastings. The property continued in this family till the time of Edward the Second; for, in 1312, Thomas de Brotherton had a charter in-tail general of the honours and estates of Roger Bigod, Marshal of England, and Earl of Norfolk. These were confirmed to him in the reign of King Edward III., in whose time, the manors in the hundred of Brothercross, which, till that period, had belonged to the Earls of Warren and Surrey, were given to John de Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster. The great estates in the Hundred of South Erpingham, descended from the Barons de Rye, to the Marshals, Earls of Pembroke, and from them to the Morley family. The possessions of the Albini family, afterwards Earls of Arundel, passed with their heiress to the Montalts, in the reign of Henry III. The estates of Ralph de Toni, went by marriage, in the time of Edward II., into the family of Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick. Of the great proprietary usurpers established here by the Conqueror, but few of their descendants held their estates for any great length of time. The property has frequently changed owners. In the reigns of Henry VII. and VIII., amongst the great land owners here, were the families of Townshend, Yelverton, Hobart, Lovel, Southwell, Gawdy, Spelman, Howard, Fitzalan, Willoughby de Eresby, Denny, Darce, Shelton, Kerdiston, Coke, Paston, Goring, Berney, &c. By the abolition of feudal customs, the admission of all classes of society to participate in the distribution of legal privileges, and the general diffusion of a spirit of trade and commerce, property has been greatly divided; and though in some cases, large tracts of land have been accumulated into great estates, yet, in numerous instances, both the tenures and the owners have been changed.

The HISTORICAL EVENTS which have happened in Norfolk, since the Norman Conquest, are detailed in the Histories of Norwich, Yarmouth, Lynn, Thetford, &c., at subsequent pages; therefore, a brief summary of their leading features will here suffice. In the time of William Rufus, Norfolk was a scene of confusion, by Roger Bigod having sided with Robert Curthose against the king; in which contest the county suffered very considerable devastation. During the commotions excited in the kingdom by the unnatural attempt of Prince Henry, to wrest the crown from the head of his father, King Henry, this county participated largely in the disasters which arise from civil discord. Earl Bigod espoused the prince's cause, but the King's troops being victorious, the Flemings, in the pay of the prince, were permitted to return to their own country, and Bigod purchased his peace at the expense of 1000 marks. In the turbulent reign of King John, Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk, took part with the refractory Barons. And while they were taking cities and towns in one part of the kingdom, John was laying waste, with fire and sword, the baronial possessions in another. In his career he came to Lynn, where, being well received, he crossed the Washes with the loss of his baggage, to the Abbey of Swineshead, in his way to Newark Castle, where he died. After this, the county was overrun by Prince Lewis, who exacted heavy contributions. In Richard the Second's time, a powerful insurrection broke out in Essex, under Wat Tyler and two other daring leaders, and the disaffection soon spread into Norfolk, where the rebels were headed by Litester, the Norwich dyer; but these "Norfolk Levellers" were ultimately overthrown by the Bishop of Norwich. Two other rebellions broke out in the reign of Edward VI., owing to a system of enclosing, adopted by the nobility and gentry, who had been put in possession of the abbey lands. Though they happened in different parts of the kingdom, (Norfolk and Devon,) they were evidently the consequence of previous communication, and a preconcerted plan. The Norfolk insurgents were headed by the two Ketts, of Wymondham, and under their exactions and outrages, the county suffered severely for several months, but they were finally subdued by the army under the Earl of Warwick, in a dreadful battle fought near Norwich, on August 27th, 1549. At the commencement of the CIVIL WARS, in the reign of Charles I., Norfolk took a decisive part. When the parliament had voted the necessity of taking up arms against the King and his party, on July 12th, 1642, the inhabitants of this county generally approved of that determination, and Norwich, Yarmouth, and other places were speedily garrisoned by the parliamentary troops.—At no period during this long unnatural struggle, did the King's forces make much impression in Norfolk, though Lynn was occupied by them till September, 1643.

CIVIL, POLITICAL, AND HONORIAL HISTORY.—In the early reigns of the Saxon princes, the civil and military authorities were blended together in the same persons, who, from their rank, were styled Æthelings, and from their office, Ealdermen, or Earls.—These were the vicegerents of royalty, —being empowered to raise troops and contributions; to repel invasion, quell insurrections, and preserve the King's peace,—until Alfred the Great separated the civil and military functions, and founded the basis of the present enviable constitution of England. Before this period, one mote or court served for the decision of civil, ecclesiastical, and military causes; for hearing which, the earl and the bishop conjointly presided, but a severation was now made between temporal and spiritual concerns. The bishop was allowed to hold a privileged court for his diocese; and the Sheriff had the power granted him of holding courts for determining such civil causes as were previously tried by the Earl. Until 1576, one sheriff served for the two counties of Norfolk and Suffolk,—both being in the bishopric of Norwich. The Sheriff is elected yearly; attends the judges at the assizes; assists in the execution of justice; has virtually the custody of all the county prisoners; and holds a court called the Sheriff's Torn, for enquiring into all offences committed against the common or statutable law of the realm. The Military and Maritime government of Norfolk is usually vested in the same person. The Earl of Leicester is the present Lord-Lieutenant, Custos Rotulorum, and Vice-Admiral. In the two first capacities, he is appointed by the Crown, and as deputy viceroy, presides over the affairs of the county, has the control of the militia and volunteers, and the appointment of deputy-lieutenants and magistrates. As Vice-Admiral of Norfolk, he is appointed by, and executes his authority, under the Lord High Admiral of England. He has power to hold a Court of Admiralty for the county, with judges, marshals, and other proper officers, subordinate to him, for the purpose of exercising jurisdiction in all maritime affairs within his peculiar limits; but the mayors of Yarmouth and Lynn have admiralty jurisdictions on the rivers of their respective boroughs and ports. From the decision of these local courts, an appeal lies to the High Court of Admiralty. Exclusive of the borough and general jurisdiction of the county, and the Queen's courts, there are in Norfolk several Honorial Jurisdictions, with courts, peculiarly privileged by exemptions and powers, vested in the lords paramount of the HONORS or LIBERTIES. The Court for the Liberty of the Duchy of Lancaster is kept at Aylsham; for the Honor of Rhye, at Hingham; for the Fee of Richmond, at Swaffham; and for the Liberty of the Duke of Norfolk, at Lopham, or elsewhere, within the liberty, at the discretion of his Grace. The latter liberty is very extensive, comprising the four Hundreds of Earsham, Guilt-cross, Launditch, and South Greenhoe, and the following scattered parishes, viz.:—Yelverton-with-Alpington, Aldeby, Bixley, Bayfield, Boughton, Bramerton, Caistor-next-Norwich, Cantley, Ditchingham, Dickleburgh, Forncett St. Mary and St. Peter, Framingham-Earl-and-Pigot, Hedenham, Halvergate, Holverstone, Loddon, Limpenhoe, Poringland, (Great and Little), Reedham, Sisland, Strumpshaw, Seething, Tunstall, Thwaite, Toft-Monks, South Walsham, Wickhampton, Winterton, and Wheatacre-Burgh. Two Coroners are appointed to this extensive Honorial Liberty of His Grace of Norfolk; one for the Liberty of Sir Thomas Hare; one for the Hundred of Clackclose; and one for the Liberty of the Duchy of Lancaster, which comprises the Hundreds of Brothercross, Gallow, North and South Erpingham, North Greenhoe, and Smithdon.

EARLS AND DUKES OF NORFOLK.—Before the Conquest, there were seven successive Earls of East Anglia, viz.:—Æthelstan, Ethelwold, Alwin, Ulfkettle, Turketel or Turkil, Harold, and Leofric. Ralph de Waher, or Guader, was created Earl of Norfolk and Suffolk, by the Norman Conqueror. Having rebelled against his benefactor, in 1057, he was obliged to fly to Denmark, and part of his confiscated estates, together with the title of Earl of Norfolk, were conferred on Roger Bigod, who had previously obtained several great lordships in this county, as a reward for his eminent services in the battle of Hastings. Hugh Bigod, the third Earl, died

attainted, in 1177; after which, his heir—Roger Bigod, was obliged to purchase the title and estates, by paying a fine of 1000 marks. In the reign of King John, he joined the refractory barons, and was one of the most active amongst them in procuring for the people that great palladium of English liberty—Magna Charta. Roger Bigod, the sixth Earl, was Marshal of England in right of his mother Maud, the sister and co-heiress of Anselm, Earl of Pembroke, and Earl Marshal. He died in 1270, and was succeeded by his nephew Roger, who, having no issue, surrendered his Earldom and Marshal's rod to king Edward I., who conferred them both on his fifth son, Thomas Plantagenet de Brotherton, who died without male issue, in 1338; after which, his eldest daughter, Margaret, was created Duchess of Norfolk for life, and married Lord Segrave. Their daughter, Elizabeth, was married to Thomas Lord Mowbray, who, in right of his wife, succeeded to the Honor of Norfolk, and was created Duke of Norfolk, in 1397; but he was banished the following year, and died at Venice in 1400. His second son, John de Mowbray, having fought valiantly, during the wars in France, was, by an unanimous vote of parliament, restored to the title of Duke of Norfolk, in 1424. John de Mowbray, the fourth Duke, died in 1475, without male issue. His infant daughter was betrothed to Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York, second son of Edward IV., who was created Duke of Norfolk, in 1477, but being murdered in the tower, with his brother Edward, by order of his ambitious uncle, Richard III., all his honors became extinct. Sir John Howard, Kt., who was descended from a daughter of Thomas de Mowbray, the first Duke, was created Duke of Norfolk and Earl Marshal, in 1483, but was slain at Bosworth-Field, in 1485, while fighting for the ruthless Richard III.

HOWARD FAMILY.—The titles of Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, &c., still remain with the illustrious family of Howard, which ranks in the British Peerage next the Blood Royal; but it has had its share of state sufferings; the block has been several times stained with its blood, and its dignities and possessions have been often forfeited to the Crown, but as often restored. The Howards are descended from the Earl of Passy, in Normandy. William Howard, a learned judge in the reigns of Edward I. and II., was one of their ancestors. His son, John Howard, was sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk, and served in the wars against the French and Scots, in the latter reign. Sir John Howard, the son of the latter, was a renowned admiral in the reign of Edward III. His grandson, Robert, married Margaret, daughter and co-heiress of Thomas de Mowbray, the first Duke of Norfolk. He had issue by that lady, John Howard, who was commonly called "Jockey of Norfolk," and distinguished himself in the wars with France, in the reigns of Henry VI. and Edward IV., in the latter of which he was "Captain-General of the king's forces at sea," Deputy-Governor of Calais, summoned to Parliament among the barons, and Constable of the Tower of London; and obtained a grant in special tail of divers lands and manors. He (Jockey of Norfolk) had a pension from France, and in addition to it, he received from Louis XI., in less than two years, in money and plate, "24,000 crowns, by way of direct bribe." He got all the honours of Earl-Marshal, &c., in return for his favouring the usurpation of that blood-stained monarch, Richard III., with whom he was killed at the battle of Bosworth-Field, in 1485, and being attainted, all his honours were forfeited. But his son Thomas subsequently obtained the favour of Henry VII., and was restored to the title of Earl of Surrey. He afterwards routed the Scots at Flodden Field, and rendered such essential service to Henry VIII., that in 1514, he was created Duke of Norfolk. William, his second son, was created Baron Howard of Effingham; and Thomas, his eldest son, succeeded him as Duke of Norfolk; but after rendering great services to Henry VIII. both as a soldier and a plenipotentiary, he was seized and attainted with his son Henry, who lost his head on Tower Hill, in 1547.

He himself, however, lived till the catholic Mary ascended the throne, and restored him to all his honours and estates, in 1553; but he died in the following year, when he was succeeded by his grandson, Thomas, who, in the protestant reign of Elizabeth, was attainted and beheaded in 1572, "for taking part with Mary Queen of Scots." His son, Philip, Earl of Arundel, (by Margaret, sole heiress of Henry Fitz Alan, Earl of Arundel,) was found guilty of high treason in the 23rd of Elizabeth, and died in the Tower six years afterwards. Thomas, Earl of Arundel, son of the latter, introduced the "Arundel Marbles" into this kingdom, and obtained possession of Sheffield, &c., by marrying Lady Alethea Talbot. Henry, the Duke of Norfolk of the time of James II., was a staunch protestant. One day, says Burnet, "the King gave the Duke of Norfolk the sword of state to carry before him to the popish chapel, and he stood at the door: Upon which the King said unto him 'My Lord, your father would have gone further;' to which the Duke answered, 'Your Majesty's father was the better man, and he would not have gone so far.'" It was owing to his nephew succeeding him that the title came again into the Roman Catholic line. The titles of the present Most Noble HENRY FITZ-ALAN HOWARD, are Duke of NORFOLK, Earl of Arundel, Surrey, and Norfolk, Baron Fitz-Alan, Chun, Oswaldestre, and Maltravers, Hereditary Earl Marshal, and Premier Duke and Earl of England. He is the 15th Duke of Norfolk, and was born in 1847, so that he is now only 17 years of age. His father, the late Duke, succeeded to the titles and estates in 1856, and died in 1860; and his mother the present Dowager Duchess of Norfolk, was the youngest daughter of the late distinguished Admiral Lord Lyons. His principal seat is Arundel Castle, Sussex, and his town residence in St. James's square. His brother, Lord Edmund Bernard Fitzalan Howard, is the heir presumptive. The family formerly had seats at Norwich, Kenninghall, and other places in Norfolk.

The PEERS who have derived titles from places in Norfolk, are noticed in the parish histories at subsequent pages. BARONETS, who were first created by James I., in 1611, seem to answer to the feudal barons of ancient times, when the distinction existed of barons of parliament and barons by patent. Of the number which have been created in Norfolk, the titles of 34 are extinct, but more than 20 still remain.

ANTIQUITIES.—Norfolk being situated on the eastern coast of the kingdom, where so many important events and changes took place, does not possess any of those important Celtic remains, such as cromlechs, circles of stones, &c., which are so remarkable on the western shores; but innumerable barrows, containing Celts, spear heads, beads, and other vestiges of early times are scattered all over the county. Of the Roman period, there are still considerable remains at the five Stations mentioned at page 24, and coins, urns, glass, and pottery have been found in many other places. Some writers consider Ickborough to have been a Roman Station, and have identified it as the Iceani of the Itinerary. Of the Saxons and Danes there are comparatively few vestiges, but the skill and piety of our Norman forefathers are exhibited in many of the ecclesiastical or monastic edifices of the county, particularly in Norwich Cathedral, and at Castle Rising, Castle Acre, Lopham, Great Gillingham, Windham, Bromholm, Binham, Great Dunham, Hales, and Walsoken. In several parts of the county are clusters of singular excavations which have long puzzled the antiquaries, but have been usually considered to be the sites of the dwellings of the primeval inhabitants of Britain. These pits vary from eight to twenty feet in diameter, and from two to six feet in depth, and appear to have been originally lined with stones. In some instances two of them are joined together by a narrow trench, also carefully lined with stones; and occasionally the floors bear traces of fire. The heaths of Weybourne, Aylmerton, Beeston, Marsham, and Weeting, have thousands of them; and they are to be found in smaller quantities at Edgefield, Mousehold, and Eaton heaths, and elsewhere. They are known by the peasantry under different names as "Grimes Graves," "Shrieking Pits," "Hills and Holes," &c., and there are many traditions about them, all of which appear to be without foundation, though affording strong evidence of their great antiquity. Of the via militares, or great ROMAN ROADS, made for the convenience of carriages, and for facilitating the marching of armies, few perfect vestiges remain in Norfolk. But as several important stations were formed within the county, no doubt can be entertained that such roads once existed, though the traces of most of them are now obliterated. It was the custom of the Romans to open this kind of communication between all their stations, and many appearances of roads are still to be seen in those parts of the adjoining county of Cambridge which abut upon this, and in a direction as though they had come from the eastern part. A great Roman road connected the south eastern and north western parts of the kingdom; and another formed a similar communication between the north-eastern and south-western extremities.—This, commencing on the coast of Norfolk, probably at Burgh, near Yarmouth, passed by Caistor, near Norwich, and is now conspicuous near Downham; crossing the river Ouse, it passes through the fens into Cambridgeshire, and proceeding through the central counties, joins the Julia strata, and terminates at St. David's head. Sir William Dugdale says it was discovered in the fens sixty feet wide and three feet deep, and formed of compact gravel. Extending southward to this road, from Narborough to the vicinity of Stoke Ferry, along the boundary of Clackclose Hundred, was an embanked road and foss, still extant in many places, and called the Devil's Ditch. Of the chimini minores, or Vicinal Roads, some traces are still visible. What is called Pedder's, or Pedler's way, passing from Thetford by Ickborough, Swaffham, Castle Acre, Fring, and Ringstead, to the sea, near Brancaster, appears one of this sort. The road leading by Long Stratton to Tasburgh, was probably another, whilst a third branched off from this to the north-west, going through Marshland, Upwell, and Elm, to Wisbech. What is called the Milky-way has been considered Roman; but is more likely of later date, and was probably made for the convenience of the devotees, who went on pilgrimage to the chapel of our Lady of Walsingham. It is traceable in several places, and is pretty perfect in the vicinity of Weeting.

CASTLES, &c.—Besides the Roman stations and the Saxon and Danish encampments already noticed, Norfolk contains the remains of several castles and castellated halls, the chief of which were built or materially altered by the Norman barons. The most formidable were at Norwich, Castle Acre, Castle Rising, and Buckenham. At Middleton, near Lynn, is a fine gate-house, or tower, which formed the entrance to a castellated structure, and has been admirably restored by its present owner. Caistor Hall, near Yarmouth; Oxburgh Hall, Winwall House, near Wereham; Hunstanton Hall, Scales Hall, Fincham Hall, Stiffkey Hall, and Baconthorpe Hall, are ancient mansions, all of which exhibit some features of a castellated character, though they do not appear to have been regularly or completely fortified. The walls of these buildings, as well as most of the numerous churches, monastic ruins, and other ancient edifices in Norfolk, are composed chiefly of flint, embedded in strong mortar;—the county producing scarcely any stone, except an iron-coloured carr-stone, which is got in pieces not much larger than the flints, which latter are found in great abundance, nearly in every part of the county. Both the flint and the carr-stone are much used in modern erections, but the quoins, and the windows and door cases, &c., are generally constructed of brick or free-stone, forming a sort of frame to the other irregularly shaped materials, and giving to the whole a very picturesque effect.

ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY.—After the death of King Arthur, in 518, the religion of the ancient Britons gave place to the more barbarous superstitions of the Saxons, who worshipped the sun and the moon, adored the God of thunder, had images in their temples, practised sacrifices, and believed firmly in spells and incantations. Happily, this idolatry did not long exist in Britain. The Saxons, who had settled in East Anglia, were amongst the first to embrace the Christian religion, which had gained a small footing in their kingdom in the reigns of Redwald and Erpenwald, but was not firmly established until SIGEBERT was invested with the government. Redwald, while viceroy of Kent under King Ethelbert, was converted to Christianity, and baptised, but succeeding his father Titul in the kingdom of the East Angles, he was persuaded by his wife to return to his former idolatry; yet, that he might not seem wholly to renounce Christianity, he erected in the same temple an altar for the service of Christ, and another for sacrifice to idols, which, as Bede informs us, were standing in his time. Thus Christianity was banished from his kingdom during his reign. The Queen, however, who had thus excluded the true religion, was the means of its establishment in the sequel. Being the widow of a nobleman, by whom she had a son named Sigebert, she introduced him at the court of Redwald. By Redwald she had two sons, Reynhere and Erpenwald, who, being brought up with Sigebert, were so far surpassed by him both in person and behaviour, that Redwald took umbrage at the youth, and banished him to France, where he continued during the remainder of Redwald's reign, and that of Erpenwald, who succeeded his father, because Reynhere had been killed in battle with Ethelfrid, King of Northumbria, in Nottinghamshire. Erpenwald having been convinced of the truth of Christianity by Edwin, King of Northumbria, while residing as an exile at his father's Court, had embraced that religion; and on his accession to the throne, he openly professed it, hoping that his subjects would follow his example; but contrary to his expectations, they were so dissatisfied that a conspiracy was formed against his life, and he fell by the hand of an assassin, leaving no issue. The East Angles being now destitute of an heir to the throne, and considering none so well qualified to fill it as Sigebert, made him an offer of the crown. Having accepted it, he returned to his native country, and brought with him Felix, a religious Burgundian ecclesiastic, by whom he had himself been converted, to undertake the conversion of his subjects. Felix cheerfully entered upon the arduous task, so that, charmed by the impressive eloquence of the evangelist, and incited by the royal example, numerous converts were soon made, schools were instituted, and churches erected for public worship. Over these, Felix was appointed to preside, under the title of Bishop; and, after having been consecrated by Honorius the second archbishop of Canterbury, in 630, he fixed his seat or see at Silthestow, afterwards called Dunwich, in Suffolk. Such was his piety and zeal, and so extensive was the fame he acquired by his eminent services in the church, that after his death, in 647, he was canonized as a saint and his festival appointed to be held yearly on March 8th. The second Bishop of East Anglia was Thomas, who had been deacon to Felix, and died in 653. He was succeeded by Boniface or Bregilsus, on whose death, in 669, Bisus, or Bossa, became the third bishop of East Anglia, but in his declining years, finding his diocese much too large for his enfeebled exertions, he obtained permission to divide it into two sees, fixing one at Dunwich, in Suffolk, and the other at North Elmham, in Norfolk. He died in 673, and was succeeded in the see of Dunwich by the following eleven Bishops, viz., Æcca, Easculphus, Eadrid, Cuthwin, Albrith, Eglaf, Heardred, Alsinus, Titefertus, Weremundus, and Ethilwald. During this partition of the East Anglian diocese, there were also 11 BISHOPS OF NORTH ELMHAM—viz., Bedwinus, consecrated in 673; Northbertus, Hedulacus, Edilfridus, Lanferthus, Athelwalfus, Unfertus, Sibba, Alherdus, Humbert, and Wybred. The latter was appointed bishop of both the sees, which having been again united, he fixed the episcopal seat at North Elmham, about the year 870.

At this period, this part of England was repeatedly invaded by the Danes, and the see was vacant more than half a century. The ecclesiastical government was at length restored by Theodred the First, or Teodred. He was succeeded by Theodred the Second, surnamed the Good, who was also Bishop of London, and held both the sees till his death, about the year 962. After these, there were eleven other Bishops of North Elmham—viz., Athulf, Alfric, Athelstane, St. Algare, Alfwin, Alfric the Second, Alfric the Third, Stigand, Grimketel, Egelmar, and Herfast. The latter, in compliance with an order that all episcopal sees should be removed from villages to the most eminent cities or towns in the respective dioceses, translated the see of North Elmham to Thetford, in 1070. He was by birth a Norman, a great favourite of the Conqueror's, and Chancellor of England. He died in 1084. Wm. Galsagus, or Beaupo, succeeded, and was afterwards made Chancellor. He died in 1091, and by his will, divided his immense wealth between his family and see. His successor, HERBERT DE LOZINGA, or Losigna, purchased the bishopric of Wm. Rufus, at a cost of £1900; he also bought for his father the abbacy of Winchester for £1000; for which, and other simoniacal practices, he was cited to appear before the Pope, and besides the forfeiture of his polluted staff and ring, was commanded, by way of penance, to build certain churches and monasteries. In obedience to this injunction, he laid the foundation of NORWICH CATHEDRAL and its Priory, in 1096, after solemnly translating the see to that city, and being there consecrated by Thomas Archbishop of York on the 9th of April, 1094. For the site of his cathedral and priory, he purchased of the King and citizens, the meadow land called Cow-holm, now forming the Cathedral Close and Precincts. Since the removal of the see to Norwich, 68 prelates have successively presided over it, as will be seen in the following list, with the years in which they were respectively inducted.

HERBERT DE LOSINGA.....A.D. 1094
Founded the Cathedral and built the Palace and Monastery.

Vacant three years.

EBORARD OR EVERARDA.D. 1121
Divided the Archdeaconry of Suffolk into two, and founded the hospital and church of St. Paul, in Norwich.
Either resigned or was deposed.

WM. TURBUS, or De Turba Villa A.D. 1146
A friend and advocate of Thomas-a-Becket, who induced him to excommunicate the Earl of Norfolk and some other nobles, for which he was forced to take sanctuary till he had appeased the king's wrath.

JOHN OF OXFORD.....A.D. 1175
Took part with Henry II. against Becket, and built the church of the Holy Trinity at Ipswich.

JOHN DE GREY.....A.D. 1200
Built a palace at Gaywood, near Lynn, made that town a free borough, and lent large sums to King John, for which he received in pledge the royal regalia.

Vacant seven years.

PANDULPHUS.....A.D. 1222
Obtained a grant of the whole first fruits of the clergy in his diocese, for himself and successors; which was not revoked till the time of Hen. VIII.

THOMAS DE BLANDEVILL....A.D. 1226

RALFO (died soon after) . . .A.D. 1236
Vacant three years.

WILLIAM DE RALEIGHA.D. 1239
Translated to Winchester.

WALTER DE SUTHFIELDA.D. 1244
Obtained for the bishopric a charter of free warren to himself and successors; erected and endowed the hospital of St. Giles; and made a valuation of all the ecclesiastical revenues in the kingdom for Pope Innocent.

SIMON DE WALTONEA.D. 1258

ROGER DE SKEREWING.....A.D. 1265

WILLIAM DE MIDDLETON....A.D. 1278

RALPH DE WALPOLEA.D. 1288
Translated to Ely.

JOHN SALOMONA.D. 1299
Enlarged the palace, and founded the Charnel House School.

ROBERT DE BALDOK.....A.D. 1325
Resigned the same year.

WILLIAM DE AYRMINNEA.D. 1325
Enclosed and fortified the cathedral and palace with embattled stone walls.

THOMAS HEMANALEA.D. 1337
Translated to Worcester same year.

ANTHONY DE BECKA.D. 1337
Being of an imperious and quarrelsome temper, was poisoned either by the monks or his own servants.

WILLIAM BATEMANA.D. 1343
Was a native of Norwich, and founded Trinity Hall, Cambridge.

- THOMAS PERCY.....A.D. 1355
Youngest brother of the Earl of Northumberland, was only 22 years of age when he obtained the prelacy.
- HENRY LE SPENCERA.D. 1370
Was consecrated by the Pope in person; took an active part in the warfare between the Urbanists and Clementines; was an enthusiastic zealot, and a rigorous persecutor of the Lollards.
- ALEXANDER DE TOTINGTON..A.D. 1406
- RICHARD DE COURTENEY, LL.D. A.D. 1413
- JOHN WAKERYNGA.D. 1416
- WILLIAM ALNWICK, LL.D....A.D. 1426
Translated to Lincoln.
- THOMAS BROWNE, LL.D.A.D. 1436
Translated from Rochester, left money to pay the city tax; and founded exhibitions at the universities for poor scholars in his diocese.
- JOHN STANBURY, D.D.....A.D. 1445
Chosen but never consecrated.
- WALTER LYHARTA.D. 1446
- JAMES GOLDWELL.....A.D. 1472
Granted 12 years and 40 days pardon to all who assisted him in beautifying the cathedral.
- THOMAS JANE.....A.D. 1499
- RICHARD NYKKE, or Nix.....A.D. 1500
Alienated the revenues of his diocese for the Abbey of Holme, by agreement with Henry VIII.; and was a cruel persecutor of the church reformers.
- WM. RUGG, D.D.A.D. 1535
Resigned the see for an annuity of £200 per annum.
- THOMAS THIRLBY.....A.D. 1550
Translated from Westminster, of which he was first and last bishop; and afterwards removed to Ely.
- JOHN HOPTON, D.D.A.D. 1554
A sanguinary persecutor of the reformers, and is supposed to have died through fear of retaliating vengeance on the accession of Elizabeth.
- RICHARD COX, D.D.A.D. 1558
Translated to Ely.
- JOHN PARKHURST, D.D.A.D. 1560
- EDMUND FREKE, D.D.....A.D. 1575
Translated from Rochester, and afterwards removed to Worcester
- EDMUND SCAMBLER, D.D....A.D. 1584
Translated from Peterborough.
- WILLIAM REDMAN, D.D.....A.D. 1594
- JOHN JEGGON, D.D.A.D. 1602
In his time a fire broke out in the palace at Ludham, and consumed the whole of the library and many valuable documents respecting the diocese.
- JOHN OVERALL, D.D.....A.D. 1618
Translated from Lichfield & Coventry.
- SAMUEL HARNETT, D.D.... A.D. 1619
Translated from Chichester, and afterwards became Archbishop of York.
- FRANCIS WHITE, D.D.A.D. 1628
Translated from Carlisle, and afterwards removed to Ely.
- RICHARD CORBET, D.D.....A.D. 1631
Translated from Norwich.
- MATTHEW WREN, D.D.....A.D. 1635
Translated from Hereford, and afterwards removed to Ely. He was father of the celebrated architect Sir Christopher Wren.
- RICHARD MONTAGUE, D.D....A.D. 1638
Translated from Chichester. A distinguished scholar.
- JOSEPH HALL, D.D.A.D. 1641
Translated from Exeter. During the civil wars he was sent to the Tower for asserting his right to vote in the House of Peers, and Parliament deprived him of his temporalities, and prohibited him from exercising any spiritual jurisdiction.
Vacant four years.
- EDWARD REYNOLDS, D.D....A.D. 1660
Was a liberal benefactor to the City of Norwich, and paid much attention to the comforts of the parochial clergy.
- ANTHONY SPARROW, D.D.A.D. 1676
Translated from Exeter.
- WILLIAM LLOYD, D.D.A.D. 1686
Translated from Peterborough. On the accession of William III., refusing to take the oath of abjuration against James II. he was deprived of his bishopric.
- JOHN MOORE, D.D.....A.D. 1691
Translated to Ely. He collected an immense library of rare and valuable books, which at his death was purchased by George I., and presented to the University of Cambridge.
- CHARLES TRIMNELL, D.D....A.D. 1707
Translated to Winchester. He was a native of Norwich, and greatly assisted the Protestant emigrants, who fled to his diocese from the Palatinate, on the Rhine, through the irruptions and exactions of the French. Many of these emigrants were artisans, and greatly increased the general welfare of the county.
- THOMAS GREEN, D.D.A.D. 1721
Translated to Ely.
- JOHN LONG, D.D.A.D. 1723
- WILLIAM BAKER, D.D.A.D. 1727
Translated from Bangor.
- ROBERT BUTTS, D.D.....A.D. 1732
Translated to Ely.
- SIR THOS. GOOCH, BART, D.D..A.D. 1738
Translated from Bristol, and afterwards removed to Ely.

SAMUEL LISLE, D.D. A.D. 1748
Translated from St. Asaph.

THOMAS HAYTER, D.D. A.D. 1749
Translated to London.

PHILIP YONGE, D.D. A.D. 1761

LEWIS BAGOT, LL.D. A.D. 1783
Translated from Bristol, and afterwards removed to St. Asaph.

GEORGE HORNE, D.D. A.D. 1790
Author of a "Commentary on the Psalms," and other works of considerable merit.

RT. HON. C. M. SUTTON, D.D. . . . A.D. 1792
Prelate of the Order of the Garter. Translated to the Archbishopric of Canterbury.

HENRY BATHURST, LL.D. A.D. 1805
Died in the 94th year of his age, and was much esteemed for his Christian charity, liberality of sentiment, and meekness of deportment. A beautiful statue to his memory, by Sir F. Chantrey, has been placed in the Cathedral.

EDWARD STANLEY, D.D. A.D. 1837
President of the Linnæan Society, an active philanthropist, and a distinguished advocate of civil and religious liberty. Brother to the first Lord Stanley of Alderley.

SAMUEL HINDS, D.D. A.D. 1850
Author of "The Rise and Progress of Christianity," and other valuable works; as well as many beautiful poems and hymns. Resigned the bishopric in 1857, and lives in retirement.

HON. JOHN THOS. PELHAM, D.D. A.D. 1857
The present highly esteemed prelate, who is brother to the Earl of Chichester.

The DIOCESE of NORWICH, until 1837, comprised 16 parishes in Cambridgeshire and the whole of Norfolk and Suffolk, except a few peculiars. Its number of parishes was anciently 1350, but they were reduced, after the Reformation, by various consolidations to 1279, divided into 47 deaneries, apportioned among the archdeaconries as follows—viz., 13 to Norwich, 12 to Norfolk, 14 to Suffolk, and 8 to Sudbury. By an order in Council, dated April 19, 1837, the Archdeaconry of Sudbury was added to the Diocese of Ely, except the Deaneries of Stow and Hartismere, which have been annexed to the Archdeaconry of Suffolk, which comprises also all the Eastern Divisions of that county, and is still in the Diocese of Norwich. The loss of the Sudbury Archdeaconry took from this diocese nearly all the Western Division of Suffolk, and also the 16 parishes in Cambridgeshire which belonged to it. At present, the Diocese of Norwich comprises the whole of Norfolk and more than half of Suffolk, and comprehends altogether about 1100 parishes. of which about 750 are in Norfolk and 350 in Suffolk. It is now divided into the three Archdeaconries of Norwich, Norfolk, and Suffolk. The first is subdivided into 13, the second into 12, and the third into 16 Rural Deaneries, making in all 41, of which an enumeration, with the names of the Rural Deans, &c., is given at a subsequent page. The revenues of the bishopric were anciently very valuable, but were much decreased by Henry VIII., who stripped it of all its manors, and gave in exchange only those belonging to the abbey of St. Bennet-at-the-Holme, and the priory at Hickling. It stands charged in the Liber Regis, or King's Books, at the annual value of £834. 11s. 7d. It pays first fruits, but no tenths, those having been discharged by a commutation with Queen Elizabeth, for the manors of Sudborn and Swanton. The Bishop has the patronage of 87, and the Dean and Chapter are patrons of 42 benefices. The latter being the successors of the wealthy prior and monks of Norwich, possess a large revenue from the Bishop. The diocese is in the province of Canterbury, and its bishop is a suffragan to the archbishop of that metropolitan see. At an early period, the see enjoyed extensive privileges, as well as great revenues. The bishop possessed all the usual powers granted to lay baronies, the liberty of coinage, exemption from all taxes, tallage, and customs, except those of the city of London; jura regalia within his manors, a coroner and prison for his liberty, and all mullets and americiaments from his tenants; the right of choosing a justice for the precinct of his palace, and of acting himself as one of the king's justices of the peace for the city, county, and liberty. All these were confirmed by a charter of inspeximus, granted by King Henry VIII., 29th of March, A.D. 1512. But, through many ancient statutes becoming obsolete, the abolition of feudal customs, and various subsequent parliamentary regulations, many of these privileges are abridged, if not annulled. There is, however, one which the bishops of Norwich have had from time immemorial, and as it is peculiar to this diocese, ought not to be unnoticed. It is the power of uniting any two cures within the diocese, at the time of institution, without regard to their value; and that, either by personal or perpetual union. The personal union lasts only during the life of the incumbent, and answers to an archiepiscopal dispensation, requiring in this diocese only the bishop's consent. The perpetual union is made with the joint consent of patron, incumbent, and bishop, and is equal to a consolidation. The Bishop is a Peer of the Realm, and sits in the upper house, not only in the right of his barony, but as titular Abbot of St. Bennet's at Holme; and is the only ABBOT at present in England. He nominates the three archdeacons, the chancellor, registrars, steward of the courts, auditor, apparitor, &c. The arms of the see are Az., three mitres labelled, Or., two and one.

The DEAN and CHAPTER were instituted out of the prior and convent of Norwich, by Henry VIII., and refounded by charter in the reign of James I. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners, in their report, published in 1835, say, "The corporation consists of a dean and six prebendaries. The corpse money, &c., of the dean is £102. 6s., and of each prebendary only £20. There are six minor canons, three of whom have £20 per annum; one of them, the precentor, £40; another of them, the sacrist, £29; and another, the librarian, £31. There are also a gospeller and an epistoller: to the gospeller is paid £19 per annum, and to the epistoller, £26. 10s., all of which payments are made out of the funds of the dean and chapter. Three of the minor canons have houses assigned to them. Three of the other minor canons have small sums per annum, in lieu of houses, viz., one £25, and the other two £10 each. For the epistoller, a new house has been built; and the gospeller has £15 a-year in lieu of one. The dean and prebendaries divide the surplus net revenue, (about £5000,) after payment of all stipends and allowances, in the following proportions:—The dean has two eighths, and the prebendaries one-eighth each. The average annual sum thus divided among the dean and prebendaries from 1828 to 1831, was £4992, and their gross yearly income was £7811. Houses are assigned to each of them for their residence, and they are bound to keep them in repair; but there is a yearly allowance out of the general funds of the corporation, of £20 to the dean, and £10 to each of the prebendaries for materials and repairs." By an Act passed in 1840, pursuant to the recommendation of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, the number of prebendaries has been reduced to four, who are styled Canons, and are appointed, like the dean, by the Crown, for which the Lord Chancellor presents. By the same act, the Minor Canons are appointed by the Chapter, and are not to exceed seven, nor to be less than two; and no minor canon's income, as minor canon, is to exceed £150 per annum. The possessions of the Dean and Chapter are nearly the same as those formerly enjoyed by the Priory. They had the civil as well as the ecclesiastical government of the Cathedral Close and Precincts, until this peculiar jurisdiction was added to the parliamentary and municipal borough of Norwich, as part of the First Ward, by the reform Acts of 1832 and 1835. They had formerly a gaol, and power to hold sessions of the peace, but the exercise of this power ceased many years ago, and since then all persons committing offences in the precincts of the cathedral have been tried in the City Courts. The care of the Cathedral is vested with the Dean and Chapter, who still appoint two coroners for the peculiar jurisdiction. A vice-dean, receiver, and treasurer are annually appointed from the canons; and the other officers are, eight lay clerks, an organist, ten choristers, two vergers, two sub-sacrists, six poor almsmen, to assist in cleaning the cathedral; a high steward, a commissary, chapter-clerk, auditor, porter, ferryman, beadle, &c. The Dean and Chapter have a valuable library of more than 6200 volumes, many of which were given by the late Dr. Sayer, in 1817. The arms of the Deanery are the same as those formerly used by the Prior, viz., ar. a cross sable. Since the foundation of the Deanery to the present time twenty-five DEANS have presided over it, of which the following is an enumeration, with the dates when each was inducted:—Wm. Castleton, 1538; John Salisbury, 1539; John Christopher, 1554; John Boxhall, 1557; John Harpsfield, 1558; John Salisbury, 1569; George Gardiner, 1573; Thomas Dove, 1589; John Jeggon, 1601; Geo. Montgomery, 1603; Edward Suckling, 1614; John Hassal, 1628; John Crofts, 1660; Herbert Astley, 1670; John Sharp, 1681; Henry Fairfax, 1689; Humphrey Prideaux, 1702; Thos. Cole, 1724; Robt. Butts, 1731; John Baron, 1733; Thomas Bullock, 1739; Edward Townsend, 1761; Philip Lloyd, 1765; Joseph Turner, 1790; and lastly, the Hon. and Very Rev. Geo. Pellew, D.D., the present dean, inducted in 1828. Several of the deans have been elevated to the episcopal bench, and one, John Sharp, became Archbishop of York.

MONASTIC INSTITUTIONS.—In the dark ages of catholicism and superstition, monasteries absorbed a great portion of the wealth and population of every part of the kingdom, and nowhere were they more numerous than in Norfolk, which contained no less than 122, including the various distinctions of abbeys, priories, nunneries, colleges, preceptories, commanderies, hospitals for lepers, &c., besides a much larger number of chantries, guilds, and free-chapels. The monks, by amassing riches, usurping power, trampling on the laws, and defeating the ends of justice, and by their arrogance, insolence, and luxury, at length brought about their decline, and facilitated their fall. Some of the monasteries were possessed of exclusive jurisdiction, and peculiar exemptions and privileges; others were dependent; and some were still more subordinate. The preceptories and commanderies of Knights Hospitaller and Knights Templar of St. John of Jerusalem were peculiars, governed by distinct laws, and privileged by military service. The cells were houses belonging to large monasteries, where the monks sent their junior brethren, when too much crowded at home; or refractory monks to do penance for non-compliance with monastic rules. The nature of the other institutions may be ascertained from the particular descriptions given of them in the course of this work. In the number of these religious foundations, England appears to have been inferior to no country; nor less profuse in granting means for their support. Many in this kingdom were richly endowed, and from their own history, it appears that luxury kept pace with increasing wealth. Their accumulation of property proceeded in an extensive ratio, and prior to the suppression in the time of Henry VIII., they appear to have been possessed of a third part of all the lands in England. When pride, luxury, and licentiousness had, with their train of dependent vices, become inmates of these sacred walls, they, by disgusting the moral feelings of society, induced the good sense of the nation to enquire into these scandalous abuses, and to question the utility of such institutions to real religion, and hastened their dissolution and the abolition of the system on which they were founded. Of the numerous monastic buildings which formerly existed in Norfolk, there are still remaining several highly interesting ruins at Norwich, Lynn, Thetford, Walsingham, Castleacre, Westacre, &c.

CHURCHES.—In its ecclesiastical architecture, Norfolk presents excellent examples of every variety of style, from the rude Saxon to the latest perpendicular. The towers of Dunham-Magna and Newton-by-Castleacre, and portions of many other churches, are attributed to the Saxons; and the round towers of which so many remain in Norfolk, although so uncommon elsewhere, have by many been thought to be Saxon or Danish; but they are more probably of Norman origin, and many of them are surmounted by octagonal turrets of undoubted Norman work. The Cathedral of Norwich, and many churches in the county, retain much of their original cumbrous and massive Norman architecture, but have all been more or less spoiled by subsequent alterations, carried out in totally dissimilar styles; though perhaps in some few instances an improvement may have been affected, as in the erection of the clerestory, over the choir of the cathedral. The early English period is exemplified at Binham, Walsingham, Yarmouth, Walsoken, and West Walton; but the larger proportion of the Norfolk churches are in the decorated and perpendicular styles, usually intermixed and seldom completely distinct. Noble specimens of these styles in conjunction are to be found along the whole coast line, and still finer ones exist in the fen country between Lynn and Wisbech. Many of these churches display beautiful specimens of flint and stone panelling, in which the flints are so regularly squared, and so evenly faced as to be almost said to represent a sheet of glass. Not the least interesting features of the ecclesiastical edifices of the county are the numerous fine rood-loft screens, the lower panels of most of which are enriched with beautiful paintings of apostles and saints. Sepulchral brasses are also very numerous, and some of them are executed in the highest style of art. Those in St. Margaret's church, Lynn, are particularly fine. The roofs of Wymondham, and some other churches, are magnificent specimens of carved woodwork. Many of the churches have undergone judicious repairs during the last 30 years, and some of them have been entirely refitted with open seats, and restored to their pristine state, though in many instances the restorations have been carried out with very questionable taste.

REFORMATION, MONASTERIES, &c.—Henry VIII. succeeded to the throne in 1509, when only 16 years of age, nearly 40 years after the art of printing had been introduced. In the early part of his reign, he wrote a book in defence of the seven sacraments, and the Pope was so ravished with its eloquence, that he conferred on him the title of Defender of the Faith, little imagining that Henry would so soon become the greatest enemy the Romish church had to contend with. In 1517, Martin Luther began in Germany that Reformation of the Church which Wickliffe had laboured so assiduously to effect in England, nearly a century and a half before, but which was not established till March 30th, 1534, when Henry VIII. sanctioned the Protestants; a name which originated with the Diet of Spire, in 1529, when the haughty Cardinal Wolsey, Archbishop of York, Chancellor of England, Pope's Legate, &c., fell from the lofty summit of his ambition. The Bible and Prayer Book were now translated into English, and ordered to be read in that tongue in all churches, &c. The REFORMATION OF THE CHURCH, and the Suppression of the Monasteries, were effected by this lascivious monarch, more perhaps for the gratification of his own lustful avarice, than for the benefit of his subjects, to whom the change proved so great a worldly as well as a spiritual blessing. In a few years, the King suppressed about 700 abbeys, priories, and nunneries; 90 colleges; 2400 chantries; free chapels, &c.; and more than 110 hospitals. The total yearly revenues of these institutions amounted at their dissolution to no less than about one-twentieth part of the whole rental of the nation, so that, if the monastic system had gone on to the present time, it might have swallowed up more than half the landed estates in the kingdom. The monks, nuns, &c., were turned out of their monasteries; and their estates and possessions were seized by the King, who, after retaining sufficient to satiate his own greedy concupiscence, divided the rest among those favourite courtiers who assisted to gratify his wicked propensities. As the poor for some years suffered much from the dissolution of the monastic institutions, and as many of them and the gentry were still adherents to the Romish Church, there was much popular discontent, and a rebellion broke out in the north of England, called The Pilgrimage of Grace, but it was put down in 1537, when many of the ringleaders, (including several abbots,) were executed at Tyburn. From 1553 to 1558, when the cruel and bigoted Queen Mary sat upon the throne, the Roman Catholic religion and papal supremacy again prevailed, and the protestants were persecuted with fire and sword. In November, 1558, when Queen Elizabeth ascended the throne, the Protestant religion was permanently re-established, and the Roman Catholics became the objects of persecution, and made several fruitless attempts to restore Popery.

After the restoration of Charles II., an ACT of UNIFORMITY was passed in August, 1662, requiring of all clergymen episcopal ordination, canonical obedience, and a general assent to everything in the Book of Common Prayer. For not conforming to this act, more than 2000 clergymen were deprived of their benefices; and thus originated non-conformity, or Protestant dissent; for prior to this time, the Puritans had remained members of the establishment, though labouring to promote a further reformation. The ejected ministers and the Catholic priests suffered much under the operation of several other laws, amongst which were the Conventicle, the Oxford, the Corporation, and the Tests Acts, all of which are now abolished, the two last about 40 years ago, when the Catholic Emancipation Act was passed; and the two former in 1689, when the Toleration Act was passed. In the county of Norfolk about 70 ministers, of whom the following is a list, were either ejected or silenced:—

Aldeby.—John Banister.
 Aylmerton.—John Smith.
 Barford.—Robert Part.
 Barton Hulm.—Charles Sumpter.
 Baconthorpe.—J. Longher
 Barningham.—Ts. Worts.
 Blickling.—Burrough.
 Blofield.—Saml. Maltby.
 Bodham.—Robert Watson
 Buckenham, New.—Chris. Amyrant & Nicolas Pitt
 Bunwell.—Pittedate.
 Carlton.—James Gedney.
 Denton.—Thos. Lawson, M.A., (of Katherine Hall, Cambridge).
 Dickleburgh.—E. Crabtree
 Diss.—Richd. More, M.A.
 Drayton.—Richard Vin.
 Earsham.—Thos. Bayes.
 Feltwell.—John Butler.
 Forncett.—Wm. Hinton.
 Foulsham.—Rd. Worts.
 Fundenhall.—Shepherd
 Godwick.—John Hooker.
 Gorleston.—Robert Part and — Pew.
 Hardingham.—Nathaniel Jocelyn.

Heydon.—Thos. Newman
 Intwood.—Sheffield.
 Lopham.—Thomas Ellis.
 Lynn.—John Hone, (of Trin. Coll. Cambridge), — Fenwick, and John Dominick.
 Mundesley.—Paul Amyrant & Robert Bidbank.
 Neatishead.—Jno. Levington and Miles Barkitt, M.A., (of Edmund Hall, Oxford).
 Necton.—Israel Shipdam.
 Norwich.—Jno. Collinges, D.D., (of Eman. Coll., Camb.), St. Stephen's; Thos. Allen, M.A., (of Caius Coll. Camb.), St. George's; Benj. Snowden, M.A., (of Eman. Coll., Cam.), St. Giles'; Francis English, St. Nicholas'; E. Woodward, — Windress, and John Hashart.
 Pullham.—Thos. Benton
 Reephham.—W. Sheldrake and Sampson Townsend
 Repps, South.—E. Brome

Reppe, North.—Ed. Corbit
 Rollesby.—John Reyner.
 Roughton.—Jno. Reynolds
 Scottow.—Wm. Bidbank, M.A.
 Stalham.—John Lucas.
 Stanfield.—Sl. Alexander.
 Stibbard.—John Durant.
 Stratton St. Michl.—Thos. Benton.
 Swanton Morley.—John Dalziel.
 Tipsend.—John Green.
 Trunch.—Rd. Lawrence, M.A., (of both Universities).
 Tunstead.—John Green.
 Walcot.—John Cory.
 Walsham.—John Baker and Nathaniel Mitchell.
 Walsingham.—Nathaniel Northcross.
 Wymondham.—J. Mony.
 Yarmouth.—Jno. Brinsley, M.A., (of Eman. Coll., Camb.); Wm. Bridge, M.A., (of Eman. Coll., Camb.); Job Tookie, (of Eman. Coll. Cam.); and John Allen.

In 1688, James II., a bigoted Roman Catholic, having made several attempts for the re-establishment of popery, and attempted to dispense with acts of parliament, was expelled from the throne, after tolerating and committing many acts of cruelty. William Prince of Orange, who had married king James' eldest daughter, the Princess Mary, and was a decided champion of the protestant faith, was invited by many of the principal nobility and gentry to assume the reins of government. He accordingly landed with a considerable army at Brixham in Devonshire, Nov. 4th, 1688, and in the following January was elected to the throne, jointly with his wife the Princess Mary, and they were proclaimed the lawful sovereigns of the realm, with every demonstration of joy and satisfaction. Since this "Glorious Revolution" the protestant faith has continued undisturbedly the established religion of the kingdom.

Soon after the introduction of Christianity, the kingdom was divided into Parishes, and afterwards into Bishoprics. Extra-Parochial Places are usually found to have been the sites of religious houses, or of ancient castles, the owners of which did not permit any interference with their authority within their own limits. In the language of the ancient law of England, such places were not "Geldable nor Shireground," and until about the time of the Revolution in 1688, they were neither taxable, nor within the ordinary pale of civil jurisdiction. The inhabitants are still virtually exempt from any civil duties and offices, but some of the extra-parochial places in Norfolk have latterly been attached to the neighbouring parishes or unions, for the support of the poor. The number of Parishes, Townships, Hamlets, and Extra-parochial places in the county is about 1000. The number of Parishes is about 700, but many of the new ecclesiastical districts are now considered as parishes. The Rectories of about one-fourth of the parishes in Norfolk, are appropriations or impropriations; the former in the hands of colleges, dignitaries, &c., and the latter in the hands of laymen. Dissenters are numerous in all parts of the county, especially the Independents, Baptists, and Wesleyans, who have many large and handsome chapels.

The TITHES of most of the parishes in the county have been commuted for fixed annual rents, or allotments of land, made at the enclosure of the commons and wastes. Though tithes are said to operate very unfavourably upon agriculture, they must be admitted to be a property equally sacred with the land itself, and no admirer of justice can expect their abolition without equivalent either in money or land; and such a commutation is generally found to be beneficial both to the farmers and the clergy, as the latter avoid the expense and uncertainty of collections in kind or in moduses, and the former may effect any further improvements without the fear of any additional tax upon their industry and capital. The most ancient laws on record touching the legality of tithes, are those of Ina, king of Wessex, which are supposed to have been enacted about the year 690, the fourth section of which is to the following purport:—"The first fruits of seeds, or the church dues arising from the product of corn, &c., are to be paid at the feast of St. Martin; and let him that fails in the payment forfeit 40s., and besides pay the dues twelve times over." In the 62nd section, "church dues are to be paid where the person owing them dwells, in the midst of winter." The oblations and gifts of the people, which originated from feelings of piety and benevolence, were transformed by usage into a right, which appears to have been first recognised and firmly established by the Saxon laws just quoted, and are now advanced to the firmer title of an ordinance. Hence modern lawyers say that tithes are due by prescriptive right, as having existed from the first establishment of churches, and by law from the period when the country was first divided into parishes.

QUEEN ANNE'S BOUNTY.—FIRST FRUITS AND TENTHS.—From an early period, perhaps ever since the institution of parishes in this island, every bishop and clergyman has been required to pay the amount of his first year's incumbency to the fund, called from thence the "First Fruits," and every succeeding year, as long as he enjoys the living, he has been required to pay one tenth part of his income into a fund hence called "The Tenths." These First Fruits and Tenths were annually collected at their full value, and applied to the use of the Pope, during the time that this kingdom acknowledged the papal supremacy. As early as the time of Pope NICHOLAS IV., (in 1290,) a valuation was for this purpose made, of all the Ecclesiastical Livings in England; and the book containing that record is preserved in the Remembrancer's office, under the designation of the "Valor of Pope NICHOLAS IV." At the time of the Reformation, HENRY VIII., passed a law, with the sanction of Parliament, declaring that the First Fruits and Tenths should be applied to the use of the State, and that any Bishop or Clergyman neglecting to pay those imposts into the public treasury should be declared an intruder into his living, and should forfeit double the amount; and, that the full amount might be ascertained, he caused an accurate and full valuation to be made of all the Ecclesiastical Livings in England and Wales. With the exception of a short period in the reign of PHILIP and MARY, the First Fruits and Tenths continued to be paid punctually into the public exchequer till the reign of Queen ANNE, when the Queen, moved, it is said, by Bishop BURNET and others, and deploring the wretched condition in which many of the poor clergy were placed, owing to the insufficiency of their livings, came to the determination that the First Fruits and Tenths of the livings of all the clergy, from the Bishops downward, should be paid into a fund, called "QUEEN ANNE'S Bounty," and that the amount of those payments should be appropriated to the augmentation of the livings of the poor clergy, for their better maintenance. No fresh valuation was, however, made of the livings in the time of Queen ANNE, the payments continuing to be made upon the valuation of HENRY VIII., made in 1535, and registered in what is called the KING'S Books, or Liber Regis, to which we shall frequently refer in the accounts of church livings at subsequent pages, by the contraction K.B., and to the augmentations from Queen Anne's Bounty, by the abbreviation, Q.A.B.—That the payment of First Fruits and Tenths might not operate oppressively, the first year's income was to be paid by four annual instalments, and all livings of small value were entirely exempt, and hence called "discharged livings."

For the faithful administration of "QUEEN ANNE'S BOUNTY FUND," the Archbishops and Bishops were all made Governors, along with a number of other persons, and the administration has been in their hands from that time. Since the establishment of this fund, an enormous increase has taken place in the value of the church livings, except those of the lowest class, though the First Fruits and Tenths continue to be paid on the valuation of 1535, which yields only an average annual income of about £15,000, instead of more than £350,000, which would be derived from First Fruits and Tenths, if collected on the present valuation of the revenues of the Established Church in England and Wales, now amounting to an aggregate net income of £3,055,654 per annum, as appears from the Report of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, appointed by King William IV. This Report of the annual value of church livings was made on an average of three years, ending December 31st, 1831, and presented to parliament in 1835. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners of England, appointed and incorporated by an act of parliament, passed in the 6th and 7th of William IV., to carry into effect the Reports of the Commissioners appointed by Letters Patent, in 1832, to consider the state of the Established Churches of England and Wales, obtained, in 1836, the sanction of his Majesty in Council to certain schemes and decrees, of which the following is the substance:—"That all parishes which are locally situated in one diocese, and are under the jurisdiction of another, be made subject to that See within which they are locally situated; that certain new dioceses should be created; that such apportionment or exchange of ecclesiastical patronage should be made among the archbishops and bishops, as should be consistent with the relative magnitude and importance of their Sees, so as to leave an average yearly income of £15,000 to the Archbishop of Canterbury; £10,000 to the Archbishop of York; £10,000 to the Bishop of London; £8000 to the Bishop of Durham; £7000 to the Bishop of Winchester; and £5000 each to the Bishops of Ely, Worcester, and Bath-and-Wells; and that out of funds arising from the above named dioceses, and those of St. Asaph and Bangor, over and above the said incomes, the Commissioners should grant such stipends to other bishops as should make their average annual incomes not less than £4000 nor more than £5000. But these reductions of the incomes of the richer Bishoprics were not to take place till the death or translation of the prelates then holding them; therefore the present Bishop of Winchester, being installed in 1827, has still a net yearly income of about £10,500, though his successor will only have £7000; whilst the Bishop of Exeter, being installed in 1831, is still obliged to be content with the small stipend of £2700 per annum. Both the Archiepiscopal Sees, and 22 of the 24 Bishoprics of England and Wales, have changed their prelates since the appointment of the Ecclesiastical Commission. The new dioceses of Ripon and Manchester were formed in 1836 and 1847, out of the extensive dioceses of York and Chester. Large portions of some other large dioceses have been added to smaller ones, and further changes are still in contemplation. Other Church Reforms, now in progress under the control of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, are the abolition of prebends and sinecure benefices; the reduction of the incomes of rich rectories, &c.; the augmentation of poor livings; and the institution and endowment of new ecclesiastical parishes, or church districts, in large and populous parishes. Many new ecclesiastical districts have been formed in Norfolk since 1836, under the authority of various Acts of Parliament, by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, the Commissioners for building new churches, and the Bishop. The incomes of these and all other poor benefices, are ultimately to be augmented to £150 per annum, out of the funds of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, Queen Anne's Bounty, &c.

DIGNITARIES AND OFFICIALS OF THE DIOCESE.

 The figures shew the dates of induction.

BISHOP OF NORWICH.—The Hon. and Right Rev. John Thomas Pelham, D.D., The Palace, Norwich. (Yearly income, £4500). 1857.

DEAN OF NORWICH.—The Hon. and Very Rev. George Pellew, D.D. 1828; and rector of Great Chart, Kent. The Deanery.

ARCHDEACON OF NORWICH.—Ven. R. E. Hankinson, M.A. (£200), 1857; and rector of North Creake.

ARCHDEACON OF NORFOLK.—Ven. W. Arundell Bouverie, B.D. (£200), 1850; and Hon. Canon of Norwich, and rector of Denton.

ARCHDEACON OF SUFFOLK.—Ven. Thomas J. Ormerod, M.A. (£184), 1846; and rector of Redenhall with Harleston.

CANONS.—Rev. Adam Sedgwick, M.A., F.R.S., 1834, Woodwardian Professor of Geology, Cambridge, and Vice Master and Senior Fellow of Trin. Coll. Cam.; Rev. George Archdall Gratwick, D.D., 1842, Master of Emanuel Coll. Cam.; Rev. J. W. Lucas Heaviside, M.A., 1860; and Rev. Charles Kirkby Robinson, M.A., 1861, Master of St. Catherine's College, Cambridge.

HONORARY CANONS.—Revs. Hon. E. S. Keppel, M.A., 1844; Fras. Cunningham, M.A., 1846; Ven. W. A. Bouverie, B.D., 1847; George Stevenson, M.A., 1847; Henry Tacey, M.A., 1848; Stephen Clissold, M.A., 1848; Bishop of Columbia, D.D., 1850; E. J. Moor, M.A., 1850; Wm. H. Parker, M.A., 1852; Robert Eden, M.A., 1852; Wm. Potter, M.A., 1852; Wm. Jackman, M.A., 1852; A. M. Hopper, M.A., 1854; W. R. Colbeck, B.D., 1856; R. Collyer, M.A., 1856; Hinds Howell, B.A., 1856; Thomas Greene, B.D., 1858; Hon. Kenelm H. Digby, M.A., 1858; Robert H. Groome, M.A., 1858; Thomas Mills, M.A., 1859; Wm. Fred. Patteson, M.A., 1860; Henry R. Nevill, M.A., 1860; Wm. Howarth, 1863; Charles Shorting, M.A., 1863; E. F. E. Hankinson, M.A., 1863; Salisbury Everard, 1863; and H. J. Lee Warner, 1863.

CHANCELLOR OF THE DIOCESE.—Worshipful Charles Evans, Esq., M.A., 1845.

MINOR CANONS.—Rev. George Day, M.A., 1817; Rev. Jonathan Matchett, M.A., 1824, sacristan; Rev. Henry Symonds, M.A., 1844, precentor; and Rev. Edward Bulmer, M.A., 1859, Assistant Minor Canon.

PRINCIPAL REGISTRARS.—Rev. Eyre Stuart Bathurst, and John Kitson, Esq.

REGISTRARS OF THE ARCHDEACONRIES.—Edward Steward, Esq., Norwich; Henry Hansell, Esq., Norfolk; and Charles Steward, Esq., Suffolk.

BISHOP'S EXAMINING CHAPLAINS.—Rev. J. J. S. Perowne, B.D., and Rev. T. T. Perowne, B.D.

SECRETARIES TO THE BISHOP.—John Kitson, Esq., Norwich, and J. B. Lee, Esq., Dean's yard, Westminster.

HIGH STEWARD OF THE CATHEDRAL.—Rt. Hon. and Rev. Lord Bayning, M.A. ORGANIST.—Zachariah Buck, Esq., Mus. Doc.

PROCTOR FOR THE CHAPTER.—Rev. Canon Heaviside, M.A.

PROCTOR FOR THE ARCHDEACONRIES OF NORFOLK AND NORWICH.—Rev. A. M. Hopper, M.A., Rector of Starston.

PROCTOR FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF SUFFOLK.—Rev. Thomas Mills, M.A.

CHAPTER CLERK.—John Kitson, Esq.

RURAL DEANS AND DEANERIES.

ARCHDEACONRY OF NORWICH.

Deanery of Blofield.

Rev. J. Burroughes.

Acle	Postwick
Beighton	Ranworth with Upton
Blofield	Reedham w. Freethp.
Brundall	Southwood with Lim-
Buckenham Ferry w.	penhoe
Hassingham	Strumpshaw with
Burlingham St. An-	Braydeston
drew w. St. Edmd.	Thorpe by Norwich
St. Peter	St. Matthew's
Cantley	Tunstall
Fishley	Walsham, South,
Halvergate	St. Lawrence
Hemblington	St. Mary
Lingwood	Wickhampton
Moulton	Witton
Plumstead, Great	Woodbastwick with
Plumstead, Little	Panxworth

Deanery of Breccles.

Rev. B. Edwards and Rev. W. H. Parker.

Ashill	Saham Toney
Breccles	Scoulton
Carbrooke	Stowbedon
Caston	Threxton
Ellingham, Little	Thompson
Griston	Tottington
Merton	Watton
Ovington

Deanery of Brisley.

The Hon. and Rev. K. H. Digby and Rev. H. T. Lee.

Beeston, nr. Mileham	Lougham with Wend-
Beetly	ling
Bilney, East	Mileham
Bittering, Little	Oswick
Brisley with Gateley	Pattlesley
Dunham, Great	Rougham
Dunham, Little	Scarning
Elmham, North	Stanfield
Fransham, Great	Swanton Morley with
Fransham, Little	Worthing
Gressenhall	Tittleshall w. Godwick
Howe	and Wellingham
Kempstone	Weasenham All Saints
Lexham, West	and St. Peter
Litcham with East	Whissonsett w. Horn-
Lexham	ingtoft

Deanery of Flegg.

Rev. G. W. Steward.

Ashby with Oby and	Repps with Bastwick
Thurne	Rollesby
Billockby	Runham
Burgh St. Margaret	Somerton, West
with St. Mary	Stokesby w. Herringby
Caister St. Edmund	Thrigby
with Holy Trinity	Winterton with East
Clippesby	Somerton
Filby	Yarmouth, Great
Hemsby	St. Nicholas
Martham	St. George Chap el
Mantby	St. Peter
Ormesby St. Margaret with St. Michael & Seraby

Deanery of Holt.

Rev. E. Brumell.

Bayfield	Langham, Bishops
Bodham	Letheringsett
Bringham	Morston
Briston	Melton Constable w.
Cley next the Sea	Little Burgh
Edgefield	Saxlingham w. Shar-
Field Dalling	ington
Glandford	Stodey w. Hunworth
Gunthorpe with Bale	Swanton Novers
Hemstead by Holt	Thornage w. Brinton
Holt	Wiveton
Kelling w. Salthouse	Weybourn
Langham Little with Blakeney

Deanery of Ingworth.

Rev. E. T. Yates.

Alby	Coltishall
Aylsham	Corpusty
Baconsthorpe	Hautbois, Great
Banningham	Hevingham
Barningham, Little	Heydon with Irming-
Beckham, West	land
Belauigh with Scottow	Ingworth
Blicking with Erping-	Itteringham w. Man-ham	nington
Booton	Lammas with Little
Burgh by Aylsham	Hautbois
Brampton	Marsham
Calthorpe	Oulton
Cawston	Saxthorpe
Coleby, or Colby

Skeyton with Oxnead and Buxton
Stratton Strawless
Swanton Abbott

Thwaite
Tuttington
Wolterton with Wickmere

Deanery of Lynn.

Rev. C. Currie, Rev. C. D. Brereton, and
Rev. J. Freeman.

Anmer	Massingham, Gt. & Lit
Appleton	Middleton
Ashwick w. Leziate	Newton, West
Babingley	Pentney
Bawsey	Runcion, North, with
Bilney, West	Hardwick & Setchey
Castle Acre	Sandringham and
Castle Rising with	Babingley
Roydon	Terrington, St. Cle-
Clenchwarton	ment with St. John
Congham	Tilney All Saints
Dersingham	with St. Lawrence
Flitcham	Walpole, St. Andrew
Gaywood	St. Peter
Geyton	Walsoken
Geytonthorpe	Walton, East
Grimston	Walton, West
Harpley	Westacre
Hillington	Wiggenhall
Islington	St. Germans
Lynn, North	St. Mary Magdalen
St. Edmund w. St.	St. Mary the Virgin
Margaret and St.	St. Peter
Nicholas	Winch, East
St. John	Winch, West
Lynn, South	Wolverton
All Saints	Wootton, North
Lynn West, St. Peter	Wootton, South

Deanery of Norwich.

No Rural Dean.

All Saints	St. Lawrence
St. Andrew	St. Margaret
St. Augustine	St. Martin at Oak
St. Benedict	St. Martin at Palace
St. Clement	St. Mary at Coslany
Christ Church	St. Mary in Marsh
St. Edmund	St. Michl. Coslany
St. Etheldred	St. Michael at Plea
St. George Colegt.	St. Michl. at Thorn
St. George Tmbld.	St. Paul
St. Giles	St. Peter Hungate
St. Gregory	St. Peter Mancroft
St. Helen	St. Peter per Mntgt
St. James	St. Peter of Southgt
St. Julian	St. Saviour
St. John Mdr-mkt.	St. Simon & St. Jude
St. John Sepulchre	St. Stephen
St. John Timber-hl	St. Swithin

Deanery of Sparham.

Rev. L. A. Norgate.

Alderford	Guestwick
Bawdeswell	Guist
Billingford	Helmingham
Bintryw Thelthorpe	Heverland
Brandeston	Hindolveston
Bylaugh	Lyng
Elsing	Reepham
Foulsham	All Saints w. Whit-
Foxley	well

Reepham, St. Mary,	Thurning
w. Kerdestone	Twysford
Ringland	Weston Longville
Sall	Witchingham, St.
Sparham	Mary, w. St. Faith's
Swannington w. Wood	Woodnorton
Dalling

Deanery of Taverham.

Rev. Hinds Howell.

Alderford w. Attlebdg	Horsham, St. Faith
Catton	Horstead
Crostick	Rackheath
Drayton w. Hellesdon	Spixworth
Felthorpe	Sprowston
Frettenham w. Stan-	Taverham
ninghall	Wroxham with Sale
Haynford	house
Horsford

Deanery of Thetford.

No Rural Dean.

Santon House	Thetford, St. Mary
Thetford, St. Cuthbert	St. Peter

Deanery of Toftrees.

The Hon. and Rev. K. H. Digby, and Rev. H. T. Lee.

Colkirk	Rainham St. Margaret
Helboughton w. Rain-	Ryburgh, Great
ham, St. Martin	Sheringford
Pudding Norton	Testerton
Rainham, St. Mary	Toftrees

Deanery of Walsingham.

Rev. H. J. Lee Warner.

Barney	Snoring, Great, with
Binham	Thursford
Cockthorpe	Stiffkey, St. John, w.
Egmere	St. Mary
Hindringham	Walsingham, Gt. & Lit
Holkham	Warham, All Saints
Houghton, near Wals-	St. Mary Magdalen
ingham	Wells
	Wighton

ARCHDEACONRY OF NORFOLK.

Deanery of Brooke.

Rev. Joseph Dewe and Rev. Abbot Upcher.

Aldeby	Gillingham, All Saints,
Arminghall	w. St. Mary, Winston
Bedingham	and Windell
Bergh Apton with	Haddiscoe with Toft
Holveston	Monks
Bixley with Framing-	Hales
ham Earl	Hardley
Bramerton	Heckingham
Brooke	Hedenham
Broome	Hellington, or Halag
Caister, St. Edmund,	ston
with Marketsball	Howe with Little
Carlton with Ashby	Poringland
Chedgrave	Kirby Bedon, St.
Claxton	Andrew
Ditchingham	Kirby Cane
Ellingham	Kirksted w. Langhale
Framingham Pigott	Langley
Geldeston	Loddon

Mundham, St. Ethel-red w. St. Peter
Norton Subcourse
Poringland, Great
Raveningham
Rockland, St. Mary
Saxlingham Nethergate w. Saxlingham
Thorpe
Seething
Shottisham, All Saints with St. Mary and
St. Martin
Surlingham, St. Mary with St. Saviour

Deanery of Burnham.

Rev. T. Greene.

Bagthorpe
Barmer
Barsham, East, with Little Snoring
Barsham, North
Barsham, West
Burnham, All Saints, or Ulph with Overy
Burnham Deepdale
St. Margaret, or Norton
St. Mary, or Burnham Westgate
Thorpe
Creake, North and South

Deanery of Cranwiche or Cranwich.

Rev. S. Everard and Rev. Alex. Thurtell.

Bradenham, E. and W.
Cockley Cley, All
Saints, w. St. Peter's
Cranwich
Cressingham, Great,
with Bodney
Cressingham, Little
Croxtan
Didlington with Col-veston Feltwell, St. Mary, with St. Nicholas
Gooderstone
Hilborough
Hockwold w. Wilton
Holme Hale
Langford w. Igburgh
Methwold
Mundford

Deanery of Depwade.

Rev. H. E. Preston.

Ashwellthorpe
Aslaeton
Bunwell
Carleton Rode
Forncet, or Fornsett,
St. Mary & St. Peter
Fritton
Fundendall
Hapton
Hempnall
Moulton, St. Michael

Morningthorpe
Shelton w. Hardwick
Stratton Long, St.
Mary
Stratton, St. Michael,
with St. Peter
Tacolnestone
Tasburgh
Tharston
Tibbenham
Wacton, Geat, & Lit.

Deanery of Fincham.

Rev. W. Blyth.

Barton, St. Andrew's
St. Mary, with All Saints
Beachamwell, St. Mary and St. John
All Saints, with Shingham
Bexwell, or Beckswell
Boughton
Crimplesham
Denver
Dereham, West
Downham Market
Fincham, St. Michael with St. Martin
Fordham
Hilgay with Ten Mile
Bank

Marham
Outwell
Runceton, South, with Holme and Wal-lington
Ryston, with Roxham
Shouldham, All Saints with Thorpe
Southery
Stoke Ferry
Stow-bardolph, with Wimbotsam
Stradsett
Tottenhill
Upwell, with Welney
Watlington
Wereham, w. Wretton
Wormgay

Deanery of Hingham.

Rev. Edw. Gurdon: Rev. W. C. Johnson.

Barford
Barnham Broom with Bickerston & Kimberley
Bawburgh
Brandon, Little
Carlton Forehoe
Colton
Costessey, or Cossey
Coston with Runhall
Cranworth w. Letton
Crownthorpe
Deopham
Dereham, East, with Hoo
Easton
Garveston
Hackford
Hardingham
Hingham
Hockering with Mattishall Burgh

Honingham w. East
Tuddenham
Longham
Marlingford
Mattishall w. Pattisley
Melton, Little
Morley, St. Botolph
with St. Peter
Reymerston
Shipdham
South Burgh
Thuxton
Tuddenham, North
Welborne
Wendling
Whinbergh, w. Westfield
Wicklewood
Woodrising
Wrampingham
Wymondham
Yaxham

Deanery of Heacham.

Rev. J. A. Ogle.

Barwick
Bircham, Great
Bircham, Newton, w.
Tofts
Brancaster
Docking
Fringe
Heacham
Hunstanton
Ingoldisthorpe

Ringstead, St. Peter, with St. Andrew Sedgford
Sherborne
Snettisham
Stanhoe
Thornham w. Holme next the Sea
Titchwell

Deanery of Humbleyard.

Rev. W. W. Andrew.

Bracon Ash
Carlton, St. Mary
Colney
Cringlesford
Dunston
Earlham w. Bowthorpe
Flordon
Heigham
Hethell

Hetherset with Cantelloff
Intwood w. Keswick
Ketteringham
Lakenham
St. Mark's
Melton, St. Mary, w.
All Saints

Mulbarton with Kingtonham
Swainsthorpe w. Newton Flotman

Deanery of Redenhall.

Rev. G. Stevenson.

Alburgh
Billingford w. Little Thorpe
Bressingham
Brockdish
Burstons
Denton
Dickleburgh
Diss
Earsham
Fersfield
Frenze
Gissing
Needham
Pulham, St. Mary the Virgin

Swardeston
Wrenningham & Nye-land
Pulham St. Mary Magdalen
Redenhall w. Harleston
Roydon
Ruishall
Scole, or Ozmandiston
Shelfanger
Shimpling
Starston
Thelveton
Thorpe Abbots
Tivetshall, St. Mary, with St. Margaret
Winfarthing

Deanery of Repps.

Rev. P. C. Law.

Alborough
Antingham, St. Mary St. Margaret
Aylmerton w. Runton Barningham Norwd.
Barningham Town
Bassingham
Beeston Regis
Cromer
Fellbrigge w. Metton
Gresham
Guntton w. Hanworth
Gimingham
Knapton
Matlaske

Mundesley
Overstrand
Plumstead by Holt
Repps, North
Repps, South
Roughton
Sheringham
Sistead, or Sustead
Suffield
Syderstrand, or Side-strand
Thorpe Market
Thurgarton
Trimingham
Trunch

Deanery of Rockland.

Hon. and Rev. E. S. Keppell and Rev. T. B. Wilkinson.

Attleborough
Banham
Besthorpe
Blo Norton
Bridgham
Brettenham
Buckenham, New Buckenham, Old
Eccles
Ellingham, Great
Garboldisham, St. John, w. All Saints
Harling, East
Harling, West
Hockham
Illington

Kenninghall
Larling
Lopham, North, with South Lopham
Quiddenham w. Snetterton
Riddlesworth with Gasthorpe
Rockland, All Saints, with St. Andrew, and Caston
St. Peter
Shropham
Wilby w. Hargham
Wretham, East, and West Wretham

Deanery of Waxton, or Waxham.

Rev. J. Gunn and Rev. G. King.

Ashmanhaugh
Bacton
Barton Turf, with Irstead
Beeston, St. Lawrence
Bradfield

Brunstead
Catfield
Crostwick
Dilham w. Honing
Eccles near Sea
Edinthorpe

Felmingham
Happisburgh
Heigham Potter
Hemstead w. Lesingham
Hickling
Horning
Horsey
Hoveton, St. Peter, with St. John Ingham
Ludham
Neatishead
Paston

Ridlington with East Ruston
Sloley
Smallburgh
Stalham
Sutton
Swafeld
Tunstead, with Sco Ruston
Walcot
Walsham, North
Waxham with Palling
Westwick
Witton
Worstead

ARCHDEACONRY OF SUFFOLK.

Deanery of Bosmere.

Rev. R. Longe and Rev. C. Shorting.

Ashbocking
Badley
Barking w. Darmsden
Battisford
Bayham, St. Peter
Blakenham, Gt. & Lit.
Bramford
Bricett, Great
Coddensham w. Crowfield
Creting, St. Mary, and St. Olave
Flowton

Gosbeck
Hemingstone
Mickfield
Needham Market
Nettlestead
Ofton with Little Bricett
Ringshall
Somersham
Stonham, Aspell
Stonham Earl
Stonham Little Willisham

Deanery of Carlesford.

Rev. E. J. Moor and Rev. W. Potter.

Bealings, Gt. & Lit.
Brightwell w. Foxhall
Burgh
Clopton
Culpho
Grandisburgh
Hasketon
Kesgrave
Martlesham

Newbourn
Otley
Playford
Rushmere, St. Andrew
Tuddenham, St. Martin
Witnesham
Woodbridge
St. John's

Deanery of Claydon.

Rev. W. Howarth.

Ashfield with Thorpe
Barham
Claydon w. Akenham
Debenham
Framsden
Helmingham

Henley
Pettaugh
Swiland
Westerfield
Whitton w. Thurlton
Winston

Deanery of Colneys.

Rev. W. Jackman.

Bucklesham
Falkenham
Hemley
Kirton
Naeton w. Levington
Trimley, St. Martin and Alleston, or Alkinston

Trimley, St. Mary, with Stratton
Waldringfield
Walton w. Felixstow

Deanery of Dunwich.

Rev. T. O. Leman & Rev. G. A. Whitaker.

Aldringham w. Thorpe
Benacre with North Brampton
Hales or Cove Hithe
Blythburgh
Blythford

Bramfield
Cove, South
Cratfield
Darsham

Dunwich, St. James	Sibton	Crètingham	Marlesford
Fordley w. Westleton	Sizewell	Easton	Monewden
Frestenden	Southwold	Eyke	Parham w. Hacheston
Halesworth with	Spexhall	Framlingham	Rendlesham
Chediston	Stoven	Hoo	Soham, Earl
Henstead w. Hulver	Theberton	Letheringham
Heveningham	Thorington
Holton	Ubbeston
Huntingfield with	Uggeshall with
Cookley	Sotherton
Kelsale with Carlton	Walberswick
Knoddishall with	Walpole
Buxlow	Wangford w. Henham
Leiston	Wenhaston
Linstead, Great & Lit	Wenshall
Middleton	Wisset le Roos
Peasenhall	Wrentham
Reydon	Yoxford
Rumburgh

Deanery of Hartismere.

Rev. R. Cobbold & Rev. G. W. Kershaw.

Aspall	Rickingham Inferior
Bacton	with Rickingham
Braiseworth	Superior
Brome, with Great	Rishangles
and Little Oakley	Stoke, Ash
Burgate	Stuston
Cotton	Thorndon, All Saints
Eye	Thornham, Gt. & Lit.
Finingham	Thrandeston
Gislingham	Thwaite, St. George
Mellis	Westhorpe
Mendlesham	Wetheringsett
Occold	Wickham Skeith
Palgrave	Wortham Everard and Redgrave with Botes-	Jarvis
dale	Wyverstone
Redlingfield	Yaxley

Deanery of Hoxne.

Rev. J. Bedingfield.

Athelington	Metfield
Badingham	Saxted
Bedfield	Soham, Monk
Bedingfield	Stradbroke
Dennington	Syleham
Fressingfield with	Tannington with
Withersdale	Brundish
Horham	Weybread, St. Mary
Hoxne w. Denham	Wilby
Kenton	Wingfield
Laxfield	Worlingworth with
Mendham	Southolt

Deanery of Ipswich.

Rev. S. Croft.

St. Clement with	St. Mary at the
St. Helen	Tower
St. Lawrence	St. Matthew
St. Margaret	St. Nicholas
St. Mary at Elms	St. Peter
St. Mary at the Key	St. Stephen
St. Mary Stoke	Holy Trinity

Deanery of Loose.

Rev. G. Attwood.

Boulge, w. Debach	Campsey Ash
Boyton, St. Andrew	Campsey Ash
Brandeston	Charsfield

Crètingham	Marlesford
Easton	Monewden
Eyke	Parham w. Hacheston
Framlingham	Rendlesham
Hoo	Soham, Earl
Letheringham

Deanery of Lothingland.

Rev. F. Cunningham.

Ashby	Hopton by Lowestoft
Belton	Kessingland
Blundeston w. Flixton	Kirkley
Bradwell	Lound
Burgh Castle	Lowestoft w. St. Peter
Carlton Colville	Lowestoft, St. John's
Corton	Mutford w. Barnby
Fretton	Oulton, or Oldton
Gisleham	Pakefield
Gorleston	Rushmere, All Saints
Guntton	Somerleyton
Herringfleet	South Town, St. Mary

Deanery of Orford.

Rev. H. T. Dowler.

Aldeburgh	Rendham
Benhall	Saxmundham
Blaxhall	Sternfield
Bruisyard	Stratford, St. Andrew
Chillesford	Sunbourne w. Orford
Cransford	Sweffling
Farnham	Tunstall with Dun-
Friston with Snape	ningworth
Glemham, Gt. & Lit.	Wantisden
Iken

Deanery of Stamford.

Rev. H. J. Hasted.

Belstead, Little	Freston
Bentley	Higham
Bergholt, East	Hintlesham
Burstall	Holbrook
Branham	Holton, St. Mary
Capel, St. Mary, with	Raydon
Little Wenham	Shelley
Chattisham	Shotley, St. Mary
Chelmondiston	Stutton
Copdock w. Washbrook	Tattingstone
Erwarton w. Woolver-	Wenham, Great stone	Wherstead

Deanery of Southelmham.

Rev. E. A. Holmes.

Elmham, South, All	St. Margaret, with
Saints, with St.	St. Peter
Nicholas	Flixton
St. James	Homersfield with St.
St. Michael	Cross

Deanery of Stow.

Rev. Copinger Hill.

Buxhall	Newton, Old
Combs	One-house
Creeping, All Saints	Shelland
St. Peter	Stowmarket with Up-
Finborough, Gt. & Lit	land
Haughley	Trinity
Harleston	Wetherden

Deanery of Waynford, or Wangford.		Deanery of Wilford.
Rev. E. A. Holmes.		Rev. E. Walford & Rev. W. P. Larken.
Barsham	Ilketshall, St. Margt.	Alderton	Lowdham with Pet-
Beccles & Endergate	Mettingham	Bawdsey	tistree
Bungay, St. Mary	Redisham, Great	Bredfield, or Bradfield	Melton
Holy Trinity	Ringsfield, w. Little	Bromeswell	Ramsholt
Cove, North, w. Wil-	Redisham	Butley with Capel	Shottisham
lingham	Shadingfield	Dallinghoe	Sutton
Ellough, All Saints	Shipmeadow	Hollesly	Ufford
Ilketshall, St. Andrew	Sotterley	Kettleburgh	Wickham Market
St. John	Weston
St. Lawrence	Worlingham

CLIMATE, ASPECT, &c.—The face of Norfolk may be considered as less varied in its features than that of any other tract of similar extent in the kingdom. Though it has no stupendous mountains furnishing traits of the grand, and no bold and towering cliffs, except a few washed by the ocean, there are many exceptions to the prevailing uniformity of its appearance, particularly in the northern parts, where the general surface is broken into moderate elevations and depressions; where turf-clad hills and fertile valleys are diversified by woods, plantations, hedge-rows, and other enlivening sylvan decorations, combining all the softer beauties of picturesque scenery, and in some places approaching to the sublimer features of nature, especially in the deep and secluded valleys of the Stiffkey, Ant, Bure, Glan, and some other of the smaller streams. The most extensive prospects are from the Castle Hill, at Norwich, and the heights near Strumpshaw, Gresham, Dunham, Ashill, (near Swaffham), Melton Constable, Poringland, Castle Rising, and Docking. It has already been seen that Norfolk is of an oval figure, about 70 miles in length from east to west, and from its being exposed to the ocean on the north, and to a large extent of marshes and fens on the south and south-west, the air is extremely sharp in winter and in the early part of spring. North and north-easterly winds are more prevalent here than in other parts of the kingdom. These are severely felt, and vegetation is consequently backward. The contiguity to the sea and the marshes and fens, with the vapours brought from Holland, accounts for the frequent rains during the summer months, when storms of thunder, lightning, and wind are not unusual; but they are seldom of so long duration as in more hilly districts. In the Hundreds of Marshland and Clackclose, and other fenny parts of the county, the air is not only cold but exceedingly damp, and the inhabitants are subject to intermittant fevers; but as the watery fens and marshes are now well drained, these endemial agues are much less frequent than formerly, when strangers on their first residence were generally attacked with them, and proverbially said to be “arrested by the bailiff of Marshland.” The country extending to the east and north-east from the fens and marshes near Lynn, Downham, Brandon, and Thetford, rises in bold undulations and high plains, forming the greater part of Norfolk, consisting chiefly of a sandy or gravelly soil, and peculiarly salubrious and pleasant. Though Mr. Young considered the temperature as rather affecting animal than vegetable life, the vital principle is evidently homogeneous throughout nature, and Norfolk has produced as many instances of longevity as most other counties in England. More than eighty of its inhabitants, who outlived their 100th year since 1727, might be enumerated, and at the time of taking the census in 1861, there were ten women and one man living in the county who were more than 100 years of age. The men of Norfolk are generally of a light wiry make, formed for activity rather than strength, and the same may be said of the horses and other animals. Marshall, an agricultural writer more than 80 years ago, mentions his astonishment at the activity and quantity of work performed by Norfolk men and horses; and in Chaucer, and many early authors, the same peculiarities are noticed.

The COAST of Norfolk varies very much in its outline and substance from the southern and western shores of the island; having no deeply indented bays, except the Great Wash between it and Lincolnshire; no sinuous creeks intersecting the land, nor beetling rocks and bold impending crags jutting into the ocean, and forming an adamantine barrier to the assailing waves, except Hunstanton Cliff, which is commonly called St. Edmund's Point, and may be considered as the only rocky prominence of much note on the whole coast. The lofty cliffs and small headlands near Cromer, being composed of chalk, clay, &c., are constantly becoming a prey to the depredations of the ocean. The greater part of the coast is comprised of a low sandy beach, covered with heaps of gravel and loose pebbles, here called shingles, and which through the violence of the waves, are frequently thrown up in immense hills and ridges. These, by the accumulation of sand, are formed into banks, which are kept together by the matted roots of sea-reed grass. Numerous banks of this kind lie off the coast, far out at sea; and being only discoverable at ebb or quarter tides, they often prove fatal to mariners. The most remarkable is the large bank running parallel with the coast off Yarmouth, and having between it and the shore a deep channel, called Yarmouth Roads, where ships ride safely, even in tempestuous weather. The ranges of SAND HILLS on this, like those on the coast of Holland, tend to preserve a valuable portion of the county from continual inundation. A line of them, called the Meols, commences at Caistor, near Yarmouth, and extends, with occasional interruptions, to Happisburgh, and thence to Cromer bay, beyond which commence what are sometimes called the mud cliffs, which line the shore to Lynn Deep. These sand banks sometimes shift their station, suddenly disappear, and as suddenly rise up again in a new shape, as will be seen in the history of the parishes lying on the coast.

The principal RIVERS of Norfolk are—the Great and Little Ouse, the the Waveney, Wensum, Yare, Bure, and Nar. The GREAT OUSE rises near Brackley, in Northamptonshire, and after receiving the Little Ouse, it crosses the west-end of this county to Lynn, where it receives the Nar from the east, and pursues its northward course to the ocean, emptying itself into the "Metaris Estuarium," after a course of more than sixty miles. This river has been diverted betwixt Wiggshall St. Germain's and Lynn, into a new channel called the Eau-Brink Cut. The Great Ouse is navigable for barges 24 miles above Lynn, and for smaller boats as far as Bedford,—thus forming a communication by means of collateral rivers and canals with Eight Midland Counties. The LITTLE OUSE and the WAVENEY both rise in the swampy grounds near Lopham, and flowing in opposite directions, separate Norfolk from Suffolk,—the former passing westward to the Great Ouse, is navigable for boats up to Thetford; and the latter passing eastward, falls into the Yare above Breydon Water, and is navigable up to Bungay, for small craft. The WENSUM rises near East Rudham, about 30 miles N.W. of Norwich, and after passing that city it falls into the YARE, which rises near Shipdham, 20 miles west of Norwich, and after bounding the southern liberties of that city, pursues an eastward but sinuous course to Yarmouth,—a little below which, it empties itself into the ocean. It expands into a long and broad lake called Breydon Water, and is navigable for barges up to Norwich; but at Reedham, about 8 miles from Yarmouth, a Ship Canal has been cut across the marshes from the Yare to Lowestoft, in Suffolk. The BURE, rising near Melton-Constable, takes a south-easterly course by Blickling, Aylsham, Wroxham and Acle, to Yarmouth. It is navigable up to Aylsham, and near Ludham receives the ANT, now navigable up to the bounds of North Walsham and Antingham. It is likewise augmented by the Thurne, and several other tributary streams, flowing through low marshes, and in many places expanding into large meres, or pools, here called "Broads," abounding in fish, and some of them navigable for small craft; indeed, these broads exist in all the eastern vales of Norfolk; the Tas, rising from several rivulets near Tasburgh, flows northward to the Yare, near Harford Bridges, 2 miles S. of Norwich. The Thet rises near Kenninghall, and flows westward to the Little Ouse at Thetford. The navigable Wissey, sometimes called Stoke River, is formed by the union of several rivulets rising near Griston, Carbrooke, Bradenham, and Cockley-Cley, and flows westward by Stoke Ferry, to the Great Ouse, near its confluence with the large drains called the Old and New Bedford Rivers, beyond which the country is skirted by the river Welney, the Wisbech canal, and the river NENE—the latter of which falls into the Cross Keys Wash, on the borders of Lincolnshire. The Nar, rising near Litcham, flows westward by Castle-acre and Setch, to the Great Ouse at Lynn, and was made navigable for small craft up to Narborough, under an act passed in the 24th George II. Several small cuts from the navigable rivers have been made in various directions, serving the double purpose of drains and canals.

The TURNPIKES and other public ROADS in Norfolk are better than those of most other counties in England,—being generally raised higher than the adjacent lands, well drained by trenches on each side, and having a firm bottom composed of gravel, flint and chalk, which, it has already been seen, are found within a few feet of the surface in almost every part of the county. Charles II., “who never said a silly thing, or ever did a wise one,” said, when on a visit to the Earl of Yarmouth, at Oxnead, in 1671, “that Norfolk ought to be cut out in strips, to make roads for the rest of the kingdom,”—alluding, no doubt, to the surface being generally level. The road from Norwich to Thetford was the first turnpike formed in the county,—being made under acts passed in 1694 and '5. The first toll gate in England was erected on the turnpike road from London to Harwich, in 1679.

RAILWAYS.—Norfolk is now traversed in all directions by the Great Eastern Railway and its various branches, so that most of its market towns have an easy and direct communication with the metropolis and all parts of the kingdom. The Great Eastern Railway Company has a capital of nearly £20,000,000, and comprehends the Eastern Counties (1836), Norfolk (1845), Newmarket (1846), Eastern Union (1847), East Anglian (1847), Wells and Fakenham, (1854), and East Suffolk (1858) Companies, which were incorporated by act of parliament in August, 1862. The county is traversed from west to east by a line from Yarmouth to Norwich, Dereham, Swaffham, Lynn, and Wisbech, which is crossed by a line from Ely to Downham, Lynn, and Hunstanton, and by another from Wells to New Walsingham, Fakenham, Dereham, and Wymondham. There are also lines from Norwich to Wymondham, Attleborough, Harling, Thetford, Brandon, and Ely, and to Diss, Harleston, Bungay, Beccles, and Lowestoft. A new railway is projected, and will be shortly commenced from Norwich to Aylsham, North Walsham, and Cromer.

AGRICULTURE.—Norfolk has long been celebrated for the superiority of its agriculture. It was certainly the first county to adopt those practical and theoretical improvements which have recently raised the pursuit of farming in the eyes of the world from a stupid and ignoble occupation to the dignity of a science. At first, practice led the way, and science followed afar off, but the latter has now overtaken her plodding sister, and even shot a head, by propounding all sorts of strange theories for practice to solve, and has been the pioneer of the greatest revolutions in agriculture. It is, however, only by the union of “Practice with Science,” (that well chosen motto of the Royal Agricultural Society,) that the farming interest can really prosper. Practice may be slow to move out of her beaten track, and science be a little visionary, yet they thus exercise a healthy check upon each other, and the two helpmates of agriculture happily go hand-in-hand, and the fruit of their safe and careful progress shows no where a better return than in the naturally barren but well-farmed county of Norfolk. A recent number of the Quarterly Review contained a very clever article on the progress of British agriculture. It must be gratifying to the farmers of this county to find that the improved cultivation of England and Norfolk are used as synonymous terms, for the chief part of this paper in the "Quarterly" refers more to the improvements in Norfolk agriculture than to the progress of farming generally throughout the kingdom. From the middle of the last century, Norfolk has stood foremost in everything which tends to elevate this important branch of our national wealth, and though its honourable position is not so conspicuous now, the very able writer remarks, "If Norfolk no longer occupies its leading position, it is not because it has dropped behind in the race, but because other counties have pushed forward, and the course of events are tending to equalize the arts of cultivation throughout the kingdom." This is, doubtless, very true. The farming of other counties has wonderfully progressed, and it is always easier to make a start than to keep the lead, but it would puzzle anyone to find another county, with its sands, gravels, and thin chalks, that annually produces such large supplies of corn, meat, and wool for our increasing population. Other parts of the country may be quite as well farmed, and there are many districts in which the occupiers of land save more money, but none in which such an amount of the necessaries of life is raised by artificial means. At any rate Norfolk farmers cannot be taxed with having stood still. On the contrary, they have exerted themselves to the utmost to produce "victuals, drink, and clothing" for this great nation. Less than 100 years ago Norfolk did not produce enough wheat to maintain its scanty population. It appears that its staple products were rye and rabbits; the cultivation of wheat being entirely confined to fertile lands to the east of the county, and the heavy soils to the south and interior of Norfolk. True, the turnip was at this time introduced by the first Lord Townshend, but for years it was cultivated only in garden patches, and sown broad cast with hardly any manure, and cultivated with very little assistance from the hoe. At the close of the last century, Kent wrote his report of Norfolk farming, and simultaneously with his report, the improvements on the estate of that great man, Thomas William Coke, afterwards Earl of Leicester, began to occupy the attention of the county and the kingdom at large. Eight years after the publication of Kent's Survey, the celebrated agricultural writer, Arthur Young, prepared a report of the farming of Norfolk for the Board of Agriculture. Mr. Coke was then in the prime and vigour of manhood, and was successfully establishing those great improvements and introducing those liberal and salutary alterations in farm practice, which soon placed Norfolk foremost in the van of agricultural progress. Time rolled on, and just 30 years elapsed before any other general report of the farming of the county appeared. The good old Earl was just gathered to his fathers, full of honours and of years, when, in 1844, Mr. R. N. Bacon, the editor of the Norwich Mercury, published his Survey of the Agriculture of Norfolk. This work was written for the Royal Agricultural Society, but being too voluminous for the Journal, it was published by the author in a separate form. A more readable and condensed article at the same time appeared in the Society's Journal, which was written by Mr. Barugh Almack, of London. Fifteen years after the appearance of these simultaneous Reports, Mr. C. S. Read compiled a paper, at the request of the Royal Agricultural Society, on the improvements that had taken place in the farming of Norfolk since the year 1844. This is the last record of the farming of the county, and from it will be extracted some of the matter which we propose now to place before our readers.

The different soils of the county may be ranged under five heads. First in extent and importance is that part of West Norfolk which rests on the Upper Chalk; a naturally weak soil, but which, by good husbandry, has been made to produce abundant crops ; 2nd, that large tract of blowing sand which comprises the great portion of the S.W. of the county, a district formerly all rabbit warren and sheep walk, and which, though much improved, must ever remain comparatively barren land ; 3rd, there are the stiffer soils of the county, which begin with a broad patch at the S.E. corner, and are interspersed over a good part of mid-Norfolk ; 4th, we have the naturally good soils to the N.E. of Norwich ; and then, under the 5th and last division, may be placed those diluvial deposits which form the fen lands of the West, and the grass marshes to the East of the county. It often happens that the greatest improvements have been made on the worst land, and Norfolk is no exception to this general rule. Its naturally fertile soils have produced good roots and have given good crops for centuries ; it is in the lighter description of land where modern agriculture has chiefly progressed ; and in Norfolk there are other causes to promote this advance. The land in West Norfolk is chiefly held by large proprietors ; in the East there is hardly an estate of any size. The landlords of West Norfolk for the most part, let their lands at moderate rents, and grant long and liberal leases. The lesser proprietors of East Norfolk farm much of their estates themselves, and let their small farms from year to year at high rents. To the west, the land is laid out in large fields, and the soil is well adapted for sheep ; in the east the inclosures are small, the hedge-row timber abundant, and the land not calculated to winter sheep. This comparison might be carried still further, but enough has been said to show in which part of the county the greatest agricultural improvements will be found. The weakest and most porous soils of Norfolk have been consolidated and almost entirely changed in character by the repeated dressings of clay and marl which they have periodically received. The clay is of a calcareous nature, and the marl is a soft kind of chalk, and happily either one or the other of these sub-strata is found under the chief part of the light land in Norfolk.

What has been the grand principle of all agricultural improvements is the establishment of a good rotation of cropping, and the best and most simple of all these rotations is the four-course or Norfolk system of cropping. This term of cropping extends, as the name would imply, only over 4 years :—The first and most important being roots, (mangel wurtzel, swedes, or white turnips) ; second, barley ; third, grass seeds, such as clover, trefoil, sainfoin or the like, and the fourth and last year, wheat. It is by having the root and green crops to alternate with corn, and not allowing two white straw crops to succeed each other, that land, which half a century ago produced only a scanty crop of rye, now grows an abundant yield of wheat and barley. The preparation of the land for roots generally begins in the autumn ; in fact, as soon as the ground has been cleared of the previous corn crop. This autumnal tillage is of the greatest advantage in cleansing the land from couch grass and weeds ; otherwise, stirring land at that usually dry season of the year is not often productive of the good which a similar treatment effects on more retentive soils. The number of ploughings given for mangel wurtzel and swedes is much diminished of late, especially if the land is free from weeds, the scarifier and other implements which cultivate and stir the land without inverting and drying it too much, being more frequently used in the spring. The chief part of these roots is drilled on ridges or baulks 27 inches wide, the white turnip being generally sown on the flat. The most approved plan of manuring for roots is to apply a mixture of farm yard dung and artificial manures, but in many districts the turnips are grown exclusively with artificial fertilizers, the farm manure being all kept for the wheat crop. Soon after Michaelmas, the mangolds are removed from the field and haled close by the homestead, and there covered with straw and mould for spring use. The leaves are spread over the land, which is sown with barley early in the following year, or at once ploughed and planted with wheat. A portion of the swedes are carted to the yards for the bullocks, and the remainder are eaten on the land by sheep, which are inclosed in hurdles, and have the roots cut small by a machine and supplied to them in troughs. They have also an allowance of hay, chaff, and cake, while the bullocks in the yard are also supplied with some dry provender and plenty of artificial food. White turnips are not extensively grown except on farms where ewe flocks are kept. The land on which the sheep have consumed the turnips is ploughed once or twice for barley, and that grain is drilled as early in the spring as possible, the chief part being planted these last two seasons in February. The grass seeds for next year's hay are sown at the same time with the barley or shortly after it is up, and merely rolled in. The clovers, &c., in the following year, are either cut for hay or feed, principally with sheep, all through the summer, and then having received some sort of a dressing of manure, are ploughed once, and the wheat drilled in the autumn. This concludes the main operations of the four-course or Norfolk system of cropping, and the rotation commences again with the preparation of the land for the root crops.

The quantity of permanent grass in Norfolk is small in proportion to the extent of arable land. There are but few really good pastures or meadows, except some of the latter which are irrigated. A useful tract of grass marshes extends along the banks of the Yare and the Bure, and there is some good grazing land in the vicinity of Lynn. The management of the pastures in Norfolk has little to recommend it; all possible care is taken to cultivate the arable land well, but the small extent of grass ground is generally badly farmed.

But few of the cattle grazed in Norfolk are bred in the county. The fat oxen for which it is so celebrated are mostly grazed in the winter, and are fed in loose boxes, stalls, or small open yards. The majority are bought on Norwich Hill or at the County markets and fairs during the autumn, and sold principally for the London Markets from January to July. It is during this half of the year that Norfolk furnishes the Metropolis with such grand supplies of the best beef, and the total quantity of bullocks annually fattened in the county has been estimated at 100,000. Formerly the cattle grazed were chiefly Galloway scots; but now few of them find their way to Norfolk, and the cattle which the Norfolk farmers principally buy are the shorthorns and the Irish crosses. What cattle are reared in the county are mostly the polled Norfolks; and the dairies, which are few and small now-a-days, are chiefly composed of cows of the same hornless breed. Recently the most laudable efforts have been made to improve the long neglected Norfolks, and after a few generations of careful breeding and judicious selection, it is probable that the steers will be as celebrated for their early production of beef, as the cows have long been for the quantity and quality of their milk. The old Norfolk sheep are well nigh extinct, but a hardy black-faced sort of ewe, which is descended from them, with a large admixture of good down blood, now composes the chief part of the flocks in Norfolk. These ewes are generally crossed with long-woolled rams, and the produce is an excellent half-bred lamb, which unites both quality and quantity of wool and mutton, and is sold fat in the London markets when about 14 months old. There are also many flocks of pure southdowns, but these are mostly on the farms of the nobility and gentry, their tenants generally preferring the improved and hardy descendants of the old Norfolk sheep, and they are certainly well-adapted for the scanty herbage and strong exercise of their barren sheep walks. The Norfolk pig is a narrow, flat-sided, long nosed animal, a great consumer and a bad grazier. No county in England has worse porcine stock, and as the chief pig breeders are the small farmers, there is not much chance of any great improvement. Norfolk was, some long time ago, celebrated for its trotting cobs: that useful stamp of horse has almost passed away, and what few remain are sadly degenerated. The cart horses are of no particular or distinctive breed; but the old Norfolk browns and bays are a most useful class of cart horse,—they are quick and active steppers, and first-rate workers, and have far better constitutions, better legs, and better feet, than their more fashionable neighbours—the Suffolks.

The agricultural labourer of Norfolk is second to none in the kingdom; he may not perform all the operations of husbandry, such as rick building, thatching, hedging, and the like, in the same style and with the same neatness as the labourers of other counties, but for doing the generality of farm work quickly and well, there are few that are his equal. The weekly wages of the common farm labourer vary from 9s. to 12s., according to the price of wheat; but at turnip hoeing, grass mowing, and almost all sorts of taken work, he can earn 2s. 6d. a day. His harvest wages also average £6, which will be about 30s. per week. Although the price of all task work in Norfolk is higher than it was a few years ago, it is yet done as skilfully and as cheaply as in any agricultural district of the kingdom. The soil of Norfolk being mostly friable and easily tilled, does not require a heavy and strong class of implements for its cultivation. Consequently the strange looking Norfolk plough, with its rampant beam and high fore carriage, and the old wooden harrows, are still greatly in vogue, and hold their own, against the modern iron ploughs and harrows which have succeeded so universally in many other counties. Steam culture for a similar reason has not made much progress, and as long as a man and a pair of light horses will plough an acre and a half of land in a day, it is not likely that steam cultivation, for some time at least, will become general in this county. On the other hand, steam thrashing engines have entirely superseded the old horse power machines, and the still more ancient flail is hardly to be found in many parishes. Reaping machines are common in the large farms of the county, but grass mowers are not at present so numerous.

“Muck is the mother of money,” says the old proverb, and so the Norfolk farmer’s sheet anchor is his farm-yard manure. But he calls in the aid of many auxiliaries to fertilize his fields in the shape of guano, superphosphate, bones, rapecake, salt, &c. The quantity of artificial fertilizer used in Norfolk is enormous; the nitrogeous manures, such as guano, nitrate of soda, and the like, being mostly applied for corn, and the phosphates for the turnips. In addition to this large outlay, the Norfolk farmers spend a fabulous sum in the purchase of artificial food. The chief of these feeding stuffs is linseed cake, which is consumed by sheep and cattle, while the more recently introduced cotton seed cake finds many customers, and is considered a cheap and healthy food, especially for sheep. Farmer’s Clubs do not flourish in Norfolk: of the list Mr. Bacon gave, not one now remains. Agricultural Societies and Institutions for rewarding agricultural labourers seem to take and last better. There are very many of these district associations, and the county has now a good agricultural society, which was formed by the amalgamation of the East and West Norfolk Associations in 1840. The meetings of the Norfolk Agricultural Society have for nearly 20 years been held alternately at Norfolk and Swaffham, but other towns are now to be visited, and the meetings at Dereham in 1862 and at Yarmouth in 1863, have been by far the most pleasant and prosperous gatherings the society has yet had. Moreover, the association now boasts of the Prince of Wales as its patron.

Norfolk has always been celebrated for its Game, and there is nowhere such partridge shooting to be found. But the over preservation of game has done much to retard agricultural progress. Wing game, especially partridges, do the farmer really hardly any sort of harm, but hares and rabbits are very destructive to all crops. Good and profitable farming and an excessive quantity of foot game cannot exist together, and though this over preservation of hares and rabbits is happily not so common as it was when the last edition of this work was issued, yet there are some estates in the county where the quantity of foot game is still unreasonably large. Norfolk was never much of a hunting county, but recently two packs of fox hounds have been established and there are sundry small kennels of harriers kept by gentlemen or yeomen in various parts of the county.

It is very difficult to arrive at any correct data for estimating the actual increase of farm produce in this or any other county, because statistics and returns, although, unhappily by no means general now, are of a comparatively recent date. The quantity of wheat sold in Norwich market may, perhaps, faintly shadow forth some correct notion of its increased growth in the district which surrounds the city, and we therefore give three returns which were made at irregular intervals, viz.:—1805—25,422 quarters; 1843—124,872 quarters; and, 1857—168,739 quarters. The following statistics were collected by Sir John Walsham in 1853-4. From them some idea may be gathered of the productive power of this county, and they form a reliable source of information as to the state of the crops and the number of stock then kept. Comparisons, if they are not always odious, are seldom pleasing, and so but one will be attempted. It is simply this: that in 1854 there were 267,000 more acres of wheat and barley grown in Norfolk and Suffolk than in the whole of Scotland; and the county of Norfolk alone produced 1,290,373 more bushels of wheat than all the land north of the Tweed.

TOTAL NUMBER OF ACRES IN THE COUNTY....1,281,278.

ACRES UNDER TILLAGE:—

Wheat	202,971	Flax	217
Barley	173,831	Other Crops, such as Cab-
Oats	35,203	bages, &c.....	8,074
Rye.....	5,807	Bare Fallow.....	10,202
Beans and Peas.....	20,767	Clover, Lucerne, and other
Vetches.....	3,252	artificial Grasses.....	171,891
Turnips.....	161,186	Permanent Pasture.....	192,745
Mangold.....	16,274
Carrots	757	Total.....	1,005,135
Potatoes	1,958

LIVE STOCK:—

Horses.....	56,350	Sheep	841,591
Cattle.....	99,928	Pigs	99,773

Sir John Walsham, being “supplied with a very considerable number of estimates of produce, upon which he was justified in placing full reliance, from every part of Norfolk,” published the following as the average produce of cereals per acre, and the produce of the whole county:—

	PER ACRE.			WHOLE COUNTY.
Wheat	30 bushels	1 peck	6,139,872 bushels.
Barley.....	38	” 2 ”	6,692,493 ”
Oats	46	” 0 ”	1,619,236 ”

These are creditable averages for a county, the greater part of which has a naturally barren soil. A yield of 30 bushels per acre over an extent of more than 200,000 acres, including thin chalks, hungry gravels, and blowing sands, is a respectable crop, and shows what good farming has done for this county. There is but a small portion of Norfolk that can be considered the natural soil for wheat, and it is therefore the more creditable that the farmers have produced such an increase of the staff of life. It is different with barley, for in favourable seasons large crops of that grain, and of superior quality, are readily grown. Oats do not appear to suit the soil or climate very well; the yield is insignificant when compared with that of other counties, whose averages of wheat and barley fall far below those of Norfolk. But oats, when they form part of a rotation, are only grown on the poorest soils; when sown on better land they generally follow wheat, and of course do not yield so largely as if they grew after turnips, or were planted on ley-ground.

Too much praise cannot be accorded to those great and generous land-owners who were the first pioneers of agricultural improvement, and who by granting long and liberal leases, and building good houses and convenient farm premises, gave the tenants a fair start in their new and enterprising undertakings. That these tenants, and their descendants were not slow to avail themselves of such solid advantages, the results that we have chronicled will abundantly prove, while the rent rolls of the landlords have been doubled, and the pockets of the tenantry have been well filled. More recently the agriculturist has had to pass through many seasons of depression, arising partly from bad crops, but more generally the result of our great commercial changes, and the last few years have also been most unfavourable for the farmers of Norfolk. But they still continue to farm well and endeavour to meet their altered circumstances by applying all the modern aids that science has brought within their reach. The character of the Norfolk farmer was well delineated 20 years ago by Mr. Bacon, and we cannot do better than record it here at the conclusion of these remarks on the agriculture of the county, merely adding that if those encomiums were deserved then, they are still more appropriate at the present day. Mr. Bacon had been reviewing the general advancement of the agriculture of the county, and thus sums up his idea of the farmers—"The effect of this advance upon the tenants themselves is what might justly be expected from the employment of greater capital and enlarged minds and information. They are generous, independent, hospitable, free, intelligent, and very many have carried intellectual pursuits and acquirements far beyond the race of farmers of former times. They are wisely anxious to avail themselves of those opportunities which the increasing intelligence demands of every man the important business of whose life it is to provide for the wants of a powerful, intellectual, and extended empire."

ARTERIAL DRAINAGE.—The great level of the Fens, interesting subject though it be, can hardly claim much notice under the head of Norfolk farming. Its agriculture is so exceptional that it would require a separate article to detail the various particulars of its culture and management. Yet we may briefly summarise the grand improvement of the fens, under the two heads of draining and claying. The one without the other does but little good. Happily beneath a great part of the fens runs a stratum of clay which in some localities is buried with only one or two feet of peat: at others it cannot be reached under 10 or even 20 feet, while in some instances there is no clay to be found, but a deep bed of peat rests upon a running sand. It is only by the admixture of clay with the peat that the fertility of the fen country is established. Where the peat is light and no clay can be procured to dress it, then the draining does no good beyond securing the lands from floods. Indeed, in the fens about Methwold, arable cultivation has been abandoned, the mill-dykes have been dammed up, the water kept within a few inches of the surface, and the land allowed to grow its coarse and subaquatic herbage as of yore. The two great inundations that have lately befallen this low-lying district have brought the fens most prominently before the public, alternately exercising their indignation at the mis-management of the drainage and their commiseration with the unfortunate sufferers. The vast destruction of property caused by the falling of the Middle Level Sluice, has been put forth at such fabulous sums that it set people wondering over the natural fertility of land that a few years ago was useful only for snipe shooting. Yet few of these calculators seemed to be aware that the greater portion of the drained district might have a natural or sluice drainage, similar to that of the marshes to the east of Lincolnshire. The drainage of the fens was begun, like all other piecemeal drainage, at the wrong end. Owners naturally thought more of pumping the water off their own lands than of discovering the best means of discharging the main outlet into the sea. Had one grand outfall been first properly developed, half the expense and all the danger of draining the fens might have been saved. In East Norfolk the main water courses have naturally sluggish and tortuous courses. The Thames, in its run of 145 miles, has a fall of 258 feet, but the Yare between Norwich and Yarmouth has barely a fall of 4 inches a mile. It is therefore highly necessary that the greater care and attention should be bestowed upon the arterial drainage of the county, and it may not be uninteresting to give a short review of the present state of the great outfalls in East Norfolk. Considerable improvements have recently been made in the Yare. Among the chief may be mentioned the opening of the water-way at the new bridge at Yarmouth, from 80 to 140 feet. The beneficial effect of this is felt even as high up the river as Norwich. Then the Burgh Flats have been well dredged, and the Reedham, Buckingham, and Surlingham Ferries, which greatly projected into the river, have been set back; and about a mile above the confluence with the Wensum, the old Bishop-Bridge, at Norwich, has had its third arch re-opened for the passage of the flood-waters. But report says, and there appears to be some reason in the rumour, that this favoured river has absorbed all the money that should have been shared by her less fortunate sisters, the Bure and the Waveney. Certainly the river Bure is in a lamentable state. The shoals and mud almost stop the navigation, as well as choke the drainage. The surveyor to the Haven and Pier Commissioners of Yarmouth annually reports that it is requisite to expend several hundred pounds in dredging and improving this river, and yet nothing of importance is ever done. When one looks at the length and breadth of the Bure and its tributaries, the Ant and the Thurne, the importance and necessity of these improvements is at once apparent; few rivers drain a more valuable district, and very few that could be so easily improved are so shamefully neglected. The chain of broads or small lakes—Filby, Rollesby, and Ormsby—which discharge by the Muck-fleet into the Bure just below Acle bridge, contain about 700 acres of water. This Muck-fleet (appropriately named, for it is both fleet and dirty) is about two miles long in its windings and is stuffed up with mud, and the sluices are much too small and the sills not low enough. Almost a thousand acres of skirtland, bordering on the Broad drained by the Muck-fleet, would be greatly improved, perhaps, to the extent of 10s. an acre in annual value, by the permanent lowering of the water in the Broad. The total basin of the Broad (i.e., the high land from which the water runs off to them) is about 8 or 9,000 acres. It is easy at once to comprehend how much good might here be accomplished at a very trifling expense; and it may be as well to mention that a scheme for rendering the Muck-fleet navigable and at the same time to improve and develop the resources as well drain the whole district was upset by one large proprietor, because he thought his game and wild fowl might be disturbed by the noise of the water men and traffic of the barges! The flood waters of the Waveney rise with singular rapidity. The drainage is almost all from land lying high above it, and a large proportion of its waters is derived from the strong Suffolk clay. In many winters the chief part of the marshes along the Waveney are under water for months at a time. It is not probable that floods in this valley will be entirely prevented, but their duration may be greatly and very easily curtailed. There is a lock near Bungay, another at Ellingham, and a third at Ship-meadow; so there is plenty of fall. Beccles bridge is an old low arched structure which ponds back the water of the river; the railway bridge at Aldeby also impedes its progress, and then there is Mutford lock which holds it up from reaching its natural outfall into the sea, through Lake Lothing, at Lowestoft. And so the Waveney is forced round 15 miles to help to scour out Yarmouth harbour!

Into the sanitary part of this vexed question it is not our intention to enter, but we cannot refrain from stating a fact or two about the valley of the Waveney. The parishes which border the river are always very unhealthy in the latter part of the winter and all through the spring. The marshes that have been long flooded stink fearfully as the heat increases, and even to villages 100 feet above the river, the miasma ascends and fevers are most fatal. The mortality of these parishes is $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. in excess of other well drained rural districts, and taking the population of the parishes along the Waveney at 400 each, one human being in every parish is each year killed by that stagnant river. It is unnecessary to state that the same calculation with the like fatal results would apply to all the badly drained and flooded districts of Norfolk.

From these few facts it will at once be seen how sad is the state of the great Norfolk rivers, and how absolutely necessary it is that some better system of trunk drainage should be at once adopted, alike for the benefit of the farmer and the public. The Land Drainage Act of 1861 has not been at present tried in this county, save on the Wissey or Stoke Ferry river; the expenses of a commission and the cost of law charges and compensations appear to make the sufferers "Rather bear those ills they have, than fly to others that they know not of."

BOTANY.—A County that has given birth to a Smith, a Hooker, and a Lindley,—three of the brightest names in the science of Modern Botany, and that has been submitted to the careful investigation of a host of practical Botanists, both native and foreign, for the last hundred years, may reasonably be expected to afford a rich and abundant Flora, although not possessing all the natural advantages for the production of those rarer wild plants that are seldom found except in the more favoured localities. Nearly sixty years ago it was said by the learned President of the Linnæan Society, that the Botany of Norfolk was become celebrated, and that its Flora had proved richer, he believed, than that of any other county, because it had been more closely investigated. In the number of species of its Flowering Plants, at least, the Flora of Norfolk is far above the average, when compared with other counties of equal extent; a very large proportion of the whole of the Phanerogamææ, now admitted into the general Floras being found in the county. In Babington's "Manual of British Botany, containing the Flowering Plants and Ferns," (4th edition, 1856), there are 1767 species enumerated as growing wild in England, Scotland, Ireland, and the Channel Islands. Of this number 1027 (besides about 40 which are generally considered mere varieties, and as such are marked with a dagger †), are given in the following list. This will appear an unusually large result, if we are prepared to agree in Mr. H. C. Watson's statement, that "on the average a single county appears to contain somewhat less than one-half of the whole number of species found in Britain." But Mr. Watson, to whom British Botanists are so largely indebted for his valuable works on their favourite pursuit, calculates the total number of flowering wild plants growing in the British Isles, at a much lower rate than has commonly been done; the extreme limit, as he thinks, not being above 1400; while Smith's "English Flora" contains 1503 species, Gray's "Natural Arrangement" gives 1636, the several editions of Hooker's "British Flora" from 1500 to 1520, Lindley's "Synopsis of the British Flora," which does not contain the ferns and their allies, has 1520, and Babington's "Manual," as we have seen, 1767. Contrary then, to Mr. Watson's statement, the number of the flowering plants found in the county is considerably more than the half of the whole number of species found in Britain.

In drawing up the succeeding List of Norfolk Phanerogamææ, the scientific nomenclature and arrangement made use of are, with very few exceptions, those of the 4th edition of Babington's "Manual;" while most of the English names are borrowed from Hooker's "British Flora." For information respecting the particular species, that is, whether it is truly indigenous, or naturalised, or introduced, or perhaps an outcast from gardens, the reader is referred to the general Floras, one or more of which will be of course, in the hands of every Botanist. Notwithstanding the large number of species of flowering plants recorded in the Flora of Norfolk, it is probable that those of more than one genus might be still further added to; thus, in the genus Rubus, we have only 7 species recorded, while Babington gives 41; in Rosa 7 only, out of 19; in Hieracium 5 only, out of 33; but most of the species of this genus are inhabitants of lofty mountains, and cannot be expected to occur in our flat county. These hints may be of some use to the young Norfolk Botanist, by leading him to investigate the above-named genera with redoubled diligence.

The nomenclature and arrangement of the Norfolk Cryptogameæ, or Flowerless Plants, are those of Hooker's "British Flora;" and in drawing up this part of the list the compiler acknowledges himself very greatly indebted to a valuable catalogue of all the orders of this vast class, with the exception of the Fungi, which was printed about 30 years since, in the "Sketch of the Natural History of Yarmouth," by Messrs. C. J. and James Paget. But as the catalogue of the Messrs. Paget embraces only a small district on the east side of the county, it has been found necessary to make considerable additions to it from other sources. The number of species, even of the Algæ, which appear to have been carefully investigated by them, has been increased; for it could hardly be expected that all the sea-weeds met with on the Norfolk coast, extending to a length of about 80 miles, should have been found within 10 miles of Yarmouth. An apology seems here necessary for the extreme meagerness of the list of Norfolk Fungi, an order of immense extent, and universal distribution. No professed mycologist, it is believed, has ever resided in the county; nor has any list of the species of this vast family, here met with, been ever published; the compiler was therefore obliged to have recourse to his own notes, made occasionally, when in pursuit of other objects, and limited to a small part only of the western division of the county. To these he has added the Norfolk localities that are pointed out in the Rev. M. J. Berkeley's elaborate work on the Fungi, printed in Hooker's "British Flora,"—and those in an imperfect copy of Sowerby's "Coloured Figures of English Fungi," the only one within his reach. The list here presented, indeed, professes to be little more than a compilation, composed of what has been said about the localities of plants, in the pages of the great work on "English Botany," with coloured plates, in 40 volumes; in the modern general Floras; in Watson's "New Botanist's Guide;" and in the local Floras to be presently mentioned. But while this admission is made, it is but right to say that in bye-gone years we did not spare our own labours in the field, nor were we ungrateful for the numerous contributions received from our botanical friends. We have thus gathered together all the botanical productions that have been recorded as growing wild in Norfolk. Possibly some of them may now, from various causes, be utterly extinct, or may be searched for in vain in the localities indicated; while perhaps a very few of them may never have been found in the county at all, but may have been mistaken for some other species. Still a record of the whole appears to be desirable. We would also observe that the distribution of many species is much more general than might be inferred from the blank line in the following list which does not always imply that the plant is not to be found in the division where it is not marked, but only that it has not been recorded there.

Although it is now almost universally admitted that the geological character of a district exercises very great influence over its vegetation, yet we are of opinion with a writer in the "Phytologist," "that it is by the surface soil in which they grow that plants are affected, and not by the rocks or strata over which they occur, unless the latter happen to lie so near to the surface as to affect the surface soil, by altering its constituent parts, or modifying its proportions." To enter, therefore, on a detailed account of the geological aspect of the district would be superfluous; but to mark, in some degree, the distribution of species throughout the county, we have divided it into three, or rather four parts; and shall briefly mention the prevailing strata of each part as we proceed.

FIRST. The Eastern Division, (marked "e." in the list), whose western side has for its boundary an imaginary line running north and south, from Cromer to a little east of Harleston. This division contains the alluvium of the vallies of the Yare, the Bure, and the Waveney; the Blue Clay or Wreck of the Lias, which occupies the higher ground of the same valleys; next to which we meet with the larger part of the Crag formation, and then a small portion of the Upper Chalk, at the south western corner of the division. The botanical productions of a considerable part of this division, with the exception of the Fungi, have been thoroughly investigated in the admirable "Sketch of the Natural History of Yarmouth," by Messrs. C. J. and James Paget, already mentioned. This work embraces a radius of about 10 miles, and includes a small projecting corner of the county of Suffolk. In the succeeding list, therefore, a few Suffolk plants are admitted, and marked E.; but nearly every one of them occurs in some part or other of Norfolk.

SECOND. The Central Division, separated into north and south by an imaginary line running east and west, from Norwich to Swaffham, (marked respectively "nc." and "sc." in the list), and having for its western boundary another imaginary line passing north and south from Brancaster to two or three miles west of Thetford. This large division, with the exception of the north-east corner, which is Crag, lies entirely on the Upper and Medial Chalk formations. Its botany has, as yet, been but partially recorded; as in the "Flora of Central Norfolk," by Mr. R. J. Mann, printed in the 4th volume of Loudon's "Magazine of Natural History;" this embraces no more than what could be accomplished in a day's walk from Norwich. To this Flora Mr. S. P. Woodward printed an addenda, in the 43rd number of the "Annals and Magazine of Natural History." Neither of these contains more than a very few Cryptogamous Plants, and no Fungi. And this is all we have of the Flora of Central Norfolk, leaving the botanical productions of full three-fourths of this large division entirely unnoticed, except by the casual observer. A few, however, of those that grow beyond the neighbourhood of Norwich are noted in Mr. Wigham's "Plants of Norfolk," printed in Chambers's "History of the County."

THIRD. The Western Division, (marked "w." in the list), which comprises all that remains of the county, and contains geological features of a much more varied kind; thus, the north-east corner is occupied by a small portion of the Medial Chalk; to which succeeds a belt of the Hard Chalk, running from Hunstanton to the banks of the Little Ouse; then follows a narrower belt of the Chalk Marl, succeeded by about the same width of Greensand or Carstone; and the series ends with a very narrow line of Kimmeridge Clay and Oolite, which runs from Heacham till it nearly reaches the Wissey. The extreme west of the county is occupied by the alluvium of Marshland, and of the vallies of the Ouse, the Wissey, and the Nar. In 1841, "A List of the Flowering Plants found growing wild in Western Norfolk," was printed in the "Annals and Magazine of Natural History," by the present compiler; and in 1843, "A Flora of the Neighbourhood of Sandringham," now celebrated as the Norfolk residence of the Prince of Wales, was printed in the 1st volume of the "Phytologist," by Mr. James Moxon. This Flora embraces a radius of three miles from Sandringham church, and is contained within the divisions previously investigated by the compiler of the following list.

In concluding this brief introduction to the List of Botanical Productions of Norfolk, it only remains to observe that the great diversity of soil in the county, arising more or less from the disintegration of so many rocks or strata, would naturally lead a botanist to expect a considerable diversity in the vegetation; and this we may venture to promise him; but we cannot point out to him a single species that is peculiarly and exclusively our own, though there are many that rank among the rariores of the British Flora.

I. PHANEROGAMEÆ, OR FLOWERING PLANTS.

CLASS I.—DICOTYLEDONES.

ORDER I. RANUNCULACEÆ. The Crowfoot Tribe.

Clematis Vitalba	Travellers' Joy	...	e. nc. sc. —
Thalictrum minus	Lesser Meadow rue	...	— — — w.
— majus	Greater Meadow-rue	...	— — — w.
— flavum	Common Meadow-rue	...	e. — — w.
Anemone Pulsatilla	Pasque-flower	...	— nc. — —
— nemorosa	Wood Anemone	...	e. — — w.
Adonis autumnalis	Pheasant's-eye	...	— nc. — w.
Myosurus minimus	Mouse-tail	...	— — — w.
Ranunculus aquatilis	Water Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— pantothrix †	Rigid-leaved Water Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— circinnatus †	Rounded-leaved Water Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— hederaceus	Ivy-leaved Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— Lingua	Great Spearwort	...	e. — — w.
— Flammula	Lesser Spearwort	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— reptans †	Least Spearwort	...	— — — w.
— Ficaria	Pilewort Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— auricomus	Goldilocks	...	— — sc. w.
— sceleratus	Celery-leaved Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— acris	Upright Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— repens	Creeping Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— bulbosus	Bulbous Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— hirsutus	Hairy Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— arvensis	Corn Crowfoot	...	e. — — w.
— parviflorus	Small-flowered Crowfoot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
Caltha palustris	Marsh Marigold	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— radicans	Creeping Marsh Marigold	...	— — — w.
Helleborus viridis †	Green Hellebore	...	e. — — w.
— foetidus	Stinking Hellebore	...	— — — w.
Aquilegia vulgaris	Common Columbine	...	e. — — w.
Aconitum Napellus	Common Monk's-hood	...	e. — — —
Delphinium Consolida	Field Larkspur	...	e. — — w.

ORDER II. BERBERIDACEÆ. The Barberry Tribe.

Berberis vulgaris	Common Barberry	...	e. nc. — w.
------------------------------	-----	-----------------	-----	-------------

ORDER III. NYMPHÆACEÆ. The Water Lily Tribe.

Nymphæa alba	White Water Lily	...	e. — — w.
Nuphar lutea	Yellow Water Lily	...	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER IV. PAPAVERACEÆ. The Poppy Tribe.

Papaver Argemone	Prickly-headed Poppy	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— hybridum	Rough-headed Poppy	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— Rhæas	Common Red Poppy	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— dubium	Smooth-headed Poppy	...	e. nc. sc. w.
— somniferum	White Poppy	...	e. — — w.
Roemeria hybrida	Violet Horned-poppy	...	— nc. — —
Glaucium luteum	Yellow Horned-poppy	...	e. — — w.
— phæniceum	Scarlet Horned-poppy	...	— nc. — —
Chelidonium majus	Common Celandine	...	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER V. FUMARIACEÆ. The Fumitory Tribe.

Corydalis lutea	Yellow Fumitory ...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— claviculata	White Climbing Fumitory	e.	—	—	w.
Fumaria capreolata. ...	Ramping Fumitory ...	e.	—	—	—
— officinalis	Common Fumitory ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— parviflora	Small-flowered Fumitory	e.	—	—	—

ORDER VI. CRUCIFERÆ. The Cress, Cabbage, and Mustard Tribe.

Cheiranthus Cheiri	Common Wallflower ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Nasturtium officinale ...	Water-cress	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sylvestre	Creeping Nasturtium ...	e.	—	—	w.
— terrestre	Marsh Nasturtium ...	e.	—	—	w.
— amphibium	Amphibious Nasturtium ...	e.	—	—	w.
Barbarea vulgaris	Yellow Rocket	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— præcox	Early Winter-cress ...	e.	—	—	—
Turritis glabra	Tower-mustard	e.	—	—	—
Arabis hirsuta	Hairy Rock-cress	e.	—	—	w.
Cardamine hirsuta	Hairy Bitter-cress ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— pratensis	Common Bitter-cress ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— amara	Bitter Lady's Smock ...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Hesperis matronalis	Dame's Violet	—	—	—	w.
Sisymbrium officinale ...	Hedge-mustard	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Sophia	Flixweed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— thalianum	Common Thale-cress ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Alliaria officinalis	Jack-by-the-Hedge ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Erysimum cheiranthoides	Worm-seed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Brassica oleracea	Sea Cabbage	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— campestris	Common Wild Navev ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— Rapa†	Common Turnip	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Napus	Rape, or Cole-seed ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Sinapis nigra	Common Mustard	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— arvensis	Wild Mustard, or Charlock	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— alba	White Mustard	e.	—	sc.	w.
Diploxix tenuifolia	Wall-mustard	e.	—	—	—
Koniga maritima	Sea-side Koniga	e.	nc.	—	—
Draba verna	Whitlow-grass	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Cochlearia officinalis ...	Common Scurvy-grass ...	e.	—	—	w.
— danica	Danish Scurvy-grass ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— anglica	English Scurvy-grass ...	e.	—	—	w.
Armoracia rusticana	Horse-radish	—	nc.	sc.	w.
Camelina sativa	Gold-of-Pleasure	—	nc.	—	—
Thlaspi arvense	Penny-cress	e.	—	sc.	w.
Teesdalia nudicaulis	Naked-stalked Teesdalia ...	e.	—	—	w.
Iberis amara	Bitter Candytuft	—	—	—	w.
Lepidium campestre	Mithridate Pepper-wort	e.	nc.	—	w.
— Smithii	Smith's Pepper-wort ...	e.	—	—	w.
— ruderale	Narrow-leaved Pepper-wort	e.	nc.	—	w.
— latifolium	Broad-leaved Pepper-wort	—	nc.	—	w.
Capsella Bursa-pastoris ...	Shepherd's Purse	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Senebiera Coronopus	Wart-cress	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Isatis tinctoria	Dyer's Woad	—	—	—	w.
Cakile maritima	Purple Sea Rocket	e.	—	—	w.
Crambe maritima	Sea Kale	e.	nc.	—	—
Raphanus Raphanistrum	Jointed Radish	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER VII. RESEDACEÆ. The Mignonette Tribe.

Reseda lutea	Wild Mignonette	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Luteola	Dyers' Rocket	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER VIII. CISTACEÆ. The Rock-Rose Tribe.

Helianthemum vulgare ...	Rock-rose	—	—	sc.	w.
--------------------------	------------------	---	---	-----	----

ORDER IX. VIOLACEÆ. The Violet Tribe.

Viola palustris	Marsh Violet	e.	—	—	W.
— odorata	Sweet Violet	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— suavis†	Fragrant Violet	e.	—	—	—
— hirta	Hairy Violet	—	—	—	W.
— canina	Dog Violet	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— flavicornis†	Yellow-spurred Violet	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— lactea†	Cream-coloured Violet	e.	—	—	—
— tricolor	Pansy, or Heart's-ease	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— arvensis†	Field Violet	—	nc.	sc.	W.

ORDER X. DROSERACEÆ. The Sundew Tribe.

Drosera rotundifolia	Round-leaved Sundew	e.	nc.	—	W.
— longifolia	Spathulate-leaved Sundew	e.	nc.	—	W.
— anglica.	Great Sundew	e.	nc.	—	W.
Parnassia palustris	Grass-of-Parnassus	e.	—	—	W.

ORDER XI. POLYGALACEÆ. The Milkwort Tribe.

Polygala vulgaris	Milkwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
--------------------------	-----	-----	----------	-----	-----	----	-----	-----	----

ORDER XII. FRANKENIACEÆ. The Sea Heath Tribe.

Frankenia lævis	Smooth Sea Heath	e.	nc.	—	W.
------------------------	-----	-----	------------------	-----	-----	----	-----	---	----

ORDER XIII. ELATINACEÆ. *The Waterwort Tribe.*ORDER XIV. CARYOPHYLLACEÆ. The Pink Tribe.

Dianthus prolifer	Proliferous Pink	—	nc.	—	—
— Armeria	Deptford Pink	e.	—	sc.	—
— Caryophyllus	Clove Pink	—	nc.	—	—
— deltoides	Maiden Pink	—	—	—	W.
Saponaria officinalis	Soapwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
Silene anglica	English Catchfly	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— Otites	Spanish Catchfly	—	nc.	sc.	W.
— inflata	Bladder Campion	e.	—	—	W.
— maritima	Sea Campion	—	nc.	sc.	W.
— noctiflora	Night-flowering Catchfly	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
Lychnis Flos-cuculi	Ragged Robin	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— vespertina†	White Campion	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— diurna†	Red Campion	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— Githago	Corn Cockle	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
Sagina procumbens	Procumbent Pearlwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— apetata	Small-flowered Pearlwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— maritima	Sea Pearlwort	e.	—	—	—
— nodosa	Knotted Spurrey	e.	—	sc.	W.
Honkeneja peploides	Sea Pimpernel	e.	—	—	W.
Alsine tenuifolia	Fine-leaved Sandwort	e.	nc.	—	W.
Moehringia trinervis	Three-nerved Sandwort	e.	—	—	W.
Arenaria serpyllifolia	Thyme-leaved Sandwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
Holosteum umbellatum	Jagged Chickweed	e.	—	sc.	—
Stellaria media	Common Chickweed	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— Holostea	Greater Stitchwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— glauca	Glaucous March Stitchwort	e.	—	—	W.
— graminea	Lesser Stitchwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— uliginosa	Bog Stitchwort	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
Moenchia erecta	Upright Moenchia	e.	—	—	W.
Malachium aquaticum	Water Chickweed	—	—	sc.	W.
Cerastium glomeratum	Broad-leaved Mouse-ear	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— triviale	Narrow-leaved Mouse-ear	e.	nc.	sc.	W.
— semidecandrum	Little Mouse-ear	e.	—	—	W.
— tetrandrum	Four-cleft Mouse-ear	e.	—	—	—
— arvense	Field Chickweed	e.	nc.	sc.	W.

ORDER XV. MALVACEÆ. The Mallow Tribe.

Malva moschata	Musk Mallow	e.	—	—	w.
—sylvestris	Common Mallow	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—rotundifolia	Dwarf Mallow	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Althæa officinalis	Marsh Mallow	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER XVI. TILIACEÆ. The Lime Tree Tribe.

Tilia Europæa	Common Lime-tree	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—parviflora	Small-leaved Lime-tree	e.	—	—	—
—grandiflora	Broad-leaved Lime-tree	e.	nc.	sc.	—

ORDER XVII. HYPERICACEÆ. The St. John's-wort Tribe.

Hypericum Androsæmum	Tutsan	e.	nc.	—	—
—quadrangulum	Square-stalked St. John's-wort					e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—perforatum	Perforated St. John's-wort	...				e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—dubium	Imperforate St. John's-wort	...				—	—	—	w.
—humifusum	Trailing St. John's-wort	...				e.	—	—	w.
—hirsutum	Hairy St. John's-wort	...				e.	—	—	—
—montanum	Mountain St. John's-wort	...				e.	—	—	—
—pulchrum	Upright St. John's-wort	...				e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—elodes	Marsh St. John's-wort	...				e.	nc.	—	w.

ORDER XVIII. ACERACEÆ. The Maple Tribe.

Acer campestre	Common Maple	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—Pseudo-platanus	Sycamore-tree	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER XIX. GERANIACEÆ. The Crane's-bill Tribe.

Geranium sylvaticum	Wood Crane's-bill	e.	—	—	w.
—pyrenaicum	Mountain Crane's-bill	—	—	sc.	w.
—pusillum	Small-flowered Crane's-bill	e.	—	—	—
—dissectum	Jagged-leaved Crane's-bill	e.	—	—	w.
—columbinum	Long-stalked Crane's-bill	e.	—	—	w.
—molle	Dove's-foot Crane's-bill	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—lucidum	Shining Crane's-bill	e.	—	—	w.
—Robertianum	Herb Robert	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Erodium cicutarium	Hemlock Stork's-bill	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—moschatum	Musky Stork's-bill	—	nc.	—	—
—maritimum	Sea-side Stork's-bill	e.	—	—	—

ORDER XX. LINACEÆ. The Flax Tribe.

Linum angustifolium	Narrow-leaved Flax	—	nc.	—	—
—usitatissimum	Common Flax	—	—	—	w.
—perenne	Perennial Flax	e.	—	—	w.
—catharticum	Purging Flax	e.	—	sc.	w.
Radiola millegrana	Flax Seed	e.	nc.	—	w.

ORDER XXI. BALSAMINACEÆ. *The Balsam Tribe.*ORDER XXII. OXALIDACEÆ. The Wood-sorrel Tribe.

Oxalis Acetosella	Wood-sorrel	e.	—	—	w.
-------------------	-----	-----	-------------	-----	-----	----	---	---	----

ORDER XXIII. CELASTRACEÆ. The Bladder-nut Tribe.

Euonymus europæus	Spindle-tree	e.	—	—	w.
-------------------	-----	-----	--------------	-----	-----	----	---	---	----

ORDER XXIV. RHAMNACEÆ. The Buckthorn Tribe.

Rhamnus catharticus	Common Buckthorn	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—Frangula	Alder Buckthorn	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER XXV. LEGUMINOSÆ. The Pea Tribe.

Ulex Europæus	Common Furze	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
—nanus	Dwarf Furze	e.	nc.	—	—
Genista tinctoria	Dyer's weed	e.	—	—	w.
—anglica	Needle-Whin	e.	nc.	—	w.
Sarothamnus scoparius	Common Broom	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

Ononis arvensis	Common Rest-harrow	...	e.	—	—	w.
Medicago sativa	Purple Medick, or Lucerne	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sylvestris	...	Wood Medick	...	e.	nc.	—	—
— falcata	...	Yellow Sickle-medick	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— lupulina	...	Black Medick, or Nonesuch	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— maculata	...	Spotted Medick	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— minima	...	Little Bur-medick	...	—	—	—	w.
— denticulata	...	Reticulated Medick	...	—	nc.	—	—
Melilotus officinalis	...	Common Yellow Melilot	...	e.	—	—	w.
— arvensis	...	Field Melilot	...	—	—	sc.	—
— leucantha	...	White-flowered Melilot	...	e.	—	—	—
Trifolium pratense	...	Purple Clover	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— medium	...	Zigzag Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	—
— ochroleucum	...	Sulphur-coloured Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— arvense	...	Hare's-foot Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	w.
— striatum	...	Soft-knotted Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	—
— scabrum	...	Rough-ridged Trefoil	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
— maritimum	...	Teasel-headed Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— subterraneum	...	Subterraneous Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— glomeratum	...	Round-headed Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	w.
— suffocatum	...	Suffocated Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	—
— repens	...	Dutch Clover, or White Clover	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— ornithopodoides	...	Bird's-foot Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	—
— fragiferum	...	Strawberry-headed Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— procumbens	...	Hop Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— minus	...	Lesser Trefoil	...	e.	—	—	w.
— filiforme	...	Lesser Yellow Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Lotus corniculatus	...	Common Bird's-foot Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— tenuist	...	Slender Bird's-foot Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— major	...	Greater Bird's-foot Trefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Anthyllis Vulneraria	...	Lady's-Fingers	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Astragalus hypoglottis	...	Purple Milk-vetch	...	—	—	—	w.
— glycyphyllos	...	Sweet Milk-vetch	...	—	—	sc.	w.
Vicia hirsuta	...	Hairy Tare	...	e.	—	—	w.
— tetrasperma	...	Smooth Tare	...	e.	—	—	w.
— Cracca	...	Tufted Vetch	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sepium	...	Bush Vetch	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sativa	...	Common Vetch	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— angustifolia	...	Narrow-leaved Vetch	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
— lathyroides	...	Spring Vetch	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
Lathyrus Aphaca	...	Yellow Vetchling	...	e.	—	—	—
— Nissolia	...	Grass Vetchling	...	—	—	sc.	w.
— pratensis	...	Meadow Vetchling	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sylvestris	...	Narrow-leaved Everlasting Pea	...	e.	—	—	—
— palustris	...	Marsh Vetchling	...	e.	—	—	w.
— macrorhizus	...	Tuberous Bitter Vetch	...	—	—	—	w.
Ornithopus perpusillus	...	Bird's-foot	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
Hippocrepis comosa	...	Horse-shoe Vetch	...	—	—	—	w.
Onobrychis sativa	...	Saintfoin	...	e.	—	—	w.
ORDER XXVI. ROSACEÆ. The Rose Tribe.
Prunus domestica	...	Wild Plum	...	e.	—	—	—
— spinosa	...	Sloe, or Blackthorn	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— instititia	...	Wild Bullace	...	e.	—	—	w.
— Padus	...	Bird Cherry	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Cerasus	...	Wild Cherry	...	e.	—	—	w.
Spiræa Ulmaria	...	Meadow-sweet	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Filipendula	...	Dropwort	...	—	—	—	w.
Poterium Sanguisorba	...	Common Salad-burnet	...	—	—	—	w.

Agrimonia Eupatoria	...	Common Agrimony	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Alchemilla arvensis	...	Parsley Piert	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Potentilla anserina	...	Silver-weed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— argentea	...	Hoary Cinquefoil	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— reptans	...	Creeping Cinquefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Tormentilla	...	Common Tormentil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— procumbens	...	Creeping Tormentil	...	e.	—	—	—
— fragariastrum	...	Barren Strawberry	...	e.	—	—	w.
Comarum palustre	...	Marsh Cinquefoil	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Fragaria vesca	...	Wood Strawberry	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— elatior	...	Hautboy Strawberry	...	e.	—	—	—
Rubus Idæus	...	Raspberry	...	e.	—	—	w.
— suberectus	...	Upright Bramble	...	—	—	—	w.
— discolor	...	Blackberry	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— leucostachys	...	Long-clustered Bramble	...	—	—	—	w.
— Koehleri	...	Koehlers' Bramble	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— corylifolius	...	Hazel-leaved Bramble	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— cæsius	...	Dewberry	...	e.	—	—	w.
Geum urbanum	...	Common Avens, or Herb Bennet	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— intermedium	...	Wood Avens	...	—	—	—	w.
— rivale	...	Water Avens	...	e.	—	—	w.
Rosa spinosissima	...	Burnet-leaved Rose	...	e.	—	—	—
— villosa	...	Villous Rose	...	—	—	—	w.
— tomentosa	...	Downy-leaved Rose	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— rubiginosa	...	True Sweet-Briar	...	e.	—	—	w.
— eglanteria†	...	Eglantine	...	—	—	—	w.
— canina	...	Dog-rose	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— arvensis	...	Trailing Dog-rose	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Cratægus Oxyacantha	...	White-Thorn	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Mespilus germanica	...	Common Medlar	...	—	—	sc.	—
Pyrus communis	...	Wild Pear-tree	...	e.	—	—	—
— Malus	...	Crab-tree	...	e.	—	—	w.
— aucuparia	...	Mountain-ash	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— Aria...	...	White Beam-tree	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— torminalis	...	Wild Service-tree	...	e.	—	sc.	—

ORDER XXVII. LYTHRACEÆ. The Loose-strife Tribe.

Lythrum Salicaria	...	Purple Loose-strife	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Peplis Portula	...	Water Purslane	...	e.	—	sc.	w.

ORDER XXVIII. TAMARISCACEÆ. *The Tamarisk Tribe.*ORDER XXIX. ONAGRACEÆ. The Willow-herb Tribe.

Epilobium hirsutum	...	Great Willow-herb	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— parviflorum	...	Small-flowered Willow-herb	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— montanum	...	Broad-leaved Willow-herb	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
— tetragonum	...	Square-stalked Willow-herb	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— palustre	...	Marsh Willow-herb	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Oenothera biennis...	...	Evening Primrose	...	e.	—	—	—
Circeæ lutetiana	...	Enchanter's Nightshade	...	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER XXX. HALORAGACEÆ. The Water Milfoil Tribe.

Myriophyllum verticillatum	...	Whorled Water Milfoil	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
— spicatum	...	Spiked Water Milfoil	...	e.	—	—	w.
Hippuris Vulgaris	...	Mare's-tail	...	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER XXXI. CUCURBITACEÆ. The Gourd Tribe.

Bryonia dioica	...	Red Bryony	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
----------------	-----	------------	-----	----	-----	-----	----

ORDER XXXII. PORTULACÆÆ. The Purslane Tribe.

Montia fontana	...	Water Blinks	...	e.	—	—	w.
----------------	-----	--------------	-----	----	---	---	----

ORDER XXXIII. PARONYCHIACEÆ. The Knapel Tribe.

Herniaria glabra	...	Glabrous Rupture-wort	...	—	—	sc.	w.
------------------	-----	-----------------------	-----	---	---	-----	----

Lepigonum rubrum	Purple Sandwort	...	e. — — w.
———— marinum	Sea-spurrey Sandwort	...	e. — — w.
Spergula arvensis	Corn Spurrey	...	e. — — w.
Scleranthus annuus	Annual Knawel	...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— perennis	Perennial Knawel	...	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER XXXIV. CRASSULACEÆ. The Houseleek Tribe.

Tillæa muscosa...	...	Mossy Tillæa	...	e. nc. — w.
Sedum Telephium	Live-long, or Orpine	...	e. — — w.
———— album	White Stonecrop	...	— nc. — —
———— anglicum	English Stonecrop	...	e. — — —
———— acre	Wall Pepper	...	e. nc. — w.
———— reflexum	Crooked Stonecrop	...	e. — — w.
———— rupestre	St. Vincent's-rock Stonecrop	...	e. — — —
Sempervivum tectorum	Common Houseleek	...	e. — — w.

ORDER XXXV. GROSSULARIACEÆ. The Currant and Gooseberry Tribe.

Ribes Grossularia	Common Gooseberry	...	e. — sc. w.
———— nigrum	Black Currant	...	e. nc. sc. —
———— rubrum	Red Currant	...	e. — — w.

ORDER XXXVI. SAXIFRAGACEÆ. The Saxifrage Tribe.

Saxifraga tridactylites	Rue-leaved Saxifrage	...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— granulata	Meadow Saxifrage	...	e. nc. sc. w.
Chrysosplenium alternifolium	...	Alternate Golden-saxifrage	...	— — sc. w.
———— oppositifolium	...	Common Golden-saxifrage	...	— — sc. —

ORDER XXXVII. UMBELLIFERÆ. The Parsley and Carrot Tribe.

Hydrocotyle vulgaris	Marsh Penny-wort	...	e. nc. — —
Sanicula Europæa	Wood Sanicle	...	e. — — w.
Eryngium maritimum	Sea Holly	...	e. — — w.
Cicuta virosa	Water Hemlock, or Cowbane	...	e. nc. — —
Apium graveolens	Wild Celery, or Smallage	...	e. — — w.
Petroselinum sativum	Garden Parsley	...	e. — — —
———— segetum	Corn Parsley	...	e. nc. — w.
Helosciadium nodiflorum	Procumbent Water-parsnep	...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— repens†	Creeping Water-parsnep	...	e. — — w.
———— inundatum...	...	Least Water-parsnep	...	e. nc. — w.
Sison Amomum...	...	Honewort or Bastard Stone Parsley	...	e. nc. — w.
Ægopodium Podagraria	Gout-weed	...	e. — — w.
Carum Carui	Common Caraway	...	— — — w.
Bunium flexuosum	Common Earth-nut	...	e. — — w.
Pimpinella Saxifraga	Burnet-saxifrage	...	e. — — w.
Sium latifolium	Broad-leaved Water-parsnep	...	e. — sc. w.
———— angustifolium	Narrow-leaved Water-parsnep	...	e. — — w.
Bupleurum tenuissimum	Slender Hare's-ear	...	e. nc. — w.
———— rotundifolium...	...	Thorow-wax	...	— nc. sc. w.
Oenanthe fistulosa.	Water Dropwort	...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Lachenalii	Parsley Water-dropwort	...	e. — — w.
———— crocata	Hemlock Water-dropwort...	...	— — — w.
———— Phellandrium	Fine leaved Water-dropwort	...	e. — — w.
Æthusa Cynapium	Fool's Parsley	...	e. nc. sc. w.
Fœniculum officinale...	...	Common Fennel	...	e. — — w.
Silaus pratensis	Pepper-saxifrage	...	e. nc. — w.
Orithmum maritimum	Sea Samphire	...	e. — — —
Angelica sylvestris	Wild Angelica	...	e. nc. sc. w.
Peucedanum palustre	Marsh Hog's-Fennel	...	e. — — —
Pastinaca sativa...	...	Wild Parsnep	...	e. nc. — w.
Heracleum Sphondylium	Hog-weed	...	e. nc. sc. w.
Daucus Carota	Wild Carrot	...	e. nc. sc. w.
Caucalis daucoides	Small Bur-parsley...	...	— — — w.

Torilis Anthriscus	Upright Hedge-parsley ...	e. — —
———infesta	Spreading Hedge-parsley ...	e. — — w.
———nodosa	Knotted Hedge-parsley ...	e. — — w.
Scandix Pecten-veneris ...	Shepherd's Needle... ..	e. nc. sc. w.
Anthriscus sylvestris	Wild Chervil	e. nc. sc. w.
———Cerefolium	Garden Chervil	— — — w.
———vulgaris	Common Beaked-parsley ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Chærophyllum temulum ...	Rough Chervil	e. nc. sc. —
Conium maculatum	Common Hemlock... ..	e. nc. sc. w.
Smyrniolum Olusatrum ...	Common Alexanders ...	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER XXXVIII. ARALIACEÆ. The Ivy Tribe.

Adoxa Moschatellina	Tuberous Moschatel ...	e. — — w.
Hedera Helix	Common Ivy	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER XXXIX. CORNACEÆ. The Dogwood Tribe.

Cornus sanguinea	Wild Cornel, or Dogwood... ..	e. — — w.
-------------------------	-------------------------------	-----------

ORDER XL. LORANTHACEÆ. The Mistletoe Tribe.

Viscum album	Common Mistletoe ...	e. nc. — —
---------------------	----------------------	------------

ORDER XLI. CAPRIFOLIACEÆ. The Honeysuckle and Elder Tribe.

Sambucus Ebulus	Dwarf Elder	e. nc. — —
———nigra... ..	Common Elder	e. nc. sc. w.
Viburnum Lantana	Wayfaring-tree	— — — w.
———Opulus	Guelder-rose	e. — — w.
Lonicera Periclymenum ...	Common Honeysuckle ...	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER XLII. RUBIACEÆ. The Madder Tribe.

Sherardia arvensis	Blue Sherardia	e. — — w.
Asperula cynanchica... ..	Squinancy-wort	— nc. — w.
———odorata	Sweet Woodruff	e. — — —
Galium cruciatum	Crosswort Bed-straw ...	e. nc. sc. w.
———tricornis	Rough-fruited Bed-straw ...	— — — w.
———aparine	Goose-grass, or Cleavers ...	e. nc. sc. w.
———pariense	Wall Bed-straw	— nc. sc. w.
———erectum... ..	Upright Bed-straw	e. nc. sc. w.
———Mollugo	Hedge Bed-straw	— nc. sc. w.
———verum	Yellow Bed-straw	e. nc. sc. w.
———saxatile... ..	Heath Bed-straw	e. nc. sc. w.
———uliginosum	Marsh Bed-straw	e. nc. — w.
———palustre... ..	Water Bed-straw	e. nc. sc. w.
———Witheringii†... ..	Withering's Bed-straw ...	— — — w.

ORDER XLIII. VALERIANACEÆ. The Valerian Tribe.

Centranthus ruber	Red Valerian	— nc. sc. w.
Valeriana officinalis... ..	Wild Valerian	e. nc. sc. w.
———dioica	Marsh Valerian	e. — — w.
———olitoria	Corn Salad	e. — — w.
———dentata	Narrow-fruited Corn Salad	e. — — w.

ORDER XLIV. DIPSACACEÆ. The Teasel Tribe.

Dipsacus sylvestris	Wild Teasel... ..	e. — — w.
———pilosus	Small Teasel	e. nc. sc. —
Knautia arvensis	Field Knautia	e. nc. sc. w.
Scabiosa succisa	Devil's-bit Scabious ...	e. — — w.
———Columbaria	Small Scabious	— — sc. w.

ORDER XLV. COMPOSITÆ. The Thistle, Daisy, and Chamomile Tribe.

Eupatorium cannabinum... ..	Hemp Agrimony	e. nc. sc. w.
Petasites vulgaris	Butter-bur	e. — sc. w.
Tussilago Farfara	Colt's-foot	— nc. sc. w.
Aster Tripolium	Sea Star-wort	e. — — w.

Erigeron acris	Blue Flea-bane	e. — sc. w.
Bellis perennis	Common Daisy	e. nc. sc. w.
Solidago Virgaurea	Golden Rod... ..	e. — — w.
Inula Helenium	Elecampane	e. — — —
—— Conyza	Plowman's Spikenard	e. — — w.
—— crithmoides	Golden Samphire	e. — — —
Pulicaria vulgaris	Small Flea-bane	e. nc. — —
—— dysenterica	Common Flea-bane	e. nc. sc. w.
Bidens tripartita	Trifid Bur-marigold	e. nc. — w.
—— cernua	Nodding Bur-marigold	e. — — w.
Anthemis arvensis	Corn Chamomile	— nc. sc. w.
—— tinctoria	Ox-eye Chamomile... ..	— — sc. —
—— Cotula	Stinking Chamomile	e. nc. sc. w.
—— nobilis	Common Chamomile	e. — — —
Achillea Ptarmica	Sneeze-wort Yarrow	e. nc. — w.
—— Millefolium	Common Yarrow	e. nc. sc. w.
Chrysanthemum Leucanthemum.—Great Ox-eye	e. — — w.
—— segetum	Corn-marigold	e. — — w.
Matricaria Parthenium	Common Feverfew	e. — — —
—— inodora	Corn Feverfew	e. nc. sc. w.
—— Chamomilla	Wild Chamomile	e. nc. sc. w.
Artemisia Absinthium	Common Wormwood	e. — — w.
—— campestris	Field Southernwood	— — sc. —
—— vulgaris	Mugwort	e. nc. sc. w.
—— maritima	Sea Wormwood	e. — — w.
—— gallica†	Upright Sea Wormwood	— — — w.
Tanacetum vulgare	Common Tansy	e. — — w.
Filago germanica	Common Cudweed	e. nc. sc. w.
—— minima	Least Cudweed	e. — — w.
Gnaphalium luteo-album... ..	Jersey Cudweed	— — sc. —
—— uliginosum	Marsh Cudweed	e. nc. — w.
—— sylvaticum	Highland Cudweed	e. — — —
—— rectum†	Upright Cudweed	— — — w.
Antennaria dioica	Mountain Cudweed	— nc. — w.
—— margaritacea	Pearly Everlasting	e. — — —
Doronicum Pardalianches	Leopard's-bane	e. nc. — —
Senecio vulgaris	Groundsel	e. nc. sc. w.
—— viscosus	Stinking Groundsel	e. — — —
—— sylvaticus	Mountain Groundsel	e. — — w.
—— erucifolius	Hoary Rag-wort	e. — — w.
—— Jacobæa	Common Ragwort	e. nc. sc. w.
—— aquaticus	Marsh Rag-wort	e. — — w.
—— palustris	Marsh Flea-wort	e. nc. sc. —
Carlina vulgaris... ..	Common Carlina-thistle	e. — — w.
Arctium Lappa	Common Burdock	e. nc. sc. w.
Centaurea nigra	Black Knapweed	e. nc. sc. w.
—— Cyanus	Corn Blue-bottle	e. nc. sc. w.
—— Scabiosa	Great Knapweed	e. nc. sc. w.
—— solstitialis	Yellow Star-thistle... ..	e. nc. — w.
—— Calcitrapa	Common Star-thistle	e. nc. — w.
Onopordum Acanthium	Common Cotton-thistle	e. nc. sc. w.
Carduus nutans	Musk Thistle	e. nc. sc. w.
—— acanthoides†	Wetted Thistle	e. — — w.
—— tenuiflorus... ..	Slender-flowered Thistle	e. — — w.
—— lanceolatus	Spear Plume-thistle	e. nc. sc. w.
—— eriophorus... ..	Woolly-headed Plume-thistle	— — sc. w.
—— arvensis	Creeping Plume-thistle	e. nc. sc. w.
—— palustris	Marsh Plume-thistle	e. nc. sc. w.

Carduus pratensis	Meadow Plume-thistle ...	e. — — w.
———— acaulis	Dwarf Plume-thistle ...	— nc. — w.
———— heterophyllus	Melancholy Plume-thistle	— — sc. —
Silybum marianum	Milk-thistle	e. — — w.
Lapsana communis	Nipple-wort	e. — — w.
Arnoseris pusilla	Dwarf Nipple-wort ...	e. — — w.
Cichorium Intybus	Wild Succory	e. nc. sc. w.
Hypochoeris glabra	Smooth Cat's-ear	— nc. — w.
———— radicata	Long-rooted Cat's-ear ...	e. — — w.
Thrinicia hirta	Hairy Thrinicia	e. — — w.
Apargia hispida	Rough Hawkbit	e. — — w.
———— autumnalis	Autumnal Hawkweed ...	e. — — w.
———— Taraxaci†	Dandelion Hawkbit ...	— — — w.
Tragopogon major†	Greater Goats'-beard ...	— nc. sc. w.
———— pratensis	Yellow Goats'-beard ...	e. — — w.
———— porrifolius	Purple Goat's-beard ...	e. — — —
Picris hieracioides	Hawkweed Picris	e. — — w.
Helminthia echioides	Bristly Ox-tongue... ..	— — sc. w.
Lactuca virosa	Strong-scented Lettuce ...	e. — — w.
———— muralis	Ivy-leaved Wall-lettuce ...	e. — — w.
Leontodon Taraxacum	Common Dandelion	e. nc. sc. w.
———— palustre†	Marsh Dandelion	e. nc. — w.
Sonchus oleraceus	Sow-thistle	e. nc. sc. w.
———— arvensis	Corn Sow-thistle	e. nc. sc. w.
———— palustris	Marsh Sow-thistle... ..	e. — — —
Crepis foetida	Stinking Hawkweed ...	— — — w.
———— virens	Common Hawk's-beard ...	— — — w.
———— tectorum†	Smooth Hawk's-beard ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Hieracium Pilosella	Mouse-ear Hawkweed ...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— sylvaticum	Wood Hawkweed	e. — — —
———— umbellatum	Narrow-leaved Hawkweed	e. nc. — w.
———— paludosum	Succory-leaved Hawkweed	— — — w.
———— subaudum	Shrubby Broad-leaved Hawkweed	e. — — —

ORDER XLVI. CAMPANULACEÆ. The Bell-Flower Tribe.

Jasione montana	Sheep's Scabious	e. — — w.
Campanula glomerata	Clustered Bell-flower ...	— — — w.
———— latifolia	Great Bell flower	e. — sc. —
———— Trachelium	Nettle-leaved Bell-flower ...	e. — — w.
———— rotundifolium	Hare-bell	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Rapunculus	Rampion Bell-flower ...	e. nc. — —
———— patula	Spreading Bell-flower ...	— nc. — —
Specularia hybrida	Corn Bell-flower	— — sc. w.

ORDER XLVII. ERICACEÆ. The Heath Tribe.

Andromeda polifolia	Marsh Andromeda	— — sc. —
Calluna vulgaris	Common Ling	e. nc. sc. w.
Erica Tetralix	Cross-leaved Heath	e. nc. — w.
———— cinerea	Fine-leaved Heath	e. nc. sc. w.
Vaccinium Oxycoccos	Cranberry	e. — sc. w.
———— Myrtillus	Bilberry	e. — — —
Pyrola rotundifolia	Round-leaved Winter-green	e. — sc. w.
Monotropa Hypopitys	Yellow Birds'-nest	e. — sc. —

ORDER XLVIII. AQUIFOLIACEÆ. The Holly Tribe.

Ilex Aquifolium	Common Holly	e. — — w.
-------------------------------	---------------------	-----------

ORDER XLIX. OLEACEÆ. The Olive Tribe.

Ligustrum vulgare	Common Privet	e. nc. sc. w.
Fraxinus excelsior	Common Ash	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER L. APOCYNACEÆ. The Dog's-bane Tribe.

Vinca minor	Lesser Periwinkle	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— major	Greater Periwinkle	...	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER LI. GENTIANACEÆ. The Gentian Tribe.

Chlora perfoliata	Perfoliate Yellow-wort	...	e.	—	sc.	—
Erythræa pulchella	Dwarf Centaury	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— Centaurium	Common Centaury	...	e.	—	—	w.
Gentiana Amarella	Autumnal Gentian	...	—	nc.	—	—
——— campestris	Field Gentian	...	—	nc.	—	—
——— Pneumonanthe	Marsh Gentian	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Villarsia nymphæoides	Fringed Villarsia	...	—	—	—	w.
Menyanthes trifoliata	Common Buckbean	...	e.	nc.	—	w.

ORDER LII. POLEMONIACEÆ. *The Greek Valerian Tribe.*ORDER LIII. CONVULVULACEÆ. The Bindweed Tribe.

Convolvulus arvensis	Small Bindweed	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— sepium	Great Bindweed	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— Soldanella	Sea Bindweed	...	e.	—	—	w.
Cuscuta Europæa	Greater Dodder	...	e.	—	sc.	—
——— Epythymum	Lesser Dodder	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
——— Trifolii	Clover Dodder	...	—	—	sc.	—

ORDER LIV. BORAGINACEÆ. The Borage Tribe.

Cynoglossum officinale	Hound's-tongue	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— montanum	Green-leaved Hound's-tongue	...	e.	—	—	—
Borago officinalis	Borage	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Anchusa sempervivens	Evergreen Alkanet	...	e.	—	sc.	—
Lycopsis arvensis	Small Bugloss	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Symphytum officinale	Common Comfrey	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— tuberosum	Tuberous-rooted Comfrey	...	e.	—	—	—
Echium vulgare	Viper's Bugloss	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Lithospermum officinale	Gromwell	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— arvense	Corn Gromwell	...	e.	—	—	w.
Myosotis palustris	Forget-me-not	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— cæspitosa	Tufted Scorpion-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— sylvatica	Wood Scorpion-grass	...	e.	nc.	—	—
——— arvensis	Field Scorpion-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— collina	Early Field Scorpion-grass	...	e.	—	—	—
——— versicolor	Yellow & Blue Scorpion-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER LV. SOLANACEÆ. The Nightshade Tribe.

Solanum nigrum	Black Nightshade	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— Dulcamara	Bitter-sweet	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Atropa Belladonna	Deadly Nightshade	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Hyoscyamus niger	Henbane	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Datura Stramonium	Thorn-apple	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER LVI. OROBANCHACEÆ. The Broom-rape Tribe.

Orobanche Rapum	Great Broom-rape	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— elatior	Tall Broom-rape	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
——— minor	Lesser Broom-rape	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— cærulea	Purple Broom-rape	...	e.	nc.	—	—
——— ramosa	Branched Broom-rape	...	—	—	sc.	w.

ORDER LVII. SCROPHULARIACEÆ. The Fig-wort Tribe.

Verbascum Thapsus	Great Mullein	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— Lychnitis	White Mullein	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
——— pulverulentum	Yellow Hoary Mullein	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
——— nigrum	Dark Mullein	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
——— Blattaria	Moth Mullein	...	e.	—	—	w.
——— virgatum	Primrose-leaved Mullein	...	e.	—	—	—

Digitalis purpurea	Purple Fox-glove	e. —	sc. w.
Antirrhinum majus	Great Snap-dragon	e. —	— w.
——— Orontium	Lesser Snap-dragon	e. nc.	sc. w.
Linaria Cymbalaria	Ivy-leaved Toad-flax	— nc.	sc. w.
——— Elatine	Sharp-pointed Toad-flax	e. —	— w.
——— spuria	Round-leaved Toad-flax	e. —	sc. —
——— minor	Least Toad-flax	e. —	sc. w.
——— vulgaris	Yellow Toad-flax	e. nc.	sc. w.
Scrophularia nodosa	Knotted Fig-wort	e. —	— w.
——— aquatica	Water Fig-wort	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— vernalis	Yellow Fig-wort	— nc.	— —
Melampyrum cristatum	Crested Cow-wheat	— nc.	— —
——— arvense	Purple Cow-wheat	— nc.	sc. w.
——— pratense	Yellow Cow-wheat	e. —	— —
Pedicularis palustris	Marsh Louse-wort	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— sylvatica	Pasture Louse-wort	e. nc.	— w.
Rhinanthus Crista-galli	Yellow Rattle	e. nc.	sc. w.
Euphrasia officinalis	Common Eye-bright	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— Odontites	Red Eye-bright	e. nc.	sc. w.
Veronica scutellata	Marsh Speedwell	e. nc.	— w.
——— Anagallis	Water Speedwell	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— Beccabunga	Brooklime	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— Chamaedrys	Germander Speedwell	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— montana	Mountain Speedwell	e. —	— w.
——— officinalis	Common Speedwell	e. —	— w.
——— serpyllifolia	Thyme-leaved Speedwell	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— arvensis	Wall Speedwell	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— verna	Vernal Speedwell	— —	sc. —
——— triphyllus	Blunt-fingered Speedwell	— nc.	— w.
——— agrestis	Green Field Speedwell	e. nc.	— w.
——— polita	Gray Field Speedwell	e. nc.	sc. w.
——— Buxbaumii	Buxbaum's Speedwell	— —	— w.
——— hederifolia	Ivy-leaved Speedwell	e. nc.	sc. w.

ORDER LVIII. LABIATÆ. The Dead-Nettle Tribe.

Mentha rotundifolia	Round-leaved Mint	— nc.	— w.
——— sylvestris	Horse-mint	e. —	sc. w.
——— viridis	Spear-mint	e. —	— w.
——— piperita	Pepper-mint	— —	sc. w.
——— aquatica	Capitate-mint	e. nc.	sc. w.
Mentha citrata †	Bergamot-mint	e. —	— —
——— gracilis	Narrow-leaved Mint	— —	sc. w.
——— gentilis †	Bushy Red Mint	— nc.	— —
——— rubra †	Tall Red Mint	e. —	sc. —
——— arvensis	Corn Mint	e. nc.	— w.
——— Pulegium	Penny-royal	e. nc.	— w.
Lycopus europæus	Gipsy-wort	e. nc.	sc. w.
Salvia verbenaca	English Clary	e. —	— w.
——— pratensis	Meadow Clary	e. —	— —
Origanum vulgare	Common Marjoram	e. —	— w.
Thymus Serpyllum	Wild Thyme	— nc.	sc. w.
Calamintha Nepeta	Lesser Calamint	e. —	sc. w.
——— officinalis	Common Calamint	e. —	sc. w.
——— Acinos	Basil Thyme	e. —	sc. w.
——— Clinopodium	Wild Basil	e. —	— w.
Scutellaria galericulata	Common Skull-cap	e. —	— w.
——— minor	Lesser Skull-cap	— —	sc. —
Prunella vulgaris	Self-heal	e. nc.	sc. w.
Nepeta Cataria	Cat-mint	e. nc.	sc. w.

Nepeta Glechoma	Ground-ivy	e. nc. sc. w.
Lamium amplexicaule	Henbit-nettle	e. — — w.
———— incisum	Cut-leaved Dead-nettle	e. nc. sc. w.
———— purpureum	Red Dead-nettle	e. nc. sc. w.
———— album	White Dead-nettle	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Galeobdolon	Weasel-snout	e. — — w.
Leonurus Cardiaea	Motherwort	e. nc. sc. w.
Galeopsis Ladanum	Red Hemp-nettle	e. — sc. w.
———— Tetrahit	Common Hemp-nettle	e. — — w.
———— versicolor	Large-flowered Hemp-nettle	e. — sc. w.
Stachys Betonica	Wood Betony	— — — w.
———— sylvatica	Hedge Woundwort	e. nc. sc. w.
———— palustris	Marsh Woundwort	e. nc. sc. w.
———— ambigua†	Ambiguous Woundwort	e. — — —
———— arvensis	Corn Woundwort	e. — sc. w.
Ballota foetida	Stinking Horehound	e. nc. sc. w.
Marrubium vulgare	White Horehound	e. — — w.
Teucrium Scorodonia	Wood Sage	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Scordium	Water Germander	— — — w.
———— Chamædrys	Wall Germander	e. nc. sc. —
Ajuga reptans	Common Bugle	e. — — w.

ORDER LIX. VERBENACEÆ. The Vervain Tribe.

Verbena officinalis	Common Vervain	e. nc. sc. w.
----------------------------	-----------------------	---------------

ORDER LX. LENTIBULARIACEÆ. The Butter-wort Tribe.

Pinguicula vulgaris	Common Butter-wort	e. — — w.
Utricularia vulgaris	Greater Bladder-wort	e. nc. sc. w.
———— minor	Lesser Bladder-wort	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER LXI. PRIMULACEÆ. The Primrose Tribe.

Primula vulgaris	Common Primrose	e. nc. sc. w.
———— veris	Common Cowslip	e. — — w.
———— elatior	Oxlip Primrose	e. — sc. w.
Hottonia palustris	Water-violet	e. nc. sc. w.
Lysimachia vulgaris	Great Loosestrife	e. — — w.
———— nummularia	Creeping Money-wort	e. — — w.
———— nemorum	Yellow Pimpernel	e. — — w.
Anagallis arvensis	Scarlet Pimpernel	e. nc. sc. w.
———— cærulea†	Blue Pimpernel	— — — w.
———— tenella	Bog Pimpernel	e. — — w.
Centunculus minimus	Bastard Pimpernel	e. nc. — w.
Glaux maritima	Sea Milk-wort	e. — — w.
Samolus Valerandi	Water Pimpernel	e. — — w.

ORDER LXII. PLUMBAGINACEÆ. The Thrift Tribe.

Statice Limonium	Sea Lavender	e. nc. — w.
———— reticulata†	Matted Thrift	— nc. — w.
———— spathulata	Upright-spiked Thrift	— nc. — w.
Armeria maritima	Sea Gilliflower	— nc. — w.

ORDER LXIII. PLANTAGINACEÆ. The Plantain Tribe.

Plantago Coronopus	Buck's-horn Plantain	e. nc. sc. w.
———— maritima	Sea-side Plantain	e. nc. — w.
———— lanceolata	Ribwort Plantain	e. nc. sc. w.
———— media	Hoary Plantain	e. nc. sc. w.
———— major	Greater Plantain	e. nc. sc. w.
Littorella lacustris	Shore-weed	e. nc. — —

ORDER LXIV. AMARANTHACEÆ. *The Amaranth Tribe.*ORDER LXV. CHENOPODIACEÆ. The Goose-foot Tribe.

Suaeda fruticosa	Shrubby Sea Blite	— nc. — w.
-------------------------	--------------------------	------------

Suaeda maritima	Annual Sea Blite	e. — — w.
Salsola Kali	Prickly Saltwort	e. — — w.
Chenopodium olidum	Stinking Goosefoot	e. nc. — w.
———— polyspermum	Many-seeded Goosefoot	— — — w.
———— urbicum	Upright Goosefoot... ..	e. nc. — w.
———— album	White Goosefoot	e. nc. sc. w.
———— ficifolium	Fig-leaved Goosefoot	e. — — —
———— murale	Nettle-leaved Goosefoot	e. nc. sc. w.
———— hybridum	Maple-leaved Goosefoot	e. — — w.
———— rubrum	Red Goosefoot	e. nc. sc. w.
———— botryoides	Many-spiked Goosefoot	e. — — w.
———— glaucum	Oak-leaved Goosefoot	— — — w.
———— Bonus-Henricus	Good King Henry	e. nc. sc. w.
Beta maritima	Sea-Beet	e. — — w.
Salicornia herbacea	Jointed Glasswort	e. — — w.
———— procumbens †	Procumbent Glasswort	e. — — w.
———— radicans	Creeping Glasswort	— nc. — w.
Atriplex littoralis	Grass-leaved Sea Orache	e. — — w.
———— angustifolia	Narrow-leaved Sea Orache	e. nc. sc. w.
———— patula	Halbert-leaved Sea Orache	e. nc. sc. w.
———— laciniata	Frosted Sea Orache	e. — — w.
Obione pedunculata	Sea Purslane	e. — — w.
———— portulacoides	Stalked Sea Purslane	e. — — w.

ORDER LXVI. POLYGONACEÆ. The Dock Tribe.

Rumex maritimus	Golden Dock	e. — — w.
———— palustris	Marsh Dock	e. nc. sc. w.
———— acutus	Sharp Dock	e. nc. sc. w.
———— sanguinea	Bloody-veined Dock	e. — — w.
———— viridis †	Green-veined Dock	e. — — w.
———— pulcher	Fiddle Dock	e. — — w.
———— obtusifolius	Broad-leaved Dock	e. — — w.
———— crispus	Curled Dock	e. nc. sc. w.
———— aquaticus	Grainless Water Dock	— nc. sc. —
———— Hydrolapathum	Great Water Dock	e. nc. sc. w.
———— alpinus	Monks' Rhubarb	— nc. — —
———— Acetosa	Common Sorrel	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Acetosella	Sheep's Sorrel	e. nc. sc. w.
Polygonum Bistorta	Snakeweed	e. — sc. w.
———— amphibium	Amphibious Persicaria	e. — — w.
———— lapathifolium	Pale-flowered Persicaria	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Persicaria	Spotted Persicaria... ..	e. nc. sc. w.
———— Hydropiper	Water-pepper	e. nc. sc. w.
———— minus	Small Creeping Persicaria	e. nc. — w.
———— aviculare	Knot-grass	e. nc. sc. w.
———— maritimum	Sea Knot-grass	— — — w.
———— Convolvulus	Climbing Buck-wheat	e. nc. sc. w.
Fagopyrum esculentum	Buck-wheat	e. — — w.

ORDER LXVII. ELEGNACEÆ. The Oleaster Tribe.

Hippophæ rhamnoides	Sea Buckthorn	e. nc. — —
-----------------------------------	----------------------	------------

ORDER LXVIII. THYMELACEÆ. The Spurge-Laurel Tribe.

Daphne Mezereum	Common Mezereon	— — — w.
———— Laureola	Spurge-laurel	e. — sc. —

ORDER LXIX. SANTALACEÆ. The Sandal-wood Tribe.

Thesium linophyllum	Bastard Toad-flax	— — — w.
-----------------------------------	--------------------------	----------

ORDER LXX. ARISTOLOCHIACEÆ. The Birthwort Tribe.

Aristolochia Clematitis	Birthwort	— — sc. —
---------------------------------------	------------------	-----------

ORDER LXXI. EMPETRACEÆ. *The Crowberry Tribe.*ORDER LXXII. EUPHORBIACEÆ. The Spurge Tribe.

Buxus sempervivens...	...	Common Box-tree...	...	e.	—	—	—
Euphorbia Helioscopia	...	Sun Spurge	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— amygdaloides	...	Wood Spurge	...	e.	—	—	w.
— Peplus	...	Petty Spurge	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— exigua	...	Dwarf Spurge	...	e.	—	—	—
— Lathyris	...	Caper Spurge	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
Mercurialis perennis...	...	Dog's Mercury	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— annua	...	Annual Mercury	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER LXXIII. CERATOPHYLLACEÆ. The Hornwort Tribe.

Ceratophyllum demersum...	...	Common Hornwort	...	e.	—	—	w.
— submersum	...	Unarmed Hornwort	...	e.	—	—	—

ORDER LXXIV. CALLITRICHACEÆ. The Water-starwort Tribe.

Callitriche verna	...	Vernal Water-starwort	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
— platycarpa	...	Broad-fruited Water-starwort	...	—	—	sc.	—
— autumnalis	...	Autumnal Water-starwort...	...	—	—	—	w.

ORDER LXXV. URTICACEÆ. The Nettle Tribe.

Parietaria officinalis	...	Wall Pelletory	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Urtica pilulifera...	...	Roman Nettle	...	e.	—	—	—
— Dodartii†	...	Dodart's Nettle	...	—	—	sc.	—
— urens	...	Small Nettle	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— dioica	...	Great Nettle	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Humulus Lupulus	...	Common Hop	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER LXXVI. ULMACEÆ. The Elm Tribe.

Ulmus campestris	...	Common Small-leaved Elm	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
------------------	-----	-------------------------	-----	----	-----	-----	----

ORDER LXXVII. AMENTIFERÆ. The Willow Tribe.

Salix decipiens	...	White Welsh Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— fragilis	...	Crack Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— alba	...	White Willow	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
— vitellina	...	Golden Osier	...	e.	—	sc.	—
— undulata	...	Sharp-leaved Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— triandra	...	Long-leaved Willow	...	e.	—	sc.	—
— amygdalina	...	Almond-leaved Willow	...	—	nc.	—	—
— purpurea	...	Bitter Purple Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— Lambertiana	...	Boyton Willow	...	e.	nc.	—	—
— Helix...	...	Rose Willow	...	e.	—	—	w.
— Forbyana	...	Fine Basket Osier...	...	e.	—	—	w.
— viminalis	...	Common Osier	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— stipularis	...	Auricled Osier	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— cinerea	...	Gray Sallow	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
— aquatica	...	Water Sallow	...	e.	—	—	w.
— oleifolia	...	Olive-leaved Sallow	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
— aurita	...	Round-leaved Sallow	...	e.	—	—	—
— Caprea	...	Great Round-leaved Sallow	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— cotinifolia	...	Quince-leaved Sallow	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— nigricans	...	Dark-leaved Willow	...	—	—	—	w.
— hirta...	...	Hairy-branched Sallow	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— bicolor	...	Two-coloured Willow	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— Croweana	...	Crowean Willow	...	—	—	—	w.
— rosmarinifolia	...	Rosemary-leaved Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— repens	...	Creeping Silky Willow	...	—	nc.	—	w.
— fusca	...	Dwarf Silky Willow	...	e.	—	—	w.
— ascendens†	...	Upright Silky Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— prostrata†	...	Prostrate Silky Willow	...	—	—	—	w.
— foetida†	...	Fetid Silky Willow	...	e.	—	—	w.

Salix argentea†	Silvery Silky Willow	...	—	—	—	w.
— ambigua	Ambiguous Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— spathulata†	Spathulate Ambiguous Willow	...	e.	—	—	—
— hastata	Apple-leaved Willow	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
Populus alba	White Poplar	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— canescens	Gray Poplar	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— tremula	Aspen	...	e.	—	—	w.
— nigra	Black Poplar	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
Myrica Gale	Sweet Gale	...	e.	—	—	w.
Betula alba	Common Birch	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Alnus glutinosa	Common Alder	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Fagus sylvatica	Beech-tree	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Castanea vulgaris	Sweet Chestnut	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
Quercus Robur	Common British Oak	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sessiliflora†	Sessile-fruited Oak	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
Corylus Avellana	Hazel-nut	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Carpinus Betulus	Hornbeam	...	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER LXXVIII. CONIFERÆ. The Fir Tribe.

Taxus baccata	Common Yew	...	—	nc.	—	—
Pinus sylvestris†	Scotch Fir	...	—	—	sc.	w.

CLASS II.—MONOCOTYLEDONES.

ORDER LXXIX. TRILLIACEÆ. The Herb Paris Tribe.

Paris quadrifolia	Herb Paris	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
-------------------	-----	-----	------------	-----	---	-----	-----	---

ORDER LXXX. DIOSCOREACEÆ. The Yam Tribe.

Tamus communis	Black Bryony	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
----------------	-----	-----	--------------	-----	----	-----	-----	----

ORDER LXXXI. HYDROCHARIDACEÆ. The Frog-bit Tribe.

Hydrocharis Morsus-ranæ	Common Frog-bit	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Stratiotes aloides	Water Soldier	...	e.	—	—	w.
Anacharis Alsinastrum	Water Thyme	...	—	—	—	w.

ORDER LXXXII. ORCHIDACEÆ. The Orchis Tribe.

Orchis Morio	Green-winged Meadow Orchis	e.	—	—	w.
— mascula	Early Purple Orchis	e.	—	sc.	w.
— ustulata	Dwarf Dark-winged Orchis	—	—	—	w.
— maculata	Spotted Palmate Orchis	e.	—	sc.	w.
— latifolia	Marsh Orchis	e.	—	—	w.
— pyramidalis	Pyramid Orchis	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Gymnadenia conopsea	Fragrant Gymnadenia	e.	nc.	—	w.
Aceras anthropomorpha	Green Man-Orchis	—	—	sc.	w.
Habenaria viridis	Green Habenaria	e.	—	—	—
— bifolia	Smaller Butterfly Habenaria	e.	nc.	—	w.
— chlorantha	Butterfly Habenaria	e.	—	—	w.
Ophrys apifera	Bee-orchis	e.	—	sc.	w.
— muscifera	Fly-orchis	e.	—	sc.	w.
Herminium Monorchis	Musk-orchis	e.	—	—	—
Spiranthes autumnalis	Lady's Tresses	e.	—	—	w.
Listera ovata	Tway-blade	e.	—	—	w.
Neottia Nidus-avis	Common Bird's Nest	e.	—	—	—
Epipactis palustris	Marsh Helleborine	e.	nc.	—	w.
Malaxis paludosa	Bog-orchis	e.	nc.	—	—
Sturmia Looselii	Two-leaved Sturmia	—	nc.	sc.	—

ORDER LXXXIII. IRIDACEÆ. The Flag Tribe.

Iris Pseud-acorus	Yellow Flag	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— foetidissima	Gladdon	e.	nc.	—	—
Crocus vernus	Purple Spring Crocus	—	—	sc.	—

ORDER LXXXIV. AMARYLLIDACEÆ. The Daffodil Tribe.

Narcissus poeticus	Poetic Narcissus	e. nc.	—	—
— Pseudo-narcissus			Common Daffodil	e. nc.	sc.	w.
Galanthus nivalis	Snowdrop	—	—	w.

ORDER LXXXV. ASPARAGACEÆ. The Asparagus Tribe.

Asparagus officinalis	Wild Asparagus	e.	—	—
Convallaria majalis	Lily of the Valley	e. nc.	sc.	w.
Polygonatum multiflorum	Solomons' Seal	e.	—	sc.
Ruscus aculeatus	Butcher's Broom	e.	—	w.

ORDER LXXXVI. LILIACEÆ. The Lily Tribe.

Tulipa sylvestris	Wild Tulip	e.	—	sc.
Fritillaria Meleagris	Common Fritillary	—	nc.	—
Ornithogalum umbellatum			Star of Bethlehem	e.	—	sc.
— nutans			Drooping Star of Bethlehem			—	—	w.
Allium vineale	Crow Garlic	—	—	sc.
— oleraceum	Field Garlic	—	—	w.
— ursinum	Ramsons	e.	—	w.
Endymion nutans	English Blue-bell	e. nc.	sc.	w.
Muscari racemosum	Grape Hyacinth	—	nc.	—

ORDER LXXXVII. COLCHICACEÆ. *The Meadow Saffron Tribe.*ORDER LXXXVIII. ERIOCAULACEÆ. *The Pipe-wort Tribe.*ORDER LXXXIX. JUNCACEÆ. The Rush Tribe.

Narthecium ossifragum	Bog Asphodel	—	—	w.
Juncus maritimus	Lesser sharp Sea Rush	e. nc.	—	w.
— acutus	Great sharp Sea Rush	—	nc.	w.
— effusus	Soft Rush	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— conglomeratus	Common Rush	e. nc.	—	w.
— glaucus	Hard Rush	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— obtusiflorus	Blunt-flowered Jointed Rush	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— acutiflorus	Sharp-flowered Jointed Rush	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— lampocarpus	Shining-fruited Jointed Rush	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— uliginosus	Lesser Bog Jointed Rush	e. nc.	—	w.
— subverticillatus†	Whorl-headed Rush	—	—	w.
— squarrosus	Heath Rush	e. nc.	—	w.
— compressus	Round-fruited Rush	e.	—	w.
— cœnosus†	Mud Rush	e.	—	w.
— bufonius	Toad Rush	e.	—	w.
Luzula sylvatica	Great Hairy Wood Rush	e.	—	—
— pilosa	Hairy Wood Rush	e.	—	w.
— campestris	Field Wood Rush	e.	—	w.
— congesta	Many-headed Bog Wood Rush	e.	—	w.

ORDER XC. ALISMACEÆ. The Water Plantain Tribe.

Alisma Plantago	Greater Water Plantain	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— ranunculoides	Lesser Water Plantain	e. nc.	—	w.
Sagittaria sagittifolia	Common Arrow-head	e. nc.	sc.	w.
Butomus umbellatus	Flowering-rush	e. nc.	sc.	w.
Triglochin maritimum	Sea-side Arrow-grass	e.	—	w.
— palustre	Marsh Arrow-grass	e.	—	w.

ORDER XCI. TYPHACEÆ. The Bull-rush Tribe.

Typha latifolia	Great Reed-mace	e. nc.	sc.	w.
— angustifolia	Lesser Reed-mace	e.	—	sc.
Sparganium ramosum	Branched Reed-bur	e.	—	w.
— simplex	Upright Reed-bur	e.	—	w.
— natans	Floating Reed-bur	e. nc.	—	—

ORDER XCII. ARACEÆ. The Arum Tribe.

Acorus Calamus	Sweet Flag	e.	—	sc.	—
Arum maculatum	Cuckoo-pint	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER XCIII. LEMNACEÆ. The Duckweed Tribe.

Lemna trisulca	Ivy-leaved Duckweed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— minor	Lesser Duckweed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— polyrhiza	Greater Duckweed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— gibba	Gibbous Duckweed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ORDER XCIV. POTAMOGETONACEÆ. The Pond-weed Tribe.

Potamogeton natans	Broad-leaved Pond-weed	e.	—	—	w.
— plantagineus	Plantain-leaved Pond-weed	—	—	sc.	—
— rufescens	Reddish Pond-weed	—	—	sc.	—
— heterophyllum	Various-leaved Pond-weed	—	—	sc.	—
— lucens	Shining Pond-weed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— prælongus	Long-stalked Pond-weed	e.	—	—	—
— perfoliatus	Perfoliate Pond-weed	e.	nc.	—	w.
— crispus	Curled Pond-weed	e.	—	—	w.
— acutifolius	Sharp-leaved Pond-weed	—	—	nc.	—
— gramineus	Grassy Pond-weed	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— compressus	Compressed Small Pond-weed	e.	—	—	—
— pusillus	Small Pond-weed	e.	—	sc.	w.
— trichoides	Hair-like Pond-weed	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— pectinatus	Fennel-leaved Pond-weed	e.	—	—	w.
— densus	Opposite-leaved Pond-weed	e.	—	—	w.
Ruppia maritima	Tassel Pond-weed	e.	—	—	w.
Zannichellia palustris	Horned Pond-weed	e.	—	—	w.

ORDER XCV. NAJADACEÆ. The Grass-wrack Tribe.

Zostera marina	Grass-wrack	e.	—	—	w.
----------------	-----	-----	-------------	-----	-----	----	---	---	----

ORDER XCVI. CYPERACEÆ. The Sedge Tribe.

Schoenus nigricans	Bog-rush	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Cladium Mariscus	Common Sedge	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Rhynchospora alba	White Beak-rush	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Eleocharis palustris	Creeping Spike-rush	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— multicaulis	Many-stalked Spike-rush	e.	nc.	—	w.
— acicularis	Least Spike-rush	e.	—	—	—
Scirpus maritimus	Salt-marsh Club-rush	e.	—	—	w.
— triqueter	Triangular Club-rush	e.	—	—	—
— lacustris	Lake Club-rush	e.	—	—	w.
— glaucus	Glaucous Club-rush	—	nc.	—	w.
— cæspitosus	Scaly-headed Club-rush	e.	—	—	w.
— pauciflorus	Chocolate-headed Club-rush	e.	—	—	—
— fluitans	Floating Club-rush	e.	nc.	—	w.
— setaceus	Bristle-stalked Club-rush	e.	nc.	—	w.
Blysmus compressus	Broad-leaved Blysmus	e.	—	sc.	—
Eriophorum vaginatum	Hair's-tail Cotton-grass	—	—	—	w.
— angustifolium	Common Cotton-grass	e.	—	—	w.
— polystachion	Broad-leaved Cotton-grass	—	—	—	w.
Carex dioica	Creeping separate-headed Carex	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— pulicaris	Flea Carex	e.	—	sc.	w.
— divisa	Bracteated Marsh Carex	e.	nc.	—	w.
— intermedia	Soft-brown Carex	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— arenaria	Sea Carex	e.	—	—	w.
— vulpina	Great Carex	e.	—	sc.	w.
— muricata	Great prickly Carex	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— divulsa	Gray Carex	e.	—	sc.	w.
— teretiuscula	Lesser panicled Carex	e.	nc.	—	w.

Carex paradoxa ...	Paradoxical Carex ...	e. — —
— paniculata ...	Great panicled Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— axillaris ...	Axillary clustered Carex ...	e. — sc. —
— remota ...	Remote Carex ...	e. — — w.
— stellulata ...	Little prickly Carex ...	e. — sc. w.
— curta ...	White Carex ...	e. — — w.
— ovalis ...	Oval-spiked Carex ...	e. — sc. w.
— stricta ...	Straight-leaved Carex ...	e. — sc. w.
— acuta ...	Slender-spiked Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— cæspitosa ...	Tufted Bog-carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— panicea ...	Pink-leaved Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— limosa ...	Mud Carex ...	e. nc. — w.
— strigosa ...	Loose pendulous Carex ...	e. — — —
— pendula ...	Great pendulous Carex ...	— nc. — —
— præcox ...	Vernal Carex ...	e. — — w.
— pilulifera ...	Round-headed Carex ...	e. — — w.
— recurva ...	Glaucous Heath Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— flava ...	Yellow Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— Æderi ...	Æderian Carex ...	e. — — w.
— extensa ...	Long bracteated Carex ...	e. nc. — —
— fulva ...	Tawny Carex ...	— — sc. —
— distans ...	Loose Carex ...	e. — — w.
— binervis ...	Green-ribbed Carex ...	e. nc. — w.
— sylvatica ...	Pendulous Wood Carex ...	— nc. sc. w.
— Pseudo-cyperus ...	Cyperus-like Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— filiformis ...	Slender-leaved Carex ...	e. — sc. w.
— hirta ...	Hairy Carex ...	e. — — w.
— ampullacea ...	Slender-beaked Bottle-carex	e. nc. sc. w.
— vesicaria ...	Short-spiked Bladder Carex	— — — w.
— paludosa ...	Lesser Common Carex ...	e. — sc. w.
— riparia ...	Great Common Carex ...	e. nc. sc. w.

ORDER XCVII. GRAMINEÆ. The Grass Tribe.

Digitaria sanguinalis ...	Hairy Finger-grass ...	— — sc. w.
— humifusa ...	Glabrous Finger-grass ...	e. — — —
Setaria viridis ...	Green Bristle-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— verticillata ...	Rough Bristle-grass ...	— nc. sc. —
Phalaris canariensis ...	True Canary-grass... ..	e. nc. sc. —
— arundinacea ...	Reed Canary-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Anthoxanthum odoratum ...	Vernal-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Phleum Boehmeri ...	Cat's-tail Canary-grass ...	— — — w.
— arenarium ...	Sea Canary-grass ...	e. — — w.
— pratense ...	Timothy-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Alopecurus pratensis ...	Meadow Fox-tail-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— geniculatus ...	Floating Fox-tail-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— fulvus ...	Orange-spike Fox-tail-grass	e. — sc. —
— bulbosus ...	Tuberous Fox-tail-grass ...	e. — — —
— agrestis ...	Slender Fox-tail-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Nardus stricta ...	Mat-grass ...	e. nc. — w.
Milium effusum ...	Millet-grass ...	e. — — —
Phragmites communis ...	Common Reed ...	e. nc. sc. w.
Psamma arenaria ...	Common Sea Reed ...	e. — — w.
Calamagrostis lanceolata ...	Purple-flowered Small-reed	— — sc. w.
— Epigejos ...	Wood Small-reed ...	e. — sc. w.
Apera spica-venti ...	Silky Wind-grass ...	e. nc. — w.
— interrupta ...	Interrupted Wind-grass ...	e. — — —
Agrostis canina ...	Brown Bent-grass... ..	e. nc. sc. w.
— vulgaris ...	Fine Bent-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.
— alba ...	Marsh Bent-grass ...	e. nc. sc. w.

Polypogon monspeliensis ...	Annual Beard-grass	...	—	nc.	—	—
— littoralis	Perennial Beard-grass	...	—	nc.	—	—
Gastridium lendigerum ...	Awned Nit-grass	...	e.	nc.	—	—
Holcus lanatus	Meadow Soft-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— mollis	Creeping Soft-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Corynephorus canescens ...	Gray Hair-grass	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Aira cæspitosa	Turfy Hair-grass	...	—	nc.	—	w.
— flexuosa	Waved Hair-grass...	...	—	nc.	—	—
— caryophyllea	Silvery Hair-grass...	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— præcox	Early Hair-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
Trisetum flavescens	Yellow Oat-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Avena fatua	Wild Oat	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— pratensis	Narrow-leaved Oat-grass	...	—	—	—	w.
— pubescens	Downy Oat-grass	...	—	nc.	—	—
Arrhenatherum avenaceum	Oat-like-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Triodia decumbens	Decumbent Heath-grass	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Koeleria cristata	Crested Hair-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
Melica uniflora	Wood Melic-grass	...	—	nc.	sc.	w.
Molinia cœrulea	Purple Melic-grass...	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Poa annua	Annual Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— bulbosa	Bulbous Meadow-grass	...	e.	—	—	—
— nemoralis	Wood Meadow-grass	...	—	—	sc.	—
— trivialis	Roughish Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— pratensis	Smooth-stalked Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— compressa	Flat-stemmed Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Glyceria aquatica	Reed Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— fluitans	Floating Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Sclerochloa maritima ...	Creeping Sea Meadow-grass	...	e.	—	—	—
— distans	Reflexed Meadow-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
— procumbens	Procumbent Sea Meadow-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
— rigida	Hard Meadow-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— loliacea	Dwarf Sea Wheat-grass	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Briza media	Common Quaking-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Catabrosa aquatica	Water Whorl-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Cynosurus cristatus	Crested Dog's-tail-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Dactylis glomerata	Rough Cock's-foot-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Festuca bromoides	Barren Fescue-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
— Myurus	Wall Fescue-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
— ovina	Sheep's Fescue-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
— duriuscula †	Hard Fescue-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— rubra	Creeping Fescue-grass	...	e.	—	—	—
— sylvatica	Wood Fescue-grass	...	—	—	—	w.
— gigantea	Gigantic Fescue-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— triflora †	Three-flowered Fescue-grass	...	—	—	sc.	—
— elatior	Tall Fescue-grass	...	—	—	—	w.
— pratensis	Meadow Fescue-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— loliacea †	Spiked Fescue-grass	...	e.	—	—	w.
Bromus erectus	Upright Brome-grass	...	—	nc.	—	—
— asper	Hairy Wood Brome-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— sterilis	Barren Brome-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Serrafalcus secalinus	Smooth Rye Brome-grass	...	e.	—	sc.	w.
— velutinus †	Downy Rye Brome-grass	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— racemosus	Smooth Brome-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— mollis	Soft Brome-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— arvensis	Taper Field Brome-grass	...	e.	nc.	—	—
Brachypodium sylvaticum	Slender False Brome-grass	...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— pinnatum	Heath False Brome-grass	...	e.	—	—	—
Triticum caninum	Fibrous-rooted Wheat-grass	...	—	—	—	w.

Triticum repens	Couch-grass	e. nc. sc. w.
— juncum	Sea Rushy Wheat-grass ...	e. — — w.
Elymus arenarius	Upright Sea Lyme-grass ...	e. nc. — w.
Hordeum pratense	Meadow Barley	e. nc. sc. w.
— murinum	Wall Barley	e. nc. sc. w.
— maritimum	Sea-side Barley	e. — — w.
Lepturus incurvatus	Sea Hard-grass	e. — — w.
Lolium perenne	Rye-grass	e. nc. sc. w.
— temulentum	Bearded Darnel	e. — — —
— arvense	Short-awned Annual Darnel	e. — — —

II.—CRYPTOGAMEÆ, OR FLOWERLESS PLANTS.

CLASS III.—ACOTYLEDONES.

ORDER I. FILICES. Ferns.

Polypodium vulgare	Common Polypody	e. nc. sc. w.
Lastræa Thelypteris	Marsh Shield-fern	e. nc. — w.
— Oreopteris	Heath Shield-fern	e. nc. — w.
— Filix-mas	Male Shield-fern	e. nc. — w.
— cristata	Crested Shield-fern	e. nc. — w.
— uliginosa	Bog Shield-fern	— — — w.
— spinulosa	Prickly-toothed Shield-fern	e. nc. — w.
— dilatata	Broad Sharp-toothed Shield-fn.	e. — sc. w.
Polystichum aculeatum	Prickly Shield-fern	— nc. sc. w.
— lobatum †	Close-leaved Prickly Shield-fn.	e. nc. sc. w.
— angulare	Angular-ld. Prickly Shield-fern	e. nc. — —
Cystopteris fragilis	Brittle Bladder-fern	e. — — —
Athyrium Filix-femina	Female Spleenwort	e. nc. — w.
Asplenium Adiantum-nigrum ..	Black-stalked Spleenwort	e. nc. — w.
— Trichomanes	Wall Spleenwort	e. nc. sc. w.
— Ruta muraria	Wall-rue Spleenwort	e. nc. sc. w.
Scolopendrium vulgare	Common Hart's-tongue	e. nc. — w.
Ceterach officinarum	Scaly Spleenwort	— nc. — —
Blechnum boreale	Northern Hard-fern	e. — — w.
Pteris aquilina	Common Brake	e. nc. sc. w.
Osmunda regalis	Flowering-fern	e. — — w.
Botrichium lunaria	Common Moon-wort	e. nc. — —
Ophioglossum vulgatum	Adder's-tongue	e. nc. sc. —
Lycopodium clavatum	Common Club-moss	— — — w.
— Selago	Fir Club-moss	— nc. — —
— inundatum	Marsh Club-moss	e. nc. — —
Pilularia globulifera	Creeping Pill-wort... ..	e. — — —
Equisetum arvense	Corn Horse-tail	e. nc. sc. w.
— Telmateia	Great Water Horse-tail ...	e. — — —
— sylvaticum	Branched Wood Horse-tail	— nc. sc. w.
— limosum	Smooth Naked Horse-tail	e. nc. sc. w.
— palustre	Marsh Horse-tail	e. nc. sc. w.
— hyemale	Rough Horse-tail	e. nc. — w.

ORDER II. MUSCI. Mosses.

Phascum serratum	Serrated Earth-moss	e. — — —
— crispum	Curly-leaved Earth-moss ...	— — sc. —
— subulatum	Awl-leaved Earth-moss	e. — — —
— axillare	Lateral-fruited Earth-moss	e. — sc. —
— patens	Spreading Earth-moss	e. — — —
— muticum	Common Dwarf Earth-moss	e. — — —
— cuspidatum	Cuspidate Earth-moss	e. — sc. —

Phascum piliferum †	Piliferous Earth-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— rectum	Straight-stalked Earth-moss	—	—	sc.	—
Sphagnum obtusifolium	Blunt-leaved Bog-moss ...	e.	nc.	—	w.
— squarrosus	Spreading-leaved Bog-moss	e.	nc.	—	—
— acutifolium	Slender Bog-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— cuspidatum ..	Long-leaved Floating Bog-moss	e.	—	—	—
Gymnostomum viridissimum	Green-tufted Beardless-moss	e.	—	—	—
— ovatum	Hairy-leaved Beardless-moss	e.	—	sc.	—
— truncatulum	Lit. Blunt-fruited Beardless-m.	e.	—	sc.	—
— intermedium†	Larger B. fruited Beardless-m.	e.	—	sc.	—
— Heimii	Long-stalked Beardless-moss	e.	—	—	—
— conicum	Blunt-lidded Beardless-moss	e.	—	—	—
— fasciculare...	Blunt Pear-shaped Beardless-m.	e.	—	sc.	—
— pyriforme ...	Sharp Pear-shaped Beardless-m.	e.	—	sc.	—
Splachnum ampullaceum ...	Flagon-fruited Splachnum	e.	nc.	sc.	—
Encalypta vulgaris	Common Extinguisher-moss	e.	—	—	—
Weissia Starkeana	Starkean Weissia	e.	—	—	—
— lanceolata	Lance-leaved Weissia ...	—	—	sc.	—
— cirrata	Curl-leaved Weissia ...	e.	—	—	—
— curvirostra	Curved-beaked Weissia ...	e.	—	—	—
— controversa	Green-cushioned Weissia...	e.	—	—	—
Grimmia apocarpa	Sessile Grimmia	e.	—	—	—
— pulvinata	Gray-cushioned Grimmia...	e.	—	—	—
Didymodon purpureus	Purple Didymodon ...	e.	—	—	w.
Trichostomum canescens ...	Hoary Fringe-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
Dicranum bryoides	Lesser Pinnated-leaved Fork-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— adiantoides	Adiantum-like Fork-moss	e.	nc.	—	—
— taxifolium	Yew-leaved Fork-moss ...	—	—	sc.	—
— glaucum	White Fork-moss	—	—	sc.	—
— cerviculatum	Red-necked Fork-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— flexuosum	Zigzag Fork-moss	e.	—	—	—
— nigro-viride† ...	Dark-green Zigzag Fork-moss	e.	—	—	—
— crispum	Curl-leaved Fork-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— scoparium	Broom Fork-moss	e.	—	—	—
— varium	Variable Fork-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— heteromallum ...	Silky-leaved Fork-moss ...	e.	—	—	w.
Tortula enervis	Nerveless Rigid Screw-moss	e.	—	—	—
— rigida	Aloe-like Screw-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— revoluta	Revolute Screw-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— muralis	Wall Screw-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— ruralis	Great Hairy Screw-moss ...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— subulata	Awl-shaped Screw-moss ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— unguiculata ...	Bird's-claw Screw-moss ...	e.	—	sc.	w.
— cuneifolia	Wedge-shaped Screw-moss	e.	—	—	—
— fallax	Fallacious Screw-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
Polytrichum undulatum ...	Undulated Hair-moss ...	e.	—	—	w.
— piliferum	Bristle-pointed Hair-moss	e.	—	—	w.
— juniperinum ...	Juniper-leaved Hair-moss	—	nc.	—	—
— commune	Common Hair-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— attenuatum† ...	Slender Hair-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— urnigerum	Urn-headed Hair-moss ...	e.	—	—	—
— aloides	Dwarf Long-headed Hair-moss	e.	—	—	w.
— Dicksoni†	Dwarf Short-stalked Hair-moss	e.	—	—	—
— nanum	Dwarf Round-headed Hair-m.	e.	nc.	sc.	—
Funaria hygrometrica ...	Hygrometric Cord-moss ...	e.	nc.	sc.	—
Orthotrichum cupulatum ...	Single-fringed Bristle-moss	e.	—	sc.	—
— affine	Pale Straight-leaved Bristle-m.	e.	—	—	—
— diaphanum ...	Diaphanous pointed Bristle-m.	e.	—	—	—

Orthotrichum striatum ...	Common Bristle-moss ...	e. nc. sc. —
———— Hutchinsia ...	Miss Hutchins' Bristle-moss	e. — — —
———— crispum ...	Curled Bristle-moss ...	e. — — w.
Bryum androgynum ...	Narrow-leaved Thread-moss	e. — — —
———— palustre ...	Marsh Thread-moss ...	e. nc. — w.
———— dealbatum ...	Pale-leaved Thread-moss ...	— nc. — —
———— carneum ...	Soft-leaved Thread-moss ...	e. — — —
———— argenteum ...	Silvery Thread-moss ...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— capillare ...	Greater Matted Thread-moss	e. nc. sc. —
———— cæspitium ...	Lesser Matted Thread-moss	e. nc. sc. w.
———— minus† ...	Two-coloured Thread-moss	e. — — —
———— turbinatum ...	Turbinate Thread-moss ...	e. — — —
———— nutans ...	Silky Pendulous Thread-moss	e. nc. sc. —
———— ventricosum ...	Swelling Bog Thread-moss	e. nc. — —
———— roseum ...	Rosaceous Thyme Thread-moss	e. — — —
———— ligulatum ...	Long-leaved Thyme Thd.-moss	e. — sc. —
———— punctatum ...	Dotted Thyme Thread-moss	e. — — —
———— hornum ...	Swan's-neck Thyme Thd.-moss	e. — sc. —
———— cuspidatum ...	Pointed-leaved Thyme Th.-moss	e. nc. sc. —
Bartramia pomiformis ...	Common Apple-moss ...	e. — — —
———— fontana ...	Fountain Apple-moss ...	e. nc. — —
Buxbaumia aphylla ...	Leafless Buxbaumia ...	e. — — —
Leucodon sciurioides ...	Squirrel-tail Leucodon ...	e. — sc. —
Anomodon curtispiculum ...	Pendulous Anomodon ...	e. nc. — —
———— viticulosum ...	Cylindrical Anomodon ...	e. — — —
Daltonia heteromalla ...	Lateral Daltonia ...	e. — sc. —
Fontinalis antipyretica ...	Greater Water-moss ...	e. nc. sc. —
Hookeria lucens ...	Shining Hookeria ...	— nc. — —
Hypnum trichomanoides ...	Blunt Fern-like Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— complanatum ...	Flat Feather-moss ...	e. nc. sc. w.
———— riparium ...	Short beaked Water Feather-m.	e. — — —
———— denticulatum ...	Sharp Fern-like Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— tenellum ...	Tender Awl-leaved Feather-m.	e. nc. sc. —
———— serpens ...	Creeping White-veiled Feather-m.e	— — — —
———— stramineum ...	Straw-like Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— purum ...	Neat Meadow Feather-moss	e. — nc. w.
———— piliferum ...	Hair-pointed Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— plumosum ...	Rusty Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— sericeum ...	Silky Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— lutescens ...	Rough-stalked Yellow Feather-m.	e. — — w.
———— nitens ...	Shining Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— albicans ...	Whitish Feather-moss ...	e. — — w.
———— alopecurum ...	Fox-tail Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— dendroides ...	Tree-like Feather-moss ...	e. nc. — —
———— curvatum ...	Curved Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— splendens ...	Glittering Feather-moss ...	e. nc. — —
———— proliferum ...	Proliferous Feather-moss	e. — sc. w.
———— prælongum ...	Very long Feather-moss	e. nc. sc. —
———— rutabulum ...	Com. Rough-stalked Feather-m.	e. nc. sc. w.
———— velutinum ...	Velvet Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— ruseifolium ...	Long-beaked Water Feather-m.	e. — — —
———— striatum ...	Com. Striated Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— confertum ...	Clustered Feather-moss ...	e. — — —
———— cuspidatum ...	Pointed Bog Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— cordifolium ...	Heart-leaved Feather-moss	e. nc. — —
———— polymorphum ...	Variable-leaved Feather-moss	e. — — —
———— stellatum ...	Yellow Starry Feather-moss	e. nc. sc. —
———— triquetrum ...	Triquetrous Feather-moss	e. nc. sc. w.

Hypnum squarrosum	Drooping-leaved Feather-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— filicinum	Lesser Golden Fern Feather-m.	e.	—	—	—
— palustre	Marsh Feather-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— aduncum	Claw-leaved Feather-moss	e.	—	—	—
— uncinatum	Sickle-leaved Feather-moss	e.	—	—	—
— rugulosum	Wrinkle-leaved Feather-moss	—	—	sc.	—
— scorpioides	Scorpion Feather-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— cupressiforme	Cypress-leaved Feather-moss	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— molluscum	Plumy-crested Feather-moss	e.	—	sc.	—

ORDER III. HEPATICÆ. Liverworts.

Riccia crystallina	Chrystalline Riccia	e.	—	sc.	—
— fluitans	Narrow Floating Riccia	e.	—	—	—
— natans	Broad Floating Riccia	—	nc.	—	—
Sphærocarpus terrestris	Ground Sphærocarpus	e.	—	sc.	—
Marchantia polymorpha	Polymorphous Marchantia	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— conica	Conical Marchantia	—	nc.	sc.	—
— hemisphærica	Hemispherical Marchantia	—	nc.	sc.	—
Jungermannia asplenioides	Spleenwort Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— lanceolata	Lance-leaved Jungermannia	—	nc.	—	—
— Sphagni	Bog-moss Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— crenulata	Crenulated Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— excisa	Small Knotched-leaved Jungerm.	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— bicuspidata	Forked Jungermannia	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— byssacea	Byssus-like Jungermannia	—	nc.	—	—
— connivens	Forceipated Jungermannia	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— pusilla	Dwarf Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— nemorosa	Wood Jungermannia	—	nc.	—	—
— undulata	Wavy-leaved Juggermannia	e.	—	—	—
— resupinata	Curled Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— complanata	Flat Jungermannia	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— anomala	Various-leaved Jungermannia	—	nc.	—	—
— scalaris	Ladder Jungermannia	e.	—	—	w.
— viticulosa	Straggling Flat Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— Trichomanis	Fern Jungermannia	e.	nc.	—	—
— bidentata	Triangular-sheathed Jungerm.	e.	nc.	—	—
— obtusata†	Blunt Tri.-sheathed Jungerm.	—	nc.	—	—
— Francisci	Holt Jungermannia	—	nc.	—	—
— reptans	Creeping Jungermannia	—	nc.	—	—
— setacea	Bristly Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— platyphylla...	Flat-leaved Jungermannia	e.	—	—	w.
— dilatata	Dilated Jungermannia	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— Tamarisci	Tamarisk Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— pinguis	Slippery Jungermannia	e.	nc.	sc.	—
— multifida	Many-lobed Jungermannia	e.	—	—	—
— epiphylla	Slippery Jungermannia	—	—	—	w.

ORDER IV. LICHENES. Lichens.

Bæomyces rufus...	Brown Mushroom Bæomyces	e.	—	—	—
Calicium sessile	Parasitic Sessile Calicium	e.	—	—	—
— microcephalum	Small-headed Short-Stalked C.	e.	—	—	—
— tympanellum	Sooty-fruited Calicium	e.	—	—	—
— ferrugineum	Rusty Calicium	—	nc.	—	—
— clavellum	Gray-crusted Calicium	e.	—	—	—
— hyperellum	Bright yellow Calicium	e.	nc.	—	—
— chrysocephalum	Gold-headed Calicium	—	nc.	—	—
— phæocephalum	Brown-headed Calicium	—	—	sc.	—
— curtum	Short-stalked Calicium	e.	—	—	w.
— debile	Slender Calicium	e.	—	—	—

Calicium sphærocephalum	Round-headed Calicium	...	nc.	—	—
Opegrapha lyncea ...	Gray-speckled Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
Opegrapha epipasta ...	Small Dotted Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
— rubella ...	Reddish Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
— rufescens ...	Rusty Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
— atra ...	Black Opegrapha	...	e.	—	w.
— vulgata ...	Common Opegrapha	...	e.	—	w.
— betulina ...	Birch-bark Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
— varia ...	Variable Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
— saxatilis ...	Stone Opegrapha	...	e.	—	—
— scripta ...	Black-letter Opegrapha	...	e.	—	w.
Verrucaria nitida ...	Wax-like Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— punctiformis ...	Brownish Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— olivacea ...	Olive-crusted Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— gemmata ...	Large-fruited Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— biformis ...	Deceptive Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— aphanes ...	Inconspicuous Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— leucocephala ...	White-fruited Bark Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— viridula ...	Mosaic Rock Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— muralis ...	Wall Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— nigrescens ...	Dark-stained Rock Verrucaria	...	e.	—	—
— epigæa ...	Greenish Ground-lichen	...	nc.	sc.	—
Endocarpon Hedwigii ...	Hedwigian Endocarpon	...	nc.	—	—
— sorediatum ...	Powdery-speckled Endocarpon	...	—	sc.	—
— fuscellum ...	Dark-gray Endocarpon	...	e.	nc.	—
Pertusaria communis ...	Common Pertusaria	...	e.	—	w.
— fallax ...	Doubtful Pertusaria	...	e.	—	—
Lepraria viridis ...	Common Green Lepraria	...	e.	—	—
— murorum ...	Wall Lepraria	...	e.	—	—
— ochracea ...	Ochry Lepraria	...	e.	—	—
— flava ...	Bright-yellow Lepraria	...	e.	—	w.
— alba ...	White Lepraria	...	e.	—	w.
— virescens ...	Dull-green Lepraria	...	e.	nc.	—
— nigra ...	Black Lepraria	...	e.	—	w.
Spiloma microscopicum ...	Microscopic Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— murale ...	Wall Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— dispersum ...	Dispersed Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— nigrum ...	Black Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— versicolor † ...	Variegated Spiloma	...	e.	nc.	—
— erubescens † ...	Reddish Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— fuliginosum ...	Sooty-fruited Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— decolorans ...	Staining Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— punctatum ...	Dotted Spiloma	...	e.	—	—
— gregarium ...	Red Clustered Spiloma	...	e.	—	w.
Variolaria Vitiligo ...	Leprous Variolaria	...	e.	—	—
— griseo-virens ...	Grayish-green Variolaria	...	nc.	—	—
— conspurecata ...	Dusty Variolaria	...	e.	nc.	sc.
— discoidea ...	Inspid Zoned Variolaria	...	e.	—	w.
— faginea ...	Bitter Zoned Variolaria	...	e.	—	w.
— aspergilla ...	Sprinkled Variolaria	...	e.	—	—
— argena ...	Silvery Variolaria	...	e.	—	—
— agelcea ...	Inelegant Variolaria	...	e.	—	—
Urceolaria scruposa ...	Common Urceolaria	...	e.	—	—
— calcareæa ...	Calcareous Urceolaria	...	e.	—	—
— cinerea ...	Gray Urceolaria	...	e.	—	—
— Acharii ...	Acharian Urceolaria	...	e.	—	—
— rufescens ...	Reddish Urceolaria	...	e.	—	—
Lecidea fusco-atra ...	Brownish-black Lecidea	...	nc.	sc.	—

Lecidea lapicida	Continuous-shielded Lecidea	e.	—	—	—
— parasema	Common Blk.-shielded Lecidea	e.	—	—	w.
Lecidea pinicola	Pine-bark Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— dubia	Doubtful Board Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— Griffithii	Griffithian Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— aromatica	Aromatic Lecidea ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— muscorum	Moss Lecidea ...	—	nc.	—	—
— scabrosa	Rugged-shielded Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— uliginosa	Earthy Marsh Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— abietina	Spruce-bark Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— albo-atra	Black and white Lecidea ...	e.	—	sc.	—
— saxicola †	...	Silvery-gray Lecidea ...	—	nc.	—	—
— quernea	Oak Lecidea ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— viridescens	Greenish Horny-tuberled Lecidea —	nc.	sc.	—	—
— sulphurea	Sulphureous Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— expallens	Pale Yellow-green Lecidea	e.	nc.	—	—
— quadricolor	Four-coloured Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— coronata	Crenate-shielded Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— escaroides †	...	Coralline-crusted Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— anomala	Tumid Brown-shielded Lecidea	e.	—	—	—
— effusa †	Spreading Green Lecidea ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— rupestris	Rock Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— vernalis	Vernal Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— pineti	Waxy-shielded Lecidea ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— icmadophila	Heath Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
— marmorea	Salmon-coloured Lecidea ...	—	nc.	—	—
— Ehrhartiana	Ehrhartian Lecidea ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— ulmicola	White and Yellow Lecidea	e.	—	—	—
— aurantiaca	Saffron-coloured Lecidea ...	e.	—	—	—
Lecanora atra	Black-shielded Lecanora ...	e.	—	—	w.
— exigua	Diminutive Blk.-shielded Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— coarctata	Contracted Lecanora ...	e.	—	—	—
— sophodes	Obscure Blk.-shielded Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— subfusca	Brown-shielded Lecanora ...	e.	—	—	w.
— cæsio-rufa	Gray and Red Lecanora ...	e.	—	—	—
— Hæmatomma	Blood-specked Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— cerina	Waxy Lecanora ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— varia	Variable-shielded Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— albella	Cream-coloured Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— tartarea Upsaliensis †	...	Upsal Lecanora ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— Turneri	Mealy-flesh-coloured Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— citrina	Lemon-coloured Wall Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
— vitellina	Yolk of Egg Lecanora	e.	—	—	—
Psora scalaris	Olive & Black Imbricated Psora	e.	—	—	—
Squamaria hypnorum	...	Spreading Ground Squamaria	e.	—	—	—
— candelaria	Yellow Candle Squamaria	e.	—	—	w.
— polycarpa †	...	Yellow Many-fruited Squamaria	e.	—	—	—
— murorum	Yellow Wall Squamaria	e.	—	—	w.
— cæsia	Gray-warted Squamaria ...	e.	—	—	—
— elæina	Orbicular Olive Squamaria	e.	nc.	sc.	—
Placodium canescens	...	Gray Tree Placodium ...	e.	—	—	—
Parmelia caperata	Wrinkled Sulphur Parmelia	e.	—	—	—
— Borreri	Borrerian Parmelia ...	e.	nc.	—	—
— saxatilis	Gray Stone Parmelia ...	e.	—	—	w.
— perlata	Pearly Parmelia ...	e.	—	—	—
— olivacea	Olive-coloured Parmelia	e.	—	—	—
— corrugata	Wrinkle-shielded Parmelia	—	—	sc.	—
— pulverulata	Green Powdery Parmelia	e.	—	—	w.

Parmelia pityrea	Scurfy Imbricated Parmelia	e.	—	sc.	—
— stellaris	Black-shielded Stellated Parmelia	e.	—	—	—
— cycloselis	Orbicular Dusky Parmelia	e.	—	sc.	—
— virella	Little Green Imbricated Parmelia	e.	—	—	—
— aleurites	Mealy Spreading Parmelia	e.	—	—	—
— parietina	Yellow Wall Parmelia	...	e.	—	w.
— physodes	Inflated Parmelia	...	e.	—	—
Collema cristatum	Crested Collema	...	e.	—	—
— palmatum	Palmated Collema	...	e.	—	—
— nigrescens	Bat's-wing Collema	...	e.	—	—
— crispum	Curled Collema	...	e.	—	—
— sinuatum	Sinuuated Collema	...	e.	—	—
— lacerum	Jagged Collema	...	e.	—	—
— subtile	Fine-spun Collema	...	e.	—	—
— tenuissimum	Fine-cut Collema	...	e.	nc.	sc.
— Schraderi	Schraderian Collema	...	e.	—	—
— muscicola	Moss Collema	...	e.	—	—
Peltidea canina	Canine Peltidea	...	e.	—	w.
— spuria	Imperfectly-veined Peltidea	...	e.	—	—
— rufescens	Dark-coloured Ground Peltidea	e.	—	—	w.
— polydactyla	Many-fingered Peltidea	...	e.	—	—
Cetraria juniperina	Golden Cetraria	...	e.	—	—
— sepincola	Fence Cetraria	...	e.	—	—
— glauca	Glaucous Cetraria	...	—	nc.	—
Borreria ciliaris	Large Ciliated Borreria	...	e.	—	—
— tenella	Lesser Ciliated Borreria	...	e.	—	—
— furfuracea	Branny Borreria	...	e.	—	—
Evernia prunastri	Ragged Hoary Evernia	...	e.	—	w.
Ramalina fraxinea	Ash Ramalina	...	e.	—	w.
— fastigiata	Fastigate Ramalina	...	e.	—	w.
— farinacea	Narrow Mealy Ramalina	...	e.	—	w.
— pollinaria	Broad-leaved Mealy Ramalina	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
Usnea florida	Flowery Usnea	...	e.	—	—
Cornicularia aculeata	Aculeated Cornicularia	...	e.	—	—
Isidium lutescens	Yellowish Isidium	...	e.	—	—
— coccodes	Granulated Isidium	...	e.	—	—
Cladonia uncialis	Short Perforated Cladonia	...	e.	—	w.
— rangiferina	Rein-deer Moss	...	e.	—	w.
— furcata	Forked Cladonia	...	e.	—	—
Scyphophorus amomæus	Brown Cup-lichen	...	—	sc.	—
— endivifolius	Endive-leaved Cup-lichen	...	e.	—	w.
— pyxidatus	Common Cup-lichen	...	e.	nc.	w.
— fimbriatus	Fringed Cup-lichen	...	e.	—	—
— radiatus	Radiated Cup-lichen	...	e.	nc.	—
— cornutus	Horny Cup-lichen	...	e.	—	—
— digitatus	Fingered Cup-lichen	...	—	—	w.
— cocciferus	Scarlet Cup-lichen	...	e.	—	w.
Pycnothelia Papillaria	Papillary Pycnothelia	...	e.	—	—

ORDER V. CHARACEÆ. Chara,

Chara translucens	Translucent Chara	...	e.	—	—
— flexilis	Flaccid Chara	...	e.	—	—
— nidifica	Clustered Chara	...	—	nc.	—
— prolifera	Proliferous Chara	...	—	nc.	—
— vulgaris	Common Chara	...	e.	—	w.
— hispida	Hispid Chara	...	e.	—	—

ORDER VI. ALGÆ. Sea-weeds.

Sargassum vulgare	Common Sargassum	...	e.	—	—
--------------------------	-----	-----	-------------------------	-----	----	---	---

Cystoseira ericoides	Heath-like Cystoseira ...	e. — — —
— granulata	Granulated Cystoseira ...	e. — — —
— barbata	Bearded Cystoseira ...	e. — — —
— fibrosa	Fibrous Cystoseira ...	e. — — —
Halidrys siliquosa	Podded Halidrys	e. nc. — w.
Fucus vesiculosus	Bladdered Fucus	e. nc. — w.
— ceranoides	Horned Fucus	e. — — —
— serratus	Serrated Fucus	e. — — w.
— nodosus	Knotted Fucus	e. — — w.
— caniculatus	Channelled Fucus	e. — — —
Himanthalia lorea	Strap-shaped Himanthalia	e. — — —
Laminaria saccharina	Sugary Laminaria	e. nc. — w.
— latifolia †	Broad-leaved Laminaria ...	e. — — —
— Phyllitis	Thin-leaved Laminaria ...	e. — — —
Desmarestia ligulata	Ligulate Desmarestia ...	e. — — —
Dichloria viridis	Green Dichloria	e. — — —
Sporochnus pedunculatus ...	Pedunculated Sporochnus	e. — — —
— villosus	Hairy Sporochnus	e. — — —
Chordaria flagelliformis ...	Common Sea Whip-cord ...	e. — — —
Chorda Filum	Common Sea Whip-lash ...	e. nc. — w.
Punctaria plantaginea	Plantain-leaved Punctaria	e. — — —
— latifolia	Broad-leaved Punctaria ...	e. nc. — —
Dictyota dichotoma	Dichotomous Dictyota ...	e. — — —
— atomaria	Sprinkled Dictyota	e. nc. — —
Cutleria multifida	Multifid Cutleria	e. — — —
Furcellaria fastigiata	Fastigate Furcellaria ...	e. — — w.
Polyides rotundus	Cylindrical Polyides	e. — — —
Delesseria sanguinea	Oak-leaved Delesseria ...	e. — — w.
— sinuosa	Sinuuous-leaved Delesseria	e. — — —
— Hypoglossum	Proliferous Delesseria ...	e. nc. — —
— ruscifolia	Ruscus-leaved Delesseria	e. nc. — —
Nitophyllum Gmelini	Marginal-fruited Nitophyllum	e. — — —
— laceratum	Lacerated Nitophyllum ...	e. — — w.
— uncinatum †	Hooked Nitophyllum	e. — — —
Rhodomenia bifida	Bifid Rhodomenia	e. — — —
— ciliata †	Bristly Rhodomenia	e. — — —
— laciniata	Lacinated Rhodomenia ...	e. — — w.
— Palmetta	Small Palmated Rhodomenia	e. — — —
— ciliata	Ciliated Rhodomenia	e. — — —
— palmata	Larger Palmated Rhodomenia	— — — w.
Plocamium coccineum	Scarlet Plocamium	e. nc. — w.
Rhodomela Lycopodioides ...	Club-moss Rhodomela ...	e. — — —
— subfusca	Brownish Rhodomela	e. nc. — —
— scorpioides	Scorpion's-tail Rhodomela	e. nc. — —
Bonnemaisonia asparagoides	Asparagus-like Bonnemaisonia	e. nc. — —
Laurencia pinnatifida	Pinnatifid Laurencia	e. nc. — —
— dasyphylla	Thick-leaved Laurencia ...	e. nc. — —
Chylocladia clavellosa	Clavellated Chylocladia ...	e. — — w.
— ovalis	Oval-leaved Chylocladia ...	e. — — —
— kaliformis	Salsola-like Chylocladia ...	e. — — —
— articulata	Articulated Chylocladia ...	e. — — —
Gigartina purpurescens	Purplish Gigartina	e. — — —
— confervoides	Conferva-like Gigartina ...	e. — — —
— plicata	Entangled Gigartina	e. nc. — —
Chondrus crispus	Curled Chondrus	e. — — w.
— membranifolius ...	Membranous-leaved Chondrus	e. — — —
Phyllophora rubens	Red Phyllophora	e. — — —
Gelidium corneum	Horny Gelidium	— nc. — —

Gelidium crinale	Crinite Horny Gelidium	—	nc.	—	—
Chaetospora Wiggii	Wigg's Chaetospora	...	e.	—	—
Halymenia ligulata	Strap-shaped Halymenia	...	e.	nc.	—
— furcellata	Forked Halymenia	...	e.	nc.	—
Porphyra laciniata	Lacinated Purple Laver	...	e.	—	w.
— vulgaris	Common Purple Laver	...	e.	—	—
Ulva latissima	Broad Green Laver	...	e.	—	w.
— Lactuca	Lettuce Green Laver	...	e.	—	—
— Linza	Ribband Green Laver	...	e.	—	—
Tetraspora lubrica	Lubricous Tetraspora	...	—	nc.	—
Enteromorpha Cornucopiæ	Cornucopia-like Enteromorpha	...	e.	—	—
— intestinalis	Intestinal Enteromorpha	...	e.	—	—
— compressa	Compressed Enteromorpha	...	e.	—	—
Bryopsis plumosa	Feathered Bryopsis	...	e.	nc.	—
Vaucheria dichotoma	Large Dichotomous Vaucheria	...	e.	—	—
— Dillwynii	Dillwyn's Vaucheria	...	e.	—	—
— terrestris	Ground Vaucheria	...	e.	—	—
— ornithocephala	Bird's-head Vaucheria	...	e.	—	—
— geminata	Twin-fruited Vaucheria	...	e.	—	—
— cæspitosa	Tufted Vaucheria	...	e.	—	—
Cladostephus verticillatus	Whorled Milfoil Cladostephus	...	e.	—	—
— spongiosus	Sponge-like Cladostephus	...	e.	—	—
Sphacelaria scoparia	Broom-like Sphacelaria	...	e.	—	—
— cirrhusa	Small Pinnate Sphacelaria	...	e.	—	—
— velutina	Velvet-like Sphacelaria	...	e.	—	—
Ectocarpus littoralis	Common Ectocarpus	...	e.	—	—
— siliculosus	Pod-fruited Ectocarpus	...	e.	—	—
— tomentosus	Prostrate Ectocarpus	...	e.	—	—
— Mertensii	Merten's Ectocarpus	...	e.	—	—
— brachiatus	Brachiate Ectocarpus	...	e.	nc.	—
Polysiphonia stricta	Straight Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	—
— urceolata	Pitcher-fruited Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	—
— atro-rubescens	Dark-red Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	—
— nigrescens	Dark Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	—
— furcellata	Forked Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	—
— fastigiata	Fastigiate Polysiphonia	...	—	—	w.
— elongata	Lobster-horn Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	w.
— byssoides	Byssoid Polysiphonia	...	e.	—	w.
Dasya coccinea	Scarlet Dasya	...	e.	—	w.
Ceramium rubrum	Red Ceramium	...	e.	—	w.
— diaphanum	Variegated Ceramium	...	e.	—	—
Griffithsia equisetifolia	Embricated Griffithsia	...	e.	—	—
— setacea	Setaceous Griffithsia	...	e.	—	—
Calithamnion Plumula ..	Pectinated Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— Turneri	Turner's Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— roseum	Rosy Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— tetricum	Rope-like Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— fasciculatum	Tufted Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— Borreri	Borrer's Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— thuyoides	Arbor-vitæ Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— Rothii	Roth's Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
— repens	Creeping Calithamnion	...	e.	—	—
Bulbochaete setigera	Setigerous Bulbochaete	...	e.	—	—
Conferva ericetorum	Moor Conferva	...	e.	—	—
— bombycina	Silky Conferva	...	e.	—	—
— zonata	Banded Conferva	...	e.	—	—
— rivularis	River Conferva	...	e.	—	—
— capillaris	Capillary Conferva	...	e.	nc.	—

Conferva Linum	Flax-like Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— crassa	Thick Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— tortuosa	Twisted Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
area	Harsh Verdigris Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
collabens	Flaccid Verdigris Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
Youngana	Young's Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— flacca	Small Flaccid Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— fucicola	Large Parasitic Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
scutulata	Target Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
flavescens	Yellowish-branched Conferva	...	e.	nc.	—	—
fracta	Broken-fruited Conferva	...	e.	nc.	—	—
flexuosa†	Green Zigzag-branched Conf.	...	e.	nc.	—	— glomerata	Green-clustered Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— pellucida	Pellucid Three-branched Conf.	...	e.	—	—	—
rupestris	Green Rock Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— albida	Whitish Cottony Conferva	...	e.	—	—	— lanosa	Woolly Green Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
arcta	Close Green Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
riparia	Entangled Shore Conferva	...	e.	—	—	—
Hydrodictyon utriculatum	Common Water-net	...	—	nc.	—	—
Mougeotia genuflexa...	Knee-bent Mougeotia	...	e.	—	—	—
Tyndaridea cruciata	Cross-like Tyndaridea	...	e.	—	—	—
pectinata	Comb-like Tyndaridea	...	e.	—	—	—
Zygnema nitidum	Shining Zygnema	...	e.	—	—	—
decimum	Two-spined Zygnema	...	e.	—	—	—
quinum	One-spined Zygnema	...	e.	—	—	—
Calothrix confervicola	Glaucous Parasitical Calothrix	...	e.	—	—	— scopulosum	Simple Rock Calothrix	...	e.	—	—	—
distorta	Large Verdigris Calothrix	...	e.	—	—	—
Lyngbya muralis	Wall Lyngbya	...	e.	—	—	—
Oscillatoria chthonoplastes	Sheathing Oscillatoria	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
limosa	Great Mud Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	—
tenuis	Lesser Mud Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	— decorticans	Ribband Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	— nigra	Blackish Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	— fontinalis†	Fountain Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	— autumnalis	Autumnal Wall Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	—
ochracea	Fragile Oscillatoria	...	e.	—	—	—
Chroolepus lichenicolus	Parasitical Chroolepus	...	e.	—	—	—
Protonema Orthotrichi	Parasitical Protonema	...	e.	—	—	—
Batrachospermum moniliforme...	Moniliform Batrachospermum	...	e.	nc.	—	—
Draparnaldia plumosa	Feathery Draparnaldia	...	e.	—	—	— glomerata	Clustered Draparnaldia	...	e.	—	—	—
tenuis	Slender Draparnaldia	...	e.	—	—	—
Rivularia atra	Black Rivularia	...	e.	nc.	—	—
angulosa	Plum-like Rivularia	...	e.	—	—	—
Palmella cruenta	Purple Palmella	...	e.	—	—	—
Nostoc commune	Common Nostoc	...	e.	—	—	w.
sphaericum	Small Globous Nostoc	...	e.	—	—	—
Meloseira nummuloides	Oval-jointed Meloseira	...	e.	—	—	—
Fragilaria pectinalis	Pectinated Fragilaria	...	e.	—	—	—
Diatoma striatulum	Banded Diatoma	...	e.	nc.	—	—
flocculosum	Flocculous Diatoma	...	e.	nc.	—	—
Schizonema Dillwynii	Dillwyn's Schizonema	...	—	nc.	—	—
comoides	Tufted Schizonema	...	e.	—	—	—
Smithii	Smith's Schizonema	...	—	nc.	—	—

ORDER VII. FUNGI. Mushrooms.

Agaricus asper	Rough-warted Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
----------------	-----	-----	---------------------	-----	---	---	---	----

Agaricus hypothejus	...	Yellow Slimy Agaric	...	—	nc.	—	—
— rutilans	...	Crimson-red Downy Agaric		e.	nc.	—	—
— deliciosus	...	Orange-milked Agaric	...	—	nc.	—	—
— subdulcis	...	Subacid Rufus Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
— virginus	...	White Field Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
— laccatus	...	Lake Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
— peronatus	...	Spatterdash Agaric	..	e.	—	—	—
— galericulatus	...	Helmet Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
— setosus	...	Bristly Pin-head Agaric	...	—	nc.	—	—
— pyxidatus	...	Box-like Agaric	...	—	nc.	—	—
— dryinus	...	Oak Agaric...	...	e.	—	—	—
— mastrucatus	...	Furred Agaric	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
— bulbosus	...	Bulbous Agaric	...	—	nc.	—	—
— cucumis	...	Cucumber-scented Agaric...		—	nc.	—	—
— variabilis	...	Variable Sessile Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
— campestris	...	Mushroom	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— semiglobatus	...	Hemispherical Agaric	...	—	—	—	w.
— radians	Radiating Wall Agaric	...	—	nc.	—	—
— glutinosus	...	Glutinous Agaric	...	e.	—	—	—
— rutilus	...	Purplish-red Agaric	...	—	nc.	sc.	—
Merulius lacrymans	...	Dry-rot	...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.
— pulverulentus	...	Pulverulent Merulius	...	e.	—	sc.	—
Schizophyllum commune ...		Common Schizophyllum	...	—	—	sc.	—
Dædalea betulina	...	Pale Straight-gilled Dædalea		—	—	—	w.
— unicolor	...	Self-coloured Dædalea	...	—	—	—	w.
Polyporus perennis	...	Perennial Cinnamon Polyporus	...	—	nc.	—	—
— giganteus	...	Giant Polyporus	...	—	—	—	w.
— sulphureus	...	Sulphur-coloured Polyporus		—	—	—	w.
— betulinus	...	Birch-tree Polyporus	...	—	nc.	—	—
— versicolor	...	Party-coloured Polyporus...		—	—	—	w.
— fraxineus	...	Ash-tree Polyporus	...	—	—	—	w.
Boletus luteus	...	Dingy Yellow Boletus	...	—	—	—	w.
— scaber	...	Scurfy Boletus	...	—	—	—	w.
Hydnum compactum	...	Thick-fleshed Hydnum	...	e.	—	—	—
— auriscalpium	...	Hairy-stalked Hydnum	...	—	—	—	w.
— coralloides	...	Coral Hydnum	...	—	—	—	w.
Clavaria stricta	...	Straight-branched Clavaria		—	—	—	w.
Spathularia flavida	...	Common Spathularia	...	—	nc.	—	—
Mitrlula paludosa	...	Marsh Mitrlula	...	—	—	—	w.
Morchella esculenta	...	Common Morell	...	—	—	—	w.
Helvella lacunosa	...	Cinereous Helvella	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Peziza onotica	...	Ear-shaped Peziza	...	—	nc.	—	—
— coccinea	...	Carminc Peziza	...	—	—	—	w.
— scutellata	...	Shield-like Peziza	...	—	—	—	w.
— cyathoeidea	...	Cup-like Peziza	...	—	—	—	w.
Tremella ferruginea	...	Plated Rusty Tremella	...	—	—	sc.	—
Sclerotium durum	...	Common Black Sclerotium		—	—	—	w.
Phallus impudicus	...	Common Stinkhorn	...	—	—	—	w.
Nidularia campanulata	...	Bell-shaped Bird's-nest Nid.		—	—	—	w.
— crucibulum	...	Cylindrical Bird's-nest Nidularia	...	—	nc.	—	—
Sphæria entomorrhiza	...	Round-headed Insect Sphæria	...	—	nc.	—	—
— capitata	...	Yellow-stemmed Sphæria		—	nc.	—	—
— ophioglossoides	...	Adder's-tongue Sphæria	...	—	nc.	—	—
— alutacea	...	Pale Tan-coloured Sphæria		—	nc.	—	—
— stercoraria	...	Simple Dung Sphæria	...	e.	—	—	—
Rhytisma Acerinum	...	Sycamore Rhytisma	...	—	—	—	w.
Batarrea Phalloides	...	Phallus-like Batarrea	...	e.	nc.	—	w.
Geaster coliformis	...	Cullender Starry Puff ball		e.	—	—	—

Geaster fornicatus ...	Turreted Starry Puffball	—	nc.	sc.	—
—— striatus minor † ...	Lesser Grooved Starry Puffball	e.	—	—	—
—— mammosus ...	Mammillary Starry Puffball	e.	—	—	w.
—— rufescens ...	Reddish-brown Starry Puffball	e.	nc.	—	—
Lycoperdon gemmatum ...	Studded Puffball ...	e.	—	—	w.
—— echinatum † ...	Spinous Studded Puffball	—	—	—	w.
Scleroderma verrucosum ...	Warty Scleroderma ...	—	—	—	w.
Lycogala Epidendrum ...	Scarlet Lycogala ...	—	—	—	w.
Arcyria punicea ...	Splendid Arcyria ...	—	—	—	w.
Sporendonema Casei ...	Red Cheese-mould...	—	nc.	—	—
Podisoma Juniperi-Sabinæ	Savine Podisoma ...	—	—	—	w.
Æcidium Ari ...	Wake-robin Æcidium ...	e.	—	—	—
Uredo effusa ...	Vermilion Uredo ...	e.	nc.	sc.	w.

ETYMOLOGY OF NORFOLK NAMES OF PLACES.—Flegg Hundreds.—Most of the parishes in these hundreds have names terminating in by; a proof of their Danish origin—"by" in Danish signifying a village. Of 24 parishes and hamlets in Flegg, fourteen have this termination. Two others, Repps (which signifies a parish or district) and Bastwick are likewise undoubtedly Scandinavian. Martham and Runham should probably be Martholm and Runholm—"Mart" being the Icelandic "Mörd" a ram, and "Run" the Icelandic "runn," or "hrunn," a bush; "holm" signifying an island or low flat ground surrounded by water. A part of Martham is still called "the holms." Runhall and Runton in this county may take their names from "runn." And perhaps Runnymede, where the Palladium of our liberties Magna Charta was granted, may simply signify "the bushy meadow." The initial syllables of the names ending in "by" cannot always be accounted for so satisfactorily. Ashby probably took its name from some large ash tree—a remarkable object in a district swept by the sea breezes—as Thurne might from a thorn. Billockby may come from the Danish "bilag," an enclosure, or from some word connected with the Anglo-Saxon form "bælg," a bulging or belly. Rollesby may be from "Hrolf" or Rollo, the celebrated Norse king; Thrigby, from "Tryggve," the father or son of King Olave the Saint; Ormesby from "Gorm," the Danish king—the Guthrum of our English histories—or from the Danish "Orm," a worm or serpent, a common name of a Viking's ship. The word Stoke has been a subject of much discussion, some think it signifies the same as Stow, a place, others a stockade, while Thre, the great Swedish lexicographer, says that it signifies a ferry. Caister is from the Latin "castrum," a camp, while Burgh in Anglo-Saxon likewise signifies a place of defence. The name Flegg is probably from the Dutch "Vlak" or "Vlakke," flat.

Acle.—Anglo-Saxon.—"Ac" an oak and "lea" a field or plain. Old-fashioned people till recently called it Oakley, and its woods, with some very fine oaks, have been much reduced in the last few years. Smithdon-hundred, formerly Smethdun is from the word "smeeth," still retained in the Norfolk dialect to signify a place or a tableland, from the same root as smooth. It contains some elevated plains of great extent.

Humbleyard, from an old word humble, or humle, (Humulus) the hop, a hop-garden. There are places called Humble-toft in East Dereham and South Burlingham. In Swedish, Humlegaard is a hop garden.

Weyland, perhaps from the Dutch "weiland," pasture; but more probably from Weland or Weyland, the Vulcan of Northern mythology. Indeed the Scandinavian mythology has given us Grimshoe ("hoe" meaning hill, a sepulchral tumulus, or one used for judicial meetings) and Grimston Thursford, Thurton, &c., from the God Thor, from whom the fifth day of the week is named. Aylesham (anciently Æglesham) is perhaps from Ægel or Eigil, the brother of Weland. Palgrave, Kemble derives from Phal, who was the same as Baldur, the favourite son of Odin, who may also have given his name to Palling ("ing" signifying a meadow in ancient Danish). Horning, from "horn," "hyrn," or "hunn," an angular projecting piece of land, and Snoring, probably from "Snorri," a Scandinavian personal name, have their terminal syllable from the word "ing," a meadow, as likewise have Blickling Seething, Hickling, Honing, although the meaning of their first syllables be not so obvious; while for Scarning, we can find nothing but "skarn," dirt, or mud. Clavering-hundred may be clover-meadow. Happing-hundred may take its first syllable from the Swedish "hap," a separated or isolated piece of land, from whence also Happisburgh and Hapton.

From the Latin we have two Caisters ("castrum"), two Strattons, and Stradsett ("stratum" a street). Colney ("colonia" a farm or village), and Tacolnestone. The syllable "Sco," in Sco Ruston and Haddisco, is the Danish "Skow" or "Skogr," (pronounced "sko"), a shaw or coppice. In Runham and some other villages, are fields called Scow-fields, beyond doubt the sites of former thickets, and strongly confirming the derivation before given of Runham.

Carbrooke and Carrow, (anciently Carhow or Carhoe) from the word "Car," an osier car or alder car, a bog where osiers or alders grow (Isl. "kaer palus"). Haveringland and Halvergate (properly pronounced Havergate), from "Haver," the old name for oats. The Rocklands may have taken their names from boulders, as between Merton and Threxton a very large one is still to be seen, or from "roke" vapour, which prevails in those wet lands. In the Rotuli Hundredorum, the name is spelt Rokeland. Mr. Haigh thinks that Fincham takes its name from "Fin," the Frisian king, commemorated in the ancient poem of Beowulf, while Hilborough takes its name from "Hildeburg," his wife, and Hoekham, Hoekwold, and Hoekering, from her father, "Hoce," and Gooderstone from "Guthere," one of the heroes of the expedition.

HEIGHTS OF PLACES ABOVE THE LEVEL OF THE SEA.—The Geological survey by the Ordnance officers has not been extended to Norfolk, and consequently the elevations of but few places have been correctly ascertained. But these measurements have been made along the road from Yarmouth, through Norwich, East Dereham, and Swaffham, &c., to Lynn; and, by the coast road from Yarmouth through Horsey, Happisburgh, Cromer, Hunstanton, &c., to Lynn. As these elevations are of considerable use (for reducing barometrical observations, &c.) and otherwise interesting, we give some of the elevations marked on public buildings, churches, &c., along these lines with those on some lateral deviations. The "bolt" is a broad arrow, with a plug of lead at the apex, the arrow chiselled in the masonry, and a hole about half an inch in diameter filled with lead. "Marks" (the broad arrow without the lead) are cut on private property and less important places—we give only a very few of these latter. In the following list, B. means bolt, M. mark, C. Church, T. Tower. Thus N. E. of Honingham C. T. means, North-east of Honingham Church Tower. Thus the bolt in the west angle of Acle Church tower is 2 feet 1 inch above the surface of the ground, and 33 feet 9 inches above the level of the sea.

ROAD FROM YARMOUTH BY NORWICH TO LYNN.

	Ab. Surf.		Lev. of Sea.
	ft.	in.	ft.	in.
Great Yarmouth, bolt in south-west angle, at south side of door of St. George's Chapel	2	2	...	26 9
Acle Church, bolt in west angle of the tower	2	1	...	33 9
Nelson Inn, Beighton, mark on north-west angle	2	4	...	91 1
Halvergate Church, bolt in south-west angle of tower	3	7	...	54 2
Burlingham, St. Peter, bolt in south-west angle of tower	3	0	...	93 8
Burlingham, St. Andrew, bolt in south-west angle of T.	3	8	...	92 4
Blofield Church, bolt in west angle of tower	2	10	...	44 5

	Ab. Surf.		Lev. of Sea.
	ft.	in.	ft.	in.
Witton Church, bolt in west angle of tower	...	1 2	...	68 0
Postwick Church, bolt in north-west angle of tower	...	1 9	...	47 3
Thorpe Lunatic Asylum, R. in corner of officers' quarters	2	6	...	29 7
Thorpe Church, bolt in south-east angle of tower	...	2 10	...	15 5
St. Matthew's Church, Thorpe Hamlet, B. in S.E. angle	2	6	...	46 10
Norwich Cathedral, bolt in north side of pier, north side of door at west entrance	...	3 9	...	28 2
Norwich Castle, bolt in angle of wall at west side of door 43 inches from south entrance...	...	3 3	...	111 5
Lakenham New Church, B. in stone jamb of N. door of T.	1	9	...	126 4
Trowse Newton Church, bolt in north-east angle of tower	3	7	...	10 9
Easton Church, bolt in south-west angle	...	2 4	...	139 5
Honingham Church, bolt in S.W. angle of tower	...	4 5	...	103 7
Hockering Church, bolt in south-east angle of tower	...	3 4	...	163 4
East Tuddenham Church, bolt in S.E. angle of tower	3	4	...	139 4
North Tuddenham Church, bolt in S.W. angle of tower	3	2	...	143 5
East Dereham Church, bolt in N.E. angle of detached T.	2	11	...	165 7
Scarning Grammar School, bolt in porch at south side	1	5	...	169 5
Scarning Church, bolt in S.W. angle of tower	...	2 10	...	217 10
Wendling Church, bolt in north-east angle of tower	...	4 6	...	187 3
Necton Church, bolt in north-west angle of tower	...	1 5	...	172 6
Swaffham Church, bolt in S. side of N. entrance	...	1 10	...	238 7
Narborough Church, bolt in north angle of tower	...	3 2	...	50 3
West Bilney Church, bolt in south-west angle of tower	2	10	...	54 4
East Winch Church, bolt in south-west angle	...	2 4	...	73 9
Middleton Church, bolt in south angle of tower	...	3 7	...	117 11
North Runcton Church, bolt in S.W. angle of tower	1	7	...	73 0
King's Lynn Old Tower, bolt in S. side of arch in W. face	1	11	...	16 2
West Lynn Church, bolt in north-west corner of tower	3	0	...	20 5
Clenchwarton Church, bolt in west corner of tower	...	1 6	...	15 5
Terrington St. Clement's Church, bolt in front of tower	1	2	...	16 6
Cross Keys public house, bolt in gable at S. side of road	1	11	...	15 6
Walpole Highway New Church, bolt in N.W. corner	1	6	...	9 5
Walsoken Church, bolt in north-west corner of tower	1	0	...	13 5
Tilney, St. Lawrence Ch., B. in buttress at S.W. corner	1	11	...	11 2
St. John's Church, St. John's Highway village, bolt in centre of south face of tower	...	3 2	...	12 6
Tilney All Saints' Church, bolt near window of staircase at north-west corner	...	4 9	...	18 5
Tilney-cum-Islington Church, bolt in buttress at north-west corner	...	2 9	...	14 4

COAST LINE FROM YARMOUTH TO LYNN.

Caistor Church, mark on south-west corner of tower	1	6	...	33 2
Hemsby Church, bolt in north-east corner of tower	1	11	...	26 7
Winterton Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower	2	6	...	22 6
Winterton Lighthouse, mark on south-west side	...	0 6	...	62 0
East Somerton Church, mark on north-east corner	...	1 4	...	62 6
Horsey Church, mark on south-west corner	...	0 9	...	8 11
Waxham Church, mark on north-west corner of tower	2	3	...	14 8
Palling Church, bolt in north-east corner of tower	...	3 0	...	17 9
Hempstead Church, mark on north-west corner of tower	2	0	...	26 4
Lessingham Church, mark on south-east corner	...	1 7	...	21 11
Happisburgh Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower	0	8	...	70 6
Happisburgh High Lighthouse, mark on south-west side	1	7	...	66 2
Happisburgh Low Lighthouse, mark on N.W. side	...	1 0	...	43 0
Walcot Church, bolt on north-west corner of tower	...	0 8	...	40 2

	Ab. Surf.		Lev. of Sea.
	ft.	in.	ft.	in.
Paston Church, mark on north-west corner of tower ...	1	0	...	75 0
Mundesley Church, mark on west side of entrance ...	1	2	...	115 1
Trimingham Church, bolt in north-west corner of tower	1	3	...	195 10
Sidestrand Church, mark on south-west corner ...	2	3	...	201 10
Overstrand Church, mark on south-west corner of tower	3	0	...	137 5
Cromer Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower ...	4	0	...	68 6
Cromer Lighthouse, mark on end of step at entrance	0	7	...	248 10
West Runton Church, bolt in west corner of tower ...	0	3	...	104 1
Beeston Regis Church, mark on south-west corner ...	3	6	...	102 8
Weybourn Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower	1	0	...	41 8
Kelling Church, mark on south-east corner of tower ...	0	9	...	174 0
Salhouse Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower ...	1	0	...	68 1
Cley Church, bolt in north-east corner of tower ...	1	5	...	33 9
Wiveton Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower ...	3	0	...	36 1
Blakeney Church, bolt in north-west corner of tower	0	10	...	115 5
Morston Church, mark on west side of north entrance	0	11	...	26 9
Stiffkey Church, mark on north-east corner of tower ...	2	4	...	40 10
Warham All Saints Church, mark on north-east corner	1	11	...	58 3
Warham St. Mary's Church, mark on S.W. corner of T.	3	0	...	68 8
Wells Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower ...	2	0	...	24 0
Holkham Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower ...	1	11	...	94 10
Burnham Overy Church, mark on south-east corner ...	0	4	...	33 9
Burnham Norton Church, mark on west side of entrance	0	9	...	63 7
Burnham Deepdale Church, bolt in south-west corner	2	0	...	21 10
Brancaster Church, mark on south-west corner of tower	0	10	...	35 6
Titchwell Church, mark on south east corner ...	1	6	...	27 8
Thornham Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower	0	9	...	29 9
Holme Church, bolt in south-west corner of tower ...	1	3	...	25 9
Hunstanton National School, mark on angle of wall ...	2	3	...	50 3
Hunstanton Church, bolt in north-west corner of tower	1	6	...	30 9
Hunstanton Lighthouse, mark on W. pillar at entrance	0	6	...	75 5
Heacham Church, bolt in north-west corner ...	1	9	...	55 4
Snettisham Grammar School, mark on S.E. corner ...	1	7	...	75 9
Snettisham Church, mark on north-west corner ...	2	9	...	93 6
Ingoldisthorpe Church, mark on north-east corner of T.	3	6	...	96 4
Dersingham Church, mark on north-west corner of T.	3	2	...	56 10
Castle Rising Church, M. on east-side of north entrance	1	0	...	74 1
North Wootton Church, bolt in north-west corner of T.	0	7	...	33 10
South Wootton Church, mark on north-east corner of T.	2	4	...	39 9
Gaywood Church, bolt in north-west corner of tower	3	0	...	25 10
King's Lynn St. John's Church, M on south-west corner	1	1	...	16 4
King's Lynn St. Margaret's Church, bolt in south-east corner of east tower	3	0	...	24 4

SANITARY CONDITION.—The following table taken and simplified from the 16th Annual Report of the Registrar-General, discloses the melancholy fact that 1,700 lives are lost annually in the county from defective sanitary arrangements; for no reason can be assigned why many of the districts should necessarily be more unhealthy than the Henstead district, or why even in that, the mortality should not be reduced if attention was paid to the most obvious sanitary laws: and it has been amply proved by the experience gained from the admirable works executed in the city of Ely and elsewhere, that by efficient pipe drainage and constant water supply, small towns may be rendered even more healthy than the surrounding villages, where the most vigilant inspector can frequently not discover a nuisance till it has produced disease:—

SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRARS' DISTRICTS.	DENSITY.	ANNUAL MORTALITY.	EXCESS IN THE NUMBER of Deaths over those that would have happened if the Mortality had been 17 in 1000 living.
	Acres to 100 popu- lation.	Deaths to 1000 living.	Annually to 1000 living.	In the 10 years. 1841. 1851.
Yarmouth	6	23	6	1529
Flegg	360	20	3	243
Tunstead	403	20	3	463
Erpingham.....	343	20	3	633
Aylsham	340	21	4	801
St. Faith's	412	20	3	352
Norwich	7	24	7	4551
Forehoe	279	21	4	542
Henstead	378	17	—	—
Blofield	399	20	3	332
Loddon	402	18	1	148
Depwade.....	280	20	3	780
Guiltoress	361	21	4	494
Wayland	438	19	2	233
Mitford	364	20	3	863
Walsingham	408	21	4	857
Docking	577	20	3	526
Freebridge Lynn	603	18	1	131
King's Lynn	3	23	6	1113
Downham	416	22	5	1005
Swaffham	593	19	2	274
Thetford	644	21	4	732
NORFOLK	310	21	4	16777

In endeavouring to ascertain the cause of this excessive mortality, we are at once struck with the fact that density of population has apparently but little to do with it. Blofield and Henstead, with nearly the same acreage per 100, having 20 and 17 deaths per annum per thousand, respectively. Probably the great cause will be found in the neglect of arterial drainage. The mortality in the parishes in the Loddon district bordering on the Waveney, is far greater than in those in the central parts, or in those bordering on the Yare in the same district. And similarly the parishes in Blofield district, bordering on the Bure, are far more unhealthy than those on the Yare. This is explained by the fact that the Haven and Pier Commissioners of Yarmouth have effected great improvements in the Yare, by dredging shoals, setting back ferries, &c., while they strenuously refuse to do anything for the other rivers. Hence the valleys of the Waveney and Bure, and of the streams tributary to the latter, are frequently flooded, and the district through which they wind their sluggish courses, are subject to the miasma from the water-sodden marshes, which judicious drainage measures would render healthy pastures. In the upper parts of their courses these rivers, together with the Wensum, are made very pestilential by the water-mills, which hold up the water to obtain power to turn their wheels, and thus destroy the drainage which the small but gradual fall of the streams would give. The town of Fakenham, we believe on good authority, to be rendered very unhealthy by the water-mills immediately below and above the town. The same thing we have observed in other parts of England—the city of Winchester we would especially point out as suffering much loss of life from the same obstacle to its natural drainage—viz., a water-mill immediately below the city. We subjoin some quaint remarks on this subject, made by Captain Walter Blyth, an ancestor of many eminent Norfolk agriculturists, some two hundred years ago, merely observing that the invention of the steam engine has strengthened his position, as regards the finding a substitute for water-power, and that, if the opportunity be taken of purchasing the mill and mill site when the former requires extensive repairs or rebuilding, compensation could be made to the mill-owner by a very trifling rate comparatively on the lands so benefited:—

“The eighth prejudice may be the many watermills, which destroy abundance of gallant land, by pounding up the water to that height, even to the very top of the ground, and above the natural height, that it lyeth swelling and soaking and spewing, that it turneth very much land to a bog, or to mire, or else to flagg or rush, or mareblab, which otherwise was as gallant land naturally as could be. I am confident many a thousand a year are thus destroyed. Some mills worth about 10 or 12 pounds per an. destroy lands worth 20, 30, or 40 per an. I know it of my own knowledge. I had, some few years since, a mill-dam in my land, which destroyed one half of a gallant meadow; means were used that it was removed, and that very land is returned to his perfect purenesse again.”

The health of the Flegg district is most injuriously affected by the exhalations from the “Broad,” as the chain of lakes is called. They have a very bad outfall through the crooked and narrow “Muckfleet,” and consequently the “rands” or margins of the Broad are constantly under water during the winter and early spring. And when the waters are reduced to their proper level, the miasma which exhales from the rotten rands is blown upon some devoted village, according to the direction of the wind, and fever, rheumatism, neuralgia, and in the autumn diarrhæa and cholera are the results. We fear that little can be done for the sanitary improvement of this district till this prime source of corrupted air be removed by an efficient drainage, for many of the houses in Burgh, Filby, Hemsby, and Ormesby, being but a few feet above the level of the Broad, must, till then, remain damp and unhealthy.

The state of the cottages is very bad, not worse than in other parts of England; but overcrowded cottages, with their attendant evils, physical and moral, are too common everywhere, and Mr. Clarke, the energetic Inspector of Nuisances at Norwich, has recently shown that Norfolk has at least its share of them. We cannot at all account for the apathy which exists on this subject, for we know of overcrowded cottages in a wretched state of repair belonging to some of the wealthiest landowners; while, on the other hand, we know yeomen and even small cottage proprietors who keep their cottages in a far better sanitary state; though we must confess that this is extremely rare with the last-mentioned class. Of course some part of the evil rests with the cottagers themselves, few of them being sufficiently awake to the necessity of pure air and pure water. Most commonly a small hole a foot or two deep, and about a square yard in area, is excavated near their doors. Into this “pulk hole,” as it is called, all the liquid refuse of the house is thrown, and a detestable stench, the evidence of foul gas emitted, rises from it, and fills the cottage with noxious effluvium. And in those cases where cottages are provided with windows which open, one may go through a whole village on a mild spring day without finding any use made of them. The competition for cottages is very great, more especially in those parishes which have charities or fuel allotments, made under the local Act for inclosing the commons. Any cottage, however ruinous or inconvenient, is eagerly hired where the favoured inhabitant obtains the dole of money or coals. The whole advantage of the charity is lost in the increased rent paid to the cottage proprietor, and the first step in sanitary reform must be to drain away the charity, if, as we fear, it cannot be applied in a way which does not bring such evils in its train.

The water supply of many cottages is dreadful. The inhabitants have to go a quarter of a mile or more in some parishes, to the nearest well, or obtain their water from some stagnant pond half full of mud and decayed vegetation. This is chiefly the case in villages on a clay subsoil, or where wells are deep, and therefore expensive to sink; but it is not uncommon in cases where spring water could be had at but little expense. Some cottagers in parishes favourably situated for pasture, keep a cow, and others a pig, and we wish their number was multiplied. But, in many cases, the benefit is neutralised, or even turned to a positive injury by the cowyard or pigstye being close upon the cottage, and the stench from it filling the latter to the prejudice of the health of the inmates. Indeed, on many old farm premises the "par yard," as the cowyard is called, comes close under the windows, and we are not therefore surprised that notwithstanding the apparent healthiness of their calling, the Registrar-General states that more farmers die at a comparatively early age than men of most other occupations. We would, in conclusion, merely point out the common error, of looking to the longevity of some of its inhabitants as a test of the healthiness of a place. The true test is the mortality of infants under five years of age. Where this is large the place is unhealthy, however many persons over four score years of age may be in it; and if it be small, the place is healthy, even if there be none of such advanced age. The subject of Public Health ought to be interesting to the ratepayers and to the managers of Benefit Societies, as the one may save his purse—and the other diminish the claims upon the sick fund, by inculcating its maxims among their neighbours. We only wish we could name some good tract or tracts which discussed it in reference to open villages and country places.

GEOLOGY.—The County of Norfolk is nearly an oval, of which Yarmouth at the east and Marshland on the west are the two extremities. It is bounded on the north side of the oval by the German Ocean and the Lynn and Wisbeach Washes; and, on the south, by the Yare, the Waveney, and the Little Ouse, a few feet of the watershed at Lopham, from which the two latter take their rise, and by an irregular line, as marked upon the Ordnance map, which, from its sinuosities, appears to represent some ancient streams. Portions of these streams are now remaining, as the old Welney river and the Nen; and other portions are diverted by new cuts from their ancient beds, which still form the boundary of the county. Were such ancient streams in existence, the county would be insulated, with the exception of a few feet of the Lopham Fen. The strata of the county consist of part of the Oolite, viz.:—the Kimmeridge clay, the entire Cretaceous series, and the Norwich crag, with the Submarine forest. They crop out in succession from the west, and are more or less overspread by the upper boulder clay and other marine deposits; but in the valleys, the area of which has been estimated at more than half the county, the more modern deposits of fresh-water and peat overlie all other formations. The strata are tilted up at a slight angle from west to east; but the denuding and scouring power of water has been exerted to such an extent that the streams, which would have flowed eastward down an inclined plane, flow from the watershed to the west, as well as to the east; and on the slopes and gorges of the sides to the north and to the south.

In conformity with this arrangement, the Waveney and the Little Ouse, as already mentioned, rise at Lopham Fen, and run east and west; the one into the Yare, the other into the Ouse, on its way through the Bedford level to the Lynn Wash. The Wissey, or Stoke river, rising near Bradenham and Scoulton Mere, flows west into the Ouse; and the Nar, rising near Mileham and Litcham, runs nearly in the same direction to join the Ouse at Lynn. The Gaywood river from Grimston, the Babingley stream from Flitcham, the Heacham stream from Fring, and the Ingold from Snettisham, all run westerly into the Lynn Wash. To the north, the Stiffkey from Fakenham and Fulmodeston, and the Glaven from the north of Melton Constable and Whin Common fall into the German Ocean. To the east, the Bure from the south of Melton Constable, Edgefield, and East Beckham, together with its tributaries, the An and the Thurne, flows into the Yare; and the Yare, rising near Shipdham, with its tributaries, the Wensum, which rises at East Rudham, and the Tese, flows into the sea at Yarmouth. On the south, the Thet, and many smaller streams, run into the Waveney and the Little Ouse. An irregular line drawn from Lopham to Brancaster, near the sources of the principal rivers, will mark the direction and extent of the watershed; the highest parts of which are about 250 feet above the level of the sea. Both in Marshland and East Norfolk there is a perfect level; so much so, that in Marshland the flow of the waters is chiefly tidal; and in East Norfolk the Thurne is so sluggish that it seems undecided whether to run into the sea at Horsey, or into the Bure. The rivers are navigable upwards of 30 miles, without any locks; and it is stated on the authority of a military engineer of high repute, that if a sufficient number of hands were employed to open the Horsey Gat, the entire level of the valleys of the Waveney, the Yare, and the Bure, with those of their tributaries, might be inundated in 24 hours, for the purpose of defence against the attack of an invading force. Such is the superficial distribution and arrangement of the strata, the rivers and the valleys, by means of which the drainage of the county is admirably effected, and extensive districts of barren sand and chalk are rendered fertile by the overspread of the boulder-formations and sedimentary deposits of clay.

The following tabular series of geological formations shews their order of super-position, and their chronological relation where they are not super-imposed. Intermediate strata, which occur elsewhere in their usual order of sequence, but are missing in Norfolk, are printed in italics.

Marram hills.....	Historic.	}	Recent.
Peat formations.....
Lacustrine, "Fluviatile".....
Estuarine deposits.....	Prehistoric.	}
Valley-formations.....
Mundesley river bed.....	Glacial Series.	}	Quaternary.
Upper boulder clay.....
Contorted and stratified sands...
Lower boulder clay.....
Laminated beds.....	Newer Pliocene.	}	Tertiary.
Forest bed.....
Norwich crag.....
Red crag.....	Older Pliocene.	}	Kainozoic.
Coralline crag.....
Upper & Lower Miocene
London clay.....	Upper, Middle, & Lower Eocene.
Upper white chalk.....	Cretaceous Formation.	}
Lower white chalk, or hard chalk Chalk marl.....
Upper green-sand.....
Gault.....
Lower green-sand.....	Wealden.	}
Wealden.....
Purbeck beds.....
Portland stone.....
Kimmeridge clay.....	Jurassic or Oölitic.	}	Secondary.

Great facilities are offered for the study of the geology of Norfolk by the coast-section, which, with few interruptions to its continuity, is exposed from Hunstanton to Yarmouth, a distance of about 70 miles. By the action of the sea and land springs a new face is, from time to time, given to the cliffs, with fresh and varying features for observation; so that, by making excursions along the beach, and occasionally inland to well-borings, gravel, sand, brick, and marl pits, an acquaintance with the phenomena, and with many interesting but difficult geological problems may be readily gained. The route may be from Yarmouth to Hunstanton, and thence to Lynn and Marshland, i. e. from recent to ancient stratifications, or the reverse. The former has the advantage of affording instruction by observation of what is now passing on the surface of the earth; the latter exhibits better the relation between cause and effect, by tracing the formations in their natural order and sequence. For our present purpose the latter is preferred.

The most useful Guide books are the following:—A treatise on “The Geology of East Norfolk,” containing a section of the Cliff at Hunstanton, and other valuable sections, by Richard C. Taylor, F.G.S., 1827, vide Philosophical Magazine, February, 1823. An “Outline of the Geology of Norfolk,” by the late Samuel Woodward, 1833. This work contains excellent illustrations of the organic remains, and much original matter. A “Sketch of the Geology of West Norfolk,” by C. B. Rose, F.G.S., London and Edinburgh Philosophical Magazine and Journal of Science, January, 1836. A treatise “On the Cretaceous Group in Norfolk,” by the same author. Geologists’ Association, November 8, 1862. A treatise on “The Geology of Norfolk,” as illustrating the Laws of the Distribution of Soils, by Joshua Trimmer, F.G.S., London, 1847; and also various papers in the Quarterly Journals of the Geological Society, by the same author. A “Manual of Mollusca, Recent and Fossil,” 1853—1856, by S. P. Woodward, F.G.S., of the British Museum, an excellent “vade mecum,” for geologists in the field; and the splendid “Monograph of the Crag Mollusca,” &c., by Searles V. Wood, F.G.S., adapted for reference at home. London, 1848. These are some of the most useful general treatises; others on particular strata, or limited objects, will be pointed out when the subjects are referred to.

I. THE JURASSIC OR OÖLITIC FORMATION.

The oldest stratum in Norfolk is the Kimmeridge Clay. With reference to this it is desirable to notice a discrepancy among the above-mentioned writers, otherwise our readers might be perplexed. Mr. Rose was led, by the remarkable admixture of mollusca in the Kimmeridge clay, to infer the presence of the Oxford clay in this county; and in this view he was supported by Mr. Joshua Trimmer; but subsequent researches have caused him to change his opinion, and, in concurrence with the honoured Father of English Geology, Mr. William Smith, and the late Mr. Samuel Woodward, to regard Kimmeridge clay (marked Oak-tree clay in Mr. Smith’s Geological Map of Norfolk,) as the sole representative of the Oölite in the county. The Kimmeridge clay forms the substratum of Marshland; and it may be seen on the beach at Hunstanton, beneath the lower green-sand. It was exposed at the Denver Sluice, and in sinking a well at Mr. Allen’s brewery at Lynn. The following are the sections:—

DENVER SLUICE.

	feet		feet
1. Light brown sandy loam	14	5. Similar to No. 1, but somewhat more argillaceous, (a coin of Charles II. found on the surface)	2
2. Peat.....	2	6. Dark ferruginous sand	3
3. Blue clay, enclosing roots and small portions of peat, similar to No. 2.	2	7. Kimmeridge clay, containing Ammonites decipiens	5½
4. Peat, similar to No. 2.	3

MR. ALLEN’S WELL.

1. Vegetable soil.....	7	monites decipiens , Ammonites excavatus , and another very small species, undetermined; Belemnites abbreviatus , Gryphæa-bulbata alias dilatata , Serpula tricarinata , attached to Gryphæa , Mya depressa , Venus? a fine cast in pyrites, with the impression of a Pecten upon it, and mureticated spines of an Echinus ..	630
2. Loam, used for bricks	7
3. Peat	2 to 2½
4. Blue clay	8
5. Peat, with alder and hazel..	2 to 3
6. Blue clay, with marine silt, containing testaceous exuvæ; and blue clay enclosing nodules of chalk	30
8. Kimmeridge clay with Septaria ; and, from the lower beds, Am-

The Kimmeridge clay was exposed also at Gaywood, near Lynn, in sinking a well fifty feet in depth. The first 18 feet were sand, succeeded by 14 inches of blue clay. Then followed the Kimmeridge clay, laminated, and containing septaria. In a brickyard in Southery, near Downham, on the removal of 13 feet of brick earth, there appeared a floor of shale, which burnt readily, like cannel coal, and contained impressions between its laminae of an Ammonite, and a small Tellina. This corresponds with the descriptions given of the Kimmeridge clay in other places. Sir C. Lyell ("Manual," page 260,) says that it consists of a "bituminous shale, sometimes forming an impure coal, several hundred feet in thickness. In some places in Wiltshire it much resembles peat; and the bituminous matter may have been, in part at least, derived from the decomposition of vegetables. But, as impressions of plants are rare in these shales, which contain ammonites, oysters, and other marine shells, the bitumen may be of animal origin." The animal origin of the bitumen seems to be borne out in Norfolk, where no vegetable remains have at present been found in the Kimmeridge clay; but, from the brick ground near Downham, Mr. Rose has in his collection the following organic remains,—Vertebrae of Ichthyosaurus, Plesiosaurus, and Teleosaurus; nearly an entire skeleton of Pliosaurus; Asteracanthus ornatissimus; Ostrea leviuscula and deltoidea; Ammonites biplex; and a large Belemnite.

II. CRETACEOUS FORMATION.

1. The Lower Green-sand.

This formation, in the absence of the Portland stone of the Upper oolite and of the Wealden group, overlies the Kimmeridge clay. It consists of alternating beds of dark ferruginous sand, sandstone, and white sand. In the lower beds exposed in the Hunstanton cliff, quartzose pebbles are sufficiently large to give it the character of breccia. The loose beds occasionally enclose thin strata of fullers' earth, and a tenacious green clay, which derives its colouring from the silicate of iron. It occupies the high ground between the Kimmeridge clay and the chalk-range; and extends from Hunstanton on the north, to Hilgay on the south, which is the course of the strike. Its surface-width averages nearly three miles. In some parts of its course it rises into hills of about the same height as those of the lower chalk, and is about 70 feet in thickness. Considerable areas are occupied by this sand, as at Dersingham heath, Castle Rising, Bawsey, Ashwicken, Blackborough in Middleton, and Shouldham warren; and it supplies a valuable building material, locally called carstone, the upper part of which (the shell or shale carstone) lies in tabular and fragmentary masses, and comes to hand readily. The lower is extensively quarried at Dersingham and Castle Rising common; the white sand, which is nearly pure silica, is shipped in large quantities for the manufacture of glass. In many parts of this sandstone-range springs of water occur with a chalybeate impregnation. Such is the case at Gaywood, where a Spa has been established. The water appears to resemble that of Tunbridge-wells, but the fame of its medicinal virtues has not at present extended far beyond its immediate vicinity. In many other places, as at Blackborough pit, Middleton, and Shouldham warren, this formation may be studied with advantage, and several interesting peculiarities are pointed out by Mr. Rose in his sketch of West Norfolk, to which the reader is referred. In a fine quarry at West Bilney fossil wood is found in a very pulverulent state. A specimen of the "Zamiostrobus Fittoni" has been obtained by Mr. Rose, indicative of an approach to the tropical flora of the Purbeck beds in which the Zamia abounds; and a link is thus furnished between the Lower green-sand and the Wealden group, which latter is missing in this county. The Nautilus radiatus from Dersingham; Ammonites furcatus from Middleton; Ammonites Deshayesi from Hunstanton; Thelis minor from Dersingham; and Trigonia clavellata and aleformis from Downham, are in Mr. Rose's collection.

2. The Gault.

This formation succeeds the lower green-sand and reposes upon it. It occupies, with the lowest beds of the chalk above, the valley between the ranges of chalk and green-sand, emerging from beneath the western edge of the chalk. This valley is nearly continuous, and extends from Wretton, through West Dereham, Shouldham, Marham, Pentney, Bilney, Gayton, Grimston, Congham, and West Newton. The colour of the gault, which is usually blue, begins at Leziate to be tinged with red, most likely by per-oxide of iron. It is variable as far as West Newton, and from that place to Hunstanton a brilliant red. It was exposed in a pit near Sandringham Hall, and in a field adjoining the road to West Newton. At Hunstanton it contains many dark-green silicious pebbles, and is divided into two beds; the uppermost of which is about seven inches in thickness, and abounds in organic remains. It is intersected throughout by a ramose zoophyte—a Syphonia. Characteristic species of belemnites are in great abundance. Terebratula biplicata and Inocerami are numerous, and a species of nautilus occurs. The lower bed is three feet five inches in thickness, and contains less of the zoophyte and fewer fossils than the upper. A seam of dark red argillaceous matter, two or three inches thick, separates these beds from the superincumbent white beds of chalk marl. This seam, upon analysis, proves to be of the nature of fullers'-earth, so highly coloured with the oxide of iron, that a pigment is made of it. Such is the description of this beautiful band of red chalk, as it appears in the picturesque and abnormal section at Hunstanton. Professor Sedgwick was among the first to recognize and establish its identity with the blue gault on the only dependable basis, namely—its fossil contents; and its correspondence with the gault of Lincolnshire is shown in an interesting paper by the Rev. Thomas Wiltshire, F.G.S., (Geologists' Association, April, 1859). The red gault on the south side, and the blue gault on the north side, appear to have been dissevered by the scooping out of the intervening estuary. But, in the examination of the organic remains, another fact is brought to light with reference to the next formation, which usually overlies the gault, namely—

3. The Upper Green-sand.

This bed which, in the Isle of Wight, is 100 feet in thickness, is in a very abnormal state in this county. In the boring of Messrs. Colman's well, at Norwich, it is no more than six feet in depth; and at Hunstanton it has no separate and independent existence, but is so interblended with the gault that it is only distinguishable by its characteristic fossils. This formation may be said generally to graduate into an argillaceous limestone called

4. The Chalk Marl.

This may be regarded as the lowest bed of the chalk. The following sections have been obtained by well-boring at Diss, and at Norwich:—

AT DISS.

	feet		feet
1. Boulder clay	50	5. Grey chalk, without flints.....	60
2. Sand	50	6. Light bright blue chalk approaching to clay, with chalk stones	20
3. Chalk without flints (probably reconstructed)	100	7. Lower green-sand	5
4. Chalk, with flints	330

AT MESSRS. COLMAN'S, NORWICH.

	feet		feet
1. Alluvium	16	5. Gault, containing small Belemnites, Ammonites lautus , A. symmetricus , and fragments of Inoceramus	24
2. Chalk with flints	1050
3. Chalk without flints	102
4. Upper green sand	6

SECTION OF CHALK AT HUNSTANTON.

By Mr. R. Taylor. Phil. Mag. vol. 61.

	feet		feet
1. Vegetable soil.....	2	5. Gault or red chalk, containing the same ramose zoophyte....	4½
2. Hard chalk without flints, (very few traces of organic remains)	36	6. Yellow sandy mass	10
3. Chalk marl.....	3	Dark brown	40
4. White chalk, with a ramose zoophyte (the equivalent of the upper green-sand)	1½	Nearly black	22
		Lower green sand	—72

This section represents the greatest thickness attained by individual strata measured separately in different places.

The following section is given by Mr. Rose of the strata in their true position:—

	feet	inches		feet	inches
1. Vegetable soil and alluvium —			5. Red zoophytic limestone, in two beds (the equivalent of the gault)	3	10
2. Lower chalk	28	0	6. & 7. Lower green-sand and carstone	8	9
3. Chalk marl	3	0	8. Sandy breccia	14	0
4. White zoophytic bed	1	4-6
A thin seam of argillaceous matter occurs in this place	0	2-3
				59	0

The animal remains of the chalk marl, upper green-sand and gault are singularly intermixed at Hunstanton. Mr. Rose has in his collection, Turritiles tuberculatus, and Pecten Beaveri, from the chalk marl. It may be seen to advantage in a large quarry at Stoke Ferry; and also at West Dereham, in a pit between the Grange farm-house and the church. It does not appear to have been recognized at Mr. Coleman's well at Norwich,* probably on account of the shells being broken by the boring implements; nor at the well at Diss. The chalk marl, with its associated beds in the south of England, is thus described by Sir Charles Lyell, in the descending order. (Manual, page 218):—"The lower chalk without flints passes gradually downwards into an argillaceous limestone (the chalk marl) in which ammonites and other cephalopoda, so rare in the higher parts of the series, appear. This marly deposit passes, in its turn, into beds containing green particles of a chloritic mineral, called the upper green-sand." In the beautiful but abnormal section, however, of the Hunstanton Cliff, these several beds, with their respective fossils, are still more confusedly intermixed.

These strata are still further complicated by the elaborate researches of Mr. Harry Seeley,† who has discovered the ordinary fossils of the gault in the lower green-sand, and in the red limestone of Hunstanton a larger proportion of the fossils of the upper green-sand than of the gault. From this it may be inferred that the gault is principally represented in the lower green-sand, and the upper green-sand in the red limestone. But, however complicated the stratifications may be, the mollusca are arranged according to the ordinary laws of nature, by which such forms of life gradually pass into each other, as will appear in the Crag-serise; while some die out, others are continued, and new forms make their appearance in succeeding strata, adapted to the changes of climate and other circumstances.

5. The Lower Chalk.

The chalk without flints next presents itself. It is extensively used in buildings, and for carved and monumental work, and is appropriately called by the late Mr. Woodward "hard chalk." It may be traced from Hockwold,

* Paper read by the Rev. J. Crompton at the British Association at Cambridge, 1863.
 + Annals and Magazine of Natural History for April, 1861.

through Methwold, to Hunstanton Cliff. At Stoke Ferry, it has been quarried largely, and also at Whittington, where the Holaster trecensis abounds, and several ammonites have been obtained. One of the species peramplus, two feet in diameter, is in Mr. Rose's collection. Also the Ammonites Austenii, of the same extraordinary size, Nautilus from Hunstanton, and the jaws and teeth of a large Saurian from the same place. This bed of lower or hard chalk averages 50 feet in thickness. Its hardness is considered to be due to its consolidation, before any arrangement or aggregation of the silicious particles took place, which are generally distributed through a homogenous mass, of which about 12 per cent. is silica.

6. Upper Chalk with flints (Medial).

In this division of the chalk the separation of the silex and chalk forms a distinctive characteristic. The late Mr. Woodward divided the upper chalk into "upper" and "medial," a division which is justified by the organic remains; for the uppermost bed at Norwich contains fossils, which are not found in the medial chalk; for instance, the Inocerami, very rare in the Norwich crag, are abundant in this deposit. Belemnites, which are very rare in this medial chalk, are very abundant in the upper at Norwich. The medial chalk may be traced from Thetford, through Weeting, Hilborough, Saham Toney, Swaffham, Castleacre, Litcham, Great-Massingham, and Dorking, to Wells on the coast. Its escarpment may be said to form the Downs of Norfolk, the great sheep-walks of the western division of the county. This bed of chalk, although not so hard as that beneath it, is occasionally used for building purposes, and it is harder than the division of the upper chalk, which next presents itself.

7. The Upper Chalk with Flints.

This division of the chalk has more and larger horizontal layers of flint nodules than the medial; and the paramoudra, or potstones, which are rare in the medial, are very abundant in the upper bed. They are placed one upon another in vertical lines, presenting the appearance, in some instances, of columns supporting the horizontal layers or bands of nodules. These paramoudra have been supposed by some to be fossilised sponges, called "Neptune's cups;" but the lower part of them is formed with rounded edges, like the upper part, and without indication of any mode of attachment. They envelop, moreover, other organic remains common to the chalk, which is scarcely reconcileable with their being organized bodies themselves; and, whenever they come in contact with the horizontal layers of nodules, they are found to throw out side branches, and to assimilate in form with the nodules; and, again, as their vertical lines rise above the horizontal layers, they re-assume their ordinary form. The origin of these singular bodies, whether due to chemical or mechanical causes, or to some phases of animal or vegetable life, is still a mystery. Another very remarkable phenomenon in the chalk consists of funnel-shaped holes of various dimensions, from one to forty feet in width, for the most part filled with sand and clay washed down from the superincumbent beds. They are both chemically and mechanically formed by the erosion of rain water, acting upon the carbonate of lime—a process continued from the earliest period of the original deposits to the present time. One consequence of this is that chalk is by no means a secure foundation for buildings; and there are numerous instances on record of their sudden fall, and of their being partially engulfed by the caving in of the upper soil. Another result is, that the surface of the chalk is by no means level, but channelled and furrowed; and the late Mr. Joshua Trimmer availed himself of this in the Keythorpe system of draining, by employing these natural channels to carry off superfluous water from the soil above; and, by boring through impervious clays, to let the water pass away by these self-formed water-courses.

The strike, or course, of this upper chalk in Norfolk is from Bungay, across the county, through Norwich, on its way to the sea coast, where it may be seen in a highly disturbed state at Trimmingham, Cromer, and Sherringham. At Trimmingham there are three bluffs or masses of chalk upon the beach, apparently resting upon the fundamental bed of chalk with flints, which forms the beach for about a mile in extent. A question has arisen as to whether they are detached boulders, or part of the solid bed below. If the latter, they are mere shells, or remnants of chalk hills, which are nearly washed away by the sea. But, whether they be boulders or not, they contain fossil sponges and tuberculated flints, such as are not common in the chalk below them, but abound in the upper beds of gravel in East Norfolk; and these beds of gravel indicate that vast portions of the chalk have been denuded, from which they have been derived. The depths of the several beds of chalk may be seen by reference to the above sections. They may be considered portions of the outcrop of the range of chalk in this country, from Yorkshire to Devonshire, and of the western margin of the great chalk-basin of Europe. The chalk may be traced, at intervals, from the north of Ireland to the Crimea, a distance of about 1140 geographical miles; and from the south of Sweden to the south of Bordeaux, about 840 miles. In Southern Russia it is in some places 600 feet thick; and in all these districts it is of the same mineral character, with the same fossils, including Inoceramus Cuvieri, Belemnites mucronatus, and Ostrea vesicularis.

With respect to the origin of chalk, it appears to be composed of a soft white mud, which has passed through the bodies of worms and the intestines of fishes. The stony masses of Coral reefs are known to be bored by worms; "and certain gregarious fishes of the genus Sparus are visible through the clear water, browsing quietly in great numbers on living corals, like grazing herds of graminivorous quadrupeds." Mr. Darwin found their intestines to be filled with impure chalk.* It is evident from this, that Norfolk, during the formation of the chalk, must have been submerged beneath a tropical sea. The Mollusca and organic remains are too numerous for insertion. Mr. Robert Fitch, F.G.S., of Norwich, possesses a very fine collection of fossils from the chalk and Norwich crag, and also of flint implements, and implements of the stone and bronze period. Mr. J. King, of Norwich, has a good collection of fossils from the chalk. Mr. Rose also, of the chalk and entire cretaceous series, and Kimmeridge clay from West Norfolk, and some good specimens of Elephantine, Cervine and Bovine remains from the forest and upper beds.

III. EOCENE FORMATION.

The London Clay.

The next stratum in order of succession, which, with the Woolwich and Reading series, overlies the chalk, is the London clay. Although not visible upon the surface, it was brought to light by an attempt made, in 1840, by Messrs. Clark of Tottenham, to bore an Artesian well at Sir E. H. K. Lacon & Co.'s brewery, at Yarmouth. A shaft was dug to the depth of 22 feet, next about 50 feet of blown sand and shingle, 120 feet of recent estuarine deposits, 310 feet of London clay, 46 feet of the Woolwich and Reading series, and 57 feet of chalk were bored through; when, from the obstruction caused by large flints, no further progress could be made, and the undertaking was abandoned. The labourers employed were of opinion that London clay was brought up by the boring apparatus, as they had been engaged in a similar work in that deposit; but their opinion was disregarded, as this clay was not supposed to extend beyond Aldborough. Twenty years had passed over when * Mr. Prestwich examined the details on the spot; and ascertained that the bore passed through London clay, and the lower tertiary, to the depth above named. He saw the true bearing of the discovery—that this bed of London clay was not an outlying mass deposited in a hollow of the estuary of the Yare; but had a wider range than the present estuary, (which, as will be seen when we come to describe the valley formations, is of comparatively recent date,) and extends, probably, to Mundesley, where the chalk begins to rise to the surface of the beach. This view is in accordance with the fact that the anchorage off the coast at Bacton and other places is (8 or 10 fathoms deep) a stiff, tenacious clay, which corresponds rather with the London clay than with the forest bed. It would be superfluous to describe the Fauna and Flora of the London clay, which is here hidden under land and sea; but it is important to bear in mind that they are of a tropical character, because this fact serves as an index to the change of climate, which is evidenced by the organic remains of subsequent formations.

* See Lyell's Elements, chapter xvii.

IV. NEWER PLIOCENE FORMATION.

1. The Norwich Crag.

The Norwich, or mammaliferous crag, as it was called by Mr. E. Charlesworth, who first distinguished the several crags by their fossil remains, may be presumed to rest upon the London clay, so far as that deposit extends; and, where it ceases, upon the chalk. The coralline crag and the red crag have not been discovered in Norfolk—unless indeed the red and the Norwich crags be identical; for it is remarkable that no case of superposition has been pointed out, notwithstanding that the Norwich crag is extensively developed in Suffolk; and in some instances the one, and in some the other, lie upon the Coralline crag. The beds of shells, called crag, lie in patches at considerable intervals: one may travel several miles over strata of sand, gravel and clay, which contain the same mammalian remains as the crag, without meeting with any shells. At a pit in Horstead, they have lately broken out in great force, where none had appeared before. On examining these patches of shells, it is not uncommon to hear collectors observe that some bear the character of the Red crag more than others; and this favours the opinion of their identity. The conclusion which we have come to is that they are one continuous formation, occupying a long period of time, during which the land has been gradually rising; and that in the process of upheaval, they may possibly bear to each other the same relation as the upper valley-gravels bear to the lower. The older would be the higher in position without its over-lying the other; and, as the refrigeration of the climate was progressing, the differences that are observed between the mollusca in the Red and Norwich crags, are such as might be expected, and the deviations from preceding types are such as would occur under these circumstances during long periods of time. The result is, that the red crag, from the greater per centage of extinct mollusca which it contains, is placed by Sir Charles Lyell in the older Pliocene, whilst the Norwich crag is placed in the newer Pliocene.

Such is the geological position of the Norwich crag. With respect to its geographical position, it first appears in the coast section in the cliff at Weybourn, about 15 feet above the sea, resting upon the chalk. It continues along the beach to Sherringham, and from that place to Cromer lies in patches, interblended with the forest bed. The chalk and Norwich crag then dip, at Cromer Jetty, beneath the beach, leaving the forest bed in sole possession, as far as Trimingham, where the chalk again rises and forms the beach for about half a mile. At Trimingham the Norwich crag was found by an assiduous collector, the late Rev. Charles Green, of Bacton, upon the isolated masses of chalk which rise above the beach. And, upon these masses of chalk are layers of large flints, such as are invariably found where the Norwich crag rests upon the chalk. Thus from Weybourn to Trimingham, it occupies fourteen miles of the coast section, and forms an irregular belt, as described by Mr. Woodward in his Geological Map of Norfolk; on the west, from Weybourn, by Norwich, Saxlingham, and Bungay, to the Suffolk coast at Thorpe-ness and Aldborough; and on the east side, from Trimingham, by Belaugh, near Wroxham, to Southwold. Within this belt many other places may be mentioned where the Norwich crag is exposed, as Salhouse, Wroxham, Horstead, and Marsham, in the valley of the Bure; and Postwick, Thorpe, Bramerton, Trowse, Whitlingham, and Kirby-Bedon, in the valley of the Yare. We are not to infer that the crag has any connexion with the formation of these valleys because it is found near them. It has been brought to light by their denudation; and the escarpments of the crag deposits, which once extended across the valleys, may frequently be seen on their sides. The Norwich crag is fluvio-marine, as appears from the admixture of fresh-water and marine shells. It varies in height from two to twenty feet, and is sometimes found in successive strata of clay, sand, and gravel, with shells peculiar to the several strata, as at Weybourn, and sometimes in one homogeneous bed, as at Horstead and Coltishall. A mass of large stones almost invariably caps the chalk in the districts of the Norwich crag, and in this mass mammalian and other organic remains are most abundantly found. The surface of the chalk is occasionally bored by the Pholas, and much furrowed and eroded by currents of water, during the long interval which prevailed between the chalk and the deposition of the Norwich crag. Wood is frequently embedded in it, but so decayed and pulverulent as to defy any attempts to make out of what kind. Its Fauna consists of Mastodon arvernensis, Elephas meridionalis, Elephas (not determined), Hippopotamus major, Rhinoceros leptorhinus, Cervus of at least two species not determined, Equus, Bos, Sus, and Arvicola. Besides these, Trogontherium Cuvieri, Lion, Otter, Roebuck, and Hyæna, (?) are in the collections of Mr. R. Fitch, and Wild-cat, Fox, and Leopard, (?) in the late Mr. Middleton's. With respect to the Mollusca it may be observed that, as compared with those of the Coralline and Red Crag, some striking results present themselves indicative of a gradual and progressive decrease of temperature. From tabular* statements drawn up by Mr. S. P. Woodward, it appears that the proportion of recent to extinct species is, in the Coralline, 51 per cent; in the Red, 57; and in the Norwich, 85; the numbers being, in the

Coralline Crag.....	Recent	168	Extinct	159	Total	327
Red Crag	—	130	—	95	—	225
Norwich Crag	—	69	—	12	—	81

Of recent species, not now living in British seas, in the

Coralline Crag	2 are Northern, and	27 Southern
Red Crag	8	16
Norwich Crag	12	0

Thus, a continued refrigeration of climate is indicated from the commencement to the close of the Crag series.

The following List of Shells is furnished by Mr. S. P. Woodward, F.G.S., of the British Museum, and is a very valuable supplement to his Father's work on the Geology of Norfolk.

SHELLS OF THE NEWER PLIOCENE OR NORWICH CRAG.

Including Bulchamp and Chillesford in Suffolk, and Bridlington, Yorkshire.†

AUTHORITIES.

G.N. Outline of the Geology of Norfolk, by S. Woodward, 8vo., Norwich, 1833.

* From Searles Wood's Monograph of the Crag. Mollusca (Palæont Society's Transactions) and published in the Supplement to Sir C. Lyell's "Manual of Geology."

† More recent than the N. Crag, as also the Mundesley Crag.

- G.N. Lyell (Sir Charles), List of Shells of the Norwich Crag; the species determined by G. Sowerby and S. V. Wood. Mag. Nat. Hist., ser. 2, III. p. 313.
- E.F. Edward Forbes, Catalogue of Shells of the Glacial Epoch, in Memoirs of the Geological Survey. Vol. I. p. 406. 1846.
- Prestwich (J.) on some Fossiliferous Beds overlying the Red Crag at Chillesford, near Orford, Suffolk. Geol. Journal, 1849, p. 345.
- C.M. Wood (Searles V.) Monograph of the Crag Mollusca, 2 vols. 4to., published for the Palæontographical Society. 1847-1855.
- R.W. R. Wigham's Collection, in the British Museum. (Norwich Crag)
- W.B. Wm. Bean's Collection of Bridlington Shells, British Museum.
- J.M. Collection of the late John Middleton, preserved in Norwich.
- H.A. Capt. H. T. Alexander, F.G.S., (Crag of Bramerton, and Bulchamp, near Southwold)
- R.F. Mr. Fitch. W.K.B. Mr. Bridgman. T.G.B. Mr. Bayfield.
- Catalogue of Shells from the Glacial Deposits, by Jas. Smith, F.R.S., "Researches in Newer Pliocene and Post Tertiary Geology." 8vo., 1862.

a, abundant; c, common; r, rare; u, unique; indicated by the Geology of Norfolk.

Pulmonifera.

Helix hispida	Thorpe	T.G.B. (R.W.)	Bulchamp	(H.A.)
— plebeia , Drap	Norwich	(R.W.)	Bulc.	(F. Woodward)
— arbustorum ?	Southwold	(Lyell)	Norwich	(J.M.)
Succinea putris ?	Bramerton	(r.)
— oblonga	Bulchamp	(C.M.)
Limnea palustris (tenuis ? G.N.)	Bramerton; Bulchamp			[wold.
— peregra	Bramerton	(R.W.)	J.M., T.G.B.,	South-
— truncatula	Bramerton	(R.W.)	J.M.
Planorbis marginatus , Drap (complanatus C.M.)	Norwich	(R.W.)	J.M.	Bulchamp.
— spirorbis	Norwich	(R.W.)	Bulchamp.
— corneus	Bulchamp	(H.A.)
Conovulus pyramidalis	Norwich	(r);	Southwold; Aldboro'.
— myosotis	Postwick	(R.W.)	Bramerton	(H.A.)

Pectinibranchiata.

Buccinum tenerum (cyaneum ?) ...	Norwich	(a);	Southwold; Chillesford.
Fusus antiquus , (despectus , E.F.)	Bramerton, Thorpe	(r);	Chillesford.
— var. pullus , G.N. (altus ?)	Thorpe, Postwick, and Bramerton	(r).
— carinatus	Bramerton, Thorpe	(r).
— contrarius	Bramerton; many fragments; perfect examples rare and usually carinated.
— norvegicus	Norwich	(J. M., R. F., and Norwich Museum).
— gracilis D.C. (Islandicus ?) ...	Norwich	(R.W.)
— — var. ventricosus	Bridlington.
— Spitzbergensis ?	Postwick	(R.W.);	series of all ages.
Trophon scalariformis	Norwich, (R.W.)	Thorpe	(J.M.)	Bridlington.
— Gunneri ? Loven	Norwich	(J.M.)
— clathratus L. (Bamffius)	Bridlington.
Murex erinaceus	Bramerton	(R.W.);	the only example lost	(C.M.)
Purpura lapillus (imbricata) ...	Norwich	(c.)	Bulchamp.
— var. elongata	Bramerton, Postwick	(c.)
— vulgaris	Thorpe	(c.)
— incrassata	—	(r.)
— angulata	—	(r.)

Purpura tetragona	Norwich (R.F.) ; in fresh condition.
Nassa reticosa , var. elongata , Sby.	Thorpe (u.) G.N. ; perfect condition (R.F.)
————— var. rugosa	Norwich (R.W.)
————— incrassata (granulata E.F.)	Norwich (R.W.)
————— sp. (slender, pointed)... ..	Norwich (R.W.) ; examples in all collections.
Columbella sulcata	Bramerton (R.F.)
Mangelia mitrula	Norwich (R.W.)
Bela turricula (Murex punctatus , G.N.)	Bramerton ; Thorpe ; (r.)
———— Trevelliana	Bramerton (R.W.) Bridlington.
———— rufa	Norwich (R.W.) Thorpe (E.F.) Bridlington.
Defrancia linearis ?	Norwich (R.W.) R.F.
Voluta Lamberti	Norwich (R.W.)
Erato lævis	Norwich (R.W.)
? Cassidaria bicatenata	Thorpe (r) ; fragments only (G.N.)
Cypræa Europæa	Thorpe (R.F.) ; one good specimen.
Ovulum Leathesii	Bramerton (u) R.F.
Natica monilifera (catena , M.)	Norwich(c) Bulchamp ; Chillesford ; Bridlington.
———— occlusa , S.V.W.	Bridlington.
———— Bowerbankii , E.F....	Bridlington.
———— Natica helicoides	Norwich (S.W.) Bridlington.
———— pusilla , G. (Groenlandica)	Norwich (R.W.) Bridlington.
———— hemiclausula (nitida ?)	Norwich (R.W.) common.
———— clausula	Norwich (R.W.) com. ; Bridlington.
Velutina lævigata , L.	Thorpe (R.W.)
———— zonata , Gould	Bramerton (R.W.)
Trichotropis borealis	Bridlington.
Cancellaria (Admete) viridula O.F.M.	Norwich (R.W.) Bridlington.
Chemnitzia elegantissima	Norwich (R.W.) rare.
———— internodula , S.V.W. ...	Norwich (R.W.) large.
Scalaria Groenlandica	Norwich (r) Cromer ; Southwold.
———— foliacea	Norwich (R.W.) fragments.
———— Trevelliana	Norwich (R.W.) "Two Crag specimens dredged on the Norfolk coast by Lieut. Thomas," (E.F.) Bulchamp (F.W.)
———— ? clathratula (minuta , G.N.)	Norwich (r)
Cerithium punctatum	Norwich (c) Bulchamp (F.W.)
———— reticulatum	Norwich (R.W.) W.K.B.
Turritella communis	Norwich (r) Bulchamp ; Chillesford.
———— incrassata	Thorpe (R.W.) water-worn.
———— erosa Couth. (clathratula , C.M.)	...Bridlington.
Litorina litorea	Norwich (a) Bulchamp ; Chillesford ; Bridlington.
———— var. elongata
———— ventricosa	(Varieties of growth, probably influenced by freshets ; some specimens are quite discoidal.)
———— carinata
———— bicarinata
———— sulcata
———— rudis	Norwich (c).
———— tenebrosa	Norwich (R.W.) slender var.
Lacuna vineta	Norwich (R.W.)
Rissoa inconspicua , Alder (semicostata ? G.N.)	...Bramerton (r.)
Hydrobia Ulvæ , L....	Norwich (R.W.) rare.
———— ventrosa , Mont. (minuta , G.N. subumbilicata , C.M.)	...Norwich (c)
Paludina media , G.N. (parilis , C.M.)	Bramerton ; Thorpe ; Bulchamp (FW)

Paludina media var. obsoleta , G.N.	Norwich (R.W.)	Whirls quite flat.
Bithynia tentaculata , Mont	Norwich ; Bramerton (R.W.)	W.K.B. R.F.
Valvata piscinalis	Bramerton (R.W.)	W.K.B.
Pileopsis Hungaricus (Sigaretus similis , G.N.)	Bramerton (very rare)	small (R.W.)
Calyptræa Sinensis (Infundibulum clypeum , G.N.)	Postwick (r)	small
Trochus zizyphinus	Norwich (R.W.)	R.F.
— granulatus , Born (similis Sby)	Brmrton. & Thorpe (r)	GN. TGB. JM.
— tumidus (nitens , G.N.)	Bramerton ; Thorpe
Margarita undulata	Norwich (R.W.)	T.G.B. R.F.
— elegantissima , Bean	Bridlington.
Cemoria Noachina	Bridlington.
Patella vulgata ?	Norwich (R.W.)	Small, thin variety.
— parvula , G.N.	Bramerton (Young of P. vulgata ?	CM.)
Acmæa virginea ?	Norwich (R.W.)	unique.
Dentalium Tarentinum (entale , C.M.)	Bridlington.
Chiton sp. (octovalvis , G.N.)	Thorpe (u).

Tectibranchiata.

Tornatella tornatilis (Actæon Noæ , G.N.)	Postwick (r)	Bulcham (F.W.)
— subulata	Bramerton (u)	R.F.
Ringicula ventricosa	Bramerton (r)
Cylichna cylindracea , var. ...	Norwich (R.W.)	unique.
— obtusa , Mont. (minuta , G.N.)	Bramerton, Postwick (r)

Palliobranchiata.

Rhynchonella psittacea ...	Thorpe ; Postwick (rarely with valves united)
-----------------------------------	---	--

Lamellibranchiata.

Anomia ephippium var. squamula ...	Norwich. Bridlington
— aculeata	Norwich (R.W.)
Placunomia patelliformis	Norwich (J.M.)	T.G.B.
Ostrea edulis	Norwich (T.G.B.)	a single sml. valve.
Pecten princeps	{ Thorpe, both valves in the Middleton collection, "fragments abundant," (G.N.)	R.F.
— pusio	Norwich, T.G.B.
— opercularis (sulcatus & reconditus , Sby.?	Lakenham, Thorpe, Bramerton, Bulcham (F.W.)	Chillesford (a)
— Gerardi	Bramerton, (R.F.)	two pairs.
— tigrinus	Bramerton (R.W.)	W.K.B. RF.
? Hinnites Dubuissoni , G.N. (Cortesyti , C.M.)	... "Thorpe (r) fragments."
Pinna pectinata	Mundesley, Rev. J. Gunn.
Mytilus edulis (antiquorum G.N.)	Bramerton ; Thorpe (forming a distinct layer. a).
— var. alæformis , Sby. ...	Bulcham (F.W.)	Chillesford, Bridlington, Bramerton, & Thorpe (a)
Modiola modiolus	Postwick (in pairs, in a particular layer J.M.),	Bridlington.
Crenella discors ? (discrepans , Mnt	Chillesford.
Pectunculus glycimeris	Thorpe (r) small, or imperfect.	Bridlington
Nucula Cobboldiæ	Thorpe, Bramerton, Postwick (r), Bulcham ;	Chillesford (a) Bridlington.
— tenuis	Norwich (R.W.) ; Southwold (E.F.) ;	Chillesford.
Leda lanceolata (oblonga , G.N.)	Norwich (R.W.)	very rare ; Chillesford (c) ; Saxlingham (fragments).
— oblongoides , S.V.W. (hyperborea ?)	Postwick & Bramerton (r) ; Bulcham (F.W.) ;	Chillesford (c).

Leda semistriata	Norwich (J.M.) single valve.
Lucina borealis (mitis & antiquata , G.N.)	Postwick & Thorpe (c) Bramerton, Chillesford.
——— divaricata (undularia)	Thorpe; Bramerton.
Kellia ambigua	Chillesford.
Montacuta bidentata	Bridlington (E.F.)
Diplodonta dilatata	Thorpe (J.M.) several valves.
——— astarte	Bramerton (R.W.) J.M.
Corbicula fluminalis	Bramerton & Postwick, (J.M. & R.W.) Bulchamp and Wangford (H.A.)
Cyclas cornea	Norwich (R.W.); Bulchamp (H.A.)
Pisidium amnicum , var sulcatum	Thorpe (R.W.); Bulchamp (H.A.)
Cardium edule	Bramerton, Postwick (c) Thorpe, Cromer (r); Bulchamp (F.W.) Chillesford.
——— var obliquum G.N.	Postwick (c).
——— venustum ?	Thorpe (R.W.)
——— Parkinsoni G.N.	Thorpe, in fragments. (R.F.)
——— Groenlandicum	Postwick (J.M. & R.W.) Chillesford.
Cardita scalaris	Norwich (R.W.) R.F. single valves. Chillesford (single valve.)
——— corbis	Norwich (R.W.) single valve.
——— analisis ? (borealis ?)	Bridlington.
Astarte borealis (plana)	Bramerton; Thorpe (r) Postwick (in pairs) Bridlington.
——— var. semisulcata Leach	Bridlington.
——— mutabilis	Bridlington.
——— Omalii	Bramerton (R.F.) single valve in good condition.
——— Burtinii (pisiformis , Wood)	Bramerton (R.W.) single valve.
——— gracilis	Thorpe (R.F.) one valve.
——— compressa (angulata , G.N.)	Thorpe (r) Bridlington.
——— striata	Norwich (R.W.) Bridlington.
——— sulcata , var Danmoniensis	Bramerton; Thorpe (r), young more frequent. Bridlington.
——— crebricostata ?	Bridlington.
——— elliptica	Bramerton (J.M.) Bridlington.
Cyprina Islandica	Norwich; Bulchamp; Chillesford; Bridlington.
Cytherea rudis	Norwich (R.W.) unique.
Artemis lineta ?	Norwich (R.W.) imperfect.
Venus fasciata	Norwich (r).
Tapes virginea	Bramerton (R.W.)
——— aurea	Bramerton (R.W.)
Mactra stultorum (magna , G.N.)	Postwick; Bramerton.
——— arcuata	Postwick (r) R.F. large valve.
——— solida	Thorpe; Bramerton.
——— ovalis (including dubia)	Norwich (r) Chillesford.
——— subtruncata (cuneata)	Norwich (c) Bulchamp (a).
Scrobicularia piperata (Listeri , G.N.)	Bramerton (r) Chillesford.
Syndosmya alba	Thorpe (R.W.) Bulchamp (E.F.) Chillesford.
——— obovalis , (tenuis ?)	Norwich (R.W.) several valves (Southwold E.F.)
Donax anatinus	Bramerton; Postwick; Bulchamp.
Tellina crassa (obtusa , G.N.)	Thorpe and Postwick (r) Chillesford.
——— obliqua (ovalis , G.N.)	Norwich (a) Postwick, in pairs (J.M.) Bulchamp (a) Chillesford, in pairs.

Tellina lata (ovata , G.N.)	Norwich (a) Bulchamp (a) Chillesford.
——— solidula , var. Balthica	Postwick (top bed) Weybourne; Bridlington.
——— prætenuis	Norwich (a) Bulchamp (a) Chillesford.
——— fabula	Bulchamp (H.A.) Norwich (R.W.)
Solen siliqua	Thorpe (r) fragments only; Bramerton (E.F.)
Corbula nucleus	Bramerton (R.W.)
——— var. oblong small .		Norwich (R.W.) many valves.
Mya arenaria (lata , subovata)	Norwich (a) Cromer; Bulchamp; Bridlington.
——— truncata	Chillesford (in pairs) Bridlington.
——— var. subtruncata)	Bramerton.
Thracia inflata	Bramerton (R.F.)
Panopæa Norvegica	Chillesford (in pairs); Bridlington.
Saxicava arctica	Bridlington.
——— rugosa	Bramerton; Thorpe (small), Bridlgtn.
Pholas crispata	(Postwick, E.F.) Hasboro.' (Rev. J. Layton) Bridlington, Whitlingham (Mr. Clowes.)

Of the 172 species above enumerated, 15 are only found at Bridlington, in Yorkshire; 19 others are land and fresh-water shells; and 28 are either "extraneous fossils" derived from the Red and Coralline Crag, or else some doubt attaches to them because they are unique, or have not been found a second time.

Setting aside all these, there remain 110 marine shells, of which

3 are common to the Coralline crag only,	80 species are still living in the British seas,
46 are common to the Red crag only,	13 are only found north of Britain,
32 are found in both Red and Cor- alline crag,	2 occur on the north coast of Spain,
29 are peculiar.	15 are unknown as living shells.
110	110

These numbers are different from those given by the writer in the Supplement to Sir Charles Lyell's "Manual of Geology," and repeated in the same author's "Antiquity of Man," but the modern and comparatively northern character of this division of the Crag is still more strongly shown by the additional data now published.

2. The Forest Bed.

The Mastodon, which has been found in the Norwich crag, in nearly equal numbers with the Elephant, disappears altogether in the forest-bed. Hundreds of elephant's teeth have come to light from the latter, but not one of the mastodon. Near Southwold, at the junction of the Norwich crag and the forest-bed, two teeth of the mastodon have been picked up on the beach; and we may expect to find similar remains at the other extremity of the forest-bed at Sherringham, or at Cromer, or wherever the Norwich crag lies upon the beach; but it is not probable that any will be found at intermediate places. The magnificence and profusion of the elephantine, cervine, and other mammalian remains are such as to render this deposit one of the highest interest to geologists; and the bed itself, from the remarkable changes it has undergone, is scarcely less so. It consists of two materials: a blue argillaceous sand, which constitutes the soil in which the trees grew; and an indurated gravel, which, from the quantity of elephantine remains found in it, is called "the elephant bed." This forest may be traced at intervals from Easton-Bavent near Southwold, along the beach and coast section, to Sherringham, north-west of Cromer, about 50 miles. Its extent inland and seaward has not been ascertained. It is evidently fluvio-marine, as appears from its organic remains. It is supposed to have been deposited in an estuary, into which, Mr. Woodward suggests, rivers from various directions poured their contents, and which opened to the sea, as is proved by the admixture of cetacean with the terrestrial mammalian remains; not necessarily a deep sea, for such cetaceans are generally found to have been stranded on shoals and in shallow waters. The substratum of the forest was probably thus formed, and then gradually raised above the waters; first, it may be presumed, where the Norwich crag is visible, for the two appear to be continuous formations, and at the points of junction are singularly interblended. When the forest soil was raised to the surface and became subaerial, the trees began to grow, except where the pan of indurated gravel appears to have been too hard and barren to permit of their growth. No stools or roots of trees are consequently found in situ in the gravel, but only in the sandy clay, or where both are so blended as to admit of vegetation. Broken fragments of stems and branches are abundantly found throughout both the gravel and clay; and rounded nodules of clay, occasionally containing embedded leaves, are very characteristic of these component parts of the forest-bed. Animal remains also of the same description are contained in both, but far more abundantly in the gravel. In both alike the bones are fractured in situ, with sharp angular edges, and are very rarely waterworn. These facts appear to indicate the action of powerful currents, by which the bed itself was partially broken up and nodules formed, and the whole gradually raised above the surface. This may be regarded as the second stage of this formation. Lakes, swamps, and morasses remained in some parts for the hippopotamus, and rivers for the trogontherium, or gigantic beaver. To judge by the depth of carbonized wood, and the abundance and variety of the animal remains, the forest must have flourished for ages, while this part of the earth was stationary. Then, the third and last period of the forest ensued, when a subsidence commenced. The waters, marine and fresh, resumed their sway; and they have left behind them many traces of their erosive and denuding power. After the northerly gales of Christmas, 1862, the shore was uncovered, and the forest-bed laid bare. The cliffs were washed away to an unprecedented extent, varying in some places from 2 to 20 yards. The forest-bed was then disclosed in the condition in which it had been left by denuding currents. The indurated gravel and occasionally the argillaceous sand, hardened by the oxide of iron, were found to lie in low ridges, or undulations, 5 or 6 feet above the ordinary level of the forest-bed, and at unequal distances. The forest soil on the beach was seen to be twisted and contorted in the most remarkable manner, lying, in the space of twenty yards, in every possible direction, and occasionally broken into fragmentary masses. Such is the effect produced by powerful currents to which this bed appears to have been subjected at different levels, and at different periods of its formation. The fracture of some of the bones embedded, and the leaving of others denuded upon the forest-bed, to be partly enveloped in the next beds which are presented to our notice, seem due to this cause, whether in the ascending or descending process. One singular result of this very complex series is, that the oldest organic remains are to be found in the highest levels of the forest-bed, which first emerged from the waters of the Norwich crag period, as, for instance, at Trimmingham, Cromer, and Runton. Hence the adoption by many of the relative depths at which specimens are found, as a criterion of their age, seems to be fallacious. On examining the specimens, a marked difference is observable between the teeth of the Elephas meridionalis found in the older from those found in the later portions of the deposit. The mastodontic character of the ridges is diminished, and the enamel is thinner and less rugged. Another species (considered by Dr. Falconer to be an old type of the Elephas primigenius), is found together with the Elephas meridionalis throughout the forest-bed. The enormous bones of the elephant in the Norwich Museum, and in the collection of the Rev. J. Gunn, of Irstead, are supposed to belong to one or other of these two species. A magnificent tusk, dug out of the beach at Runton, near Cromer, in 1862, now in the possession of Sir T. F. Buxton, 9 ft. 7 in. in length, and 2 ft. 8 in. in girth, probably belongs to the same species as the largest specimens in Mr. Gunn's collection; and the living animal, Dr. Falconer is of opinion, stood at least 16 or 17 ft. high. The Elephas antiquus (Falconer) chiefly prevails at Happisburgh, and seems to have been introduced into the forest-bed at a later period than the former. A tooth resembling those of the Elephas priscus, and two other varieties, in the opinion of Mr. Lartet, as yet undetermined, are in Mr. Gunn's collection also. Besides these elephants, the following list of fossil mammalia may be added:—Rhinoceros megarhinus and R. etruscus, Hippopotamus major, Equus fossilis, Bison priscus, Bos (rare), Sus, Cervus martialis, C. dama Poligniacus, C. elephus, C. Sedgwickii, a magnificent horn lately found at Bacton, with the antlers nearly perfect, and a fourth antler obtained from the same spot 20 years ago, probably belonged to the same horn. When perfect, its dimensions were about 4 ft. 6 in. by 3 ft. Fragments of antlers have, since the discovery of this specimen, been identified with it from various collections in England, in Paris, and Florence. Six other species of Cervus (according to Mr. Lartet) unknown, Ursus arvensis, Trogontherium Cuvieri, Mygale moschata, a large species of Shrew, Mole, two species of Whales, Vertebræ of fish, Elytra of beetles of several species, Scotch and spruce firs, yew, sloe, alder, oak, hazel, buckbean, white water lily, yellow water lily, seeds of the ceratophyllum demersum, hornwort, pondweed, rhizomes, and fronds of ferns.

The Norfolk and Norwich Museum has a magnificent collection of Elephantine and other remains, principally from the collection of the late Miss Gurney, of North Repps, and a valuable one of crag fossils and flint implements. The small Museums at the Priory and the Sailors' Home, at Yarmouth, contain some valuable specimens of elephant's tusks and rhinoceros's teeth. The Rev. S. W. King, F.G.S., of Saxlingham Rectory, has an interesting collection of the Mammalia, and of the Fauna and Flora generally of the Norwich crag, Forest-bed, and other deposits. The Rev. J. Gunn, F.G.S., has a large general collection, but particularly of the Elephantine and Cervine remains from the Forest-bed. Mr. Owles, chemist, of Yarmouth, has some fine specimens of Mammalian remains from the forest-bed, and obtained by dredging off the Yarmouth coast. Mr. Steward, chemist, of Yarmouth, has a good collection of elephant's teeth; and Mr. Nash, leather cutter, Chapel street, has also some interesting specimens of Mammalian remains.

3. The Laminated Beds.

These deposits, marked 3, in fig. 27 of "Antiquity of Man," and called "Fluvio-marine Series," had previously obtained the name of "Laminated beds," from the very fine and repeated laminations of clays and sands which compose them, especially at Happisburgh. They form a striking contrast to the water-worn surface of the forest-bed below, and the unstratified boulder-clay above, and appear to have been caused during the gradual subsidence of the land, by the no less gradual gathering of water upon it. They present a nearly continuous and extensive formation, from Weybourn to Easton Bavent, in Suffolk, overlying both the Norwich crag and the forest-bed, and varying in height from 20 feet, near Cromer, to 1 or 2 feet at Happisburgh. In the lowest part of them is the debris of the forest: leaves, branches, and woody fibres matted together. Large bones of mammalia are occasionally found here, which appear to have been washed out of the denuded elephant-bed; then a succession of fresh water and marine deposits occur: at Walcot, for instance, there is an extensive lacustrine bed, containing elytra of beetles. At Mundesley there is a marine bed containing the Cardium in close contact with broken fronds of ferns; a black fresh-water bed succeeds, with shells of the Unio, Cyclas, and Pisidium, similar to a still larger bed at West Runton; and above this are strata with sea-shells. Very few teeth of the elephant have been found in these beds. Only one, of the Elephas antiquus, a rolled specimen, has come to our notice. The Rev. S. W. King has obtained from them remains of the narwhal and walrus, very indicative of the commencement of the glacial series; but, before we proceed to it, we will endeavour to reply to certain questions which are asked by nearly every person who sees the magnificent organic remains of the forest-bed, viz.:—How could such animals as now inhabit warmer countries have lived in this? and, How can the changes of climate be accounted for? It is very difficult to assign a satisfactory cause for so high a temperature as prevailed during the cretaceous series, and the London and plastic clays, but the elevation of mountain ranges and the consequent glaciers, ice-bergs, and shore-ice account for the refrigeration of the temperature, and the gradual destruction of the mammalia.

V. GLACIAL SERIES.

The Lower Boulder-Clay or Till.

When the waters attained a sufficient depth, icebergs, charged with granitic and other boulders, drifted hither, and dropped their muddy and unstratified cargoes upon the level surface of the laminated beds. Thus, the lower boulder bed, called the Till, was formed. The discovery of the origin of the Till, and its identification with similar beds in northerly latitudes, is due to Sir Charles Lyell, and may be regarded as one of the most important benefits conferred by him on the science of geology. The boulders are frequently scratched and striated by the action of glaciers, which, descending from their native heights into the sea, became icebergs, and transported rocks to the Norfolk coast; the chalk and flint also are found scratched by masses of ice, which have passed over them, or were stranded upon them. As nearly every description of rock may be collected from the lower boulder-clay; it is not worth while to specify any. The larger portions of them are trap; generally supposed to have been transported from Scandinavian districts, from which circumstance the till is called the Northern drift. It is mostly a greyish blue, but occasionally of a reddish tinge, and is composed of the debris of the Lias, Kimmeridge and Oxford clay, and contains the Gryphœa incurva, fragments of belemnites and of shells of a northern character. It is an extensive formation in Norfolk, and may be traced at intervals from Weybourne into Suffolk, and inland beyond Norwich. It is impossible to ascertain to what height it may have been raised, as its surface has been denuded. At Walcot it is altogether removed, and at Bacton it is partially and faintly represented; whereas at Mundesley and at Cromer, it reaches in places nearly to the summit of the cliffs, and within a few hundred yards of its greatest elevation, it is worn down by currents, and left in bluffs upon the beach to the north-west of Cromer jetty. The beds beneath are also much disturbed or washed away on this spot, which, from the disarrangement and contortions of the upper beds, as well as of those below, demands the study of the geologist more, perhaps, than any in the entire coast section. At the old Hythe, Sherringham, large masses of boulder clay are so altered in their position, that vertical layers of shells quite perfect and unbroken, together with layers of sand, all of which were once horizontal, are placed between them. These masses of clay appear to have been shifted very quietly, otherwise the layers of shells and sand must have been disturbed. But these belong to a series of beds above the lower boulder clay, which are next presented to our notice.

2. Stratified Clays, with Sands and Gravel intermixed, lie upon the denuded surface of the Till, generally with a thin layer of beach-shingle intervening. The strata of clay first, and then of sand or gravel, but sometimes reversed, vary from a few feet to 100 feet in thickness. They are, in many places, especially to the north-west of the town of Cromer, twisted in the most fantastic manner. A good section of these contorted strata is given in Mr. Richard C. Taylor's "Geology of East Norfolk," to which excellent work the reader is referred, and also to the description of them in Sir C. Lyell's "Principles" and the "Elements of Geology," and "Antiquity of Man." The contortions in part are due to the deposition of the clay and sand on uneven surfaces, and in gorges of the lower beds, and to huge masses and pinnacles of bouldered chalk embedded in the strata. The agency of strong currents and of lateral pressure is also evident; and a most ingenious mode of accounting for their contortions, where they occur in connection with horizontal stratifications, is suggested by Mr. Joshua Trimmer,* namely, a subsidence of alternate layers of sand and clay, occasioned by the melting of masses of ice, which were imbedded in the strata. With respect to the height to which these deposits of sand may have been raised, it is impossible to form a right conjecture; but Mr. Trimmer shows that they once extended from the summit of Beeston hill to that of the Beacon hill, south-east of Cromer, and that they have since been denuded, or entirely removed. Upon these strata rests in some places an upper bed of unstratified boulder-clay.

3. Upper Boulder Clay.

It contains chiefly oölitic boulders, flint, and chalk, together with more ancient rocks. All of these are frequently scratched and grooved. At Merton, there is a boulder of the oölitic series 14 feet in length, which Sir R. Murchison considers may probably have been transported from the Brora district of Sutherland. The glacial sea seems to have attained its greatest depth during the deposition of this upper boulder-clay, for it caps the highest hills in Norfolk. It may be seen to advantage throughout the Flegg hundreds, in the Hemsby Cliff, and near Cromer, in the coast section, and in pits at Castle Rising Common, where an immense boulder of chalk, 20 yards in length, is imbedded; and at South Wooton, and Hillington. It is developed also near North Walsham, and at Witton, near Bacton, where a fine upper molar of the Elephas primigenius was found in a pocket or cavity of the bouldered chalk. It is possible and probable, that there may have been a partial alternation of dry land and water between the deposition of the lower and upper boulder-clays, for wood is found in the intermediate sands, and in the lignite bed in the contorted sands, near Cromer. But we will pass on to the undoubted return of vegetation, and the subsidence of the glacial sea, which are evidenced in the

4. Mundesley Fluvio-lacustrine Bed.

This interesting deposit is described by Mr. Prestwich, in a paper read before the British Association at Oxford in 1860,† and by Sir Chas. Lyell, "Antiquity of Man," p. 224. An old valley appears to have been scooped out through the sands, the lower boulder-clay and the laminated beds, down to the forest-bed below. This valley is lined throughout with an underlayer of gravel, and filled with a succession of black and brown peaty beds and sands. It contains an abundance of fresh-water shells, all recent, scales and teeth of fish, elytra of beetles, bones of Arvicola, and seed vessels of the ceratophyllum demersum. Occasionally bones of the Elephas antiquus and ox, and entire fish are found in it; pike and perch have been recognised. Capping

* Quarterly Journal of Geological Society, Vol. VII. pp. 22, 30, and Geology of Norfolk, p. 24.

† Geological Magazine, No. 38.

this river bed is a layer of gravel, which meets the underlying bed of gravel, defining the extent of the river, and continued beyond it, as described in Mr. Prestwich's section. This is an important fact, as it proves the antiquity of the Mundesley river bed, and its remarkable correspondence with the celebrated Hoxne brick-pits; for this upper layer of gravel is the remains of the upper-level gravel of the adjacent valley, through which at the present time a little rivulet flows—the representative of the once larger stream which scooped out the valley. We shall perceive the relation of these phenomena to each other in reviewing

5. The Valley-formations.

At the outset we took a slight view of the river-valleys. It now remains for us to examine the mode of their formation, and their fossil contents. It had been supposed that the glacial period terminated with the boulder-clays; but the result of Mr. Prestwich's searching analysis of the valley-formations in this country and upon the Continent, has proved that, notwithstanding the abatement of the extreme cold, and the return from a glacial sea to dry land, with an abundant vegetation, ice-action continued, and the climate was intermediate between that of the boulder-clay period and of the present day. But, before we examine their fossil contents, it is advisable to ascertain the process by which the valleys have been formed. The late Mr. Samuel Woodward considered them to be valleys of elevation, and this was, no doubt, correct so far as regards the primary directions given to the currents which formed the greater valleys. The subsequent process by which those valleys were reduced to their present form and condition, was brought to light by Mr. Prestwich.* We will endeavour to describe that process as well as we can, without the aid of a diagram. Suppose a major valley, or plain of denudation, about three miles in width; the current of waters leaves a deposit of gravel called the high-level gravel; the river becomes contracted to a mile in width, and works its way through the high-level gravel to a lower stage, leaving a second deposit called the low level-gravel; the river then becomes contracted to its present width of 100 yards, scoops its channel through the low-level gravel, and covers its base and its sides with recent alluvium. The results are singular, and have long been a puzzle to geologists. The high-level gravel, with its truncated edges, corresponding on either side of the valley, is more ancient than the low-level gravel, and the low-level gravel than the alluvium. We cannot expect to find the series always complete, because it varies under different conditions; for instance, where the river valley is wider than the original major valley or plain of denudation, the upper-level gravel will have been entirely removed; but such has been the manner in which the valleys have been formed.

The deposit of loess adds still further to the complication, but when the process of its formation is unfolded, it becomes equally obvious and plain. Rivers in icy regions are subject to great rises of water, occasioned by the melting of winter-snow, the fall of rain while the ground is still frozen, and other causes; and, in all rivers subject to floods, three forms of sediment will be deposited—first, the gravel and shingle in the more direct channel; secondly, sand in more sheltered places; thirdly, fine silt, where the flood-waters are out of the direct channel. The fine silt, or loess, like the high and low-level gravels, is always connected with river-valleys, although it extends much beyond the limits of these beds, and rises to higher levels. It is found at the bottom of valleys, and sometimes from one to three hundred feet higher, which may be accounted for on the supposition that the rise of the water took place successively, when the valleys were at different levels. This explanation is necessary to render the extensive deposit of clays in East Norfolk, which, are most probably a sedimentary deposit or loess, intelligible. Such is the manner in which the gravel and loess of various levels have been formed; at the same time Mr. Prestwich doubts whether the effects in question could have been produced without the upheaval of the land; a slow elevation of which would increase the velocity and erosive power of the rivers. This combined action has formed the valleys through which so many rivers flow in this county; as, for instance, the valleys of the Yare, the Wensum, and the Bure, on the opposite sides of which the escarpments of strata, which were once spread from side to side, may now be traced.

* Transactions of Royal Society, 1860.

The fauna of the several deposits is of great interest. All the species of mollusca are of forms that still exist here, and are common species, except the Cyren afluminalis of the Nile. They do not, therefore, afford any very appreciable evidence of climate, but, as Mr. Prestwich observes, the tendency of development of the group is rather in a northern than a southern direction. The evidence, however, of climatal conditions furnished by the mammalia, although slight, is more definite than that obtained from the mollusca, and tends to show that the climate of these latitudes was colder then than at the present day. The Elephas primigenius, Rhinoceros tichorinus, Cervus tarandus or reindeer, C. elephus or red deer, C. dama or fallow deer, Goat, Bison priscus, Bos primigenius, Horse, Wolf, Badger, and other animals, are found in these deposits. Mr. Prestwich is of opinion that the British Channel had been formed prior to the high-level gravel period, and that most of the animals had immigrated to this country from the continent, before the disruption, but that some might have crossed since, when the channel was bridged over by ice. But the most interesting memorials discovered in the high-level gravels are the first works of man that are known—viz., The Flint Implements. The most ordinary shapes of these are in the high-level gravels; the large lance-headed form, either with a sharp point, or a flat rounded one, and with a butt-end, sometimes blunt, and at other times chipped to an edge. It is conjectured that some of these were used for making holes in the ice, as the Chippewayan Indians and Esquimaux do at the present day with their ice chisels, when in winter the usually abundant supplies of reindeer fail, and they resort to fishing in the frozen rivers, and make and keep open water-holes for that purpose. Similar statements are made by Wrangel, in his history of Siberia, the climate of which country approaches to that of the high-level gravel period. It is remarkable that these flint implements with massive butt-ends, are most common where the evidence of ice is greatest. They almost disappear in the low-level gravels, and are there succeeded by others of an ovoid form, or by mere flakes, a change which indicates a difference in the pursuits and occupations of the primitive natives by whom they were used. Such pursuits, Mr. Prestwich justly shows, are necessarily and primarily influenced by the climate and life of the period. Such is the picture of Esquimaux life, which this distinguished geologist so graphically brings before us as probably prevailing at the period when the vestiges of man are first traceable in this country; and he places, as it were, a thermometer of the climate in our hands during the high-level gravel period, which corresponded probably with that of Canada at the present day. The localities in Norfolk, where such flint-implements have actually been found are very limited. At present only a few of the low-level gravel type have been discovered, one, by the Rev. S. W. King, from the railway cutting near Bungay, which was, we are informed, associated with remains of the Elephas primigenius; another, by Mr. Pengelly (a doubtful specimen), lying upon a heap of gathered stones by the road side, at Lakenham, near Norwich. Several have been recently brought to light in excavating the unbroken strata of gravel on the banks of the Thet, near Thetford. Such is the meagre list of flint implements at present found. It may, however, be expected that the lance-headed ones of the upper-gravel period will be obtained on the Norfolk side of the banks of the Waveney, opposite to Hoxne, and in the gravel pits near Harleston. In the valley of the Nar the remains of the Elephas primigenius have been found by Mr. Dalton, at Bilney, and Mr. Rose has pointed out in that parish a brick pit containing similar freshwater shells to those in the Hoxne bed, together with the bones of the horse and ox. On the high land of South Wootton, and many other places bordering on the Lynn Wash, the valley of the Wensum, and most of the river-valleys, there are remains of both the high and the low-level gravels, which may reward a patient search with the discovery of such implements. In the low-level gravel skirting Barton-Broad, and in the parish of Smallburgh, the bones of the deer and ox have been found. Off this coast, about forty miles from Yarmouth, and near the Dutch coast, abundant remains are obtained by dredging, of the Elephas primigenius, Rhinoceros tichorinus, Hippotamus major, Cervus tarandus, and C. megaceros, together with other mammals usually found associated with these early vestiges of man. Probably, such flint implements and the remains of the men who made them, will be brought to light from this and similar formations. A large collection of these fossil bones has been made by Mr. Rose, who described them in a paper read by him at the meeting of the British Association, at Cambridge, in 1862, and also by Mr. Owles and the Rev. John Gunn.

THE RECENT FORMATIONS, PREHISTORIC AND HISTORIC.

The Estuarine, Fluvial, and Lacustrine Deposits appear in many places in an excursion along the coast, e.g.,—the Holme and Thornham scalphs, with their magnificent submerged forest, the turbaries and forests at Palling, near Waxham, on the beach; and inland in the valleys of the Yare, the Bure, the Wensum, the Ant, and the Thurne. At some remote period the sea rolled its tide up these extensive river-valleys, and left unmistakable evidence of its course by the marine shells, which are imbedded in the blue clay of this fluvio-marine deposit, and extensive flats are covered with a muddy sediment. As far as the organic remains admit it, we will endeavour to bring them under the notice of the reader in their order of succession.

In all these formations one very decided change in the fauna is observable, namely, the disappearance of the Elephas primigenius, Rhinoceros tichorinus, the Hippotamus major, and the reindeer, and the appearance of the remains of man and his works, and of animals still living on the surface of the earth, as the horse, the ox, the red and fallow deer, the wild boar, the wolf, the badger, and others. One of the most ancient relics of man brought to light in this country was a human skull exhumed in sinking for the locks on the Dilham canal at Partridge's mill, in North Walsham. It was found lying beneath the peat upon the gravel, about 14 feet below the surface, together with two specimens of the os frontis of the Bos primigenius. The skull (that of a young man) had a hole pierced in it, from which it was conjectured by the labourers that he had been gored to death by one of the oxen, and by others that he was killed in battle at the narrow passage of the river in this place. But what we desire to record rests upon the authority of the late Rev. Wm. Tynney Spurdens, of North Walsham, namely, that the skull was submitted to Sir Everard Home and to Mr. De Ville, the celebrated phrenologist, who concurred in opinion that it was remarkable in its form, and resembled the skull of a red Indian. It was, there can be no doubt, the remains of one of the early inhabitants, who preceded the Celtic and British colonists. It is to be regretted that this relic is lost; the remains of the ox are in the Norfolk and Norwich Museum. At the Holme and Thornham Scalphs, near Hunstanton, are the remains of a remarkable forest. No human bones have been discovered there, but a polished Celt, of the stone period, was found in the Holme Scalphs, sticking in the trunk of a tree, by the Rev. George Munford, Rector of East

Winch, and it is now placed in the Norwich Museum. The horns and bones of the deer have been taken from the forest-bed, and from the muddy sediment near the Thornham sluice-gate. The trees are the ordinary trees of the neighbourhood, their stools are in situ, of great size, and the wood turned black, but so sound as to be used for carpenters' work. Human remains have frequently been dug up in the Peat formations, together with those of the red and fallow deer, and of the ox, with a large quantity of hazel nuts. At Ridlington, the skeleton of a man was found in throwing out a ditch, lying beneath a trunk of a tree. At Wayford bridge, near Smallburgh, in making a staith-ditch, several human skulls and bones were discovered about six feet deep in the peat. One skull belonging to the skeleton from Ridlington, and one of a female from Wayford, are considered by Mr. Busk to be very fine specimens of early British, and are placed in the Museum of the London University.

The formation of turbaries is very interesting and important for the determination of the age of the remains embedded in them, and the remains frequently reflect light upon the age of the turbarry. The discovery of several coins in digging turf in Catfield, near Ludham, the latest of which was of the reign of Edward VI., proves that there was water when the coins were sunk, and the peat has grown up since, and become a solid turf-ground. It is formed by the annual growth and decay of several marsh plants, as the Typha latifolia and angustifolia, Scirpus lacustris, Cladium mariscus, &c., and is estimated at the rapid growth of a foot in twenty years. The broads or lakes in Norfolk are found in some instances to grow up very rapidly by a singular process, which throws light upon the formation of ancient turf-grounds and marshes. The water-plants which fix their roots in the mud, if not cut down regularly, lose their hold, and rise to the surface, forming floating islands. These islands become massed and compacted together, and in time form marshy ground, leaving only a channel for the flow of water to pass through. In some places where boats could sail fifty years ago, people may now walk; and, where there were swamps and treacherous ground, heavy cattle are now grazing. By such a natural process extensive tracts of marshes have been formed; but where the turf or peat is of considerable depth, and where trunks of trees are embedded, which once grew upon the clay beneath, it is difficult to explain how the peat could have been formed. A change of level by a gradual subsidence seems to offer the only solution, during which the peat grew up by successive growths, as it were, and again the re-elevation of the land appears to be the most satisfactory mode of accounting for peat-formations which rise above the present level of the water. The frequent mention made of earthquakes in the history of Norfolk, especially in the Chronicles of John of Oxnead, from the earliest records to the 17th century, accords with this view. Another very powerful agent which will account for the overthrow of trees, is the violence of winds and storms such as we have experienced of late years. The incursions of the sea are also frequently mentioned by this chronicler. In 1287, he records that "In the month of December, the seventh of the Kalends of January, the 8th day of the moon—the sea, in dense darkness, began to be agitated by the violence of the wind, and in its agitation to burst through its accustomed limits, occupying towns, fields, and other places adjacent to the coast, and inundating parts which no age in past times had recorded to have seen watered with sea-water. For, issuing forth about the middle of the night, it suffocated or drowned men and women sleeping in their beds, with infants in their cradles, and all kinds of cattle and the fresh-water fishes; and it tore up houses from their foundations, with all they contained, and carried them away, and threw them into the sea with irrecoverable damage. Many, when surrounded by the waters, sought a place of refuge by mounting into trees; but, benumbed by the cold, they were overtaken by the water and fell into it and were drowned. Whereby it happened that in the town of Hyckelingge (Hickling) nine score of different sexes and ages perished in the aforesaid inundation. In the priory of Canons in the same town, the aforesaid inundation rose to the height of a foot and more over their high altar; all the canons, except two left behind, made their escape in boats; which two saved as many others as they could snatch from the waters in their dormitory, which was vaulted. And not only in the aforesaid town, but in the other towns adjacent to the sea, there was great risk of men's lives, seeing that the aforesaid inundation happened in the deep darkness of the night."

Such incursions of the sea form one of the most active elements of geological changes. Twice every 24 hours, and at certain times and seasons, with increased violence, the sea beating on the shore and cliffs, reduces the loftiest hills and the hardest rocks to a common level. Proofs of its power have been afforded within the historical period by the destruction of several parishes, or such portions of them, as to leave scarcely more than their names as Little Waxham, Whimpwell, adjoining Happisburgh; Shipden, near Cromer; and Keswick, adjoining Bacton. Eccles, near Hempstead, has suffered such depredations from time to time that in 1644, 19th Charles I., only 100 acres remained out of 2000. The tower of the ruined church stood enveloped in Marram hills till Christmas, 1862, when a strong and long continued northerly wind on the 8th day of the moon, (during a neap tide, when least expected), caused one of the highest and most destructive tides upon record. Along the line of the coast, from 2 to 20 yards, as already mentioned, were washed away, in proportion as the materials of the cliffs were capable of offering resistance. The sand hills around Eccles tower could offer but little. They were carried away about 20 yards inland, and the ploughed fields, with their fences, and tracks of cart wheels and impressions of horseshoes of the period, just as they had been left many years before, were exposed. In the early part of this century the sea broke over at Eccles and Horsey, and the entire level of marshes to Beccles, Norwich, Horstead and North Walsham, was threatened with inundation. The celebrated William Smith was called in, and the breaches were ingeniously repaired by sloping the embankments to the sea at such an angle that the waves would roll up and back harmlessly. The principle was, no doubt, sound; but in order to carry it out effectually, it is necessary to have a series of groins placed at certain distances so as to stay the shingle and sand, and prevent the sea taking the cliffs and embankments on the flank. These groins have been tried at Cromer with success, and the town has escaped uninjured by the late storms. The same effect is produced at Yarmouth by the extension of the piers of the haven seaward, and by other works. The marram hills, formed by the psamma arenaria, either growing naturally or planted, and raised as the plant grows, by blown sand, which is stayed by it, attract our attention as important barriers against the encroachments of the sea. Commencing at Happisburgh they extend to Yarmouth; at Palling and Wanham attaining the height of 40 or 50 feet, and at Yarmouth represented by low dunes and hillocks. The high tides at Christmas, 1862, in a few hours cut some of these hills in two, carrying half into the ocean and leaving the remainder with regular stratifications, as if they had been deposited by water, and with the helix and the solen intermixed, wafted by the wind from the land and from the beach. It is very difficult to obtain precise and accurate information respecting the amount of land washed away in a given number of years. We, therefore, gladly avail ourselves of a communication on the subject by a very intelligent, as well as interested observer, Mr. William Cubitt, of the Bacton Priory Farm. He states that, at Bacton, where he and his predecessors have carried on the business of coal merchants during the last thirty-five years, he has seen four coal-yards successively, a small farmhouse with a barn, out-houses and garden used as a bowling green, washed away, measuring at least ninety yards to the present cliff; and that vessels can now sail at high-water where the land was then cultivated. Such observations are valuable, not only in a geological, but in a commercial point of view. Mr. Cubitt remarks:—"It is serious to contemplate what may be the effects of two or three more such tides as we experienced in January, 1863. It is not improbable, with the present low state of the beach, and the much diminished sand-banks, that we may live to see some tens of thousands of acres of the finest land in our county suddenly overflowed. No man practically conversant with the matter can visit that part of the coast without seeing the immediate necessity for providing against such a calamity, by the formation of groins or breakwaters at right angles to the cliffs, or sandbanks, extending to extreme low-water mark. Everyone who has resided for any length of years upon this coast, must be aware that the sea is gradually, but surely, encroaching upon us. It is serious enough to see so much fine land swept away, but it would be an unmitigated calamity to see a vast portion of our county buried beneath the sea." This is one of the most effective elements of destruction, by which a few feet of land are annually washed away, till the centre ridge of high land which interposed between the sea and the adjoining valley is removed, and then the sea takes possession of the valley, and begins without delay to batter against the opposite side. There is, however, a principle of compensation going on meanwhile, by which the materials carried away are being redeposited in the form of sand and mud-banks out at sea, to be elevated above the surface by subterranean force at some future time. A new edition of terra firma may then be presented to geologists, illustrated by the medals and memorials of the present day. Such is the alternate process of destruction and renovation which has been going on for ages; and it may be expected to continue, except so far as it is arrested by the ingenuity and labour of man, to the end of time. We conclude this brief description of the small part of the crust of the earth which is exposed in this county, with an earnest recommendation that precautionary measures should be taken to resist the encroachments of the sea on the eastern coast.

ORNITHOLOGY.—The reputation which this county has always maintained as being one of the richest Ornithological districts in the United Kingdom, is quite unaffected by those local causes which have of late years altered the habits of many of our resident species. Not only is its bold projecting coast-line, extending from Yarmouth on the extreme eastern point to Hunstanton and Lynn on the north-west, peculiarly favourable for the advent of all migratory species, but the variety of attractions presented by the diversity of the soil and sudden transitions from one formation to another, are such, perhaps, as can be nowhere equalled in the same extent of country. On the coast itself we find a strange alternation of sand and shingly beaches, salt marsh, cultivated land, and low sandy hills, or lofty cliffs, with rich grassy summits and thick woods, in close vicinity to the sea. Besides which, to a very large proportion of our migratory visitants, the tidal channels of Breydon, Blakeney, and Lynn present, at low water, from their wide extent of mud banks, an inexhaustible supply of food; and, more inland, the shallow waters and reedy margins of the "Broads," surrounded by large tracts of luxuriant marshes, form the natural resort, both in winter and summer, of many of the aquatic tribes. To the natural advantages, therefore, of the locality itself, the fact, that the number of species included in the avi-fauna of Norfolk has increased rather than diminished of late years, is mainly attributable. Messrs. Gurney and Fisher, in their "Account of the Birds found in Norfolk," published in the "Zoologist" for 1846, give the total number of species at that time as 277; and even omitting one or two birds, hitherto included on insufficient authority, the total number at the present time amounts to 293. It is, however, in the nesting habits of many residents, and the absence during the summer months of others, which formerly remained to breed in this county, that we really find the changes which have been effected by local causes during the last 20 or 30 years.

Civilization and cultivation go hand-in-hand, and as the necessities of our largely-increased population demand still greater exertions to supply the required food, the wild denizens of the marsh recede before the rapid inroads of the plough, drainage on all sides narrows their boundaries, and as surely as the waving corn crops succeed the feathery reedstems, the call of the Partridge takes the place of the Redshank's whistle and the drumming noise of the Snipe. Salt marshes reclaimed, no longer afford feeding grounds for the various wild fowl; and the very repairs necessary to prevent the encroachments of the sea, are a constant source of disturbance to such species as formerly bred in the vicinity of the coast. The general enclosure of commons and waste lands has likewise in its turn, affected other classes of birds, as well as the thinning of hedgerows and other farming operations resulting of late years from an improved system of agriculture. To the latter cause may, in some degree, be attributed the much to be regretted extinction of the Great Bustard in Norfolk, its last abiding place in the whole kingdom. The adoption of horse-hoeing, undoubtedly, facilitated the discovery of its nests and eggs amongst the spring corn, (most of them being found in fields of rye,) and the high price given for the eggs, which, for the most part, were placed under hens and hatched, with the hope of rearing the young birds, caused them to be taken whenever met with. The last Bustard killed in this county was a female obtained at Lexham, near Swaffham, in 1838, the remnant of a small flock of hens, which had for some years frequented that neighbourhood; but no male birds then existing, their eggs were dropped about at random during the breeding season, and thus the whole race became entirely extinct. As an accidental migrant, can it alone be included in the "Norfolk List" at the present time, specimens having occurred here, as in other counties, which may fairly be considered as migratory visitants. Drainage and cultivation, however, but share with other causes a common result; the great increase of gunners, owing to the cheapness of firearms, and the ready means of transit by rail to almost all parts of the county, (the iron road itself traversing between Norwich and Yarmouth, some of the finest snipe marshes of former days), have done much towards completing that exterminating system which years of indiscriminate eggng was fast effecting by itself. Rather may we wonder that so much still remains to the sportsman and naturalist than that so many familiar forms have ceased to appear except as temporary sojourners on their migratory course.

There is one group of birds, however, which demands a somewhat separate notice, its persecutions arising from a very different cause. No Falcon, Hawk, Harrier, or Buzzard can long expect to escape the doom of its race in a strictly game preserving district like the county of Norfolk; and scarcely can it be said that any birds of this class but the Kestrel and Sparrow-hawk are still resident amongst us, although the nests of all three of the Harriers are occasionally found in the neighbourhood of the Broads. The Tawny and Barn Owls are both far less common than they used to be, and the Short-eared Owl, though a regular autumnal migrant, has ceased almost entirely to nest in our fens, so many of its former haunts no longer existing in their normal state. The Long-eared Owl, on the contrary, at one time scarce, has, through the great increase in our fir plantations, become a pretty numerous resident amongst us, in spite of its nests being systematically plundered. But if the Raptores have suffered at the hands of the gamekeeper (and included alike in his list of "feathered vermin" are the Raven, the Magpie, and the Carrion Crow), the smaller insessorial birds, more especially the warblers that visit us in summer, are benefited greatly through the care of the game. The dense woods afford both food and shelter, and their own little nests are safe from prying eyes, since no intruding footstep is allowed to scare the sitting Pheasants. This is perhaps the only class which can really be said to have benefited by recent changes, for if the marked decrease in our birds of prey has caused a corresponding increase amongst the Finches, Buntings, and Larks, the barbarous and unreasoning system of slaughter so recently adopted, by means of poisoned wheat, bid fair to effect at one time the same, lamentable state of things that now exists in France. The warning, however, received from that country has roused the friends of the "little bird" amongst us, and the various appeals in its favour that have appeared in our metropolitan and provincial journals have been happily supplemented by legislative enactments tending to the preservation of the feathered tribes. "Man cannot do without the bird" as an insect eater, and although, when undiminished in the natural way, their numbers become a serious tax upon the farmers' corn, there are and always have been legitimate and effectual means for thinning their ranks without involving in one general massacre the useful and the mischievous—the Rook and the Sparrow, and often, though quite unintentionally, the Partridge as well.

The arrangement and nomenclature of Yarrell's, "British birds," has been adopted, with but one or two slight exceptions (indicated by a *) in the following list of the Birds of Norfolk; and the initial letters, &c., placed after the English names of each species, will be readily understood by reference to the subjoined table, acc.—Accidental,—very rare, or such as have occurred but a few times irregularly.

a. w. m.—Autumn and winter migrants, amongst which are included most of the Gulls, but although some birds of this tribe are seen on the coast nearly all the year round, they do not (with the exception of the Black-headed Gull) breed here, and cannot therefore be classed as residents.

sp. a. m.—Spring and autumn migrants.

sp. a. m. occ.—Occasional spring and autumn migrants.

sp. a. m. occ. b.—Spring & autumn migrants occasionally remaining to breed.

s. m.—Summer migrants.

s. m. b.—Summer migrants breeding here.

s. m. occ. b.—Summer migrants breeding here occasionally.

r.—Resident all the year and breeding here.

r. m.—Residents receiving migratory additions in autumn and winter.

r. m. occ.—Residents occasionally receiving additions.

irr. m.—Irregular migrants appearing at various seasons.

w. m.—Winter migrants.

w. m. irr.—Irregular winter migrants.

w. m. occ. b.—Winter migrants occasionally remaining to breed.

Haliaeetus albicilla	...	White-tailed Eagle	...	a. w. m.	—	—
Pandion haliaetus	...	Osprey	...	sp. a. m.	—	—
* Falco greenlandicus	...	Greenland Falcon	...	acc.	—	—
— peregrinus	...	Peregrine Falcon	...	sp. a. m.	—	—
— subbuteo	...	Hobby	...	s. m. occ. b.	—	—
— rufipes	...	Red-footed Falcon	...	acc.	—	—
— æsalon	...	Merlin	...	sp. a. m.	—	—
— tinnunculus	...	Kestrel	...	r. m.	—	—
Astur palumbarius	...	Goshawk	...	sp. a. m. occ.	—	—
Accipiter nisus	...	Sparrowhawk	...	r. m.	—	—
Milvus vulgaris	...	Kite	...	acc.	—	—
Buteo vulgaris	...	Common Buzzard	...	sp. a. m.	—	—
— lagopus	...	Rough-legged Buzzard	...	sp. a. m.	—	—
Pernis apivorus	...	Honey Buzzard	...	sp. a. m. occ.	—	—

Circus ceruginosus	...	Marsh Harrier	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— cyaneus	...	Hen Harrier	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	b.
— montagni	...	Montague's Harrier	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	b.
Scops aldrovandi	...	Scop's Eared Owl	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— asio	American Mottled Owl	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Otus vulgaris	Long-eared Owl	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— brachyotos	...	Short-eared Owl	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	b.?
Strix flammea	...	Barn Owl	r.	—	—	—	—
Syrnium stridula	...	Tawny Owl	...	r.	—	—	—	—
Surnia nyctea	...	Snowy Owl	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Noctua passerina	...	Little Owl	acc.	—	—	—	—
— tengmalm	...	Tengmalm's Owl	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Lanius excubitor	...	Great Grey Shrike	...	irr.	m.	—	—	—
— collurio	...	Red-backed Shrike	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— rutilus	...	Woodchat Shrike	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Muscicapa grisola	...	Spotted Flycatcher	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— atricapilla	Pied Flycatcher	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	b.
Cinclus aquaticus	...	Common Dipper	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Turdus viscivorus	...	Missel Thrush	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— pilaris	Fieldfare	w.	m.	—	—	—
— musicus	...	Song Thrush	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— iliacus	Redwing	w.	m.	—	—	—
— merula	...	Blackbird	r.	m.	—	—	—
— torquatus	...	Ring Ouzel	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	b.
Oriola galbula	Golden Oriole	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Accentor modularis	...	Hedge Sparrow	...	r.	—	—	—	—
Erythaca rubecula	...	Redbreast	r.	—	—	—	—
* Motacilla suecica (Linn)	...	Blue-throated Warbler	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— ruticilla	Redstart	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— tithys	...	Black Redstart	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Saxicola rubicola	...	Stonechat	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— rubetra	...	Whinchat	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— ænanthe	...	Wheatear	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Salicaria locustella	...	Grasshopper Warbler	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— phragmitis	...	Sedge Warbler	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— luscinioides	...	Savi's Warbler	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— arundinacea	...	Reed Warbler	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Philomela lusciniæ	...	Nightingale	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Curruca atricapilla	...	Blackcap Warbler	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— hortensis	...	Garden Warbler	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— cinerea	...	Common Whitethroat	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— sylviella	...	Lesser Whitethroat	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Sylvia sylvicola	...	Wood Warbler	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— trochilus	...	Willow Warbler	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
*— rufa	Chiffchaff	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Melizophilus dartfordiensis	...	Dartford Warbler	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Regulus cristatus	...	Golden-crested Regulus	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— ignicapillus	...	Fire-crested Regulus	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Parus major	Great Tit	r.	m.	—	—	—
— cœruleus	Blue Tit	r.	—	—	—	—
— ater	Cole Tit	r.	—	—	—	—
— palustris	Marsh Tit	r.	m.	—	—	—
— caudatus	...	Long-tailed Tit	...	r.	—	—	—	—
Calamophilus biarmicus	...	Bearded Tit	...	r.	—	—	—	—
Bombycilla garrula	...	Bohemian Waxwing	...	w.	m.	occ.	—	—
Motacilla yarrellii	...	Pied Wagtail	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— boarula	...	Grey Wagtail	...	w.	m.	—	—	—
— neglecta	...	Grey-headed Wagtail	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— flava	...	Ray's Wagtail	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—

Anthus arboreus ...	Tree Pipit ...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— pratensis ...	Meadow Pipit ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— petrosus ...	Rock Pipit ...	w.	m.	—	—	—
— ricardi ...	Richard's Pipit ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— alpestris ...	Shore Lark ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— arvensis ...	Skylark ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— arborea ...	Wood Lark ...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Plectrophanes lapponica ...	Lapland Bunting ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— nivalis ...	Snow Bunting ...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Emberiza miliaria ...	Common Bunting ...	r.	m.?	—	—	—
— schoeniclus ...	Black-headed Bunting ...	r.	—	—	—	—
— citrinella ...	Yellow Bunting ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— cirlus ...	Cirl Bunting ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— hortulana ...	Ortolan Bunting ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Fringilla coelebs ...	Chaffinch ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— montifringilla ...	Bramling ...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Passer montanus ...	Tree Sparrow ...	r.	—	—	—	—
— domesticus ...	House Sparrow ...	r.	—	—	—	—
Coccothraustes chloris ...	Greenfinch ..	r.	—	—	—	—
— vulgaris ...	Hawfinch ...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	b.
Carduelis elegans ...	Goldfinch ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— spinus ...	Siskin ...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Linota cannabina ...	Common Linnet ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— canescens ...	Mealy Redpole ...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— linaria ...	Lesser Redpole ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— montium ...	Twite ...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Pyrhula vulgaris ...	Bullfinch ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— enucleator ...	Pine Grosbeak ...	acc.	m.?	—	—	—
Loxia curvirostra ...	Common Crossbill ...	w.	m.	occ.	—	—
— pityopsittacus ...	Parrot Crossbill ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— bifasciata ...	European White-winged Crossbill	acc.	—	—	—	—
Agelaius phoeniceus ...	Redwinged Starling	acc.	—	—	—	—
* Sturnella ludoviciana ...	American Meadow Starling	acc.	—	—	—	—
— vulgaris ...	Common Starling ...	r.	—	—	—	—
Pastor roseus ...	Rose-coloured Pastor	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	—
Corvus corax ...	Raven ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— corone ...	Carion Crow ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— cornix ...	Hooded Crow ...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— frugiligus ...	Rook ...	r.	—	—	—	—
— monedula ...	Jackdaw ...	r.	—	—	—	—
Pica caudata ...	Magpie ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— glandarius ...	Jay ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
Nucifraga caryocatactes ...	Nutcracker ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Picus martius ...	Great Black Woodpecker	acc.	—	—	—	—
— viridis ...	Green Woodpecker ...	r.	m.?	—	—	—
— major ...	Great Spotted Woodpecker	r.	m.	—	—	—
— minor ...	Lesser Spotted Woodpecker	r.	m.?	—	—	—
Yunx torquilla ...	Wryneck ...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Certhia familiaris ...	Common Creeper ...	r.	—	—	—	—
Troglodytes vulgaris ...	Wren ...	r.	—	—	—	—
Upupa epops ...	Hoopoe ...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
Sitta europaea ...	Nuthatch ...	r.	—	—	—	—
Cuculus canorus ...	Cuckoo ...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
Coracias garrula ...	Roller ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Merops apiaster ...	Bee-eater ...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Alcedo ispida ...	Kingfisher ...	r.	m.	—	—	—
Hirundo rustica ...	Swallow ...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— urbica ...	House Martin ...	s.	m.	b.	—	—

Hirundo riparia	...	Sand Martin...	...	s. m.	b.	—	—
Cypselus apus	...	Common Swift	...	s. m.	b.	—	—
——— alpinus	...	Alpine Swift	...	acc.	—	—	—
Caprimulgus europæus	...	Nightjar	...	s. m.	b.	—	—
Columba palumbus	...	Ringdove	...	r. m.	—	—	—
——— ænas	...	Stock Dove	...	r.	—	—	—
——— turtur	...	Turtle Dove	...	s. m.	b.	—	—
Phasianus colchicus	...	Common Pheasant	...	r.	—	—	—
Tetrao tetrix	...	Black Grouse	...	r.	—	—	—
* Syrhaptes paradoxus	...	Sand Grouse	...	acc.	—	—	—
Perdix cinerea	...	Common Partridge	...	r.	—	—	—
——— rufa	...	Red-legged Partridge	...	r. m.	—	—	—
Coturnix vulgaris	...	Common Quail	...	s. m.	b.	—	—
Otis tarda	...	Great Bustard	...	acc.	—	—	—
——— tetrax	...	Little Bustard	...	acc.	—	—	—
Edicnemus crepitans	...	Great Plover...	...	s. m.	b.	—	—
Glareola torquata	...	Collared Pratincole	...	acc.	—	—	—
Charadrius pluvialis	...	Golden Plover	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— morinellus	...	Common Dotterel	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— hiaticula	...	Ring Dotterel	...	r. m.	—	—	—
——— cantianus	...	Kentish Plover	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	—
Squatarola cinerea	...	Gray Plover	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
Vanellus cristatus	...	Peewit	...	r. m.	—	—	—
Streptilas interpres	...	Turnstone	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
Calidrs arenaria	...	Sanderling	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
Hœmatopus ostralis	...	Oyster Catcher	...	r. m.	—	—	—
Grus cinerea	...	Common Crane	...	acc.	—	—	—
Ardea cinerea	...	Common Heron	...	r.	—	—	—
——— purpurea	...	Purple Heron	...	acc.	—	—	—
——— alba	...	Great White Heron	...	acc.	—	—	—
——— garzetta	...	Little Egret	...	acc.	—	—	—
——— comata	...	Squacco Heron	...	acc.	—	—	—
Botaurus minutus	...	Little Bittern	...	acc.	—	—	—
——— stellaris	...	Common Bittern	...	a. w.	m.	—	—
Nycticorax gardeni	...	Night Heron...	...	acc.	—	—	—
Ciconia alba	...	White Stork...	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	—
Platalea leucorodia	...	White Spoonbill	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	—
Ibis falcinellus	...	Glossy Ibis	...	acc.	—	—	—
Numenius arquata	...	Common Curlew	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— phœopus	...	Whimbrel	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
Totanus fuscus	...	Spotted Redshank	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— calidris	...	Common Redshank	...	r. m.	—	—	—
——— ochropus	...	Green Sandpiper	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— glareola	...	Wood Sandpiper	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— hypoleucos	...	Common Sandpiper	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— glottis	...	Greenshank	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
Recurvirostra avocetta	...	Avocet	...	acc.	—	—	—
Himantopus melanopterus	...	Black-winged Stilt	...	acc.	—	—	—
Limosa melanura	...	Black-tailed Godwit	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	—
——— rufa	...	Bar-tailed Godwit	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
Machetes pugnax	...	Ruff	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	b.
Scolopax rusticola	...	Woodcock	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	b.
——— major	...	Great Snipe	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— gallinago	...	Common Snipe	...	r. m.	—	—	—
——— gallinula	...	Jack Snipe	...	sp. a.	m.	—	—
——— sabina	...	Sabine's Snipe	...	acc.	—	—	—
Macrorhamphus griseus	...	Brown Snipe...	...	acc.	—	—	—
Tringa subarquata	...	Curlew Sandpiper	...	sp. a.	m.	occ.	—

Tringa canutus	...	Knot	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
— rufescens	...	Buff-breasted Sandpiper	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— platyrhyncha	...	Broad-billed Sandpiper	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— minuta	...	Little Stint	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
— Temminckii	...	Temminck's Stint	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	—
— pectoralis	...	Pectoral Sandpiper	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— variabilis	...	Dunlin	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
— maritima	...	Purple Sandpiper	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
Crex pratensis	...	Landrail	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— porzana	...	Spotted Crake	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— pucilla	...	Little Crake	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— baillonii	...	Baillons Crake	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Rallus aquaticus	...	Water Rail	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
Gallinula chloropus	...	Moorhen	...	r.	—	—	—	—
Fulica atra	...	Coot	...	r.	—	—	—	—
Phalaropus lobatus	...	Grey Phalarope	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
— hyperboreus	...	Red-necked Phalarope	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
Anser ferus	...	Red-legged Goose	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— segetum	...	Bean Goose	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— brachyrhynchus	...	Pink-footed Goose	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
— albifrons	...	Whitefronted Goose	...	w.	m.	—	—	—
— leucopsis	...	Bernicle Goose	...	w.	m.	—	—	—
— torquatus	...	Brent Goose	...	w.	m.	—	—	—
— ruficollis	...	Red-breasted Goose	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— egyptiacus	...	Egyptian Goose	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— canadensis	...	Canada Goose	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Cygnus olor	...	Mute Swan	...	r.	—	—	—	—
— ferus	...	Hooper	...	w.	m.	—	—	—
— bewickii	...	Bewick Swan	...	w.	m.	occ.	—	—
— immutabilis	...	Polish Swan	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Tadorna vulpanser	...	Sheldrake	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
Anas strepera	...	Gadwall	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— clypeata	...	Shoveller	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— acuta	...	Pintail	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— boschas	...	Wild Duck	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— querquedula	...	Garganey	...	s.	m.	b.	—	—
— crecca	...	Teal	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
— panelope	...	Wigeon	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Somateria mollissima	...	Eider Duck	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— dispar	...	Stellar's Western Duck	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— spectabilis	...	King Duck	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Oidemia fusca	...	Velvet scoter	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
— nigra	...	Common Scoter	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Fuligula rufina	...	Red-crested Whistling Duck	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— ferina	...	Pochard	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— niroka	...	Ferruginous Duck	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
— marila	...	Scaup Duck	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— cristata	...	Tufted Duck	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— glacialis	...	Long-tailed Duck	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— histrionica	...	Harlequin Duck	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— clangula	...	Golden Eye	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— albeola	...	Buffel-headed Duck	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Mergus albellus	...	Smew	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— cuclullatus	...	Hooded Merganser	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
— serrator	...	Red-breasted Merganser	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
— merganser	...	Goosander	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Podiceps cristatus	...	Great Crested Grebe	...	r.	m.	?	—	—
— rubricollis	...	Red-necked Grebe	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—

Podiceps cornutus	...	Slavonian Grebe	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
——auritus	...	Eared Grebe	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
——minor	...	Little Grebe	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
Colymbus glacialis	...	Great Northern Diver	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——arcticus	...	Black-throated Diver	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——septentrionalis	...	Red-throated Diver	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Uria troile	...	Common Guillemot	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
——ringvia	...	Ringed Guillemot	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Mergulus alle	...	Little Auk	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
Fratercula arctica	...	Puffin	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
Alca torda	...	Razorbill	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
Phalacrocorax carbo	...	Cormorant	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	—
——graculus	...	Shag	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Sula alba	...	Gannet	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	—
Sterna Caspia	...	Caspian Tern	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——boysii	...	Sandwich Tern	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	—
——dougallii	...	Roseate Tern	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——hirundo	...	Common Tern	...	sp.	a.	m.	b.	—
——anglica	...	Gull-billed Tern	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——arctica	...	Arctic Tern	...	sp.	a.	m.	—	—
——leucopareia	...	Whiskered Tern	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——minuta	...	Lesser Tern	...	sp.	a.	m.	b.	—
——fissipes	...	Black Tern	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	b.
——leucoptera	...	White-winged Black Tern	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Larus minutus	...	Little Gull	...	sp.	a.	m.	occ.	—
——ridibundus	...	Black-headed Gull	...	r.	m.	—	—	—
——tridactylus	...	Kittiwake Gull	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——eburneus	...	Ivory Gull	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——canus	...	Common Gull	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——leucopterus	...	Iceland Gull	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——fuscus	...	Lesser Black-backed Gull	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——argentatus	...	Herring Gull	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——marinus	...	Great Black-backed Gull	...	a.	w.	m.	—	—
——glaucus	...	Glaucus Gull	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
Lestris catarractes	...	Common Skua	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
——pomarinus	...	Pomarine Skua	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
——richardsonii	...	Richardson's Skua	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
——parasiticus	...	Buffon's Skua	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
Procellaria glacialis	...	Fulmar Petrel	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
——hoesitata	...	Capped Petrel	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Puffinus anglorum	...	Manx Shearwater	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—
——major	...	Great Shearwater	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——obscurus	...	Dusky Petrel	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
Thalassidroma Wilsoni	...	Wilson's Petrel	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——leachii	...	Fork-tailed Petrel	...	acc.	—	—	—	—
——pelagica	...	Storm Petrel	...	a.	w.	m.	occ.	—

HISTORY

OF THE

CITY AND COUNTY OF THE CITY

OF

NORWICH.

NORWICH, the capital of Norfolk, and the See of an extensive Bishopric, is the largest city on the eastern side of England, and forms, with its precincts, a county of itself, containing about 76,000 inhabitants, 35 parishes, 10 hamlets, and 6,630 acres of land. It has long been celebrated for its manufactures, for its venerable antiquities, and for the memorable events of which it has been the scene. From its numerous gardens, shrubberies, and shady trees, it has been emphatically called "a city in an orchard;" and though many of these sylvan ornaments have given place, during the present century, to new streets and modern erections, it still retains much of its former rural aspect. It is pleasantly seated on the sloping banks of the river Wensum, which, at a short distance to the south-east, empties itself into the Yare, after having, by several abrupt sinuosities, intersected and partly encompassed this populous city, which is distant 108 miles N.E. by N. of London; 43 miles N. of Ipswich; 42 miles E. by S. of Lynn-Regis; 49 miles N.E. of Newmarket; 19 miles W. of Yarmouth; 25 miles W.N.W. of Lowestoft; 72 miles N.E. by E. of Cambridge; 99 miles E.S.E. of Lincoln; and about 380 miles S.E. by S. of Edinburgh; being in 52 deg. 35 min. north latitude, and in 1 deg. 20 min. east longitude from the meridian of Greenwich. The Wensum and the Yare are navigable only for small craft from Yarmouth; but the shallows near the mouth of the latter river are now avoided by a ship canal cut across the marshes, from Reedham to Lowestoft, and opened in 1833, so that Norwich is now a port for sea-borne vessels; and by the Great Eastern Railway, and its various branches, it is connected with all the great lines of railway now traversing the kingdom. Norwich is one of the largest seats of the weaving trade, and is noted for its manufactures of crape, gauze, chalis, fillover shawls, silk shawls, bandannas, camlet, mohair, paramatta, mouselinde-laine, poplin, barege, glove cloth, sewing cotton, coach lace, horse hair, sacking, brushes, boots and shoes, &c., &c., and for its extensive wool and yarn mills, agricultural implement and galvanised-iron works, foundries, coach-building establishments, rope walks, artificial manure works, breweries, tanneries, dye-works, soap and tallow works, starch and mustard mills, and patent concrete stone works. Being screened from the keen easterly winds by the hills of Mousehold Heath; and the soil being a light loam, resting on beds of chalk, gravel, and sand, the air of Norwich is dry, mild, and salubrious, and the water of its numerous springs is of the purest quality. Among its inhabitants at the time of taking the census in 1861 were 364 above 80 years of age, 132 above 85, 33 above 90, 3 above 95, and 1 above 100. Among other instances of longevity may be mentioned Mrs. Lang, who died in 1820, aged 104; Mary Herring, who died in 1813, aged 106; and John Smith, who died in 1843, aged 102 years.

The city of Norwich is said to occupy a larger space of ground, comparatively with its population, than any other in the kingdom; many of its buildings being interspersed with gardens and other private enclosures, which contribute much to the general appearance of the place, and also to the free circulation of air, which would otherwise be somewhat impaired by the narrowness of many of the streets, some of which, however, have been widened during the present century, by the removal of the projecting fronts, and over-hanging gables of many of the antique half-timbered houses. The plan or shape of the city, as marked by its ancient boundaries, approaches that of a cornucopia, or bent cone, extending more than a mile and a half in length from north to south, on both sides of the river, and one mile and a quarter in its greatest breadth from east to west; but these admeasurements are now considerably extended by modern erections in the suburbs. It was formerly surrounded by a strong flint Wall, flanked with forty Towers, and having a broad ditch and twelve Gates; except on its south-eastern side, and a small portion of its northern extremity, where it is bounded by the river Wensum; but having fallen into decay, and being considered impediments to the growth and improvement of the city, the whole of the gates and several large portions of the wall have been removed at various periods, and their sites occupied by many of the new streets and buildings, which have sprung into existence since the year 1816, in this ancient city and its hamlets;—the latter of which surround, and most of them form populous, handsome, and contiguous suburbs of the city, from which they were formerly separated by green fields and frowning fortifications; of which latter, enough still remains to show their ancient strength, especially on the castle hill, which holds a central situation, and though only of a moderate altitude, commands an extensive and beautiful view of the city and neighbourhood, and was once a formidable citadel, as will be seen at a subsequent page.

The late Mr. James Grigor, who published, in 1841, a valuable work, illustrated by fifty etchings of remarkable trees, entitled "THE EASTERN ARBORETUM," lamented that Norwich, so rich in sylvan beauties as to have been styled "the city of gardens," or "the city in an orchard," should still be without a public Botanical Garden, where the productions of all parts of the globe might be scientifically cultivated, and a stimulus given to Norfolk, for the general introduction of a variety of ornamental trees, shrubs, and flowers, now unknown, or rarely to be seen in the county. He considered that the best site for such an institution is Chapel field, which was planted in 1746 by Sir Thomas Churchman, and is still a public promenade. This field is already full of the elements of every thing that gives dignity and grace to garden landscape, having a good soil, some noble specimens of old trees, and several hundred yards of rock-work-wall, admirably adapted for Alpine plants. The fine lime trees in the Upper and Lower Close, were planted in the 17th century. In the grounds of Sir Samuel Bignold, in Surrey street, is a fine collection of large hawthorns; at the seat of G. L. Coleman, Esq., in Heigham, are some magnificent specimens of the horse chestnut; and at the Grove, in Ipswich road, is a fine mulberry tree and some uncommonly large shady beech trees. In the Town Close are many towering elms of great height, a noble specimen of the snowdrop tree, and a shady avenue of beech, ninety yards in length; and in the garden of Captain Ives, at St. Catherine's Hill, is a strawberry tree, twenty feet high, and a large wide-spreading plane. Near Ber street gates is the Wilderness, the most romantic seat about Norwich. Bracondale Lodge, the seat of Miss Martineau, has in its sylvan pleasure grounds several temples and other ornamental buildings, and some of its elms are from 11 to 12 feet in girth. Earlham Hall, the residence of the Rev. W. N. Ripley, was the seat of the late J. J. Gurney, Esq. It has a heronry, and its grounds are full of sylvan magnificence. The Village of Thorpe, which has been called the "Richmond of Norfolk," has many handsome villas, with delightful gardens and pleasure grounds sloping to the river, but lies just without the boundaries of the county of the city, beyond Thorpe Hamlet, which has also many picturesque beauties and neat houses, as also have Bracondale, Carrow, and some of the other suburban hamlets. At Crown Point, among other large trees, is a hollow pollard oak, 19 ft. 9 in. in girth. In the Great Hospital garden is a fig tree more than 200 years old; and in the Hospital meadow is a venerable elder tree, 8 ft. 6 in. in girth, and 40 ft. high.

The POPULATION of Norwich, which is the best criterion of its growing prosperity, has increased since the year 1811, from 37,313 to about 76,000 souls, notwithstanding the occasional depressions and revolutions to which the ancient staple trade of the city has been subjected during the last fifty years. The following Table shews an enumeration of the Parishes and Hamlets of the City and County of the City, with the number of inhabitants in each, at nine different periods, from 1693 to 1861.

CITY OF NORWICH PARISHES.	POPULATION IN A.D.
	1693	1752	1801	1811	1821	1831	1841	1851	1861
All Saints	425	578	701	657	741	692	676	689	667
St. Andrew	935	1334	1858	1396	1518	1297	1295	1256	978
St. Augustine	850	1226	1232	1394	1627	2022	2053	2111	1890
St. Benedict	652	715	830	925	1125	1424	1319	1379	1331
St. Clement	593	816	853	933	2364	2767	2836	3229	3961
St. Edmund	370	520	446	492	677	762	727	890	753
St. Etheldred	243	247	252	261	273	627	308	395	614
St. George Colegate ..	1154	1295	1132	1379	1610	1513	1440	1580	1607
St. George Tombland ..	722	737	750	739	797	710	778	794	687
St. Giles	910	961	1076	1043	1422	1595	1546	1611	1586
St. Gregory	772	1202	1057	1125	1244	1104	1107	1116	934
St. Helen	338	336	393	371	425	521	487	525	507
St. James	416	696	520	565	1268	1299	1311	1538	1353
St. John Maddermarkt ..	657	1107	1698	827	957	814	738	708	537
St. John Sepulchre ..	781	1004	1144	1233	1599	1832	1847	2014	2219
St. John Timberhill ..	668	890	888	918	1101	1055	1108	1284	1302
St. Julian	593	595	662	677	932	1069	1098	1296	1361
St. Lawrence	668	952	899	992	1092	1008	974	1024	877
St. Margaret	664	856	662	797	938	868	865	840	664
St. Martin-at-Oak	1243	1698	1747	1857	2477	2524	2589	2678	2546
St. Martin-at-Palace ..	819	1083	936	978	1202	1217	1320	1317	1085
St. Mary Coslany	949	1178	1018	1097	1521	1361	1402	1565	1498
St. Mary in-the-Marsh ..	650	700	616	508	583	611	498	518	451
St. Michael Coslany ..	1026	1046	1031	947	1340	1202	1298	1347	1365
St. Michael-at-Plea ..	479	482	446	501	389	357	395	423	379
St. Michael-at-Thorn ..	865	1127	1198	1450	1750	2048	1860	2094	2121
St. Paul	983	1461	1395	1583	2160	2407	2783	2741	2907
St. Peter Hungate	267	341	371	398	511	522	428	477	399
St. Peter Mancroft	1953	2288	2120	2137	2671	2901	2976	2992	2575
St. Peter Mountergate ..	1376	1480	1350	1291	1789	1975	2025	2297	2868
St. Peter Southgate ..	470	425	378	389	530	627	465	493	457
St. Saviour	701	810	984	990	1266	1486	1419	1457	1532
St. Simon and St. Jude ..	362	420	333	398	447	446	360	353	283
St. Stephen	1769	2314	2211	2198	2927	4110	4212	4361	4191
St. Swithin	496	751	503	591	750	870	753	802	699
HAMLETS.
Earlham	50	68	95	84	118	103	107	131	195
Eaton	153	226	278	294	419	529	621	785	930
Heigham*	544	653	854	842	1503	5396	6050	7745	13894
Hellesden (part of) + ..	65	70	155	184	248	382	324	371	393
Lakenham	221	165	428	441	1875	3810	4006	4776	4866
Pockthorpe§	732	1116	979	1029	1313	1669	1878	2070	2055
Thorpe (part of) †	69	36	74	67	284	1211	1156	1811	2388
Trowse-Milgate, Carrow, & Bracondale ‡ }	258	386	353	345	505	607	788	724	687
Town Close 	14	18	106	249
TOTAL	28,881	36,441	36,906	37,313	50,288	61,364	62,246	68,713	75,025

THE COUNTY OF THE CITY OF NORWICH was separated from the county of Norfolk by Henry IV. in 1403, and placed under the exclusive jurisdiction of the corporation. It comprises about 6630 acres of land, being nearly 14 miles in circumference, and extending from the Guildhall, in the Market-place, $1\frac{3}{4}$ mile to Mile-cross, on the north; $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile to Thorpe St. Andrew, on the east; $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles to Harford bridges, on the south; and $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the outer bounds of Earlham, on the west. It is encompassed by the Hundreds of Humbleyard, Henstead, Blofield, Taverham, and Forehoe. The river Yare bounds it on the west and south, and, with the Wensum nearly insulates the greater part of it; but it extends beyond the north, east side of the latter river, to Thorpe, Mousehold Heath, Hellesden, and the confines of Catton and Sprowston; and on the Costessey road, its boundary is an imaginary line near the two-mile-stone, drawn between the Wensum and Yare, which here approach within a mile of each other, and after following many circuitous windings, unite their streams at Trowse Eye, a little below the city. The Wensum, in its sinuous course through Norwich, is crossed by ten bridges, three of which are modern structures of cast iron, and several of them are fine specimens of ancient masonry. The Castle hill, though in the heart of the city, belongs to the county of Norfolk, being now the site of the Gaol and Shire Hall, and vested in the High Sheriff and Justices of the Peace, by an act passed in 1806. The Cathedral Close and its precincts, and the precincts of the Castle and Shire Hall, were added to the Parliamentary and Municipal Borough of Norwich, by the Reform Acts of 1832 and 1835, together with all extra-parochial places lying within the outer boundary of the "City and County of the City," which comprises 35 parishes, parts of four other parishes, commonly called "hamlets," and 40 parochial churches, exclusive of the cathedral, and three district churches, or chapels of ease. Here were anciently about twenty other parishes, but they were consolidated with the above, and their churches desecrated or taken down many years ago. All the present parishes and hamlets are united for the maintenance of the poor, under † Thorpe extends into Blofield Hundred. The entire parish contains 3841 inhabitants. Those in the Norwich portion of the parish use St. Helen's Church. Trowse Millgate, Carrow, and Bracondale, are in Trowse Newton parish, which is partly in Henstead Hundred, and comprises 1404 inhabitants.

§ Pockthorpe Hamlet is in St. James' parish, which comprises altogether 3408 souls.

† Hellesden parish extends into Taverham Hundred, beyond the jurisdiction of the County of the City. The entire parish contains 496 souls.

|| Town Close is an estate of 112 acres, (without St. Stephen's gate) belonging to the Corporation, and on which the citizens had formerly commonage; but in lieu of thatright, the resident freemen (nearly 2400) each receive about 6s. yearly out of the rents of the estate, which now amount to more than £700 per annum, part of it being let on building leases.

* The great increase in the population of Heigham, in 1861, was occasioned by the erection of the new City Workhouse and more than 1800 houses in that pleasant suburb during the preceding ten years.

☞ INSTITUTIONS.—The parochial returns in 1861 included as follows, viz.—St. Clement's parish, 96 in Pauper Lunatic Asylum; St. Helen's, 175 in Great Hospital; Pockthorpe, 309 in Cavalry Barracks; St. Paul's, 41 in Blind Hospital, and 20 in Stanley Home; St. John Timberhill, 111 in Castle Gaol; St. Peter Mountergate, 75 in Boys' Home; St. Stephens, 149 in Norfolk and Norwich Hospital; St. Peter Mancroft, 90 in Bethel Hospital; Heigham, 635 in Workhouse, 105 in City Gaol, 71 in Heigham Hall Asylum, and 35 in Girls' Home; St. Margaret's, 19 in Jenny Lind Infirmary, and 24 in the Orphans' Home; and St. Lawrence, 9 in the Eye Infirmary.

Of the 74,891 inhabitants in 1861,—33,862 were males, and 41,028 females; living in 17,122 houses; besides which there were in the city 735 empty houses, and 102 building, when the census was taken. The total number of houses in the City and County of the City was 7,131, in 1752; 8,336, in 1811; 11,031, in 1821; 14,367, in 1831; 14,906, in 1841; 15,611 in 1851, and 17,959, in 1861. It will be seen in the foregoing table, that the parishes which have most rapidly increased in buildings and population, during the last fifty years, are Heigham, Lakenham, St. Clement's, and St. Stephen's. The annual value of the land and buildings in the City Incorporated parishes, at the present time as assessed to the poor rates, is £156,000.

an Act of Parliament passed in 1863. In municipal affairs they are now divided into eight wards; but before the passing of the Reform Act of 1835, they were divided into four great wards, viz., Mancroft, Wymer, Conisford, and the Great Northern Ward, each of which was sub-divided into three small wards, with two Aldermen each. As numerous charities have been bequeathed for distribution among the poor of these OLD WARDS, their names are still preserved for almonry purposes, and the following shows the parishes and hamlets comprised in each:—

MANCROFT GREAT WARD includes the three parishes of St. Stephen, St. Peter Mancroft, and St. Giles, each forming a small Ward.

WYMER GREAT WARD is divided into the three small Wards of West, Middle, and East Wymer:—West Wymer contains the parishes of St. Benedict, St. Swithin, St. Margaret, St. Lawrence, and St. Gregory;—Middle Wymer has the parishes of St. John Maddermarket and St. Andrew, with most of the parish of St. Michael-at-Plea;—East Wymer comprises the parishes of St. Peter, Hungate, St. Simon and St. Jude, St. Martin-at-Palace, St. Helen, and the chief part of St. George Tombland.

CONISFORD GREAT WARD is subdivided into the three small Wards of North and South Conisford, and Ber Street:—North Conisford comprehends the parish of St. Peter-per-Mountergate, two small portions of St. George Tombland, and St. Michael-at-Plea:—South Conisford has the three parishes of St. Julian, St. Etheldred, and St. Peter Southgate;—Ber-street Ward contains the parishes of St. John Sepulchre, St. Michael-at-Thorne, St. John Timberhill, and All Saints. Conisford Street which gave the name to this great Ward, is now called King street.

GREAT NORTHERN WARD, or Ward beyond the Water, is divided into the small Wards of Coslany, Colegate, and Fye-Bridge:—Coslany Ward includes the three parishes of St. Michael Coslany, St. Mary, and St. Martin-at-Oak:—Colegate Ward comprises St. George Colegate and St. Augustine:—Fye Bridge Ward includes the five parishes of St. Clement, St. Edmund, St. Saviour, St. Paul, and St. James.

The Hamlets enjoy all the privileges of the City Wards, and are annexed to them as follows, viz.:—Lakenham, with Trowse, Carrow, and Bracondale to South Conisford and Ber street Wards; Eaton, to St. Stephen's Ward; Earlham, to St. Peter Mancroft and West Wymer Wards; Heigham and Hellesden, to West Wymer Ward; Pockthorpe, to Fye-Bridge Ward; and Thorpe, to East Wymer Ward.

NORWICH UNION,—All the parishes and hamlets of the city, except St. Mary's in the Marsh, were united for the support of the poor, under an Act of Parliament, passed in 1712, vesting the management in a Court of Guardians, empowered to assess to the poor rates, all lands, houses, tenements, tithes, stocks, and personal estates. The assessment of the two latter created great dissatisfaction, and the mismanagement of the guardians, together with depressions of trade, and increased population, having augmented the poor rates from twenty to fifty thousand pounds in 1826, a new act was obtained in 1827, which abolished the assessment of stocks and personal estates, and considerably altered the constitution of the Court of Guardians. This act was further amended by another passed in 1831, under which the Court consisted of 63 Guardians; but, in consequence of the inequality of rating, and the vast expenditure of the Incorporation, which averaged more than £30,000 a-year, a new act was applied for and received the royal assent, July 29th, 1863, by which all the parishes, hamlets, precincts, limits and liberties within the city and county of Norwich were formed into a Union, and the management vested in a Board of Guardians, consisting of 42 members, annually elected, of whom 14 form a quorum. The union is subdivided into 16 districts, of which one returns five guardians, seven return three, and eight two each. Persons rated at £10 and under £25 have one vote; £25 and under £50 two votes; £50 and under £75 three votes; £75 and under £100 four votes; £100 and under £150 five votes; and £150 and upwards six votes. By this act the previous act of 1831 was entirely repealed, as also was the "Norwich Small Tenements Act" of 1847; and the provisions of the General Poor Law Act of 1834 came into operation. The act also divides the hamlet of Heigham into two distinct hamlets called North and South Heigham, the boundary line being the Earham road; and authorises the Board of Guardians to appoint "special overseers" for the liberty of the Town Close, and the hamlets of South Heigham, Hellesden, Pockthorpe, Thorpe, and Trowse Millgate, Carrow, and Bracondale, so long as there are no lawfully appointed churchwardens or overseers for those respective places. The Workhouse is in Heigham, and was erected in 1858-9, at a cost of £33,000, exclusive of £680 paid for about nine acres of land, which are cultivated by the inmates. It is an extensive brick building of Tudor architecture, having room for about 1,000 paupers, though it has seldom so many. The average weekly number of paupers in the half year ending 31st December, 1862, was 74, including 63 boys and 34 girls in the Boys' and Girls' Homes; and the number of out-poor was 3,700. There were 635 inmates in 1861 when the census was taken. Previously to the completion of the present buildings, the Workhouse occupied part of the remains of the monastery of the Black Friars, adjoining St. Andrew's Hall and the Dutch church, and had ranges of buildings extending down to the river, capable of accommodating about 600 inmates, but which have been recently taken down. The Boys' Home is in St. Peter-per-Mountergate parish, and the Girls' Home is at Heigham. The Guardians' Office is in Bridge-street. The Pauper Lunatic Asylum in St. Augustin's, was formerly the Infirmary, and has room for 100 inmates. The expenditure during the year ending 31st December, 1862 was, on account of Workhouse, £8663; Asylum, £3368; Boys' and Girls' Homes, £1145; out-door poor, £19,287; medical department, £929; and £4831 for instalments and interests on loans, registrations, and other general expenses. The receipts during the same period were about £40,000. The debt still owing, and being gradually paid off by instalments, amounts to about £22,000. E. C. Bailey, Esq., is Union Clerk; and Mr. Starling Day, cashier and accountant. Mr. Job Harrison is master, and Mrs. E. M. Boulter matron of the Workhouse; Rev. E. A. Hillyard, chaplain; Charles Drake, Esq., surgeon; Mr. Wm. Abigall, schoolmaster; and Mrs. S. A. Randall, schoolmistress. Mr. Jeremiah and Mrs. M. A. Lingwood are master and matron of the Boys' Home; and Mrs. R. Bales, matron, and Miss A. Hill, schoolmistress of the Girls' Home. The RELIEVING OFFICERS are Messrs. Robert Winter, Charles Owry, E. M. Larke, and Thos. Wolveridge; and Mr. Robert Martin is the removal officer. Mr. William Pank is superintendent, Mrs. S. Phillips, matron, Rev. Chas. Caldwell, chaplain, and G. W. W. Firth, Esq., surgeon of the Pauper Lunatic Asylum.

SUPERINTENDENT REGISTRAR.—F. J. Blake, Esq., Upper King street, Tombland.—REGISTRARS OF MARRIAGES. I. O. Taylor, Esq., St. Giles' st., and Mr. J. Restieaux, Stafford st., Heigham Road. Deputy Registrar, Mr. W. Runaces, Oxford st., Heigham.—REGISTRARS OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS. —East Wymer District—comprising the parishes of Sts. Michael-at-Plea, Peter Hungate, Simon, Martin-at-Palace, Helen, Edmund, Saviour, Paul, and James-with-Pockthorpe, and Thorp Hamlet—John Brownfield, Esq., Golden Dog lane, St. Saviour's; Deputy, Mr. James Hubbard, Magdalen street. Conisford District—comprising the parishes of Sts. John Sepulchre, Peter Southgate, Etheldred, Julian, Peter-per-Mountergate, Michael-at-Thorn, John Timberhill, George Tombland, and All Saints, and hamlet of Trowse, Carrow, and Bracondale—C. Drake, Esq., All Saints' green; Deputy, Mr. H. Thompson, St. Stephen's Plain. Mancroft District—comprising the parishes of St. Stephen, Peter Mancroft, and Giles, and hamlets of Eaton and Lakenham—T. W. Crosse, Esq., St. Giles' street; Deputy, Charles Evans Muriel, Esq., St. Giles' street. West Wymer District—comprising the parishes of Sts. Benedict, Swithin, Margaret, Lawrence, Gregory, John Maddermarket, and Andrew, and hamlets of Earham and Heigham—Arthur M. F. Morgan, Esq., St. Giles' street; Deputy, Mr. Fras. Wheeler, Bedford street. Coslany District—comprising the parishes of Michael at Coslany, Mary Coslany, Martin-at-Oak, Augustine, George Colegate, and Clement, and the part of Hellesdon belonging to Norwich—Bransby Francis, Esq., St. Clement; Deputy, Sturley Payne, Esq., Duke street.

ANCIENT HISTORY.—Norwich, one of the largest cities in England, and one of the most important as respects its manufactures, claims the honour of high antiquity. Its original foundation, being involved in the impenetrable gloom which is cast over the dark ages of the aborigines of Britain, has been the subject of many absurd legends, and much antiquarian research and conjecture. Some writers have attributed its rise to Guitiline or Gurguntus, an imaginary British prince, and others to Julius Cæsar, who never extended his conquests so far northward in the island. Polydore Virgil, who is reported to have destroyed many historical documents, that his own misrepresentations might not be detected, was of opinion that a castle was built here by the Romans, who first established themselves in Norfolk under Claudius Cæsar, about A.D. 46; when, having overthrown the aboriginal inhabitants (the Cenimanni, a tribe of the Iceni) they either built fortifications near the British towns, or invited the subdued natives to assemble round their military stations, the most considerable of which was the Venta Icenorum, at Caistor, now a small village on the river Tesse, about three miles south of Norwich. Caistor appears to have continued the principal station in the territory of the Iceni until A.D., 426, when the Romans finally quitted Britain, for the purpose of defending their seat of empire, then hastening fast to dissolution by dissensions within and assaults from without. Caistor being now deserted by its founders, fell rapidly into decay, and the Romanized British inhabitants in 446, are said to have removed both themselves and their dwellings to the place where Norwich now stands, as is asserted in the following ancient distich :—

“Caistor was a city when Norwich was none,
And Norwich was built with Caistor stone.”

But the name of Norwich, or North-wic, does not occur till the usurpation of the Saxons, who, after the departure of the Romans, were invited to assist the Britons against the Picts and Scots, and after driving these enemies back to their northern hills speedily turned their swords upon their allies. Having subjugated the fair territory of Britain, the Saxons divided it into seven Anglo-Saxon kingdoms, in which Norfolk formed part of East Anglia, as has been seen at page 26. Uffa, the first or second king of East Anglia, is supposed to have formed here, about the year 575, a strong entrenchment of earth on the site of the castle, encircled by broad ramparts and ditches. This fortress was called North-wic, in consequence of its lying north of the old Roman fort at Caistor. From ancient manuscripts, it appears that at this period a large arm of the sea flowed up to Norwich, the Yare being then divided into two large channels, which freely admitted the tides of the ocean over the marshes below Norwich until after the Norman conquest, when one of these channels being choked up by the intervening sands, and becoming firm ground, occasioned the building of Yarmouth, which effectually confined the tides in this neighbourhood to the present contracted bed of the river. Since the departure of the Romans, great alterations have been effected in many other tidal rivers on the English coast, and these changes have occasioned much embarrassment to topographers, and produced apparent contradictions in their writings. It is said that the present level of the German Ocean is at least 40 feet below where there is evidence of its having been stationary at some remote period. There exists positive evidence of Norwich being a fishing town in the reign of Canute; for Alfric, Bishop of East Anglia, at that period having bestowed his Hagh by Norwich (the ground on which St. Lawrence's Church was afterwards built,) on the abbey of St. Edmund's-Bury it paid a yearly ground-rent of a last of herrings to that monastery. Early in the seventh century, Norwich had a royal castle erected on the entrenchment thrown up by Uffa, and in 642, it was one of the chief seats of Anna, King of the East Angles, who gave this castle, with the lands belonging to it, to his daughter Ethelfreda, on her marriage with Tombert, a nobleman or prince of the Gyrvi, or Fenmen who inhabited the fens of Lincolnshire and the adjacent parts of Norfolk and Cambridge-shire. At the same time, Tombert granted to Ethelfreda, as a marriage settlement, the Isle of Ely, which, for great security, was to be held by castle-guard service to the castle of Norwich. After the death of Tombert, his widow married Egfrid, King of Northumbria, but by repudiation or mutual consent she parted from him, and retired to her own estate at Ely, where she erected a monastery, and became its first abbess about A.D., 673. After Ely had been created a bishopric by Henry I., its first prelate paid to the crown, as a discharge of his lands from the service of castle-guard due to Norwich, no less than £1000, which was, at that period, a very large sum, and consequently evinces the great extent of lands and services attached to the royal castle of Norwich in the reign of King Anna.

From the time of Anna, the seventh king of East Anglia, till the reign of Alfred the Great, we find few events on record respecting Norwich Castle; but during the frequent incursions of the Danes, it was often attacked and possessed by them and the Saxons alternately. Its situation, on an eminence, commanding an extensive view of the surrounding country, rendered it an object of importance to the contending parties, and it appears to have been occupied by Ingwar, a Danish chief, in the year 870, when the Danes overran East Anglia, and had their head-quarters at Thetford. But the succeeding reign of the great Alfred was distinguished by his repeated and decisive victories over these northern marauders; and one grand object of his care was to strengthen and fortify the principal parts of his kingdom against hostile attacks. Castles and cities, which had been destroyed or dilapidated, he rebuilt; and he constructed several new and substantial fortifications, which enabled him to make such military dispositions as the impetuous invaders were never able effectually to counteract, though they frequently laid waste and triumphed over a large portion of his country. Finding the walls or ramparts of Norwich Castle too weak for repelling the mode of attack adopted by the ravaging Danes, Alfred caused others to be erected with the most durable materials. That it was a military station of note, and a royal castle, in his time, is evident from a coin struck here about the year 872, having round the head ÆLFRED REX, and on the reverse NORTHWIC. It has already been seen at page 28, that King Alfred, after conquering and making peace with the Danes, in 878, assigned to them for their residence the territory of East Anglia, and that their leader Guthrum, fixed his seat of viceroyalty chiefly at Norwich, until breaking his faith by joining some newly arrived hordes of his marauding countrymen, Norfolk was wrested from him by Alfred, and reverted again to the Saxons during the reign of six successive sovereigns. Edward the Elder succeeded his father, the illustrious Alfred, in the year 901, and kept the Danes in subjection,—Ericke, one of their petty kings, holding East Anglia of him until 913, when he rebelled, but was soon overthrown and slain by King Edward, whose son and successor, Athelstan, totally expelled the Danes, and reduced the whole kingdom under his government. In his reign, the city of Norwich flourished greatly, and it is probable that he was here about the year 925, for a coin still extant, has on the obverse, ÆTHELSTAN, and on the reverse, BARBE MON. NORTHWICK,—that is, Barbe mint-master of Norwich. Among the other Saxon coins struck here are the following:—One of Edmund, the successor of Athelstan, inscribed round the head EDMUND REX, and on the reverse, EDGAR MON. NORTHWIC; several of Edred, coined about 946, and inscribed round the head EADRED REX, and on the reverse, HANNE Mo. NORTHWIC; two of Edward the Martyr, having on the obverse EDWARD REX ANGL., and on the reverse, LEOFWINE MON. NOR.; and three of Ethelred the Unready, having on the obverse EDELRED REX, but struck by three different mint-masters, Leofat, Branting, and Folceard.

In the reign of Ethelred, during the year 1004, Norwich is said to have been burnt and destroyed by the army of Sweyne, King of Denmark, who invaded the kingdom for the purpose of revenging the diabolical massacre of his countrymen, on the 13th of November, 1002; but he was afterwards defeated by the Saxon Earl, Ulfkettle, and obliged to fly to Denmark. In 1010, Sweyne again invaded the country with a numerous army, and having subdued the East Angles, he fixed his residence sometime at Norwich, which he rebuilt and fortified, so that from this period the present city may be said to have arisen. In 1013, Sweyne extended his conquest further into the interior of the country, and such was the force of his arms and the terror of his name, that the whole kingdom submitted to his yoke, and Ethelred, the Saxon monarch, fled to Normandy. But this ruthless tyrant did not long enjoy the crown of England, for he died early in the following year, at Gainsborough or Thetford, as is variously stated by the old historians. On the death of Sweyne, the exiled king Ethelred, returned, pursuant to the invitation of his subjects, and after defeating Turkil, the Danish governor of Norwich, he was soon reinstated in power, which he enjoyed till his death in 1016, when he was succeeded by his son Edmund Ironside, who, after fighting many battles, was obliged, in the same year, to divide his kingdom with Canute, the new Danish sovereign. In the succeeding year Edmund was murdered, and Canute, having obtained sole power in England, strengthened or rebuilt Norwich Castle, in which he replaced the Danish governor Turkil. The government was afterwards bestowed upon Harold, who, succeeding to the throne, conferred this castle on Leofric, Earl of Mercia. Under the dominion of the Danes,* Norwich increased rapidly, for, though it had been nearly destroyed by fire in 1004, we find it had, in the reign of Edward the Confessor, 1320 burgesses and 25 churches, and was then deemed a hundred of itself, containing 833 acres of arable and meadow land, besides an extensive sheep-walk, held by the burgesses, under a socage tenure, of four proprietary lords, viz., the King, the Earl of Norfolk, Bishop Stigand, and Prince Harold. When William the Conqueror ascended the throne in 1066, he appointed Ralph de Waler to the Earldom of Norfolk, and gave him several manors, with the Castle of Norwich for his residence. In 1075, this earl joined the rebellious barons against the Norman conqueror, and being defeated he fled with his forces to Norwich, but not receiving the assistance which he expected, he speedily retired to Normandy, leaving the charge and defence of the castle to his Countess, who made an obstinate resistance, not yielding to the besiegers till compelled by the imperious necessity of famine; and even then the garrison demanded and obtained an honourable capitulation, the Countess and her little band of valiant troops being allowed to depart the kingdom as persons abjured and banished, never to return without the king's special license. Blomefield says, "In this siege the city suffered much, as we learn from Domesday, many of the citizens who took the Earl's part fled away, and so forfeited all they had; others were forced to go away because Waleram, under the pretence that they had joined the Earl, whether they did or no, invaded and seized their inheritances, and a great part were forced to look out for themselves, the chief of the city being burnt down at the siege, so that they had no place of residence; and others were so heavily fined and taxed by the King that they were forced to fly; and thus, by this one conspiracy, the city received prodigious damage every way." The earldom and castle being now confiscated were conferred by the Conqueror on Roger Bigod, and we find at the Domesday Survey, in 1086, its number of churches had increased to 54, its burgesses to 1565, and its bordars, or labourers, to 480. Though many of its dwellings are described in that great public record as being then untenanted, it is evident that a considerable number must have been erected since the time of Edward the Confessor.

* The only Danish relics that have been found in the city are a sword dredged up in the river Wensum, and now in the British Museum, and a bone draughtsman, found in St. Stephen's churchyard, and preserved in the collection of R. Fitch, Esq., F.G.S. and F.S.A.

Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk and governor of Norwich, retained these honours during the reign of William Rufus, though he joined in the fruitless attempt to place that king's elder brother, Robert Curthose, upon the throne. Peace being signed between the royal brothers, Earl Bigod was guaranteed, by a prior stipulation, in his landed possessions and the government of the castle. At the same time, the burgesses received a grant of many privileges from the king, and in 1094, the See of the Bishopric was removed from Thetford to Norwich, by Herbert de Losinga, who, in 1096, laid the first stone of the Cathedral, which tended greatly to promote the increase of the city both in riches and magnitude. Henry I. kept his Christmas at Norwich in 1122, and granted the burgesses their first charter, containing the same franchises and liberties as London then enjoyed, and separating the government of the city from that of the castle, by placing it under the control of a provost. About this time a considerable addition was made to the population of Norwich, by a vast influx of Jews, who originally came over from Normandy, and were allowed to settle in England by the Conqueror, as chapmen for the confiscated goods of his subjects. They afterwards became so numerous, and were so much in favour with William II., that he is said to have sworn by St. Luke's face, his usual oath, "if the Jews should overcome the Christians, he himself would become one of their sect." They had many broils with monastic and other Christians, and in 1137, it is said they stole and crucified a boy named William, and buried him in Thorp Wood, where the monks, in 1144, built a chapel, called, in honour of this martyr, St. William-in-the-Wood.* For this offence, many of the Jews were punished, and the popular fury ran so high against them, at the time of the Crusades in the reign of Richard I., (A.D. 1189,) that great numbers of them were massacred in Norwich, Lynn, Stamford, London, York, and other places. Thomas, a monk of Monmouth, wrote seven books on St. William, the boy and martyr of Norwich, and on the miracles done at his shrine.

In the reign of King Stephen, the castle and the borough charter were seized by the crown, in consequence of Hugh Bigod, the governor, being supposed to have favoured the cause of the Empress Matilda, but they were restored in 1152, with additional honours, the king giving license for Norwich to have a corporation with coroners and bailiffs. In the reign of Henry II., Hugh Bigod was advanced to the title of Earl of Norfolk; but he afterwards rebelled against that monarch, and in 1174 landed a party of Flemings, who plundered the city. For this offence he was attainted, but his estate and honours were subsequently purchased by his son, Roger Bigod, who partly rebuilt and added such strength to the fortifications of Norwich Castle that it was considered impregnable. In 1193, he obtained from Richard I. a new charter, in which the inhabitants were recognised under the title of "citizens;" but in the succeeding reign of King John, he joined the refractory barons, and was one of the most active in procuring for the people that great palladium of English liberty, Magna Charta, though he was at one time expelled from Norwich by the King, who appointed the Earl of Pembroke and John Fitzherbert joint constables of the castles of Norwich and Orford. During these intestine wars the dastardly King John murdered his nephew, Prince Arthur, for which crime the Pope excommunicated the whole kingdom, and avowed his intention of setting aside John de Grey, Bishop of Norwich, from whom King John had borrowed large sums of money, for which he gave him this prelacy, and left with him, as pledges, a great part of his regalia, viz.:—his large crown, gilt sword, surcoat, cloak, dalmatic girdle, sandals, gloves, and spurs. In 1216, Norwich Castle was taken and the city plundered by the troops of Louis, dauphin of France, who had been invited to the English throne by the Pope and the discontented barons; but these civil broils terminated during the same year in the death of John, and the accession of his son, Henry III., who, in 1228, granted the citizens a new charter, and in 1252, gave them license to surround the city with a large ditch.

* The foundations of this chapel may still be traced on Mousehold Heath. Its site is covered by short smooth grass, among which the wild thyme grows, but not furze or coarse plants, which flourish all round. The shepherds say that no weeds will grow upon it because it is holy ground.

In 1234, the monks of Norwich had a serious affray with the citizens, in which part of the convent founded by Bishop Herbert was destroyed; and in 1272, a still more serious riot occurred, in which the cathedral suffered considerable damage. The cause of these disturbances was the haughty conduct of the monks, who, having charters of liberties older than those of the city, were jealous of those granted by Richard I. and his successors. To quell these riots the king, in 1273, displaced the bailiffs for three years, and appointed a governor in their stead. In consequence of the citizens representing to Edward I. that the city had suffered greatly during the rebellion against King John, and at other times, they obtained leave to enclose themselves within embattled walls, and a murage was levied for that purpose. These fortifications were begun in 1294, and finished in 1320; but in 1342, Richard Spynk, a wealthy citizen, erected additional walls and towers, with portcullises to the gates, and furnished the garrison with various military engines, ammunition, &c., such as were then in use, consisting chiefly of espringolds and gogeons, arblasters and gogeons, with grapples, &c. The cathedral being repaired, was re-consecrated on Advent Sunday, 1278, in the presence of Edward I. In 1296, Norwich first sent two burgesses to Parliament. In the reign of Edward II., the Honour of Norwich Castle consisted of 120 knights' fees, equal to 85,000 acres of land, but the power of the Earl of Norfolk appears to have been soon after abridged, for the sheriff of the county was authorised by the King to use the Castle as a prison, to keep persons charged with crimes in safe custody till the itinerant justices should hold their courts of Oyer and Terminer and general gaol delivery. This authority of the sheriff was often resisted by the Earl, which occasioned an act to be passed in the 14th of Edward III., establishing the right of the sheriff to use the castle as a county prison, though for the purpose of defence a military governor continued to be nominated by the crown. This office was, however, gradually curtailed of its privileges by repeated grants to the corporation, and of its fees by numerous alienations; for we find that in 1470 the "constabylship of Norwyche castyll" had only 20 knights' fees, though it possessed 120 when it was surrendered by Roger Bigod to Edward I.

In the year 1336, the worsted and other woollen manufactures of Norwich were considerably augmented by the arrival of a number of Dutch and Flemish artizans who were "well-skilled in cloth making," and were invited to settle in England by Edward III., who did more for the commerce of his kingdom than all his predecessors. The city now began to rise rapidly in trade, population, and wealth. In 1340, Edward III.,* with his Queen Philippa, held a grand tournament here from February to Easter, and they visited the city again in 1342 and 1344. At this period, Norwich was a very populous place; but it is said that about one-third of the inhabitants were swept away in 1348 and 1349, by the great plague, which first appeared in the northern parts of Asia, and extended its destructive ravages from one end of Europe to the other, like that modern pestilence, Asiatic Cholera, which in 1832, committed the most awful devastation in various parts of the kingdom. During the years 1348 and 1349, no less than 57,304 persons (besides religious and beggars) died of the plague in the county of Norfolk; and Bishop Bateman collated, in his diocese, 850 persons to vacant benefices!! so that at least, one-half of his clergy must have died or removed during the prevalence of this dreadful malady. In 1350, another tournament was held at Norwich, in the presence of Edward the Black Prince and his mother, queen Philippa, with many distinguished nobles, who were entertained by the city at the cost of £37. 4s. 6d. In 1377, the battlements on the walls and towers amounted to 1630; and the population of the city was estimated at only 5300 souls.

Richard II., at the age of eleven years, ascended the throne in 1377, when the expensive wars in which the nation had been so long engaged with France and Scotland had greatly impoverished the people and occasioned much discontent, which was considerably aggravated by the levying of a poll-tax—an impost that pressed heavily on the poor, being a demand of three groats yearly on each person above the age of fifteen. By this odious tax the murmurings of the poor were at length raised into open insurrection, which first reared its bold front in Essex, under the influence of Wat Tyler, Jack Straw, and Hob Carter, three daring leaders, who assumed these names from their humble occupations. The disaffection soon spread into other parts of the kingdom, and in 1381, a body of 50,000 rebels assembled in Norfolk and pillaged the houses of the nobles, lawyers, and other wealthy inhabitants under their leader, John Litester, a dyer of Norwich. But in the same year, these insurgents were completely overthrown at North Walsham, by the troops of Henry le Spencer, Bishop of Norwich, who took Litester prisoner, and after being arraigned for high treason, he was condemned to be hanged, drawn, and quartered,—one portion of his body to be suspended at his own residence, another over one of the city gates, one at Lynn, and the other at Yarmouth, which so dispirited the Norfolk levellers, that they quietly dispersed. Thus an end was put to this alarming rebellion, chiefly through the valor and promptitude of Bishop Spencer, who had been bred a soldier, and at this time offered to serve Richard II. abroad, with 3000 men at arms and 2500 archers well horsed and accoutred. In 1383, he raised several regiments and transported them into Flanders, to support the cause of Pope Urban against the Anti-Pope Clement, in which expedition he took many strong towns by assault, and gained a signal victory over 30,000 men. He was a rigid catholic, and, consequently, an inveterate enemy to the first church reformers, called the Lollards. In 1386, the city ditches were cleansed, and there was a general survey of the walls and towers, by which it appears they were all put in thorough repair, and the latter were each of them guarded by three, six, or eight men. Heigham-gate was then called Port Inferna, or Hell-gate, from its low situation near the river. Richard II. and his Queen passed through Norfolk, and visited Norwich abbey in 1383.

Henry IV., having usurped the throne, and instigated the murder of the

* In 1854, five gold coins of Edward III. were found by some men who were making a drain in Ber street, near St. Martin's lane. They are what were called Royals or Double Nobles, each weighing 119½ grains, and originally of the value of 13s. 4d.

unfortunate and often misguided Richard II., in 1399, made it his first policy to ingratiate himself in public favour. In 1403, after receiving a gift of 1000 marks from Norwich, he granted the citizens a new charter suitable to their own wishes ; separating the city and its liberty from Norfolk, under the name of the County of the City of Norwich, with power to elect a mayor and two sheriffs yearly, in lieu of four bailiffs. The king visited the city in 1406, and granted the corporation another charter for regulating the mode of electing the mayor, sheriffs, and common council. In 1415, Henry V., before he went to France and gained the glorious victory of Agincourt, visited Norwich, where he left his coronet in pawn for 1000 marks, of which 500 were lent by the corporation of Norwich, 400 by that of Lynn, and the remainder by Wm. Westacre, Wm. Walton, and Nicholas Scounfet. During the reign of Henry VI., the citizens, from their quarrels with the monks, and by suing the King in the Exchequer for £100 which they had lent him, lost the royal favour, and had their charter taken from them in 1437 and 1442 ; but it was restored again in 1439 and 1447, in which latter year, Sir John Clifton, whom the King had appointed governor of the city, was withdrawn. In 1448 and 1449, Henry VI. visited Norwich, and after being entertained at the Bishop's palace, he granted the citizens a charter for two Fairs, the first to be kept ten days before and after the third Sunday in Lent ; and the second on the commemoration of St. Paul, and the twenty following days. Fortunately, Norwich was not the scene of any of those fatal conflicts by which the kingdom was so often disturbed during the wars of the rival houses of York and Lancaster, though Queen Margaret visited the city for the purpose of recruiting her forces, when she was preparing to march against the Yorkists, under the Earl of March, then approaching towards London. In 1455, a statute was made, limiting the number of attorneys to six for Norfolk, six for Suffolk, and two for Norwich. In the preamble, an excellent reason is given for this regulation. Edward IV. visited this city in 1469, and in the same year his Queen, Elizabeth Woodville, came hither. She entered the city by the Westwick gate, and lodged at the Dominican Priory, but there were no pageants during her stay on account of the death of her father and brother, which took place about that time. Henry VII. kept his Christmas here in 1485, when he went on a pilgrimage to Walsingham ; and he was here again in 1497, with his Queen, Elizabeth, and his mother, the Countess of Derby.

Norwich, like many other ancient cities, has at various periods suffered greatly in plagues and scarcity ; and few places have sustained greater loss from accidental FIRES, by two of which the Cathedral was greatly injured in 1463 and 1509 ; and three others reduced a large portion of the city to ashes, in 1505 and 1507,—no fewer than 718 houses being consumed in the latter year. These desolating conflagrations induced the Corporation, in 1509, to issue an order, that no new buildings in the city should be covered with thatch ; but this injunction not extending to those previously erected, some few still retain tsh unseemly and dangerous covering. In 1517, that imperious prelate, Cardinal Wolsey, visited Norwich, to mediate between the citizens and the monks ; but their disputes were not finally settled till 1524, when the jurisdiction of the convent was ascertained, and separated from that of the corporation ; though the prior and monks were not made a body corporate until 1538, when they were converted into a dean and chapter. On November 6th, 1519, the city was visited by a great flood ; and in 1520 Queen Katherine visited the city. In 1527, there was an alarming scarcity of provisions, which caused several riotous disputes between the populace and the corn-sellers, at the Market-cross. In 1534, during the reign of the lascivious Henry VIII., and the prelacy of Richard Nykke, or Nix, the bigoted bishop of Norwich, several conscientious church reformers were burnt at Norwich and other places : amongst those who suffered under the sanguinary judgments of this catholic prelate, were Ayres.

Bingy, Norrice, and the amiable Thomas Bilney, a native of East Bilney, in Norfolk. Bishop Nix, in the same year, gave the revenues of his diocese in exchange for the abbacy of Holm, to Henry VIII., who, shortly afterwards denied the papal supremacy, and established the Protestant religion, not so much from the love of truth as to satiate his greedy concupiscence with the spoils of the monastic foundations, of which he suppressed no fewer than 79 in Norwich and Norfolk. The monasteries which escaped the avarice of Henry, were dissolved by the regency of his infant son and successor, Edward VI., in whose reign several rebellions broke out in various parts of the kingdom, during the year 1549, owing to a system of enclosing adopted by the nobility and gentry, who had been put in possession of the abbey lands, which had previously been appropriated for the relief of the poor, who still considered they had a right of commonage on the wastes and open pastures. The rebels in this neighbourhood having imbibed the spirit of the ancient Norfolk levellers of 1381, proceeded to execute their nefarious designs under the command of Robert and William Kett, of Wymondham; the former a tanner, and the latter a butcher. About 20,000 rebels having flocked to the standard of these daring leaders, they pillaged the country in their march to Mousehold heath, near Norwich, where they fixed their rendezvous, and where Robert Kett, the elder of the two leaders, assisted by deputies from every Hundred, held his councils under a large tree, styled the Oak of Reformation, from which he pretended to administer justice, and issued his edicts for contributions, which, in a few days, amounted in provisions alone to 3000 bullocks, 20,000 sheep, and an immense quantity of corn, besides geese, swans, &c. During several months, the country suffered under the exactions and outrages committed by this formidable band of insurgents, who murdered many of the inhabitants; showing no mercy to those who bore the title of gentleman, in their frenzy for abolishing distinction of ranks. On the approach of these levellers to Norwich, the citizens despatched messengers to the King's council for assistance, and put themselves in a posture of defence; keeping a careful watch and ward upon the walls and towers, but not daring to act on the offensive against such a numerous and reckless foe. Government having, by means of a herald, offered the King's pardon to all who would abandon their traitorous enterprise, and this promise being attended with no success, sent down the Marquis of Northampton with a body of troops to subdue them, but they were found too weak for the execution of this object, and, after being completely routed in a second engagement, they abandoned the city to the rebels, who pillaged and burnt a large portion of it. All attempts to quell this violent insurrection were ineffectual, till a large army, raised to proceed against the Scots, was ordered to march to the relief of Norwich, under the command of the Earl of Warwick, who arrived under the city walls on August 23rd, after being joined at Cambridge by several of the principal citizens, the Marquis of Northampton, and other distinguished persons.

On the following day, after making an ineffectual offer of pardon, the King's troops commenced their attack, and having made several breaches in the walls and forced open some of the gates, they soon entered the city and took possession of the Market-place. In the midst of this scene of blood, the King's ammunition carriages having entered apart from the main body of the army were captured by the enemy, but were soon re-taken by a detachment from the Market-place. A large number of the rebels still remaining in the city now made a lodgement in Tombland, and, through their superior local knowledge, greatly annoyed the soldiers by posting small parties at the angles of the different streets leading into the Market-place. The Earl of Warwick, however, soon brought out his whole force to scour the city, and after setting fire to their camp the rebels were obliged to quit their advantageous post on the hill, and retreated to Dussyn's dale, resolving to finish the business by a general engagement in that valley. It is probable they were stimulated to this movement by the want of provisions, the Earl having taken effectual care to cut off their supplies. On the 27th, being reinforced by a newly arrived detachment, the Earl marched out of the city to attack these deluded men, to whom he again offered pardon provided they would quietly lay down their arms; but confident in their numbers, and animated by the speeches of their false prophets and leaders, they again unanimously refused to capitulate. A bloody conflict ensued, but the rebels being unused to the discharge of artillery, were soon in confusion; this was taken advantage of by the light-horse, who advanced to the charge, drove them from the field, and pursued them with great slaughter; upwards of 3000 of them being slain and many more wounded, whilst the royal army sustained but little loss. A corps de reserve, strongly entrenched behind their carts, carriages, &c., had remained unattacked near the scene of action, and to these the Earl again sent a promise of pardon, but they refused to surrender until he had personally assured them of the King's clemency, upon which they immediately threw down their arms.

Some of the principal citizens fell in this battle in a manner very distressing to their friends; for, having been prisoners in the camp of the rebels, they were by the latter placed in front of their ranks, being first fettered and chained together; all possible care was, however, used by the King's troops, so that many of the intended victims to this inhuman and dastardly contrivance escaped unhurt. About 300 of the rebels were executed shortly after in different parts of the city; and the Earl was strongly urged to put a much greater number to death, but he declared that enough had been done to satisfy the ends of justice, and that none of those should suffer to whom he had given his promise of pardon. Robert Kett, though the chief in command, was the foremost in flight; but he was taken the day after the battle in a barn, where he attempted to hide himself when his horse was no longer able to proceed. He was sent, with his brother, to the Tower of London, and being both convicted of high treason, they were on November 29th, brought to Norfolk:—Robert was executed on a gibbet on the top of Norwich Castle, and William suffered the same punishment at Wymondham. Thus perished with its authors, this desperate rebellion, which threatened the subversion of all lawful authority, and the consequent introduction of anarchy and confusion. After the departure of the King's troops, the citizens began to repair the damages sustained in this unnatural conflict, which was followed by such a scarcity and dearth of provisions, that the corporation issued an edict, requiring all the wealthier inhabitants to provide corn for their own households elsewhere, so that their poorer neighbours might have the exclusive benefit of the city markets.

In 1551, the sweating sickness, which either “mended or ended” its victims in 24 hours, carried off 960 persons in a few days. This dreadful malady first appeared here in 1486, and during the succeeding five years visited many other parts of the kingdom. Two severe shocks of an earthquake were felt here in 1479 and 1487, and the plague was very fatal in the former year. During the short reign of that rigid Roman Catholic, Queen Mary, Norwich was afflicted by the residence of those merciless persecutors, Bishop Hopton and Chancellor Dunning, at whose instigation several martyrs to the reformed religion were burnt here in 1557 and 1558. In the same years the Quartan Ague and a “new sickness” raged so violently that at the close of 1558 it was said “fire, sword, and pestilence” had swept away the third part of the men of England; and it is recorded that ten of the Norwich aldermen fell victims to the latter scourge in 1558. The plague again visited the city in 1578 and 1591, carrying off 4817 persons in the former, and 672 in the latter year. This dreadful pestilence afflicted Norwich at several subsequent periods, and the numbers said to have died of it amounted in 1602 to 3076; in 1625 and '6 to 1431; and in 1665 and '6 to 2251 persons. During the continuance of the pestilence in 1666, the market was held at the north end of the Town Close.

In 1565 and '6, the prosperity of the city, which had begun to decline, was again revived by the settling here of 330 Dutch and Walloons, who had fled from the Netherlands during the rigid persecution under the Duke of Alva. In 1571, by the fostering encouragement of Queen Elizabeth, the number of these foreign settlers had increased to no fewer than 3925, and by the introduction of bombazine and other silk and worsted manufactures, they contributed much to the wealth and prosperity of the city. In 1582 they had increased to 4679, and enjoyed many exclusive privileges. On February 2nd, 1570, the north side of the city was inundated, and Fye bridge washed down by a great flood. In the same year printing was introduced here by Anthony Solen, one of the foreigners; and John Throgmorton, Thomas Brooke, and G. Redman were hanged and quartered in the city, for having joined in one of the numerous conspiracies formed for the re-establishment of the Roman Catholic religion, during the long reign of Elizabeth. In 1572, the Duke of Norfolk, and several other noblemen, were attainted and beheaded for similar offences at London, York, and other places; the Duke having not only espoused the cause of Mary, Queen of Scots, but even offered marriage to that unfortunate Catholic Princess. In 1574, when a rumour was spread of invasion by means of the boasted Invincible Armada, Norwich, towards the general defence, exhibited on its muster roll, 2120 able men, of whom 400 were armed; the total number enrolled in the whole county of Norfolk being at the same time 6120 able men, of whom 3630 were armed. In 1578, Queen Elizabeth made a progress through this county, and from the 16th to the 22nd of August, she lodged at the Bishop's palace, in Norwich, where she and her suite were entertained with splendid pageantries, principally allusive to the trade and manufactures of the city. The Queen came on horseback from Ipswich, though she had several coaches in her train. Whilst here she dined publicly in the north alley of the Cathedral cloister, and often went a hunting on horseback, and to witness wrestling and shooting on Mousehold-heath. In 1583, Abdyall Lewis was burnt in the Castle ditch for denying the divinity of Christ, and in 1588 Francis Knight, M.A., was burnt at the same place for similar heresy.

The charges of the mayoralty having much increased, the city in 1593, ordered that £100 should in future be allowed yearly towards defraying them: this yearly allowance was increased in 1821 to £300, a sum very inadequate to the Mayor's expenses, which, for the Guild-day festivity alone, often amounted to about a thousand pounds; or to one guinea for each person entertained in the hall. The Municipal Reform Act does not countenance these festivities. In 1597, it was ordered that Margaret Grove, a common scold, should be carried, with a basin rung before her, to the cucking-stool, near Fyebridge, there to be ducked three times in the river. The cucking-stool, for cooling scolds and other disorderly women, was then in common use all over England. In 1599, Wm. Kemp, a comedian in Shakspeare's company, a man of considerable humour, famous for performing the part of Dogberry, came dancing from London to Norwich in nine days; of which comical exploit he published an account in a quarto pamphlet, in 1600, entitled, "Nine Days' Wonder," with an engraved frontispiece, representing himself in a fanciful habit and dancing attitude, preceded by a person playing upon the pipe and tabor. This work was reprinted in 1840. On April 29th, 1601, the Cathedral spire was much damaged by lightning. On the evening of the guild-day, in 1611, a great crowd assembled on Tomblond, to witness a display of fireworks, some of which breaking or taking fire accidentally, created such confusion in the multitude, that thirty-three persons were trampled or pressed to death. The city was visited by great floods in 1646, 1697, and 1706, and so high were the waters in the first of these years, that boats were rowed in many of the streets.

CIVIL WARS.—In the fatal contentions between the prerogatives of the Crown and the privileges of Parliament, in the reign of Charles I., when brother fought against brother, and father against son, Norfolk suffered much less than many counties in the kingdom, though it was several times the scene of confusion and blood. The principal causes which led to this long and direful distraction of the country, were the levying of ship money, and the duty of tonnage and poundage, without the sanction of Parliament; and the cruel proceedings of that secret and inquisitorial court, called the Star Chamber. There also prevailed in the nation a disposition for republican, in preference to monarchical government; and religion was often made the stalking-horse to avarice and ambition. From these combined causes, the elements of government were thrown into disorder; and they never perfectly re-assumed their proper station, till the glorious Revolution of 1688. When Charles I. had left London, for the purpose of raising forces in the north of England, the Parliament then sitting voted the necessity of taking up arms in opposition, (July 12th, 1642,) and the inhabitants of Norfolk generally approved of that determination. At an early period of this contest, Norwich was fortified against the royal cause, pursuant to the orders of a majority of the corporation; though the mayor, (Wm. Gostlin,) and some of the principal citizens still preserved their loyalty; and the former, for not confirming the edicts of Parliament, was sent prisoner to Cambridge, by the Earl of Manchester, who was appointed commander of the "associated counties" of Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Hertford, and Essex, to which Lincoln was afterwards added. After the arrest of the mayor, the king's partisans in Norwich, assembled in the house of one of their friends, to consider what measures should be adopted for their safety; but the meeting being discovered, and the city ordnance planted against the house with threats of immediate destruction they were compelled to surrender. The Parliamentarians, having now overcome all opposition here, were enabled to direct their attention to the furnishing of money and troops for the subjugation of other parts of the kingdom. A tax, levied for this purpose, to be paid by weekly instalments, amounted for Norfolk to £1250 per annum,—of which Norwich paid £53; Yarmouth, £34. 6s. 5d.; Thetford, £5. 11s. 9d.; and Lynn, £27. 11s. 10d. But this impost was trifling, compared with the loss sustained by the Bishop and his clergy, and all others suspected of loyalty, for they were plundered and maltreated without mercy in these troublesome times. In 1648, Mr. John Utting, being mayor, was often solicited by a set of fanatics, to give more effect to certain ordinances against superstition, and for the defacing images, &c.; but not paying much attention to their wishes, a complaint was lodged with Parliament against him. Soon after, a pursuivant was sent from the house, to carry up Mr. Utting to answer these charges; the common people having had experience of the treatment offered to a former mayor, were determined to prevent a repetition of such insults, and apprehensive of his being carried off in the night, they assembled together and secured the city gates, keeping careful watch. Their numbers continually increased; many amongst them were armed, and their watchword was, "For God and King Charles."

The next day they were alarmed with a report that the mayor was about departing, upon which they marched to the house where the pursuivant was, and would have immediately sacrificed him to their fury but for the interference of the mayor himself. The messenger, not at all pleased with his reception, quitted the city without his prisoner, and the mob directed their course towards the committee-house, where the dépôt for the county arms was, committing many excesses by the way. Upon their arrival, they furnished themselves completely with arms, and retired to Chapelfield. A troop of horse arrived in the course of the day from the country, and dispersed a great part of them; but one party, having secured the committee-house, they would not have been easily dislodged, but for the accidental firing of 98 barrels of gunpowder, which tremendous explosion is said to have killed and wounded above a hundred on both sides, and effectually terminated all further hostilities. In 1649, several persons concerned in the last-named disturbance were put to death; and in the following year, some of the aldermen were displaced for refusing to take the covenant; and twenty-five royalists were hanged here and at other places in Norfolk, for being concerned in a projected insurrection in favour of Charles II., whose father had already fallen a victim to the ambition of Cromwell and the turbulent spirit of the times. At length, the nation finding their mis-called liberty a "succession of tyrannies," brought about the restoration, after the death of Cromwell. The citizens of Norwich were among the first to hail the return of monarchy in the person of Charles II., who was proclaimed here May 10th, 1660, and the sum of £1000 was presented to his majesty on behalf of the city, by the mayor, who received the honour of knighthood.

In 1663, Charles II. granted the city the charter by which it was governed till 1835; and in 1670, Lord Howard presented the corporation with a noble mace of silver gilt, and a gown of crimson velvet for the mayor. In 1671, Charles II., his Queen, the Dukes of York, Monmouth, and Buckingham, with many other nobles, entered the city on September 28th, and were met by the mayor and corporation and entertained both at the Duke of Norfolk's and the Bishop's palace. In 1682, the corporation, by a majority of votes (40 to 22) surrendered to the king the charter which he had granted them nine years before, and in lieu of it a new one was substituted subjecting the city to very extraordinary limitations,—the king having reserved to himself the right of removing such magistrates as he might not approve of. By the mandate of James II., in 1687, ten aldermen and nineteen common councilmen were displaced. But the arbitrary conduct of this monarch soon brought about his ruin; and when "Henry, Duke of Norfolk, rode into the market-place at the head of 300 knights and gentlemen, and declared for a free Parliament," the corporation and citizens responded with loud and fervent acclamations.

After the "glorious Revolution" of 1688, the first charter of Charles II. was restored to the city, and the aldermen removed by James II. were reinstated in their offices. On December 7th, 1688, a mob destroyed the Catholic Chapel in Black-friars yard, and pillaged many houses belonging to the Catholics; but on the following day the rioters were dispersed by the trained bands. In 1697, a mint was established at Norwich, and coined to the amount of £259,371. The Water Works at the New Mills were commenced in 1697; and in 1701, Acts of Parliament were obtained for lighting the streets and establishing a Court of Conscience in the city. In 1703, Hardley Cross, at the extent of the city's jurisdiction on the river Yare, was repaired at the cost of the corporation. In 1705, Weavers' Hall was broken open and the books destroyed, after which the sealing of stuffs was disused. On December 7th, 1706, Henry Crosgrave began a weekly Newspaper called the Norwich Gazette, in which he was assisted by the celebrated Edward Cave, the original planner and establisher of the Gentleman's Magazine, commenced in 1731. The Norwich Artillery Company, of 100 men, was formed in 1715; and in 1716, Mr. Thomas Hall left a handsome gold chain, to be worn by the mayor. In the latter year, the Rev. John St. Quintin was convicted at Norwich assizes of asserting that the Pretender was landed in the west with 50,000 men, and drinking his health; he was sentenced to pay a fine of 20 marks and be imprisoned for one year. Mr. Matthew Fern underwent a similar sentence for drinking the Pretender's health, and calling King George "turnip hougher;" and Thomas Shirley for saying "King George has no more right to the crown than I have," was publicly whipped and compelled to find sureties for good behaviour for three years. In 1722, an Act passed for better qualifying the city manufacturers to bear the offices of magistrates, &c. ; and another Act was obtained in 1729, for regulating the city elections. In 1725, an Act was passed for levying a toll on goods, &c., brought higher up the river than Thorpe Hall, for supporting the bridges, staiths, wharfs, &c., in the city. This Tonnage Act was repealed by another Act for the same purpose, passed in 1839. Ber-street gates and Brazen-doors were rebuilt in 1726. Some labourers digging on Mousehold Heath, in 1730, discovered the foundations of the church called "St. William's in the Wood." In 1731, the market was new paved ; and in the following year, Charing-cross and Market-cross were taken down. St. George's Company resigned its books, charters, and records to the corporation in 1731, when the procession on the Guild-day was commenced. In 1733, Sir Robert Walpole was presented with the freedom of the city in a gold snuff-box ; and in 1734, he presented to the city a gilt mace weighing 168 ounces. The ditches on the south side of the Castle hill were levelled in 1738, and since then the cattle market has been held there. In 1739, Mr. Thomas Emerson, of London, presented to this his native city two gold chains, value 100 guineas each, to be worn by the sheriffs. In 1740, dearness of provisions occasioned several riots, which were suppressed by the military after the loss of six or seven lives. In 1741, it was ordered "that no stranger be permitted to exercise his trade in Norwich more than six months, without taking up the freedom of the city." In 1745, the magistrates and principal inhabitants associated for the support of Government and the defence of civil and religious liberty. In 1746, the Shire-house was destroyed by fire on September 30th ; and on October 9th, the city was brilliantly illuminated, after the suppression of the Scotch rebellion. On January 10th, 1756, a slight shock of an earthquake was felt here, about the same time that Lisbon was destroyed by a dreadful convulsion of nature. The first Norwich bank was established this year, by Charles Weston, Esq. ; and the gold chain worn by the mayor was presented by Matthew Goss, Esq.

The Norfolk Militia, commanded by Lord Orford, marched from Norwich to Portsmouth, on July 4th, 1759, and passed in review before his Majesty at Kensington. This was the first militia regiment that left its county. In digging under the rampart of the Castle hill, two very curious bones were found in 1760, supposed to have been amulets worn by the Druids in their sacrifices. In 1761, a coach from Norwich to London was established, performing the journey in about 20 hours, which before had employed two days in summer and three in winter. The coronation of George III. and his Queen was celebrated here with great splendour, and congratulatory addresses were sent to their Majesties ; after presenting which, Thomas Churchman, Esq., the mayor, was knighted. On October 27th, 1762, near three hundred houses and eight parish churches were inundated during a great flood, which rose 12 feet perpendicularly in 24 hours, being 15 inches higher than the flood in 1691, and 13 inches lower than that in 1614. In 1764, air jackets, for preventing persons sinking in water, were invented by Messrs. Cobb and Tinkler, and a hackney coach was set up by William Huggins. On September 27th, 1766, owing to the high price of provisions and a want of employment, an alarming riot broke out in Norwich, which was quelled after much mischief had been done : thirty of the ringleaders were taken and tried by a special commission, and two of them were executed. Wheat sold at from 22s. to 24s. ; barley, 10s. to 11s. ; oats, 8s. to 9s. 3d. ; and peas, at 12s. to 13s. per coomb. On December 25th, Mr. Ward's house, in Ber-street, was burnt down, and six persons perished in the flames. In 1767, an act was obtained for a new turnpike from Norwich to Thetford. The turnpikes from Norwich to East Walton and Caistor, near Yarmouth, were formed in 1770 ; that to New Buckenham in 1772 ; and that to Aylsham in 1794. Mr. Allday's Bank (afterwards Sir Roger Kerrison and Son's) was opened in 1768.

On December 19th, 1770, there was a greater storm of wind and rain than had been known since 1741. Part of the city wall, between Brazen doors and Ber street, fell, and crushed down a new house. In 1771, "the names of the streets, &c., were ordered to be fixed up." This has recently been done afresh, but the numbering of the doors is still very imperfect, and in many of the streets there are no numbers at all. In 1773, upwards of £1600 was subscribed for relieving the poor of the city with bread. In 1775, Messrs. Gurney and Co.'s bank was opened, and the influenza raged severely in the city. In 1777 a scheme was proposed for cutting a navigable canal from Norwich to the river Ouse, near Downham. It was estimated by Mr. Brindley at the cost of £60,000, but finally abandoned. In 1778 the freedom of the city was presented to Earl Cornwallis; and Wm. Crotch first astonished the world with his musical powers by playing on the cathedral organ at the age of two years and three quarters. In 1779, the new year was ushered in with a terrible storm of wind, which rolled up the lead of St. Andrew's Church, and blew it to a considerable distance, besides doing much damage to other churches and houses. On March 24th, 1783, the pageant of the Golden Fleece, or Bishop Blaize, was exhibited by the woolcombers in a most magnificent style. In 1784, the moat which surrounds the Castle hill, and the ascent from thence, were laid out as gardens and shrubberies. On July 23rd, 1785, Major, afterwards General Money, ascended in a balloon from the public gardens outside St. Stephen's gate, and after passing over Lowestoft, was driven about seven leagues from land, when, from the valve of the machine being defective, the car sunk so low as to be immersed in the sea. After beating about for four hours the Major was taken up by the Argus revenue cutter. This was the second aerial voyage from Norwich, the first being made by a Mr. Decker, on June 1st, in the same year. Part of the Lower Close was enclosed by Dean Lloyd, and a handsome garden made in 1788, and on digging gravel in the cloister yard some human bones were dug up, with hair four feet long, supposed to have lain there 200 years. The "city waytes" had £30 a year till 1790, when they were discharged. In 1792, seven of the city gates were taken down, an opening made in the wall by Chapelfield, and another near Ber street gates. In January, two new Banks were opened by Messrs. Harvey and Hudson, and Messrs. Kett, Hadfield and Co.

In January, 1795, £1500 were subscribed for the relief of the unemployed. In February, Norfolk and Norwich raised their quota of 264 volunteers for manning the navy, and a rapid thaw produced such a general inundation in the city and suburbs that the poor inhabitants near the river were reduced to great distress. In May, several buildings in the city were converted into temporary barracks for 8000 soldiers. In 1796, about 1000 human skeletons were found in digging on the premises of J. Crowe, Esq., at Lakenham, supposed to have lain there since the plague of 1665, as a tradesman's token, dated 1664, was found in the same place. On May 17th, a dreadful affray occurred between the privates of the Northumberland and Warwickshire regiments of militia, and several were wounded with bayonets before their officers could part them. This year Norwich raised 211 men for the Supplementary Militia. In February, 1797, the Norwich Light Horse Volunteers and Loyal Military Association were embodied, the former under the command of Captain John Harvey, and the latter under Captain John Patteson. In January, 1797, the sword of the Spanish Admiral, Don Xavier Winthuysen, was presented by Admiral Nelson to the corporation of Norwich, and placed in the council chamber of the Guildhall, with an appropriate device and inscription. In February and March, £8000 were subscribed here for the defence of the kingdom; and in May, five companies of Volunteer Infantry were formed in the city. In September, all the officers, and most of the men, of the East and West Norfolk Militia volunteered their services for Ireland. On December 29th, the thermometer stood at 3° below 0, a degree of cold never before noticed in this island. In February, 1799, a deep snow obstructed for a time all travelling and internal communication; and the mail coaches were four days and nights in performing the journey from Norwich to London. In many places the snow was twenty feet deep.

In January, 1800, a meeting of the citizens was held at the Guildhall, and a committee appointed to consider a plan for better paving, lighting, and cleansing the city. The cost of this necessary work was estimated at £55,000.^a On September 1st, in consequence of the high price of provisions, a number of persons, chiefly females, riotously assembled at the New Mills for the purpose of serving out the flour at a cheap rate, and had begun to sell at 2s. per stone, when several magistrates arrived and frustrated the designs of the misguided mob. In October, his Majesty's proclamation was received, exhorting all housekeepers to reduce the consumption of bread in their respective families to, at most, a quartern loaf per week for each individual. In December, the price of wheat was 120s. to 150s. per quarter. On July 29th, a ship of 120 tons was launched at Thorpe; being the first ever built so high up the river, a vast concourse of people attended to witness the novel spectacle. In October, here were great rejoicings and a general illumination in consequence of the ratification of peace between England and France. In 1803, this kingdom being again threatened with invasion from France, Norwich, like other populous places, made great preparations for internal defence. In August, £6000 were subscribed for raising a regiment of Volunteer Infantry, in which 1400 citizens speedily enrolled themselves under the command of Lieut.-Col. Robert Harvey. A Rifle Corps was also formed, of which R. M. Bacon, Esq., was appointed captain. On Sept. 29th, a new Telegraph was erected on the top of Norwich Castle, to communicate with Strumpshaw Mill, Filby Church, and Yarmouth. In October, the Norfolk and Norwich Volunteer Regiments agreed to perform permanent duty at Yarmouth in case of invasion, and many of them were stationed in that port during two succeeding months. The victory of Trafalgar, in 1805, is said to have so blasted the hopes of France that she relinquished the idea of putting in force her threatened invasion of this land of freedom, although she had 300,000 men ready for the purpose on the heights of Boulogne. In February, 1803, nearly 100 pairs of shoes were burnt in the Market place, for being made contrary to act of Parliament, by about twenty shoemakers, who were all fined by the Mayor. In 1806, the estate belonging to the Duke of Norfolk, called the Duke's Palace, was sold in lots for £5055. In July, debts to the amount of £460,000, were proved against the bankrupt firm of Sir R. Kerrison and Son. Dividends of 16s. 4d. in the pound were afterwards paid. The Local Militia Act passed in this month, and many of the Volunteers transferred to it their services, under the command of Col. Patteson. The Gates in Ber street, Magdalen street, and St. Martin's-at-Oak were taken down this year. The Prince Regent and the Dukes of Clarence and Cambridge passed through the city in December, 1812. The Volunteer Corps of Norwich and Norfolk were disbanded March 24, 1813. On August 10th, the first steam barge on the river Yare arrived at Norwich, after travelling at the rate of only five miles per hour. On May 11th, 1816, the West Norfolk Militia returned to Norwich from Ireland, and were disembodied on June 17th. The new silver coinage was received here on May 31st, in exchange for the defaced shillings and sixpences. In January, 1817, upwards of £3000 were subscribed to relieve the poor, many of whom were employed in making a new road to Carrow, and in other public works, the staple trade of the city being for some months in a state of great stagnation. On April 6th, the boiler of a steam packet burst shortly after leaving Norwich, and killed nine persons, besides two others who died of their wounds in the hospital. After this accident, a vessel was introduced with paddles turned by four horses, working in a circle of eighteen feet in diameter. This year, the wife of Edward Rigby, M.D., was delivered of four children, but they all died before they were 12 weeks old. On December 3rd, 1820, the Dukes of York and Wellington were admitted to the honorary freedom of the city, at the Angel Inn. On the 12th, in consequence of the numerous robberies committed in the city and county, public meetings were held and resolutions entered into for granting rewards to such watchmen as should apprehend offenders. More burglaries had been committed in the last three months than in the twenty preceding years. Acts were this year passed for lighting the city with gas, and for erecting the bridge at the Duke's palace. On July 7th, 1821, the Coronation of George IV. was celebrated here in the most splendid and joyful manner. On Sept. 27th, 1822, the weavers of Norwich presented a magnificent silver vase to John Harvey, Esq., in testimony of the high esteem with which they regarded him as a liberal patron and spirited promoter of the manufactures of his native city; 2361 weavers subscribed to defray the expense, no individual being allowed to contribute more than one shilling. On December 23rd, 1823, as some workmen were employed in sinking a well near St. Giles' gates, they discovered several extensive vaults, running in all directions at the depth of 35 feet. The bank of Messrs. Day and Co. failed in 1825. In February, 1830, the numerous unemployed weavers were relieved by a subscription of £2300, exclusive of £200 given by Hudson Gurney, Esq., and £400 received from London. On March 9th, the premises of Mr. A. Beloe, on Orford hill, erected a short time before, at a cost of more than £4000 were sold by auction for £860. On September 8th, 1831, the Coronation of William IV. was celebrated here, with a grand procession, public dinners, and a brilliant illumination. Several petitions were sent from Norwich, in favour of the Reform Bill. On the 24th of February, 1832, the corporation gave a vote of thanks to the Lord Chancellor, for having granted two gaol deliveries in the year; and a similar vote, with the freedom of the city, was conferred on John Stracey, Esq., for his exertions in obtaining the removal of the Summer Assizes from Thetford, for which an Act of Parliament received the royal assent on June 23rd. The passing of the Reform Bill was celebrated in this city on the 5th of July, by public rejoicings and festivities, and a numerous and splendid procession. That baneful disease, Asiatic Cholera, which committed such awful ravages in many parts of the kingdom in 1832, did not visit Norwich till August 17th; and on November 11th, thanksgivings were offered up at all the churches and chapels, for the removal of this malady, and for the mild manner in which the citizens had been afflicted, in comparison with those of other populous places. On May 13th, 1833, a meeting of about 300 citizens agreed upon a petition to the House of Commons, "praying that honourable House to enact such laws as would be necessary for reforming the constitution and powers of the corporate body, and to cause an inquiry to be instituted touching the management and expenditure of the estates, tolls, and other funds under the control of the Corporation." This petition was numerously signed. During a dreadful thunder-storm, about midnight on July 7, the electric fluid struck the thatched roof of the Black Tower, on Butter hills, which was instantly in a blaze, and burned with great fury until the whole of the interior of the building was consumed. On September 5th, the Norwich Yarn Company was formed at a numerous meeting of the merchants, bankers, and manufacturers. The Norwich and Lowestoft Navigation was opened September 30, when the Squire and the City of Norwich traders passed through Carrow-bridge, and arrived here without once touching ground, amidst the firing of guns, ringing of bells, and the loud cheers of a multitude of spectators. On November 23rd, two of the municipal commissioners, G. Long and J. Buckle, Esqrs., commenced their enquiry into the state of the Norwich Corporation, at the Guild Hall, and the investigation lasted 22 days, being much impeded by the sheriffs and some other members of the corporate body. The first "Town Council," under the Municipal Reform Act, was elected Nov. 9th, 1835.

On January 7th, 1835, after a contest between two Whig and two Tory candidates for the representation of the city in parliament, the two former were defeated; the number of votes at the close of the poll being, for Lord Stormont, 1892; for the Hon. Robert Campbell Scarlett, 1878; for the Hon. E. V. Harbord, 1592; and for F. O. Martin, Esq., 1582. During the same month, Sir James Scarlett, who had sat for the city from 1832 to 1834, was raised to the peerage by the title of "Baron Abinger, of Abinger, in the county of Surrey, and of the city of Norwich." He died in 1844. On June 16th, 1835, the last guild-day of the old corporation, was held with all the customary civic splendour, and about 800 ladies and gentlemen dined at St. Andrew's Hall. On January 1st, 1836, T. O. Springfield, Esq., was elected the first Mayor under the Municipal Act. On December 1st, when the first stone of the yarn factory, near Whitefriar's bridge, was laid, the pageant in honour of Bishop Blaize was revived with great splendour. The bishop was personated by Richard Dickerson, a woolcomber, who had held the same character in the procession of 1783. The coronation of Queen Victoria was celebrated here June 28th, 1838. This year the city was much disturbed by the weavers' strike for resisting a reduction of wages. In June, 1839, the Norwich Tonnage Act passed. The chartists of the city attended service at the cathedral, on the 18th of August. This faction did not commit here any open breaches of the peace, though some of its members provided themselves with guns and pikes, which were taken from them by the police. While excavating a grave in the chancel of the church of St. Peter Mancroft, a coffin was broken, which proved to be that of Sir Thomas Browne, M.D., who died in 1682. The skeleton was found to be in good preservation, and the hair of the beard very profuse. At the election in July, 1841, the chartists put F. K. Eagle, Esq., in nomination, and the military were soon afterwards called out to disperse a riotous mob, which threatened vengeance on Dover, the chartist leader, for taking a bribe for the withdrawal of his nomination of Mr. Eagle.

A dreadful storm of hail, rain, wind, and thunder, on the 9th of August, 1843, did immense damage to property in various parts of Norfolk; and towards repairing the losses of the sufferers, £5622. 11s. 10d. were raised by parochial, and £4391. 14s. 6d. by individual subscriptions. Similar storms occurred in the preceding and the same month, in various parts of the kingdom, and many of the hailstones, or rather pieces of ice, were $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches square. In some places the panes of glass in the windows which faced the storm were nearly all broken. In January, 1849, Jenny Lind gave two concerts in Norwich, each of which was attended by more than 2000 persons, and the proceeds, amounting to £1253. 4s., were generously given by the celebrated songstress for the foundation of the Jenny Lind Infirmary for Children, as afterwards noticed. On April 4th, 1850, Mr. Newall, the superintendent of the Eastern Counties Railway, was killed at Reedham, by leaping off a train when in motion. On July 9th, 1853, a dreadful thunderstorm passed over Norwich, and the rain fell in torrents for three hours, and inundated the lower part of the city. In May, 1854, the mayor (Mr. Samuel Bignold) presented an address to the Queen, assuring her majesty of the loyal support of the Corporation in the prosecution of the Russian war, and his worship received the honour of knighthood. The Wellington statue, in the Market place, was inaugurated on Nov. 2nd in the same year. Duke's Palace Bridge was opened free of toll in March, 1855. The new Cemetery was commenced Feb. 27th, 1856; and in April of the following year the Nelson statue was removed from the Market place to the front of the Grammar School, in the Upper Close. There were great rejoicings and illuminations in 1857, on the conclusion of peace with Russia; and a grand banquet was shortly afterwards given in St. Andrew's Hall, to Major General Windham, C.B., the hero of the Redan. On June 26th, 1857, the present Bishop of Norwich was installed, and in the following August the annual congress of the British Archaeological Institute was held in this city. In March, 1860, Lord Bury and H. W. Schneider, Esq., who had for some years represented the city, were unseated for bribery, and replaced by Sir Wm. Russell, Bart., C.B., and Edward Warner, Esq., the present parliamentary representatives of Norwich. A meeting was held on the 10th of January, 1861, to consider the best means of relieving the distress which had for some time prevailed owing to the depression of trade; and within a month more than £4000 were raised for the poor of the city. The death of the Prince Consort, in December, 1861, caused great grief in Norwich, and the mayor and corporation went in procession with the Volunteers, &c., to the cathedral, where a suitable sermon was preached by the bishop. On the 12th of September, 1862, the whole of the Norfolk and Norwich Volunteers, with some of their confrères from the neighbouring counties, and more than 2000 invited guests, were entertained by R. J. H. Harvey, Esq., the High Sheriff of Norfolk, at his seat at Crown Point; and on the succeeding day a large number of the poor experienced the same liberal treatment. On the 10th of March, 1863, the citizens again displayed their enthusiastic loyalty by processions, illuminations, balls, &c., on the occasion of the marriage of the Prince of Wales. The Triennial Musical Festival in September, 1863, realized the large sum of £4680. 8s.

MANUFACTURES.—The manufactures of Norwich are the great source of its wealth, and by employing an immense capital, exciting industry, and remunerating labour, they have raised the city to its present commercial importance, and augmented its population since the year 1811, from 37,313, to upwards of 76,000 souls; and its houses from 8336 to about 18,000. No place in England, Manchester excepted, has made a more distinguished figure in the weaving trade than the city of Norwich. That the art of manufacturing cloth from wool was exercised in Norfolk from a very early period, has been conjectured from the simple and primitive mode of spinning with a distaff being continued here long after it was disused in other manufacturing districts; indeed, it was not finally abolished here till about fifty years ago, when the machine spinners of Yorkshire began to supply the city manufacturers with yarn of a more regular texture, at a cheaper rate, and in much larger quantities than could be produced on the domestic wheels of Norfolk; and several yarn mills have since been built in Norwich.

Before the Norman Conquest, woollens of various qualities and textures composed the principal manufactures of Norwich; but soon after that period a sort of cloth work was introduced, which, though not a new discovery, had not been previously practised in England. This was a totally different production to what had usually been denominated cloth; the preparation being by a combing, instead of a carding process. By the former, the wool is drawn out to a very long, in the latter to a short staple; that is, the fibres of the fleece are extended the whole length in the one instance, and broken and interneted in the other. The art of combing wool is attributed as a discovery to Blasius, or Blaise, a bishop of the eastern church in the third century, who is still venerated by the woolcombers as the patron saint of their trade. Respecting the time when it was first exercised in this country, different opinions have been entertained. Owing to an inundation in Flanders, numbers of the inhabitants of that province came over to this country in the time of Henry the First. Some of them settled in Pembrokeshire, and others fixed their abode, first at Worstead, and afterwards at Norwich, and their articles, manufactured from jersey, or combed wool, received the name of worsted stuffs, from their original place of settlement in Norfolk. In the reign of Edward II. a patent was granted to John Pecock, investing him with the exclusive privilege of measuring every piece of worsted stuff made in the city of Norwich or County of Norfolk. But this having been found to operate as a restraint upon the trade, the letters were soon afterwards recalled. What tended to increase and raise to an enviable height this species of manufacture, was the number of Flemish artizans who came over in 1336. Their arrival was occasioned by the great intercourse at that time kept up between this country and the Netherlands, the English King, Edward III., having married Philippa, daughter of William, Earl of Hainault. That quaint but solid historian, Fuller, in his account of the arrival of these foreigners, says, "The king and state began now to grow sensible of the great gain the Netherlands got by our English wool, in memory whereof the Duke of Burgundy, not long after, instituted the order of the golden fleece; wherein indeed the fleece was ours and the golden theirs, so vast was their emolument by the trade of clothing. Our king, therefore, resolved, if possible, to reduce the trade to his own country (men), who as yet were ignorant; as knowing no more what to do with their wool than the sheep who wear it, as to any artificial and curious drapery, their best cloths being no better than freizes, such their coarseness for want of skill in their making." The king, having obtained this treasure of foreign artizans, that the arts they brought might be more generally dispersed, encouraged them to settle in different parts of his dominions. But when left to their unbiassed choice, they always preferred a maritime situation; and both the bearing of the county and habits of the people determined many in their choice of Norfolk. The discovery of Fullers'-earth at this time, a substance so useful in the trade, and with which England abounds, did not a little contribute to further their exertions in the weaving craft. Various staples were appointed for the sale of wool, and its exportation was prohibited under heavy penalties. On this occasion the city of Norwich was fixed for the staple of the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk.

In the time of Richard II., and succeeding reigns, various statutes were enacted for the encouragement and regulation of the trade, by further prohibitions against sending unmanufactured wool out of the kingdom, and for measuring the manufactured articles, as well as for the sale of cloth. Though the alnage had been dropped, as tending to depress the spirit of speculation, yet it was deemed necessary, in the early progress towards manufacturing excellence, that officers should be appointed, whose duty it was to inspect all goods, and pass them, by affixing a seal, as a mark of approbation, to the approved pieces. In the twenty-third year of Henry the Sixth, an act passed ordering four wardens to be chosen for the city of Norwich, and four others for the county of Norfolk, "To do right, and to make due search of worsteds in Norwich and Norfolk, and which will set down orders for the true making thereof."* It having been discovered in the following reign, "that divers persons in Norwich and Norfolk made untrue wares, by which means they lose their ancient estimation beyond sea," &c., the number of wardens was increased. From this act it seems the trade had arrived at such a degree of excellence as to rival other nations in the foreign market; and the English goods, probably, then obtained an extensive sale in those very countries whence the art had first been imported. In the time of Henry VIII., according to Blomefield, the sale of stuffs made in the city of Norwich only, amounted to the annual sum of £200,000, exclusive of stockings, which were commuted at £60,000 more. Not only did the trade thus flourish at Norwich and Worstead, but it had now spread over the county ; for by an Act passed in the fourteenth year of his reign, it appears, that “ the making of worsteds, saies, and stammings, which had greatly increased in the city of Norwich and county of Norfolk, was now practised more busily and diligently than in times past at Yarmouth and Lynn.” The wardens of these towns, therefore, were put under the control of the jurisdiction of Norwich. During the reigns of Edward the Sixth and Queen Mary, new articles of manufacture continued to be introduced, and new regulations passed for the making of russells, satins, satin-reverses, and Naples-fustians, as had been done before for the making of hats, dornicks, and coverlets, and the manufacturers of such new articles were formed into a corporation, endowed with exclusive privileges. Subsequent to this, the trade fell into decay, and a new era of its revival commenced. By the advice of the Duke of Norfolk, Queen Elizabeth was induced to offer an asylum in her dominions to the inhabitants of the Low Countries, who had fled from the cruel persecution of the Duke of Alva. These Dutch and Walloon refugees brought with them their arts and their industry, and quickly evinced the folly of attempting compulsion in religious matters, and the wisdom and policy of an enlightened toleration. They were allowed to settle in Norfolk, and each master to bring with him ten servants at the Duke’s charge. They rapidly increased from 330 to nearly 4000, and the county was essentially benefited by their skill and exertions. New fabrics were introduced by the intermixture of silk and wool, and, in 1575, the Dutch Elders presented in court a specimen of a novel work, called bombazine, for the manufacturing of which elegant stuff, (of silk and worsted,) the city was long famed. In 1653, an Act was passed for regulating the spinning of worsted yarn and the weaving of stuffs. In the reign of George I., an Act passed to compel the makers of any kind of stuff to become freemen of Norwich, as the manufacturers of russells and fustians had formerly been. The preamble states that it was made to furnish the city with a proper supply of able magistrates ; but the policy of the measure lay deeper than the statement. In the twenty-fifth year of George II., a statute was enacted to open the port of Great Yarmouth for the importation of wool and woollen yarn, a circumstance which proved highly beneficial to the general trade of the city and county. For a long time the master manufacturers were men of moderate capital, their concerns were limited, and credit small. Many of them resided in the villages, and brought their articles to the city for sale ; indeed, most of them disposed of their goods to factors, who supplied the merchants. The trade was then principally confined to home consumption, and the act of 1721, which prohibited the general wearing of cottons, and the order for the court mourning to consist of Norwich crapes, during the administration of Sir Robert Walpole, prove that the trade did not then depend so much on foreign demand as upon internal orders.

* In the year 1459, at an assembly of the clothiers under the late regulations, it was agreed that the cloth seal should be committed to a proper person, who should be considered sole tokener, to seal and token all cloths, called Norwich cloths, with a lead seal or token, after he had found them the proper length and breadth. All the weavers were ordered to deliver in a roll, containing the names of their craft, with the several marks belonging to each individual, by which the goodness of every man's work might be ascertained by his mark, and the measure of it by the token.

About ninety years ago, the tide of fashion running strongly in favour of the light and elegant manufactures of India, excited in the genius of Britain a spirit of imitation. The stuff trade had been long on the decline, through the prevalence of Manchester cottons ; and from the facility and cheapness with which these were manufactured by the wonderful inventions of Arkwright and other ingenious mechanics, the destruction of the home trade was almost completed. The merchants and manufacturers were roused to extraordinary exertions, and the channels of trade were soon entirely changed. They improved and extended their continental connexions, their travellers were seen in every kingdom of Europe, and the great annual marts of Frankfort, Leipsic, and Salerno were crowded with purchasers for Norwich goods. By these means, though excluded from their usual share of the internal trade, they amply compensated that loss. The tradesmen now sent their sons to be educated in Germany, Italy, and Spain, that by learning the languages and manners of the different people, they might enlarge their views and strengthen their foreign relations. The taste of every country, and the habits of every clime were consulted, from the frozen north to the sultry south. Hence Norwich, and the country for twenty miles round it, were quickly crowded with looms. Though the distaff and spinning wheel were incessantly plied through the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, and in the former only, it is computed fifty thousand tods of wool were annually spun, yet the produce was inadequate to the demand. It became necessary to import yarn as well as wool; and of the importation of bay yarn from Ireland only, more was at that period consumed here than had been, a few years before, imported into the whole kingdom. Exclusive of this, great quantities of yarn were purchased from the neighbouring counties, and Scotland also was induced to contribute a share. At that proud meridian of its prosperity, the trade, from the capriciousness of fashion, began to show some symptoms of decay; and the disastrous war breaking out, abridged its communications, dissolved its continental connexions, annihilated all incentives to speculation, depressed the spirit of enterprise, and paralysed the hands of industry.

Arthur Young considered the interval between the years 1743 and 1763, and downward, till the dispute between England and her colonies became serious, to have been a flourishing era in the commercial annals of Norwich. The number of looms was then found to be 12,000, and each of them, with its attendant preparations, was supposed to produce work to the value of £100 per annum, making the total yearly value of the manufactures £1,200,000, of which only one-tenth was estimated as the value of the raw material, so that the amount then paid here for labour exceeded one million per annum. Nearly the whole of Europe, together with China, South America, and the Cape of Good Hope, were formerly supplied by Norwich with a variety of worsted stuffs, such as calimancoes, tabinets, brocaded satins, satinets, florettes, brilliantes, damasks, and lastings, which were technically called "toys," and are now succeeded in those markets by printed cottons. The ladies of Spain were excellent customers for bombazines. Spain also took large quantities of camlets for the use of the religious orders. This article obtained great celebrity for its texture and resistance to the weather. It found its way all over Europe, and large orders were annually received from the East India Company till 1832, for the supply of China, where it is still in high repute. The fillover shawl, commonly called the Norwich shawl, was first made here by Mr. John Harvey, in 1803, and was of cotton, embroidered with coloured worsted, and chiefly exported to America. This article was greatly improved by Mr. P. J. Knights, who made it of silk and worsted, the outline of the pattern being printed, while the flower was embroidered with the needle. Mr. Knights presented several curious patterns of this shawl to Queen Charlotte, and received from the Society of Arts a medal, for a counterpane five yards square, with a fringe, and without a seam. Fillover shawls have since undergone great improvements, and at one period a man and his wife are said to have earned, in making them, as much as £15 a week. This branch of the Norwich manufactures has of late years been considerably reduced in consequence of the Scotch imitating the style, and paying lower wages. Other branches have undergone considerable changes and depressions since the introduction of machinery and printed goods. Poplins, chalis, tamataves, cashmeres, paramattas, gauzes, crapes, silks, satins, and satinettes, lustres of several sorts, mouseline-de-laines, mantles, velvets, &c., are all now produced in abundance here, chiefly for home consumption, though fancy goods to a considerable extent are exported to America and Australia. Many articles formerly made here entirely of worsted, are not now heard of, and new ones are introduced yearly, the manufacturers being constantly on the alert, either to anticipate the changes in the public taste, or to copy, and if possible, to sell at a lower price, some prevailing article of recent introduction. The Jacquard Loom, now so extensively used in Yorkshire and other manufacturing counties, was introduced here about the year 1833. By this ingenious machine the most complicated patterns can be woven with the same ease as the plainest; but the great number of cards required to produce the figures make it expensive. At one period, about 150 woolcombers were employed here, but, after 1808, they were obliged to seek employment among the machine spinners of Yorkshire. The erection of two worsted mills at Norwich, in 1834, again introduced into the city the ancient art of woolcombing.

On the occasion of the marriage of the Prince of Wales, in 1863, seven of the principal manufacturing firms presented, through the corporation, to the Princess Alexandra, specimens of the elegant fabrics for which Norwich has so long been famous, which not only fully maintained the ancient reputation of the city, but shewed that such improvements have been introduced that no fear need be entertained of competition with the products of foreigners, either as to quality or price. Messrs. Clabburn, Sons, & Crisp, presented a silk shawl of elaborate Indian pattern, with white centre and crimson and gold border. Messrs. Middleton and Answorth, a silk mantle or bournous cloak of Persian pattern, crimson and white intermixed, and edged with gold. Messrs. Bolingbroke and Jones, a poplin dress-piece, of bleu-de-ciel colour, with white spot, both sides equally perfect. Messrs. Towler, Rowling, and Allen, a grenadine silk shawl of crimson, white, and gold. Messrs. Francis Hinde and Son, an opera cloak of white silk, with raised velvet stripes of Humbolt-violet colour. Messrs. Edward Willett and Nephew, a plain poplin dress-piece, of Humbolt-violet colour. And the Norwich Crape Company, a white crape shawl.

During the last fifteen years the manufacture of boots and shoes has become a leading branch of Norwich trade, and there are about thirty wholesale houses here employing more than 5000 persons, chiefly in making shoes for exportation. Messrs. Barnard, Bishop and Barnards employ a large number of hands in manufacturing root pulpers, pig troughs, iron chairs and gates, wire netting, &c. The splendid gates manufactured by this firm from designs by Mr. Thomas Jeckyll, for the Exhibition of 1862, achieved so high a reputation as the "Norwich Gates" that they were deemed a worthy present from the County of Norfolk and City of Norwich to the Prince of Wales on the occasion of his coming to reside at Sandringham; they were consequently purchased by public subscription and duly presented to his Royal Highness in April, 1863. The gates are 25 feet high and 40 feet wide, and are divided into compartments,—the lower being a trellis work of vine leaves and bunches of grapes, and the upper a similar interweaving of the leaves of the hawthorn. The piers are surmounted by heraldic animals supporting shields, and are wreathed with the briar-rose, oak, and convolvulus. Every part, except the piers and girders, which are of cast iron, is wrought by the hand of the workman, without the aid of die or mould, and copied from nature with such fidelity as to have a marvellous effect; no two leaves or branches being exactly alike. The whole has an imposing and beautiful appearance, and is a work of which Norwich may be justly proud. Messrs. Holmes and Son are large manufacturers of agricultural machines, for which they have obtained several prize medals. The Norfolk Stone Company has extensive premises in St. Clement's, where patent concrete stone is manufactured, equal in quality to the finest Portland stone, whilst it possesses the important advantage of being moulded into any form, so as to supply in a few hours, and at a comparatively trifling cost, works that could hitherto be only obtained by the slow and expensive process of the chisel and mallet. The sand used in this important manufacture is obtained from Mousehold Heath. Messrs. J. & J. Colman have very large works at Carrow, on the banks of the Wensum, where ships of 100 tons burden can discharge their cargoes into the warehouses, whilst a branch line from the Great Eastern Railway intersects the premises, and affords facility for land carriage. Messrs. Colman are the largest makers of mustard and starch in the kingdom. They are also manufacturers of indigo blue and paper, and have an extensive flour mill, arranged to work ten pairs of stones. These works occupy an area of several acres, and furnish employment to more than 800 workmen. Mr. George Allen employs nearly 80 persons in making elastic fabrics in thread, silk, and wool, adapted for gloves, mantles, shawls, table cloths, and general clothing purposes. These goods are made upon warp frames, the machinery of which is of a very costly description, and on the same principle as the Nottingham lace machinery. Messrs. Thurgar & Co. have a factory for producing the condensed egg or egg-flour, for use at sea, and for general cooking purposes. In one year this firm imported from France and Ireland the immense number of 800,000 eggs for conversion into this kind of food. Messrs. Grout and Co. employ about 700 hands at their factory in Lower Westwick street, in the manufacture of crapes, aerophanes, and lisses. They have also factories at Yarmouth, Ditchingham, Manchester, and London, and employ altogether upwards of 3000 hands. The Norwich Steam Power Company has a large factory in St. James's, in which are two 50-horse power steam engines. This spacious building is let off in rooms to various manufacturers, who have here about 700 power looms. Some of the long rooms are occupied by Mr. Parke and Mr. Skelton, for the spinning of mohair and worsted yarn. R. W. Blake, Esq., possesses a large factory in St. Edmund's, and also the Lakenham mill, both of which are occupied for spinning mohair and worsted yarn. King street mill belongs to Messrs. Jay & Son, who are largely engaged in spinning mohair, worsted, and alpaca wool. Messrs. J. L. Barber & Co. have an extensive cotton winding establishment in St. Martin's, where large quantities of cotton reels are made. It is almost unnecessary to say that at the various International Exhibitions from 1851 to 1862, the Norwich manufacturers successfully competed with those of other towns and countries, and succeeded in carrying off a fair share of prize medals, besides obtaining innumerable honourable mentions. There are a great number of manufacturers employing many workmen, besides those already named; but it would be impossible to mention them all; and there are also in the city many extensive establishments for dyeing and finishing the manufactured goods; several ironfoundries, tanneries, breweries, maltkilns, soaperies, chemical works, oilcake and artificial manure works, brick and tile works, &c. There are two old BANKS in the city, viz., Gurneys and Co.'s, established in 1775; and Harvey's and Co.'s, established in 1792. There are also the East of England Bank, established in 1835 by a Joint Stock Company, with a capital of one million, in 50,000 £20 shares, a Savings' Bank, a Post Office Savings' Bank, and a Penny Savings' Bank.

THE NAVIGATION of the Wensum and the Yare is a great facility to the manufactures and commerce of Norwich, and has been considerably improved by a ship canal cut across the marshes from Reedham to Lowestoft. The general navigation from Norwich to Yarmouth is by keels and wherries. The wherries are peculiar to the rivers of Norfolk and Suffolk, and those used on the Wensum carry from 15 to 40 tons, and draw from three to four feet of water; the mast is by the head, and is so balanced by means of lead that the strength of one man is sufficient to raise or lower it in the event of passing bridges; on this, by the action of a windlass, the sail is hoisted, being extended on a gaff at the upper edge. These vessels are seldom navigated by more than two hands, and one of them is often a boy, or the wife of the waterman; in the latter case it is not unfrequent for them to have their families in a cabin placed at the stern. The project of opening a communication between the city and the ocean for vessels drawing eight feet of water, originated with Crisp Brown, Esq., one of the aldermen, who first submitted his plan for making Norwich a port, by way of Yarmouth, to an assembly of the corporation in 1814; after which Mr. Cubitt was employed to make a survey of the river Yare, and in 1818 he published a report, recommending the avoidance of the Breydon Water, by a cut on the south side, and estimating the cost of his plan at £35,626. In the same year Mr. Cubitt was employed to make another survey, "with a view of ascertaining whether or not it was practicable to open a communication with the sea at Lowestoft;" and in 1821 he published his report, strongly recommending this plan in preference to the other, but estimating the cost at £87,000. T. Telford, Esq., afterwards examined the two lines, and fully concurred in the reports of Mr. Cubitt. As the corporation of Yarmouth had announced their intention of opposing either of the plans that might be adopted, it was determined to prosecute that by Lowestoft. Subscriptions were entered into, and fresh surveys made, but it was not till the session of 1826 that the committee was prepared to apply to Parliament for an act to enable it to carry the plan into effect. The bill being strongly opposed by the Yarmouth corporation and the owners of the marshes, (the latter fearing an inundation,) it was lost by a majority of five, though the evidence in its favour was so conclusive that upon application to the Speaker of the House it was ordered to be printed at the public expense. In the next session a second bill was introduced, and referred to a committee, in which, after much opposition, only five members voted against it, while 25 voted for it. The bill then passed the Commons, but was vigorously opposed in the House of Lords. It ultimately passed both Houses, and received the royal assent May 28th, 1827, after the corporation of Yarmouth had spent £8600 in opposing it. This great work, called the NORWICH AND LOWESTOFT NAVIGATION, was commenced in the same year, and finished Sept. 30th, 1833. (See page 160.) The Yare has been deepened in a small part of its course near Norwich, and the line pursues the navigation of that river as far as Reedham, from whence it is carried across the marshes by a cut $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles long, to the river Waveney, along which it passes to Oulton-Dike. The latter has been widened and deepened to Oulton-Broad, whence by a short cut the canal enters Lake Lothing, along which it passes to the shore at Lowestoft, where, by cutting through the sea bank, the tides have been freely admitted into the lake, which now forms a large harbour, covering 160 acres, nearly three miles in length, and averaging from 15 to 17 feet in depth at high water. Thus Norwich became a port, and its vessels from London and the south arrive by a nearer route than Yarmouth, with greater facilities for proceeding on their voyages, and with the advantage of avoiding the shallow waters of Breydon, and the delay and expense of trans-shipment at Yarmouth, from which port, however, much of the city merchandise is still transmitted.

BRIDGES.—As has already been seen, the river Wensum passes through Norwich by a sinuous course, and soon afterwards falls into the Yare. In its passage through the city and suburbs it is crossed by ten bridges. The second on the stream within the city is Coslany Bridge, originally built of timber; it was rebuilt of stone in 1521, but falling into decay, was taken down and re-constructed of cast iron in 1804. Blackfriars Bridge was a wooden structure, erected about the time of Henry VIII., rebuilt of the same material in Edward IV.'s reign, and of stone with three arches, in 1589; this also decaying, and the narrow arches being a great impediment to the current, the bridge was rebuilt of one stone arch, 44 feet span, in 1784, at a cost of £1290. This arch is remarkably strong, all the stones being cramped with iron. Fye-Bridge, anciently called "Fyve-Bridge," from its being the fifth principal bridge over the Wensum, was a timber fabric till Henry IV.'s time, when it was rebuilt of stone, but was washed down by a flood in 1570. Three years afterwards a new bridge was completed of two arches, the largest 26 feet span; but it underwent considerable repair in 1756, and was taken down in 1829, when the present handsome cast iron bridge was erected on its site. Whitefriars Bridge was likewise a wooden fabric till 1591, when it was rebuilt of stone, containing one pointed arch, 30 feet span; being much decayed, it was thoroughly repaired in 1835, when the old battlements gave place to neat iron railing. Bishop's Bridge was erected or rebuilt in 1295, by the Prior of Norwich, who had a patent granted him for building "a gate, with a bridge 20 feet adjoining it." It was afterwards repaired by the Bishop and Prior, but becoming a general inlet to the city, it was granted to the citizens in 1393, and they were charged with its subsequent repairs, and had the appointment of a porter to keep the gate, though the hermit or monk asking alms there was nominated by the Prior. It has three semi-circular arches, and on the inside of the largest are some old sculptured heads. Foundry Bridge is a handsome and commodious structure, of one spacious arch, erected in 1844, (on the site of one built in 1811,) chiefly of wood, resting on stone piers. This was a toll bridge, but soon after the completion of the present fabric it was purchased of the proprietors and thrown open to the public for £6700, half of which was given by the railway company, and the remainder paid out of the tonnage dues. Duke's Palace Bridge, built of cast iron (under the powers of an act of parliament passed in 1820), at a cost of £9000, was a pay-bridge till 1855, when it was purchased by the corporation for about £4000. The two following are still toll-bridges, viz.:—New Mills Bridge, the first on the river within the walls, (free for foot passengers only;) and Carrow Bridge, originally an iron elliptical arch of 50 feet span, erected in 1810, but rebuilt in 1833, with leaves to draw up for the admission of vessels using the Norwich and Lowestoft Navigation. Hellesden Bridge, on the north side of the city liberties, beyond the walls, was built by the corporation in 1819, chiefly of cast iron, at a cost of £1169. The Corporation have jurisdiction on the river from Hellesden Bridge to Hardley Cross, a distance of 24 miles, following the sinuosities of the channel; this, however, does not supersede the rights of the proprietors of the manors on the banks, all of which have their respective free fisheries, and to some swan marks are appended; but the city has in all cases a joint right. The river contains various kinds of fish, such as roach, perch, tench, dace, gudgeon, bream, pike, ruff, and great quantities of eels. Salmon have been occasionally taken, and smelts are found in great plenty in the months of April and May. For cleansing the river and otherwise supporting the navigation within their jurisdiction, the Corporation of Norwich receive about £800 a year from the Yarmouth Haven and Pier Commissioners; and for the reparation of the bridges, staiths, wharves, roads, &c., they levy tonnage duties on all goods brought up the river.

RAILWAYS.—The first railway formed in Norfolk was the line from Norwich to Yarmouth, which was opened May 1st, 1844, with great rejoicing. Since then numerous other lines have been made in the county, so that Norwich has now equal, if not superior railway facilities to those of most other cities. It has direct communication with London and all parts of the kingdom by means of the Great Eastern Railway, with which all the lines in the county were incorporated by act of parliament in 1862. (See page 59.) There are two Railway Stations at Norwich, called respectively Thorpe and Victoria Stations. The former is on the eastern side of the city, near Foundry Bridge, and the latter just beyond St. Stephen's Gates, on the south. Mr. Hy. Buckley Sproul is station master at Thorpe, and Mr. Wm. Seeley at Victoria Station. There is also a small station at Trowse, on the southern side of the city.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.—As has been already seen, the corporation of Norwich claims a prescriptive origin. A charter of the fifth of Henry II. is the earliest known one, and it confirmed certain liberties enjoyed in the reign of Stephen. A charter of the fifth of Henry IV. made the territory within the limits of the corporation a county of itself, excepting only the precincts of the Castle and the Cathedral, which have been added to the borough by the Reform Acts of 1832 and 1835. Twenty-five charters, the latest by James II., are known to have been granted, and probably others existed and have been lost. That by which the city was governed till 1835, was granted by Charles II., in 1663, on the petition of the citizens, and states in its preamble that "the city of Norwich is an ancient populous city and county by itself, formerly incorporated by the name of the mayor, sheriffs, citizens, and commonalty of the city of Norwich, and as such, enjoying many privileges and immunities granted by former kings," all of which are hereby confirmed, with "all manner of liberties, free customs, franchises, exemptions, quit-claims, and jurisdictions belonging to the city; and also all and singular lands, tenements, marts, markets, fairs, customs for cattle, liberties, privileges, and hereditaments whatever, whether by grant, custom, or prescription, in as ample a manner as heretofore." The charter then vested the civil government in a mayor, 24 aldermen, two sheriffs, a recorder, a steward, a town clerk, and 60 common councilmen, and granted "that the mayor, recorder, and steward for the time being, and all such aldermen as have borne the office of mayor of the said city, shall be afterwards, so long as they continue aldermen, justices of the peace in the city and its county, with the same power as all other justices of the peace have in other counties of this realm, with full power to inquire, hear, and determine by the oaths of lawful men of the said city and county, of all felonies, transgressions, regratings, and extortions whatever, committed within their jurisdiction; at which sessions the mayor, recorder, and steward, or two of them, shall be personally present, who shall also make inquiry, &c., of all conventicles or meetings of the people, contrary to the King's peace, and proceed thereupon according to the laws of the land." Two of the twenty-four aldermen were elected for life by each of the twelve small wards. Persons elected and refusing to serve the office of aldermen, were liable to a fine not exceeding £200, to be laid out in repairing walls, bridges, &c. The charters provided that the sixty common councilmen should be annually elected by the freemen in each of the great wards separately; but by acts of parliament passed in 1722 and 1729, for the better regulation of elections in the city and other purposes, it was enacted that no more than three should be elected by the freemen of each great ward on the day appointed by the charters, and that those so elected, or the major part of them, should elect and fill up the number required for each great ward. From amongst the aldermen who had served the office of sheriff, the mayor was chosen in the following manner:—four thus qualified were nominated, and two of them chosen by a poll, at which all resident freemen in the city voted, and the discretionary power of appointing either of them remained with the court of aldermen. One of the sheriffs was appointed by the aldermen and the other by the freemen. The Guild day, when the mayor was sworn into office, was on the Tuesday before the eve of St. John the Baptist, and was distinguished by a splendid pageant, which originated in the annual procession of St. George's Company, and was kept up after that fraternity had been dissolved in 1731. (See page 176.) The mayor-elect entertained the members of the corporation to breakfast, after which a procession was made to the cathedral. The dragon "Snap," formerly belonging to St. George's Company, was carried first, attended by four whiffers, or swordsmen, and the city beadies with a band of music, and the standard of the city, of blue and silver; next came the common council, in gowns, with their beadle, then the speaker and the city coroners: then the city marshal and the city waits, with the standard of justice, of crimson and gold, the mace bearer and under chamberlain on horseback, the sword bearer before the mayor, the mayor elect, the recorder, the high steward, the aldermen above the chair, the sheriffs, the aldermen below the chair, and lastly, the sheriff's officers. On returning from the cathedral after service, the procession halted at the Free School porch, (where a Latin oration was delivered by the head scholar,) and then returned to the Guildhall, when the oaths were taken by the new mayor, and he was invested with the insignia of office, after which a splendid feast was held in St. Andrew's Hall, and a ball at the Assembly Rooms concluded the festivities of the day. The last guild was held in 1835, just before the passing of the Municipal Reform Act. Till 1772, the whole procession went on horseback, and was considered to be the grandest public cavalcade in England. So much of all acts, charters, customs, and usages, as are inconsistent with "An Act to provide for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales," passed Sept. 9th, 1835, were repealed and annulled by that act, which divided the borough of Norwich into eight wards, and reduced the number of aldermen to 16, and the councillors to 48. As already noticed, the Reform Acts of 1832 and 1835 have added to the borough the Precincts of the Castle and Cathedral, and all such other extra-parochial places as are contained within the outer boundaries of the city and county of the city of Norwich. In the Municipal Act of 1835, it was placed in section 1 of schedule A, among the boroughs which were to have a Commission of the Peace. This act confirmed its former privilege of being a county of itself, with only one sheriff instead of two, as formerly. It also altered the style of the corporation, the mode of election, the number of officers, the courts, the fees paid on the admission of freemen, &c. The freedom of the city is now only open to freemen's sons and apprentices, each of the former paying a fee of 7s., and each of the latter a fine of 13s. 4d., and a fee of 7s. 8d. on their admission. The stamp duty (£1) formerly paid on each admission, was discontinued in 1838. The freedom could formerly be obtained by gift or purchase, a fine of from £3 to £25, according to trade, being charged on the admission of strangers; and an act of the 9th of George I. required certain tradesmen to take up their freedom, but it was rarely enforced. There are 28 magistrates appointed by the Crown for the city and county of the city. Some of them sit with the Mayor in the Sword-room, at the Guildhall, every day, to hear and determine all matters brought before them. Assizes are held here twice a-year, and Quarter Sessions are held by the recorder, who adjourns them as often as necessary. The sheriffs, or one of them, with the steward as assessor, were appointed by the charter of Charles II. to hold the Guildhall, or Sheriff's Court, and try all personal and mixed causes to any amount. Since the passing of the Municipal Act of 1835, all the officers of this court, now called the Borough Court of Record, consisting of the judge, registrar, and four sergeants at mace, are appointed by the corporation. The practice of this court is similar to that of the high courts at Westminster. A court for the trial of issues is held six times a year.

The Treasurer for the City and County of Norwich received in the year ending 1st September, 1862, a total sum of £20,791. 8s. 11d., exclusive of a balance of £1690. 9s. 11½d. from the preceding year's account. His payments during the same period amounted to £26,681. 13s. 3d., so that there was a deficit of £199. 14s. 4½d. The principal receipts were derived as follows:—£7375 from borough rates; £2800 rents of estates; £2210 rents and dues of markets and fairs; £2232 from government for the prosecution, maintenance, and removal of convicts, police expenses, &c.; £800 from the Yarmouth Haven Commissioners for the support of the Norwich rivers; £1155 tonnage dues; and £711 burial fees, &c. The chief items of expenditure were £6100 for the purchase of property for the cattle market; £2271 expenses of city gaol; £1000 for prosecutions, &c., at assizes and sessions, £5795 for city police; £200 for river police; £620 for taxes, &c.; £176 for coroner's inquests; £674 for law charges; £1050 for free library; £850 for improving the river; £1000 for repairs of roads and buildings out of the tonnage dues; about £1300 for the cemetery; and £300 for militia storehouses.

Norwich has returned two Members to Parliament since the 25th of Edward I. In 1403, Henry IV. summoned four citizens to be returned to Parliament; but the services of representatives being then paid for by their constituents, the expense was an object of such consideration that the citizens employed John Alford to obtain the king's licence to send only two as before. The parliamentary elective franchise was confined to the registered freemen (about 3000) and the 40s. freeholders, but by the Reform Act of 1832, it was vested in the registered freeholders, the occupiers of property of the yearly rental of £10 and upwards, and such freemen only as are registered and do not receive alms, and reside in the city, or within the distance of seven miles. The number of municipal voters in the eight wards into which Norwich is divided is 3366. The number of parliamentary voters registered in 1862 was 5454, of whom 1233 were freeholders, 1998 freemen, and 2223 occupiers of £10 houses; but a large number of the freeholders and freemen are also entitled to the franchise as occupiers. Municipal, as well as parliamentary elections, are often carried on at Norwich with a spirit which is not surpassed in any other place. In 1818, it is said that no less than £16,000 were expended in a contested election of councillors for one of the wards. The greatest number of freemen who have voted at any municipal election was in 1832, when 2557 polled at the election of the sheriff; and the number registered in that year to vote for members of parliament was 2335 residing within, and 76 without the city.

The freemen each receive from 5s. to 6s. yearly, in lieu of their ancient right of pasturage on the Town Close Estate, as noticed at page 142. See also Barnham Broom Estate, at a subsequent page. Much of the Corporation Property is let on lease for long terms, at small reserved rents, though it yields a yearly rental of about £2800, which is applied, with the market tolls, tonnage dues, &c., towards the reduction of the rates levied on the citizens, after the payment of £200 due to various charities, and two yearly fee-farm rents, viz., £94. 15s. 6d. to the Earl of Orford, and £8. 9s. to the representative of the late Viscount Fitzwilliam. As will be seen at a subsequent page, the Corporation were formerly trustees of various charities, possessing estates and funds yielding about £9000 per annum, but these were transferred under the powers of the Municipal Act in 1836, to twenty-six new trustees, appointed by the Lord Chancellor. As lords of the manor of East Carlton (held in trust for the great hospital since 1424), they formerly delivered yearly at the King's Exchequer, 120 herrings, baked in 24 pies, but none have been presented since 1834. Gildencroft, which belongs to the same hospital, and adjoins St. Augustine's churchyard, is now occupied by buildings, and was the place where the city tournaments were held. Chapel field, which belonged to the college of St. Mary, and was granted to the Corporation at the dissolution, was the campus martius of the city in 1578, when the train bands and artillery were exercised in it.

The ARMS OF THE CITY are, gules, a castle triple-towered, argent; in base a lion passant guardant, or; supported by two angels, with wings expanded, that on the dexter side holding a sword, and the other a sword in the sinister hand, all proper. The crest is a cap of maintenance.

CORPORATION OF NORWICH. (1863-'4).

MAYOR, Osborn Springfield, Esq. RECORDER, Peter Fdk. O'Malley, Esq., Q.C.

The past Mayors since 1836, are T. O. Springfield, T. Brightwell, S. S. Beare, J. Marshall, (twice), P. J. Money, E. Willett, S. Mitchell, and W. Freeman, Esqrs., Sir Wm. Foster, Bart., J. Betts, J. Colman, and G. L. Coleman, Esqrs., Sir S. Bignold, Knt., (twice), and H. Woodcock, (twice), C. Winter, R. Coaks, R. Chamberlain, (twice), J. G. Johnson, E. Field, G. Middleton, J. H. Tillett, W. J. U. Browne, and H. S. Patteson, Esqrs.

SHERIFF, Frederick Brown, Esq.—UNDER SHERIFF, P. E. Hansell, Esq.

The past Sheriffs since 1836, are, H. Bolingbroke, J. Bateman, J. Francis, H. Woodcock, J. Barwell, R. Coaks, W. Storey, W. Freeman, G. L. Coleman, J. Betts, J. Colman, (twice), C. Winter, J. Watson, R. Chamberlain, E. Blakely, R. W.

Blake, G. Womack, H. Birkbeck, R. J. H. Harvey, T. Steward, R. Seaman, C. Crawshaw, H. S. Patteson, J. Underwood, D. Dalrymple, A. J. Cresswell, and J. J. Colman, Esqrs.

ALDERMEN.—Philip Back, Addison John Cresswell, Canuel Darkins, James Dawbarn, Francis Gostling Foster, Wm. Hall, Wm. Manning Kitton, and Henry Willett, Esqrs., who retire in 1865; and Wm. Birkbeck, Wm. Boswell, Robert Fitch, Charles Hart, Henry Staniforth Patteson, John Oddin Taylor, Jacob Henry Tillett, and John Youngs, Esqrs., who retire in 1868.

WARDS AND COUNCILLORS.

The Figures shew the year each Councillor retires from Office.

First Ward.—Containing the parishes of Sts. Helen, Martin-at-Palace, Simon and Jude, Michael-at-Plea, Peter-at-Hungate, George-of-Tombland, and Peter-per-Mountergate; and the Precincts of the Cathedral, and the Liberty of the Bishop's Palace.

George Ives	1864	Geo. Wm. Minns ..	1865	John B. Morgan ...	1866
John Underwood ..	1864	David Penrice	1865	Edw. K. Harvey....	1866

Second Ward.—The parishes of St. Andrew, John-of-Maddermarket, Gregory, Lawrence, Margaret, and Swithin.

Richd. N. Bacon...	1864	J. Copeman, jun...	1865	Simms Reeve	1866
John F. Watson ..	1864	A. M. F. Morgan...	1865	Robert Thorns.....	1866

Third Ward.—The parishes of St. Benedict and St. Giles, and the hamlets of Heigham and Earham.

E. C. Bailey	1864	Robert Horne	1865	James Winter	1866
Robert A. Gorell...	1864	Henry Ling	1865	George Gedge	1866

Fourth Ward.—The parish of St. Peter Mancroft.

Thomas Brightwell	1864	J. J. Colman	1865	Sir W. Foster, Bt...	1866
Carlos Cooper	1864	Edward Willett....	1865	Charles Winter....	1866

Fifth Ward.—The parishes of St. Stephen, St. John's Timberhill, and All Saints; the Town Close, and the hamlet of Eaton.

Edward Field	1864	Sir S. Bignold, Knt.	1865	Charles W. Jolly....	1866
Fredk. E. Watson...	1864	Henry Thompson..	1865	Nathl. H. Caley....	1866

Sixth Ward.—The parishes of St. Julian, Etheldred, Michael-at-Thorn, Peter Southgate, and John Sepulchre; the hamlets of Lakenham, Trowse, Carrow, and Bracondale; and the Precincts of the Castle and Shirehall.

George Kitton	1864	John G. Johnson..	1865	Henry Hindes	1866
Thomas W. Crosse	1864	C. J. M. Spencer...	1865	Henry Lovett.....	1866

Seventh Ward.—The parishes of Sts. Clement, Edmund, Saviour, Paul, and James; the hamlets of Thorpe and Poekthorpe; and that part of Sprowston, which is within the boundary of the city and county of Norwich.

Wm. Andrews.....	1864	John W. Dowson...	1865	Wm. P. Nichols ...	1866
Wm. Sadd, jun....	1864	Thomas Jarrold ...	1865	A. F. C. Bolingbroke	1866

Eighth Ward.—The parishes of St. Michael-at-Coslany, Mary, Martin-at-Oak, George of Colegate, and Augustine; and the hamlet of Hellesden.

John Bidwell	1864	J. G. J. Bateman..	1865	George Chaplin.....	1866
Robert Hood.....	1864	William Kemp	1865	Osborn Springfield..	1866

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—The Mayor, the ex-Mayor, Sir Samuel Bignold, Kt., Dr. Copeman, and W. J. U. Browne, C. Evans, Nathaniel Palmer, Horatio Bolingbroke, Edw. Willett, J. Wright, Hy. Browne, J. G. Johnson, J. H. Gurney, M.P., Wm. Freeman, Osborn Springfield, A. Towler, J. Betts, Henry Woodcock, R. Chamberlin, John Saltzer, R. J. H. Harvey, R. W. Blake, Charles Winter, Chas. E. Bignold, Fredk. Brown, Robert Fitch, A. J. Cresswell, Robert Seaman, Henry Willett, and J. O. Taylor, Esqrs.

JUDGE OF THE BOROUGH COURT OF RECORD.—Nathaniel Palmer, Esq.

REGISTRAR OF COURT OF RECORD.—Henry Miller, Esq.

TOWN CLERK.—Wace Lockett Mendham, Esq.

CLERK OF THE PEACE.—A. Dalrymple, Esq.

CLERK TO MAGISTRATES.—William Day, Esq.

CLERK TO LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH.—Henry Blake Miller, Esq.

CLERK TO BURIAL BOARD.—Arthur Preston, Esq.

CITY SURVEYOR.—T. D. Barry, Esq.—CITY TREASURER.—F. Simpson, Esq.

CITY CORONER.—Wm. Wilde, Esq.—CHIEF CONSTABLE.—Mr. Rbt. Hitchman,

SANITARY INSPECTOR.—Mr. Samuel Clarke.

COLLECTOR OF TONNAGE DUTIES.—Mr. Joseph Dixon.

COLLECTORS OF MARKET TOLLS.—Messrs. S. Clarke, W. Bone, and H. Lucas.

REVISING ASSESSORS.—Samuel H. Asker and Henry Pulley, Esqrs.

CLERK TO VISITING JUSTICES OF GAOL AND ASYLUM.—E. S. Biguold, Esq.

INSPECTOR OF CORN RETURNS.—Mr. T. S. Day.

CLERK TO TAX COMMISSIONERS.—Frederick E. Watson, Esq.

Summoning Officer.—Edward Peck. Messenger.—Wm. Chapman.

Town Crier.—Josiah Berry. Water Bailiff.—Nicholas Bone.

Beadle and Hallkeeper.—Francis Widdows.

Sheriff's Officers.—Edward Provart and Henry Goreham.

The GUILD HALL, a large antique edifice, chiefly of flint, at the north end of the market place, was originally a small thatched building, erected for the purpose of collecting the market tolls, whence it took the name of the Toll booth. In Edward the Third's reign, a room built of stud, and covered with straw, was added; and it then assumed the dignified title of Guild Hall, though it contained only sufficient sitting room for the first magistrate and six other persons. In 1407, when Henry IV. granted them a charter for a mayor, instead of the two bailiffs, the corporation determined on building a new Guild Hall, prisons, &c., and for this purpose they had a warrant "to raise money, and press all carpenters, carters, and other workmen." But the whole building was not completed till 1413, when the windows of the council chamber were glazed, chiefly with stained glass, illustrative of scriptural and municipal subjects, with the arms of some of the contributors; but all these ornaments have disappeared, except in the three east windows, and even these have been much mutilated. The furniture of this room is of the time of Henry VIII., and the woodwork is ornamented with the linen pattern. Small figures of a lion, greyhound, and dragon are used as poppies, and in the panels are the arms of the city, of Henry VIII., and of several of the city companies. There are also many paintings in this chamber. On each side of the entrance are two fine full lengths—on the left that of Sir Benj. Wrench, and on the right that of Thos. Emerson, Esq., both painted by Heins. Besides these there are several fine old portraits; amongst the rest, Archbishop Parker, Chief Justice Coke, Alan Percy, (priest, 1549,) Serjeant Windham, (recorder,) Sir Peter Reade, Knt., Sir Joseph Paine, Knt., Sir Thos. White, Knt., Wm. Doughty, (founder of Doughty's Hospital), and many others, who were either members of the corporation or benefactors to the city. Several paintings were removed here from St. Andrew's Hall, in 1844. Here is also the sword of the Spanish Admiral, Don Xavier Winthuysen, taken at the battle off Cape St. Vincent, in 1797, by Rear-Admiral Sir HORATIO NELSON, and presented by him to the city; it is enclosed in a glass case, with appropriate embellishments, and accompanied by the original letter, in the handwriting of the Norfolk hero. The principal court is on the ground floor, towards the west; it is neat, but not very remarkable. The Grand Jury chamber is on the east side of the porch, and immediately over the fire-engine house. The Common Council chamber lies to the west, and was much enlarged and improved in 1806. There was a chapel on the south side, dedicated to St. Barbara, the peculiar saint of prisoners, but falling into decay, it was pulled down, and a porch and other offices erected on its site. This porch was rebuilt in 1861, with Town Clerk's offices, waiting room, two cells, &c., at a cost of £800. A winding staircase still leads from the porch down to several dark, damp, unhealthy dungeons, undoubtedly the oldest parts of the building. In the lowest of these, which has a groined roof, the pious martyr Bilney spent the last hours of his life. The east end of the hall is ornamented with curious chequer work of flint and freestone, with the royal and the city arms, now much defaced. The Assizes and Quarter Sessions for the city are held here, and Petty Sessions are held daily, at twelve noon. The Guildhall is also used for determining the municipal and parliamentary elections, and all other matters relative to the city. The Sheriff is the returning officer.

The city regalia consists of a gold chain, worn by the mayor, presented by Matthew Goss, in 1757; another gold chain, used by the deputy mayor, purchased with £100 left by Thomas Hall, in 1715; a sword of state, presented by Saint George's Company, in 1705; a curious mace, given by Queen Elizabeth, of silver gilt, with a beautiful crystal; two maces, silver gilt, presented by the Duke of Norfolk and Sir Robert Walpole, in 1670 and 1734; four beades' staves, with silver heads, &c., &c. The hall is surmounted by a transparent clock, given by Henry Woodcock, Esq., during his mayoralty in 1849-'50.

THE CITY POLICE FORCE and FIRE BRIGADE consists of a chief constable, 1 superintendent, 4 inspectors, 9 sergeants, 1 warrant officer, and 75 constables. The annual cost, amounting to nearly £6000, is defrayed out of the borough rates. Mr. Robert Hitchman is the chief constable, and has his office at the Guildhall; J. S. Garthon, Esq., is the surgeon; Wm. Barnard, superintendent; and Wm. Curtis, Henry Waller Moore, George Steward, and Edward Peck, inspectors.

ST. ANDREW'S HALL is a noble structure, in the perpendicular style of architecture, with some few details of an earlier date; and is used for the general assemblies of the corporation, for the triennial musical festivals, and for other public meetings. Having by long neglect become much dilapidated, it was beautifully restored in 1863, at a cost of about £5000, so that it is now one of the handsomest and best proportioned civic halls in the kingdom. It was erected early in the 15th century, probably about the same time as the west front of the Cathedral, and was originally the nave of the church attached to the Convent of Dominican or Black Friars, the choir of which is now partitioned off as the Dutch Church. The Black Friars first located themselves in Norwich in 1226, and soon obtained great wealth and influence. Their first establishment was on the north side of the river in St. George's Colegate parish, and covered a large extent of ground; but in 1307 they obtained a grant of the house of the dissolved Friars of the Sack, which stood a little north of the site of St. Andrew's Hall, and immediately commenced the erection of a new house in the decorated style, to which they removed in 1309. The beautiful cloisters and other large portions of these buildings still exist, and for many years were used as part of the Workhouse, but are now attached to the Commercial School, which was built in 1862. The site of the present Hall does not appear to have been fully acquired by the community till 1345, and it is probable that they then erected a new church upon it, instead of that of which the building now known as Becket's chapel is believed to have been the crypt. An accidental fire in 1413 so materially damaged the convent as to oblige the friars to return to their old house beyond the river, where they remained until another fire there, in 1449, induced them to return again to St. Andrew's parish, where they had doubtless some years before commenced the erection of the present magnificent structure, though it was not completed till 1470. Blomefield asserts that the building was commenced in 1415, by Sir Thomas Erpingham, and finished by his son Sir Robert, who was a monk on the foundation, but his only ground for saying so, appears to be, that the Erpingham arms are between each of the clerestory windows outside, and also in painted glass in those windows. Sir Robert died in 1445, and very probably applied the Erpingham property in aid of the funds for the erection of the conventual church, which induced the brethren to commemorate him in the manner stated; but the architecture of the clerestory is of the later period of the perpendicular style, and cannot have been erected earlier than 1450. At the dissolution of the monasteries, the site and buildings were, by the strenuous exertions of Alderman Steward and others, obtained for the city, with leave to "make the church a fair and large hall for the mayor and his brethren, with all the citizens to repair unto at a common assembly." The nave of the church was then converted into a civic hall, the choir became a chapel for the corporation and the several guilds, and the other buildings were made into granaries. The ancient and numerous guild, called Saint George's Company, usually held their meetings in the south aisle. They were first associated in 1385, as a society of brethren and sisters, for the purposes of charity and posthumous prayer. In 1416, they received a charter of incorporation. From that time this guild was in great repute, and reckoned among its members some of the first persons of ability, rank, and fortune; and at one period its annual festivals were held in the grand hall of the Bishop's palace. After the Reformation, it assumed more the form of a municipal than of a religious society. The annual feast or guild was held on St. George's day, and was a sumptuous festival. On this occasion a procession was made through the city to the cathedral, by the magistrates, corporation, masters, brethren, and sisters of the company, all on horseback. One of the brethren was dressed to represent St. George, and one of the sisters personated St. Margaret, called the Lady of the Guild. The procession was preceded by the figure of a dragon, called "Snap," constructed of wicker-work, covered with canvass, and painted and gilt. In 1731, the remaining members of the company resigned their charters to the corporation; their plate and paraphernalia were sold, their debts paid, and their meetings dissolved. In 1544, the first mayor's feast was held in St. Andrew's Hall. Among the distinguished guests entertained here at various periods, were Queen Elizabeth and Charles II. with his Queen. By degrees the use of the hall and chapel for religious purposes passed out of the hands of the Established Church, and about the beginning of the 17th century, the Dutch were in the habit of using the hall for divine service. They subsequently obtained a grant of the chapel; and an annual sermon in Dutch is still preached there, but at other times the place is used by a body of dissenters called the "Free Christian Church." Other portions of the conventual buildings were subsequently used by Presbyterians, Baptists, and Independents. Between the years 1650 and 1725, the corporation several times proclaimed the hall "a public exchange for the despatch of business between merchants and tradesmen," and about the beginning of the 18th century it was used for the city assizes, courts being built at each end for the purpose. In 1796, the hall was opened as a Corn Exchange, and continued to be so used till 1828. The beautiful octagon steeple which stood between the nave and choir was built about 1459, and fell down in 1712. It was of two stories above the church, and was a great addition to the external appearance of the building. The hall is 124 feet long, and consists of a nave 32 feet wide and two aisles of 16 feet each. The nave is divided from the aisles on either side by six lofty but slender moulded columns, having handsome moulded arches over; above which is a celestory pierced by fourteen handsome four-light tracery windows of late perpendicular character. There is a splendid five-light perpendicular window at the west end of the nave, and beneath it is a spacious and handsome doorway. The aisles have each six elegant tracery windows, besides one at either end, all of perpendicular character, except five of those in the south wall, which are decorated, and appear to have belonged to the old building. A door at the north-west communicates with the cloister of the old priory, but the principal entrance to the hall is near the south-west end, through a handsome porch. This porch is situated in the second bay from the west, and has a chamber or parvise above it. There is another entrance under the window in the fifth bay from the west end. The organ and orchestra are at the east end of the nave, and occupy the space over which the tower formerly stood, which has been recently opened to the hall by the insertion of a magnificent stone arch, nearly 30 feet wide. The roof of the nave consists of hammer beams and arched ribs, deeply moulded, but the rafters, which were originally exposed, are now plastered beneath, and form oblong panels. The aisle roofs are formed of straight timbers, moulded, and divided into panels like the nave, the principals having circular brackets filled with tracery. The roofs are beautifully decorated throughout, and have a very fine effect, especially when the hall is lighted by the nine magnificent brass coronæ, which are pendant from the roof. The panels are coloured deep blue, filled in with gold stars; the hollow moulded parts of the timber are of bright vermillion, those forming the arched ribs of the roof and those surrounding the clerestory windows being ornamented with gilt flowers at stated distances. The remaining timbers are of drab and oak colour. The walls are decorated with more than 50 valuable paintings, chiefly portraits of the mayors of Norwich, but there are also portraits of Queen Anne, George, Prince of Denmark, Robert, Earl of Orford, Horace Walpole, Lord Hobart, and Admiral Lord Nelson. The latter, by Wm. Beechy, is esteemed the best likeness ever painted of the illustrious hero, and was the last for which he sat. The flag of the French ship Genereux, taken by Lord Nelson, is also suspended in the hall. Several excellent rooms for the use of committees and for retiring rooms, were erected on the north side of the hall during the recent restorations, and some of the windows will shortly be filled with stained glass representing the arms of the past mayors of Norwich and of the boroughs of Lynn, Yarmouth, &c.

The old CITY GAOL was in the rooms at the end of the Guild Hall until 1597, when it was removed to a building, anciently the Lamb Inn, on the site of the present public library, where it remained till the completion of the CITY GAOL and HOUSE OF CORRECTION, at the end of St. Giles' street, in Heigham hamlet. This commodious prison was begun in 1824, and finished in 1827, from a plan by Mr. Philip Barnes, a native architect. It cost about £30,000, and is a large quadrangular building, with towers at the angles of the four wings, and encloses an area of 1A. 2R. 34P. The front elevation is massive, and has three pediments supported at the recessed entrance by two rusticated Tuscan columns. In the wings are niches, with cross arrows. It is conducted on the separate system, and contains 120 cells and eight airing yards. The prisoners are employed in mat making, and earn about £130 a year. The annual expenses of the gaol amount to £2300, of which about £750 are for salaries of officers, of whom there are more than a dozen. The buildings are well ventilated, and are supplied with water pumped by the tread-wheel into the cisterns of the four towers, and sent thence in pipes to the various apartments. Six of the airing yards are sunk three feet below the others, so that the governor may command a full view of the whole, from the inspection gallery of his house. Mr. John and Mrs. Howarth are governor and matron; Rev. Rbt. Wade, chaplain; W. H. Day, Esq., surgeon; Nathl. Bacon, schoolmaster; Rt. Farington and W. Armstrong, turnkeys; Eleanor Alderton, female warder; Chris. Hall, cook; Dl. Want, taskmaster; and W. Green, watchman. The OLD BRIDEWELL, near St. Andrew's church, is one of the finest pieces of flint work in England. It is now occupied by a tobacco manufacturer, and is supposed to have been built by Wm. Appleyard, who was elected the first mayor of Norwich in 1403. It has good windows in the upper story, and the lower story has windows of two wide lancets coupled, of the late decorated period.

The CASTLE of Norwich, although it has undergone so many alterations, is still an interesting study for the antiquary. Tradition assigns a very early date to its foundation, and Gurguntus, son of Belinus, the twenty-fourth king of Britain, is said to have built a fortress here, which was completed by his successor, Guthulinus. However this may be, there can be no doubt that the superior advantages of the site would be soon perceived and taken advantage of by the ancient Britons, and it was probably from this stronghold that the warlike and intrepid Boadicea issued forth upon her terrible work of retribution. Uffa, king of the East Angles, threw up bold entrenchments here about the year 575, and for a long period afterwards it was the seat of royalty, but was frequently attacked, and several times nearly destroyed, by the marauding Danes. Alfred the Great is said to have considerably improved the fortifications, but they appear to have been thrown down again by Sweyn, whose son Canute afterwards rebuilt them. The hill on which the castle stands is chiefly the work of nature, and is of an irregular circular form, surrounded by a broad ditch. On its south side is a large open semicircular space, which was formerly enclosed by a bank and ditch, now levelled; and on its eastern side is another space, called the castle meadow, which was also surrounded by a bank and ditch, of which some slight vestiges still remain. The Romans do not appear to have had a camp here, or to have altered the intrenchments; for their stronghold at Caistor seems to have been erected because they could not obtain possession of Norwich until very late in their operations in this district, when fortresses had ceased to be a necessity. Blomefield conjectures that the castle built by Canute was taken down to make room for one erected by Roger Bigod, in the reigns of William I. and II., and afterwards repaired and beautified by Thomas de Brotherton, in the reign of Edward II. The only fragments now remaining of the Norman buildings are the bases of two towers, one on each side of the top of the bridge, the arch of the bridge, and the great tower; all vestiges of the chapel, kitchens, halls, lodgings, and offices have been long swept away, and even the great tower itself has been so considerably altered by modern repairs as to have lost much of its interest and value. The bridge which crosses the moat on the south side of the castle is of the original span, but has been refaced with flints, and finished with white brick quoins. The gatehouse, which stood upon the centre of it, was destroyed about the middle of the eighteenth century. The great tower, or keep, stands on the south-west part of the hill, and is a massive pile, 96 feet long by 92 feet broad, and about 70 feet high. It is of plain Norman architecture, exhibiting flat buttresses the whole height of the building, with several tiers of long narrow windows between them, and is crowned by a battlemented parapet. Nothing but the shell of this once magnificent building now remains, the whole of the interior apartments having been removed, and a series of brick cells constructed in their stead. The approach to the first floor was by a flight of steps on the east side, leading to a platform projecting from the wall, but now covered in and forming a spacious vestibule. The grand entrance is a very remarkable specimen of early Norman. One large arch encloses a large elaborately ornamented doorway and a smaller one to the right of it. The capitals of some of the columns remaining are decorated with carved figures of men and animals. The tower over the entrance is usually called Bigod's Tower, as it is supposed to have been originally built by Roger Bigod, in the reign of William II., but it was entirely rebuilt in 1824. The grand entrance opened into a large and lofty hall, lighted by four windows in the north wall. In the south-east angle of the keep was a room which has been called the "Chapel," but it contains no trace of altar, piscina, or sedilia; and the rude carvings which remain upon the wall, and have been called the "altar piece," are clearly but the efforts of some unfortunate prisoner to beguile his time. Several galleries remain in the thickness of the walls, but nothing more of the original apartments is to be seen save the arches and outlines on the face of the walls.

In the 14th of Edward III. it was enacted that "gaols which were wont to be in the wards of the sheriffs, and annexed to their bailiwicks, should be rejoined to the sheriffs of counties." This was occasioned by the conduct of the Earls of counties, who frequently prevented the sheriffs from imprisoning criminals in the royal castles, (of which the said Earls were commonly constables;) but this of Norfolk was a county gaol as early as 1293, if not earlier, and from the date of the above-named act, it has continued as such, though it was customary for the king to appoint a constable for the defence of the castle and city in times of danger. In 1774, the appearance of the castle hill was not very pleasing, and the ditch formed a common receptacle for rubbish. As an amendment, the sides of the hill were then planted with trees and shrubs, and a bank was raised round its summit; but these being much damaged by the idle and ill-disposed, a successful remedy was provided by dividing the ditch into garden plots, let to private occupiers, in 1784. The outer ditches on the south side were levelled in 1738, since which time the cattle market has been kept there. In 1746, the Shire House on the castle hill (built in 1578), was destroyed by fire, but was rebuilt in 1749. A large pile of buildings was added to the east side of the castle in 1793, at an expense of £15,000, as a new gaol, but this and the old Shire Hall were levelled to make room for the present gaol, which is on a more extensive and convenient plan. The Precincts of the Castle and Shire Hall were formerly extra-parochial, but now form part of the parish of St. John Timberhill, and were added to the borough of Norwich by the Reform Acts of 1832 and 1835. They contain 6A. 1B. 13P. Under an Act of Parliament, passed in 1806, the castle and precincts are vested in the justices of the peace for the county of Norfolk, in trust, by which they are empowered "to build, repair, or alter any part belonging to it, as they may think proper."

THE COUNTY GAOL and HOUSE OF CORRECTION, commenced in 1824, on the site of the old prison, on the east side of the castle, were completed in 1828, at a cost of about £50,000. The governor's house contains, besides the family apartments, a chapel and committee room. Branching from it are three radiating wings, each containing two stories, with double rows of cells. The number of cells in these wings is 225, and there are 36 in the old keep. The diagonals, crossing the radiating wings at right angles, contain only a single row of cells, each having an arcade for the use of the prisoners when the weather will not permit their walking in the yard. Behind these are three other diagonal wings of larger dimensions, with arcades below, and double rows of cells on the upper floor. The governor's house being octagonal, and placed in the centre, commands a view of all the wings and yards. The tread-wheel is on the right hand side of the entrance, and the prisoners are employed upon it in pumping water for the use of the establishment. It is arranged so that the prisoners cannot see or speak to each other; and the prison is conducted on the separate system throughout. Some of the prisoners are engaged in weaving matting, making sacks, clothing, shoes, &c., and various other kinds of useful labour, producing an annual profit of over £200. The average daily number of prisoners confined here in 1862 was 134, and the total number 862, of whom 103 were debtors. The Officers of the Gaol are about 20 in number, and their united salaries amount to £1443, whilst the total expenditure of the gaol is about £3654. Mr. Geo. Pinson is the governor; Rev. J. L. Brown, chaplain; Alfred Master, Esq., surgeon; Mrs. Pinson, matron; John Harrod, Thos. Caton, and Robert Revell, turnkeys; John Jay, John Bertram, and James Smith, warders; Wm. Smith, taskmaster; Robert Frost, engineer; Saml. Leeds, schoolmaster; and Levi Kemp, porter. An annuity of £9, left by a Mr. Morris, is expended in donations of books or small sums to well-conducted prisoners. The Visiting Committee, consisting of 14 magistrates, meets every Saturday.

THE SHIRE HALL, erected from a plan by Wm. Wilkins, Esq., was commenced September 9th, 1822, and opened September 27th, 1823, and is a wretched imitation of the Tudor style of architecture. It stands on the north-east side of the castle, and is a substantial brick edifice, cemented in imitation of stone, and possessing all the usual accommodations. Attached to the crown court is a small room, called the prisoner's lobby, communicating with the cells on the castle hill, from whence prisoners are brought by a descending shaft through a subterraneous passage. In the grand jury room are excellent portraits of Lord Wodehouse and the late Earl of Leicester, painted by Sir T. Lawrence, and one of the late Henry Dover, Esq., chairman of the Quarter Sessions. The whole of the new buildings on the castle hill are enclosed by a high wall, cased with Scotch granite, and terminated with freestone battlements. The upper boundary of the hill is 360 yards, enclosed with iron palisades, fixed in a basement of stone; these are continued upon the parapet of the bridge, and terminate at the porter's lodge. The boundary at the bottom of the hill is about 570 yards in circuit. This is likewise encircled by iron palisades of larger size, elevated by a low wall, and lighted by lamps. The hill is open to the public, and commands an interesting panoramic view of the city and neighbourhood. The headquarters of the County Constabulary are near the Shirehall, at the base of the castle mound. Lieut.-Colonel Black is chief constable; Mr. Henry Atthill, secretary; and Mr. Francis Palmer, chief clerk. (See page 21.)

The COUNTY COURT is held at the Shirehall every month. Thomas J. Birch, Esq., of Wretham Hall, is judge; Jonathan Townley, Esq., treasurer; Thos. H. Palmer, Esq., registrar; Mr. Wm. Wilde, jun., high bailiff; and Henry Goreham, assistant bailiff. The COUNTY COURT OFFICE is in Redwell street, and the Norwich District comprises Acle, Alington, Arminghall, Ashby, Attlebridge, Barford, Bawburgh, Beeston St. Andrew, Beighton, Bergh Apton, Bixley, Blofield, Bowthorpe, Bracon Ash, Bracondale, Bradiston, Bramerton, Brooke, Brundall, Buckenham, Burlingham St. Andrew, St. Peter, and St. Edmund, Caistor St. Edmund, Cantley, Carleton East and St. Peter, Carrow, Old and New Catton, Claxton, Colney, Colton, Cossey, Cringleford, Crostwick, Drayton, Dunston, Earlharn, Easton, Eaton, Felthorpe, Fishley, Flordon, Framingham Earl and Pigot, Frettenham, Hainford, Hardley, Hassingham, Heckingham, Heigham, Hellesden, Hemblington, Hethersett, Hillington, Holverstone, Honingham, Horning, Horsford, Horsham St. Faith's, Horstead, Howe, Intwood, Keswick, Kirby Bedon, Old and New Lakenham, Langley, Lingwood, Ludham, Markshall, Marlingford, Great and Little Melton, Morton, Moulton, Mulbarton, Newton Flotman, Newton St. Faith's, Norwich, Panxworth, Great and Little Plumstead, Pockthorpe, Great and Little Poringland, Postwick, Rackheath, Ranworth, Ringland, Rockland St. Mary, Salhouse, Saxlingham Thorpe and Nethergate, Shottesham All Saints, St. Mary, and St. Martin; Sisland, Spixworth, Sprowston, Stanninghall, Stoke Holy Cross, Strumpshaw, Surlingham, Swainsthorpe, Swardeston, Taverham, Thorpe Hamlet and St. Andrew, Thurton, Trowse, Tunstall, Upton, Walsham St. Lawrence and St. Mary, Weston, Whitlingham, Witton, Woodbastwick, Wroxham, and Yelverton.

The QUARTER SESSIONS and ASSIZES for the city are held at the Guildhall, and for the county of Norfolk at the Shirehall. Only one assize and general gaol delivery was held here yearly till 1832, when an Act of Parliament was obtained for the removal of the Lent Assizes from Thetford, for which petitions had been frequently sent from Norwich during the preceding fifty years. These assizes generally occupy nearly a week, which, from the great attendance of company, is the gayest period known to the inhabitants of Norwich. Petty Sessions for the Hundred of Taverham are held at the Shirehall every Saturday, and Roger Kerrison, Esq., is clerk to the magistrates.

The WALLS and GATES which formerly environed the city, are already noticed at pages 140, 149, and 150. Seven of the twelve city gates were taken down in 1792, and the other five were all removed before 1809; but many long pieces of the wall still remain, to show its ancient form and strength. The ditches have been filled up, and the houses built upon them are considered to be within the ambit of the city, though on the outside of the walls. The Dungeon Tower, in St. Giles' Hospital meadow, at the eastern extremity of the city, on the west bank of the Wensum, is a circular building, about 52 feet in height and 24 in diameter, with the remains of a spiral staircase reaching to the top. It was an advanced post and watch tower to the castle for the defence of the river pass, though Blomefield thinks it was built "in order to levy the river tolls then belonging to the prior and church;" and says it was used as a prison for the jurisdiction of the cathedral. It is said to have been rebuilt in 1390, at the expense of the city. The Governor's Tower, in the parish of St. Peter Southgate, is the finest and largest of the towers of the city walls. It is faced with flint, and occupies a commanding situation. The Boom Towers, near Carrow Bridge, stand on opposite sides of the river, and between them the boom or chain was formerly hung to prevent the entrance of hostile vessels. They are round towers, built of flint, and form picturesque ruins. Between St. Martin's gate and the river there is another tower, the basement story of which has a good groined ceiling.

The CAVALRY BARRACKS, on the opposite side of the river, in Pockthorpe, were built by Government in 1791-'2, and '3, on the site of the old manor house, called Hasset's Hall, at a cost of about £20,000, including the purchase of the land, more than ten acres, enclosed with a high wall. These Barracks are built of red brick in a very substantial manner, and consist of a central building facing the south, with large wings on the east and west, forming three sides of a square, and containing commodious lodging rooms and stables for three troops of cavalry. There are no permanent barracks for infantry in Norwich, though two large buildings in Coslany street were converted to that use during the late French war.

The INLAND REVENUE OFFICE is on Orford hill, and Wm. Brown, Esq., is the collector; Messrs. John Baker and Wm. Hawkins, supervisors; and Joseph Buxton and E. L. Brooksby, clerks. The STAMP OFFICE is in Bank street, and F. G. Foster, Esq., is the distributor for all Norfolk, except Yarmouth and Lynn, and Messrs. R. Cocksedge and John L'Estrange are his clerks. The TAX OFFICE is at Orford hill, and Messrs. H. Haworth and F. Horner are the surveyors for Norwich and the surrounding district. There are also the following surveyors for other parts of the county, viz.:—Messrs. George Browne, Yarmouth; J. Walker, Dereham; W. S. Lecky, Lynn; John Yule, Fakenham; John Wilcox, North Walsham; and G. C. Barker, Thetford. Mr. R. G. Hedgeman, of Norwich, is inspector of stamps and taxes.

The BOARD OF HEALTH was established in 1851, under the powers of the Public Health Acts of 1848-'9, and is now managed in accordance with the provisions of the recent Local Government Act, by a committee of the corporation, subdivided into a "Paving, Sewage, Cleansing and Lighting Committee," a "Sanitary Purposes Committee," and a "Finance and Rating Committee." The sanitary condition of the city has gradually improved, and the rate of mortality decreased, owing to the wise and judicious measures which have been so well carried out by the Board, which now expends about £16,000 per annum in paving, improving, lighting, cleansing, and watering the streets and public thoroughfares; scavenging courts and alleys; emptying privies, cesspools, and dustholes; paying interest on mortgages, &c. The whole of the city hamlets are now lighted, and in 1859 about £10,000 were spent in draining the northern part of the city. The rates levied by the board during the year ending August 31st, 1862, amounted to £12,831, besides which the sum of £4000 was obtained on loan, and of this sum £3367 were expended in the purchase of property for the improvement of streets. Henry B. Miller, Esq., is clerk; Thos. D. Barry, Esq., surveyor; and Mr. Samuel Clarke, inspector to the board.

The TONNAGE ACT for levying a duty on all goods brought up the river into the city, for the reparation of the bridges and staithes and the approaches thereto, was obtained by the corporation in 1725. This Act was amended by another Act, passed in 1839, under which the tonnage duties are now let by the corporation for £2300 per annum, besides which they receive, for the same purposes, one-fifteenth of the profits of the Norwich and Thetford turnpike.

GAS WORKS were first established in Norwich under an Act passed in 1820, and the gas was generated from oil; but in 1825 the oil works, which stood in St. Stephen's Back street, were sold to the British Gas Light Company, who, in 1826, obtained an Act of Parliament to amend and enlarge the powers of the former Act; and in 1830 erected new gas works near Bishop bridge, in the hamlet of Thorpe, at a cost of nearly £40,000. In 1851, additional works were erected in World's end lane; and in 1858 a new Act of Parliament was obtained in lieu of the former ones, with the requisite powers to enable the company to light the city and its suburbs. Gas is now supplied at 4s. per 1000 cubic feet. There are five gasholders capable of containing 700,000 cubic feet; 220 fireclay retorts; 45 miles of main piping; and about 1000 public lamps. Roger Kerrison, Esq., is clerk and secretary to the company, and Mr. Chandler Tadman is engineer of the works.

The WATERWORKS, of which the steam engines, depositing reservoir, and filter beds are at Heigham, supply the city with water from the river Wensum, which after filtration is forced up to the distributing reservoir at Lakenham, at a height of 134 feet above the level of the river at Carrow Bridge, whence it flows by gravitation to all parts of the city and suburbs. The present company has a capital of £60,000, in £10 shares, and was incorporated under an Act of Parliament passed in 1850, the powers of which have been enlarged by subsequent Acts, so that pure and wholesome water is now constantly supplied at high pressure and on reasonable terms. Excellent provision is made for a gratuitous supply of water for the extinguishment of fires, by fixing hydrants at every 100 yards, from which a voluminous jet of water, sufficient to flow over the tops of the houses is instantaneously afforded. The city was supplied from a very early period from works on the river belonging to the corporation, which were let on lease, together with the New Mills, the lessees being bound to supply the inhabitants according to a table of charges fixed by the corporation. The New Mills were first built by the city, in 1430, and for several centuries all the city bakers were obliged to grind their corn there; but the abbot of St. Bennet's-at-Holme, considering his property injured by these mills persecuted the city, and the dispute ended in a riot in 1441, when the flood gates were pulled up and destroyed. The New Mills and Waterworks were rebuilt in 1710. Water was conveyed from thence in the reign of Elizabeth to the Guildhall and to the Cross in the Market place; but the general supply of the inhabitants was not attempted till 1697. The works were greatly improved and extended between the years 1790 and 1800, and were let on lease for 99 years in 1793, but the present company purchased the lease in 1850. Arthur Dalrymple, Esq. is secretary; Thos. Hawksley, Esq., C.E. engineer; and Thomas Ayris, Esq., C.E., manager. The offices are in Surrey street.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The new paving of the city commenced soon after the passing of the Act in 1806, but this necessary work suffered several long interruptions for want of money. During the last fifty years the improvements and enlargements of the city have been very extensive, though it still retains a number of crooked, narrow streets, with projecting gables and quaint half-timbered fronts. Many new streets and handsome rows of houses have been built on the site of and beyond the city walls, and the largest of these modern suburbs is the New City, extending from St. Stephen's to St. Giles' gate, and lying chiefly in the parishes of St. Stephen and Heigham, the latter of which has now more than 14,000 inhabitants, though in 1811 it had only 842. A similar increase has taken place in St. Clement's, St. Stephen's, Lakenham, and Thorpe, and some of the other parishes have more than doubled their population since 1801. The approaches to the Market-place have been much improved by the formation of Exchange, Post-office, and Duke streets, and Davey place; and the widening of Briggs street, London street, Bridge street, and some other public avenues, where obstructions have been removed, and the angles rendered less acute. Among other improvements are the rebuilding of Foundry Bridge, the formation of Victoria street, the renewal of the embankment along the river between Carrow and Foundry Bridges, the widening of St. George's bridge street, Golden Dog lane, St. Giles street, Wen-sum street, and Tombland corner, where projecting houses have been partly taken down and new fronted. Recently, a fine new road has been formed from the Castle meadow to Foundry Bridge, thus giving a better access to the Thorpe Railway station. It is called the Prince of Wales Road, and has been carried out by a public company at a great cost, but will probably prove remunerative. The old Shirehall Tavern has also been taken down, by which means an easier entrance to the Cattle Market from the Prince of Wales road and Rose lane has been obtained, instead of the former narrow and often dangerous approach. The centre of the castle hill has been lowered so as to afford easier gradients in the road from the Shire Hall to Golden Ball street and Orford hill, and the surplus soil has been used to form a more level approach on the side next Pump street. The road between Golden Ball street and the Bell Inn has been lowered, and the Ball Inn and some adjoining property have been removed, so as to obtain a commodious entrance to the Cattle Market from Ber street.

The MARKETS, held every Wednesday and Saturday, are abundantly supplied with provisions of every description, and the latter is one of the largest corn and cattle marts in the kingdom. Tombland Fair, held on the day before Good Friday, is a large fair for horses and cattle, which are now exposed for sale in the cattle market, but stalls for toys, sweetmeats, &c., formerly set up in the open square called Tombland, adjoining the entrance to the Cathedral close, are now set up in Castle Meadow. The two ancient fairs formerly held on Tombland, on the feast of St. Mary Magdalen, and the Tuesday after Michaelmas day, have long been obsolete, and the pleasure fairs held at Bishop's bridge on Easter and Whit-Mondays and Tuesdays, are nearly so. The MARKET PLACE is about 200 yards long and 110 broad, but half of the area on the western side of the south end is occupied by the Guildhall, the church of St. Peter Mancroft, and some other buildings. The Cross, or market-house, which stood in the centre of the area, was erected in the reign of Edward III., and contained a small chapel, or oratory; but after being rebuilt in 1503, and subsequently repaired and used for various purposes, it was taken down in 1732. A handsome iron pillar, supporting four gas lamps, was erected on or near its site in 1837, and this in its turn gave place in 1854, to a bronze statue of the Duke of Wellington, 8 ft. 6 in. high, erected by subscription, at a cost of £1000. This statue is upon a granite pedestal, surrounded by a low railing, with lamps at the corners. The SEED and SKIN MARKET is held in the Old Hay-market, at the south end of the Market place, the whole of which is now well paved and lined with wellstocked shops, though some of the buildings are ancient. The FISH MARKET is on the western side of the Market place. It consists of two rows of shops, with an open space between, and was rebuilt at a cost of £6000 a few years ago. The CATTLE MARKET is held on the south side of the Castle hill (see page 179) every Saturday, and presents a busy and interesting scene. The alterations and improvements it has recently undergone at a cost of more than £30,000, render it the largest and most commodious provincial Cattle market in the kingdom.

The CORN EXCHANGE, in Exchange street, is a massive structure of brick, with stone dressings, and was erected by a company of shareholders in 1861, at a cost of £17,000, including the site. A smaller building, which was erected for the same purpose in 1826-'8, at a cost of £6000, was taken down to make room for it. It is internally 125 feet long, 81 feet wide, and 66 feet high to the apex of the roof. Its roof is chiefly of glass, and at the east end of the hall are full-length portraits of John Culley, Esq., the originator of the building, and Thomas Wm. Coke, of Holkam, afterwards Earl of Leicester, who is justly regarded as the father of Norfolk agriculture. The corn market is very extensive, and was held in St. Andrew's Hall from 1796 till 1828.

THE OLD STREET ARCHITECTURE of Norwich is rapidly vanishing before the hand of modern improvement. Many of the half-timbered lath and plaster houses, remarkable for their grotesque gables and picturesque appearance, having given place to plainer, but more comfortable and convenient dwellings, some of which have handsome fronts, especially in the principal streets, where there are many elegant and well-stocked retail shops. There are, however, numbers of ancient and half-timbered buildings still remaining, and many of them are either sufficiently remarkable in themselves or are connected so intimately with the history of the city, as to be not only worth preservation, but to deserve the special attention of the antiquary. The Duke's Palace, which was a large quadrangular building near Blackfriars Bridge, is entirely gone, and its site covered by modern buildings; but one of the rooms of the Museum is supposed to have formed part of the chapel attached to it. This palace was purchased by the Duke of Norfolk in the reign of Henry VIII., and rebuilt on a larger and more splendid plan in 1602, by Henry, Duke of Norfolk, whose grandson defaced it, owing to the mayor's refusal to allow his company of comedians to enter the city with trumpets, &c. From that time it was entirely neglected, and after being used as a common staith, and partly as the Workhouse, the site was sold to various persons. Among its accommodations for amusement were a theatre, tennis court, and bowling alley, the latter said to have been the largest in England. In 1671, Charles II. and his court were sumptuously entertained at this splendid palace; and Evelyn, who was present describes its choice jewels and gems, rare cabinets, pictures, tapestries, and plate, and the state and magnificence maintained, as surpassing the treasures and grandeur of any prince in Europe. The drinking cups were of gold, and even the fire-irons of silver; and dancing and banquets were kept up nightly. Near St. James' Church is a house now occupied by a baker, formerly the residence of Sir John Fastolff, Knight, and called Fastolff's Palace. In Surrey street, a portion of Surrey House, once the occasional seat of the Earl of Surrey, still forms part of a private house. Opposite the east end of St. Andrew's church is the entrance to a very curious specimen of ancient domestic architecture. The portal bears the merchant's mark of John Clarke, mayor in 1515 and 1520. The vaulted and groined roofs of the building now used for cellars and offices are in excellent preservation. The projecting angle of the house is supported by a richly carved bracket. At a house opposite the alley leading to St. Julian's church is a brick vault of the 14th century, with a very good doorway with decorated mouldings and finial. The external doorway is also decorated, and has a well moulded ogee arch, with a perpendicular doorway built over it. The house occupied by Messrs. Page and Son, at Fye Bridge, is a curious antique structure, and was formerly the residence of Robert Wood, sheriff and mayor, who was knighted by Queen Elizabeth on her visit here in 1578. The interior of some premises in Church alley is well worth inspection. In the small court yard are the remains of an open gallery and other buildings. This was the residence of Alexander Thurston, mayor in 1600 and M.P. in 1601. On a chimney-piece of the house are his mark and the date in one spandril, and the arms of his wife in the other. Adjoining this is an old flint house, in which is a large spandril, with the date 1570, and a smaller one with the initials of John Aldrich and his wife. Here is also an ancient carved door, which, from the inscription upon it, appears to have been brought in the time of Henry VIII. from the residence of the priors of Walsingham, on St. George's plain. It is dated 1503. A house on the Walk in the Old Haymarket, was once occupied by John Curat, sheriff in 1529, the rebus of whose name occurs in various devices upon many curiously carved oak panels. In the parish of St. John Madder-market is a fine old hall of a mansion of the time of Henry VIII. It has long been used as a storehouse, and is traditionally termed the Strangers' Hall. It is nearly perfect, and retains the original bay window and its groining, and the well-moulded tie beam and king-post of the roof. At one end are two small doorways, and the other end is cut off by a partition through which is an entrance to the priest's house connected with the adjoining Roman Catholic Chapel. The Sothertons owned the house in the time of Edward VI., and some of the family made great alterations in it about the time of James I., when the staircase and some other windows were inserted. The entrance portico is groined and vaulted, with two perpendicular doorways and an original external staircase, ornamented with a sculptured griffin. The Old Music House, in Lower King street, was so called from having been at one time the resort of the City Waits. It has long been a public house, and appears to have been built about the 17th century, but there is an older building attached to it, which from its ecclesiastical style seems to have formed part of the chapel of Alan de Freston, archdeacon of Norfolk, who resided here in 1290. In 1626, it belonged to John Paston, Esq., and in 1633 it was the city residence of Chief Justice Coke. On the south side of St. Saviour's church lane is the house in which Jeremiah Ives, the founder of a family of municipal celebrities, resided till 1742. The dining room contains a beautiful marble chimney-piece, elegantly ornamented.

WORTHIES.—To sketch the actions and characters of the numerous eminent men who hold a place in the Norwich temple of fame, would furnish ample materials for a large and interesting volume; we must therefore confine ourselves to a brief enumeration of a few of the most distinguished, passing over the Bishops of Norwich and some others already noticed. Matthew Parker, born here in 1504, was archbishop of Canterbury, and author of that excellent work, "Antiquitates Britannicæ." John Kay, better known by the latinised name of Caius, born here in 1510, was an eminent physician, and founder of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge. He was also distinguished as a linguist, a critic, an antiquary, and historian. Edward Brown, another eminent physician, was born here in 1642, and died at Northfleet, in Kent, in 1704. Dr. S. Clarke, a learned polemical divine, was born here in 1675, and died in 1730. Wm. Cunningham, a physician of Norwich, born in 1531, wrote several learned treatises on astronomy, cosmography, chronology, and medicine, and died in 1559. Luke Hansard, the celebrated printer of the parliamentary debates, was born in 1752, in St. Mary's parish. Those distinguished botanists, Lindley, Hooker, and Sir James Smith, were also natives of Norwich. Thomas Legge was a learned antiquary, and twice filled the office of vic-chancellor of Cambridge University. He died in 1607. John Cosin, another native, born in 1594, became bishop of Durham in 1661, and died in 1672. Edward King, F.R.S. and F.S.A., an erudite antiquary, was born here in 1734; was for some time recorder of Lynn, and died in London in 1807. Sir John Fenn, born here in 1739, was editor of "Original Letters from Persons mentioned in our early History," in 5 vols., among which are the "Paston Letters," for which he was knighted by George III. in 1787. Timothy Goodwin, archbishop of Cashel, was born here, and died in 1729. Thomas Amyott, F.R.S., treasurer of the Society of Antiquaries, and editor of "Speeches in Parliament of the Right Hon. Wm. Windham," and many historical subjects, was a native of Norwich. Peter Barlowe, F.R.S., was born in St. Simon's parish in 1776, and was a distinguished mathematician at the military school at Woolwich. Charlotte Elizabeth, the celebrated poetical, religious, and political writer, was the daughter of the Rev. Michael Browne, Rector of St. Giles, and was born here in 1790. Mrs. Elizabeth Fry was the third daughter of John Gurney, Esq., of Earlsam Hall, and was born in 1780. She married Jph. Fry, of London, in 1800, and died in 1845. Her labours as a prison philanthropist have earned for her a world-wide fame, and few women have done more real good to suffering humanity. Her brother, the late beloved Joseph John Gurney, Esq., was born in 1788, and was an excellent classical and oriental scholar. He aided Mrs. Fry in many of her schemes for improving prison discipline, and travelled over most of Europe and America, endeavouring everywhere to ameliorate the condition of the unfortunate and miserable. He died in 1847 amidst the universal lamentations of his fellow citizens, who had long looked up to him as a father, and esteemed him as a friend. Mrs. Amelia Opie, the well known authoress, was the daughter of Dr. James Alderson, and was born in Calvert street, in 1769, and died in Norwich in 1853. Miss Harriet Martineau, the celebrated writer on political economy, &c., was also born in this city. Edward Maltby was born here in 1770, and became bishop of Durham. Of the Taylor, Martineau, Dalrymple, Bacon, Stevenson, and some other families, of which nearly every member has been more or less distinguished, it is impossible to say more within the limits of this work than that Norwich has every reason to be justly proud of them.

THE NORWICH PUBLIC LIBRARY, which was commenced in 1785, occupies a handsome building with a Doric portico, erected for its use in 1837, on the site of the old city gaol, opposite the Guildhall, in the Market place. It contains a valuable collection of 28,000 volumes. The proprietary subscribers are about 300 in number, and pay an admission fee of £5. 5s., and a yearly contribution of £1. 1s.; but others are admitted to the use of the library for an annual subscription of £1. 6s., or a quarterly subscription of 7s. 6d. A president, vice-president, and committee are elected yearly. Mr. Edward Langton, the librarian, attends daily (Sundays and holidays excepted), from ten in the morning till nine in the evening. J. W. Dowson, Esq., is president.

THE NORFOLK AND NORWICH LITERARY INSTITUTION occupies part of a large and handsome building in St. Andrew's street. It was established in 1822, and has now more than 20,000 volumes in the various departments of literature. The shareholders (of £5. each), pay £1. 11s. 6d., and the other subscribers £2. 2s. yearly. The number of members is about 280. The library is open from ten morning till nine evening, and Mr. John Quinton is the librarian.

THE NORFOLK AND NORWICH UNITED MEDICAL BOOK SOCIETY was instituted in 1824, and now comprises about 50 subscribers, possessing a library of more than 4000 volumes, in rooms in connection with those occupied by the Literary and Philosophical Institution. Dr. Copeman is the secretary.

THE NORFOLK AND NORWICH MUSEUM is in the same building, and was founded in 1824. This museum of natural history, antiquities, and curiosities, is extensive and highly interesting. It contains a splendid collection of birds, many Celtic, Roman, and Saxon curiosities found in the neighbourhood, a valuable herbarium, numerous illustrated books, and many objects well worth inspection, and is open gratuitously to the public on Mondays and Saturdays, from ten to four. On other days subscribers and their friends only are admitted. There are about 60 subscribers of 21s., 162 of 10s. 6d., and 12 of 5s. per annum. The Earl of Leicester is patron; J. H. Gurney, Esq., M.P., president; Hy. Stevenson, Esq., hon. secretary; Messrs. Harveys and Hudsons, treasurers; Mr. J. Quinton, assistant secretary; and Mr. J. Reeve, curator.

The DEAN and CHAPTER LIBRARY, in the Close, comprises about 6200 volumes, chiefly theological and classical works, many of which were contributed by the late Dr. Sayer, in 1817.

The FREE LIBRARY, a large and handsome building at the corner of St. Andrew's Broad street and Duke's Palace street, was erected in 1856-'7, at a cost of more than £8000, and adjoins the Norwich Museum. It was opened in 1857, and is regulated by the "Public Libraries Act" of 1855, by which the corporation is empowered to levy an annual rate not exceeding 1d. in the pound for the purchase of books and specimens of art and science, and the general expenses of the institution. Many donations, both of money and books, have been received by the committee, and the library now contains about 4000 volumes, besides nearly 2000 volumes which formerly belonged to the City Library. The building is of brick, with stone dressings, in the Italian style, and contains three spacious vaults in the basement, now let as stores; the ground floor contains two large rooms occupied by the library and museum, the first story also has two rooms, one of which is let to the Literary Institution; and the upper story has two large and four smaller rooms, occupied by the School of Art. Mr. E. D. Rogers is hon. sec. to the committee, and Mr. George Harper, librarian. The parochial Library and Reading Room of St. Mark's, Lakenham, is at the corner of St. Catherine's plain, and contains about 800 well-selected books, besides a good supply of the London and county newspapers. Its subscribers pay 4s., 6s., or 8s. per annum; and in winter, interesting lectures are delivered in connection with the institution.

The SCHOOL OF ART occupies the upper floor of the Free Library building, and is attended by about 200 pupils, many of whom display considerable talent. Besides those who attend the central school, about 400 pupils are instructed in the national and other schools of the city. The fees payable for the private or public classes for ladies and gentlemen are 21s. and 10s. 6d. per quarter, in addition to entrance fees of 5s. and 3s. respectively; the artisan classes pay 2s. per month and 1s. entrance fee. The school derives about £90 a year from voluntary subscriptions, and £160 from fees. B. B. Cabell, Esq., F.R.S., is president; Robert Cochrane, Esq., head master; F. T. Keith, Esq., hon. secretary; and Mr. Wm. Holmes clerk and collector.

The NORFOLK and NORWICH ARCHEOLOGICAL SOCIETY was established in December, 1845, to collect the best information on the arts and monuments of the county, including primeval antiquities, numismatics, architecture, genealogy, manorial rights, civil and ecclesiastical history, &c. Four general meetings are held in each year, when interesting papers are read by members of the society. Many of these papers have been published, and already fill six large volumes, containing an immense mass of valuable and interesting matter, amply illustrated by numerous woodcuts, lithographs, &c. The Prince of Wales and the Bishop are patrons; Sir J. P. Boileau, Bart., F.R.S., V.P.S.A., president; Robert Fitch, Esq., F.S.A., and the Rev. C. R. Manning, M.A., hon. secretaries; and Mr. John Quinton, collector. There are also local secretaries in various parts of the county.

The CHURCH OF ENGLAND YOUNG MEN'S SOCIETY, in St. Peter's street, has for its objects the promotion of the moral and spiritual welfare of young men, by bible classes and lectures. It has a good library, a well supplied newsroom, and a very numerous list of honorary and benefit members. The Bishop is patron; Archdeacon Hankinson, president; R. A. Gorell, Esq., treasurer; Rev. E. Hall and Mr. F. J. Page, secretaries; and Mr. S. Sutton, librarian.

The YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION was established in 1856, and has similar objects to those of the above-named society. It has comfortable rooms in St. Giles' Broad street, with a library of about 800 volumes, and a reading room containing all the principal newspapers and periodicals. J. J. Colman, Esq., is president; Henry Birkbeck, Esq., treasurer; and Messrs. C. Moore and R. Mayston, librarians.

FOUR NEWSPAPERS of considerable circulation are now published in Norwich, viz.: the Norwich Mercury (2d.) commenced in 1721, as an advocate of Whig principles; the Norfolk Chronicle and Norwich Gazette (3½d.), established in 1761, and professing Conservative politics; the Norfolk News (2½d.) commenced in 1845, by a body of proprietors of the Advanced Liberal School; and the Argus (1d.) established in 1863, and professing Independence in politics. The Mercury is published every Wednesday and Saturday, and the others on Saturdays only. The Norwich Spectator is a monthly Magazine, published by Messrs. Cundall & Miller. Two monthly time tables and several almanacks are also published here.

THE FREEMASONS' HALL, which occupies the site of the College-in-the-Fields, was built in 1754, as an Assembly House, and continued to be used for balls, concerts, and other public meetings, until 1860, when it was purchased by Benj. Bond Cabbell, Esq., F.R.S. & F.S.A., the highly esteemed Provincial Grand Master of the Freemasons of Norfolk, and presented by him to the fraternity. This munificent gift was suitably acknowledged at the Prov. G. Lodge, held August 21st, 1863, when a life-like portrait of the venerable P.G.M., who is now in his 87th year, was presented to him on behalf of the brethren by Sir H. J. Stracey, Bart., M.P. The picture, which cost two hundred guineas, is from the pencil of H. O'Neil, Esq., A.R.A., and is a three-quarter length, representing the right worshipful brother sitting in an arm chair, wearing the collar and badge of his high office. For nearly half a century Bro. Cabbell has been known throughout the kingdom for his masonic zeal and benevolence, and since 1856, when he was appointed to preside over the brethren of Norfolk, he has by his example, liberality, and careful attention to the business of the province, not only raised the craft to its present high position, but gained the love and esteem of every individual member. There are 10 lodges in Norfolk, of which the following is a list, with the dates of their establishment, their numbers on the register of the Grand Lodge of England, and their days of meeting:—

No.	Name.	Place and day of meeting.	Date of Warrant.
52	Union .—Norfolk Hotel, Norwich,	First Tuesday.....	1736 (Old warrant lost. Warrant of Confirmation dated 1819.)
85	Faithful .—Exchange Rooms, Harleston,	Mon. on or before F.M.	1753
93	Social .—Freemasons' Hall, Norwich,	Second Tuesday.....	1755 (Old warrant lost. Warrant of Confirmation dated 1797.)
100	Friendship .—Crown and Anchor, Yarmouth,	Fourth Monday ...	1757
102	Unanimity .—King's Arms, North Walsham,	Mon. next F. M...	1758
107	Philanthropic .—Duke's Head, King's Lynn,	First Monday	1759
213	Perseverance .—Freemasons' Hall, Norwich,	Third Tuesday	1795
313	United Friends .—Star Hotel, Yarmouth,	Second Monday.....	1797
807	Cabbell .—Freemasons' Hall, Norwich,	Last Thursday.....	1863
943	Sincerity .—Freemasons' Hall, Norwich	Fourth Tuesday	1863

Royal Arch Chapters are attached to Lodges 52, 102, 107, 213, and 807. There is also an Encampment of Knights Templar held quarterly in the Freemasons' Hall, Norwich, and called the "Cabbell," in honour of the Prov. G.M., who is also P.G. Superintendent of R.A. Masons, and P.G. Commander of the Templars. The HALL is of red brick, and has a Grecian front. The spacious vestibule has a richly panelled ceiling, with centre flower and Grecian cornice; its walls are decorated with festoons and pilasters, and the gallery is formed with moulded balustrading, cornice, and Corinthian columns and capitals. The two rooms right and left of the entrance measure respectively 22 ft. 10 in. by 21 ft. 4 in., and 27 ft. 6 in. by 21 ft. 6 in., and have plain panelled ceilings. At the further end of the vestibule are two larger rooms, that on the right being 66 feet long by 26 ft. 8 in. wide, and that on the left, in which the regular lodge meetings are held, is 50 ft. 6 in. in length by 27 ft. wide. Both these rooms have Grecian moulded cornices, panelled ceilings with centre flowers, galleries, &c., and are richly painted and gilt, the walls being enriched with festoons, wreathed flowers, &c. The annual provincial grand lodge meets here in August. W. Leedes Fox, Esq., of Harleston, is the Prov. Grand Secretary.

The TEMPERANCE SOCIETY, established in 1858, has a numerous list of members, and has been the means of reclaiming many drunkards from their miserable vice. Weekly meetings are held in the lecture room of the Free Library, when instruction and amusement are afforded by speeches, songs, recitations, &c.; and there are numerous open-air meetings, and occasionally a gala or a fancy fair to further the objects of the society. A small library has been formed, and will be gradually increased as the funds permit. J. W. Dowson, Esq., is president; Mr. Jas. Porter, treasurer; Messrs. Harbord and Newhouse, secretaries; and Mr. N. Smith, agent. There is a Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the society, of which Mrs. Dowson is president; Mrs. Newhouse, treasurer; and Miss Greaves, secretary.

The NORFOLK and NORWICH ANGLERS' SOCIETY, formed in June, 1857, for the prevention of illegal fishing in the rivers Wensum and Yare, and the sale of fish of a size prohibited by law, is supported by a number of members paying 5s. each per annum. R. N. Bacon, Esq., is president; E. S. Bignold, Esq., treasurer; and Mr. James Skippon, to whom the society chiefly owes its origin, is the honorary secretary.

The NORFOLK and NORWICH HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY was established Oct. 22, 1829, and holds five exhibitions of flowers, fruit, and vegetables every year, when prizes are given both to members and cottagers, amounting to about £150. The society possesses several large and handsome marquees, so that the exhibitions can be held conveniently wherever the committee may wish. R. J. H. Harvey, Esq., is president; John Kitson, Esq., treasurer; Mr. Hy. Pulley, hon. sec.; and Mr. W. Hussey, assistant sec.

The NORFOLK AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION, as already noticed at page 63, was formed in 1840, and holds an annual exhibition at midsummer at one of the market towns, when premiums amounting to about £500 are annually given. The Prince of Wales is patron; Sir Willoughby Jones, Bart., president; Wm. Burroughes, Esq., and Rev. Philip Gurdon, hon. secretaries; and Mr. E. C. Bailey, of Norwich, acting secretary.

The CHAMBER OF COMMERCE was established in June, 1847, for the promotion of measures calculated to benefit and protect the trading interests of the city. J. H. Gurney, Esq., M.P., is president; R. J. J. Harvey, Esq., treasurer; and Mr. C. S. Gilman, sec. The office is in St. Giles' street.

The NORFOLK and NORWICH MICROSCOPICAL SOCIETY was established in 1852, and holds monthly meetings at the houses of the members alternately. The president, Thos. Brightwell, Esq., has recently presented to the society a valuable microscope and a collection of more than one thousand objects. Mr. J. Mottram is the honorary secretary.

NORFOLK VOLUNTEER SERVICE ASSOCIATION was established three years ago, and occasionally offers prizes to the amount of from £200 to £300 to the best shots amongst the Norfolk Volunteers.

The MUSICAL FESTIVAL, which has been held triennially in September, in St. Andrew's Hall, since 1824, for the benefit of the Norfolk Charities, is celebrated all over the kingdom, and has the liberal support of the nobility and gentry of the county. The profits of each festival vary from £1000 to £3000, and the large sum of £9070 has been already contributed out of them to the following charitable institutions, viz.:—£5768 to the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital; £795 West Norfolk and Lynn Hospital; £770 Yarmouth Hospital; £387 Norwich Dispensary; £292 Eye Infirmary; £287 Blind Hospital; £230 Sick Poor Society; £140 Lying-in-Charity; £140 District Visiting Society; £105 Shipwrecked Mariners' Association; £50 Benevolent Society for Decayed Tradesmen; £65 Jenny Lind Infirmary; £30 National Life Boat Association; and £10 to the Stanley Home. At the recent Festival in September, 1863, the gross receipts were about £5000, and after payment of the necessary expenses there will be a very handsome sum at the disposal of the committee for purposes of charity. The Earl of Leicester is president; Lord Suffield, chairman of committee; F. J. Blake, Esq., treasurer; and I. O. H. Taylor, Esq., hon. secretary.

The THEATRE is a large and commodious building, in the street to which it gives name, erected in 1826, near the site of the old one, built in 1757. It has been the nursery of many eminent performers, amongst whom may be mentioned Louisa, Countess of Craven, Miss Faucit, Miss Greville, Mrs. Henry Siddons, Mrs. Webb, and Quin. The ROYAL BAZAAR, in St. Andrew's street, is a large and handsome building, the first stone of which was laid on Sept. 8th, 1831, the Coronation day of William IV. It was built by a company of shareholders, but is now the property of Mr. Samuel Jarrold, who lets it for concerts, auctions, lectures, &c. The BALL and CONCERT ROOM, in Theatre square, belonging to Mr. Noverre, is 70 feet long by 35 feet wide; and has convenient ante-rooms, a conservatory, and a fine lawn in connection with it. The CHORAL SOCIETY, which was commenced in 1824, had its origin in the establishment of the Musical Festival, which has since been held triennially in St. Andrew's Hall, as noticed at page 189. This society is partly supported from the funds of the festival, and is highly celebrated for musical talent, both vocal and instrumental. Its members meet for practice at St. Andrew's Hall once a fortnight, and and Mr. J. F. Hill is conductor, and Mr. J. Harcourt, organist. The PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY meets weekly at Mr. Noverre's rooms during the winter, and gives two concerts every season. The MADRIGAL SOCIETY meets weekly at St. Andrew's Hall during the winter. Here is also a CHURCH CHORAL ASSOCIATION, which gives a service at the Cathedral once a year. RACES were formerly held on Mousehold heath (enclosed in 1810), and they were revived at the coronation of her Majesty (June 28th, 1838), but have not been held since 1842.

The NORFOLK and NORWICH SAVINGS' BANK is a provident institution for the beneficial investment of the savings of the humbler classes, established in April, 1816, at 67, Broad street, but removed in 1844 to a handsome building erected for its use, in the Haymarket, at a cost of £3000, including £1500 paid for the site. It is in the Italian style, and has a dwelling for the actuary. The bank is open every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday, from 12 to 2. The deposits on the 20th November, 1862, amounted to £349,706. 19s. 2d., belonging to 11,826 individuals, and 151 Charitable and 86 Friendly Societies; and the surplus fund in the hands of the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, and the trustees of the Bank, was £4983. 4s. 6d. The Earl of Leicester, the Rev. Lord Bayning, the Dean of Norwich, H. N. Burroughes, Esq., Sir Samuel Bignold, Knt., Chas. Evans, Esq., and the Rev. Chas. Fellowes, are the trustees; R. J. H. Harvey, Esq., is the treasurer; the Rev. Edward Cole, B.A., hon. sec.; and W. C. Hotson, Esq., superintendent. Interest at the rate of £2. 18s. 4d. per cent. per annum is allowed, and sums as low as 1s. are received.

The NORWICH UNION FIRE INSURANCE SOCIETY, established in 1797, was the first to introduce the principle of returning a portion of the profits to the insured. It now ranks as the third office in the kingdom, having a capital of £550,000, and insuring property to the amount of £70,000,000. Partly under the same management, but distinct in its capital and accounts, is the NORWICH UNION LIFE INSURANCE SOCIETY, commenced in 1808, on the equitable principle of mutual guarantee, and now having a capital of £2,000,000. This society has issued above 36,000 policies, and paid to the representatives of 8000 deceased members about £6,500,000. The offices for both are in Surrey street, and Sir Samuel Bignold, Knt., is the secretary. The NORWICH EQUITABLE FIRE INSURANCE SOCIETY has its offices in Bank street, and was established in 1829, with a capital of £100,000. Wm. Skipper, Esq., is registrar and secretary. The GENERAL HAIL STORM INSURANCE SOCIETY, established in 1844, with a capital of £150,000, in £10 shares, has its offices in St. Giles' street, and Charles Suckling Gilman, Esq., is the secretary. The NORFOLK FARMERS' AND GENERAL ASSURANCE AND INVESTMENT COMPANY (limited), established in 1849, with a capital of £50,000, and the NORWICH AND LONDON ACCIDENT AND CASUALTY INSURANCE ASSOCIATION, established in 1856, have their head offices in St. Giles' st., and Chas. Rackham Gilman, Esq., is the sec.

Besides the provident institutions already noticed, there are in the city a number of Friendly Societies, for mutual assistance in sickness, superannuation, &c.: and partaking of these benefits here are many Lodges of Odd Fellows, Druids, Orangemen, Foresters, &c., &c.

ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY.—Norwich was distinguished at an early period for its numerous monasteries. In the reign of Edward the Confessor it is stated to have contained twenty-five parochial churches, and in the time of the Conqueror forty-three chapels were in the patronage of the burgesses, most of which were afterwards made parochial. During the reign of Edward III. there were 58 parish churches and chapels within the walls. Besides these there were the cathedral; a monastic college and chapel in the precincts; also, four houses of friars, with a chapel to each; a conventual church, four hospitals, with their chapels, &c.; in addition to which, were several cells and other small religious foundations, amounting in the whole to seventy-six places of Christian public worship. At the same time here were several anchorages for recluses; each of the twelve gates had its hermit, and outside five of them were lazaret-houses, each of which was doubtless provided with its oratory and chaplain. Here was also a Jewish synagogue. There are at present within the city and county of the city no less than 43 churches, exclusive of the cathedral; the Bishop's Chapel, which is used by the parishioners of St. Mary-in-the-Marsh; the French and Dutch churches; and about thirty places of worship belonging to dissenters. Nine of the churches are in the suburban hamlets.

CATHEDRAL.—It has been seen, in the History of the Diocese (see pages 40 to 57) that Bishop Herbert de Losinga removed the See from Thetford to Norwich on the 9th April, 1094. He was consecrated on the same day by Thomas, Archbishop of York, most probably in an ancient church, which there is good reason to believe stood on the site of the present cathedral, and was dedicated to the Holy Trinity; but as he had purchased the bishopric and other ecclesiastical preferments of William Rufus, he was enjoined by Pope Paschal II. to build certain churches and monasteries, as an atonement for these simoniacal practices. In obedience to this injunction, he laid the first stone of the Cathedral in 1096, and in five years had proceeded so far with his work as to be able to place 60 Benedictine monks in the Priory on the south side, endowing it with sufficient lands to maintain the same; and on the 24th of September, 1101, the Cathedral Church was dedicated to the Holy Trinity. Herbert lived eighteen years after this, but how much of the fabric he completed is not clearly defined, though according to Blomefield, the original church, as left by him, was "the whole of the choir, tower, and two transepts, with the north and south aisles of the choir, beyond the transepts, and the extent of it then was to the division between the nave and ante-choir, and no further." Eborard, his successor, is said to have built the whole nave and its two aisles, from the ante-choir or rood-loft to the west end; but it is more probable that the entire monastery and church were completed before the death of the founder, if not before the consecration; for in every direction we find traces of Early Norman work, rude and plain, evidently the work of Bishop Herbert's time; nor is it likely that any architect would have ventured to raise the tower so high above the roof of the choir and transepts without the support of a building on its western side. Thus the building stood, though not fitted up, till 1171, when it was damaged by fire; but it was repaired by John of Oxford, the fourth bishop of Norwich, in 1197. About 1247, Bishop Suffield built St. Mary's, or the Lady Chapel (since destroyed), at the east end, which is supposed to have completed the edifice as it stood in 1272, when a great part of it was burnt, and many of the ecclesiastics were killed by the citizens, who assembled for the purpose of punishing the monks for the disorderly conduct by which they had long disgraced their profession. For this retribution, however, the city was placed under a papal interdict; all concerned in the riots were excommunicated, many of the lower order put to death, and the principal citizens were condemned to pay a sum of 3000 marks, with which sum, and the liberal donations of the great, the cathedral was repaired in 1278. A new tower is likewise said to have been built by Bishop Walpole, in 1295, at his own expense; but it was doubtless the spire and not the tower which that prelate erected. The old chapter-house, and that part of the cloister which extends from the chapter-house to the grand door into the church, were also erected by Bishop Walpole, and three more arches on the same side were erected by Richard Uppehalle, the clerk of the works. The remaining five arches, and the south side of the cloister to the door leading into the ancient refectory, were erected by Bishop Salmon, with the assistance of the monks, who on this occasion suppressed the office of Pittancer, and expended on the work the pittances of the convent. The north side, towards the church, was built by Henry de Well, who gave 210 marks himself, and obtained several donations to carry on the work. He was also allowed a portion of the pittance-money. The west side, with the highly ornamented entrance to the refectory, the lavatories, and the doorway into the pilgrims' hall, were built by Jeffery Simonds, the then rector of St. Mary-in-the-Marsh. The part extending from the pilgrims' hall doorway to the entrance into the church inclusive, was the work of Bishop Wakering, who, in his life time, erected a new chapter-house, which was afterwards destroyed in the civil wars. The rest of the cloister was successively executed by the several families of Morley, Scales, Erpingham, Gournay, Mowbray, Thorpe, Savage, &c., whose arms and cognizances were to be seen emblazoned in the windows before the fine stained glass was demolished. Towards this work, Walter de Burney, citizen of Norwich, had previously made a donation of £400. Thus, A.D. 1430, in the 133rd year from its commencement, was finished this spacious, elegant, and justly celebrated cloister, in the prelaty of Bishop Alnwyk.

In 1361, a violent hurricane blew down the upper part of the steeple, and did much injury to the choir. For the reparation of this damage Bishop Percy gave £400 out of his own purse, and obtained an aid of ninepence in the pound from all his clergy. At that time the present spire was built. About 1430, the west door and window were inserted and other architectural alterations made in the west front by Bishop Alnwyk, whose arms, with the arms of the See, are in the spandrls of the door, enclosed in a garter with the inscription, "Orate pro anima Domini Willelmi Alnwyk, Epi." In the year 1463, the church was much damaged by lightning, but was repaired and considerably improved by Bishop Lyhart, by whose generosity, and that of his powerful coadjutors, many ornamental additions were made. At this time the cathedral was paved, the stone rood loft erected, and an elegant tomb raised over the ashes of the founder; but the latter was demolished in the civil wars. During Lyhart's prelaty, the noble stone roof of the nave was constructed and adorned with sculptures representing various stories from the Old Testament. His successor, Bishop Goldwell, beautified the tower, erected the present light and elegant clerestory and stone roof over the choir; fitted up the choir with collateral chapels, and covered the whole vaulting with lead. In 1509, the transepts being injured by fire, were repaired by Bishop Nix, and covered with a roofing of stone, similar to the other parts of the church, by which the whole roof was completed in an uniform manner.

At the Dissolution of the monasteries, much curious work was destroyed in the cathedral, and several crucifixes, images, niches, tabernacles, and even paintings, were removed. In 1601, part of the spire was again struck by lightning, but was speedily repaired. Thus it remained till the civil wars in 1643, "when that contempt for the venerable remains of the arts, which pervaded the majority of the people, under a pretence of extraordinary zeal and purity, could only be exceeded by the folly with which it discarded the wisdom of antiquity." Then the puritanical reformers entered all the churches, "defacing the ornaments, breaking the windows, filing the bells, and robbing the stones and monuments of their brasses," and Sheriff Tofts is said to have stolen from the cathedral alone no fewer than 100 brasses. They demolished the organ and carried away the vestments, which, with the singing and service books, they burnt in the Market place. The cathedral was partially fitted up again at the Restoration, when a new organ was erected, and the corporation gave £100 towards the communion plate. From that time to the present, repairs and restorations of various portions of the building have been repeatedly effected at considerable cost, and in many instances with very questionable taste. The cathedral is situated so low, and is so much surrounded by buildings, as to prevent its being viewed as a whole from any near point. It is seen to most advantage from the rising ground near the church of Thorpe Hamlet, whence it appears to possess all the dignity and importance of a cathedral of the first magnitude. The tower and spire are, however, the only features which possess any external attractions; the rest of the building presents but a mean and irregular appearance, unrelieved by the buttresses, which are too flat to be called projections; and it is perhaps fortunately almost entirely concealed from public view by the cloisters, the bishop's palace, and other premises which surround and adjoin it. The edifice was dedicated by its founder to the Holy Trinity, but since the reign of Henry III. it has been commonly called Christ's Church, by which name it is still designated.

The architecture of this noble pile of building is chiefly of the early Norman style, wherein the semicircular arch and massive short column are the leading features. These are considerably varied in size, moulding, and ornament in different parts of the edifice. The plan displays a nave with aisles, transept without aisles, and a choir with a semicircular east-end and an aisle surrounding it. Attached to, but projecting from this aisle, near the east end, is a small chapel dedicated to Jesus, and of extremely curious form and character. Its walls are portions of two intersecting circles of different diameters, having a round projection at the point of intersection. The windows are pointed, and evidently modern insertions. Above them is an arcade of round-headed arches upon short plain circular pillars, and higher still a series of blank Norman windows. A similar adjunct on the opposite side, at the south-east angle of the church, is called St. Luke's chapel. A square building, projecting from the south side of the choir, is now used as the Consistory court. Between this and the transept is Heydon's chapel and the old Chapter house. Adjoining the south transept is St. Edmund's, or the Prior's chapel. West of this, and attached to the south side of the nave, are the Cloisters. Such are the component parts of the cathedral, which adjoins the bishop's palace on the north side and the deanery on the south. The length of the whole fabric, from east to west, is 407 ft.; the length of the transept is 178 ft.; and the length of the nave from the west door to the screen, is 204 ft.; and its breadth, with the aisles, 72 ft.

The Cloisters form a square of 174 feet within the walls, and are surpassed by none in beauty of architecture and solemnity of effect. They branch off from the south transept, and enclose a square court or area; eleven noble windows or arched openings are on the western side, twelve on the east, eleven on the north, and eleven on the south. All these windows are divided into three lights by two columns, and decorated with a variety of beautiful tracery. They are of decorated architecture, except eight on the north side, which have perpendicular tracery in decorated arches. The upper portion of the tracery of all the windows appears to have been once filled with stained glass. The roof is supported by groins, springing from clustered columns, and ornamented with very bold elaborately carved bosses at their points of intersection, representing a number of scriptural subjects. The door-way leading from the eastern aisle of the cloisters to the nave is very curious, being a pointed arch with four columns on each side, having corresponding archivolt mouldings, in front of which are seven canopied niches with richly sculptured crockets, and each containing a statue. That in the centre is our Saviour, and the other figures represent two angels, a bishop with a model of the church in his hand, a king, St. John the Baptist, and Moses with the tables of the law. Into these cloisters are passages from several of the prebendal houses; and over three sides of the quadrangle is an upper story, lighted by small windows looking into the court. In the east wall of the cloisters are three beautiful decorated arches, now filled with a light iron railing of appropriate pattern, but formerly used as the door and windows of the vestibule of the chapter house, which has been entirely destroyed. Near these are several walled-up doors, which used to lead into the dormitory, the slype, &c. Very little remains of the monastic buildings, the dormitory, refectory, kitchen, and strangers' hall being almost entirely destroyed, except those portions which form the walls of the cloisters. The ancient lavatories remain at the south-west angle in an almost perfect state, and at the north-west angle is a modern door, which has replaced the ancient one, leading into the great locutory and entrance to the monastery. This is now the kitchen and larder of one of the Canon's houses, and has some noble Norman arches over the eastern part, but the fine west window and the rest of the vaulting is early English.

The West Front has none of that dignity and magnificence for which many of the western façades of other cathedrals are so justly celebrated. It presents a large central compartment, fronting and corresponding with the width and height of the nave; also two lateral divisions corresponding with the side aisles. The elevation of the former displays an immense perpendicular window of nine lights, divided by a transom, an exact counterpart of the west window of Westminster Hall, and which, however beautiful and well proportioned in itself, is far too large for its position, and constitutes a great defect in the appearance of the west front, both externally and internally. Above it is a gable with a small window in it, and on the top an ornamental cross. Beneath it is the grand entrance, formed by a deep vaulted portal of perpendicular architecture, within a square head, and having its spandrels and side fascia much enriched with mouldings, niches, pedestals, and other sculptured decorations. The lateral divisions of this front retain their Norman character, except that the small stairway turrets at each extremity are now, like the central turrets, disfigured by modern pinnacles. Above each of the doors opening into the aisles is a series of four blank arches, separated by small columns, over which are three other arches, in the centre and largest of which a pointed window of two lights has been inserted. The battlements are of the perpendicular period.

The Nave and Aisles display in their external elevation five tiers of windows and arcades, though part of the lowermost is obscured by the cloisters. Above this is a series of blank arches or arcades, of the Norman style, divided into fourteen compartments by a flat buttress between each, and every division consists of seven arches. In the next tier upwards each compartment shews three semicircular arches, the central of which is opened and glazed, whilst the two latter are blank. Over this is a flatly pointed arch window, with two mullions in each division. This constitutes the elevation of the aisle, which is unusually lofty and narrow. Above this is a modern parapet. The clerestory displays in each compartment a pointed arch window in the middle, with a semicircular moulding over it, and two lateral blank arches. The sides and front of the transepts nearly correspond in the number and style of arches with the division just described. At the intersection of the transepts with the nave and choir, rises a lofty tower, surmounted by an elegant spire, the whole height of which is 313 ft., exceeded only by that at Salisbury. The tower exhibits four stories, besides that of the battlements, and each is covered with arcades, columns, and tracery-mouldings of very varied and curious workmanship. It is an interesting and highly ornate specimen of the Norman style of architecture, exemplifying it at that period when the semicircular and intersecting arches with tall light columns were prevalent, and just before the pointed arch was generally adopted. The battlements and pinnacles at the angles are of the perpendicular period, as also is the octagonal spire, which has bold crockets attached to and running up the ribs at each angle.

In the exterior of the Choir and its Aisles a very dissimilar style of architecture is exhibited; for the former has large lofty windows with pointed arches, ornamented with transoms, mullions, and tracery; whilst the latter display several with square heads, divided by three mullions and tracery. These windows are curious and rare examples of form. Bold flying buttresses project from the upper part of the choir, across and over the aisles. As already observed, the east end of the choir is semicircular, with an aisle and projecting chapels, &c., and presents curious traces of the original structure built by Bishop Herbert de Losinga; but the clerestory above it is pentagonal, and is surmounted by a richly decorated and embattled parapet.

The Interior is grand and solemn in the general effect, and the piers, columns, arches, and mouldings are of bold and substantial workmanship. The nave is of fourteen bays, and the arches, which are all semicircular and of great depth and solidity, are ornamented with the billet moulding, and rest upon massive piers, except in two instances, where instead of piers are placed cylindrical columns of vast thickness, ornamented with spiral flutings, one on each side of the nave and opposite to each other. The triforium is of great height, and is composed of piers and arches similar to those on which they stand. These arches exhibit the chevron moulding, and are not subdivided by a pillar and smaller arches as is usually the case. The arcade above this is unusually low, and contains three semicircular arches in each compartment, with very simple mouldings resting on short cylindrical columns; the middle arch being three times the span of the outer ones. Through the larger arches are seen the clerestory windows. The magnificent stone vaulting of the nave was the work of Bishop Lyhart, whose rebus occurs frequently on the corbels of the shafts which support the roof. The sculptured bosses contain a complete series of historical figures, commencing at the tower end with the Creation, and ending at the other extremity with the Last Judgment. Exactly in the centre of this roof, between the choir screen and the west door is a circular opening of considerable size, from whence was suspended the large censer swung lengthwise in the nave at the festivals of Easter and Whitsuntide, and from which a white pigeon was let fly to symbolize the coming down of the Holy Ghost. The great west window is filled with stained glass, of great brilliancy of colouring, but in very bad taste. It represents the Adoration of the Magi, the Finding of Moses, the Ascension, the Brazen Serpent, Christ Blessing Little Children, Moses with the Tables of the Law, and figures of patriarchs, prophets, evangelists, &c.; and is a memorial to Bishop Stanley, who died in 1849. About half way down the nave on the south side, betwixt the 6th and 7th piers, is the tomb of Chancellor Spencer, upon which the chapter rents were formerly received; and the stone is completely worn by the frequent ringing of the money. Between the 7th and 8th piers on the same side, is the beautiful monumental chapel of Bishop Nix, in the latest perpendicular style, with elaborate vaulting, and highly ornamented panels, niches, and canopies. In it are still visible the reredos, the piscina, and the ironwork on which the bell hung. The choir screen appears to have been originally erected by Bishop Lypart. Behind it, on each side of the central door, were small chapels enclosed in wooden screens, the altar on the north side being dedicated to St. William (a boy said to have been crucified by the Jews in 1137), and the other to St. Mary. The piscina of the former still remains. The ante-choir occupies the space under the organ loft, between two columns, and was in mediæval times a chapel dedicated to our Lady of Pity. The side aisles of the nave are nearly in their original state; their vaulting is exceedingly plain and ponderous, without any mouldings, ribs, or bosses; and they contain several stained glass windows. The transepts are of the same height as the nave and choir, and like them are richly vaulted with stone. They contain several stained glass windows, but have no aisles, and are intercepted by the choir, which is partly under the central tower and stretches beyond it to the third pillar in the nave. On the east side of the north transept is an apsidal chapel, now used as a sextry, and formerly dedicated to St. Anne. There was formerly a similar chapel on the east side of the south transept, but it has been long destroyed, and on its site is the present vestry, which is of the decorated period. The bosses of the roofs of the transepts have carved figures, representing the Nativity and various subjects illustrative of the early history of Christ. The choir is of unusual length, and very imposing in its effect. The lantern of the tower is set upon four semicircular arches with plain mouldings, and supported by four massive piers of the same solid description. Above these arches is a bold and simple arcade, pierced with a passage leading to the roofs of the building. Above it, another arcade just relieves the plain wall, except at the extremity of each face, where it is pierced by a large circular aperture, which does not, however, go quite through the wall. Higher still, the wall is again recessed for another passage, in front of long narrow windows, three on each side, the shafts of the columns being of considerable length, and admirably proportioned to the great height at which they are placed. Nine of these windows are filled with stained glass, and though the ceiling above is of stucco, and very poor and out of place, the effect of the whole lantern is very grand and beautiful. The stall-work of the choir is very good perpendicular work, and has been recently judiciously restored. The stalls are sixty-two in number, and each of them retains its subsellium or miserere, most of which have elaborate designs carved upon them with great vigour and skill. The side pillars and arches of the choir are concealed by screens of richly decorated perpendicular work, surmounted by elegant perforated parapets. The arches of the apse are not concealed, and retain their original Norman character, as also does the triforium all round the choir. The clerestory of the choir is magnificent, and is one of the finest specimens in this country of the pointed style engrafted on original Norman work. It is of the perpendicular period, and the windows are of four lights each, lofty and well-proportioned, with transoms and elaborate tracery. Between the windows on both sides are lofty, deep niches, feathered and canopied, which doubtless once had statues. The windows in the clerestory of the apse are of the same size and character as those on each side of the choir, but they are so close together that there is no room for anything between them but a cluster of three slender shafts, from the top of which spring the main ribs of the vaulting, which is similar to that of the nave and transepts, but much less ornate. This part of the clerestory is pentagonal, and is very cleverly set upon the triforium of the apse, which is semicircular. The three easternmost windows are filled with stained glass of appropriate design. Below the steps of the high altar a simple slab marks the spot where Bishop Herbert, the founder of the cathedral, lies buried; but, doubtless, a sumptuous altar tomb once existed in its place. The monument of Bishop Goldwell, in the arch betwixt the sixteenth and seventeenth pillars on the south side of the choir, was erected about 1499, and consists of an altar-tomb of white marble, with several niches, canopies, and pedestals at the sides and ends, a recumbent effigy of the bishop on the top, and a canopy adorned with panelling, arches, freize, parapet, &c., of perpendicular architecture. The effigy of the bishop, now much defaced, is distinguished by the richness of its vestments, consisting of the cope with a rich border of lace, closed on the breast with a large square morse or fibula; beneath the cope is the dalmatic, alb, stole, &c.; and hanging from the left arm is the maniple. The crozier and mitre, formerly richly ornamented, have long been mutilated. The head rests on two cushions, and the feet against a crouching lion, on which is an open book, and a small broken figure of a clerk or priest. At the top are the bishop's arms. The magnificent monument of Bishop Bathurst was erected in November, 1841, and stands in a recess between the seventeenth and eighteenth pillars on the north side, where Queen Elizabeth sat during her visit to this city. The figure is of the purest Carrara marble, somewhat above the natural size, and seated, in full episcopal costume. The countenance is peculiarly expressive of the benevolence, frankness, and mild intelligence which characterised the venerable prelate. It is said to have been the last work of Sir Fras. Chantrey, but appears more fitted for a college-hall than for an ecclesiastical edifice. In the north-east angle of the recess, and almost behind the pedestal of the monument, is a glazed quatrefoil, which for a long time formed a subject of discussion amongst antiquaries, and was usually supposed to have been a confessional; but there appears no reason to doubt that it was the speculatory through which the sepulchre light could be watched during the ceremonies at Easter, without entering the choir. The lectern is ancient, and represents a pelican vulning herself; with figures of a bishop, a priest, and a deacon at the bottom. The side aisles of the choir are of the same age and style as those of the nave, and vaulted in a similarly plain and ponderous manner. In the south aisle is a fine decorated arch leading into the noble chapel said to have been founded by one William Beauchamp, and now used as the Consistory Court. The roof is groined, and has bosses illustrating the life, death, and assumption of the Virgin. There remains on the east side a beautiful niche with elaborate canopy on the north side of the altar; and a ledge for images on the south side. The piscina has also been recently uncovered in the south wall. A similar chapel, dedicated either to St. Andrew or St. Stephen, formerly existed next the north aisle, but all trace of it has been long obliterated. St. Luke's and Jesus chapels have already been described. The painted wooden reredos of the latter is now in the vestry. It is of the fourteenth century, and is divided into five compartments, representing The Scourging, Bearing the Cross, Crucifixion, Resurrection, and Ascension. The backgrounds of these paintings are gilded, and diapered in curious patterns, and some of the ornaments are in slight relief. In the north aisle is a low vaulting of the decorated period, supporting a gallery raised a few feet above the level of the floor of the choir. There are two bays of this vaulting, and in the head of the arch of the eastern one is the before-mentioned quatrefoil speculatory, or hagioscope. The original Norman Lady Chapel was of an oval form, but gave place in 1265 to a large oblong chapel of early English architecture, erected by Walter de Suffield. This is said to have been a very noble building, 70 feet long and 30 feet broad, and was disgracefully destroyed by Dean Gardiner. It was entered from the aisle by two acutely pointed arches, with bold mouldings, and the dog-tooth ornament, resting on a lofty central shaft, with a quatrefoil opening in the space above.

The BISHOP'S PALACE, an irregular edifice, on the north side of the cathedral, is an extensive pile, erected by various prelates, in the different styles of architecture which prevailed when they respectively flourished. During the usurpation of Cromwell this palace partook of the general injuries committed by the Puritans in all ecclesiastical buildings. The greater part of it was let off in tenements, and the grand hall converted into a puritanical meeting house. At the Restoration, Bishop Reynolds, with some difficulty and at great expense, made the palace habitable; and it has since been frequently repaired and beautified by succeeding bishops, so that it is now a convenient residence. One of the rooms is lined with ancient but richly carved oak wainscot, brought from the abbey of St. Bennet's at Holme, and placed here by Bishop Rugg. On the upper row of panels are the names and profiles of several worthies of ancient times. Formerly there was a covered way, vaulted with stone like the cloisters, from the door of the north transept to the entrance of the grand hall, which was 110 feet long and 60 broad, but was destroyed by the Puritans after they had used it some time as a preaching-room. In the garden, between the palace and St. Martin's gate, stands a fine ruin, known as Bishop Salmon's gateway. It is an interesting specimen of decorated architecture. In 1858, the palace was restored and improved at a cost of about £5000.

The BISHOP'S CHAPEL, at the east end of the Palace, was built by Bishop Reynolds, in 1662, near the site of the old one, which was erected by Bishop Salmon, and had its windows filled with beautiful stained glass, representing bishops and saints; but these and a great part of the building were destroyed by Sheriff Tofts, Alderman Lyndsey, and their Puritan followers. The present chapel is ornamented with Corinthian pilasters, and fitted up with wainscot sides, and a flat stuccoed ceiling. It is now used by the parishioners of St. Mary's-in-the-Marsh as their parish church. Near the altar is a monument and bust of the founder.

The DEANERY stands near the south side of the cathedral, and was anciently the porter's lodge. It is a large square pile, originally built by Bishop Herbert, but has undergone so many alterations at different times that no part of the original structure remains. It contains several fine windows and arches of the early English decorated and perpendicular periods; and near it are the Prebendal Houses, and three massive clustered columns of great antiquity. These pillars were opened out to view when the Dormitory was taken down for the purpose of improving the entrance to the deanery in 1804. They are of the late Norman period, and their shafts appear to have been painted green, and the capitals gilt. At the general dissolution, the revenues of Norwich Cathedral Priory were seized by the crown, but the prior and monks being converted into a dean and prebendaries, they were restored, and William Castleton, the last prior, became the first dean in 1538.

The CHARNEL HOUSE, near the west end of the cathedral, was built by Bishop Salmon, about the year 1316. He dedicated it to St. John the Evangelist, and endowed it for four priests, one of whom was to be custos, to sing mass for his soul, those of his parents, and of all his predecessors and successors in the See for ever. It was afterwards converted into a charnel house, but in the reign of Elizabeth became the property of the Corporation, when the Free Grammar School was transferred to it from the infirmary of the Black Friars. It consisted of a chapel, with offices for the priests, and a crypt beneath. The latter has a groined and vaulted roof, and is divided lengthwise by a row of pillars 14 feet high. In it the sacrist was allowed to deposit all bones proper for removal, "to be reserved till the day of resurrection." The buttresses at each end of the south side are ornamented with columns representing trunks of trees, with branches springing from the tips, and were built in 1702. The portico at the south end is a low vaulted structure, with curiously sculptured bosses and niches, and was built by Bishop Lyhart.

There are two principal GATES communicating with the cathedral close and precincts, and one forming the entrance to the palace garden. Erpingham Gate, which leads to the west front of the cathedral, is a curious piece of architecture, which Blomefield says was built by Sir Thomas Erpingham, at the instance of the warlike Bishop Spencer, as a penance for his being an abettor of Lollardism, or favourer of Wickliffe; but this is a very improbable story, as the knight did not marry his second wife till 1411, and the arms of both his wives appear upon the gate, whilst Bishop Spencer died in 1406. The style of architecture leads to the inference that the gate was erected about 1420. Its outer elevation displays a lofty pointed arch, and is enriched with columns, mouldings, and thirty-eight small statues of male and female saints, &c., designed with great freedom and elegance, under canopies of luxuriant foliage, exquisitely carved. The spandrils are highly decorated with tracery, mouldings, and shields, and the whole is enclosed in a sort of square frame, with semi-octagonal buttresses. Each of these is divided into four compartments, covered with statues, niches, shields, pedestals, &c., and on numerous scrolls is the word "yenk" (think), which was mistaken by Blomefield for "pena." In a canopied niche in the pediment (which is plain, and composed of flint), is a kneeling statue of the founder. The inner front is plain and quite unworthy of its beautiful exterior. The house in which Sir Thomas Erpingham resided stood in the parish of St. Martin-at-Palace, at the further end of World's end lane, and was pulled down in 1858. St. Ethelbert's Gate, which leads to the south end of the Upper Close, was built by the citizens, as a recompense for the old gate and the church of St. Ethelbert which adjoined it, both of which were burnt down in the conflict between the citizens and monks in 1272. The chapel over it was for some time used by the now dissolved parish of St. Ethelbert. This gate has a modern pediment over the west front, composed of stone tracery, inlaid with flints. Beneath is a series of blank niches, with a statue in the centre, and four small windows, or loop-holes, now closed up. In the spandrils of the great arch are figures in basso-relievo, of a man with a sword and a round shield, attacking a dragon. The east front consists of stone tracery and flint, with a pointed arch window in the centre. Attached to this gate is a porter's lodge, this being the only place of egress or ingress to the precincts during the night. St. Martin's Palace Gate, leading to the palace garden from St. Martin's plain, was founded by Bishop Alnwyk, who did not live to complete it, but made a provision for that purpose in his will. It has a large pointed arch of several mouldings, with shields and tracery on each side of it. The principal door has much carving, as also has a smaller one, on which amongst other ornaments, a heart and mitre frequently appear—the supposed rebus of Bishop Lyhart.

THE PRECINCTS OF THE CATHEDRAL include the Upper and Lower Close, Life's Green, and 15A. 2B. 38P. of garden ground, extending eastward to the river Wensum, between Sandlin's Ferry and Bishop's Bridge. This district is enclosed on every side, except next the river, by walls and houses, and forms a peculiar jurisdiction of the Dean and Chapter, and the parish of Trinity, or St. Mary-in-the-Marsh. The whole is the property of the Dean and Chapter, and the gardens, building sites, &c., are let to various persons on 40 years' leases, renewable every 14 years, by paying fines equal to 1½ year's rent. In 1782, the Lower Close was enclosed by Dean Lloyd, and a handsome garden made. A great quantity of the mould, mixed with human bones, being brought out of the cloister grave yard to level this plat, it obtained the name of Skeleton square, and some severe lampoons were published on the occasion. In 1806, this square was further improved by taking down several houses at the north-east corner. In 1825, the Upper Close was enclosed with iron palisades, and laid out in a similar manner. In 1863, a beautiful new residence for one of the Canons was built on Life's Green, at a cost of £2500, in lieu of an old house, which adjoined the south-west corner of the cathedral, and is now removed. The building is of flint, coloured brick, and cut stone, and of Venetian Gothic design. Before the erection of the cathedral this peculiar jurisdiction was called Cow Holm, being the marsh where the cows fed. Cow Holm was anciently in the parish of Thorpe, and had a chapel till 1094, when Bishop Herbert de Losigna removed the See to Norwich, and purchased this district for the site of his cathedral, palace, prebendal houses, &c. The old chapel was pulled down to make room for the cathedral, but the bishop built in its place a parochial church, called ST. MARY-IN-THE-MARSH. This church stood near Life's Green, but was desecrated by Bishop Parkhurst, in 1562, and converted to the use of the cathedral, where the parishioners were allowed the use of the chapel of St. John the Baptist. In 1563, it was purchased by Dr. Gascoigne, then chancellor, who pulled the greater part of it down, and the rest was subsequently converted into a dwelling, but was finally demolished in the year 1760, when a handsome row of houses was built partly on the site. The inhabitants now use the Bishop's Chapel as their parish church, but until recently they used the chapel of St. Luke the Evangelist, at the east end of the cathedral. The living is a perpetual curacy, valued in K.B. at £5. 0s. 10d., and now at £110. It was augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's Bounty, from 1737 to 1767. The Dean and Chapter are the patrons; the Rev. J. C. Matchett, M.A., is the rector; and John Elmer, clerk.

The MONASTIC INSTITUTIONS which existed in Norwich before the Reformation amounted to no less than nineteen, at the head of which was the Benedictine Priory at the cathedral, founded by Bishop Herbert de Losinga, as noticed at page 191. To this was a Benedictine Cell, dedicated to St. Leonard, and established by the same founder, on Mousehold Heath, opposite Bishop's Bridge, and much resorted to on account of its miraculous image of Henry VI. At the dissolution, it was granted to Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, whose son, Henry, Earl of Surrey, built a sumptuous house upon the site. Near this priory cell was St. Michael's Chapel, which was served by the monks, and afterwards became the rendezvous of Kett and his associate rebels (vide page 152), from whence it obtained the name of Kett's Castle. The Benedictine Nunnery, at Carrow, was founded in 1146, by two sisters, named Seyna and Leftelina, and received a considerable endowment from King Stephen. It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and had a prioress and nine nuns. The boundary wall, part of which remains, enclosed an area of about 10 acres. It was granted to Sir J. Shelton. The seal of this nunnery is now in the possession of Robt. Fitch, Esq., F.S.A., and was found amongst the débris of St. Paul's Church, Norwich, during the reparation of that edifice in 1841. It is of lead, of an oval pointed form, and represents the Virgin crowned, sitting upon a throne, holding our Saviour in one hand and a sceptre in the other. The Chapel of our Lady-in-the-Fields, founded about 1250, by John le Brun, was originally a hospital, but in a short time became a noble College, consisting of a dean (the founder being the first), a chancellor, precentor, treasurer, and seven other prebendaries, with six chantry priests. The premises were extensive, and were granted by Henry VIII. to Miles Spencer, the last dean. The Theatre and the Freemasons' Hall stand on the site. The Austin Friary stood near the church of St. Michael, in Conisford, where it was founded in the reign of Edward I. The monks afterwards obtained license to add that church to their establishment, and unite its parish with St. Peter-per-Mountergate. They re-built the church in 1360, and dedicated it to St. Mary the Virgin and St. Augustine. Their possessions, bounded on the north by St. Faith's-lane, extended as far as the river, and were granted at the Dissolution to Sir Thomas Heneage. A great source of their wealth was derived from a chapel called Scala Celi, of which kind there were only two others in England (at London and Westminster), all of them having equal privileges with respect to indulgences, &c., as one of the same name at Rome. The Black or Dominican Friars first settled here in 1226, in the church of St. John the Baptist, which occupied the site of the present Octagon Chapel, and which they made their conventual church, and united the parish to St. George at Colegate; but the friars afterwards removed to a more magnificent establishment, part of which is now St. Andrew's Hall. (See page 175.) The Grey or Franciscan Friars settled here about 1226, on the site now partly occupied by Cook's Hospital, in Rose-lane, and their possessions were granted to Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, who sold the premises to the Corporation. Their church, dedicated to St. Francis, was of magnificent proportions, the nave being 150 feet long from the west window to the folding doors of the tower and steeple (probably a transept tower), and 50 feet from thence to the folding doors of the choir. The breadth of the nave and aisles was about 80 feet, and the cloister was a square of the length of the nave. Connected with this church were two anchorages. The White or Carmelite Friars had a flourishing convent near the bridge to which they gave name, and part of the cloisters remain in the cellars of a public-house, still called the White Friars. Their church was completed in 1343, and must have been a splendid building, the cloister having been 60 yards square, the nave 46 yards long, and that and two aisles 36 yards broad, and the transepts 30 yards. John Bale, author of the "English Votaries," and a great instrument of the Reformation, was a monk in this priory, which was granted at the Dissolution to Richard Andrews and Leonard Chamberlain. The Friars de Domina founded a convent in 1290, on the west side of King street, on the south side of St. Julian's churchyard, but they perished in the plague of 1349, and their convent became private property. The Friars of St. Mary had a small priory in the churchyard of St. Martin in Balliva, but on the reduction of the lesser orders they were united to the White Friars. The Friars de Pica had a house at the north-east corner of the churchyard of St. Peter-per-Mountergate, but being obliged to join one of the four principal orders, their house became the property of the Hospital of Bek, at Billingsford, the master of which made it his city house. The Friars de Sacco had a house in 1250, opposite St. Peter's-of-Hungate church, but it was granted to the Black Friars in 1307. The Domus Dei or God's House, in St. Giles'-street, was founded as an almshouse, by John le Grant, in the reign of Edward I., and rebuilt by Bishop Lyhart, whose successors nominated the almsmen till the Reformation, when the hospital became private property. Hildebronde's Hospital, founded about the year 1200, by Hildebronde, the mercer, for a master and brethren, was dissolved at the Reformation, though merely a charitable institution. Five Lazar Houses existed here in the time of Edward III., for the reception of persons afflicted with leprosy, then a very prevalent disease. These houses were situated without the gates of the city, and were supported by the contributions of the inhabitants and travellers. There was one without St. Augustine's gate, called the Hospital of St. Mary and St. Clement, and its site is now occupied by the Infirmary Asylum. The other four were without the gates of St. Bennet, St. Giles, St. Magdalen, and St. Stephen, and the latter was accounted part of the possessions of the priory of Horsham St. Faith. All these five houses were in being, and had relief out of the treasury for the King's Bench and Marshalsea, in 1602 and 1604. St. Giles' Hospital, in Bishopgate-street, was founded by Bishop Suffield, for four chaplains to celebrate mass daily for his soul; to support any poor and decrepit chaplains of Norwich diocese, and thirteen poor people in lodging and one meal a day. In 1256, the founder signed the statutes of the hospital, to which a provision was added for seven poor scholars to have their dinner daily. Edward VI. granted this hospital, with all its revenues and appurtenances, to the corporation of Norwich, to be held for ever of the king in socage, by fealty only, as a place and house for the relief of the poor, to be called God's House, or the House of the Poor, in Holme-street, in the city of Norwich, "of the foundation of King Edward VI., and King Henry VIII. his most noble father." It was now stipulated for the establishment to maintain a priest, to be chaplain to the parish of St. Helen and to the poor in the hospital, and another priest to be chaplain to the city gaol; also a master and usher for a grammar school; a caterer or steward; a collector of rents; a porter, and a convenient person to cook, bake, and brew for forty almsmen, with four women to attend them. It was also provided that as the revenues increased, the pensioners were to be augmented. This hospital was afterwards re-founded for the reception of aged poor, and is now called the Great Hospital, as will be seen in an account of the almshouses and other charities, at a subsequent page; and its chapel is now the parish church of St. Helen.

The "PREACHERS' MONEY," formerly in trust with the Corporation in the "Sword Bearer's Account," is now dispensed by the city Charity Trustees. This fund now produces about £169 per annum, arising as follows:—£126. 10s. from the site of the City Gaol, and seven acres of land adjoining, left by Sir John Pettus, in 1613; £10 from a rent-charge in Great Hautboys, left in 1616 by Edward Nutting; £18 out of the manor of Barsham, left in 1626, by John Suckling; £9. 10s. from tenements in St. Lawrence, left in 1619, by Henry Fawcett; and £5 from £100, left by Lawrence Goodwin. Out of the above, 21s. is paid to each of the preachers in the cathedral, called the Norfolk and Suffolk preachers. On Easter-day and the Sunday following Whit Sunday, Trinity Sunday, the four Sundays in Advent, and the six Sundays in Lent, and also on Christmas Day, the bishop, the dean, or one of the prebendaries or archdeacons preaches. On every other Sunday, and on seven other days (fasts or festivals) the incumbents of livings in Norfolk and Suffolk, or in the city of Norwich, are appointed by the bishop to preach in the cathedral, and each of such preachers receives 21s. for each sermon; or if, in case of absence, one of the minor canons preaches in his stead, the minor canon receives that sum; but nothing is paid if the dean or one of the prebendaries preaches in his stead. The sums paid for such sermons in the cathedral, amount to about £45 per annum, and the rest of the income is dispensed pursuant to the wills of the donors, viz., about £5 for sermons at the churches of St. Simon and St. Jude, St. Saviour, and St. Andrew; £8. 6s. 8d. to the poor of the parishes of St. Saviour, St. Andrew, St. Augustine, and St. George's Colegate; and the surplus, which, after payment of incidental expenses, amounts to about £90 a year, is paid into the city treasury, pursuant to the will of Sir John Pettus. The minister of St. Peter-per-Mountergate, has £2. 3s. 6d. yearly from the property left to the Great Hospital by Alderman Codd, in 1558. Thos. Hall, in 1713, left £200 to the Corporation, in trust, to pay the interest thereof yearly for a monthly lecture, to be preached alternately in the churches of St. Peter Mancroft, St. Andrew, St. George Colegate, and St. John Timberhill. The yearly sum of £8 is paid as the interest of this legacy. For a sermon every Thursday in St. Andrew's church, £20 per annum is paid from Benj. Trappett's Charity.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, at the east end of Wastlegate, is a small plain edifice, comprising nave, chancel, north aisle, south porch, and a square west tower containing three bells. The chancel contains some decorated windows, but the other portions of the church are perpendicular. The east window is modern, and is filled with poor stained glass; but there are some fragments of ancient stained glass, containing heads of bishops, &c., in the windows of the aisles. The font is octagonal, and is a fine specimen of perpendicular workmanship. On it are carved figures of St. Michael, St. George, the twelve Apostles, and other saints. It was restored a few years ago, and some of the figures were re-cut. There are three monuments with merchants' marks upon them. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £3. 14s. 7d., is consolidated with the rectory of St. Julian and St. Edward, valued in K.B. at £5. The joint benefices are now worth about £300 per annum. They were augmented with £600 of Q. A. B. in 1769 and 1810, and with £200 given by John Drinkwater, Esq., in 1768, and £500 given by Samuel Thornton, Esq., in 1800 and 1805. The Rev. C. F. Sculthorpe, M.A., is patron, Rev. John Russell Jackson, M.A., rector, John Madgett, clerk, and Henry Drew, sexton. The church estate consists of three houses, let for £15 a year. The parish of St. Winewaloy, or St. Catherine in Newgate, was nearly depopulated in the great plague of 1349, after which it was consolidated with All Saints, and its church desecrated.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, in the Broad street to which it gives name, is esteemed the best parochial church in the city, excepting that of St. Peter Mancroft. It is a fine large perpendicular structure, consisting of nave, chancel, aisles, clerestory, and tower. The latter, which has seven bells and a clock, was rebuilt in 1478, and the nave and chancel in 1606. The interior contains many ancient as well as modern monuments and inscriptions, and two brasses to John Gilbert, 1527, and Wm. Layer and his wife, 1538. At the end of the north aisle, formerly the chapel of St. Mary, enclosed with iron palisades, is a sumptuous monument, on which are recumbent effigies of Sir John Suckling and his lady, erected by their son, Sir John Suckling, the poet. To the altar belongs a handsome and costly set of plate, of which two noble flagons, weighing nearly 60 ounces each, were given by Lawrence Goodwin, Esq., in 1704. In the east window was a beautiful representation in stained glass, of the Brazen Serpent and the stoning of the man who gathered sticks on the Sabbath; but these devices are now nearly obliterated. The organ was erected in 1808. In one of the windows near the east end of the north aisle is a figure in stained glass, of Robert Gardener, a former mayor of Norwich. The blue and ruby in this glass are much admired. There are sedilia for three priests in the chancel, and several old stalls with misereres. The gallery which obscured the noble tower-arch, was removed in 1863, and the fine screenwork so long hidden, has been brought to light. There is no chancel-arch, but the rood-stair turret still remains on the south side; and under the east window, externally, are some good niches and panels. A beautiful carved stone reredos was erected in 1856-'7, by subscription, in memory of the late Rev. James Brown, B.D., who was incumbent of this parish from 1807 to 1856. The church of St. Crouch, which stood near St. Andrew's, was demolished in 1551, and its parish divided between those of St. Andrew and St. John Maddermarket; but the chancel remained till 1838, and formed part of the Hole-in-the-Wall Inn. St. Christopher's church, which also stood in this vicinity, was burnt down in the reign of Henry III., and its parish united with St. Andrew's. Some curious crypt work in a neighbouring building doubtless belonged to it. The benefice is a perpetual curacy, valued in 1831 at £90, and augmented from 1756 to 1786, with £800 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and with a grant of £600 in 1815. The Church estate is let on long leases for £22. 16s. a year, but is worth considerably more. Part of it was given by Robt. Davy. The parishioners are the patrons, the Rev. Arthur Chas. Copeman, M.B., incumbent, and Daniel Vyall, clerk. Wm. Appleby, the first mayor (1403,) and Wm. Moore, the last mayor under the city charters, (1835,) both resided in St. Andrew's parish; and of the latter, there is a neat monument in the church. The Parsonage House stands near the church, and is a plain but commodious building. A house for the minister was purchased by the parishioners in 1670; and in 1607, Mr. Rugg gave a house for the clerk's residence. The sacramental lecture is preached in this church on the Fridays preceding the first Sundays in April, August, and December. (See page 202.)

ST. AUGUSTINE'S CHURCH, on the east side of Gildencroft, is mainly of perpendicular architecture, and consists of nave with aisles, chancel with aisles, south porch, and tower. The latter contains a clock and three bells, and it and the porch are of red brick, and bear the date 1726, as also does the ceiling of the chancel. The roof of the north aisle of the chancel is finely carved, and the clerestory is built of flint. The rood-stair turret still remains, and its upper portion being open to the church forms a pew, or very small gallery. The tower-arch is built up, and the pulpit is placed at the west end of the church. In the south aisle of the nave is a marble monument in memory of Thos. Clabburn, manufacturer, who died in 1858. It was erected by the subscriptions of more than 600 weavers of Norwich, as a tribute of esteem to his many virtues. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 7s. 8½d., and now at £150, was augmented in 1781 with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and in 1810, '11, and '21, with £1400 in parliamentary grants. The Dean and Chapter are the patrons, the Rev. Matthew John Rackham, rector, and John Fiske, clerk.

ST. BENEDICT'S CHURCH, in the street to which it gives name, is a small perpendicular building, with nave, chancel, north aisle, and tower. The latter contains three bells and is round at the base and octagonal above. The chancel contains a piscina, and the font, which is octagonal, is now much mutilated, but was once finely carved. The church was re-roofed, thoroughly repaired and drained, and had a new east window inserted a few years ago at a cost of nearly £150, and the gallery is about to be removed and the pews replaced by open benches, at a cost of £250. The living is a perpetual curacy, valued at £95, and was augmented from 1739 to 1813, with £1800 of royal bounty, partly laid out in the purchase of 20A. of land at Shelton. The parishioners are patrons, the Rev. Wm. Goodwin, M.A., incumbent, and Wm. Metcalf, clerk.

ST. CLEMENT'S CHURCH, in Colegate street, is one of the most ancient churches in the city, and belonged originally to the manor of Tokethorpe. It is principally of the perpendicular period, and has a square tower with three bells, a nave without aisles, and a chancel; and has a few old brasses and several modern monuments. The chancel contains four dedication crosses and is separated from the nave by a fine arch. The tower arch is blocked by the organ and gallery. The font is ornamented with flowers, &c. In the churchyard is a tomb to the memory of the parents of Archbishop Parker. Here is also the "Leper's Tomb," which tradition says was raised over the remains of a leper, who, being permitted burial here, bequeathed his lands, &c., to the church; but Blomefield discredits this legend, and conjectures that the leper died in the Lazar-house, without St. Augustine's gate, (now the Infirmary Asylum,) which entitled him to burial here, that building being in one of the detached parts of the parish. The communion plate weighs about 88 oz., including a silver gilt cup, given by S. Sofyld, in 1569. The three Parish Houses are let for £26. 10s. a year, which is applied with the church rates, except a reserved yearly rent of 3s. 4d., payable to the Great Hospital, pursuant to a lease for 500 years, granted in 1569. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £7. 9s. 2d., and now at £96, was augmented in 1738, with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and £200 bequeathed by the Rev. Edward Brooke. It is in the patronage of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Richd. Rigg, M.A., who is also rector of St. Michael Coslany. Wm. Burrows is the clerk. ST. CLEMENT'S parish increased its population from 853 inhabitants in 1801, to nearly 4000 in 1861. This large increase occurred chiefly in that northern suburb of the city called NEW CATTON, which in 1842 was constituted an ecclesiastical district, and assigned to Christ Church, which had been built in the previous year, as afterwards noticed.

St. Anne's chapel, which was desecrated some centuries ago, stood in St. Clement's parish, nearly adjacent to the river; and in Fybrigge gate or Wensum street were the churches of All Saints, St. Margaret, and St. Botolph the Abbot, of which no vestiges remain.

ST. EDMUND'S CHURCH, in Fishgate, is a small fabric, of late perpendicular work, with nave, chancel, south aisle, and tower containing one bell. It was originally founded about the time of William the Conqueror. The arches of the nave are nearly flat, and the sub-arches are carried on shafts with moulded caps. Two of the piers have small narrow arches cut through them apparently to give greater lightness. The roof is of plain open timber work, and bears in the centre a large wooden boss, with the arms of the city, St. George, and St. Edmund, and a scroll inscribed, "S. Edmundus, flos Martirum, velut rosa aut lilium." The old parish chest is strongly bound with iron. Among the relics formerly preserved here was a piece of the shirt of St. Edmund the King and Martyr, kept in a box of crystal, and visited with great reverence. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £4. 6s. 3d., and now at £165, was augmented in 1726 with £200 given by the Revs. Wm. Stanley and R. Corey, and from 1726 to 1819, with £1000 of royal bounty. The Rev. G. Blake Everett, M.A., is patron and incumbent.

ST. ETHELDRED'S CHURCH, in King street, is supposed to be the oldest church in the city, and had in its burial ground a very ancient anchorage or hermitage, which continued till after the Reformation. It is a small pile, with nave, chancel, and tower. The latter contains one bell and is round at the base and octagonal above. It is chiefly of flint, but the upper portion has brick quoins and mouldings of the perpendicular period. The nave is thatched, and has a step gable at its east end. The south porch and some of the windows are perpendicular, and there are a few decorated windows; but the south doorway and the mutilated piscina in the chancel are Norman, and the Norman strings are still to be seen on the walls outside. A plain stone bench in the sill of a window formed the sedilia. The font is octagonal and panelled. In the chancel is a monument, dated 1611, to Wm. Johnson, an alderman of Norwich, with figures of himself, wife, one son, and three daughters. The benefice is a perpetual curacy, certified at £2. 14s. and valued at £77. It was augmented from 1745 to 1802, with £800 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Trustees of the Great Hospital are patrons; the Rev. James Deacon, M.A., incumbent; Rev. P. S. Aldrich, B.C.L., curate; and George Hawes, clerk. St. Edward's Church formerly stood on the west side of King street, and the east end of its churchyard extended nearly to the south-west corner of St. Etheldred's churchyard. It was desecrated some centuries ago, but its ruins were visible in Blomefield's time. Joining the west end of St. Edward's church was a chapel, founded by Hildebronde, a mercer, who also founded a hospital in connection with it, which was dissolved in 1540. The Music-House, the remains of which are still to be found in a public house on the east side of King street, nearly opposite St. Etheldred's churchyard, was used as a chapel for divine service by Alan de Freestone, Archdeacon of Norwich, but was disused after his death, about 1290. It obtained its name through being in former times the place of resort for the City Waits.

ST. GEORGE'S COLEGATE is a large and handsome perpendicular church, rebuilt at different periods, viz., the tower and nave, about 1459; the chancel in 1498; the north aisle, with the chapel of St. Mary, in 1504, and the south aisle, with the chapel of St. Peter, in 1513. The tower is lofty, and has a clock and three bells. The rood-stair turret still remains on the south side. The church is neatly fitted up, and has a good organ. In the north aisle is a fine altar-tomb to Robert Jannis, a great benefactor to this church and the city; and near it is a beautiful mural monument to John Herring, Esq., (mayor in 1799,) executed by the younger Bacon. In the same aisle is a fine brass of Wm. Norwiche, dated 1475; and also a piscina. The east window is of three lights, and is filled with painted glass, by Mr. Swan, representing Faith, Hope, and Charity. The churches of St. Margaret at Colegate, and St. Olave, in Cherry lane, were taken down, and their cures consolidated with St. George's; the former in 1349, and the latter in 1546. The living is a perpetual curacy, valued at £98, and augmented from 1737 to 1792 with £1000 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. Alex. Warham Durdin, incumbent, and C. Woolmer, clerk. The "sacramental lecture" is preached in this church on the Fridays preceding the first Sundays in January, May, and December. (See p. 202.)

ST. GEORGE'S TOMBLAND has a handsome square tower, which contains five bells, and was erected by the parishioners in 1445. There is also a clock given by George Maltby, in 1786, and a sanctus bell. The nave, aisles, and chancel are covered with lead, and have spacious galleries and many monumental inscriptions of ancient and modern times, one of which has the representation of a man and his wife at the fald-stool. The building is chiefly of the perpendicular period, but some portions appear to be of much older date. The living is a perpetual curacy, valued at £144. It is in the gift of the Bishop, and was augmented from 1741 to 1817 with £1000 of royal bounty, and in 1789 with £200 given by Dr. Lewis Bagot, Bishop of Norwich, and in 1817 with £200 given by the Rev. Charles Sutton, D.D. The Rev. K. Trimmer, B.A., is the incumbent, and J. P. Sturgess, clerk.

ST. GILES' CHURCH was founded in the reign of William the Conqueror, by Elwyn the priest, who gave it to the Monks of Norwich, and consequently it is now in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter. In ancient records it is frequently called St. Giles-on-the-Hill. It is a fine perpendicular structure, and the eminence on which it stands commands an extensive view of the lower parts of the city. It was wholly rebuilt in the reign of Richard II., and is now one of the handsomest churches in Norwich, though the chancel has been demolished since the year 1581, when the Dean and Chapter, to acquit themselves of the expense of repairing it, gave all the materials to the parish, for "a stock to be put out for the encouragement of poor traders," which has long been lost. The east window now fills the chancel arch, and there is a small window over it. The tower-arch is blocked by the organ gallery. The nave is of five bays, and has a good open timber roof, supported by angels bearing shields emblazoned with the arms of England, France, and Castile. The clerestory windows have been modernised. The remains of a colossal fresco painting of St. Christopher were some time ago discovered on the wall of the north aisle, and may still be seen, but two consecration crosses found at the same time have been obliterated. The south porch has a fine groined vault with fan tracery, and is surmounted by a parvise and a rich parapet and cornice. The tower is 120 feet high, and contains a clock and eight bells. It is battlemented and crowned with a small belcot. The nave and aisles are 81 feet long, divided by slender pillars, and lighted by large and elegant windows. The costly altar plate is double gilt, and was given by Robert Snell, in 1738. Here are many old brasses, and among the modern monuments is one to Sir Thomas Churchman, Knight. The perpetual curacy, valued at £70, was augmented from 1744 to 1791, with £1000 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Rev. Wm. Nottidge Ripley, M.A., is the incumbent, Rev. Edmund Hall, LL.B., curate, W. F. Cullyer, clerk, and Alfred Ames, sexton. The Church Estate consists of several tenements, &c., given by Thos. Parker and others in 1534, and now let on long leases for £14 a year.

ST. GREGORY'S CHURCH, in Pottergate street, is a lofty perpendicular fabric of great antiquity, but the chancel was rebuilt in 1395, and the whole pile has received many subsequent repairs. The nave and aisles, with the two chapels at the east end, were new leaded in 1537. In 1597, a wooden spire, covered with lead, was erected on the tower, and was the only spire in Norwich, except that of the cathedral, but being considered unsafe, part of it was taken down after the vane had been blown off in 1806. In the tower are a clock and six bells, the latter given by the parishioners in 1818. The tower-arch is very lofty, and across it is the original stone gallery for the singers, with groined vaults above and beneath, the lower part forming a western porch opening into the north and south porches, which are also groined. There are four well-moulded arches on each side of the nave, with clustered shafts having embattled caps. The rood-stair turret remains on the north side of the church. The altar platform is raised on an arch over a street. The clerestory windows have decorated tracery, and the windows of the aisles are of mixed character, under arches recessed in the walls. At the west end of the north aisle is a large and curious fresco painting of St. George and the Dragon, supposed to have been the work of a native of Norfolk. It was uncovered some years ago, and has been restored at the expense of Wm. Smith, Esq., one of the churchwardens, by whom and the incumbent about £800 were collected in 1861, for the purpose of restoring the church and re-seating it with oak. Part of the old roof and a few old stalls in the chancel still remain, and there is also a curious brass scutcheon, which was formerly on the door, and had a knocker attached to it, called the "sanctuary knocker." The brass eagle-lectern is dated 1496. In the church is a pall of black stuff ornamented with needlework, representing crowned angels bearing small figures, probably meant for souls; and under each angel is a fish like a dolphin, swallowing a smaller one. It is apparently intended to symbolize death and immortality. The old altar cloth is of crimson velvet, woven with gold thread, and was made out of a cope; but a beautiful new altar cloth has been wrought by Miss Blencowe, who also worked the one for Ely Cathedral. Among the monuments is one to Sir Francis Bacon, a judge of the Court of King's Bench in Charles the Second's time. Here are also some ancient brass inscriptions, but no effigies. Of two "Parish Houses," held since 1598, one is occupied rent free by the clerk, and the other is let on lease for £2, which is carried to the church rates. The perpetual curacy was certified at £3, and is now valued at £120. It was augmented from 1747 to 1812, with £1400 of royal bounty, partly laid out in land at Raydon and Fritton. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. Wm. Rt. Sharpe, M.A., incumbent, and John Moore, sexton.

ST. HELEN'S CHURCH, in Bishopgate street, belonged to the monks, who demolished it, and consolidated the cure with the church of St. Giles' Hospital, now called the Great Hospital, on the opposite side of the street, soon after the foundation of the latter by Bishop Suffield, in 1250. The whole of this hospital church, which serves also as the parish church of St. Helen, and is partly converted into lodgings for the almspeople, is still standing, but it is encumbered with many excrescent buildings. It has a square perpendicular tower at the south-west corner, containing one bell; the choir is turned into lodgings for the almswomen; and that part of the nave and aisles extending from the tower to the south porch, is divided into apartments for the men; the intermediate space, with a south chantry, being all that is left open for divine service. The altar is in the chantry, and opposite to it stands a modern seat of handsome Gothic carved work. The church is neatly fitted up in a similar style, with open seats. Kirkpatrick, the learned antiquary, who did so much for the History of Norwich, is buried here. The perpetual curacy received by lot £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty in 1816, and was valued in 1831, at £16, exclusive of the glebe house, but it is now worth £200 per ann. The City Charity Trustees are patrons, the Rev. W. F. Patteson, incumbent, and J. S. Silcock, clerk. Nearly the whole of the small parish of St. Helen belongs to the Great Hospital. The parsonage is a commodious residence in the Hospital grounds.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH, in Cowgate, includes within its parish the hamlet of Pockthorpe, and part of Mousehold Heath, and was a well endowed rectory till 1201, when it was appropriated to the cathedral priory, and is now a peculiar of the Dean and Chapter. It is a small fabric of poor architecture of the late perpendicular period. The tower is square and of stone at the base, but the upper part is octagonal and of brick and contains one bell. The rood-stair turret still remains on the north side. The porch has a parvise, which externally forms part of the aisle, and on its gable are three sitting figures as pinnacles, one of which represents a mitred bishop, but the others are so mutilated as to be undistinguishable. The font is octagonal, and richly ornamented with panels filled with figures representing the Apostles and Evangelists, and eight female saints. In 1860, the church underwent a partial restoration at a cost of £318, raised by subscription. The perpetual curacy, certified at 20s., and now valued at £150, with Pockthorpe annexed, was augmented from 1740 to 1765, with £600 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, Rev. Thomas Clark, M.A., incumbent, and N. Stewardson, clerk. For many years, till 1843, the curacies of St. James and St. Paul were united.

ST. JOHN'S MADDERMARKET is an ancient but large and handsome perpendicular church of flint and stone, consisting of a nave, two aisles, two porches, six bells, and a fine tower under which is an arched road, and on the top are four figures at the angles. The lead was removed and the roof covered with slate in 1835. In the interior is a fine-toned seraphine, and many ancient sepulchral inscriptions, with nine brasses, and several mural monuments. The fine decorated east window is of five lights with flowing tracery, and seems to be built into the chancel arch, for although a street passes immediately beneath, it is probable that there was formerly an arch across it to carry the chancel, as in the adjoining church of St. Gregory. The north porch has a richly-groined vault, and its outer doorway is deeply recessed. The roofs of the chapel of All Saints at the east end of the north aisle, and of St. Mary the Virgin in the south aisle, are boarded under, and painted with angels holding books and scrolls, with sentences from the Te Deum, the Angelical Salutation, &c., and diapered with the monograms I.H.S. in a crown of thorns, and MR. crowned. This church has just been restored at a cost of £1200. Lady Margaret, Duchess of Norfolk (second wife of the Duke who was beheaded in Elizabeth's reign), died at the Duke's Palace in this parish in 1563, and was interred with great pomp on the north side of the choir, where a mural monument was raised to her memory by Lord John Howard, of Waldon, in 1791. The benefice is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £7. 10s. 2d., and now at £110. It was augmented from 1714 to 1814, with £1800 of royal bounty. It is in the patronage of New College, Oxford, to which it was granted by Hen. VI.

ST. JOHN SEPULCHERE is a large church, at the south end of Ber street, dedicated to St. John the Baptist and the Holy Sepulchre, and founded in the Confessor's reign. It consists of a nave, chancel, a sort of transept chapel on each side, and a lofty tower with five bells and a clock. It is of perpendicular architecture. The font is octagonal, and is ornamented with angels, lions, &c. The east window is of three lights, filled with stained glass, the centre light having a figure of St. John Baptist. It is in memory of the Rev. Saml. Stone, M.A., incumbent of this parish, who died in 1848. Here is a fine mural monument of the Watts family. The rood-stair turret still remains, and on the south side of the chancel is a fine consecration cross. The living is a perpetual curacy, certified at £9. 1s., and now valued at £144. It was augmented from 1737 to 1812 with £1600 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. Thos. Calvert, M.A., incumbent, Robert Butler, clerk, and Wm. Rumsby, sexton. Five tenements, let for £6. 6s. a year, were left by Thos. Doughty in 1621, for augmenting the minister's income, and paying 10s. yearly to the clerk, who has also a yearly rent-charge of 21s., left by an unknown donor. The church of St. Bartholomew, in Ber street, was desecrated in 1549, when its bells and ornaments were carried to St. John Sepulchere. A portion of this church was standing in 1814, but converted into an outhouse.

ST. JOHN'S TIMBERHILL, at the north end of Ber street, (or Burgh street, as it was anciently called, because it led to the burgh or castle,) was founded soon after the Priory of Norwich, to which it was appropriated; and it was dedicated to St. John the Baptist. It has a nave, chancel, south porch with parvise, and two aisles with chapels at their east ends; that on the north, a part of which is now used for the vestry, was called our Lady's Chapel. The tower, which was square, and contained five bells, on the largest of which was the inscription, "Per me fideles invocantur ad preces," suddenly fell down on Aug. 26th, 1784, and considerably damaged the west end of the church. Its foundations still remain, but the bells were sold to pay for the repairs, and a wooden cupola with a single small bell, was substituted on the west gable. There is a hagioscope, or squint, on the south side of the chancel, and near it is a small decorated piscina. The font is circular and Norman. The whole building is in a very dilapidated state, and needs a thorough restoration. The perpetual curacy was augmented from 1738 to 1813 with £1000 of royal bounty, and valued in 1831 at £75. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. Samuel Titlow, M.A., has been the incumbent since 1831, and Thomas Dann is the clerk. The "sacramental lecture" is preached in this church in the afternoon of the Fridays preceding the first Sundays in Feb., June, and Oct. (See p. 202.) The "Parish House and Yard," given by John Forster, in 1542, are let for £13 a year.

ST. JULIAN'S CHURCH, in King street, is a very small and ancient church, founded before the Conquest; and comprises nave, chancel, north porch, and tower. It is principally of the Norman period, but the tower, which is round, is by some believed to be Saxon, and most of the windows are decorated and perpendicular insertions. The tower has a deeply recessed Norman arch, slightly pointed, and having shafts with caps and bases. It has also a small Norman loop window in the thickness of the wall, splayed both inside and out. The south doorway is a very fine specimen of Norman architecture, and was restored in 1845, when the chancel was rebuilt and the church thoroughly restored at a cost of £500. The east window was at the same time filled with stained glass given by Mr. Baxter and friends, representing our Saviour seated and surrounded by the emblems of the evangelists. The font is perpendicular, cup-shaped and panelled. In the churchyard was a hermitage or anchorage for a female recluse, demolished at the dissolution. The rectory, certified at £19. 3s. 1d., has long been consolidated with All Saints, as has been seen at p. 203 and the cure of the desecrated church of St. Edward, in Conisford street, was united with it in 1269. The Rev. C. F. Sculthorpe, M.A., is patron, the Rev. J. R. Jackson, M.A., rector, and James Manthorpe, clerk.

ST. LAWRENCE'S CHURCH, in St. Benedict's street, was founded in the Confessor's reign, on the site of an ancient quay for landing fish, but the original church was taken down in 1460, and the present one completed about 12 years after. It is of the late perpendicular period, and consists of nave, chancel, aisles, north and south porches, clerestory, and a fine tower, 112 feet high, containing six bells. There is no chancel arch, but the arches of the nave differ from those in the chancel. The tower arch is blocked up, and a gallery is in front of it. The rood-stair turret still remains, and at the right-hand side of the priest's door, on the south side of the chancel, is the old holy water stoup. The roof is of open timber, and the spandrils are pierced with elegant open work. The font is perpendicular, and its cover is of the time of Laud. The south porch has a good panelled door. In the spandrils of an arched door, on the western side, are two ancient carvings, one representing the cruel martyrdom of St. Lawrence, (broiling on a gridiron,) and the other a number of Danish soldiers shooting arrows into the body of King Edmund, whose head is seen lying in a thicket, as described in the legend. The windows are large and handsome, and were formerly decorated with painted glass, all of which was demolished by the Puritans, in 1643. Here are several good brasses, one of Galfridus Langley, prior of St. Faith's, representing a priest in his surplice, but the canopy has been destroyed. Two others, to the memory of John Asgar and Thos. Childes, bear the respective dates 1436 and 1452. The curfew is still rung at this church at eight o'clock every evening. The rectory was in two medieties, divided between the abbey and the rector, and the yearly payment of a last of herrings was reserved to the former, but the medieties were joined about the reign of William II. It is valued in K.B. at £4. 13s. 9d., and was augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's Bounty in 1764 and '92, and with a parliamentary grant of £1000 in 1813. Its present annual value is £82. The Lord Chancellor is patron, Rev. Edw. Augustus Hillyard, B.A., rector, Wm. Griggs, clerk, and Saml. Drake, sexton. The Church Estate, on which a factory has been built by one of the lessees, is let for £22 a year. It was given by the Rev. John Bobet and Robert Theckstone, in 1535 and 1549. St. Laurence's Well was a public spring in the reign of Edward I., and in 1576 was granted to Robert Gibson, on condition that he should bring the water in a leaden pipe into the public street, and there erect a pump at his own expense.

ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH, Westwick street, has a square tower, with a spacious nave, chancel, and south aisle, which were covered with blue slate in 1830, when four of the five bells were sold to assist in defraying the expense. It is a plain building of the perpendicular period. The rood-stair turret remains on the north side of the church, and on the south side of the altar is a small pedestal, on which the bell rung at mass formerly stood. There is a fine old parish chest in the vestry. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £5. 4s. 9d., and now at £80, was augmented from 1789 to 1814 with £1000 of royal bounty. The Bishop is patron, Rev. John Wm. Cobb, rector, and James Widdowes, sexton.

ST. MARTIN'S-AT-OAK, in Coslany street, has a square tower with three bells, nave, chancel, and south aisle, the latter being an addition made by Alderman Wilkin, who died in 1491. It derived the latter part of its name from a large oak, formerly standing in the churchyard, with the image of St. Mary in it. This was much visited in the reign of superstition, and many legacies were given towards repairing, dressing, and painting it. Another oak was planted on the same spot in 1656, but that now growing in the churchyard was planted about eight years ago. There are a few monuments and brasses in the church; and on one of the former are effigies of Jeremiah Ravans and his wife, in alabaster. She died in 1711, and he in 1727. The south porch is now used as a vestry, and the outer doorway is built up. The building is of flint and stone. It is of perpendicular architecture, and contains some good slender piers. In 1852 the chancel was rebuilt, and a new organ was placed in the church, and in 1862 plain open benches were substituted for the pews in the chancel, at a cost of £40. The benefice is a perpetual curacy, certified at 20s., and now valued at £102. It was augmented with £200, given by William Nockells in 1722, and £1000 of royal bounty, obtained from 1723 to 1824. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, Rev. Chas. Caldwell, B.A., incumbent, and Thomas Kerridge, clerk. The Topers' public house, now let for £9 a year, was given many years ago, by Jonas Bungay, for the repairs of the church.

ST. MARTIN'S-AT-PALACE stands opposite the entrance to the Bishop's Palace. It has a nave with aisles, chancel with aisles, clerestory, and a tower with five bells. It was founded before the Conquest, but the upper portion of the tower is modern. It is of plain perpendicular architecture, and contains a good panelled octagon font, with eight shafts to the stem, and panels between them. The two eastern angles of the chancel have very decided long-and-short work, but it appears to be old material worked up again. The north aisle of the chancel contains a fine altar tomb against the east wall, to the memory of Elizabeth Caltrop. It stands beneath a three-light window of stained glass, inserted by Lord Calthorpe. There is another stained window on the north side of the same chapel. At the east end of the south aisle is a stained window to the memory of the Rev. Thos. Beckwith, M.A., incumbent of this parish from 1781 to 1807, and Jane, his wife, erected by their children in 1861. The east window of the chancel is also filled with stained glass, representing the adoration of the Magi, the Crucifixion, the Resurrection, the Annunciation, Bearing the Cross, and carrying the Sacred Body to the Sepulchre. The building was thoroughly restored and reseated a few years ago, and in 1863 a new organ was placed in it at a cost of £90. In 1300, a boy's singing school was kept here; and in 1500, John Blomefield gave a robe of worsted, lined with blue silk, for the use of the "Boy Bishop." The living is a perpetual curacy, valued at £70, and augmented from 1743 to 1813 with £1800 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, and the Rev. Saml. Bache Harris, M.A., incumbent. The "Parish House" is let for £10. 8s. a year.

ST. MARY'S COSLANY is a fine cruciform perpendicular church, with a tall round tower of flint, containing six bells. There are no aisles. The south porch has a good groined vault and a richly moulded doorway, with a parvise or chamber above. The chancel has a panelled ceiling with rich perforated work. The pulpit is ancient, and has tracery in the upper part of the panels with the linen pattern below, and a perforated iron projection for the book-rest. The font is octagonal, and has painted shields of arms in its upper panels. The rood-stair turret is at the intersection of the north transept and chancel. At the west end of the nave is an old parish chest, and in the south transept is a square-headed foliated piscina. There are several ancient stalls remaining, and in the north wall of the chancel is an Elizabethan tomb of stone, dated 1578, and having incised figures of Martin Vankermbeck, M.D., and his wife. The perpetual curacy was augmented from 1733 to 1824 with £2200 of royal bounty, and is valued at £124. The Marquis of Townshend is patron, Rev. Chas. Morse, LL.B., incumbent, Thomas Hayden, clerk, and James Barker, sexton.

ST. MARY'S-IN-THE-MARSH stood in the cathedral precincts, but was desecrated in 1653, and the only vestige of it remaining is the font in St. Luke's Chapel in the Cathedral, which, though much mutilated, has been very handsome, and had the seven sacraments and the crucifixion carved upon it. The parishioners now use the Bishop's chapel, as noticed at p. 198.

ST. MICHAEL'S COSLANY, commonly called St. Miles, is a spacious and handsome perpendicular church, with a lofty square tower and eight musical bells. The nave was rebuilt by John and Stephen Stallon, who were sheriffs in 1511 and '12. The south aisle was begun by Gregory Clerk, and was finished by his son, who was mayor in 1514. At the east end of the latter is a chapel founded by Robert Thorp, in the reign of Henry VII., dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and encrusted externally with black flints and freestone, forming a peculiar sort of tracery, the appearance of which has been compared to that of certain old cabinets inlaid with ivory. Two of the windows contain some ancient painted glass, but the heads of the figures were taken off to gratify the Puritans in the reign of Cromwell. The interior of the church is handsomely decorated. The altar piece, by Heins, represents the Resurrection and the four Evangelists, and the floor in front is paved with black and white marble, brought from the domestic chapel at Oxnead, and presented by Mr. Wm. Tuck. Here are a few ancient brasses and several modern mural monuments. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., and now at £117, was augmented in 1738 with £200 bequeathed by the Rev. E. Brooke; in 1818, with £200 given by the late rector; and from 1738 to 1818, with £1000 of royal bounty. Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, has the patronage of the living, which is usually given to the oldest bachelor of that college. The Rev. Richard Rigg, M.A., who is also rector of St. Clement's, is the incumbent.

ST. MICHAEL'S-AT-PLEA, on the north side of Queen street, was so named from the Archdeacon of Norwich holding in it his pleas or courts. It is a cruciform church with a low flint tower and a modern bell turret with two bells. Its transepts formerly were chapels dedicated to St. John the Baptist and the Virgin Mary. It contains several old paintings of the crucifixion, resurrection, &c., on the panels. About two years ago the tower was restored at a cost of £250. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 10s., and in 1831 at £85, was augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's Bounty, from 1774 to 1791, and with a parliamentary grant of £1000 in 1816. The lords of the manors of Sprowston and Horsford (Sir T. B. Lennard and J. Morse, Esq.,) are patrons alternately. The Rev. Charles Morse, LL.B., who is also incumbent of St. Mary Coslany, is the rector, and R. Wade, clerk.

ST. MICHAEL'S-AT-THORN, in Ber street, has still a large thorn growing in its churchyard. It is a small church, chiefly perpendicular, and has a tower built in 1436, containing three bells. The south doorway is Norman, and the door has the original ironwork, but the porch is perpendicular. The building has been recently restored and a new organ erected, at a cost of £300. The perpetual curacy, valued at £88, was augmented from 1744 to 1812, with £2000 of Queen Anne's Bounty and parliamentary grants. The Marquis of Lothian is patron, and the Rev. Cyprian T. Rust, incumbent. The church of St. Martin in Balliva stood anciently of a triangular piece of ground near the principal entrance to the barbican of the castle, but was demolished in 1562, and its parish united to that of St. Michael.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, in the square called St. Paul's plain, is an ancient dilapidated building, with a small round tower, the upper part of which was octagonal, but was rebuilt about 1819, of white brick with stone coping. It has some decorated windows, but is chiefly perpendicular. There is a north aisle, and at its east end is a parclose, the two screens of different patterns, but both perpendicular. The perpetual curacy was certified at only £2, but was augmented from 1745 to 1749, with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and is now worth £150. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, and the Rev. Bell Cooke, incumbent.

ST. PETER HUNGATE CHURCH, is on Elm Hill, at the west end of Princess street, which was formerly Hungate, or Hound's-gate, from the hounds anciently kept there for the use of the bishop, or perhaps from "Hun," a hill. The original church was demolished in 1458, when the present one was commenced (and finished in 1460) by John Paston and Margaret, his wife. It is of black flint, in the form of a cross; having a nave, chancel transepts, and square tower with two bells. On a buttress near the north door is represented the old trunk of an oak without any leaves, to signify the decayed church; and from the root springs a branch with acorns upon it, to denote the new church raised where the old one had stood. The east window of the chancel is filled with ancient stained glass, and contains an effigy of Thomas Andrew, who was rector in 1457, with an orate under him. He is clothed in a blue vestment and is kneeling in prayer. In another part of this window a priest is represented administering extreme unction. In the south transept is a piscina and niche, and in the north an ambry. The roof of the nave is ornamented with figures of angels, &c. In 1861, the lath and plaster ceiling which had so long hidden the roof of the chancel and disfigured the noble chancel arch, was entirely removed and the church was much improved at considerable expense. Among the church plate are a very curious wrought standing-cup and cover, inscribed, "Ex dono Thomæ Lane et Mariæ uxoris ejus;" a large paten with the inscription "Deo et ecclesiæ Sancti Petri de Hungate, 1675;" two flagons; an offering dish; and a valuable modern cup, cover, and stand, given by Mr. Thomas Goss, who died in 1779. The porch was built by Nicholas Ingham, mercer, who was buried in it in 1497. One of the bells bears the legend, "In honore Sancti Mariæ Virginis." The rectory, valued in K.B. at £3. 1s. 5½d., and now at £63, was augmented from 1743 to 1810, with £600 of royal bounty. The Lord Chancellor is patron, and the Rev. Saml. Titlow, M.A., has been rector since 1839. The Well by the Elm, on Elm hill, was made a common pump in 1639, and is repaired at the expense of the parish.

ST. PETER MANCROFT, (Magna Crofta,) near the Market place, is a large and handsome cruciform church of freestone mixed with flint, begun in 1430 and finished in 1455, on the site of the old one, which was founded by Earl Ralph Walet. It is a good example of the perpendicular style, and is considered the finest parish church in the city, measuring 212 feet in length and 70 feet in breadth, and having a noble tower 98 feet high, covered with panelling, and containing an excellent peal of twelve bells, a clock, and chimes. The bells weigh 183 cwt. 2 qrs. 14 lbs., and were exchanged for the old peal of ten, in 1775, at a cost of more than £800 raised by public subscription. The tenor weighs 41 cwt. 4 lb., and the ringers are in great celebrity. The nave and aisles are 90 feet long, and the chancel 60. The clustered pillars supporting the roof, with the arches surmounting them, are lofty and slender, and the windows are large and numerous, so that the whole has a light and roomy appearance. The west door is deeply recessed, with rich sculpture in shallow hollow mouldings. There is a good window above it. Under the tower is a sort of large porch, with fine side arches and a groined vault, over which is a gallery open to the church by a lofty tower arch, but now hidden by the organ. The north porches have rich groined vaults, with panelling and tracery, and over the principal one is a parvise. The roof of the nave is of fine open timber work, with a sort of wooden vault over each window like a stone roof. The celestory has seventeen fine windows on each side, with short transoms in the heads, and good tracery. The vaulting shafts are brought down to the bottom of the celestory windows, and have niches under them. There is no chancel arch, the only division being the steps. On each side of the nave is a chapel or small transept. The font stands under a very remarkable perpendicular canopy supported by pillars and forming a baptistry on a raised platform, with room to walk round the font. The original vestry behind the altar under the east window, has two doors, one on each side of the communion table. The corner turrets at the east end are very curious, and have singular open canopies. They are approached by stairs from the vestry. The organ, erected in 1707, is large and finely toned. The crimson furniture of the altar is elegant, and the plate exceedingly grand, especially a superb standing cup and cover, given by Sir Peter Gleane, Knight, in 1633, and embellished with a scriptural account of Abigail bringing presents to David, &c. In the north aisle is a picture representing the delivery of Peter from prison, which was painted by Catton, a native artist, and presented to the church by Ald. Starling, in 1768. The east window is filled with beautiful stained glass, mostly ancient, and in the vestry are several old books, among which is a beautiful manuscript bible, written on vellum, in 1340, and a more ancient manuscript of the Epistles of St. Paul, with a comment, beautifully illuminated. Here are also several old paintings of St. Hilda, St. Barbara, St. Paul, and the Resurrection; and a portrait of the celebrated Sir Thos. Browne. At the west end of the north aisle is a piece of tapestry dated 1573, representing the Ascension, but the colours are much faded. In the vestry is a very curious old coloured carving in alabaster of nine female saints, among which is St. Margaret holding down a dragon. A similar carving representing male saints is preserved in St. Stephen's church. Here is a fine brass to the memory of Sir Peter Reade, dated 1518; and many ancient and modern monuments, but some of the former have lost their inscriptions, and one or two mentioned by Weever are no longer to be found. The church was restored, the pews replaced by open oak benches, and a new pulpit, reading-desk, and altar-rail, handsomely and appropriately carved, were purchased in 1851. During the alterations a vault four or five feet deep was discovered under the stalls of the choir. The outer wall of this vault supported the screen dividing the choir from the nave and aisles, and contained a range of about a dozen earthen jars, placed on their sides, with their mouths open to the vault. The use of these singular jars has never been satisfactorily settled, but similarly placed jars have been found in St. Peter-per-Mountergate Church, at Fountains Abbey, and elsewhere. The benefice is a perpetual curacy, certified at £10, and now valued at £87. It was augmented in 1746 with £200 given by the Rev. J. Francis; with £100 of royal bounty from 1742 to 1810; and with £400 subscribed by the minister and parishioners in 1818. The advowson was formerly attached to the college of St. Mary-in-the-Fields, but afterwards passed into private hands, and in 1581 was conveyed to feoffees, in trust for the parishioners, who purchased it and are still the patrons. The Rev. Chas. Turner, M.A., is the incumbent, and the Rev. John Fletcher Burrell, curate, Jas. Bishop, clerk, and George Potter, sexton. The reader has £4 a year out of a house in Brigg's lane. The "sacramental lecture" is preached in this church on the Fridays preceding the first Sundays in March, July, and November. (See page 202).

ST. PETER-PER-MOUNTERGATE is a large perpendicular church in King street, deriving the latter part of its name from a gate formerly placed near the churchyard, at the foot of the Castle mount; or, as some say, from Parmentergate, parchment-dealers' street. The old church was a rectory in the patronage of Roger Bigod, and was by him given to the prior and convent of Norwich, who, assisted by several benefactions, rebuilt it in 1486. It is covered with lead, and has a nave, chancel, south porch with parvise, and a square embattled tower with five bells and a clock. In the chancel were 24 stalls, which belonged to a college of secular priests, at the north-east corner of the churchyard. There are no aisles, but the side windows are large and lofty. The octagonal rood-stair turret and some portions of an ancient screen have been preserved. There is a good niche outside the vestry, which is under the east window. The building has recently been restored and fitted with open benches, those in the nave being stained deal, and in the chancel, oak. The total cost was about £700. There are 16 ancient stalls in the chancel; and beneath them, a vault with earthen jars similar to that in St. Peter Mancroft, was discovered some years ago. A large enclosed tomb, on the south side of the altar rails, was erected in 1623, and has upon it recumbent effigies of R. Berney, Esq., and his wife, with their family arms and emblematical figures of Faith, Hope, and Charity. In the nave is interred the famous Thomas Codd, who was mayor in Kett's rebellion, and was a great benefactor to the city. The heads of his will are annually read here, on the Sunday before St. Thomas' day. The benefice is now a perpetual curacy, valued at £78, and augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty in 1766, and with a parliamentary grant of £800 in 1812. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. John Durst, incumbent, and John Swash, clerk and sexton. The church of St. John the Evangelist, which stood at the corner of Rose lane, was taken down about 1300, except a small part left for an anchorage; and its parish was annexed to St. Peter-per-Mountergate, as was also that of St. Michael, in Conisford, in 1360, when that church was taken down to make room for the new church of the Austin Friars. St. Vedast's, or St. Faith's church, which stood on the east side of Cooke's Hospital, and was founded in the Confessor's reign, was taken down about 1540, having also been consolidated with St. Peter-per-Mountergate.

ST. PETER'S SOUTHGATE, near the south end of King street, is an ancient church, with a nave, chancel, north chapel, south porch, and a square flint tower in which are three bells. The windows are chiefly square headed, and the architecture is of the late perpendicular period and very poor. There is a good cross on the east gable and some fragments of painted glass in the windows. Part of an old screen remains in front of the north chapel. Here is a brass of a priest, and in the chancel are a piscina and sedilia, the latter being merely a plain stone bench. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £2.17s. 3½d., and now at £61, was appropriated to the abbey of St. Bennet's-at-Holme; and the Bishop of Norwich, as titular abbot of that dissolved convent, still has the patronage. It was augmented, from 1737 to 1792, with £1000 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Jas. Deacon, M.A. Rt. Smith is clerk, and R. J. Merry, sexton. St. Olave's Chapel, which was parochial before the Conquest, but was demolished before 1345, stood near the waterside, a little to the north-east of this church.

ST. SAVIOUR'S CHURCH, near Stump Cross and Magdalen street, is a small perpendicular structure, dedicated to the Transfiguration of our Saviour, and has a square embattled tower with a clock and two bells. It has some modern monuments, and was appropriated in Bishop Oxford's time to the almoner of the cathedral convent. The south porch is now used as a baptistry. The font has an octagonal panelled basin, and is supported by four shafts resting on lions' heads and carried through ogee canopies with pinnacles between them. The perpetual curacy was certified at £3, and is now valued at £103. It was augmented, from 1729 to 1813, with £1800 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. William Harris Cooke, M.A., incumbent, and Robert Brown, sexton.

ST. SIMON and ST. JUDE'S CHURCH, at Elm hill, adjoining Wensum street, has a nave, a chancel, and a low flint and stone tower with five bells. It is of perpendicular architecture, and contains a few old brasses and several monuments of the Pettus family, upon one of which lies, in complete armour, the figure of Sir J. Pettus, the first of the family who was knighted. The tower arch is very fine, but it is blocked by the organ and gallery. In the vestry is a good panelled door, with the figure of St. Simon in one spandril and three fishes entwined in the other. The holy water stoup remains inside the south doorway, and in the chancel are two consecration crosses. This church is of great antiquity, and was held by the bishops before the removal of the See to Norwich. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £3.10s., and now at £65, was augmented from 1718 to 1799, with £2000 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Bishop is patron, the Rev. John Fras. Osborne, rector, and Jph. Metcalf, clerk. A house, left for the repairs of the church by Sir J. Pettus, in 1613, is let on lease for £3, but is worth £18 a year.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH, at the west end of Rampant Horse street, is a large and handsome edifice of late perpendicular architecture, with a nave and clerestory, two aisles, a chancel, two small chapels, and a square tower. The nave is divided from the aisles by fluted columns with pointed arches. The windows are large and numerous, and that at the east end is filled with stained glass, representing the whole history of the Blessed Virgin's life, and dated 1610. This church was founded before the Conquest, but has been all rebuilt at different periods—the chancel about 1520, and the nave in 1550. The roof is a fine specimen of open timber work, and is richly carved. The tower stands on the north side of the church, and beneath it is the porch. Near the south door is an old altar stone on which the crosses are still visible. The organ was purchased in 1814. The church contains some ancient stalls, nine old brasses, and many neat mural monuments of the last and present centuries. It was thoroughly restored and re-seated in 1859, at a cost of £1500, and a new carved pulpit and reading-desk were erected at the same time. In the vestry is a manuscript description of the church, written by Benjamin Mackerell, author of a history of Lynn; also an alabaster carving, similar in execution to that in the neighbouring church of St. Peter, except that these are all male saints. A curious draughtsman of bone, found in the churchyard a few years ago, and supposed to be of Danish workmanship, is in the collection of R. Fitch, Esq., F.G.S. The benefice is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £9, and now at £212. It was augmented, from 1715 to 1812, with £1000 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. Chas. Baldwin, vicar, Rev. J. S. Owen, B.A., curate, and Wm. Browne, clerk. The yearly rent of £10 from land and buildings, left by John Atkins, in 1558, is carried to the churchwardens' account, as also are the rents of £11 from buildings left by Francis Beales, in 1633, and £21 from a house, &c., left by Richard Brown, in 1616.

ST. SWITHIN'S CHURCH, between St. Benedict's street and Lower Westwick street, is a small building with a square tower and three bells. The roof of the nave is supported on one side by modern square pillars and Tudor arches, and on the other by octagonal fluted columns and pointed arches of the perpendicular period. The side windows of the aisles are all decorated, the clerestory and roof late perpendicular. The east window is modern, but contains two small portions of ancient stained glass bearing symbolical representations of the Sacred Trinity and the Blessed Sacrament. The tower arch is lofty, but plain. The rood-stair turret still exists, and part of the old screen still remains with figures of dogs for poppies. It is about four feet high, and does not appear to have ever been higher. On a panel belonging to this screen, but now loose and kept in the vestry, is a portrait of Edward the Confessor, of the time of Henry VII., which was found in 1834, nailed under one of the seats, where it is supposed to have been placed for security during the civil wars, or perhaps at the Reformation. The altar-piece is a painting of Moses and Aaron, and the plate is valuable. On the font are carved emblems of the Trinity, with the arms of East Anglia. There are several brasses, and some stalls with misereres remaining. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 3s. 4d., and now at £105, was augmented in 1755, with £200 given by Earl Harcourt, and from 1744 to 1816, with £1600 of royal bounty. The Bishop is patron, the Rev. Robert Cory Cavell, incumbent, and Howlett Willimont, clerk.

The nine Churches in the Hamlets of the city are as follow:—EARLHAM CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, is a small building, on the east bank of the Yare, about two miles W. of the Market place. It is chiefly of very poor and plain decorated architecture; but the south porch which has a parvise, the west window, the rood screen, and the font, are of the perpendicular period. There is a small chapel on the north side, and at the west end is a low square embattled tower containing three bells and finely mantled with ivy. The chancel has arches recessed in the walls, and contains a decorated piscina with cinquefoil head. In the churchyard is the lid of a stone coffin, ornamented with a floriated cross. The east window is filled with stained glass; and the altar-piece is of carved oak, and was given by John Gurney and his wife, in 1843. Here are mural tablets of the Bacon, Lubbock, and other families. The church was restored, at a cost of £250, in 1861. The perpetual curacy, valued in K.B. at £5. 7s. 8½d., and now at £120, with Bowthorpe vicarage annexed, is in the patronage of F. Bacon Frank, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. John Hervey Payne, B.A. Wm. Green is the clerk. EATON CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew the Apostle, stands also on the Yare, about two miles west of St. Stephen's gate, and is a long ancient fabric, covered with thatch and having an embattled tower with three bells. It was originally a Norman structure, but appears to have been rebuilt in the early English period, and to have been considerably altered in the latter part of the 15th century. The chancel contains a trefoil-headed piscina, and a plain recess for the sedilia. Near the north door is a holy water stoup, and there are still some vestiges of the doorway of the staircase which led to the rood loft. About two years ago the church was thoroughly restored at a cost of about £400, when a number of beautiful mural paintings were discovered, many of them in a very perfect state of preservation and others much injured. Amongst them were well executed figures of St. John the Baptist, St. John the Evangelist, St. Helen, and St. Jane de Valois, and a highly interesting representation of the martyrdom of Thomas à Becket, containing six figures, that of Becket having been purposely defaced, in compliance with the edict of Henry VIII. for destroying all memorials of the martyr. These paintings have been again hidden by the colouring of the walls. The living is a vicarage, not in charge, valued at £87, and augmented in 1732, with £200 given by the Earl of Thanet, and £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, the Rev. Geo. Day, M.A., incumbent, and Samuel Perfect, clerk. HEIGHAM CHURCH, dedicated to St. Bartholomew, stands on an eminence above the Wensum, about a mile W. by N. of the Market place, and is a small perpendicular structure, with a nave, south aisle, north porch, chancel, and a square tower in which are three bells. It has a mural monument to the memory of the pious Bishop Hall, who was buried here in 1656; and others to members of the Seaman, Hangar, Haylett, Smith, Unthank, Parr, and Robins families. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and now at £211. The Bishop is patron, the Rev. George Chas. Hoste, M. A., incumbent, and the Revs. Wm. Bishop, H. Hetherington, and W. T. Morse, B.A., curates. TRINITY CHURCH, in Heigham parish, was commenced in August, 1859, and consecrated in August, 1861, to supply the great want of church accommodation which had long been felt in the southern part of this rapidly increasing suburb of the city. It stands in Essex street, near Unthank's road, and is a large and handsome building of the decorated style, and consists of nave, transepts, and apsidal chancel, with a tower containing one bell and surmounted by a slated spire rising to the height of 120 feet. The extreme length of the church is 135 feet, and there are 1120 sittings, of which more than 500 are free. The total cost, including £700 paid for the site, was about £7000. Its ecclesiastical duties are performed by the rector of Heigham and his curates. The parish or hamlet of Heigham increased its population from 854, in 1801, to 13,894, in 1861; and until the completion of Trinity Church, a building in Union place, originally a Baptist Chapel, was used as a chapel of ease, having been purchased and altered for that purpose in 1838, at a cost of £624; but it is now converted into a school. HELLESDEN CHURCH, about two miles W.N.W. of the Market place, stands in Taverham Hundred, though part of the churchyard is within the county of the city. It is dedicated to St. Mary, and is a small building of mixed decorated and perpendicular architecture, with nave, chancel, north aisle, south porch with parvise, and an octagonal turret containing one bell, and surmounted by a small wooden spire. The porch was restored about four years ago, by W. Delane, Esq., at a cost of £50, and the windows were restored and filled with stained glass at the expense of J. H. Gurney, Esq., M.P. The north aisle contains some fine brasses of the latter part of the 14th century. The font is antique, and there is a double piscina remaining, and also a low side window. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £12, and now at £700, is consolidated with Drayton, in the gift of the Bishop, and incumbency of the Rev. Hinds Howell, B.A. The Rev. D. S. Govett, M.A., is the curate, and George Ricebrook, clerk. LAKENHAM CHURCH, about 1½ mile S. of the Market place, stands on an abrupt acclivity above the river Yare, and is a small structure, dedicated to St. John the Baptist and All Saints. It has a tower with three bells. There are a trefoil-headed piscina and a square ambry in the chancel; and the font, which is panelled and of the perpendicular period, has the emblems of the evangelists upon it. The benefice is a vicarage, united to Trowse-Newton, and with it valued at £361, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter, and incumbency of the Rev. Alfred Pownall, M.A.; Matthew Ollett is the clerk. ST. MARK'S CHURCH, in Lakenham, was consecrated Sept. 24th, 1844, and is a commodious structure of debased perpendicular architecture, consisting of nave, (without aisles,) and an embattled tower with turrets, pinnacles, and three bells. It has about 900 sittings, most of which are free, and was finished at the cost of more than £4000, all raised by subscription, except £500 given by the Incorporated Society for Building and Enlarging Churches. It is situated in the now populous suburb called New Lakenham, in a burial ground of two acres. The interior has commodious galleries, and is neatly fitted up. The font, communion plate, table, &c., were presented by several ladies, and the books for divine service by the Dean. The east window is of five lights, and contains representations in stained glass of the four Evangelists, and St. Peter and St. Andrew. The perpetual curacy, valued at £150, is in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter, and incumbency of the Rev. Nicholas Thomas Garry, M.A. The Rev. John Leach, B.A., is the curate, and Wm. Howe Garnham, clerk. The parish or hamlet of Lakenham increased its population from 428 in 1801, to 4866 in 1861, and is now divided into two ecclesiastical districts. CHRIST CHURCH, in New Catton, is a chapel of ease in the improving parish of St. Clement, which increased its population from 853 souls in 1801, to 3961 in 1861. It is a neat structure of flint and brick, in the early English style, and comprises nave, chancel, transepts, and a bell turret at the west end. It was finished in Nov. 1841, at a cost of about £2500, and has sittings for £600 hearers. It was built by subscription, and by the same means £800 have been invested for its endowment, and £200 for its reparation. The rector of St. Clement's is patron of the perpetual curacy, valued at £150, and now in the incumbency of the Rev. Robt. Wade, B.A. ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH, in Thorpe hamlet, on the south-east side of the city, was built in 1852, at a cost of £2300, for an ecclesiastical district comprising that part of Thorpe parish within the city liberties and now containing about 2500 inhabitants. It is a neat structure of Norman architecture, consisting of nave, transepts, and apsidal chancel. The five windows of the latter are filled with stained glass. The rector of Thorpe is patron of the perpetual curacy, valued at £130, which is now held by the Rev. George Harris Cooke, M.A., who has a handsome parsonage house, erected in 1863, at a cost of £1400, in the Tudor style.

THE DUTCH CHURCH, as has been seen at page 175, occupies the choir of St. Andrew's Hall, and was formerly the choir of the conventual church of the Black Friars. It is 100 feet long and 32 feet wide, without aisles or clerestory, and was originally lighted by ten noble five-light perpendicular windows, and an east window of seven lights of late decorated pattern, of enormous size and beautiful tracery. Some of these windows have been recently restored, and the roof, which is modern, retains a few pieces of old carving, some of which appear to represent St. Matthew, but all the old fittings are long since gone. For some time this church was used as a chapel for the corporation, who leased it to the Dutch for 200 years, in 1713; but in 1805 the lease was re-granted to the corporation for the use of the poor in the Workhouse, reserving to the Dutch congregation the right of burying their dead in the church, and of preaching one sermon yearly in their own language, and by their own minister, who comes from London for that purpose. It is endowed with £50 a year, of which £30 is paid to the Dutch minister, and the rest is divided among the few poor descendants of Dutch families now residing in the city. A religious body, calling itself the "Free Christian Church," and which originated in a secession from the Unitarian congregation, has, with the concurrence of the corporation, occupied the building since 1860, when the new Workhouse having been completed, it was no longer required for the use of the paupers. About £630 were expended in refitting and adapting it to its present purpose, and the Rev. Joseph Crompton is the minister.

THE FRENCH CHURCH, in Queen street, formerly belonged to the parish of St. Mary the Less, which being united to that of St. George soon after the Reformation, this church was granted by the Dean and Chapter, for 500 years to the city, at 4d. yearly rent. It was afterwards used as a hall for the sale of yarn; country dealers being prohibited from selling any where else in the city. In 1637, it was granted by the corporation on lease to the French or Walloon congregation, who afterwards obtained a grant of it in fee. Dutch and Flemish artizans were very numerous in Norwich as early as the reign of Edward III., (see page 149,) and they were greatly increased in the reign of Elizabeth, by the arrival of the Walloons and other Protestant refugees who had fled from the religious persecution of the Duke of Alva, in the Netherlands. They for some years assembled for religious worship under the Dutch pastor, but when most of the old Dutch families had died off, and their language had become neglected by the trading world for the French, the greater part of the foreigners then in the city formed themselves into a French or Walloon Congregation, which became extinct about 40 years ago, the descendants of the settlers having gradually given up the use of the French or Walloon language, and joined other religious denominations. The church is now let to the Swedenborgians, on condition that they keep it in repair. It is a small and venerable edifice, with a square tower, nave, and chancel, but so closely encompassed with houses and other buildings, that very little of the exterior can be seen. Charities for the French or Walloon Congregation, left by Eliz. Taverneirs, in 1686; Thomas Blondell, in 1730; Elisha Philipe, in 1671; and James Damee, in 1717, produce about £150 per annum, arising from freehold and copyhold estates and two annuities. These charities, with unapplied income amounting to about £1000, (held by the Martineau family,) were made the subject of a suit in Chancery in 1832, and the defendants submitted themselves to the decision of the court for the future application of the charities, the Walloon congregation being extinct. Pursuant to a decree of the Court, fifteen trustees were appointed, and by them the yearly income arising from these charities is applied towards the support of the French Protestant Hospital in London, except £50 per annum for apprenticing five poor boys in Norwich.

The ROMAN CATHOLICS have two churches in Norwich. St. John's, in the parish of St. John Maddermarket, is one of the oldest Roman Catholic Churches in England. It is a plain brick building, erected in 1794, previous to which the congregation had attended the chapel in the Duke's palace. It is commodiously fitted up, but is shortly to be replaced by a larger and handsomer church, which is to be built upon its site. The roof is supported by two rows of slender pillars, and over the altar is a painting of the Crucifixion. The Very Rev. John Dalton, Canon of Northampton, is the priest, and is well known as a Spanish and German scholar, and as the author and translator of several religious and historical works. The Church of the Holy Apostles in Willow lane, is a handsome building of white brick, exhibiting both the Corinthian and Ionic orders of architecture, and was erected in 1828 by the college of Jesuits, at Stonyhurst, to be used instead of the old chapel in St. Swithin's lane, on the site of which a school was built in 1859, at a cost of £1300. The church is 90 feet long and 40 feet wide, and is elegantly fitted up; the decorations of the interior having great richness in their general effect, and peculiar quaintness in their details. Over the altar, which stands in an apsis, is a large fresco painting on a gold ground, representing the coronation of the Virgin in Heaven, which from its gorgeous colouring and beautiful execution is well worth inspection. The entire sanctuary is painted in gold and colours, with rich scroll work and diapering; and the ceiling of the church, the pilasters, window splays, and organ pipes are similarly decorated. The altar is a copy of that in the church of St. Ambrose, at Milan, which dates from the year 850. It is richly coloured and gilt, and in the centre of the front is a painting of our Saviour, surrounded by the emblems of the apostles and evangelists. All the windows are filled with beautiful stained glass, containing full length figures of the Good Shepherd, the Virgin Mary, and the Apostles. The Rev. Wm. Mitchell and the Hon. and Rev. Jph. Maxwell are the priests.

The UNITARIANS occupy the Octagon Chapel, in Colegate street, erected in 1756, on the site of the old Presbyterian Meeting House, built in 1687, at a cost of £174. 15s. 8d. As its name imports, it is of an octagon plan, and has a portico supported by four Ionic columns. Its beautiful dome roof is sustained by eight fluted Corinthian columns, and the interior is admirably arranged. The Rev. Jas. D. H. Smyth is the present minister. For endowment, see Chapman's Charity and the Presbyterian School.

The INDEPENDENTS, or Congregationalists, assembled in Norwich before the year 1640, under the ministry of the Rev. W. Bridges, M.A., in a brew-house in St. Edmund's parish. In 1693, they completed the erection of the Old Meeting House, in Colegate street, St. Clement's. This is a large and handsome square building of brick, with Corinthian pilasters and other ornaments, and was built on land leased from the corporation, who held it for the benefit of the Girls' Hospital; but the freehold was purchased in 1862 for £523, raised by subscription. The Rev. John Hallett is the minister. For its endowment, see Chapman's Charity and Balderstone's School. The Independents have another Chapel, in Princes street, of white brick, erected in 1819, at a cost of £4500, including £1000 paid for the land. It will seat 1000 hearers, and is now under the pastoral care of the Rev. John Alexander. Adjoining it is a large Sunday school, with numerous class-rooms, built in 1800, at a cost of £1300. The Chapel-in-the-Fields is a substantial and elegant building, which was erected by the Congregationalists at the cost of about £6500 between the years 1858 and 1862, and will seat about 900 persons. It is in the Norman style, and is surmounted by two turrets, each eighty feet high. In the front is a Catherine-wheel window of a more foreign type than is usually found in England, beneath which is a small arcade, and under it an open porch, with three Portland-stone arches. The interior is divided into nave and aisles by iron columns, which are carried quite up to the roof. The nave has a semi-circular roof, and is finished at the pulpit end by an apse, lighted by four stained glass windows and containing an organ. At right angles to the nave are five bays, arched and ceiled, in which are galleries. Behind the chapel are lofty school and class rooms, vestries, &c., of similar architecture. The Rev. Philip Colborne is the minister.

The BAPTISTS have eight chapels in Norwich, but several of them are small. The General Baptists first congregated in 1686, in a hired building; but they subsequently purchased part of the White Friary in Cowgate street, St. James', on the site of which the present chapel was erected in 1812. It has an endowment of about £75 per annum, bequeathed in 1778, by Mr. Grantham Killingworth, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. Hy. Wilkinson. The Particular, or Calvinistic Baptists, assembled about the same period as the General Baptists, and in 1744, purchased a Chapel in Southgate, St. Mary's, which was rebuilt in a more handsome manner in 1811, and enlarged in 1838, at a cost of £1000. It has a very beautiful vaulted roof. The Rev. George Gould is the minister. They have a larger Chapel in Colegate street, St. Clement's, built in 1814, at a cost of £5000, for the congregation which had previously assembled in Peacock street, and is now under the pastoral care of the Rev. Thomas Archibald Wheeler. The Chapel in Pottergate street, of which the Rev. Henry Trevor is the minister, was built in 1790, as also was Providence Chapel, in Pitt street, which was enlarged in 1818. The Chapel on Timber Hill, was a warehouse, but was purchased by the Particular Baptists and converted into a chapel, at a cost of £1150, in 1832, and the Rev. John Corbitt is its minister. Ebenezer Chapel, Surrey road, was built in 1854, and is a large building, with sittings for 1500 persons. The Rev. Robert Govett is the minister. The Friends' Meeting House, in Gildengate, is also rented by the Particular Baptists.

METHODISTS.—The Revs. John and Charles Wesley paid their first visit to this city in 1754, but for several years their votaries were few in number, and were treated for some time with much ridicule and persecution, so that they had no settled place of worship here till 1769, when they built a small chapel in Cherry lane, where the late Dr. Adam Clark was stationed in 1783, and began to display that mighty genius which afterwards "burst forth with so much splendour on the world." The Wesleyan Methodists have only one chapel in Norwich. It is in Lady lane, and was built in 1824. Here are two chapels belonging to the "United Methodist Free Church." That in Calvert street was erected in 1810 by the Wesleyan Methodists, and is a large brick edifice, with about 1000 sittings and two houses for the ministers. The other is in Crooke's place, and was opened in 1839. The Primitive Methodists have chapels on St. Catherine's plain, Cowgate, and Dereham road.

LADY HUNTINGDON'S CONNEXION occupy the TABERNACLE, near St. Martin's-at-Palace, built by the Calvinistic Methodists under Mr. Wheatley in the year 1772, at a cost of £1752, previous to which their temporary chapel on Timber hill had been unroofed and its windows broken by a misguided mob. In 1775, the Tabernacle was sold to the Countess of Huntingdon, who visited Norwich in the following year and vested the building in trust with four clergymen and three laymen, to appoint ministers whose preaching and sentiments are according to the articles and homilies of the Church of England. It has 1000 sittings. The present minister is the Rev. Hugh Adolphus Campbell, M.A. There is also a small Huntingdonian Chapel on the Dereham road, erected in 1859 by the Rev. John Joseph Jas. Kempster, its minister.

The SOCIETY OF FRIENDS forms a numerous and respectable body in this city, where it originated in the days of its indefatigable founder, George Fox, who was here in 1655, 1659, and 1667. During his first visit to Norfolk, he was taken up, with his companion, by hue and cry, and carried before a justice on a charge of having broken into a dwelling-house on a certain night. The plot appears to have been poorly contrived, as it turned out that both had lodged during the night in question at Captain Lawrence's, at Wramplingham. "The magistrate regretted that they had not been found guilty, and they sharply rebuked him on the impropriety of his conduct. The constable is said to have been much disappointed at their acquittal, for he had looked with longing eyes on the two horses which they had rode, expecting to have them for his trouble, if the 'culprits' had been committed to the castle. Capt. Lawrence, on becoming a Quaker, had abandoned the profession of arms." The history of this society is full of the many hardships its members endured in imprisonment, fines, &c., until the time of the Revolution, when a milder system prevailed. In 1683 John Gurney and 14 others were committed to Norwich gaol for refusing to take the oath of allegiance, which was again tendered to them in 1685, but they still refused it, and were consequently re-committed to prison, nor does it appear when they were released. Their objection was merely because it was an oath, and not to its contents, for all the friends voluntarily signed a declaration of allegiance in an address to the members of the city. This persecuted John Gurney was the direct ancestor and the founder of the fortune of the present numerous family of the Gurneys, to whom Norwich owes so much of its prosperity, and many of whom are now filling the most distinguished stations in the commercial world. His son was a man of eloquence, a preacher in the society, and a great friend of Sir Robert Walpole, who wished him to exchange the Friends' gallery for the House of Commons. The Friends have two MEETING HOUSES in Norwich, one in Goat lane, erected in 1676, but rebuilt in 1826; and the other in Gilden croft, built in 1680, on an acre of land purchased in 1670 for £72. The latter building is a large square fabric, with a roof supported by two lofty oak pillars cut out of single trees, and is said to be the oldest chapel in Norwich. It is now let to a congregation of Particular Baptists, but the burial-ground is still used by the Friends. The present Meeting House, in Goat lane, is a handsome building of white brick with stone dressings, and has a Doric portico with four columns upon an elevated landing of four steps. The general proportions of the building are in unison with the Grecian style, but divested of many of its ornaments. The centre part of the building, fitted up for divine service, is about 60 feet by 40, and receives most of its light from a large dome lantern. Behind this is another building 40 feet by 25, used by the female Friends at their quarterly meetings. A sum of money was some time ago left by one John Jackson, for the purpose of apprenticing children of members of the Society of Friends; and in accordance with a new scheme established in 1863, when the dividends are not all required for that object, the surplus is devoted to educational purposes.

The SWEDENBORGIANS occupy the French Church, as already noticed at page 219; and the JEWS, who are but few in number, have a Synagogue in Synagogue lane, St. Faith's lane, built in 1849, at a cost of £1600. It is a brick building with stone dressings and a small doric portico. The MORMONITES have a small chapel in St. Paul's opening, built in 1848; and the members of the CATHOLIC APOSTOLIC CHURCH meet in a room in Clement's court, Redwell street.

The ROSARY CEMETERY, in Thorpe hamlet, near Foundry bridge, was established in 1819, by the late Rev. Thomas Drummond, who being aware that many of the burial grounds attached to the Dissenters' places of worship in Norwich, are held on leases under the Corporation, and considering that most of the churchyards had, from long appropriation, become objectionable, had for some time urged the necessity of a general cemetery on freehold land, so securely vested in trust that it could not at any subsequent period be perverted to other uses. The Rosary occupies about eight acres of land, commanding a fine view of the city and surrounding country, and vested in trustees on behalf of the holders of shares. It is divided into sections, separated by plantings of trees and shrubs, and contains a small chapel or oratory. It is not consecrated, and ministers of any denomination may officiate at funerals, there being no regular chaplain. Mr. Britiffe Edmund Dew is the superintendent, and resides at the Cemetery.

The NORWICH CEMETERY at Heigham, on the west side of the city, comprises about 35 acres of land, prettily laid out and planted. It was formed, at a cost of £7000, by the Burial Board established by the Corporation in 1856 for that purpose. Part of the ground is consecrated for members of the Church of England, and the remainder is for the use of Dissenters, except small portions set apart for Roman Catholics and Jews. There are entrances from the Earlham and Dereham roads. The two principal chapels are of early English architecture, with porches and apsidal terminations. The one which is consecrated has also a bell. There is a small chapel for the use of the Jews; and one for Roman Catholics will probably be built. The Rev. J. J. Kempster is chaplain of the unconsecrated portion, and the clergy attend the funerals of their respective parishioners. Cornelius Taylor and Jas. Wm. Self are the superintendents of the Cemetery. The average number of interments is 1400 per annum. Arthur Preston, Esq., is the registrar, and also clerk to the Burial Board, which consists of fourteen members of the Corporation.

The RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES of Norwich are as numerous and as liberally supported as those of most other places. The Norfolk and Norwich Auxiliary Bible Society, under the presidency of the Bishop, was established in 1811, since which it has distributed 323,000 bibles, and remitted to the Parent Society more than £120,000. The Norfolk and Norwich Church Missionary Association was instituted in 1813, for the propagation of Christianity throughout the world, especially in Africa and the East, and since that period it has raised more than £70,000. The Norwich Diocesan Committee of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge has its depositary at Mr. S. Waller's, St. Andrew's hill. During the year 1862, 947 bibles, 458 testaments, 2045 prayer-books, 9078 tracts, and 6544 other books were sold at reduced prices, and a donation of £50 was remitted in the same year to the Parent Society. The Prayer Book and Homily Society has its depositary at Mr. Buckenham's, Tombland. The Norwich Diocesan Association of the Incorporated Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in foreign parts, remits to that institution about £3000 a year, and here is also an Association for Promoting Christianity among the Jews, founded in 1821. The Norwich Diocesan Church Building Association was established in 1836, and since that time has contributed more than £5000 towards the erection of new, or the rebuilding and enlargement of old churches. The Norfolk Book Hawking Association was established in 1855, for the sale throughout the county, by the agency of licensed hawkers, of bibles, prayer-books, tracts, and books and prints of a religious and instructive character. By its aid more than 21,000 such publications are annually disposed of, chiefly amongst farm labourers and servants. Its depôt is in the Upper close, and the Bishop is president, and the Rev. H. Howes and Mr. T. W. Hansell central secretaries. Here are also many other societies for the spread of religion, and especially for the support and dissemination of the principles of the Church of England. The City Mission Society, established in 1836, is supported by all religious denominations, and employs six or seven missionaries of both sexes, who visit the houses of the poor for the purpose of imparting religious instruction, in addition to which they are often the means of bringing seasonable relief to distressed families in times of sickness and poverty. In connection with it is a Female Refuge, in Church path, New Lakenham, which has been the means of restoring many fallen young women to respectable life; and of which Miss Mills is matron.

The first SUNDAY SCHOOL in this city was established in St. Stephen's parish, in 1785, and since then others have been attached to most of the churches and chapels, and ample provision has been made for the education of those poor children who can attend, for instruction during six days in the week, as will be seen in the following summary view of the endowed and other CHARITY SCHOOLS, which are attended by upwards of 5000 day scholars, many of whom are clothed as well as educated, and some of them likewise maintained, but most of them pay 1d. or 2d. per week towards the expense of books, slates, &c. In addition to these, here are upwards of 8000 Sunday scholars.

The FREE GRAMMAR SCHOOL, which now occupies the Charnel house, near the west end of the Cathedral, was founded by Bishop Salmon, in 1325, and annexed to a small collegiate chantry. At the dissolution of this college, the corporation, by their Hospital charter, granted in the first of Edward VI., were required to find a master and usher, and to remunerate them out of the ample revenues assigned to them by that charter. This trust was transferred in 1836 from the corporation to the "Charity Trustees." The school was originally kept in the fratory of the Black Friars, but after the Reformation it was removed to the Charnel-house, where the apartments of the chaplains were converted into a dwelling for the master, and the chapel appropriated for the school-room. The master's salary was only £10 a year, but was advanced by the corporation in 1562, to £20; in 1602, to £26. 13s. 4d.; in 1610, to £40; in 1636, to £50; in 1833, to £80; and by the new scheme recently obtained, to its present amount. In 1568 and '9, five scholarships were founded by Archbishop Parker, at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, three of them for boys born at Norwich, and educated there or at Aylsham, and two of them for natives of Norwich, Wymondham, or Aylsham, and students of their respective schools. Two of the scholars sent from Norwich were entitled to be preferred to the "Norwich Fellowships" in the same college. By the statutes framed May 16th, 1860, there is now in lieu of these scholarships, &c., an exhibition of £24 a year, and a set of rooms in Corpus Christi College, to which the scholars of Norwich, Wymondham, and Aylsham respectively have the preference. John Caius, M.D., who died in 1573, ordered his executors to purchase lands of the yearly value of £100, and settle them on Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, where he appropriated his fellowships and scholarships to his own countrymen of the diocese and city of Norwich. In 1618, Wm. Branthwait founded four scholarships of £5 per annum each, at Emmanuel College, Cambridge. In 1626, John Gostlin, M.D., gave £5 per annum each at Gonville and Caius College, to four scholars born in the city of Norwich. In 1635, Matthew Stockby founded, in the same college, three scholarships of £5 each, and a fellowship of £15; two out of the three to be occupied by persons born in Norwich, but all three to be appointed by the Bishop of Ely. The fellow has also 20s. and the scholars 10s. each per annum, for the rents of their chambers. In 1688, John Cosin, Bishop of Durham, left to the same college £28 a year for three scholarships, to be held by boys born in Norwich, and taught at the grammar school. In 1659, Edw. Coleman charged his estate at Wymondham with a yearly rent charge of £20, towards the maintenance of four scholars from the schools of Norwich and Wymondham, in either University. It was formerly the custom in this school for the head boy to deliver a Latin oration from the school porch to the mayor and corporation on the guild-day, after which the orator was conveyed in the mayor's carriage to the guild dinner. In 1858, a new scheme for the management of the school was settled by the Court of Chancery, and the following 21 trustees were appointed, viz:—The Hon. and Very Rev. the Dean of Norwich, Sir Wm. Foster, Bart., Sir Samuel Bignold, Knt., Rev. Charles Turner, Rev. G. C. Hoste, Rev. J. Crompton, and E. Freestone, C. Evans, J. Barwell, D. Dalrymple, F. J. Blake, R. Chamberlin, R. W. Blake, J. G. Johnson, J. Longe, W. Birkbeck, E. Willett, O. Springfield, J. O. Taylor, J. J. Colman, and G. Middleton, Esqrs. By this scheme the admission of free boys was ordered to be discontinued, and the school was divided into two departments, one to be called the Grammar or Upper School, and the other to occupy new and separate buildings erected for the purpose, and to be called the Commercial or Lower School. All boys of the age of eight, who can read and write and are free from any disease, are admissible to either school on application to the governors, and paying in advance £2. 12s. 6d. per quarter at the Grammar, and 13s. per quarter at the Commercial school. There is an annual exhibition of £50 a year, tenable for three years, given by the Governors to the boy who passes the best examination in June, and is proceeding to the University. The Monk Prize, founded by the late Dr. Maltby, Bishop of Durham, for the promotion of classical scholarship, amounts to about £12 per annum, being the interest of £350 invested in the 3 per cents. There are also many book prizes given to the amount of nearly £100 a year. The head master of the Grammar School is the Rev. Augustus Jessopp, M.A., who has a house free of rent, rates, and taxes, a salary of £200 a year, and a capitation fee of four guineas per annum for each boy in the school. The sub-master, the Rev. C. P. Lanchester, M.A., has a yearly stipend of £100, and a capitation fee of 28s. for each boy; and the mathematical master, the Rev. F. E. M. MacCarthy, M.A., has £80 a year, and 28s. for each boy. All three receive boarders in their houses. There are several assistant masters, as well as German, French and drawing masters. There are generally about 110 pupils at the Grammar School. Among the eminent men educated here are recorded the names of Archbishops Parker and Tennison, of Canterbury; Bishops Cosin and Maltby, of Durham; Bishop Green, of Norwich; Dr. Caius, Sir Edwd. Coke, Erasmus Earle, a celebrated lawyer; Wild, the orientalist; Rajah Sir Jas. Brooke, Stillingfleet, the naturalist; Admiral Lord Nelson, Archdeacon Goddard, Headley, the poet; Dr. Samuel Clarke, Dr. Edward Browne, and many other worthies. A statue of Lord Nelson stands in the Upper close, in front of the Grammar School.

The COMMERCIAL SCHOOL is on the west side of the cloister attached to St. Andrew's Hall, and was built in 1861-'2, at a cost of more than £2000. It is of coloured brick, with stone columns to the windows, doors, &c., in the Venetian Gothic style, and contains a fine schoolroom, 112 feet long, with three class rooms beneath, and a house for the head master. Three sides of the cloister of the Black Friars serves as a corridor for the boys, the central space being a playground. Mr. T. R. Pinder is the head master, and there are three assistant masters, besides French and drawing masters. There are about 130 scholars.

The NORWICH CHARITY SCHOOLS, established in 1708, and supported by benefactions, annual subscriptions, and the weekly payment of 1d. or 2d. by each of the children, are nine in number, and afford instruction on the National system to more than 700 boys and 400 girls. The Central or Model School for Boys, is in Princes street, St. Peter Hungate; and that for Girls, in St. Andrew's Broad street. The other seven are the Maneroft School, attended by about 150 boys, and two in each of the parishes of St. Paul, St. Martin-at-Oak, and St. Julian, for boys and girls. Annual subscribers of £1, and benefactors of £10 and upwards, are trustees for the management of these schools, the expenditure of which in 1862 amounted to £834, of which £400 were derived from the payments of the scholars, and £100 from the rent of an estate of 57A. 3R. 24P., at Walpole St. Peter, left by John Risebrow, in 1721, towards the endowment of Maneroft School, where most of the boys are provided with coats yearly by the trustees, and where the master receives £15 a year, left by John and Eliz. Adley, in 1729, for the instruction of four boys of Catton, and two of St. Peter Maneroft. Six or eight girls are instructed and clothed at one of the charity schools, at the cost of £11 a year from Revan's Charity to the parish of St. Martin-at-Oak. In 1721, Susanna Cooke bequeathed to these schools one-third part of the dividends of £375 four per cent. stock. In 1761, James Elmy left £400 three per cent. stock, and directed the yearly dividends to be applied in apprenticing poor children from these schools. For the same purpose. John Moy left £1000 in 1770. In 1838, Edward Manning left for the same purpose £4000 three per cent. stock. From the proceeds of these three charities, about 20 boys and 4 girls are apprenticed yearly with premiums of about £10 each. The Rev. Canon Heaviside is treasurer to the trustees of the nine Charity Schools, which are in connection, as to discipline, with the following District Schools.

The DISTRICT SCHOOL OF ST. STEPHEN'S, established about 40 years ago, for the associated parishes of St. Stephen, St. John Timberhill, St. Michael-at-Thorn, and All Saints, now occupies a large and handsome building at the top of Surrey street, erected in 1840, and having three school-rooms for boys, girls, and young children, to the number of about 300. In St. Benedict's street is a large DISTRICT SCHOOL for the parishes of St. Peter Maneroft, St. John Maddermarket, St. Giles, St. Gregory, St. Lawrence, and St. Margaret, attended by 150 boys and 120 girls. The DISTRICT SCHOOLS situated without St. Augustine's gates, were erected by Wm. Geary, Esq., and opened in January, 1838, chiefly for the benefit of the poor of the populous neighbourhoods of St. Martin-at-Oak, New Catton, and St. Augustine. They form a neat brick building, in the later style of pointed architecture, comprising three rooms for boys, girls, and infants. There are also National Schools for St. John de Sepulchre, St. Giles, Pockthorpe, Trowse, St. Martin's-at-Palace, St. Matthew's, St. Mark's, and Heigham. All these schools are supported by subscription, and small weekly payments from the scholars.

The NORWICH DIOCESAN NATIONAL SCHOOL SOCIETY, established in 1812, contributes about £250 per annum towards the support of schools in Norfolk and Norwich, and supports an institution for training mistresses for the charge of schools, at St. George's plain, of which the Rev. Wm. Cufaude Davie, M.A., is chaplain and secretary, Miss Bunbury, superintendent, and Miss Schofield, head governess. There are Infant Schools in many of the city parishes, supported by subscriptions and small weekly payments. Four poor boys of St. Stephen's parish are instructed and provided with bibles, for a yearly rent-charge of £3. 2s. 6d., left by John Mann, in 1693, out of a house in London.

The LANCASTERIAN SCHOOL, in College court, Palace street, was established in 1811, and is supported chiefly by Dissenters, for the education of about 100 boys, who each pay 2d. per week. In Mariners' lane, King street, is another Lancasterian school, commenced in 1840, and having about 100 scholars. In connection with the British and Foreign School Society, there are schools in St. Paul's alley, Heigham causeway, Coslany street, Pockthorpe, Trowse, and New Lakenham; and at Union place, is an Infant School, attended by about 130 children of both sexes. The Sunday Schools attached to the various Dissenting places of worship are attended by about 6000 children, including those who attend also the day schools.

BALDERSTONE'S SCHOOL, in Old Meeting-house alley, Colegate street, was founded by Bartw. Balderstone, who, in 1761, left £1000 to be applied in the schooling of 20 children of poor parents belonging to the congregation of Independents attending the Old Meeting-house, or, for want of such, the children of any other denomination. The master now teaches 22 free scholars, with others who pay small weekly charges, in a large building erected by subscription as a Day and Sunday-school in 1842, and having two rooms for boys and girls.

The PRESBYTERIAN CHARITY SCHOOLS, in Calvert street, are connected with the congregation (now Unitarian) attending the Octagon Chapel. They comprise school-rooms for boys, girls, and infants, built respectively in 1861, 1844, and 1857, and are attended by about 300 children, who pay 2s. each per quarter. In 1709, Joanna Scott left £600 (including £200 given by Dorothy Mann), to seven trustees, to be laid out in land, and the rents thereof applied in teaching 30 poor children to read, in supplying them with Bibles, &c., and instructing them in the Protestant religion. Nine other donors left £720 for the purpose of education, and their bequests seem to have merged in the same trustees, all members of the Presbyterian congregation, though the £100 left by Robert Cooke in 1703 should be employed in teaching children "agreeable to the doctrinal articles of the Church of England." The property now held in trust for the school produces a yearly income of £170, arising as follows, viz.:—£136 from about seven acres of land in Lakenham, purchased of the guardians of the poor for £1050 in 1806; £25 from 5A. 1R. 19P. of land, in Lakenham, left by John Mackerell in 1724; £3. 15s. from stock left by Susanna Cooke in 1720; and £5. 12s. 10d. from one moiety of £376. 9s. 5d. new three per cents., purchased with £400 left by Mary Ann Yallop in 1823, one-half for the school, and the rest for the poor of the congregation.

The ROMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOLS are in St. John's Maddermarket and in Ten Bell lane. The former is a mixed school; and the latter comprises rooms for boys, girls, and infants, and is attended by about 120 children. It is a neat early English building, erected in 1852 at a cost of £1300.

The INDEPENDENT SCHOOL in Colegate street is attended by about 220 boys, girls, and infants; and the Baptist School, in New Catton, has about 94 scholars.

The Boys' and Girls' HOSPITAL SCHOOLS owe their origin to Thomas Anguish, who was mayor in 1611, and by his will, in 1617, bequeathed a house and estate in Fishgate street, St. Edmund's, to the corporation, for the use and endowment of a hospital, or convenient place for keeping, bringing up, and teaching young and very poor children born in the city. In 1618, the house was fitted up for the intended purpose, some valuable donations being received in that and the following year. In 1621 it was refounded by a charter of the fourth of Charles I., under the title of "The Children's Hospital, of the foundation of King Charles, with power for the corporation to add, increase, or diminish the number of officers and children at their pleasure." In 1649, Robert Baron left £250 for the establishment of a Girls' Hospital; and the corporation afterwards fitted up a house for that purpose in Golden Dog lane; but this school was removed to part of the building used as the Boys' Hospital, in 1802. Both had previously been governed by the same statutes, and received numerous benefactions. They were vested in trust with the Corporation of Norwich, till 1836, when they were transferred to the Charity Trustees, appointed pursuant to a provision of the Municipal Reform Act. The funds for the Boys' and Girls' departments are separate, and have arisen, the former from 22, and the latter from 14 benefactions, besides a numerous list of small gifts and legacies. The property belonging to the BOYS' HOSPITAL consists of £5000 three per cent. consols; and lands, buildings, &c., yielding a yearly rental of about £1000, and situated at Norwich, Bixley, Cringleford, Barton, Alburgh, Swanton-Morley, East Dereham, Hellesden, Swardeston, Little Melton, Hethersett, Shipdham, and Barnham Broom. That belonging to the GIRLS' HOSPITAL consists of about £3500 invested in the funds; also in lands, buildings, &c., let at rents amounting to about £600 per annum, and situated mostly in the city, and partly at Shottesham, Forncett, Little Melton, Hethersett, and Barnham Broom. Part of its city property is the Great Garden, now built upon, and anciently forming the precincts of the Black Friary. The Octagon Chapel stands upon this land. None of the children have been boarded in the house during the last sixty years, but the parents or friends of each boy receive £10, and those of each girl £8 per annum, in quarterly payments, out of which they have to pay the teachers (Mr. and Mrs. Gidney) about 8s. per quarter for the education of each scholar; and also to pay the usual charges for books and stationery. The scholars are admitted between the ages of 9 and 11, and the boys leave at 14 and the girls at 15. They are each provided with a suit of blue clothing every Lady-day, at the expense of the charity. The boys wear red caps, and on leaving school they are apprenticed with fees of £10. Every girl who has been regularly at school is allowed £3 when she leaves, to be laid out in clothes to enable her to go into service. In 1623, John and Edmund Anguish and John Ward settled on the city the lazar house and grounds thereto belonging, at St. Stephen's gate, on condition that yearly, in the afternoon of Epiphany, a commemoration sermon should be preached in St. Edmund's church by a preacher to be chosen by the corporation, and that they should pay yearly 26s. 8d.; viz., 6s. 8d. to the preacher, 3s. 4d. to the poor, and 16s. 8d. for division among the corporate officers attending the sermon; after which, a list of the benefactors to the "Children's Hospital" is read. Important alterations are about to take place in these schools, a new building being now (1863) in course of erection at New Lakenham, in which thirty girls will be boarded, lodged, and educated, so as to be fitted for domestic service, or to become the wives of working men. The building is of brick, and comprises residences for the matron and schoolmistress, dormitories, school-room, dining-hall, play-room, board-room, &c. It will cost about £2000, and that portion of the Old Hospital School in Fishgate street now used by the girls will be taken down, a more commodious school for 100 boys will be erected in its stead, and other improvements effected at a cost of about £700. The present number of boys is sixty-six.

NORMAN'S CHARITY SCHOOL, formerly taught in a house hired by the master, but now in a neat Gothic building erected by the trustees in 1839, with a dwelling for the master, in Cowgate street, St. Paul's parish, arose from the bequest of John Norman, Esq., of Catton, who, in 1720, left all his real estates to trustees for the education, maintenance, and apprenticing of the sons of the poor relations of himself and first wife, Ann Mace; or, for want of such, the sons of any poor inhabitants of Ber street Ward, Conisford Ward, or Catton. For the first 60 years after his decease he limited the number of scholars, so that by saving of income the endowment might be so augmented at the end of that period as to admit of the erection of a Hospital at Catton for the education and maintenance of 120 scholars. Until 1733, the trustees did not begin to accumulate; and owing to mismanagement during the succeeding fifty years, and the loss of £890 by one of the treasurers in 1777, the funds of the charity have never been sufficient for the erection of a hospital at Catton. The real property bequeathed by the founder now produces a rental of £750, and consists of the Raven public-house, and other houses, &c., in Norwich, and three farms at Little Witchingham, Catton, and Spixworth. The charity also derives £81 per annum from the dividends of £1500 Old South Sea Annuities, and £1200 three per cent. Consols, purchased with the savings of income. There are now 70 boys instructed as free scholars. About half of them are on the foundation, and £10 a year is paid to the parents of each for their maintenance, deducting only for books and stationery. They are admitted between the ages of seven and ten years, and are required to prove their relationship to the founder or his first or second wife. All children thus qualified are admitted on application to the trustees. The master is allowed a salary of £80 per annum. Each of the foundation scholars who continues in the school up to the age of 14, is bound out apprentice with a premium of £15. If he serves his apprenticeship out and there is no complaint against him, he receives £10 on attaining the age of 21. Pursuant to the founder's will, £1. 2s. 6d. per annum is paid to the rector of St. Paul's for a commemoration sermon; and a yearly sum of 10s. is paid by the trustees for distribution among the poor of Catton. The Bishop, Dean, Rev. Canon Heaviside, Sir Wm. Foster, Bart., Sir Samuel Bignold, Knt., and Charles Evans, J. H. Gurney, M.P., R. H. Harvey, and H. S. Patteson, Esqrs., are the trustees, and Joseph Benj. Brown is the schoolmaster.

The HOSPITAL AND SCHOOL FOR THE INDIGENT BLIND, in Magdalen street, was founded in 1805 by Thomas Tawell, a blind gentleman, who presented the house and garden occupied by the institution, and which he had previously purchased for £150. Since its foundation, this excellent charity has been supported by benefactions, legacies, and annual contributions, and has fully answered the most sanguine expectations of its promoters, both as an asylum for the aged and as a school for the young; having enabled many of the latter, who would otherwise have passed their days in idleness and dependence, to rise superior to their forlorn and abject condition. Though it was at first restricted to the county of Norfolk, it is now open to the kingdom at large, under the management of a president, three vice-presidents, and a committee of subscribers. Here are generally about 15 aged blind and 30 pupils. The former are admitted at the age of 55, and the latter at the age of 12 or upwards. The females are employed in knitting, netting, &c., and the males in the manufacture of baskets, rope-mats, sacks, rope, twine, &c. The pupils remain only three years, or may leave as soon as they have gained a sufficient knowledge of their trade. In 1862, the receipts of the charity arising from benefactions, subscriptions, the sale of articles, &c., amounted to £834, of which upwards of £300 were derived from funded property. The Bishop is president; Rev. J. Bailey, treasurer; Mr. John Gibson, secretary and superintendent; Mrs. Gibson, matron; James Sadler and Wm. Mills, trade instructors; Mr. Geo. Hastings, music teacher, and Miss Williams, schoolmistress.

CHARITIES.—The stream which flows from the Norwich fountain of charity for the religious and moral instruction of poor children, is not more ample than that which issues for the solace of age, poverty, and sickness. There are, in various parts of the city, Almshouses founded for the residence of about 200 aged poor, most of whom have weekly stipends from the endowments. Here are also a large County Hospital for the relief of the sick and lame; an endowed Lunatic Asylum; a Dispensary; an Eye Infirmary; a Female Penitentiary; a spacious Workhouse, with an Infirmary and Lunatic Asylum attached; a Lying-in-Charity, and a variety of Benevolent Societies, supported chiefly by donations and annual contributions, and partly by posthumous charity, in which latter few places are richer than Norwich, as its yearly income from that source alone amounts to upwards of £20,000, about half of which was in trust with the Corporation, but is now vested with the Charity Trustees, appointed by the Lord Chancellor in 1836. The total amount of charity dispensed in the city and its suburbs, amounts to upwards of £30,000 per annum, exclusive of the poor's rates. The Corporation having been for so many ages trustees of hospitals and other charities in Norwich, some difficulty was experienced by the Parliamentary Commissioners, in their endeavours to distinguish the charity from the Corporation property. Their enquiry into the city charities was finished in 1833, and from their voluminous reports our notices of them are chiefly abridged.

The CHARITY TRUSTEES, appointed for the management of the charities formerly in trust with the Corporation, are divided into two lists, viz., the Church List, which has the management of the Great Hospital, Cooke's Hospital, and the Free Grammar School; and the General List, which manages Doughty's Hospital, the Boys' and Girls' Hospital Schools, &c. The CHURCH LIST comprises Sir Wm. Foster, Bart., Sir Saml. Bignold, Kt., the Dean, the Rev. S. O. Attlay, and C. Evans, J. Barwell, E. Freestone, G. Seppings, J. Norgate, H. Birkbeck, D. Dalrymple, and J. H. Gurney, M.P., Esqrs. The GENERAL LIST comprises H. Bolingbroke, J. Kitson, E. Freestone, W. Stark, J. Barwell, J. Norgate, E. Willett, R. Bullard, O. Springfield, Wm. Wilde, H. S. Patteson, Hy. Browne, and R. J. H. Harvey, Esqrs. Thos. Brightwell, Jun., Esq., is Clerk to the Trustees.

THE NORFOLK AND NORWICH HOSPITAL, for the relief of sick and lame poor, occupies an extensive brick building on the London road, a little without St. Stephen's gate, erected in 1771, at a cost of more than £21,000, including about £8000 expended in subsequent additions and improvements. The building is in the form of the letter H, and was considerably enlarged in 1802. It is fitted up in the most improved manner, and has spacious and well ventilated galleries extending through all the wards. This institution, which ranks as one of the largest and most useful charities in the county, was commenced by the voluntary contributions of the benevolent, and has since received many valuable donations and legacies; the liberal assistance of a numerous list of annual subscribers of two guineas and upwards; and the profits (till 1823) of a yearly musical performance at the Cathedral, during the assize week. Since 1824, it has received more than £8000 from the profits of the triennial musical festival at St. Andrew's Hall. The expenditure of the hospital for the year 1862 amounted to £4292, and its receipts to £3200; but in some years it receives large amounts from legacies and benefactions, from which source it received £1169 less in 1862 than in the previous year. The annual subscriptions amount to about £1800, and the dividends of stock to £730 per annum. The funded property now possessed by the hospital consists of £24,700, mostly three per cent. stock. The number of patients admitted since the opening of the institution, amounted in 1862 to 52,219 in and 44,249 out. The number remaining on the books in December, 1862, was 114 in and 1172 out patients; and the total number admitted during the year was 2226, of whom 936 had been in-patients. From its frequent occurrence, the operation for the stone is performed here in the greatest perfection; the whole number cut for this dreadful disease since the opening of the hospital, is about 950, of whom not more than 150 died. Three physicians and three surgeons and an assistant-surgeon of the city attend the hospital gratuitously, and its affairs are under the control of a board of management selected annually from the governors, who consist of persons who have contributed 30 guineas or upwards, at one time. The physicians and surgeons attend every Saturday, at 11 o'clock, to take in patients, and every Wednesday, at the same hour, to prescribe to the out-patients; but sufferers by accidents (admitting of no delay) are received at all times. Formerly, the hospital contained only about eighty beds, but now it has 148 for the reception of patients. The principal officers of the charity are the Earl of Leicester, president; the Bishop, vice-president; J. H. Gurney, Esq., M.P., treasurer; Drs. Ranking, Copeman, and Eade, physicians; Messrs. Nichols, Firth, and Cadge, surgeons; Mr. Crosse, assistant-surgeon; Mr. Charles Williams, house surgeon; Mrs. Partridge, matron, Mr. R. W. Scraggs, house steward and secretary; and Mr. W. L. Smith, dispenser. In 1843, Mr. John Dalrymple presented to the hospital the valuable MUSEUM collected by his father, who was one of the surgeons of this institution for nearly 15 years. A new building was erected in 1844 for its reception, and since then it has by frequent presents become an extensive and highly interesting pathological collection, which was greatly enhanced in 1854 by a gift from Mr. D. Dalrymple of the beautiful collection of preparations of the eye made by his lamented brother John Dalrymple, whose early death cut short a career which promised great brilliancy, and in which he had already gained the highest position as an oculist in England.

The DISPENSARY, commenced in 1804, occupies a house in St. John's Madder market, purchased in 1856 for about £600, and is supported by donations and yearly contributions, for the purpose of rendering medical and surgical aid to the sick and lame poor of the city and its hamlets, as out-patients, of whom about 1500 are relieved yearly, at a cost of about £260. Two physicians (Drs. Johnson and Eade) lend their assistance gratuitously. The surgeon and apothecary resides at the Dispensary, and such patients as are not able to attend, and live within the city boundary, are visited at their homes.

The HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL, on Orford hill, was established in 1849, and is supported by voluntary contributions. Its average weekly number of patients is 84. Dr. Hartman is the physician; Mr. S. Harvard, treasurer; Mr. O. T. Ray, secretary; and Messrs. Slade & Rapier, chemists.

The EYE INFIRMARY, or "the Norfolk and Norwich Infirmary for the cure of Diseases of the Eye," occupies a building in Pottergate street, purchased and altered in 1857 at a cost of £1141. It was instituted in 1822, chiefly through the exertions of three medical gentlemen, who submitted a report of the necessity for such an establishment in Norwich. Notwithstanding the great importance of this charity, its funds at present only allow accommodation for 14 in-patients, though it relieves annually about 500 out-patients at a cost of nearly £300. The Earl of Leicester is president, Dr. Copeman and Messrs. G. W. W. Firth and C. Goodwin are the medical officers; John Goodwin, Esq., sec.; and Mrs. Sarah Bennett, matron.

The JENNY LIND INFIRMARY for SICK CHILDREN, in Pottergate street, was established May 30th, 1853, chiefly with the sum of £345. 15s. 5d., part of the proceeds of two concerts given in 1849, by that queen of song, Jenny Lind (now Madame Goldschmidt), who visited this institution in 1856, and was so much pleased with its management that she added another £50 to her former gifts, and her husband gave a similar sum. Many other donations have been made to the funds, and there is a long list of annual subscribers. About 2000 out and 400 in patients have been admitted since the establishment of the Infirmary. The Bishop is patron; the Mayor, president; J. G. Johnson, Esq., treasurer; H. Hansell, Esq., secretary; Dr. Copeman, physician; Dr. Dalrymple, and Messrs. T. W. Crosse and W. H. Day, surgeons; and Miss Johnson, matron.

The DENTAL INFIRMARY, in Rigby's Court, St. Giles' street, is supported by voluntary contributions, and was established about six years ago for the purpose of affording gratuitous aid to the poor of the city and county. J. B. and F. G. Bridgman, Esqrs., are the surgeon dentists; and W. K. Bridgman, Esq., hon. secretary.

BETHEL HOSPITAL, which occupies a commodious building in Bethel street, was erected in 1713, by Mrs. Mary Chapman, agreeably to the request of her deceased husband, (the Rev. S. Chapman, rector of Thorpe-next-Norwich,) for the habitation of poor lunatics, and not for natural born fools or idiots. For its endowment she settled by will, dated 1717, all her personal estate on seven trustees, giving to them the sole power and management of this asylum for as many distressed lunatics as the revenues will afford, the city of Norwich always to have the preference. Considerable additions having been made to the hospital in 1807 and subsequent years, it has now accommodation for 80 patients, of whom about 33 are free, and small weekly sums, varying from 3s. to 14s., are paid for each of the others by their friends. The seven trustees or governors are Sir Wm. Foster, Bart., Dr. Dalrymple, and C. Weston, J. H. Gurney, M.P., H. Birkbeck, T. Brightwen, and F. G. Foster, Esqrs. W. P. Nichols, Esq., is the surgeon; G. M. Gibson, Esq., and F. Bateman, Esq., M.D., resident medical officers; Charles Millard, Esq., steward; J. N. V. Cooper, Esq., clerk; Mr. E. J. Dodd, master; and Mrs. Dodd, matron. The foundress appears to have been no admirer of the corporate body, for one clause in her will prohibits them from being "in any way concerned in the execution of this trust." The seven original trustees and their successors, were incorporated by Letters Patent of the 5th of George III., by the name of "The Governors and Guardians of the hospital called Bethel," of the foundation of Mary Chapman. The sum derived from the endowment under the will of the foundress, amounted to £3513, which has been augmented by subsequent benefactions amounting to nearly £16,000, of which £1000 each were left by Sarah Scott, in 1750; Bartholomew Balderstone, in 1766; Thos. Vere, in 1766; and Robert Denn, in 1829. Mary Bouchery left £600 in 1788; and the remainder was bequeathed in sums from £100 to upwards of £200. A considerable portion of the money received from legacies and gifts has been laid out in the purchase of real estates at Pulham, Kirstead, Rushall, Potter-Heigham, Mendham, and Alburgh, now let for £1443 per annum, and comprising about 1138 acres of land. The personal property belonging to the hospital amounts to £17,770 in the funds, yielding dividends to the amount of £608, which swells the total yearly income of the charity to £2051. In consideration of the £1000 given by B. Balderstone, the minister of the Independent chapel, of which Dr. Wood was pastor in 1766, has the privilege of sending two free patients to the hospital. Above £5000 have been expended in improvements during the last ten years. The Norfolk Lunatic Asylum is about two miles from Norwich, in the parish of Thorpe, (which see). The Infirmiry Asylum, St. Augustine's, is for pauper lunatics; and at Heigham Hall is a private lunatic asylum belonging to Messrs. Nichols, Ranking, and Watson.

The ORPHAN'S HOME, in Pottergate street, has accommodation for about thirty orphan girls, who are trained for domestic service and other suitable occupations by a resident matron and governess, under the superintendence of a ladies' committee. It was established in 1849, and removed to the present premises in 1862, and is chiefly supported by voluntary subscriptions; but the friends or parish are required to pay 1s. 6d. per week for each child under ten years of age, and 1s. per week if above that age.

The STANLEY HOME, in Peacock street, was originally established by the daughter of the late Bishop Stanley, as an institution in which friendless orphan girls could be taught lace making as a means of subsistence; but since 1854 it has been used as a training school for domestic servants. It has room for 20 inmates, who are boarded, clothed, and instructed, at a charge of 2s. 6d. each per week, the remainder of the cost being defrayed by subscriptions. More than 80 girls have already been trained here, of whom the greater number have creditably filled the situations provided for them, and several have married respectably. Mrs. Eliz. Churchman is matron and Miss Hannah Critten, schoolmistress. In connection with the Home is a Servants' Lodging House and Registry, in Upper King street, of which Miss Balls is superintendent.

The NORFOLK AND NORWICH MAGDALEN, or Female Home, is at York Villa, Chapel-field road, and was established in 1826. Its object is to afford an asylum for females who, having deviated from the path of virtue, may be desirous of being restored to their station in society, by religious instruction and the formation of moral and religious habits. The house has room for 14 inmates, but has rarely so many. In its charitable work of plucking brands from the burning, this institution has been very successful, a large number of those who have been admitted having been restored to their friends, or placed in respectable situations. Its annual expenditure is about £400. The Earl of Leicester and the Marquis Cholmondeley are patrons, the Bishop president, Charles Evans, Esq., treasurer, and Mrs. Surville, matron.

The SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF THE SICK POOR was instituted in 1816, and is managed by a committee of ladies, who search out the abodes of those families who are labouring under the complicated afflictions of disease and penury, in relieving whom the society dispenses about £850 per annum, a large portion of which is derived from the sale of fancy articles contributed by the ladies. J. H. Gurney, Esq., M.P., is the treasurer.

The LYING-IN-CHARITY, for delivering poor married women at their own habitations, was established in 1832. It provides its objects with midwives, medical and pecuniary assistance, bed linen, &c., and also portable beds, when required. The depository is in Pottergate street. Since the establishment of this valuable institution more than 7000 poor women have been admitted to its benefits. Henry Hansell, Esq., is honorary secretary and treasurer; Dr. Copeman and Messrs. Cross, Day, & Muriel, medical officers; Miss Johnson, matron, and Mr. Arnold, dispenser.

The BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION for the Relief of decayed Tradesmen, their Widows, and Orphans, was instituted in 1790, and in 1863 had dispensed £16,267, and then possessed a standing capital of £5000 three and a half per cent. stock, and three canal shares. The subscribers may recommend one object for every guinea they contribute annually. H. S. Paterson, Esq., is president; Henry Browne, Esq., secretary; and Mr. Henry Bassett, clerk. A Benevolent Society, supported chiefly by the Wesleyan Methodists, was established in 1785, for the relief of poor families. The Wesleyans have also a Dorcas Society.

The SOUP CHARITY, which was established in 1840, has offices in Fishgate street and Coburgh street, and supplies many of the poor with nutritious soup at a very low price, during the winter months. A similar charity was commenced in 1785 by the Friar's Society, now extinct. Here is also a PROVIDENT COAL SOCIETY for supplying the poor with coal at reduced prices; and at 105, Pottergate street, is a District Visiting Society. The PROTESTANT DISSENTERS' BENEVOLENT SOCIETY of Norfolk, was formed in 1800 for the relief of decayed Ministers, or their Widows and Orphans, and has distributed among its objects upwards of £14,000. Mr. J. W. Dowson is the sec.

The CHARITY FOR CLERGYMEN'S WIDOWS AND CHILDREN in Norfolk and Norwich, had its origin in 1685; but the charter by which it is incorporated was not obtained till 1741. It distributes upwards of £2000 per annum, of which about £700 arises from three farms at Swafeld, Potter-Heigham, and Reepham; £920 from £10,600 bank stock, and about £400 from annual subscriptions. The Bishop is the president, and the Dean and Chapter the vice-presidents. The Rev. George King is treasurer; W. C. Millard, Esq., steward of the estates, and Edward Steward, Esq., registrar.

THE UNITED NORWICH AND NORFOLK ATTORNEYS' AND SOLICITORS' AMICABLE SOCIETY was established in 1784, and having been dormant for some years, was re-established in 1848 under the direction of the Court of Chancery. Its object is to afford relief to distressed attorneys and solicitors practising in Norfolk and Norwich, or to their widows and children. The society possesses a permanent fund of £6000 consols, and about £300 stock, besides the annual subscriptions of its members, so that its annual income is above £200. During the year 1862 more than £200 were distributed by the society to distressed persons. Subscriptions of one guinea a year constitutes membership, or a payment of ten guineas at one time, membership for life. T. M. Keith, Esq., is president; J. H. Gurney, Esq., M.P., treasurer; and F. Fox, Esq., hon. secretary. The BENEVOLENT MEDICAL SOCIETY of Norfolk and Norwich was established in 1786, for the purpose of providing funds for the relief of the widows and children, and of indigent members of the profession. The Rev. Lord Bayning is patron; P. Harrison, Esq., president, and J. G. Johnson, Esq., hon. secretary and treasurer.

GREAT HOSPITAL, &c.—St. Giles' Hospital, in Bishopgate street St. Helen's parish, now commonly called the Great Hospital, was founded by Bishop Suffield about A.D. 1250; but being of a monastic character, it was dissolved by Henry VIII., and afterwards refounded by a charter or letters patent of Edward VI., in the first year of his reign, as an almshouse for aged poor; and its ample revenues were vested in trust with the corporation for that purpose and the support of the master and usher of the Grammar School and two priests, one to serve as chaplain to the hospital and minister of the parish of St. Helen, and the other as chaplain to the City Gaol. (See p. 202.) The lands, tithes, buildings, &c., granted for these purposes by the charter of Edward VI., were then of the yearly value of £142. 19s. 2½d. The original endowment has been augmented by 23 gifts and benefactions, of which the following are the donors and dates:—Alderman Thomas Codd, 1558; Queen Elizabeth, 1572; Robert Jannys, 1554; John Hart, 1706; Thomas Cory, 1619; Thomas Tesmond, 1626; Bernard Church, 1685; Augustine Blomefield, 1645; John Spurrell, 1762; Michael Smyth, 1686; Fras. Rugge, 1608; Roger Coxon, about 1570; Edmund Woods, about 1550; Rev. Saml. Chapman, 1700; John Drake, 1712; Mary Drake, 1713; Richd. Suckling; Lawrence Goodwin, 1722; Wm. Pagan, 1769; Chas. Maltby, 1789; Henry Jay, 1733; Henry Fawcett, 1619; and Robert Partridge, 1816. Some of these were donations of money, which have from time to time been laid out, with the savings of income, in the purchase of estates and government stock. Queen Elizabeth's grant bestowed upon the hospital the lands, &c. of Geo. Redman, grocer, who had been attainted for high treason. In 1862 the yearly income of this charity was between £6000 and £7000, £600 of which were from the dividends of about £20,000 in the three per cent. consols, and the remainder from rents and tithes of the charity estates. Of the latter, about £1500 were derived from rent of land and buildings in the city; £705 from estates in Bixley and Trowse; £110 from property at Cringleford, exclusive of the tithes; £57 from land at Catton and Sprowston; £407 from lands and tithes at Costessey; £100 from marshland at Haddiscoe; £350 from the tithes of Hardley; £280 from a farm at Hethel; £105 from land at Great Melton; £500 the tithe-rent of Mundham St. Peter and Seething; £145 from land in Salhouse; £520 from land in Shropham; £300 from the great tithes of Walsham St. Mary; £18 from a rent charge in East Winch; and £110 from one marsh farm at Vange, in Essex. In addition to the above, the charity possesses the manors of Mundham, St. Ethelbert-with-Seething, Bradcar Hall, in Shropham; Pakenhams, in Shropham; Cringleford, East Carlton-with-Hethel, Choselies, in Wymondham, and Trowse-

Rockells. The annual amount of the quit rents and other receipts from these manors is about £60; but the fines being certain, there is but little profit after paying the expenses of holding the courts. The trustees have also the patronage of the following churches, viz.:—St. Helen and St. Etheldred, in Norwich; Cringleford, Costessey, Hardley, Repps-with-Bastwick, Mundham, and South Walsham. These advowsons (except St. Etheldred) were acquired by the grant of Edward VI., together with the rectorial tithes of the said parishes.

The Great Hospital is an extensive range of buildings, comprising the antique remains of the dissolved Hospital of St. Giles and several modern additions, which have been erected at various periods, for the accommodation of the alms-people, who have been increased in number progressively with the augmentation of the income. In 1800, the number was 98; in 1819, it was increased to 109; in 1823, to 129; in 1826, to 150; in 1830, to 166; in 1841, to 176; in 1843, to 181; and in 1850, to 184, viz., 92 men and 82 women, all of whom are lodged, clothed, and fed at the expense of the charity, which also supports a master and ten nurses. The almspeople must be of the age of 65 years or upwards, before their admission. They are clothed in dark blue, and allowed sixpence per week each for pocket-money. The ten nurses, who attend to such of the almspeople as are sick and infirm, have each a yearly wage of £8. The ancient hospital of St. Giles is already noticed at page 201. The choir of the hospital church was rebuilt in 1383, by the benefactions of Bishop Spencer and others, and is now divided into apartments for the women. The cloister, the master's lodgings, the nave, and the tower were rebuilt in 1541 by Bishop Lyhart, Prior Molet, and others. The old refectory and part of the nave and aisles of the hospital church were partitioned off and divided into apartments for the men at an early period, and the remainder forms the parish church of St. Helen, as noticed at page 207. In 1826, a new ward was built, containing twenty separate cottages in the Gothic style, each of which is sufficient for the accommodation of two persons. These cottages are mostly occupied by old married couples. Another ward was built in 1831, at a cost of about £1100. On the east side of the quadrangle is a good house for the residence of the master (Mr. Geo. Simpson), who has the free use of the hospital meadow (about 4A.), and is allowed a salary of £250 per annum, out of which he has to provide two men and three maid servants. Here is also a house for the residence of the minister of St. Helen's. The annual disbursements amount to about £5600; of which £4000 are on account of the almspeople and hospital; £200 the yearly stipend of the incumbent of St. Helen's; £325 the amount of the stipends of the incumbents of Costessey and Hardley; £30 the stipend allowed to the curate of St. Etheldred's, &c. &c.

DOUGHTY'S HOSPITAL, in Calvert street, in the parishes of St. Saviour and St. George Colegate, was founded by Wm. Doughty, gentleman, who, in 1687, bequeathed £6000, to be laid out in building and endowing it for the reception of a master, 24 poor aged men, and 8 women. By letters patent of the 10th of William III., license was granted to the mayor, sheriffs, &c., to take to them and their successors, lands and tenements, not exceeding the yearly value of £1000, for enabling the citizens and inhabitants of Norwich the better to support their burthens, and for the better performance of the will of Wm. Doughty. Of his bequest, £600 were expended in purchasing the site and building the hospital, and the remainder was laid out in the purchase of estates at Burston, Hillington, and Calthorpe; but that in the latter parish was exchanged with the Earl of Orford for a farm at Gissing. A legacy of £200, left to this hospital by Samuel Chapman, in 1700, was laid out in 1733, together with £600 belonging to the Great Hospital, in the purchase of Stonehouse farm in Cringleford. One-third of the rent of this farm is paid to Doughty's Hospital, which has also the dividends of £6600 three per cent. Consols, bequeathed in 1810, by Thomas Cooke, of Pentonville, for the purpose of augmenting the stipends of the almspeople. It has also a large sum invested in government securities, which has arisen from savings of income and the bequests of Thomas Vere, Wm. Pagan, Wm. Lindoe, Cary Hayward, Charles Maltby, Jehosaphat Postle, the Earl of Buckinghamshire, Thomas Harvey, and other donors. Owing to the augmented value of the endowment, which now produces about £1000 a year, the number of almspeople has been increased to 27 men and 17 women, of the age of 65 and upwards, besides the master and a nurse. The master has 11s., the nurse 16s., and each of the almspeople 5s. 6d. per week; and they have each a chaldron of coals, a pair of shoes, blue clothing, and linen for shirts and shifts, once a year. The master has a double allowance of shoes and linen. The hospital consists of a square containing 45 tenements of one room each, and one tenement of two rooms appropriated to the use of the master, who has also a small garden. Another garden is divided amongst the almspeople.

COOKE'S HOSPITAL consists of a court, with ten tenements round it, in Rose lane, built in 1692 by Robert and Thomas Cooke, two brothers, and aldermen of the city, for the reception of ten poor women, either maids or widows, of the age of 60 years or upwards, who have previously resided ten years in the city, and been of good report. In 1703-4, the above-named Robert Cooke, and Thomas, his son, charged an adjoining estate with the yearly payment of £31 for the support of the almspeople and the reparation of the hospital. The owner of this estate pays the rent charge and appoints the almswomen, who have each an allowance of coals and about £14 per annum, arising from the above-named rent-charge, and the yearly proceeds of the following bequests, viz., £1000, left by Benjamin Trappett, in 1765; £1750 three per cent. Consols, left by Thomas Cooke, of Pentonville, in 1810; and £1600, left by Thomas Clabburn, in 1815.

PYE'S ALMSHOUSES, near St. Gregory's Church, were given by Thomas Pye, in 1614, for the residence of six poor people of the age of 50 or upwards, married or unmarried; but in 1827, they were given by the Corporation to Joseph Bexfield, in exchange for six new-built dwelling-houses in West Pottergate street, in Heigham hamlet, and the sum of £200, which was invested in the purchase of £227. 18s. 5d. three per cent. Consols, the dividends of which are applied in keeping the almshouses in repair. The six almspeople are chosen, two from each of the parishes of St. Michael Coslany, St. Giles, and St. Peter Mancroft. In Muspole street are other unendowed Almshouses, consisting of twelve tenements for the residence of as many poor widows of the parish of St. George-Colegate. They were rebuilt in 1854, at a cost of £500, given by the parish, on the site of seven tenements which are said to have been given in 1516 by Alice Crome.

BARNHAM-BROOM ESTATE, now consisting of a farm of 94 acres (let for £155 a year) and the manor of Barnham-Hawkins, was conveyed to the Corporation in the 23rd of Henry VIII., pursuant to the will of John Tyrrey, to pay yearly the sum of £3, to keep an obit for the souls of the donor and others, and to apply the remainder of the yearly rent (then £11) towards the easement of the poor citizens in the payment of taxes, or tallages. A water-mill and four acres of land, which formed part of the estate, were sold by the Corporation in 1718, they having always considered the estate as their own property. By indenture, in 1714, they settled eight-tenths of the yearly income of the remaining part of the estate, in satisfaction of the bequests of £400 left by Richard Ireland, in 1690, to the Boys' and Girls' Hospitals; and £400 left by Thomas Blofield, in 1703: £200 thereof for the benefit of the said Hospitals; £100 to provide for a yearly distribution among the poor citizens; and £100 to be invested in land, and the rent applied in binding out apprentice one poor child of Colegate Ward.

CHARITIES FOR APPRENTICING.—In 1688, Sir Joseph Payne left £200 to be invested for the payment of £70 every seventh year to the Corporation, to be applied, £65 thereof in apprenticing twelve poor boys, and £5 for a sermon, &c., on the 29th of August. This charity is charged on an estate at Deopham. In 1669, Nicholas Salter bequeathed £100 to the Corporation in trust, to pay every seventh year £36 for apprenticing six poor boys. With the income of these two charities 18 boys are bound out every seventh year. In 1684, Augustine Briggs left £200 to be invested in land, the rents and profits thereof to be applied yearly in apprenticing two poor boys of South Conisford Ward. The property belonging to this charity is in King street, and now produces £34 a year. Nicholas Bickerdike, in 1701, bequeathed a tenement for apprenticing poor boys of Mancroft Ward and the parish of St. Giles. This tenement being in a dilapidated state, was sold by the Corporation about the year 1804, and the produce invested in the purchase of £420 new three per cents. In 1715, Sir Peter Seaman bequeathed the Hampshire Hog public-house, a baker's shop, and other premises, in trust to the Corporation for apprenticing two poor boys of the parish of St. Gregory and East Wymer Ward. The property is let on lease for £25 a year. In 1757, Thos. Vere bequeathed to the Corporation £100, on condition that they should lay out £7 every two years in apprenticing a poor boy of South Conisford Ward. As already noticed, a poor boy of Colegate Ward is apprenticed yearly out of the rent of the Barnham Broom Estate, in consideration of £100 left by Thomas Blofield. There are also applicable to apprentice fees, £60 a year from Abraham Roberson's Charity, £50 a year from the Walloon Charities, and considerable portions of the funds of the Boys' Hospital and Norman's Charity School.

LOAN CHARITIES.—Sir Thomas White Kt., alderman of London, in 1566, gave £2000 to the Corporation of Bristol, on condition that they should purchase an estate, and out of the rents and profits thereof pay yearly the sum of £104, in succession, to one of the twenty-four cities and towns named in the deed, one of which is Norwich. Of each annual payment, the donor directed £100 to be lent in sums of £25, to four young men of honest fame, free of interest, for ten years, and the remaining £4 to be divided among the trustees for their trouble. The Corporation of Norwich received the first payment of £104 in 1586, and since then they have received the same amount every twenty-fourth year, so that the loan fund, arising from this source, amounted on the last payment in 1863, to £1200. Various other sums, amounting in the whole to £1640, were bequeathed in trust to the Corporation, to be lent free of interest in sums of from £20 to £30, to poor citizens for terms of seven years. This £1640 was acquired by the following bequests:—£600 left by Wm. Doughty, in 1687; £300 by John Vaughan, in 1666; £200 by John Mann, in 1693; £100 each left by Thos. Pettus, Thos. Doughty, Natl. Cocke, Roger Crow, and Joseph Loveland; £50 each left by Edward Nutting and Augustine Scottow; and £40 left by Ann Craske. Other Loans, which were under the management of the Court of Mayoralty, amounted in 1832 to £1411. 2s., lent in sums of from £20 to £25, for seven years, free of interest, and arose from the benefactions of eighteen donors, the largest of whom were Wm. Rogers and Hy. Fawcett, who each left £300; John Terry, who left £200; and Catherine Rogers and Sir John Pettus, who each bequeathed £100. All the above-mentioned sums are now placed in one fund, under the management of the city charity trustees, and sums of £50 are lent on security of bonds, free of interest, for seven years; but a considerable sum has been lost, so that the whole fund does not at present amount to more than £3000.

THE REV. BENJ. PENNING, in 1696, left £500 to be lent out in sums of £25 to twenty young tradesmen of the parishes of St. Clement, St. George Colegate, St. Benedict, St. Paul, and St. James, for seven years, free of interest. Towards paying the expenses of this trust, Thos. Harrison left the interest of £10 in 1703. Wm. Stark, Esq., and others are the trustees. In 1708, Mordecai Hewitt left to seven trustees £500, to be lent in sums of £25 for seven years, free of interest, to young master weavers of the city, especially of the parishes of St. Peter Hungate and St. Andrew. This and the following are managed by the trustees of Penning's loans, and both are now lent in sums of £40 each. In 1709, Thomas Andrews left £120 to be lent without interest for seven years, to six young men setting up the trade of worsted weaving, four to be chosen from the parishes of St. Michael Coslany and St. Clements, and two by the Minister and Deacons of the Presbyterian Congregation. His widow left the interest of £10 towards the expenses of the trust. In 1669, Nichls. Salter left £100 to be lent free of interest for seven years to four poor tradesmen. The trustees are all members of the Independent Congregation attending the Old Meeting house.

ABRAHAM ROBERSON, in 1777, left £1507 for apprenticing poor children of the city, (not more than one to be a girl;) £1015 for the relief of poor widows of West Wymer Ward; and £507, to be lent free of interest to young men who have served apprenticeships in the city. In 1794, these sums were increased by the division of £500, which fell to the charity, as the remaining part of the residuary estate of the testator. The loan fund now amounts to £654, which is lent in sums of £50 each. The other two branches of the charity now consist of £5543 new 3 per cent. stock, and about £100 in the bank. Apprentice fees of £10 each are given yearly with seven poor boys; and £35 is distributed yearly among poor widows who ought to be such as do not receive parochial relief. Sir W. Foster, Bart., and J. H. Gurney, M.P., Hy. Birkbeck, J. M. Robberds, John Youngs, F. G. Foster, and O. Springfield, Esqrs., are the trustees.

HENRY FAWCETT, in 1619, bequeathed to his heirs three tenements, on condition that they should pay yearly, amongst other things (see Preachers' Money), to each of ten poor worsted weavers of Fybridge Ward, a coat of frieze or cloth, and 12d. in money; and £1. 3s. 4d. for a sermon at the church of St. Michael Coslany. These rent-charges are paid by the owner of the Buck public-house, in St. Martin-at-Oak. A yearly rent-charge of £20, left in 1703 by THOMAS BLOFIELD, out of his estate at Hoveton St. John, for the poor of Fybridge Ward, has not been paid since 1777. BENJAMIN TRAPPETT, in 1765, bequeathed for various uses £2200, which was vested in the purchase of £2514. 5s. 9d. three per cent. Consols. The yearly dividends, £75. 8s. 6d., are appropriated in the following proportions, agreeable to the donor's will:—£34. 5s. 8d. to the ten widows in Cooke's Hospital; £20 for a sermon every Thursday or Friday at St. Andrew's Church; £1 to the clerk and sexton for cleaning the donor's tomb; about £13. 10s. for distribution among the poor of St. Andrew's; and £6. 17s. to the six trustees for their trouble. The ministers of St. Andrew's and five other parishes are the trustees.

THOMAS CLABBURN, in 1815, left £1000 to be invested in the purchase of stock, (now £1100 new 3 per cents.,) and the dividends thereof to be paid to Mary Atkinson during her life, and afterwards to the ministers and churchwardens of the parishes of St. Simon and Jude, St. Julian, St. Etheldred, and St. Peter Southgate, in equal shares, for distribution among the poor parishioners. He also left £3600 to various charitable institutions in the city; and £2600 to the following parishes for the poor, viz., £200 each to Newton-Flotman, Florden, Tharston, St. John Timberhill, St. Michael at Thorn, St. Michael Coslany, and St. John Sepulchre; and £400 each to Tasburgh, All Saints, and St. Paul-with-St. James.

CHARITIES FOR DISTRIBUTION, vested with the Charity Trustees:—In 1563, RICHARD RUDD by his will directed his executors to purchase land of the yearly value of £4. 6s. 8d., of which he directed £4 should be distributed among the poor of the city on Ash Wednesday, and 6s. 8d. be given to the mayor and sheriffs for their trouble in distributing the charity. This annuity, which is now given to the magistrates' poor-box, is paid out of several tenements at Heigham, let on lease by the Corporation, in 1751, for 200 years, at the annual rent of £8. In 1654, WM. SMALL left, among other legacies to Swanton-Morley, &c., an annuity of £1 out of Eye Park, in Suffolk, for distribution among the poor of Norwich. In 1680, the Rev. ROGER FLINT gave $10\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land at Antingham, for the benefit of the poor of the city. In 1860, this land was sold to Lord Suffield for £500, which have been invested in the purchase of £529 three per cent. Consols, the dividends of which are distributed amongst the poor in blankets. In 1703, THOMAS BLOFIELD left £100, to provide for a yearly distribution among the poor citizens (see page 235.) In 1676, the Corporation received £80, left by BISHOP REYNOLDS, to be invested in land for the relief of the poor. Nothing has been paid for many years in respect of this bequest. The sum of £200, left by Mrs. JOAN SMYTH, for the relief of the poor of the city, was invested in 1603, in the purchase of five messuages in Smithfield, London. In 1786, these messuages were leased for 61 years, at the annual rent of £14, in consideration of £200, for which the Corporation pay four per cent. interest. In 1813, the messuages in Smithfield were sold to the commissioners for improving the street from Tower Hill. The purchase money, £500, was invested in the new 3 per cent. Consols, and the yearly dividends, about £22. 18s. 10d., are distributed among the poor, together with the interest of the £200 in the hands of the Corporation. In 1638, ROBERT CRASKE bequeathed a messuage in Ber street, (now a public-house,) in trust, to pay 18s. yearly for three sermons, and to divide the remainder of the rent into three parts, for distribution among the poor of the parishes of St. Julian, St. Peter Southgate, and St. Etheldred. The hamlet of Trowse Millgate participates with the latter parish. The house belonging to this charity is let for £22 per annum. In 1650, MATTHEW LINSEY gave to the Corporation a house in Lady lane, in trust, to distribute £4 yearly in coals among the poor of Ber street and Mancroft Wards. This house is now leased for £6. 6s. a year. In 1676, ELIZ. PENDLETON bequeathed for certain charitable uses, her messuages and tenements in the parishes of St. Stephen and St. Saviour, then of the yearly value of £42, but now worth more than £60 per annum. The rents are expended in distributions of clothing among poor men and women of the city, no part having been applied in loans and apprentice fees, agreeable to the will of the donor. In 1685, BARNARD CHURCH left to the Corporation £400, in trust, to pay £20 a year for various charitable uses, among which are the sums of £2. 10s. each to the Boys', Girls', and the Great Hospitals; 20s. to poor prisoners; 20s. each to the parishes of St. George Colegate, St. Augustine, St. John Sepulchre, St. Lawrence, Garveston, and Whinborough, for the poor; 10s. for the poor of St. Lawrence parish; and 16s. 8d. for a sermon on the 17th of May. The Rev. EDW. WARNES, in 1694, left a farm in Scottow and Hautboys, and directed the yearly produce thereof to be distributed in coals, clothing, &c., among the most deserving poor of St. Peter per Mountergate parish. The farm comprises 161a. 1r. 4p., let for £205 per annum, out of which £1. 12s. is paid for a sermon and reading the donor's will on the 1st of January. JOHN CORY left a yearly rent-charge of £2 out of a house in St. Edmund's parish, for distribution in Bibles amongst the poor children of Fybridge, Coslany, and Colegate Wards. The poor of several parishes have small sums yearly from the funds called the "Preachers' Money," as noticed at page 202.

THOMAS MALTBY, in 1558, left £100, to free the citizens and others from tolls at the Common Staithe, on the river Wensum. This legacy, with other money, was laid out by the Corporation in the purchase of the premises called the Grey Friars, part of which they sold in 1688 for the site of Cooke's Hospital, and the remainder is let for £75 a year. Pursuant to Maltby's will, the Corporation pay 20s. a year for an obit in the church of St. Mary Coslany, but it is now expended in bread for the poor. In 1568, Sir Peter Reade gave eleven tenements in St. Giles' parish for the great bell of St. Peter Mancroft to be rung every morning and evening, for the "help of them who should travel early and late." The site of these tenements is let for £15 a year, and £4. 4s. is paid for ringing the bell.

JOHN CARTER, by will, in 1696, gave, after the death of his brother without issue, his estate at Caister, &c., for the benefit and towards the maintenance of his poor kindred for ever. His brother died without issue, in 1722, and by his will appointed trustees, and devised the estate to them upon the trusts above stated. The estate consists of a farm of 140 acres, let for £250 per annum, which, after the payments for repairs and other incidental expenses, is divided among the relatives of the testator, in sums varying from £2 to £10. The same recipients continue on the list for life, unless any alteration in their circumstances takes place. No distinction is made as to their place of residence. Messrs. E. U. Dowson, H. Bolingbroke, J. N. Mottram, and Jas. Freeman, jun., are the trustees.

SAMUEL CHAPMAN, who died in 1823, left 15 acres of land in Hellesden, and directed the rents thereof to be divided into five parts, for distribution in money, coals, &c., among the poor of the parish of St. Augustine, the occupants of the six almshouses erected by him at Worstead, and the poor of the congregations of the Particular Baptist Chapel, in Southgate; the Independent Chapel, in Colegate; and the Wesleyan Chapel, in Calvert street. This land is now let for £40 a year. The ministers of the two first named chapels, and others, are trustees, and hold £71, left by the same donor for the poor of Hellesden. The congregation of the Particular Baptist Chapel above-named have £432. 10s. new $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. stock, left by Joseph Wilkin, Amy Norton, Morris Colman, and John Aldis, who directed the yearly dividends to be divided among the poor members of the congregation. In 1781, Wm. Chamberlain left all the money which should arise from the sale of his real and personal estates, to be divided into three parts, to be vested separately for the benefit of the congregations of the Particular Baptist Chapel, in Southgate; the Independent Chapel, in Colegate; and the Presbyterian (now Unitarian) Chapel. The three congregations each received £1600, three per cent. Consols, and, pursuant to the donor's will, they each appropriate one-third of the yearly dividends towards the support of their ministers, and distribute three-fourths of the remainder among the poor members, and apply the remaining fourth towards the payment of singers. The INDEPENDENT CONGREGATION, besides its shares in Chapman's and Chamberlain's charities noticed above, and Balderstone's School, noticed at page 226, has £60 a year for distribution among its poor members, arising from the interest of money left by various donors, among whom, Bartholomew Balderstone, left £400 in 1762. The PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATION, besides its endowed school, noticed at page 226, and £1400 three-and-a-half per cent. stock, derived from the bequest of Wm. Chamberlain, as above stated, for the minister and poor, has several other charities. The yearly dividends of £400 Old South Sea Annuities, purchased with seven benefactions in 1758, are distributed among the poor of the congregation. In the same year, £600 of the same stock was purchased for the use of the minister. In 1747, Mary Lougher left two sums of £1525, Old South Sea Annuities, and directed the dividends of one to be employed in apprenticing poor boys, and the dividends of the other to be applied for the better support of Protestant Dissenting Ministers in Norfolk and Suffolk. She also left to the same trustees, £450 of the same stock, to pay the dividends of £300 to the minister of the Presbyterian chapel in Norwich, and to divide the dividends of £150 among the poor of the congregation. The fund for Protestant dissenting ministers has been augmented with £54, left by John Taylor, and is dispensed in sums of from £5 to £10 amongst dissenting ministers. The yearly dividends of £1848, new three per cent. stock, derived from the bequest of Sarah Elden, in 1763, are distributed in money, coals, &c., among the poor of the Presbyterian congregation; but in some instances a portion of this fund has been applied for the purposes of education.

The Poor Prisoners in the City and County Gaols ought to have 20s. yearly out of Heydon Hall estate, pursuant to the bequest of Frances Kempe, who, in 1632, likewise charged the same estate with the yearly payments of 20s. for the poor, and 10s. for the minister of each of the parishes of Heydon, St. John Sepulchre, and St. Stephen. The prisoners in the city gaol have 25s. yearly, left by B. Church, J. Blackhead, and G. Mingay. Those in the county gaol have the dividends of £300, three per cent. consols, purchased with the bequest of John Norris, who directed part of the income to be distributed in Testaments and religious books among such of the felons as could read. The Dean and Chapter are trustees. The same prisoners are entitled to 15s. a year from Mingay's and Church's charities.

PAROCHIAL CHARITIES.—Besides their participation in the numerous charities already noticed, the parishes of the city of Norwich have many benefactions belonging exclusively to their respective limits, and of which the following is a brief notice, showing the dates of the bequests, the names of the donors, and the yearly income. They are mostly in trust with the ministers and churchwardens, and except when otherwise expressed, are for distributions of money, coals, clothing, or bread, among the poor parishioners:—St. Andrew's Parish: 1574, Roger Mundes, £19. 19s., from two houses; 1608, Nowell Southerton, £5, out of Barnham-Broom; 1626, Sir John Suckling, £2 to poor, £1. 10s. to minister, and 10s. to clerk; Suckling Jay, £8 out of the tithes of Elvedon. St. Augustine: 1759, Edward King, £6 from £200 three per cents., for apprentice fees. St. Benedict: property now worth £150 a year, but let on long leases for only £24, applied wholly to the church, but belonging chiefly to the poor, by gift of unknown donors; 1660, Edward Heyward, £3 rent-charge; 1696, Benj. Penning, 13s. 4d.; 1700, Thomas Seaman, £3. 15s. for apprentice fee. St. Clement: dividends of £450 three per cents., purchased with the gifts of Henry Fawcett, J. Harvey, S. Hipkins, and others. Eaton: dividends of £190. 18s. three cents., purchased with £200 left by Mary Ann Yallop in 1824. St. Edmund: dividends of £530 three per cents., arising from the bequests of W. Dixon, Benj. Trappett, John Boycott, and others. St. Etheldred: a cottage and piece of ground adjoining the churchyard, left by Ann Johnson in 1611; 20s. yearly out of a house and garden left to the minister by John Hall in 1686; and the dividends of £131. 6s. three per cents., left by Robert and James Wegg. St. George Colegate: several tenements left by Thos. Layer in 1613, and let on lease for 31 years from 1846, for £47 a year; a good house and garden, left by an unknown donor, let on lease for 21 years, from 1845, at a rental of £18; 10s. to the minister and 5s. to the poor, from a cottage, left by John Ringall in 1661; £3. 13s. 6d. from £105 new three per cents., purchased with the gift of Edward King, for apprentice fees; twelve almshouses, which were re-built in 1854, at a cost of £459, and are occupied rent-free by poor widows; a house, left by an unknown donor, and let on a 21 years' lease, from 1857, at a rent of £7; and 35s. from Sir John Suckling's charity, left in 1626. St. George Tombland: £20 from a house and shop, left by John Symonds in 1603, for a weekly distribution of bread; and the dividends of £105 new 3½ per cents., purchased with the bequest of Edward Squire. St. Giles: £2, from three houses, left by John Balliston in 1585; a rent-charge of 30s., purchased with £20 left by Mary Goodwin in 1650; the dividends of £350 three per cent. consols, left by James Elmy in 1761; £312 bank stock, mostly left by John Moy in 1770; £1000 three per cent. stock, left by Stephen Martin in 1798, for distribution of coals; interest of £45, left by Mrs. Parr and J. C. Hamp; a rent-charge of £6, purchased with £120 left by Adrian Payne in 1686; £7. 7s., from £210 new 3½ per cents., purchased with £200 left by Reuben Deaves in 1781. St. Gregory: £2 from an acre of osier ground, left by John Weaver in 1625; £1, left by Margaret Stephenson, out of a house in St. Giles' street; £1. 10s. from a house and 1A. 8½p. of land, left by Thos.

Weavers in 1598, and £5 from houses in the churchyard, for sermons and church expenses, £13 from two cottages and nearly three acres of land at Poringland. Heigham: £3. 15s. from Thomas Seaman's charity, left in 1700, for apprentice fees; £40. 12s. 4d., from £1353. 18s. 9d. reduced annuities, left by Ann Parr in 1823, for six aged men and six aged women. St. James-with-Pockthorpe: 13s. 4d. left by Benj. Penning in 1696; £5 by Robert Mallett in 1696; £5. 4s. from Clabburn's charity. St. John Maddermarket: £80 from money derived from the sale of a tavern and seven cottages, left by Fras. Gillians, for sermons, the poor, &c.; the interest of £100 left by the same donor, for binding a poor boy yearly, in rotation, from this parish and those of St. Helen, St. Martin-at-Palace, St. Simon and Jude, and St. Stephen; £6 from £175 derived from the sale of 1½ acre at Thorpe, and invested in the funds; the interest of £250, derived from the sale of the old almshouses, and of £200 left by Benj. Trappett; £4. 2s. yearly, from a house in Bethel st., left by Jno. Wilson, in 1729; and 20s. out of premises in St. John's church alley, left by Alice Powell in 1678. St. John Sepulchre: 20s. left by Fras. Kempe in 1632, out of Heydon Hall estate; £100 from a farm of 92A. at Elme, in the Isle of Ely, left by Luke Fisher; £40 from 37A. of land at Horstead, purchased with £130 left by Nathl. Cocke; £13. 5s. 4d. from the charities of Clabburn, Smyth, Spurrell, and Church, already noticed, for weekly doles of bread; three chaldrons of coals, out of property in Ber street, left by Wm. Johnson in 1704; £3. 18s. 6d. from stock left by Samuel Cooper and Eliz. Lindsey in 1779; £11. 9s. from £381 three per cent. consols, left by Mary Anne Yallop in 1823, half for poor butchers, and the remainder for poor widows. St. John Timberhill: £4 out of a house in London street, left by Benj. Trappett in 1763; £6. 1s. 4d. from stock purchased with Thos. Clabburn's bequest. St. Julian: £3. 13s. 6d. from stock purchased with Edward Squire's bequest in 1818. Lakenham: three chaldrons of coals for the poor, and 13s. 4d. for a sermon, left by John Norman in 1657, out of Burnt yard meadow. St. Lawrence: £4. 0s. 8d. for distributions of bread, left by E. Heyward, B. Church, E. Topcliffe, and T. Warren; £10 left by Eliz. Wicks, out of houses in St. Giles's street and Fisher's lane, for clothing. St. Margaret: £8. 7s. 6d. for distributions of bread from the gifts of Ann Matthews (£100), Charles Turner, and Edmund Topcliffe; £2. 10s., left by Thos. Seaman in 1700. St. Martin at Oak: £8 from a house, &c., left by the Rev. Jeremiah Revans in 1712, chiefly for schooling 12 girls; 10s. left by John Warner in 1648; £3 left by John Damee in 1706; £5 out of Wood-Dalling, left by James Damee in 1717; £3 out of meadow land near the Wensum, given by an unknown donor. St. Martin's at Palace: £15 from a house and 5A. 26p. of land, left by Richard More in 1690; £5 from £125, left by the Rev. Robert Gray in 1736, and vested with the Corporation, £2 for the minister and £3 for the poor; £6. 16s. 2d. from three per cent. stock, left by Benjamin Trappett in 1767; the dividends of £119. 18s. 9d. three per cent. consols, left by Mrs. Kiddle in 1832; £5 every fifth year for apprentice fees, from Gillian's charity. St. Mary Coslany: £8. 10s. 5d. from £100 stock and 10A. of land, left by Cecilia Wingfield about 1558; £2 left by Jane Manfield in 1585; £10 (half for the church), left by Clement Hyne in 1596. St. Michael Coslany: £6. 1s. 4d. from stock left by Thos. Clabburn in 1815. St. Michael at Plea: 10s. left by John Warner in 1648; £3. 2s. 8d. from stock purchased with £50 given by Eliz. Gibbs, and other benefactions; £4 from a house left by Benj. Trappett in 1763; £4. 4s. from a house left by Cuthbert Brereton in 1723. St. Michael at Thorn: £6, left by Benjamin Trappett in 1763; £6. 1s. 4d. from stock left by Thomas Clabburn in 1815. St. Paul: 13s. 4d. from Penning's charity; £10 left by Robert Mallett in 1696; £2. 6s. 8d. in five rent-charges, left by persons named Howard, Giles, Tilney, Pollard, and Leech; £1. 6s. from the Salter's Company, London, left by Thos. Salter in 1558; £5. 4s. from stock left by Thomas Clabburn in 1815.

St. Peter Mancroft: £16 out of an estate at Scottow, left by John and Eliz. Addey in 1732, for schooling six boys, &c.; £3. 16s. 2d. from stock left by Richard Brownsmith; £4 out of the Waggon and Horses public-house, left by Henry Davy in 1658; £25, the rent of 4½A. of garden ground, left by John Blackhead in 1701; £87 lent, free of interest, pursuant to the bequests of Thomas Gobart and others. St. Peter Mountergate: £50 from a house, &c., in St. Faith's lane, left by Peter Peterson, chiefly for distributions of coals; £11 from a house, &c., left by John Seaman and John Girling in 1691 and 1727; £22 from a farm of 18A. at Worstead, left by Robt. Mallett in 1696; £9. 18s. 8d. from stock arising from the sale of a house left by Eliz. Berney; £3. 13s. 6d. from stock left by Edw. Squire in 1818; £1. 16s. 9d. from stock purchased with benefaction money; yearly rent-charges, £12. 3s. 6d. to the minister and 10s. for the poor, left by Thomas Codd in 1558; £1 out of a house at Catton, for apprentice fee, left by Edw. Munday; £5. 8s. for the poor, from money in the consols; £1. 11s. 6d. for the poor, from Lindley's charity; and £35 from an estate in St. Lawrence's parish, £27 from the rent of Riseburgh school-house, and £4 from a house in the parish, for parochial purposes; £220 a year, from Warnes' charity, noticed at page 238, belongs mostly to this parish. St. Saviour: £2 from three houses, left by Prudence Bloss in 1633; £4. 11s. from stock purchased with the bequests of Mary Bullock, John Brownfield, and others; and £4. 18s. 4d. left by Edw. Nutting, partly for the minister. St. Simon and Jude: £2. 12s. 6d. from 1½A. of land, left by Wm. Tracey in 1703; £5 every fifth year, from Gillian's charity; interest of £90, left by Richard Eglington in 1827; £28, lent free of interest, left by J. Fellowe and T. Wyatt. St. Stephen's: £5 every fifth year from Gillians' charity; £3. 2s. left by Geo. and Henry Mingay in 1593 and 1631; £1. 10s. from Kempe's charity; £6 from 3A. 1R. left by James Aldred in 1658; £1. 10s. from Blackhead's charity. St. Swithin: five tenements, left by Augustine Briggs in 1570, but long claimed as private property; £3. 15s. left by Thomas Seaman in 1700; £2. 5s. from a house left by Isabel Dix in 1523; £74 from land, &c., left by Edward Temple, for weekly doles of bread and yearly distributions of clothing; £5. 11s. 6d. from £159. 9s. 10d., new 3¼ per cents., left by Thomas Mottram Rodwell in 1804; £3 from Heyward's charity; £5 from £100 left by Abraham Roberson in 1777, to provide shirts and shifts for the poor. Trowse Millgate: three chaldrons of coals, left by William Johnson in 1704, out of the King's Arms; £3. 9s. 4d. from Craske's charity; and a share of other charities previously noticed.

HAMLETS IN THE COUNTY OF THE CITY.

For their Population, see page 141; and Churches, page 216.

Directories of Earlham, Eaton, & Hellesden will be found at the end of Norwich Directory, with which the inhabitants of the other hamlets are included.

EARLHAM is a small hamlet on the banks of the Yare, 2 miles W. of Norwich. The greater part of the soil belongs to the Rev. Wm. Ripley, the Gurney family, and Mr. Frank, the former of whom occupies the Hall, which was the residence of the late J. J. Gurney, Esq. The bridge was built in 1502, and rebuilt in 1579 and 1744.—EATON, 2 miles S.W., is also in the vale of the Yare. The manor is about 1300 acres, and belongs to the Dean and Chapter, but the soil is let to a number of lessees, many of whom have handsome houses here.—HEIGHAM, which has increased its population since 1801, from 544 to nearly 15,000 souls, comprises a large and handsome north-western suburb of Norwich, and a small village on the Wensum, 1 mile W.N.W. of the city. Mrs. Steward, and C. W. Unthank, R. B. Humfrey, Chas. Winter, and Jas. Winter, Esqrs., are the principal landowners. The schoolhouse on Dereham road was built in 1840, at a cost of £1000, and is attended by about 270 children. The house in which Bishop Hall resided at the time of the rebellion, is in Heigham. It is now the Dolphin Inn, and is a picturesque building of Elizabethan architecture, containing much to interest the antiquary. In 1861, an ancient lead coffin, containing the remains of a female skeleton, was discovered about four feet below the surface in a chalk pit at Stonehills, in Heigham. It was perfectly plain, and appeared to have been formerly enclosed in an outer case of wood, and was probably of the Roman period. Near it were found two fine bronze torque rings of a twisted pattern, encrusted with a fine green patina, and evidently of early Saxon workmanship.—HELLESDEN is a small and pretty village on an eminence, 2 miles N.W. of the city, but its parish is partly in Taverham Hundred. It adjoins the river, which is here crossed by a cast-iron bridge, erected by the Corporation of Norwich in 1819. The common was enclosed in 1811. The Bishop is lord of the manor, and owner of a great part of the soil.—LAKENHAM includes a populous modern suburb of the city, and extends from St. Stephen's and Ber street gates, nearly two miles southward to Harford Bridges, on the river Yare, so called from the family who built them in the reign of King John. The road leading to these bridges was formerly very steep, but the descent was much reduced by cutting through the hill in 1804.—POCKTHORPE hamlet is in St. James's parish, and adjoins the north-east side of the city wall, including several streets of humble dwellings and the Horse Barracks. The Dean and Chapter are lords of the manor.—THORPE hamlet lies on the south-east side of the city, opposite Bishop bridge and Foundry bridge, and contains many handsome villas, the Rosary Cemetery, &c. It extends to Mousehold Heath, and was formerly a part of the adjacent parish of Thorpe.—TROWSE-MILLGATE, CARROW, and BRACONDAL extend southward from King street gate to the river Yare, opposite Trowse-Newton (see Henstead Hundred.) They form one township or hamlet, though each division had anciently parochial chapels, and there was a Nunnery at Carrow. The inhabitants use the Churches of St. Mark Lakenham and St. John Sepulchre, though they belong ecclesiastically to Trowse-Newton parish. A great part of the soil belongs to Miss Martineau, of Bracondale Lodge, a handsome mansion, with delightful pleasure grounds, which owe most of their beauties to the late Philip Meadows Martineau, Esq., who collected here many remnants of Gothic architecture, in 1804 and '5, and used them in the erection of a lofty arch, and an edifice representing a small priory, with windows of stained glass. At Trowse-Millgate is a large water mill and an Independent chapel.

LIST OF STREETS, &c., IN NORWICH,

WITH REFERENCES TO THEIR RESPECTIVE SITUATIONS.

Adelaide st. Dereham rd.	Back Cross st. Cross st.	Belvoir street, Earham rd.
Albemarle st. Union st.	Back Inns, White Lion st.	Ber street, Timber hill
Albert pl. St. Stephen's sq.	Back of Walls, St. Augustines's gate	Ber street gate, Ber street
Albion place, Dereham rd.	Badding's lane, Palace st.	Bethel st. St. Peter's st.
Alderson's buildings, St. Catherine's plain	Baker's rd. St. August's gt.	Bethel st. open, Bethel st.
Alexander rd. Earham rd.	Baker's row, World's end ln	Bett's bldgs. Distillery st.
All Saints' Church yard and green, Wastlegt. st.	Baldwin's bldgs. Derem. rd	Bishop bridge, Bishopgt. st
All Saints' st. All Saints' gn	Bank plain, London st.	Bishopgate st. Tabernele rd
Alma square, Vauxhall st.	Bank street, Bank plain	Blackfriars bridge, Bridge street, St. Andrew
Alma street, Dereham rd.	Barn rd., St. Benedict's gt	Blazeby's bldgs. Prospect sq
Alma terrace, Bishopgt. st	Barrack loke, Barrack st.	Blod's court, Broad street, St. Andrew
Almshouse lane, Middle street, St. George's	Barrack st. St. James' st.	Bloomsbury pl. Rose lane
Arundel pl. Dereham rd.	Bartholomew st. Thorn ln.	Bloomsbury pl. Dereham rd
Asylum rd. Hingham rd.	Baxter's gdns. Lr. King st	Boarded entry, Ber street
	Bedford st. Post office st.	Botolph st. Magdalen st.
	Bedford st. Unthanks rd.

- Bracondale, beyond Ber street gate
 Bracondale ter. Bracondale
 Brazen doors, Rodney st.
 Brazen doors rd. Brazen dr.
 Brewery lane, Brazen drs.
 Brickwood's buildings, World's end lane
 Bridewell alley, Bedford st
 Bridge street, St. Andrew's Broad street
 Bridge street, St. George Blackfriars
 Bridge st. St. Lawrence
 Bridge street, St. Miles'
 Briggs' In. Lr. King st.
 Briggs st. Old Haymarket
 Broad street St. Andrew's, Post Office street
 Broad street Saint Giles, Market place
 Brompton pl. Heigham rd
 Brownfield's court, Magdalen street
 Brown's bgs. St. Faith's In Brunswick rd. Newmkt. rd
 Buffcoat In. Golden Ball st
 Bull Close, Cowgate street
 Bull lane, St. Stephen's st
 Burfield pl. Heigham road
 Butter Hills, Carrow bdg.
 Cadogan place, Bedford street, Unthank's road
 Caledonian ter. Dereham rd
 Calvert st. Colegate street
 Cambrian pl. Heigham rd.
 Carlisle terrace, Rupert st.
 Carrow hill, Richmnd. hill
 Carrow, King street gate
 Castle ditches, Cattle mkt.
 Castle meadow, Cattle mkt
 Castle street, London st.
 Cattermoul's In. London st
 Cattle market, Castle hill
 Catton rd. St. Augustine gt
 Chalk farm, Aylsham road
 Chalk hill, Hellesden road
 Chantry, Theatre street
 Chapelfield, Theatre street
 Chapelfield grove, Chplfid.
 Chapelfield rd. St. Stph. gt
 Chapellane and loke, Ber st
 Chapel street, Lakenham
 Chapel street, Crook's pl.
 Charing cross, Broad st., St. Andrew's Charles street, Dereham rd
 Chatham pl. Chapelfield rd
 Chequers' passage, Saint George's Middle street
 Cherry lane, Middle street
 Cherry st. Lknm. Hall rd.
 Church path, Southwell rd
 Church street, New Catton
 Church street, St. Miles
 Church street, St. Julian's Church walk, St. Michael's City road, Dereham road
 City road, Ber street gate
 Clifton cottages, Suffolk st
 Close, Tombland
 Coach and Horses road, Union street
 Cobourg st. Stephen's gt.
 Cockey lane, Lr. King st.
 Coldstream ter. Bedford st
 Coleby pl. Lr. Westwick st
 Colegate street, Bridge street, St. George's Compass st. Mariners' In.
 Cooke's In. Upr. King st.
 Coram plain, Church st. New Catton
 Coslany street, Bridge st. St. Miles'
 Cove terrace, Rupert street
 Cow hill, St. Giles' street
 Cowgate st. Magdalen st.
 Cremorne blgs. Vauxhall st
 Cremorne pl. Vauxhall st.
 Crescent, Chapelfield road
 Crick's bldgs. Fishgate st.
 Crook's pl. Chapelfield rd.
 Cross lane, Middle street
 Cross street, Unthank's rd
 Curtis's buildings, West Pottergate street
 Daplyn's buildings, West Pottergate street
 Davey pl. Gentleman's wk
 Dayle's lane, Charing cross
 Denmark st. Kimberley st
 Dereham rd. St. Beneds. gt Devonshire pl. Holt's In.
 Distillery st. Dereham rd.
 Dix's buildings, Coslany st
 Douro ter. Heigham grove
 Dove street, Market place
 Duck lane, Pottergate st.
 Duke's palace, Charing cr.
 Duke st. Duke's pal. bdgs.
 Duke terrace, Kimberley st
 Eagle lane, Newmarket rd.
 Eagle ter. Newmarket rd.
 Earlham road, Heigham
 Eldon row, Chapelfield rd.
 Elm hill, St. Andrew's pln.
 Elm ter. New Catton road
 Essex street, Union place
 Eva cottages, New Catton r
 Exchange st. Market place
 Field sq. St. Stephen's gate
 Finket st. St. Cath.'s plain
 Fish market, Market place
 Fishgate st. Magdalen st.
 Fisher's In. St. Giles's st.
 Foundry bridge, Rose lane
 Fountain square, Union pl
 Friar's In. Upper King st.
 Fuller's hole, Coslany st.
 Fye bridge, Wensum st.
 Fye brdg. quay, Wensum st
 Gaol hill, Market place
 Garden street, Union lane
 Gas house hill, Bishop's bridge
 Gentleman's walk, Market place & Old Haymarket
 Gildencroft In. & row, St. Augustine's Church row Gildengate st. St. George's Bridge street Globe lane, Rising Sun In.
 Globe street, Vauxhall st.
 Globe street, Heigham rd.
 Gloucester pl. St. Cath.'s pln
 Goat lane, Pottergate street
 Golden Ball st. Cattle mkt
 Golden Dog In. Calvert st.
 Golding st. Dereham road
 Green hl. St. Augustine's gt
 Green lane, Middle street
 Greyfriars' priory, Upper King street
 Grove pl. Brazen doors rd.
 Grove place, St. Giles' rd.
 Grove place, Grove road
 Groverd. St. Stephen's rd.
 Grove ter. Unthank's road
 Gun lane, Old Haymarket
 Half-mile lane, Eaton road
 Hall road, New Lakenham
 Hampden pl. Dereham rd.
 Hamlet place, St. Giles' hl.
 Hanover place, Earlham rd
 Harford hill, Ipswich road
 Haw's place, Hall road
 Hawthorn rw. West end st.
 Haymarket, Cattle market
 Haymarket (Old), Mktpl.
 Heigham street and gate, Lower Westwick street
 Heigham causeway, H. st.
 Heigham hill & grove, St. Giles' gate
 Heigham rd. St. Giles' rd.
 Heigham terrace & place, Dereham road
 Herring's row, West Pottergate street
 High street, Union street
 Hole-in-the-Wall In. Bedford street, St. Andrew's Holkham st. Castle ditches
 Holl's lane, Dereham road
 Holly ter. Unthank's road
 Horn's lane, Ber street Horse fair, St. Faith's In.
 Horseman sq. Timberhill

- Howard st. Brazen doors rd
Imperial Arms yd. King st.
Infirmary road, St. August-tine's gate
Inkerman ter. Bishopgt. st
Ipswich rd. St. Stephen's gt
Ivory square, Scoles green
Jay's sq. & ter. Rose lane
Jenkin's lane, Oak street
John street, Rose lane
John street, Dereham road
John street, Union place
John Bull street, Union st.
Jubilee place, Heigham rd
Jubilee st. Chapelfield road
Julian pl. Chapelfield rd.
Julian st. Chapelfield rd.
Kensington place, Saint
Catherine's plain
Kensington builds. Kensington place
Kent place, Vauxhall street
Keyzor's place, Holl's lane
Keyzor's ter. Unthank's rd
Kimberley st Unthank's rd
King street, Tomblond
King's Head ln. Gildengt. st
King st. Crook's pl. N.C.
King street gates, King st.
Lady's lane, Bethel street
Lady's row, St. Stephen's gt Lakenham hall road and place, Catherine's plain Lakenham (New) Ber st. gt
Lakenham terrace, City rd
Lame Dog rd. Brazen doors
Langham pl. Dereham rd.
Laurence st. W. Pottergt. st
Leicester pl. Vauxhall st.
Leyton's row, Trafalgar st.
Life's green, East end of Cathedral
Limekiln hill, St. Giles' rd
Lit. London st. London st.
Little Orford st. Briggs st.
Lobster lane, Exchange st.
London rd. St. Stephen's gt
London street, Market pl.
London ter. St. Stephen's r
Long lane, Charing cross
Long walk, Bethel street
Lothian street, Barn road
Lower square, Thorn lane
Maddermarket, Pottergt. st
Madon's bdgs. Dereham rd
Magdalen gt. Magdalen st.
Magdalen pl. Cowgate st.
Magdalen st. Fye bridge
Magpie road, St. August-tine's gates
Malthouse lane, St. Stephen's street
Manchester bdgs. Union pl
Mariner's lane, Ber street
Market lane, Scoles green Market place, Guildhall
Mason's bdgs. Dereham rd
Middle row, Chapelfield rd
Miles bridge, Bridge street
St. Lawrence
Mill lane, Newmarket road
Mill hill & st. New Catton
Mill st. Lakenham hall rd.
Mission pl. Lower King st.
Mt. Pleasant, Unthank's r.
Moushold hill, Bishop brdg
Muspole st. St. George's pln
Nailor's ln. Charing cross Napier's buildings, Somerleyton street
Neal's sq. Pottergate st.
Nelson street, Dereham rd.
Nelson terrace, Grove road
N. Catton rd. Magdalen gts
Newmarket road, Saint Stephen's gate
Newmkt. st. Brunswick st.
Newmarket ter. Newmkt. r
New Mills, Lr. Westwick st
New Mills lane, Coslany st
Norfolk street, Rupert st.
Northumberland pl. King st
Northumberland st. Dereham road
Oak street, Coslany street
One post pas. St. Stephen's Opie street, London street
Orford hill, White Lion st
Orford st. (Gt.) Orford hill
Orford st. (Little), Briggs st
Orchard street, Rose lane
Oxford st. Unthank's road
Oxford st. St. Cath's. plain
Paddock, Silver road
Palace plain, Palace street
Palace street, Tomblond
Paradise pl. Scole's green
Paradise pl. Magdalen st
Paradise row, Hall road
Paragon bdgs. Castle mdw.
Paragon st. St. Giles' road Park road, Unthank's road
Peacock street, Fishgate st
Peafield, Lakenham
Philadelphia, Aylsham rd.
Pigg lane, Palace street
Pigg's buildings, Water ln.
Pitt st. St. Mary's church
Pockthorpe, St. James' st.
Portland place, Dereham road & Heigham terrace
Portland pl. Vauxhall st.
Portland place & Portland square, Church path
Post Office st. Exchange st
Pottergate st. Exchange st.
Priest's bgs. St. Stephn's rd
Princes street, Elm hill
Prince of Wales rd. Castle
mdw. to Foundry brdg.
Prince of Wales terrace,
Dereham road
Prospect place, Horn's ln.
Prospect place, Hall road
Prospect place, Heigham rd
Prospect pl. King st. gates Prospect sq. Scole's green
Providence pl. New Catton
Providence pl. Dereham rd
Providence ter. Heigham r
Pudding lane, Market pl.
Pump street, King street
Quaker's ln. St. Martin's ln
Quay side, Fye bridge
Queen street, Bank plain
Queen street, Crook's place
Raglan st. Dereham road
Rampant Horse street,
Briggs street
Raven's row, Trafalgar st.
Red Lion st. Orford hill
Redwell st. Bank plain
Regent street, Earham rd.
Regent street, Union pl.
Richmond pl. Ber st. gate
Richmond hill, Ber st. gt.
Rising Sun lane, Golden
Ball street
Rising Sun row, Chapel
Field road
Rochester Buildings, Norfolk street, Union place
Rosary, Thorpe hamlet
Rose lane, King street
Rose Valley, Unthank's rd.
Rosemary ln. St. Mary's ch.
Royal Hotel st. Castle st.
Rupert street, Vauxhall st.
Russell street, Ber street
St. Andrew's hill, London st
St. Andrew's plain, Broad st
St. Andrew's st. Post offices
St. Anne's lane, King st.
St. Anne's staithe, Lower
King street
St. Augustine street, gates, and Church row, Pitt st.
St. Benedict's Church yard and gates, St. Benedict's St. Benedict's, Pottergt. st
St. Catherine's hill, terrace, & plain, Surrey rd. and Brazendoors road
St. Clement's Church alley, Magdalen street
St. Clement's hill & plain,
New Catton
St. Edmund's Church yard,
Fishgate

- St. Faith's lane, King st. and Tombland
 St. Geo.'s plain, Colegt. st
 St. George's Church yard and alley, Princes st.
 St. Giles' hill, St. Giles' gt
 St. Giles' st. & gate. Mktp l
 St. Giles' rd. St. Giles' gt.
 St. Giles' ter. Bethel st.
 St. Gregory's Church alley, Pottergate street
 St. Helen's sq. Bishopgt. st
 St. James' pal. St. Jas' st
 St. James' st. Cowgate st.
 St. John's bldgs. Ber st.
 St. John's Maddermarket,
 Pottergate street
 St. Julian's alley, King st.
 St. Julian's st. Thorn ln.
 St. Julian's ter. St. Julians' s
 St. Lawrence's Church alley, St. Benedict's st.
 St. Lawrence ln. Pottrgt. st
 St. Margaret's plain, St.
 Benedict's street
 St. Margaret's street, St.
 Benedict's street
 St. Margaret's Wharf, Lr.
 Westwick street
 St. Martin's lane, Pitt st.
 St. Martin's-at-Palace,
 Palace street
 St. Martin's-at-Oak, Cos-lany street
 St. Mary's plain, & Church alley, Coslany street
 St. Michael's Coslany, Cos-lany street
 St. Michael-at-Plea, Red-well street
 St. Miles' bridge, Lower
 Westwick street
 St. Paul's Back street, Peacock street
 St. Paul's street, plain, and Church alley, Peacock st
 St. Peter's Church yard,
 Lower King street
 St. Peter's st. Gaol hill
 St. Peter's Southgate lane,
 Lower King street
 St. Saviour's Church yard and alley, Magdalen st.
 St. Saviour's ln. Magdln. st
 St. Simon's Church street,
 Elm hill
 St. Stephen's Church alley, Rampant Horse st.
 St. Stephen's sq. Chapel
 field road
 St. Stephen's street, gate, road, and plain, Rampant Horse street
 St. Swithin's Church alley and ln. St. Benedict's st.
 Sandling's ferry, Lr. close Sayer's bldgs. Lr. Heigham
 Scoles green, Rising Sun ln
 Seymour place, St. Stephen's square
 Sherborne pl. Mariners' ln
 Shrubland ter. Heigham
 Silver road, Barrack street
 Sixteen row, Church path
 Somerleyton street and terrace, Unthank's road
 Somerset bldgs. Union pl.
 Somerset place, Holl's ln.
 Somerton st. Unthank rd.
 Sotheron's bldgs. Lady's ln
 Southwell rd. Brazen doors
 Southgate street, Duke st.
 Southgate lane, King st.
 Spittlefields, Thorpe hmlt.
 Stafford terrace, Church street, New Catton
 Stafford st. Heigham road
 Starling place, Cobourg st.
 Stepping lane, Scoles gn.
 Stone hills, Dereham rd.
 Stump cross, Magdalen st.
 Suffolk street, Rupert st.
 Surrey grove, Surrey road
 Surrey pl. Brazen doors rd
 Surrey mews, Up. Surrey st
 Surrey road, Surrey street
 Surrey st. St. Stephen's
 Surrey terrace, Grove rd.
 Sussex st. St. Augustine st
 Swan lane, London street
 Tabernacle row, Saint Martin's-at-Palace
 Tamworth ter. Unthanks rd
 Ten-bell ln. St. Benedict st Theatre street, Rampant
 Horse street
 Theatre square, Theatre st.
 Thirteen row, Trafalgar st
 Thorn lane, Ber street
 Thorold's bldgs. Rose ln.
 Thorpe Ham. Bishop bdg.
 Thurso place, Dereham rd.
 Timberhill, Orford hill
 Tinkler's ln. Dereham rd.
 Tombland, Queen street
 Tooley street, Pitt street
 Town close, Ipswich road
 Trafalgar street, Hall rd.
 Trafalgar pl. Dereham rd.
 Trory st. Brazen doors rd
 Trowse Millgt. Bracondale
 Twenty-one row, Ch. path
 Union pl. Chapelfield rd.
 Union square, Union st.
 Union st. Chapelfield rd.
 Union terrace, Union st.
 Unthank's rd. St. Giles' gt.
 Upper market, Market pl.
 Upper Queen st. New City
 Upper Surrey st. Surrey rd
 Upper walk, Market place
 Valentine st. Dereham rd.
 Vauxhall st. St. Julian's pl
 Vauxhall ter. Vauxhall st.
 Victoria place, Union st.
 Victoria st. St. Stephen's rd
 Waddington st. West end st Waddington ter. Church street, St. Julian's
 Wagon & Horses ln. Elm hl Wales' buildings, Saint Augustine gate
 Walnut tree pl. Heigham rd
 Westlegate st. St. Stephen's Water lane, Fishgate st Water lane, St. George's bridge street
 Water lane, St. James',
 St. Martin's, & King st.
 Waterloo, New Catton rd
 Watson's bldgs. Distily. st
 Wayland ter. Prospect sq.
 Weaver's lane, Market pl.
 Wellington ln. Pottergate
 Wellington pl. Wellngtn. st
 Wellington ter. Grove rd.
 Wellington ter. Vauxhall st
 Wensum street, Tombland
 West end pl. Brazen doors
 West end pl. Chapelfield rd
 West end place, Grove rd
 West end street, Hollis ln.
 West end ter. Grapes' hill
 West Parade, Earham rd.
 West Wymer st. Distillery s
 West Pottergate street, St.
 Giles' hill
 Westbourne ter. Unthk's. r
 Westwick street (Lower),
 Charing cross
 Whitefriars' bridge and st.
 St. Martin's-at-Palace
 White Lion ln. St. Martin's at-Palace
 White Lion st. Gent's. walk
 Wigg's bldgs. Distillery st
 Wilde's bldgs. Scoles' gn.
 Willow lane, St. Giles'
 William street, Grapes hill
 William street, John's st.
 Rose lane
 Windsor place, Hall road
 Windsor terrace, Grove rd.
 World's end lane, Saint Martin's-at-Palace
 Wright's buildings, West
 Pottergate street
 York place, Chapelfield rd
 Youell's bldgs. Hall road

NORWICH DIRECTORY.

The following ALPHABETICAL DIRECTORY OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF THE CITY OF NORWICH contains the Addresses of all the Inhabitants, except Journey-men and Labourers, arranged in the order of SURNAMES; and is followed by another arrangement, Classified under the Heads of Trades and Professions; after which will be found the Post Office Regulations, the Public Conveyances, &c.

The CONTRACTIONS used are such as it is hoped will be readily understood: those most frequently used are the usual abbreviations of Christian names; and bdg. for bridge; bldgs. buildings; ct. court; gt. gate; h. or hs. house; ln. lane; rd. road; st. street; sq. square; H. Heigham; N. L. New Lakenham; and C. pl. for Crook's place.

The FIRMS to which Partners belong, are shewn in parentheses, with the residence of each Partner. Where no occupation is stated, the parties are generally in the employ of others, as clerks, salesmen, &c.

- Abbott William, gardener, Albert place
 Abbs John, vict. Cross Keys, Magdalen st
 Abel Cain, saddler, Golden Ball street
 Abel Daniel, cabinet maker and upholsterer, Bedford street; h Oxford street
 Abel Fanny, school, Paragon street
 Abel Fredk. brushmaker, Unthank's rd
 Abel George, broker, Fountain place
 Abel John, horse dealer and victualler, Rising Sun, Chapelfield road
 Abel John, horse dealer, Earlham road
 Abigail John, baker, Muspole street
 Abigail Wm., Workhouse schoolmaster
 Abraham Benj. watchmaker, Bethel st
 Absolon Ed. Manby, grocer, Wensum st
 Adams Miss E., Seymour place
 Adams John, beerhouse, St. Geo.'s plain
 Adams Mrs Sarah, Earlham road
 Adams Wm. beerhouse, Cowgate street
 Adcock James Clarke, agent, Bethel st
 Adcock Robert, Earlham road
 Adcock Tabitha, pork dlr. St. Benedc. st
 Addison Benj. wheelwright, Magdalen st
 Adkin William, plasterer, Trory street
 Aggass Capt. James, St. Benedict's st
 Aikin Francis, tea dealer, Distillery st
 Alcock Mr Trivett, Chapelfield road
 Alden Edward, baker, Oak street
 Alden Hy. Wm. lay-clerk, Gashouse hill
 Alden James, last maker, Ber street
 Alden Robt., tinner, St. Stephen's plain
 Alden Wm. Marshall, school, Lothian st
 Alderman Hy. polisher, Swan yd. Ber st
 Alderson Wm. Henry, bricklayer, St. Andrew's hill
 Alderton Wm. trimming mfr. Swan lane
 Aldis Jane, stay maker, Princes street
 Aldis John, clerk, Newmarket road
 Aldous Charles, Trowse station master
 Aldous James, grocer, &c., Trafalgar st
 Aldous John, shoemaker, Church path
 Aldous John Fuller, builder and timber merchant, St. Stephen's street
 Aldous John Tungate, baker and vict., Windham Arms, Grove place, N. L.
 Aldred Mrs Sarah, Lawrence street
 Aldred P., postman, Church street
 Aldrich John, grocer, West Pottergate st
 Aldrich, Rev Pelham Stanhope, B.C.L., curate of St. Peter's, Southgate, Brazen doors road
 Aldridge Sus. shopkeeper, Church path
 Aldus Susan, shoemaker, St. Benedict st
 Alexander Mr Frederick, Heigham road
 Alexander Henry, baker, Heigham st
 Alexander Rev John (Indpt.) Gildengt. st
 Alexander Thos. stay mfr. 68 St. Stph. st
 Alger John Goldsworth, Trory street
 Allcock George, shoemaker, Adelaide st
 Allen Bryant, dyer, Scoles green
 Allen Bryant, jun., Nelson street
 Allen Francis, gardener, Dereham road
 Allen George, elastic web and cloth manufacturer, St. Stephen's street
 Allen & Goffin, shoemakers, 14 Briggs st
 Allen John & Son (William), gardeners, Newmarket road
 Allen John Boufield, jeweller, silversmith, &c., 45 London street
 Allen Joseph, surgeon, Tombland
 Allen Joseph H., manufacturer, (Fowler and Co.); h Sprowston Lodge
 Allen Marianne, shoemr.; h 14 Briggs st
 Allen Mr Park, Cross street
 Allen Robert, gardener, &c., Surrey rd
 Allen Thomas, clerk, Duke street
 Allen Wm. mason, St. Stephen's Back st
 Allen Wm. hairdresser, Magdalen street
 Allen Mr Wm. Parke, 4 Bedford Cross st
 Allison Sophia, outler and truss maker, Upper walk; house Bethel street
 Allman Geo. shoemaker, Lr. King street
 Allthorpe Enoch, gardener, Ipswich rd
 Allured Robert, tailor, Chapel st C. P.
 Allwood Thos. sub-sacrist, Lower close
 Ames Edw. felt hat mfr. Distillery st H.
 Ames Francis, tobaccoist, Dereham rd
 Ames Mrs Mary, Hall road
 Ames Robt. victualler, Bear, Market pl
 Ames Thos. Kempis, watchmaker, West Wymar street
 Amies John, vict. Hoop, St. Stephen's rd

- Amies John, carpenter, Hall road
 Amies John, vict. Old Lobster, Lobster Ln
 Amiss Robert, shopkeeper, Cowgate st
 Amiss Stephen, hair dresser, Oak street
 Ampleford Joseph, last maker, Church alley, St. Benedict
 Anderson Chas. artist, St. Benedict road
 Anderson Clement, victualler, Rose, St. Stephen's street
 Anderson Jph. baker, Howard st N. L.
 Andrew Mr Samuel, Nelson street
 Andrews Mrs Ann, Lame dog road
 Andrews Mr Bernard, Upper King street
 Andrews Brothers (Thos. Wm. & Geo.), chemists and druggists, Colegate st Andrews George; h Golden dog lane
 Andrews Chas. fishmng. St. Bendct. st
 Andrews and Gardiner, upholsterers &c., Chapelfield road
 Andrews James, victualler, Swan-with-Two-Necks, Upper walk
 Andrews John, corn miller, New Catton
 Andrews Richd. wire worker, Coslany st
 Andrews Thos. shopkeeper, St. Faith's Ln
 Andrews Wm. horsebreaker, Wastlegt. st
 Andrews Wm. soap maker and tal. chandler, Fishgate street; h Magdalen st
 Andrews Wm. (Andrews & Gardiner); house Bethel street
 Angell Mark, farmer, Lakenham
 Annison Robert, shopkeeper, Globe st
 Annison Wm. fishmonger, St. Benedct. Ln
 Answorth Wm. Squires (Middleton & A.); house London
 Anthony Wm. spirit merchant and vict. Bee Hive, 12 St. Peter's street
 Applegate James, timber dealer, Pottergate street; h Lower Westwick street
 Appleton Cphr. beerhouse, St. James st
 Appleton John & William, fish curers, Gildengate street
 Archer Mrs Elizabeth, Charles street, H.
 Archer Henry, broker, Ber street
 Archer James, butcher, Pitt street
 Armes Daniel, brickmaker, Earlham; h Dereham road
 Armes John Jas. hair dsr. 4 St. Giles' st
 Armes Robert, currier (Sidney and A.); h West Pottergate street
 Armes Sar. vict. Cow & Hare, Heigham st
 Armes Timothy, farmer, Up. Hellesden
 Armstrong Henry, draper, &c., St. Andrew's street; h 3 St. Clement's ter Armstrong Mary, tea dealer, Chas. st H.
 Arnes Mrs Mary Ann, Hall road
 Arnold Mr Alfred Robt.; h St. Giles' rd
 Arnold Edward, chemist, Orford hill
 Arnold Geo. brewer; h St. Margts. plain Arnold & Wyatt, brewers and wine and spirit merchants, St. Margaret's plain Arnold Miss Maria, Cow hill
 Artherton Thos. shopkeeper, Magdalen st
 Arthur W. vict. Engineer's Tav. Julian st
 Artis Francis, baker, Distillery street, H.
 Ashby Mr Joseph, Southwell road, N.L.
 Ashen Robt. brazier, St. Stephen's street
 Ashley John, shopkeeper, Thorn lane
 Asker Anne, vict. Swan Hotel, St. Ptr. st
 Asker Geo. Henry, glove mfr. hosier, perfumer, &c., 20 The Walk
 Asker Samuel Hurry, solicitor, St. Giles' street; h The Grove, Chapelfield Athow Edw. wine & spirit mer. Castle st
 Atkins Eliz. clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st
 Atkins Henry, tailor and vict. Free Trade Tavern, St. Augustine's street
 Atkins Matthew, baker, St. Benedict st
 Atkins Richd. builder and mfr. of school fittings, Chapelfield; h Bethel street
 Atkins Thos. beerhouse, Heigham street
 Atkin William Townshend, Heigham st
 Atkinson Joseph Goldsmith, solicitor and insurance agent, Post Office st
 Atkinson Mr Robert, 11 Surrey terrace
 Athill Henry, deputy chief constable of Norfolk, Castle meadow
 Augood Hy. fishmonger, Rising Sun Ln
 Austin Peter, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Austrin Ann, draper, Orford hill
 Avey Thomas, grocer, Ber street
 Aylmer John, victualler, Black Horse, Wensum street
 Ayris John, C.E. manager of the Water-works, 6 London terrace
 Ayton John, baker, St. Augustine st
 Ayton Wm. piano tuner, Botolph st
 Back Alfred, agent, Earlham road
 Back Miss Ellen, Earlham road
 Back George, hosier; h Dereham road
 Back John Alfred, Esq., Thorpe hamlet
 Back Philip & Co. wine & spirit merts. tea & coffee dlrs. &c. 3 Haymarket
 Bacon Mrs Jessie, 6 York place
 Bacon Josiah Newbegin, rope, twine, net, sacking, &c., manufacturer, 3 Davey place; h Heigham road
 Bacon Nathaniel, turnkey, City Gaol
 Bacon Richard Noverre, printer, bookseller, and pubr. of the Norwich Mercury, 12 London st; h Newmarket rd
 Bacon Mr Robert, Gildengate street
 Bacon Robert, baker, Brunswick road
 Bacon Thomas, Rampant Horse street
 Bagley Wm. Mayes, William street, H.
 Bagshaw George, rag merchant, poulterer, &c., Coslany st; h Pockthorpe
 Bagshaw Jph. fishmgr. St Stephen's st
 Bailey Anthony, cashier, Brunswick rd
 Bailey Elijah Crosier, solicitor, and clerk to guardians, magistrates, and tax commissrs. Surrey st; h Stephen's rd
 Bailey John, shoe manufr. Oxford street
 Bailey Mansfield John, Oxford street
 Bailey Miss Rachel Mary, Lit. Orford st
 Bailey Robert, vict. Lamb, Haymarket
 Bailey Thos. builder, West Pottergate st

Bailey Wm. St. Faith's lane
 Bailey Wm. Edw. carpenter, Lawrence st
 Bailey Wm. builder, (Browne & B.); h Distillery street, Heigham
 Bain Mr. Wm. Southwell road, N. L.
 Baker George, nail manufacturer & iron merchant, Cow hill
 Baker Jas. vict. Bess of Bedlam, Oak st
 Baker James, postman, William st. H.
 Baker Mr John, 16 Victoria street
 Baker Mr John, Brazen doors road
 Baker John, supervisor, Essex street
 Baker John Durrant, boat buildr. King st
 Baker Mrs Maria, Newmarket road
 Baker Martha, school, West Pottergt. st
 Baker Sarah Ann, fancy depôt, Bank st
 Baker Wm. china dealer, Dereham road
 Baldry C. postman, St. Catherine's plain Baldry Jas. postman, St. Swithin's alley
 Baldry John, fruiterer, St. Stephen's st
 Baldry William, land surveyor, Saint
 Stephen's road
 Baldwin Rev. Chs. vicar of St. Stephen's,
 Unthank's road
 Baldwin Henry, baker, Oak street
 Baldwin Robert, vict. William IV., King street, Crook's place
 Baldwin Wm. clerk, Valentine street
 Bale George, butcher, St. Benedict st
 Bales George, vict. Dove, St. James' st
 Bales John, shoemaker, Hall road
 Bales Rebecca, matron of Girls' Home,
 Upper Heigham
 Ballord Edmund, pawnbroker, & Thos.
 clerk, All Saint's green Balls Daniel, builder (Curtis & B.); h
 Unthank's road
 Balls Mrs Elizabeth, Colegate street
 Balls Edward Jph. clerk, Castle meadow
 Balls Fredk. beerhouse, Chapelfield rd
 Balls Mrs Hannah, Pitt street
 Balls James, tailor and victualler, Lord
 Raglan, Spitalfields Balls Mary Eliz. servants' lodgings and register office, Upper King street
 Balls Robert, tailor, Coslany street
 Balls Wm. vict. Norwich Port, King st
 Balls Wm. umbrella maker, Bull close Banbridge Mr John, Valentine street
 Bancalari Domenico, victualler, Fox and Hounds, Ber street
 Bane Wm. clerk, 1 St. Faith's terrace
 Banham Fras. Jas. grocer, &c. Haymkt.
 Banham George, wine cooper, King st
 Banham Henry, blacksmith, Holl's lane
 Banks Wm. & Co., tailors, Bank plain; house West parade
 Banning Rev. Chas. Hy. B.A. Essex st
 Barber Charles Ives, artist, Dereham rd
 Barber Mr Chas. Jas. St. Stephen's rd
 Barber Mr George, Upper Hellesden rd
 Barber George, tailor, Timberhill
 Barber Mr George, Thorpe hamlet

Barber Henry Holt & Co. ship brokers, and wharfingers, Lower Westwick street; house Yarmouth
 Barber Mr John, Heigham road
 Barber John Lee & Co. cotton winders,
 St. Martin's lane
 Barber John & Son (John Lee), corn merts. millers, cake manufacturers, &c.
 Lower Westwick street and Lowestoft
 Barber Joseph, victualler, Oddfellows'
 Arms, Ber street
 Barber Mary Ann, baker, Valentine st
 Barber Misses Mary, Ann, and Rebecca,
 Sussex street
 Barber Sarah, dyer, 9 Timberhill
 Barber Wm. bricklayer, Palace plain
 Barcham Mrs Cath. Mount pleasant
 Barclay Arthur Kett, maltster, Hall road
 Bardwell Miss Adeline, St. Stephen's sq
 Bardwell Ann, baker, Trafalgar street
 Bardwell Everett, solicitor, Lr. Close
 Bardwell George, clerk, Fishgate street Bardwell George Syder, accountant, and estate, loan, insurance, and shipping agent, St. Stephen's road Barker Benj. shoe manfr. (B. & Gost-ling); house Wensum street
 Barker Eliza, school, Surrey road
 Barker George, baker, Golden street
 Barker George, hosier, (Browne & B.); house Thorpe road
 Barker & Gostling. shoe mfrs. Wensum st
 Barker James, shopkeeper, Muspole st
 Barker John, victualler, Crystal Palace,
 Dereham road
 Barker Mrs Mary, 9 Chapel field
 Barker Robert, plumber, 2 Timber hill
 Barker Samuel, baker, Somerleyton st
 Barker Mrs Sarah, Magdalen street
 Barker Thomas, hotpresser, Rosemary lane; h Distillery street
 Barker Wm. beerhouse, Pitt street
 Barker Wm. shoemaker, Hall road
 Barley Mrs Mary, Unthank's road
 Barlow Rd. Jeremh. gent. St. Margt. st
 Barnard Alfred Geo. commission agent and vict. Red Cow, Cow hill Barnard, Bishop, and Barnards, ironmongers, 3 The Walk; and ironfounders, engineers, &c. Coslany street
 Barnard Mrs Caroline, Upper Surrey st
 Barnard Charles, ironmonger; house
 Stoke Holy Cross
 Barnard Charles, jun.; h Unthank's rd
 Barnard Godfrey, ironmonger; house
 Gildengate street
 Barnard John, hay and corn dealer, and livery stables, Golden Ball street
 Barnard John, traveller, Dereham road
 Barnard Mrs Maria, Eaton
 Barnard Sarah, game dealer, Wensum st
 Barnard Sarah, victualler, Champion,
 Chapelfield road

- Barnard Wm. police supt. Kimberley st
 Barnard Mr William, Essex street
 Barnes Charles, printer, binder, and stationer, Bedford street
 Barnes Ed. Ramsbottom, baker, Thorn In Barnes Wm. shopkeeper, Trowse Millgt.
 Barnes Jacob, bricklayer, West Pottergt. st
 Barnes James, cabinet mkr. Surrey grove
 Barnes John, ironfounder, Church street, St. Miles; h Dereham road
 Barnes John, shopkeeper, Union street
 Barnes My. vict. Woolpack, St. Geo.'s pln
 Barnes Richard, baker, Cowgate street
 Barnes Robert, shopkpr. Phoenix bldgs
 Barnes Saml. carpenter, St. Stps. ch. alley
 Barnes Wm. carpenter, Muspole street
 Barnes Wm. cabinet maker, Bridge st
 Barnham Miss Eliz. Newmarket road
 Barnham James Calthrop, solicitor, St. Stephen's road
 Barrett Abraham, victualler, King of Prussia, Ipswich road
 Barratt Barnabas, sculptor, 5 Redwell st
 Barrett George, guard, Paragon street
 Barrett Jas. vict. Fleckered Bull, Ber st
 Barrow Henry, grocer, 23 White Lion st
 Barrow Lieut. Jas. R.N., Brunswick rd
 Barry Thos. Denville, architect and city surveyor, Castle mdw; h Thorpe Ham.
 Barwell Car. registr. office, All Saint's gn
 Barwell & Sons, wine, spirit, and porter merchants, London street
 Barwell John & Hy. Geo.; h Surrey st
 Barwell John. jun.; h St. Helen's place
 Barwell & Son (see Wiseman & Co.)
 Bary-de-Mennecy Madame, Lwr. Close Base Samuel, postmaster, Post Office; house Bixley Lodge
 Base William, bootmaker, London road
 Bassett Mr Henry, Stonehills
 Bassingthwaite Wm. shoemkr. & Miss, school, St. Peter's street Batch Jacob, road contractor and lime burner, Barrack street
 Batchelder Thomas John, green grocer, Ber street and Princes street
 Batchelor Mr Horatio, St. Giles' terrace
 Batchelor Miss Ellen, Bracondale
 Bateman Benjamin tobacconist, 1 St. Stephen's street; h 3 Douro terrace
 Bateman Frede. M.D. Upper St. Giles' st
 Bateman Jas. Geo. Jph. & Son, wool, silk, & cotton &c. merchants, Gildengate st
 Bateman Miss Marianne, Gildengate st
 Bates Joshua, fishmonger, Magdalen st
 Bates Rebecca, matron, Girls' Home
 Batley Chas. timber valuer, 4 Alma ter
 Batley Hy. chairmaker, Lr. Westwick st
 Batley Richd. shopr. St. Catherine's pln
 Batson Edw. corn chandler, Magdalen st
 Batson John, shopkeeper, Barrack st
 Batson Rd. vict. Sportsman, Barrack st Battrum Henry, farmer, Lakenham
 Battrum Sarah, vict. Cock, Lakenham
 Baxter James, wine merchant (Boswell and B.); h Magdalen street
 Baxter John, cattle dealer, Ber street
 Baxter Maria, baker, Brazen doors road
 Baxter Neville Plummer, firework maker, Brazen doors road
 Baxter Robert, livery stables, Chapel field; h St. Giles' road
 Bayes Robt. Kempton, tailor, Orford hill
 Bayes Wm. Ambrose, hat and cap mfr. Market place and Red Lion street
 Bayfield Ann & Son (Thomas Gabriel), ironmongers, Stump cross
 Bayfield Hy. King, baker, Northumbld. st
 Bayfield Joseph Freeman, watchmaker, St. Benedict street
 Bayfield Mrs My. H. regr. office, Bank st
 Bayfield Wm. Hy. agent, Gildengate st
 Bayne Alexander Duguid, Heigham road
 Bealby Mr Robt., John st. Dereham rd
 Beales Mary, basket mfr. Wensum st
 Bean James, Somerleyton street
 Bean Mr Wm. Southwell road
 Beard Rev. Wm. Day, B.A. Newmkt. rd
 Beare Mrs Mary, Town close
 Beare Samuel Prater, tanner, Lower Westwick street; h Ipswich road
 Beart Robert Hayward, Bethel street
 Beasley & Son, hatters, &c. 11 London st
 Beasley John Parker & Mrs Mary Ann; h 11 London street
 Beaty Clement, painter, Tabernacle st
 Beckham Benjamin, vict. Shoulder of Mutton, St. Stephen's street
 Beckham Mr Jas. Wm. Somerleyton st
 Beckham William Edward, baker & flour dealer, Upper Heigham
 Bedford Mrs Charlotte, Unthank's road
 Bedford Mr Philip, Thorpe hamlet
 Beecheno Frederick Richard grocer, &c. 38, London street
 Beeton John, vict. Wild Man, Bedford st; and blacksmith, King street
 Beha, Lickert, & Beha, watchmakers & jewellers, St. Stephen's plain Beha Jacob & Matthias; h St. Steph's. pln
 Belding Wm. wholesale grocer, cheese-factor, &c. Fye bridge; h Magdalen rd
 Bell George John, vict. Lord Howe, St. Benedict street
 Bell John, seedsman, 10 Exchange st; house Bracondale
 Bell John, blacksmith, St. Augustine st
 Bell John Crawford, surgeon, Princes st
 Bell Matthew, vict. Lock & Key, Ber st
 Bell Robert, watchmaker, 11 Davey pl
 Bellamy Wm. model schoolr. Lower close Bellin Benjamin, gent. Windsor terrace
 Bellman Mrs Fanny, Lower close
 Bellord Thomas, clerk, Bracondale
 Beloe Henry, silk finisher, Coslany st; house Dereham road

- Belson Robert, plumber, &c. Rose lane
 Benefather Thomas, beerhouse, Oak st Benest Jas. Smyth, archit. & surveyor to Court of Guardians, Bank chambers ; house 8 St. Clement's terrace
 Benn Wm. traveller, Golding street
 Bennett Mr Edwd. 5 Newmarket road
 Bennett Henry, baker, Orford hill
 Bennett Jabez, gardener, Infirmary road
 Bennett James, tailor, Back of the Inns ;
 house Mount Pleasant
 Bennett John, shoemaker & shopkeeper,
 Church street, St. Miles
 Bennett Mrs Maria, Paragon street
 Bennett Robert, baker, City road
 Bennett Robert, baker, West Pottergt. st
 Bennett Samuel, baker, Cowgate street
 Bennett Walter, grocer (Bream & B.) ; house 10 Surrey terrace, N. L.
 Bennett Wm. grocer, 6 Timberhill
 Bennett Wm. baker, Ber street
 Bensley John, Thorpe Hamlet
 Bensley Wm. shopkeeper, Union street Bensly Wm. Thomas, solicitor, Upper close ; house Eaton
 Bensly Mrs Harriet, Eaton
 Berbeck Mrs Mary, Mount Pleasant
 Bernasconi Paul, hardware & jewellery dealer, White Lion street
 Berry George John, baker, Ber street
 Berry Josiah Bush, crier, Pottergate st
 Berry Josiah, elastic glove cloth mfr.
 St. Paul's Back lane
 Berry Swithin, smith, St. Andrew's st
 Berry Mr Wm. Mills, Cowgate street
 Bertram John, warder, Castle
 Betts Charles Abednego, vict. Lord John Russell, Dereham road
 Betts David, clerk, Unthank's road
 Betts Henry, grocer, 10 Timberhill
 Betts James, wheelwright, Vauxhall st Betts James George, vict. Swan-with-two-Necks, St. Stephen's street
 Betts John, Esq. Mile-end lane
 Betts Mr John, West Pottergate street
 Betts John, fishmonger, Magdalen st
 Betts John Saml. baker & vict. Bakers'
 Arms, Coslany street
 Betts Osborn, pill box maker, Waterloo
 Betts Thomas, victualler, French Horn,
 Bedford street, St. Andrew
 Betts Thomas, vict. Anchor, Surrey st Bexfield James, cabinet maker & shopkeeper, Rising Sun lane
 Bexfield, Richard, grocer, &c. Trory st
 Beynon John Fowler, solicitor's clerk,
 Lower close
 Bianchi Giovanni, plaster figure maker,
 Bridge street, St. George's
 Bidwell Henry, agent, Pitt street
 Bidwell James, gardener, St. Faith's ln
 Bidwell Mr John, Colegate street
 Bidwell John, beerhouse, Oak street
 Bignold Chas. Ed. Esq. J.P. Harford Ldg Bignold Edward Samuel, solicitor (Field and B) ; h 23 Victoria street, N.L.
 Bignold Sir Samuel, Kt. J.P. Surrey st
 Bignold Mr Thomas, 8 Lakenham ter
 Bilham John & J. jun. Newmarket road
 Bilton Wm. Henry, sweep, Bethel st
 Bindley Cs. vict. Yarn Factory, Cowgt. st Bingham Thomas tailor, Post Office st ; house Mousehold
 Bingham Thos. jun. St. Augustine's gts
 Birch, Henry, druggist, Hall road
 Bird Jane, shirt maker, Timberhill
 Bird John, fruiterer, Wastlegate street
 Bird Sarah, mantle maker, 7 Duke st
 Bird Walter Edward, painter, Surrey st
 Bird Wltr. Strickland, St. Swithin's villas
 Birkbeck Henry, Esq. banker ; house
Stoke Holy Cross
 Birkbeck Wm. Esq. banker ; h Thorpe
Bishop of Norwich, the Honble. and Right Rev. John Thomas Pelham,
 D.D. The Palace
 Bishop George, draper, 5 Haymarket
 Bishop James, clerk, Lady's lane Bishop John, ironmonger (Barnard and B.) ; house Thorpe hamlet
 Bishop John, bellhanger, Elm hill
 Bishop Thomas, builder, Magdalen st
 Bishop Rev. Wm. curate of Heigham,
 Holl's lane
 Bishop Wm. H. carptr. &c. Magdalen st
 Black Lieut.-Col. Geo. chief constable of Norfolk, Castle mdw ; h Thorpe hamlet
 Blackburn Edward, tailor (Norton & B.) ; house St. Benedict's street
 Blackburn Eliza, haberd. St. Cath's. pln
 Blackburn Hy. vict. Carpenter's Arms,
 Thorn lane
 Blackburn James Berry, currier, &c. St.
 Stephen's plain
 Blackburn Robert, Heigham road
 Blackburn Wm. Berry, victualler, City of Norwich, St. Stephen's plain
 Blackie & Son, publishrs. 48 U. St. Giles' s
 Blackmore Alfred, pill box manufacturer,
 West Wymer street
 Blackmore Benj. shoemaker, Muspole st
 Blake Edw. & R. W. mohair and worsted yarn spinners, St. Edmund's mill and Lakenham mill
 Blake Mrs Eliza, St. Stephen's square
 Blake Fras. John, solicitor, supt. regr., and clerk to St. Faith's Union, Upper
 King street
 Blake Mr George, Newmarket road
 Blake Henry, solicitor (Keith & Blake) ; house Upper Close
 Blake James, vict., Pheasant and Cock,
 St. Catherine's plain
 Blake Jno. Jph. solicitor (Keith & Blake) ; house Bramerton
 Blake Mr Joseph, City road

- Blake Mrs Mary, Lower Close
 Blake Miss, Westbourne terrace
 Blake Robert Wiffin, yarn spinner (Edw. & R. W.); house Catton
 Blake Robert, brickmaker, Bracondale and Brazen doers road
 Blake Samuel, butcher, 3 Bridewell alley
 Blakeley Misses, school, St. Giles' road
 Blakeley Mrs Elizabeth, West parade
 Blakeney Jph. missionary, 17 Alma ter
 Blandon Mr William, Newmarket street
 Blazeby Thomas, clerk, St. Giles' road
 Blazeby William, smith, Scoles green
 Blazer Robt. butcher, Lwr. Westwick st
 Blind Hospital and School, Magdalen st
 Blinkinsop Mrs Alice, Bedford street
 Bliss Jph. James, druggist, Magdalen st
 Bloch Israel, jewlr. &c., Golden Ball st
 Blogg Mr Stephen Money, Holls' lane
 Blogg William, school, Upper King st
 Blomfield Miles, corn miller, Chapel st Crook's place; h Keswick
 Blomfield Fdk. Wm. butcher, Palace st
 Bloom Francis, manager, Oak street
 Bloom Thomas, carpenter, Paragon st
 Bloomfield George, vict. Norwich Chop House, Market place
 Bloomfield Mrs Sarah, 30 Victoria street
 Blowers Wm. shoemkr. Bridge st St Geo.
 Bloy Charles, grocer, Bridge street
 Bloyce Jno. vict. Golden Lion, St. Jn. st
 Blue John, railway supt. Thorpe hamlet
 Blyth Abigail, victualler, Bird in Hand, Barrack street
 Blyth Ann, shopkeeper, Cowgate street
 Blyth Edwin, lath render, Coslany st
 Blyth Esther, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Blyth Francis & Co., engineers and agricultural machine agents, Cattle mkt Blyth Israel, beerhouse, Unthank's road
 Blyth James, beerhouse, Twenty-one row
 Blyth John, jun., timbermerchant, Pockthorpe; h St. Faith's lane
 Blyth John, bricklayer, John street
 Blyth John, coal dealer, Quay side
 Blyth Jonas Norman, fishmonger, Fish market; h Vauxhall street
 Blyth Joshua, baker, Princes street
 Blyth Josiab, brush maker, Magdalen st
 Blyth Sarah, news agent, Botolph street
 Blyth Sarah, shopkeeper, Coslany street
 Blyth Wm. timber mer. St. Faith's lane
 Blyth Wm. vict. Bull's Head, Ber street
 Blyth Wm. Bates, shoemaker, Bethel st
 Blythe Anthony, vict. Cat and Fiddle, Magdalen street
 Blythe Thos. wheelgt. St. Augustine's st
 Boardman Edward, builder, St. Andrew's street; h Colegate street
 Boardman Mrs F., Newmarket road
 Boardman James Theobald, (B. & Sursham); h Newmarket road
 Boardman Mrs Mary Ann, Pottergate st
 Boardman & Sursham, hop, corn and coal merchants, Wensum st and Fishgt. st Boast Cornelius, broker, Gildengate st
 Boast John, clothier, Lr. Westwick st
 Boatwright Richard, bacon curer and sausage maker, Coslany street
 Bocking Thomas, builder, Pottergate st
 Boddy John, tailor, Pottergate street
 Boden Samuel Peter, vict. Red Lion, Bishopgate street
 Boden S., postman, Spitalfields
 Bolingbroke & Jones, paramatta, poplin, &c., mfrs. St. Clement's Church alley Bolingbroke Augustus Fdk. Coke, (B. & Jones); house Thorpe
 Bolingbroke Geo. Errington, wine mer.; h Upper St. Giles' street
 Bolingbroke Mrs F. C., Eaton
 Bolingbroke Horatio, Esq., J. P.; house 23 St. Giles' street
 Bolingbroke, Woodrow, & Co., wine and spirit merchants, Upper St. Giles' st Bollaston William, smith, Thorpe hamlet
 Bolton Wm. railway inspr. Synagogue st
 Bond Mrs Mary, Upper Hellesden
 Bond Samuel, clerk, St. Benedict street
 Bond Thos. Wm., publisher of the Norfolk News for the proprietors, 5 Exchange st and St. Andrew's Broad st Bond Wm. tailor, draper, and hatter, 30 London street
 Bond Wm. B., Somerleyton street
 Bone Francis, baker, St. Benedict street
 Bone Mrs Mary, Distillery street
 Bone Nich. water bailiff, Thorpe hamlet
 Bone Thos. shoemaker, St. Benedict st
 Bone Wm. carpenter, Somerleyton st
 Booth Miss Frances, Gas-house hill
 Booth Thos. Rising, vict. Shakspeare, Colegate street
 Booty Edward, gardener, Silver road
 Booty Horace John, schoolmaster, Calvert street; h Thorpe hamlet
 Booty John, gardener, &c., St. Stph. rd
 Borking Jas. shoemaker, St. Bened. st
 Borking Thomas, tailor, Willow lane
 Borrett Wm. shopkeeper, Lr. Westwk. st
 Bostock Edwin & Thos. boot and shoe top mfrs. and leather and grindery dealers, Swan lane, and Stafford
 Boston Wm. pawnbroker and shoe mfr. Orford hill; h Orford street
 Boswell & Baxters, wine, spirit, corn, and seed merchants, Magdalen street
 Boswell Jas. Freeman, wine and spirit merchant; h Pitt street
 Boswell John, whitesmith, St. Adw's. hill
 Boswell Robert, clerk, New Catton
 Boswell Thos. toy dealer and perambulator mfr. 9 St. John's st. Maddermarket Boswell Wm. & Son (Wm.) carvers and gilders, 15 Exchange st; h Magdln. st Boughen William, hosier, 5 London st

- Boughey Chas. Samuel D., Sussex street
 Boughton Saml. enamelled wiffin gaiter and glove mfr. Orford hill
 Boulger Patk. Jph. dentist, 64 St. Giles' st
 Boulton Mr Stephen, Earlham road
 Boulton Mr Thomas, 14 Victoria street
 Boulton Mrs E. M., matron, Workhouse
 Boulton Edw. broker, St. Benedict street
 Boulton Mr Richard, St. Stephen's road
 Boulton Wm. Staples, ironmonger, bar-iron mer. &c. 9 London st; h 9 Crescent
 Bowden James, law clerk, Bank street
 Bowen Wm. plumber, &c., 64 Pottergate street; h 23 Paragon street
 Bower James Garton, St. Martin's lane
 Bowes Wm. saddler, St. Benedict's street
 Bowgen John Hart, sweep and coal dlr.
 Lower Westwick street
 Bowgen John Hart, jun., vict. Victoria
 Vaults, Lower Westwick street
 Bowgen Hugh, Gildengate street
 Bowhill Henry Lovick, Pottergate street
 Bowhill Obadiah, St. Giles' hill
 Bowhill Richard, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Bowles Caleb, watchmaker, Oxford street
 Bowles Moses, draper, St. Benedict street
 Bowthorpe William, Unthank's road
 Bowyer Mr Robert, Adelaide street
 Boyce Mrs Harriet, milliner, 4 York pl
 Boyce Henry Tye, butcher, King street
 Boyden Eliza and Charlotte, boarding school, 58 Pottergate street
 Boyle Allen, draper, Dereham road
 Bracey John, shipowner, 12 Thorpe ham
 Bradbury Robert, druggist, Coslany st Bradbury Thomas, school, Palace street;
 New Catton
 Bradfield Frdk. Elmer, clog and patten
 mfr. and brush dlr. 3 Bridewell alley
 Bradfield George, agent, West Wymer st
 Bradfield Wm. James, clerk, Dereham rd
 Bradshaw Capt. James, R.N., Bracondale
 Brady Wm. clerk, St. Augustine's ter
 Braid G. R., schoolmaster, Thorpe ham
 Brakenbury Rt. pk. butcher, St. Bnedet. st Bramwell Danl. Kelland, bookseller, printer, and librarian, 9 Up. St. Giles' st Branch Mrs Catherine, 65 Pottery street
 Branch Geo. cutler, &c., Golden Ball st
 Branch Mrs Ruth, 3 Hewitt's buildings
 Brandish Robert, blacksmith, Oak street
 Branford Mrs Elizabeth, Thorpe hamlet
 Bransby Elizabeth, shopkeeper, Cow hill
 Bray Robt. vict. King's Arms, Ber street
 Bray Mrs Sarah, Infirmary road
 Brazell Rd. vict. Half Moon, Up. Walk Bream & Bennett, wholesale grocers and tea dealers, St. Peter's street
 Bream Charles John; h Town Close
 Bream Henry Israel, printer, Sussex st
 Bream William, clerk, Sussex street
 Breese Benj. Scurl, joiner and builder,
 Dereham road
 Breeze Edm. French polisher, Russell st
 Breeze Mrs Elizabeth, 8 Victoria street
 Breeze Mr Philip, Upper Hellesden
 Breeze Rebecca, shopkpr. Trowse Millgt.
 Breeze Robert, saddler, Magdalen street
 Brennan Eliz. haberdasher, 7 The Walk
 Brenning Wm. shopkeeper, Fisher's lane
 Brett Alethea, vict. Portland Arms,
 Church path, New Lakenham
 Brett Isaac, shoemaker, Up. King street
 Brett James, baker, Heigham street
 Brett Miss Mary Ann, Up. Hellesden rd
 Brett Thos. shopkpr. Church path, N.L.
 Brewer Lucy, school, Town close Brewster and Chapman, butchers and fell-mongers, Upper Walk
 Brewster Geo. beerhouse, Thorpe hamlet
 Brewster James, butcher; h Heigham
 Brewster James, joiner, Buffcoat lane
 Bridges John, butcher, Heigham street
 Bridges My. Ann, clothes dlr. Coslany st
 Bridges William, tailor, Norfolk street
 Bridgman Wm. Kenceley, dental surgeon,
 69 St. Giles' street
 Briggs Edwd. watchmaker, St. Peter's st
 Briggs John, victualler, Golden Can,
 Gildengate street
 Briggs Sampson, tailor, Golden Ball st
 Briggs Wm. vict. Queen Caroline, Oak st
 Briggs Wm. Henry, dyer, Magdalen rd
 Brighten Chas. George, confectioner, St.
 Stephen's street and Eagle street
 Brighten Thos. Wm. shoemkr. Bethel st
 Brighton John, victualler, Brazen Doors,
 Lame Dog road
 Brightwell Thos. & Son, solicitors, clerks to Charity Trustees, &c., Surrey st Brightwell Thomas, jun., solicitor; h
 Upper Surrey street
 Brightwell Thos. botanist, Bridge street,
 St. George's
 Brighty Henry, butcher, Coslany street
 Brinkley James, victualler, Southwell Arms, Hall road
 Britcher Charles, bricklayer, Pitt street
 Britcher Thos. bricklayer, St. Benedict's churchyard
 Brittain George, colr. Lr. Westwick st
 Britton Chas. Dd. machinist and pattern maker, King st; h Bartholomew st Britton John, match and pill box maker,
 St. Martin's-at-Oak
 Brock George, candle maker, Alma ter
 Brock Hannah Maria, school, Calvert st; h Bedford street
 Brock Robert, Cross st. Unthank's road
 Brock Samuel, baker, World's end lane
 Brock Wm. baker, &c. Oak street
 Brook Joseph, vict. Free Trade Tavern,
 William street
 Brook Thos. Verlander, tea dlr. tobenst. and ale & porter dealer, 1 St. Peter's st Brooke James, builder, Tabernacle st

- Brooke Mr Wm. 2 Upper Surrey street
 Brooks Anthony and James, coal merchants, Barn road
 Brooks Miss Emma, Chapel field road
 Brooks Jas. coal mert; h Dereham rd
 Brooks John, shoeing smith, All Saints' street; h Magdalen street
 Brooks John, ironmongr. Golden Ball st
 Brooks Mrs Sarah, Oxford street
 Brooks Sar. currier, St. Stephen's plain
 Brooks Thos. builder, Bridge st St. A.
 Brooks Wm. currier, &c. Oak street
 Brooks Wm. Thos. builder, Lower Close
 Brooksby Edward Long, excise clerk, Heigham road
 Browes James, shopkpr. St. Benedict st
 Brown Ann M. baker, Lr. Westwick st
 Brown Chs. Jno. shoe agt. St. Stephen's st
 Brown Miss Eliza, Bracondale
 Brown Frederick, corn merchant and maltster, King st; h Bracondale
 Brown Mr George, 2 York place
 Brown Henry, grocer, &c. 14 The Walk
 Brown Isaac, grocer, &c. Tinkler's lane
 Brown James, victualler, Crooked Billet, Heigham street
 Brown James, fruiterer, Magdalen street
 Brown Rev James Lundy, M.A. chaplain of Castle, Chapelfield grove
 Brown John, herbalist, Rising Sun lane
 Brown John Fredk. 10 Bloomsbury pl
 Brown Mr John, Dereham road
 Brown John Henry, architect, 5 Upper King street; h Chapelfield
 Brown Joseph Benj. master of Norman's Charity school, Cowgate
 Brown Maria, milnr. Bridge st St. Geo.'s
 Brown Peter, carpenter, City road; h West Wymer street
 Brown Robert, boot and shoe maker, Botolph street
 Brown Sophia, baker, &c. Philadelphia
 Brown Thos. fishmonger, Red Lion st
 Brown Thomas, clerk, Brunswick ter
 Brown Thomas, barrack serjt. Barracks
 Brown Wm. collector of inland revenue, Orford hill; h Earlham road
 Brown Wm. druggist, Wensum street
 Brown Wm. Thurlow, beerhs. King st
 Browne & Bailey, builders, Raglan st
 Browne & Barker, hosiers, hatters, &c. 10 London street
 Browne Barnabas, baker, City road
 Browne Charles, shopkeeper and ham curer, St. Stephen's street
 Browne Charles, bricklayer, Hall road
 Browne Frederick, tailor, Colegate st
 Browne George, tailor, Orford hill
 Browne George, victualler, Unicorn, St. Stephen's street
 Browne George, clerk, Oxford street
 Browne George, clerk, Charles st. H.
 Browne Geo. Richd. sweep, Cobourg st
 Browne Henry, carver and victualler, Ten Bells, St. Benedict street
 Browne Henry, (John and Sons); house St. Peter's street
 Browne John, victualler, White Hart, St. Peter's street
 Browne John Norton, victualler, Cherry Tree, Cherry street
 Browne John & Sons, iron merchants, ironmongers, &c. St. Peter's street
 Browne John (B. & Bailey); Dereham rd
 Browne Thos. pipemkr. Wellington rd
 Browne Lovick Anstead, wine, spirit, and porter merchant, Bedford street
 Browne Mary Anne, victualler, Royal Oak, St. Augustine street
 Browne Rose Ann, victualler, New Corn Exchange, Little London street
 Browne Samuel, grocer, &c. Palace plain
 Browne Thomas Charles, Trory street
 Browne Walter Fdk. surveyor, engraver, &c. Oxford street; h Heigham road Browne Wm. surveyor, engraver, &c. St. Andrew's street; h Heigham road
 Browne William John Utten, Esq. J.P. Heigham Grove
 Brownfield John, surgeon and registrar, Golden Dog lane
 Brownfield Mrs Sus. Mount pleasant
 Brownson Misses A. & S. The Chantry
 Bruce Mrs Jane, Rose lane
 Bruff Rt. vict. Lord Camden, Charing cr
 Brunning Jno. fly owner, St. Cath.'s plu
 Brnnton Mr John, Dereham road
 Bruton Abel, shoemaker, Chapelfield rd
 Bruton Robert, butcher, Chapelfield rd
 Bryant Saml. vict. Toper, Thorn lane
 Buck Mr Chas. Harrison, Mt. Pleasant
 Buck James, farmer, Earham
 Buck Zachariah, Mus. Doc., professor of music, and cathdrl. organist, Up. Close Buckenham John Charles, watchmaker, &c. Tombland
 Buckingham Geo. Somerset (J. & Sons); house Bedford street
 Buckingham J. & Sons, shoe mfrs. 20 London street, and Ipswich
 Buckingham Jonathan, shoe mfr.; h 20 London street
 Buckley Joseph, engraver, Dereham rd
 Bugden Edward, grocer; h Muspole st
 Bugden Thomas and Edward grocers, &c. Muspole street
 Bugden Thos. grocer; h Gildengate st
 Bugg Isaac, solr. (Miller, Son, & B.) and sec. to Corn Exch. Co.; Thorpe rd Bulgin Henry, mourning milliner, 5 Freeman's villas
 Bull George Townshend, vict. Carriers' Arms, Union street
 Bull Miss Jane, 18 Crescent
 Bullard Edwin Matthias, County Court clerk, Princes street

- Bullard John, King street
 Bullard Richard, brewer & wine & spirit merchant, Anchor Brewery, St. Miles' bridge; h Earham Lodge
 Bullard Mr Robert, Heigham road
 Bullard Robert, fruiterer, Swan lane
 Bullard Wm. tailor and draper, 14 Exchange street; h Somerleyton street
 Bullard Wm. shopkeeper, 17 Suffolk st
 Bulley Benj. vict. Lion & Castle, Timberhl
 Bullock John, vict. Bushel, St. Aug's. st
 Bullock Jno. bird presvr. Lr. Westwick st
 Bulman Robert, shopkpr. St. James' st
 Bulmer Rev. Edward, M.A. assistant minor canon, Lower close Bultitude Ed. cabtmkr. &c. Charing cross
 Bumpstead Mr Edmund, Chapelfield rd
 Bunbury Augusta, matron of Training Institution, St. George's plain Bunn Charles, builder & vict. Vauxhall Tavern, Vauxhall street
 Bunn Jno. archt. & survyr. 74 Pottergt. st
 Bunn Sl. Godfrey, Esq. R.N. Dereham rd
 Bunn T. Christmas, butcher, Distillery st
 Bunnett Edw. (M.B.) professor of music, Upper close Bunting Miss Elizabeth, Aylsham road
 Bunting Henrietta, shopkpr. Coslany st
 Bunting John, tea dealer, Bedford st
 Bunting Rd. chair mkr. St. Margt's. alley
 Bunting Wm. James, victualler, Eagle Tavern, Lower Westwick street
 Burch Charles, school, Heigham
 Burcham John, corn dealer, Dereham rd
 Burcham Samuel, agent, Coslany street
 Burdett Jonthn. vict. Dial, Dereham rd
 Burgess Alfd. victualler, Hope Brewery, St. Saviour's lane
 Burgess Eliza, victualler, Red Rose, Back of the Inns Burgess Eliz. news agent, Orford hill
 Burgess Robert, plumber, painter, &c. Chapelfield; h Unthank's road Burrage Edward, baker, Colegate street
 Burrage Edwin, baker, Elm hill
 Burrage Jph. boardg. & dayschl. Duke st
 Burrage Jane, boardg. schl. 14 Calvert st
 Burrage John, tailor & outfitter, 5 Davey place; h Bellevue Burrage John Chas. school, Castle hill; house Scoles green
 Burrell Benj. wood crvr. &c. Lr. King st
 Burrell John, hair seating mfr. Havelock street; h Dereham road
 Barrell Rev. John Fletcher, curate, St. Giles' road
 Barrell Jph. cooper, Church st; h Julians
 Burrell Robert, victualler, Rose, Oak st
 Burrell Wm. Francis, Stoner's buildings
 Burroughes Randall Ellis, solctr. (Foster, Sons, and Co.); h Thorpe hamlet Burroughs George, bookseller, St. Stephen's street; h Union place
 Burrows Arthur Wm. architect and surveyor, London street; h Hellesteden rd
 Burrows Bernard Lemon, herblst. Ber st
 Burrows Edward, baker, Pitt street
 Burrows George Crisp, gent. Bellevue
 Burrows Geo. Press, coal dlr. Water ln
 Burrows Lewis, victualler, Plasterers' Arms, Cowgate street
 Burrows Rt. clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st
 Burrows Wm. victualler, Duncan Arms, Magdalen street
 Burrows Wm. shoemaker, Bridge street
 Bart Miss Priscilla, Chapelfield
 Burton Edward, bricklayer, Mariners' ln
 Burton Frederic Chas. music professor, and Mrs. school, St. Stephen's road
 Burton Gent, poultr. & provn. dlr. Dove st
 Burton Geo. coffee house, &c. Cattlemt
 Burton John George, victualler, Rising Sun, Rising Sun lane
 Burton Robert, beerhs. Thorpe hamlet
 Burton Mr Wm. Union street
 Burton Wm. turner, Cowgate street
 Bush Edward, watchmaker, Pitt street
 Bush George, toy dealer, Bridge street
 Bush George Walter, Chapelfield road
 Bush John, bricklayer, Union street
 Bush John, shopkeeper, Magdalen st
 Bush Mrs Mary Ann, St. Stephen's rd
 Bush Mr Robert, Park lane
 Bushell Frederick, 5 Bloomsbury place
 Bushell Wm. butcher, Norfolk street
 Bashnell Jph. wood carver, Suffolk st
 Bussey Benj. shopkeeper, Gildengate st
 Bussey Hy. Edwd. reporter, Heigham rd
 Bussey John, farmer, silver road
 Butcher & Girling, coal agents, London st
 Butcher Hy. (Rt. & Nephew); h Bank pln
 Butcher Jas. shoeing smith, St. Giles' st, & vict. Goose & Gridiron, Lit. Orford st Butcher Mr Jeremiah, 11 Newmarket rd
 Butcher John, timber dlr; h Bracondale
 Butcher Robt. (Wm. & Sons); Theatre st
 Butcher Robert and Nephew, wholesale grocers and cheesefactors, Bank plain Butcher Robert; h Unthank's road
 Butcher Thomas, bricklr. St. Benedict's
 Butcher Walter Whitton, victualler, Woolpack, Golden Ball street
 Butcher Wm. & Sons, auctioneers, land agents, &c. Theatre street, & London Butcher Wm. auctioneer; h Theatre st
 Butcher Wm. jun.; h Carrow hill
 Butler Jas. clothes dlr. Lwr. Westwick st
 Butler James, shopkeeper, Finket street
 Butler Mrs Maria, St. Augustine's gates Butler Mary, coal dlr. Lower Westwick st
 Butler Robert, house agent, Ber street
 Butler Thomas, shopkpr. Barrack street
 Butler Thos. Bulwer, clerk, Cowgate st
 Butler Walter, upholsterer, Lit. Orford st
 Butler Wm. tobacconist, Fye bridge
 Buttifant Dd. hair dresser, Golden Ball st

- Buttifant H. & J. ironmongers and oil and colourmen, St. Giles' hill
 Buttifant Henry; h St. Giles' hill
 Buttifant John, baker, Wellington lane
 Buttifant Jno. Geo. shopkeeper, Globe st
 Buttifant Josiah, ironmgr. &c; h Bethel st
 Buttifant Thomas, coal dealer, Quay side
 Button Edward John, Mount Pleasant
 Button Mr John, Southwell road
 Button Mrs Mary, Mile-end lane
 Buxton Joseph, excise, Heigham road
 Buxton Stephen, shopkr. Thorpe hamlet
 Byles Robert, victualler, Jubilee, Ber st
 Cadge John Paul, school, Bracondale
 Cadge Wm. surgeon, All Saints' green
 Cadney Wm. victualler, Elm, Princes st
 Caldwell Rev. Charles, incumbent of St. Martin's-at-Oak, Oak street
 Caley Albert Jarman, chemist & druggist, and soda water mfr. London street
 Caley Emily, school, Wellington lane
 Caley Nathl. Hy. draper, silk mercer, & shawl mfr. London st; h The Chantry Callow Wm. Julian, brazier and copper-smith, Golden Ball street
 Calton John Dixon, victualler, Club House, Old Post Office yard
 Calver Fdk. shoemkr. Somerleyton st
 Calver John, saddler, All Saints' green
 Calver John French, victualler, Jolly Topers, Oak street
 Calver John, shoemkr. Church st. St. S.
 Calver Josiah, Infirmary road
 Calver Thomas, shoemaker, St. Giles' st
 Calvert Rev Thomas, B.A., incumbent of St. John Sepulchre, Town Close Campbell Rev Hugh Adolphus, M.A., (Huntingdonian), Tabernacle street
 Campling Abraham, St. Saviour's lane
 Campling Alfred, dyer, Botolph street
 Campling Eliza J., school, All Saint's gn
 Campling Geo. clerk, 3 St. Faith's ter
 Campling Henry, tailor, Charing Cross
 Campling Jas. bookbinder, Wastlegt. st
 Campling Jermh. vict. Rifleman, Cross ln
 Campling John, postman, Chatham st
 Campling John, fishmonger, Magdalen st
 Campling Joseph, shopkpr. Magdalen st
 Campling Paul Peter, coal dealer, West Pottergate street
 Campling Thos. house agent, coal merchant, &c., Golden Ball street
 Campling Thos. plumber, &c. Coslany st
 Campling William, victualler, The Cambridge, Haymarket
 Candler Miss Elizabeth, 5 Foundry ter
 Candler John, wholesale stationer and brush mfr. 5 Rampant Horse st
 Candler Miss Sarah, Bracondale
 Caney Charles, manager, Bethel street
 Canham Henry, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Canham Wm. Wright, baby linen dealer, Hall plain, St. Andrew's Cann John & Sml. sawmills, Philadelphia
 Cannell Abraham, butcher, St. James st
 Cannell Eliz. lodgings, Unthank's road
 Cannell Emily and Naomi, school, All Saints' green
 Cannell Geo. Symonds, shoemkr. Ber st
 Cannell Mr Henry, Newmarket road
 Cannell Jas. grocer, St. Benedict street
 Cannell Mr Nunn, Newmarket road
 Cannell Miss M. A. Catholic school-mistress, Maddar market
 Cannell Robert, baker, King street
 Cannell William, manager, Theatre st
 Canner John, victualler, Prince of Wales, St. Benedict street
 Cannon Goss Wm. Sheppard, shopkpr. St. Benedict street
 Carlier Anthony Wm. teacher of languages, Unthank's road
 Caro Rev. Simon, (Jewish Rabbi), professor of languages, Ber street
 Carpenter Mr Philip Saml. Dereham rd
 Carpenter Robert, cooper, Oak street
 Carr Chas. vict. Masonic Tavern, Elm hill
 Carter Henry, shopkeeper, Cowgate st
 Carter Mrs Hannah, St. Helen's place
 Carter James, shoemaker, Church path
 Carter John, shoemaker, Peacock street
 Carter John, coffee house, Golden Ball st
 Carter John, dyer, All Saints' street
 Carter John, gardener, New Catton
 Carter John, dealer in plough irons, &c., Cattle market
 Carter Miss Sarah, 19 Victoria street
 Carter Thos. shopkeeper, St. James' st
 Cartwright Frederick, bill poster, St. Andrew's Broad street
 Cartwright Mr Hy. Sml. 10 Lane Dog rd
 Cartwright Henry, victualler, Rosemary Tavern, Rosemary lane
 Cartwright William, gunsmith, Rampant Horse street
 Carver John, gas meter inspector, Little London street
 Carver Rebecca, grocer, &c. 12 Surrey ter Carver Robert, victualler, Freemasons' Arms, Hall road
 Carver Ruth, school, West Pottergate st
 Carver Wm. shopkeeper, Trowse-Millgt.
 Carver Wm. shopkeeper, Ber street
 Carver Wm. & Robt. millwrights, Hall rd
 Cary Joseph Henry, pianoforte hammer-rail manfr. St. James' factory; house 7 Earlham road terrace Case & Potter, shawl mfrs. Calvert street
 Case Philip; h Unthank's road
 Caston G., postman, Gloucester place
 Caston John, grocer and spirit merchant, St. Benedict's gates Catchpole John, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Cater John, Esq., Ipswich road
 Catling Alfred, baker, Carrow hill
 Cattermer Isaac, baker, Barrack street

Cattermole James, victualler, Coach and Horses, Thorpe hamlet
 Cattermoul Mr Everett, Duke street
 Cattermoul Henry, ironmonger, &c., St. Andrew's plain Cattermoul Mr William, Chapelfield rd
 Cavell Rev Robert Corry, rector of St. Swithin's, Unthanks road
 Cavendish Mrs Mary, Chapelfield road
 Cawdron Henry, victualler, Shoulder of Mutton, St. Andrew's hill
 Cawdron Jonathan, lathe and tool maker, Duke street
 Cemeteries, Earlham road and Thorpe
 Challis Mr John, Bracondale
 Challis Thomas, shoemaker, Castle mdw
 Chalmers Wm. shopkeeper, Barrack st
 Chamber of Commerce, St. Giles' street ; C. S. Gilman, secretary
 Chamberlain William, cabinet maker, Calvert street
 Chamberlin Alexander Robt. draper ; h The Grove, Ipswich road
 Chamberlin James, grocer, and wine &c. mert. Post Office st ; h Brunswick rd
 Chamberlin Robert, draper ; h Catton
 Chamberlin, Sons, & Co. drapers, silk mercers, &c. Market place
 Chambers Mrs Mary, Theatre street
 Chambers Miss Mary Grace, Upr. Close
 Chandler George, grocer, White Lion st
 Chandler Samuel, cowkeeper, & Harriet, milliner, St. Stephen's road
 Chaplin George, lodgings, Lower Close
 Chaplin George, woolstapler, Muspole street ; h Thorpe hamlet
 Chaplin Jeremiah, sawyer, Philadelphia
 Chaplin Mrs Mary, Chapelfield road
 Chapman Abel, butcher, Magdalen st
 Chapman Abel, smith, Lower King st
 Chapman James, baker, Havelock st
 Chapman Mrs Jane E. 59 Pottergate st
 Chapman John, shopkeeper, Union st
 Chapman John, shopr. St. Miles' alley
 Chapman Luke, gardener, Dereham rd
 Chapman My. Ann, milliner, All Saints st
 Chapman Matthew, butcher, &c. (Brewster & C.) ; h Heigham
 Chapman Philip, victualler, Gardener's Arms, Tinkler's lane
 Chapman Sl. butcher, Upr. St. Giles st
 Chapman Ths. Rt., butcher, Upper walk
 Chapman Wm. carpenter and builder, Cowhill ; h Calvert street
 Chase Charles, clerk, 8 Surrey terrace
 Chatfield Francis Joseph, locomotive superintendent, Thorpe station
 Chettle Miss, St. Paul's schoolmistress
 Chettleburgh Henry, 55 St. Giles' st
 Chettleburgh Robert, saddler, Tombland
 Chew Rev. Richard (Wes.) Calvert st
 Chiddick Fras. John, baker, &c. Magln st Child Stephen, smith, Chapelfield road

Childs (John) and Curry (John) photographers, Golden Ball street
 Childs John Robert, mason, Chapelfd. rd
 Chilton Mr Wm. Henry, Bracondale
 Chilvers James, turner, Pitt street
 Chittock John Carsey, solicitor, Redwell street ; h Town close Chittock Mrs Louisa, Holl's lane
 Christie Mr Thomas, Dereham road
 Christie Thomas B. 6 Earlham road ter
 Church Charles, bill poster, Theatre st
 Church Mr George Wm., Mount pleasant
 Churchman Mrs Elizabeth, matron, Stanley Home, Peacock street
 Churchyard John, shopkpr. Cobourg st
 Clabburn Jas. Willis, plumber, painter, &c., Oak street
 Clabburn, Sons & Crisp, silk shawl, poplin, paramatta, &c., mnfrs. Pitt street
 Clabburn Thomas, mfr. ; h King street
 Clabburn Wm. manufacturer ; h Thorpe
 Clapham Jas. leather dlr. Chapel st C.P.
 Clapham John, chairmaker, Ber street
 Clapham Wm. cabt. mkr. St. Steph. Bk. st
 Clare Caroline, milliner, Magdalen street
 Clark Ann, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Clark Chas. clothes dealer, Church path
 Clark Mr Edward, Thorpe hamlet
 Clark Mr George, Surrey grove
 Clark Isaac, butcher, St. Augustine street
 Clark Isaac, pork butcher, Botolph street
 Clark James, West Wymmer street
 Clark Mrs Maria, Stafford street
 Clark John, tailor, Infirmary road
 Clark Rt. Appleton, school, Heigham pl
 Clark Mrs Sarah, Mount Pleasant
 Clark Rev. Thomas, M.A., incumbent of St. James', Thorpe hamlet
 Clarke Mrs Ann, 7 Crescent
 Clarke Chas. brewer and spirit merchant, Coslany street ; h Rosemary lane
 Clarke David, music teacher and dealer, Rising Sun lane
 Clarke Frederick, clerk, Rose lane
 Clarke Fred. Edward, tuner, Princes st
 Clarke Henry John, clerk, John st Drd.
 Clarke Jas. vict. Grapes Hotel, St. Giles' rd
 Clarke John, paramatta mfr. Redwell st
 Clarke John, rag dealer, Brazendoors rd
 Clarke John, farmer, Lakenham
 Clarke John Fryer, Kimberley st
 Clarke John Scott, Grove road
 Clarke Justinian Barrell, merchant, (C. & Reeve) ; h Richmond Lodge, Eaton
 Clarke Maria & Cath. milliners, Willow ln
 Clarke Mary Ann, vict. Lily, Ber street
 Clarke and Reeve, wharfingers and coal and corn merts. Dukes' palace wharf
 Clarke Royal, coal dealer, William street
 Clarke Sml. sanitary inspecr. Castle Mdw
 Clarke Samuel, clerk, Distillery street
 Clarke Samuel, bonnet maker, Saint Gregory's church alley

- Clarke Sam. Royal, butcher, Unthanks rd
 Clarke Sarah, grocer, Ber street
 Clarke Stephen, whitesmith, Surrey st
 Clarke Ts. vict. British Lion, Cobourg st
 Clarke Wm. watchmkr. &c., 7 Briggs st
 Clarke Wm. butcher, Pottergate street
 Clarke Wm. vict. Albert, Albert street
 Claxton Eliz. hay dlr. St. Augustine's gt
 Claxton George, shopkeeper, Trafalgar st
 Claxton George & Co., skin merts. fur cutters, and game dhrs. St. Geo. plain Claxton Wm. skin mrt. Fishgate street
 Clayton Geo. fishmonger, &c., Rampant
 Horse street
 Cleberly Miss, St. Giles' school
 Cletheroe James, plumber, &c. City road
 Cletheroe James, junr., Distillery street
 Clifford Mrs Ann, 3 Earlham road
 Clifford Hy. vict. Swiss Cottage, Drhm. rd
 Climpson Edward, tailor, Hall road
 Clitheroe James, cowkeeper, Coslany st
 Clover Chas. Barbe, victualler, New City,
 King street, Crook's place
 Clowes & Flowerdew, auctioneers, land and shipping agents, &c. Bank chambers
 Clowes Francis; house Bank place
 Clowes Mrs Rebecca, Lower close
 Cloxton Mr Robert, Thorn lane
 Coaks Richd. gentleman, Golden Dog In Cobb Fdk. Goulder, baker, 45 Pottergt. st Cobb Rev. John William, B.A., rector of St. Margaret's, Thorpe hamlet
 Cobb Leggett, butcher, Botolph street
 Cobb Robert Leggett, butcher, Magdalen street; house Sprowston
 Cochrane Robert, head master, School of Art; house 4 Surrey terrace
 Cockaday Isaac, coach lace manufacturer,
 Bedford street; h Newmarket road Cockburn Colonel James, staff officer of pensioners, Bracondale
 Cockett Henry, traveller, Distillery st
 Cocks Dennis, tailor, Magdalen street
 Cocks Mary, clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st
 Cocks Wm. smith, St. Catherine's plain Cocksedge Robert, clerk, Surrey grove Codling Arthur John, boarding and day school, Magdalen street
 Codling Robt. fishmonger, Gildengate st
 Coe Edward, co-operative store keeper,
 Lower Goat lane
 Coe Geo. firework maker, Sprowston rd
 Coe Harriet, school, Chapel street
 Coe Mark, vict. Plough Inn, Cattle mkt.
 Coe Thomas, gardener, Unthanks road
 Cogman Benjamin, victualler, White
 Swan, Cowgate street
 Cogman Frederick, tailor, Princes street
 Cohen Philip, fruiterer, Swan lane
 Colborne Rev. Pp. (Indpt.), Brunswick rd
 Colby Mrs Elizabeth, St. Stephen's sq.
 Colby John, shoemaker, Union street
 Colby Richard, printer, Golden Dog In.
 Colby Samuel, victualler, Bull and Butcher, St. Giles' hill
 Coldham Alfred, cooper, Dereham road
 Coldham Henry, butcher, Tombland
 Coldham Jas. vict. Barn, Dereham road
 Coldham John, butcher, Bridge st St. G.
 Coldwell Harriet P., school, Bracondale
 Cole Misses Anne & Emily, Thorpe ham
 Cole Edward, clerk, Brunswick terrace
 Cole Elijah, beerhouse, Earlham road
 Cole Mrs Emma, Princes street
 Cole John Beck, tailor, draper, and hatter, Post Office street
 Coleby Martha, milliner, Bridge street
 Coleman Abrm. dentist, West Wymer st
 Coleman Abraham, clerk, Palace street
 Coleman George Lovick, draper, mercer, &c., Market place; h Surlingham
 Coleman Hy. Beverley, gent. Thorpe ham
 Coleman Wm vict. Albert Tav. Ber st Collett Robert Geo. victualler, White- friers, Whitefriars' street
 Collier Mr George, Paragon street
 Collins Albert John, solicitor, Willow In Collins Fanny, dpr. & milnr. London st
 Collins Geo. clerk, John st. Dereham rd
 Collins James, shoemaker, Davey place
 Collyer Mrs Harriet, Tombland
 Colman Charles, fishmonger, Fishmarket
 Colman and Glendenning, ironmongers, oilmen, &c. Rampant Horse street
 Colman Mr. Henry, 9 Lakenham terrace
 Colman James, victualler, Peacock, Saint
 Stephen's plain
 Colman Jeremiah James, ironmonger,
 &c.; h Carrow House
 Colman J. & J. corn and oil millers, and paper, mustard, starch, and blue mfrs.
 Carrow Works and Rampant Horse st
 Colman Mr John Daniel, Heigham road
 Colman Mrs Mary, Ipswich road
 Colman Mr Robert, Golden Dog lane
 Colman Mr Samuel, 3 Lakenham terrace
 Colman Samuel, carpenter, Suffolk st
 Colman Mr William, Dereham road Colsey Francis, temperance hotel and boarding house, Exchange street
 Colvey Daniel, beerhouse, Tinkler's In Coman Hy. grocer, &c. St. Benedict st
 Comer Henry, baker, St. Margaret st
 Commins John, Magdalen road
 Compere Thos. Bond, card & millboard
 &c. mfr. Badding's In; h Thorpe ham
 Constable William & Co. coach builders, Chapelfield road; h Grove place, N. L.
 Cook A. Maria, horse corn &c. dlr. Pitt st
 Cook Rev. Bell, rector St. Paul's Untks. rd
 Cook Charlotte My. dressmkr. St. Giles' st
 Cook James, clerk, 5 St. Giles' hill
 Cook James Matthews, victualler, Cellar
 House, Barrack street
 Cook Jeremiah, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Cook John, cooper, Botolph street

- Cook John, smith, Church street, St. M.
 Cook John, gardener, Bishopgate street
 Cook Joseph, carver and gilder, Bedford street; h St. Faith's lane
 Cook Robt. shoemkr. 21 White Lion st
 Cook Robert Peter, brush maker and stationer, Magdalen street
 Cook Samuel, brush mfr. 6 Davey place
 Cook Samuel, postman, Thorne lane
 Cook Sar. vict. Locomotive, Norfolk st
 Cooke Betsy A. school, Colegate street
 Cooke Edward Robert, St. John's terrace
 Cooke Eliza, regtr. office, St. Stephen's rd
 Cooke Emma, school, Cow hill
 Cooke Rev. George Harris, M.A. incumbent of St. Matthews, Thorpe hamlet
 Cooke Hannah, dyer, Coslany street
 Cooke Miss Harriet Susan, Newmkt. rd
 Cooke Hy. solr. (Rackham & C.); h Catton
 Cooke Henry, shoemkr. St. Saviour's ln
 Cooke James, plumber, painter, &c. Rampant Horse street
 Cooke John, smith, Coslany street
 Cooke Mary Ann, school, Charles st. H.
 Cooke Wm. druggist, 27 St. Giles' st
 Cooke Rev. William Harris, M.A. incumbent of St. Saviour's, Thorpe ham
 Cooper Carlos, Esq. barrister, Orford hill; house Lakenham
 Cooper Daniel, cab owner, Unthinks rd
 Cooper Mrs Elizabeth, Unthinks road
 Cooper Emanuel, surgeon, Tombland
 Cooper Isabella & Son (Wm.), slvrsmiths. jewellers & watchmakers, 20 London st
 Cooper James, victualler, Two Quarts, Bridge street, St. George's Cooper James Daniel, Gun lane
 Cooper Jane, milliner, Magdalen street
 Cooper Jerh. vict. Keel & Wherry, King st
 Cooper John, victualler, Morgan's Cellar House, King street
 Cooper John, shoemaker, Rupert street
 Cooper Jno. Norton Val. Esq. 3 Crescent
 Cooper Miss Louisa, Thorpe hamlet
 Cooper Richard, baker, Cobourg street
 Cooper Robert, solicitor (Dalrymple and C.); h 4 Carlton terrace
 Cooper Robt. plmbr. pntr. &c. Stepping ln
 Cooper Robt. victualler, Orchard Tavern, St. Faith's lane
 Cooper Rev. Robt. Hy. M.A. Brunswick ter
 Cooper Mrs Sarah, Lower close
 Cooper Thomas, victualler, Gardeners' Arms, Timberhill
 Cooper Thos. shopkpr. St. Augustine's st
 Cooper William, painter and victualler, Plough, St. Benedict street
 Cooper William, gent. Lakenham
 Cooper Wm. Nathaniel, cashier, King st
 Co-operative Stores, Ber street, Oak st. Union street, and Lower Goat lane
 Copeman Rev. Arthur Charles, M.B. incmbt. St. Andrew's, St. Andrew's pln Copeman and Bell, milliners, Saint Gregory's Church alley
 Copeman Edward, M.D. Upper King st
 Copeman Edward, shoemaker, Union st
 Copeman Edward Robert, clerk, Hall rd
 Copeman Geo. sweep, St. Stephen's pln
 Copeman Horace, sweep, St. Stephen's st
 Copeman James, shoemaker, Norfolk st
 Copeman Mr John, Surrey grove
 Copeman Jno. jun. (& Sons); h 12 The Walk
 Copeman John Cole, solicitor, (Freestone and C.); h Thorpe hamlet
 Copeman Martha, school, King street
 Copeman Mrs Mary, Distillery street
 Copeman and Sons, grocers and tea dlr. 12 The Walk
 Copeman Wm. grocer; h 12 The Walk
 Copeman William, shoemkr. Norfolk st
 Copestake, Moore, and Co. lace and millinery dealers, Bedford street
 Copland Wm. clerk, St. Saviour's lane
 Coppin Edward, shoe mfr. 8 York place
 Corbitt Rev. John (Baptist), Thorn lane
 Corbyn Hartwell, tailor, John st, D. rd
 Cordran Mrs Lucy, Chapelfield road
 Cork John, gardener, Brunswick road
 Cornwell John, vict. Surrey Inn, Surrey rd
 Corps James and Son, organ builders, Bridge street; house Surrey terrace Corps James Matthew; house Essex st
 Corrick William, cabinet maker and upholsterer, 62 St Giles' street
 Corsbie Charles James, Heigham road
 Corsbie Denis Tooke, Town close
 Corsbie Hy. John Abbs, 11 Brunswick rd
 Corsbie Samuel Webster, Park lane
 Cosgrove Ths. R. vict. Nelson, Timber hill
 Cossey John, rent collector, Gildengt. st
 Cossey John, druggist, St. Augustine's st
 Cott Henry, shoemaker, Cross st Upl.
 Cott Robert, shoemaker, Julian street
 Cott Thomas, pawnbroker, Pottergate st
 Cottingham Jph. J. drugst. 1 St. Giles' st
 County Court Office, Princes street
 Cousens John, lodgings, Rising Sun ln
 Cousins Thomas, shoe manfr. Bethel st
 Cousins Wm. plumber, Lower Goat lane
 Cowan Alexander, draper, Dereham road
 Cowan Chtte. vict. Tuns, All Saints' gn
 Cox Bernard, shoemaker, St. Giles' road; house Lawrence street
 Cox Edmund, victualler, Sons of Commerce, Thorn lane
 Cox James, lay clerk, Oxford street
 Cox William, rope maker, Scoles green
 Coy Jeffery, manager, Coslany street
 Cozens Mrs Mary Ann, Pitt street
 Cracknell Mr Richard, Mount pleasant
 Crampton Mrs Una, Philadelphia
 Crane Poynter, Esq. R.N., Dereham rd
 Craske Henry, hairdresser, Cobourg st
 Craske James, cabinet maker and upholsterer, 9 Lower Goat lane

- Craske Mrs Mary, St. Giles' hill
 Crawshay Charles, brewer, (Youngs and Co.); house Hingham
 Creed Jas. ginger beer mfr. Colegate st
 Cremer Robert, surgeon, Magdalen st
 Cresswell Addison John, Esq. (J.P.) banker, Bracondale
 Crickmore Henry, victualler, Cattle Market Inn, Cattle market
 Crickmore Wm. shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Crisp Comdr. James, R.N., Oxford st
 Crisp John Wiseman, tailor, draper, and robe maker, Castle meadow Crisp Thomas Dawson, manufacturer, (Clabburn & Co.); house Pitt street
 Crisp William, sweep, Brazen doors road
 Critchfield Sl. music profr. Up. King st
 Critton Miss, Stanley Home School
 Crofts Rev. Edward (Wes.) Windsor ter
 Croker John Michael, Esq. 15 Crescent
 Crome Edward, coal dealer, Barn road
 Crompton Rev. Joseph William (Free Christian), Bracondale
 Crook John, surgeon; and Mrs & Miss, teachers of singing & dancing, Tombl'd
 Crook Mrs Sarah, Mile end lane
 Crook Wm. Gus. drugst. Chapel st Upl.
 Cross Daniel, clerk, Thorpe hamlet
 Cross Daniel, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Cross Mrs Elizabeth, Grove place
 Cross John, clerk, Dereham road
 Cross William, butcher, Rose lane
 Crosse Mrs Mary Ann, farmer, Earlam
 Crosse Thomas William, surgeon and registrar, 22 St. Giles' street
 Crosskill Rbt. shopr. Bridge st St. Geo.'s
 Crosskill Rt. cork cutter, Bridge st St. G.
 Crosskill Wm. shopkeeper, Oak street
 Crotch Matthew, hairdresser, Cowgate st
 Crotch William, Chapelfield road
 Crowe Edw. vict. Balloon, Lr. Westwick st
 Crowe Eleanor, shopkeeper, Elm hill
 Crowe Fdk. vict. White Lion, Magdalen st
 Crowe John & Sons, cabinet makers and upholsterers, St. Stephen's street
 Crowe John, jun., Robert, and William; house St. Stephen's street
 Crowe John, sen.; h Brazen doors road
 Crowfoot George, baker, Howard street
 Crowfoot William, broker, Ber street
 Crowther Miss Jane, Newmarket road
 Croxford Alfred, agent to Blackie and Co. 48 Upper St. Giles' street
 Cubitt Misses Agnes & Fanny, Lr. Close
 Cubitt George & Charles, chemists and druggists, 17 The Walk
 Cubitt Jas. vict. Cellar House, King st
 Cubitt John, victualler, Royal Exchange, Julian street
 Cubitt Samuel Durrant, wholesale iron-monger, Market place; h 2 Victoria st Cubitt Thos. victualler, Jolly Brewers, Magdalen street
 Cubitt William Jary, wine and spirit merchant, &c. Magdalen st; h Catton
 Cudbard Chas. machine mkr. Theatre st
 Cullen Mr Thomas B., Trory street
 Culley Miss Ann Maria, Thorpe hamlet
 Culley and Hart, corn, cake, oil, coal, timber, &c. merchants, Duke's palace
 Culley Robert Thomas, solicitor, and deputy coroner for Norfolk, Bank st Culley Mrs Sarah, Gildengate street
 Culling Geo. Robert, shopr. Trafalgar st
 Cullingford Horace, rag mert. Botolph st Cullingford Ths. paper mfr. Palace plain Cullington Mark W. tailor, W. Wymer st
 Cullington Mrs My. Ann, 8 Lame dog rd
 Cullyer George, whitesmith, Cow hill
 Cullyer Mr George, Paragon street
 Cullyer W. Fk. glass stainer, Willow ln
 Culyer Charles Arthur, cooper, Rampant Horse street
 Culyer Erasmus Stannard, slater and slate merchant, King street
 Culyer Thos. wood carver, Castle mdw.
 Cundall Mr Benjamin, 4 Newmarket rd
 Cundall & Keer, drapers, mercers, and shawl manufacturers, 19 The Walk
 Cundall Lawrence Drake, bookseller, printer, &c; house Princes street
 Cundall & Miller, booksellers, binders, and engravers, Rampant Horse street
 Cundall, Miller, and Leavins, printers, &c, Rampant Horse street
 Cundall Rd. (C. & Keer); h 19 The Walk
 Cunningham M. A. dress mkr. Duke st
 Cunningham Edw. artist, St. Benedict st
 Cunningham Thomas, victualler, Eight Ringers, Coslany street
 Cunnington Wm. & Sons (Charles Hy. & Jas.) woodturners, Lr. Westwick st Cunnington William, victualler, New Brewery, Lower Westwick street
 Cupper James, clerk, St. Stephen's road
 Curle Robert, shoemaker, King street
 Curme George, butcher, Fye Bridge st
 Currie Jas. vict. Fleece, Bridewell alley
 Curry John, artist, Golden Ball street
 Curson Mrs A. matron, Magdalen
 Curtis & Balls, builders, Alma square
 Curtis Francis: h West Pottergate st
 Curtis Geo. Bygrave, bricklyr. Scoles gn
 Curtis John, hairdresser, St. Peter's st
 Curtis L. G. music, Richmond place
 Curtis Mr William, Oxford street
 Curtis Wm. police inspr. Somerleyton st
 Cushing Elizabeth, school, John st Drd
 Cushing George, lecturer, John street
 Cushion Mrs Emily, Mount Pleasant
 Cushion John, basket mkr. Stamp cross
 Cushion Wm. timber mert. Lothian st
 Custance Jonthn. toy dlr. Stamp cross
 Cutting Wm. victualler, Hampshire Hog, St. Swithin's Church alley
 Cutler Rev. Chas. Newman, Bracondale

- Dack Jonth. fishmonger, Fishgate st
 Dady Daniel, fruiterer, St. Stephen's st
 Daines Elizabeth, victualler, Coach and Horses, Bethel street
 Daines James, shoemaker, Holl's lane
 Daines Robert, carpenter, Hall road
 Dakin Wm. Howard & Co. tea dealers, &c. 7 Davey place; h Mount Pleasant Dallinger Joseph & Son, (Jph. Alex.) engravers, lithographers, &c. 12 Davey pl
 Dalrymple Arthur, solr. (D. & Cooper), and clerk of peace for Norwich, 66 St. Giles' street
 Dalrymple & Cooper, solrs. 66 St. Giles' st
 Dalrymple Donald, Esq. M.D., J.P. Surrey street; house Thorpe Lodge
 Dalton Rev. John (R. Cath.) St. John's st
 Dalton Samuel, gent. St. Giles' terrace
 Dambrock John, vict. Butchers, Ber st
 Daniels Benj. butcher, Colegate street
 Daniels Joseph, victualler, Buff Coat Tavern, Buff Coat lane
 Daniels Mary, milliner, Magdalen street
 Daniels Mary Ann, vict. Vine, Dove st
 Daniels Thomas, butcher, Magdalen rd
 Dann Isaac, shoemaker, St. Benedict st
 Dann James, warehsmen. Magdalen rd
 Dansey Wm. clothes dealer, St James' st
 Daplin Mrs Mary Ann, Clarence road
 Darken James, bookseller, &c. Swan ln
 Darken James, jun., piano-forte & music seller, 6 London st; h 39 Victoria st
 Darkins Cannel, builder, Stamp cross
 Dashwood Ed. H. traveller, Storrer's bgs
 Dashwood Lancelot, surgeon, Bethel st
 Daveney Maj.-Gen. Burton, Heigham grv
 Daveney Chs. Burton, solicitor, Bethel st
 Davey Edwd. watchmaker, John st Drd.
 Davey Miss Elizabeth, Magdalen street
 Davey Thomas and Son (Joseph), silk merchants, Pitt street; h Thorpe
 Davey Mr Wm. Purdey, Dereham road
 Davey Rev. Wm. Cufaude, M.A., chaplain of Diocesan Female Training Institution, St. George's plain
 Davies Rev. Alfred, M.A., sub-minister of St. Peter's Mancroft, 6 Surrey st
 Davis Mrs Elizabeth, 6 Alma terrace
 Davis Mr Henry, 31 Pottergate street
 Davis Mark, working jeweller, Ber st
 Davison Matthew, baker, Rising Sun ln
 Davy Geo. James, vict. Ship, King st
 Davy Jane & Mary, milliners, 6 Upper St. Giles' street
 Davy John, printer, St. Clement's alley
 Dawbarn James, coal, corn, and salt merchant, Castle meadow, &c.
 Dawber Wm. corn dealer, Wensum st; house 1 Newmarket terrace
 Dawes Lawrence, carver and gilder, Bedford st; and victualler, Perseverance Tavern, William street
 Daws Mr Chas. Williment, Bedford st
 Daws Robert, carpenter, Dereham road
 Dawson Daniel, hot presser (Lloyd & D.); house Coslany street
 Dawson Ed. Herrinton, tailor, Scoles gn
 Dawson Mrs Eliza, Holl's lane
 Dawson Mr George, Kimberley street
 Dawson George, grocer, St. Benedict st
 Dawson Geo. brickmaker, Brazen doors rd
 Dawson George Heffer, Bedford street
 Dawson John Benj. shoemkr. Adelaide st
 Dawson Jonathan, butcher, Magdalen st
 Dawson Philip, butcher, Magdalen st
 Dawson Robert, tobacconist, Bedford st
 Dawson Robt. Thorndick, printer (Thorndick and Dawson); h Princes street
 Dawson Samuel, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Dawson Samuel, accmpt. 16 William st
 Dawson Wm. vict. Chop House, Up. walk
 Dawson Wm. missionary, Brunswick ter
 Day Rev. George, M.A., minor canon, and vicar of Eaton, Upper Close Day Miss Harriet, Pottergate street
 Day Peter and Son (Alfred), solicitors, Upper Surrey street
 Day Thos. Starling, corn inspr. Sussex st
 Day William, clerk to city magistrates, Trowse-Millgate
 Day Wm. shoemaker, West Wymer street
 Day Wm. Hanks, surgeon, All Saint's gn
 Day Wm. Starling, cashier to Board of Guardians, 11 St. Clement's hill ter
 Daynes Henry, beerhouse, Queen street
 Daynes Jno. vict. Ld. Nelson, Trafalgar st
 Daynes Maria, victualler, Crown and Angel, St. Stephen's street
 Daynes Saml. printer, St. Stephen's st; house Mile End lane
 Deacon Rev. James, M.A., rector of St. Peter Southgate, incumbent of St. Etheldred, and vicar of Walsham St. Mary; Earlham road
 Deacon Rev. Js. Parlett, B.A., Heigham rd
 Deacon Miss Mary, St. Swithin's villas
 Dean Alfred, eating house, St. Peter's st
 Dean Mr James, 5 Bloomsbury place
 Deane Mr Edward, Dereham road
 Deane Mr James, 4 Bloomsbury place
 Deane Ths. Langley, insce. agt. Duke st
 Dearle George, dentist, 1 Post Office st
 Death John, shoemaker, Chapel st C. pl.
 Debbage Jas. vict. Fountain, St. Bene. st
 Debenham Mr William, Sussex street
 De Carle James Irwin, Heigham road
 De Carle Jph. druggist, St. Benedict st
 De Carle Wm. traveller, 15 Victoria st
 De Caux Arthur, gent. St. Augustn. st
 De Caux William, gentleman, Wensum st
 De Caux Wm. cab owner, Castle Hotel yard; house St. Stephen's road
 Deeks John, watchmaker and victualler, George IV., Ber street
 Dela Cour Mrs Sarah A., St. Stephen's rd
 Delf Emily Eliz. milliner, 3 Victoria st

- Delf Sarah Ann, fancy depôt, Princes st
 Delf Wm. Stannard, accept. Dereham rd
 Delph Thos. vict. Flower-in-Hand, Pitt st
 Delph Wm. plumber, &c. St. Augus. st Delph Wm. junr., victualler, Prince of Wales, St. Augustine street
 Denmark Hamlet William, haberdasher,
 Magdalen street
 Denmark W. vict. Seven Stars, Barrack st
 Denney John, shopkeeper, Union street
 Dennis George, cowkeeper, King street
 Denny Richd. traveller, Chapelfield road
 Denny Thomas, clerk, Heigham road
 Dent Thomas, butcher, Ber street
 Dental Infirmary, Rigby's court
 De Vear Miss Emma, Cow hill
 Devereaux Edm. plumber, Gildengate st
 Devereaux Mrs Mary, Dereham road
 Dew Britiffe Edm. supt. Rosary Cemetery
 Dew B. E., jun., hair drsr. The Butchery
 Dewing Frdk. artist, Botolph st; h Tmbl'd
 Dewing Mrs Mary, St. Giles' road
 Dewing Richd. timber dlr. New Catton
 Dexter and Moll, drapers, Market place
 Dexter Robert, draper; h Market place
 Diamond Mrs Mary, Mount Pleasant
 Dickerson Rebecca, shopkeeper, Ber st
 Dickinson Josiah, shoemkr. St. Steph. rd
 Dicks R. & J., gutta percha shoe makrs.
 St. Stephen's street
 Didwell Robt. Corn Exchange keeper
 Diggins Geo. & Co., drapers and haberdashers, Swan lane and Bedford street
 Dingle Henry, butcher, St. Paul's street
 Dispensary, St. John's street
 Diver Mr Owen Albert, Chapelfield road
 Dix Miss A. C., Chapelfield
 Dix William James, farmer, Eaton Grove
 Dixon Mrs Ann, Valentine street
 Dixon Edw. Lister, drpr. &c. Magdalen st
 Dixon Joseph, tonnage collector, Carrow Dixon Thomas, watch and clock maker, optician, &c. 17 London street
 Dobson Robert, shoemaker, Unthanks rd
 Dodd Edward James, and Mrs, master and matron of Bethel Hospital
 Dodd Harriet, music, Chapelfield road
 Dodman Mr John, Distillery street
 Dodson Mrs Rachel, St. Stephen's square
 Donegani Frederick, shopkpr. Silver rd
 Donne Miss Anna M. Lower Close
 Doubleday John, shopkeeper, Napier st
 Doughty My. vict. King's Head, Davey pl
 Douglas John, shopkeeper, Silver road
 Dover Charles, vict. Angel, New Catton
 Dover Wm. John, whsman. 5 Alma ter
 Dow John, tailor, Golding street
 Downes Henry & Co. tailors, London st
 Downes James, shoemaker, Vauxhall st
 Downes Thomas, artist, Bethel street
 Downing John, builder, Pitt street
 Downing Joseph, china, glass, fishing tackle, &c. dealer, 22 The Walk Downman Captain John Thomas, barrack master, Mount Pleasant Dowson B. U. and Sons, corn and coal merchants, Duke's palace & Yarmouth Dowson Edward Utting (D. and Sons); house Geldeston
 Dowson Edward Christmas, plumber & painter, Duke street
 Dowson John Withers, solicitor, &c.
 Prince of Wales road
 Drage William, victualler, World's End,
 World's End lane
 Drake Charles, surgeon and registrar,
 All Saints green
 Drake Francis, beerhouse, Coslany st
 Drake Mr Geo. Frederick, New Catton
 Drake George, victualler, Three Horse
 Shoes, Palace street
 Drake Hephzibah, milliner, Victoria st
 Drake John, ginger beer mfr. Ber street
 Drake Mrs Mary, Chatham place
 Drake Robert, postman, Russell street
 Drake Chpr. jun. gardnr. West Wymer st
 Drane Christopher, cowkeeper, Alms' st
 Drane William auctioneer, surveyor, &c.
 St. Stephen's road
 Draper Henry, telegraph office, 15 The Walk; house Lower Goat lane
 Drew John, steelyard maker, Ber street, house Southwell street
 Drew William, missionary, Heigham rd
 Driver Mrs Agnes, Dereham road
 Driver William, clerk, Belvoir street
 Drury John Henry, Esq., barrister,
 Saint Leonard's, Mousehold
 Ducker Jas. Frostick, grocr. Lr. Westwkt st
 Duffield Abigail, stationer, Gildengate st Duffield Henry, tailor, Exchange street;
 house 48 Pottergate street
 Duffield Mrs Sarah, Heigham road
 Dugdale Mrs Sophia, Willow lane
 Duge Mrs S. 1 Trafalgar place
 Dunch Thomas Denmark, victualler,
 Golden Cross, Charing cross
 Dunham John, grocer, &c. Grove place
 Dunmore Robt. corn dlr. St. Benedict st
 Dunmore Thomas, corn dlr. Coslany st
 Dunn Charles, painter, &c. Surrey grove
 Dunn James, shoe manufacturer, Pitt st
 Dunn Jas. jun. shoe mfr. Golden Dog ln
 Dunn John, baker, West Pottergate st
 Dunn Samuel, hairdresser, Magdalen st
 Dunn Wm. St. Andrew's Hall keeper
 Dunn Wm. Fredk. collr. Chapelfield rd
 Dunnett Mary, school, Surrey street
 Dunsford James, dentist (Suggett & D.); h Unthanks road
 Dunthorne Jno. vict. Magpie, St. Aug.'s gt
 Duntun Agatha, draper, Vauxhall street
 Durdin Rev. Alexander Warham, B.A.
 inc. of St. George's Colegt; h West par
 Durrant Eliz. shopkeeper, Mariner's ln
 Durrant George, solicitor, Surrey street

Durrant Henry, grocer, Ber street
 Durrant Michael, shopkeeper, King st
 Durrant Robt. grcr. &c. Church st, St. M.
 Durst Rev. John, incumbent of Saint
 Peter-per-Mountergate; h 6 Surrey st
 Dyball Mrs Emily, Bracondale
 Dyball Edward, watchmaker & jeweller,
 Post Office street
 Dyball Robt. butcher, Northumberland st
 Dye Miss Alice, St. Andrew's street
 Dye Mary A. school, St. Martin's-at-Oak Dye George, tailor, 1 Queen street Dye Mary and Margaret, earthenware dealers, Back of the Inns Dye Mrs, dressmaker, Alma square
 Dyer John Jephunneh, cane wrkr. Ber st
 Dyer Thomas, shopkeeper, Union street
 Eade Peter, M.D. Queen street
 Eagleton George, watchmaker, Ber st
 Earl James, schoolmaster, Hall road
 Earl John, beerhouse, Magdalen street
 Earl Joseph, marine store dealer, Ber st
 East of England Bank, Haymarket, Wm.
 S. Wilson, manager
 Eastaugh Geo. upholsterer, King st. Cpl
 Eastaugh My. vict. York Tav. Castle mdw
 Eastaugh Nathaniel, Rose lane
 Easter Caroline, shopkpr. Chapel st, Cpl
 Easter Robert, traveller, Unthanks rd
 Easto Geo. vict. Church Style, St. Peter's st
 Eastoe Geo. telegraph clk. 13 Exchange st
 Easton Haylett, vict. Elephant, Magdln. st
 Easton Isaac, vict. Unicorn, Coslany st
 Eaton Mr Thomas Damont, Chapelfield
 Ebbetts Mrs Elizabeth, 14 Chapelfield
 Ecclestone Jas. victualler, Ribs of Beef,
 Wensum street
 Ede Ede, carpenter, 3 Gildengate street
 Edgar Mrs Elizabeth, 2 Grove place
 Edwards Ann, furrier, Castle meadow Edwards Edward Manning, hairdresser and perfumer, 40 London street
 Edwards George, shoemaker, Pitt street
 Edwards James, shopkpr. St. Paul's pln
 Edwards Maria, school, Kimberley st
 Edwards Miss Mary, Chapelfield road
 Edwards Matilda, hairdrrs. Red Lion st Edwards Thomas, land agent, &c. Bank chambers; h Keswick
 Edwards Wm. tailor, Queen st, Crook's pl
 Edwards William Pye, draper, Saint Stephen's street; h Cringleford
 Egan Richard, hat cleaner, Ber street
 Eglenton John, shopkpr. Chapel st, Cpl
 Eglington Elijah, miller, Philadelphia
 Egmore Mrs Elizabeth, Newmarket st
 Eke Wm. beerhs. St. Stephen's Back st
 Eldridge Mr Jas. Upton, 7 St. Clemt.'s ter
 Ellingham Henry, plumber, &c. Elm hill
 Elliott George, beerhouse, Cowgate st
 Elliott Mr John, 2 Crescent
 Elliott Mary, milliner, Bank street
 Ellis Edward, gardener, Chatham street

Ellis Mrs Mary, All Saints' green
 Ellis Robert, vict. Mitre, Briggs' street Ellis Thos. Richard, jeweller (Etheridge and E.); house Ipswich road
 Ellis Wm. potato dealer, Coslany street
 Ellison Eliz. shopr. Lower Westwick st
 Ellison Frances, turner, barometer mkr.
 and fancy depôt, Dove street
 Ellison John Stephen, tea dlr. Dove st
 Ellison Robert, wood turner, Upper Goat lane; house Lower Westwick street
 Ellison Wm. vict. British Lion, King st
 Ellison Wm. working jeweller, Bank st
 Ellwood Henry, butcher, Timber hill
 Elmer Mrs Ann, Chapel field
 Elmer Edmund, clerk, Hall road
 Elmer John, clerk, St. Catherine's plain
 Elmer John, gardener, Lower Close
 Elmer Mrs Mary Ann, Unthanks road
 Elphinstone Roderick, nurseryman, &c.
 London street and Sproveston
 Elwes John, shoemaker, St. Stephen's rd
 Emery Mr George, Mount Pleasant
 Emmerson Mttw. Sallitt, solr. Orford hill
 Emms Wm. vict. White Hart, Ber street
 Empson Harriet, baker, Saint James' st
 Emslie Jas. & Son (Jas. Wm.), engravers,
 &c. Back of the Inns; h Horn's lane
 Enfield William, clerk, Colegate street
 Engall Joseph, game dealer, Botolph st
 Engall Thos. shopkpr. Lwr. Westwick st
 England Wm. coal merchant, Green Man yard and Water ln; h Synagogue st
 English Mrs Eliz. 20 Bloomsbury place
 English Mrs E. Brunswick road
 English Emma, shopkpr. Golden Ball st
 English John Bennett, draper (& Sons); h West parade
 English John B. (& Sons); h London st
 English Jph. druggist, Up. St. Giles' st
 English Sarah, vict. Albion, Market pl
 English and Sons, drapers, mercers, &c.
 London street
 English Wm. Barker; h 1 Lakenham. ter
 Equilbecq Mademoiselle Elise, French teacher, Willow lane
 Esling Hy. eating & beerhs. Orford hill Etheridge and Ellis, watchmakers and jewellers, 10 The Walk Evans Chas. Esq. M.A. barrister, Upper
 Surrey street
 Everard Joseph John, Heigham road
 Everard Thos. farmer, Mount Pleasant
 Everett Rev. George Blake, rector of Saint Edmunds
 Everett James, drill master, Bedford st
 Everett Jph. woolstapler & fellmonger,
 Bishop's bridge; h Bishopgate street
 Everett Mr Robert, Mount Pleasant
 Everett Thomas, merchant, Trory st
 Everett Wm. Wilson, St. Stephen's road
 Everett Wm. tailor, Chapel street, Cpl
 Ewing Miss Ellen Eliz. St. Giles' road

- Ewing John Wm. seedsman and florist, 9 Exchange street; and nurseryman and lime burner, Eaton
- Eye Infirmary, Pottergate street
- Fabb William Josiah, Dereham road
- Fairhead Louisa, milliner, 9 Pottergt. st
- Fairhead Maria, upholstress, Cow hill
- Fairman Thos. builder and tax collector,
5 Oxford street
- Fairman Wm. hair dresser, Pockthorpe
- Fairweather Henry, upholsterer, &c.,
Unthinks road
- Fairweather Mrs Lydia, draper, &c.,
4 London street
- Fake John, vict. Wrestlers, St. James' st
- Falkner George, excise, Alderford ter
- Fane Edw. basket maker, Pottergate st
- Farmer Benjamin, school, Pottergate st
- Farnell Jas. Thomas, boarding and day school, St. Giles' street
- Farnell Wm. Keeling, boarding and day school, Chapelfield
- Farrer Thomas, fishmonger, Ber street
- Farrow Ellen, lodgings, Unthinks road
- Farrow Mr William, Oak street
- Faulke Mr James, 24 Victoria street
- Faux Charles, sergeant, Militia Hospital,
102 Pottergate street
- Fawcett Samuel, Lakenham Mill
- Fearnside Benj. vict. Rose, Palace st
- Featherstone Thomas, 8 Douro terrace
- Feavyer William, baker, Botolph street
- Felstead Chte. furrier, Castle Meadow
- Felstead James, shopkeeper, Union st
- Felstead Robert, victualler, Catherine Wheel, St. Augustine street
- Feltham Barnabas, corn miller, New L.
- Feltham Charles, ferryman, Lower Close
- Fenn John, French polisher, Ber street
- Fenn John Friday, victualler, The Oxford,
Upper Walk
- Fenn Robt. shopkeeper, Magdalen st
- Fenn Samuel, dyer, Distillery street
- Fenn Mrs Sarah, 2 St. Giles' terrace
- Fenton John, school, Colegate street
- Fickling Fredk. Robert, Esq., Ber House
- Fidgett Miss Henrietta, 38 Victoria st
- Field Alfred, shopkeeper, Finket street
- Field & Bignold, solicitors, Up. Surrey st
- Field Edward, solicitor; h Surrey st
- Field Rev. Frederick, M.A., rector of Reepham, Carlton terrace
- Field Robert, clerk, King street
- Field Robt. chair maker, Queen st C. pl
- Figg Geo. vict. Boar's Head, Surrey st
- Filbey Wm. Edward, victualler, Walnut
Shades, Old Post Office yard
- Fill Wm. Golding, scrptr. reader, Oak st
- Finch James, sweep, St. Miles' alley
- Finch John, carpenter, Trowse
- Finch John Valentine, Sussex street
- Finch Walter, whitesmith, Union street
- Finch Wm. sweep, St. Miles' Church st
- Finch William, hair weaver and beer-house, Weaver's lane
- Finegan Thomas William, professor of languages, West Pottergate street
- Firth Mrs Ellen, 8 Crescent
- Firth Geo. Warren Watts, surgeon, 65
Saint Giles' street
- Fish John, vict. Cellar House, Eaton
- Fish Wm. music seller, Bridewell alley
- Fisher Daniel, school, 6 Lakenham ter
- Fisher Edw. plumber, &c., Timber hill
- Fisher Mrs Elizabeth, 4 Lame Dog road
- Fisher Frederick, surgeon, 11 Crescent
- Fisher Henry John, reporter, Oxford st
- Fisher James, solicitor, (Steward & F.);
house Lower Close
- Fisher James Cracknell, grocer and provision merchant, 62 St. Stephen's st
- Fisher Jas. rope mk. St. Saviour's alley
- Fisher John, plumber, &c. Heigham rd
- Fisher Joseph, shoemaker, Fye Bridge
- Fisher Mrs and Misses, Lower Close
- Fisher Robt. grocer, Bridge st St. Geo.
- Fisher Thomas, surveyor, architect, and valuer of ecclesiastical dilapidations,
Museum court; house 11 Crescent
- Fisher William, builder, Magdalen st
- Fisher Wm. excise officer, Magdalen rd
- Fisher Wm. Turkish Baths, Old Stamp
Office yard
- Fisk Adam, beerhouse, Upper King st
- Fisk Mrs Mary Margaret, The Chantry
- Fiske Francis Robert, draper, London street; house 27 Castle Meadow
- Fiske John, clerk of St. Augustine's
- Fitch & Chambers, chemists & druggists,
Market place
- Fitch Charles, grocer, Coslany street
- Fitch Robt. Esq. (F.S.A., F.G.S., J.P.)
chemist; house Market place
- Fitt Ann, greengrocer, Botolph street
- Fitt Bartholomew, pipe maker, Ber st
- Fitt Edw. victualler, Duke of Wellington,
Wellington lane
- Fitt Eliza, vict. Ginshop, Castle Meadow
- Fitt Frederick, victualler, Wine Coopers'
Arms, West Pottergate street
- Fitt Jane Isbla. school, 5 Lakenham ter
- Fitt John, joiner, Rising Sun Lane
- Fitt Joseph, shoemaker, Havelock street
- Fitt Mr Richard, Earlham road
- Fitt William, butcher, Ber street
- Fitzgerald Michael S., Catholic schoolmaster, Willow lane
- Flatt John, ironmonger, &c. Magdalen st
- Flaxman William, victualler, Golden
Can, Broad street, St. Andrew's
- Fleet James Robert, Earlham road
- Fletcher Jph. vict. Red Lion, Bridge st
- Fletcher Josiah, bookseller, printer, engraver, &c., Depôt of Bible Society, 8 The Walk; house Unthinks road
- Fletcher Samuel, vict. Anchor, Silver rd

- Floyd William, school, Colegate street
 Flower Jonathan, draper, Wensum st
 Flowerdew Richard John, auctioneer, (Clowes and F.); h Heigham grove
 Folk Charles, baker, King street, C. pl
 Folk Charles, jun., baker, Gildengate st
 Folk Edward, baker, King street, C. pl
 Folkard George, shopkeeper, Vauxhall st
 Ford Robert, builder, St. George's plain; house Thorpe hamlet
 Ford Wm. Foyster & Son (Wm. Chas.), shoe mfrs. Colegate st and 7 Back of the Inns; house Earlsam road Forder James, blacksmith, Chapelfield road; house Julian street
 Forder James, gardener, Eaton
 Foreman Jas. butcher, Trowse-Millgate
 Forrest Rev. Sth. (Wes.), Heigham rd
 Forrester George, land agent, Tombland
 Forster Mr Francis, Mount Pleasant
 Forster John, milliner, 28 London st
 Forster Saml. shopkeeper, St. James st
 Forster Thomas, shopkeeper, Union st
 Forster Thos. grocer, West Pottergate st
 Foster Charles, solicitor, (Sons & Co.); house Thorpe
 Foster Mrs F., Nelson terrace
 Foster Fras. Gostling, solicitor, (Sons & Co.), and stamp distributor, Bank st; house St. Giles' road
 Foster George, shoemaker, Timber hill
 Foster Joseph, tea dealer, Sussex street
 Foster Mrs Maria, West Pottergate st
 Foster Sir Wm., Sons, Burroughes, and Robberds, solicitors, Bank street
 Foster Sir William, Bart. solicitor; house Upper Saint Giles' street
 Foster Captain William, West parade
 Foulger Robert, gig mkr. & shopr. Ber st
 Foulger Rev. William, M.A. Palace st
 Foulsham Hy. currier, &c. Magdalen st
 Foulsham Thomas, auctioneer, and vict.
 Canterbury Hall, Wastlegate street
 Foulsham Wm. tobaccnst. St Stephen's st
 Fountain Mrs Ann, St. Stephen's square
 Fountain Mary Ann, cook & confectioner, dining rooms, &c. 3 London street
 Fountain Mary Ann, beerhouse, King st
 Fox Mrs Ann, 3 Lame Dog road
 Fox Frederick, solicitor, Surrey street
 Fox Henry, manager, 4 Victoria street
 Fox Hugh, haberdasher and hardware dealer, Saint Stephen's street
 Fox Isaac, victualler, Queen's Head,
 Upper Saint Giles street
 Fox James, beerhouse, Alma street
 Fox Jemima, milliner, Rose lane
 Fox Joel, furrier, 27 London street
 Fox John, surgeon, Upper St. Giles st
 Fox John, builder, Heigham causeway
 Fox Osborn, leather dlr. St. Benedict st
 Fox Thomas, carpenter, Heigham street
 Fox Thos. Colman, gent. 22 Victoria st
 Fox Mr William, Saint Stephen's road
 Fox Mr William, 5 Lame Dog road
 Fox William, corn dealer, Bishopgate st
 Fox William, shopkeeper, John street
 Foyson Mr Robert, Upper King street Foyson Robert Burrage, builder and contractor, Rose lane
 Foyson William, St. Augustine's terrace
 Francis Charlotte, clothes dlr. Coslany st
 Francis Henry Clark, Thorpe Station
 Francis Thomas, estate agent, Eagle st
 Francis Thomas, shopkeeper, Timber hill
 Francis Wm. carpenter and victualler,
 Green Man, King street
 Francis William Bransby, surgeon and registrar, Colegate street
 Franklin Mr Charles, All Saints green Franklin Charles, wheelwright, Napier street; house Lothian street Franklin Clement, vict. Duke's Tavern,
 Tombland
 Franklin My. & Sar. school, Chapelfd. rd
 Frary Richard, tobacconist, Bridge st
 Fraser John Cumming, tobacconist, 7
 The Walk; house, 5 Hamlet place
 Frazer Charles, sawyer, (Saul and F.); house Tabernacle street
 Free Library, Saint Andrew's street
 Freeman Charles Jeremiah, upholsterer,
 (F. and Pearson); h 1 All Saints' gn Freeman Chas. Robt. grocer & provision dealer, St. Peter's ct.; h Eaton Park
 Freeman Edward, shoe mfr. Calvert st
 Freeman Edward Joshua, grocer, 47
 London street
 Freeman Henry, cheesefactor, grocer, & candle mfr. St. Peter's st; h Holl's ln Freeman Mr James, Trory street
 Freeman Mr James, Holl's lane
 Freeman James, baker, 15 St. Giles' st
 Freeman James John, music professor,
 St. Catherine's plain
 Freeman Jeremiah, smith, Barn road
 Freeman John, builder, Nelson street
 Freeman and Pearson, upholsterers, 37
 London street
 Freeman Rd. shoemkr. St. Benedict st
 Freeman Saml. vict. Dyer's Arms, Quay
 Freeman William Philip Barnes, carver, gilder, photographer, &c. Rampant Horse street; house Hall road
 Freeman William, baker, Chapel st. Upl Freestone Anthony, baker, Saint Augustine's street and Church path
 Freestone and Copeman, solicitors,
 Little Orford street
 Freestone Edw. solr.; h Little Orford st
 Freestone Samuel, beerhs. New Catton
 French Robert, shopkpr. Upper King st
 French Robert, crape manufacturer, Mill yard, Saint Mary's; house Sussex st
 Frenchman John, police, Julian street
 Fromow John, clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st

Fromow Stephen, salesman, Surrey road
 Frost Charles John, joiner, Thorn lane
 Frost George, clerk, 1 Gildengate street
 Frost Hezekh. gardener, Lower Close
 Frost James, cutler, Magdalen street
 Frost Mary, trunk maker, Davey place
 Frost Robert, engineer, &c. at Castle
 Frost Sarah, Shirehall keeper
 Frost Thos. tallow chandler, Fishgate st
 Frost Rev. Wm., B.A. Thorpe
 Fryer William, timber dealer, Union st
 Fulcher Mr William, Mount pleasant
 Fulcher William, baker and victualler,
 Bakers' Arms, Thorpe hamlet
 Fullarton and Co. publishers, Theatre st
 Fuller Mr Benjamin, Douro terrace
 Fuller Benjamin, travlr. 37 Victoria st
 Fuller Gent, victualler, Bricklayers'
 Arms, Union street
 Fuller James, saddler, Haymarket
 Fuller Jas. vict. Queen Victoria, Adelaide st
 Fuller Rt. vict. Trumpet, St. Stephen's st Fuller Thomas Benjamin, bookseller, printer, and librarian, Saint Stephen's street; house 37 Victoria street
 Fuller William, artist, Theatre street
 Fuller William, fruiterer, Ber street
 Fuller Wm. Henry, tobacst. Red Lion st
 Furse Arthur, painter, Princes street
 Furse Jas. Thos. cabinet mkr. Princes st
 Futter William, butcher, Somerleyton st
 Gaffer Mr Samuel, Saint Giles' hill
 Gage Thomas Hastings, Infirmary road
 Gale Jas. shoemkr. St. Stpn's church alley
 Gall Mrs M. Bloomsbury place
 Gallant Clement Rowland, saw mills,
 Spitalfields
 Galley Thomas, grocer, St. Benedict st
 Gambia John, beerhouse, Ber street
 Gamble & Davis, shoemfrs. 17 Calvert st
 Ganly Jas. fancy depôt, 29 London st
 Gardiner George, carver, Elm hill
 Gardiner Maria, shopkr. St. Benedict st
 Gardiner Wm. druggist, Pottergate st
 Gardiner Wm. vict. White Horse, Haymkt
 Gardiner William, metal merchant, St.
 Paul's opening
 Gardiner Wm. vict. Red Lion, London st
 Gardner Thompson, shoemkr. Mt. pleasnt
 Garland Richard Ellary, draper, mercer,
 &c. London street
 Garnham Wm. Howe, grocer, Hall road
 Garrard George, shoemaker, Rose lane
 Garrett John, draper, Pottergate street
 Garrod Edw. Robt. police, Castle meadow
 Garrod Mrs Elizabeth, Heigham road
 Garrod Mrs Sophia, Thorpe hamlet
 Garry Rev. Nicholas Thomas, M.A. incumbent of Saint Mark's, City road
 Garry Thomas H. agent, Heigham road
 Garthon James Slapp, surgeon, 2 Upper
 Saint Giles' street
 Garwood James, St. Martin-at-Oak School

Gas Light Co. (British) Bishop's Bridge & Gashousehill; C. Tadman, engineer
 Gaul Edward John, turner and shuttle maker, Saint Clement's church alley Gay Mary and Co. brush, basket, and mat manufacturers, St. Peter's street Gay Samuel, shopkeeper, Coslany street
 Gay Wm. tailor, King st. Crook's place
 Gay Wm. and George, coopers, turners, measure makers, &c. Surrey road
 Gayford Wm. smith; house, Pitt street
 Gaze Mrs. Emily, Colegate street
 Gaze George, timber mert. 11 Victoria st
 Gaze George, clerk, Golding street
 Gaze Mrs. Lower King street
 Gaze Miss Susannah, 58 St. Giles' st
 Gaze William Hammond, servants' register office, Wastlegate street
 Gaze Wm. warehouseman, Holl's lane
 Gaze William and Richard, millwrights,
 &c. St. Paul's Back lane
 Gearing Jas. vict. Beehive, St. Stpn's. st
 Geige Ed. Peter, shopr. Brazen doors rd
 Gedge Geo. plumber, Wounded Hart ln
 Gedge George, dyer, Coslany street Gedge Robert, brush manufacturer, (Gay and Co.); house St. Peter's street
 Gedge Mrs Sophia, St. Stephen's square
 Gedge Wm. John, hairdresser, King st
 Gee Chs. J. school, St. Margt's. Ch. alley
 Gee Henry, traveller, Park lane
 Geldart Joseph & Son, wine and spirit merchants, Wensum street
 Geldart Herbert Decimus; h Thorpe rd
 Geldart Robert; house Carrow road
 Gendy George, clerk, Lower Close
 Gent Dd. vict. Rose, St. Augustine's st
 Gent George, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Gent James William, Muspole street
 Gent Thomas Wm. clerk, Holl's lane
 George John, tailor & victualler, Sussex
 Arms, St. Augustine's street
 George Mrs Mary Ann, 10 Pottergate st
 George Michl. Rd. Dunn, coal dlr. Quay
 George Robert, builder, Muspole street
 George Robert, fishmgr. St. Benedict st
 George Thomas Wm. farmer Eaton
 George Wm. Morris, carpenter, Pottergt.
 Gerard William Sinclair, hairdresser and coin and medal dealer, Botolph street
 Gibbon Thomas, clerk, 4 Wellington pl
 Gibbs Richard, victualler, Rose & Crown,
 Bishopgate street
 Gibbs Rudd Wm. butcher, St. Stepn's. st
 Gibling John, treacle manfr. Green hills
 Gibson Chas. Mends, surgeon, Bethel st
 Gibson Ed. vict. Fortune of War, Calvt. st
 Gibson Geo. vict. White Horse, Crook's pl
 Gibson Henry, shopkeeper, Botolph st
 Gibson John & Mrs superints. of Blind
 School and Hospital, Magdalen street
 Gibson John, shopkeeper, Pitt street
 Gibson Miss Mary, Lower Close

Gibson Robert, shoemkr. Newmarket st
 Gibson Wm. baker, St. Catherine's plain Giddens Sus. library, St. Stephen's st
 Gidney Frederick & Mrs Mary, hospital
 Gidney Robert, White Lion street
 Gidney Samuel, land agent, Palace plain Gifford Samuel, earthenware dealer, St.

Benedict street

Gilbert Mrs Georgina, school, Gildengt.
 Gilbert Michl. Geo. whitesmith, Timber hl Gilbert Saml. Jas. plumber, St. Giles' hill
 Gilbert Wm. builder, Pitt street
 Gilbert Wm. Thomas, builder, Gildengt.
 Gilden John, victualler, Saracen's Head,
 West Pottergate street

Giles Mary Ann, school, Hall lane
 Gill James, grocer and baker, Coslany st
 Gill John, earthenware dlr. St. Giles' st
 Gill John, clerk, Dereham road

Gill Wm. John, tailor, Thorpe hamlet
 Gilkes Wm. shopkeeper, Westgate st
 Gilman Charles Rackham, solicitor, &c.

21 St. Giles' street; h Thorpe Hamlet

Gilman Charles Suckling, solicitor, sharebroker, &c. 21 St. Giles' street Gilman John, carver, gilder, and print-seller, 26 London street

Girdlestone Reuben, hairdresser, &c. 8
 Upper St. Giles' street

Girdlestone Saml. postman, Chapel lke
 Girling Mary Ann, hay and corn dealer,
 Golden Ball street

Gissing Robert, traveller, Dereham road
 Glasspoole Hy. corn miller, Thorpe ham

Glaze William, 12 Bloomsbury place
 Glendenning John Browne, ironmonger,

(Colman & G.); h St. Stephen's gates

Glendenning John, jun. (do.); h 8 Vic. st
 Goat Chs. vict. New Brewery, Barrack st

Goat James, shoe manufactr. Charles st
 Goddard Mrs Elizabeth, Surrey road

Goddard Mrs Elizabeth, West end ter
 Goddard Saml. estate agt. &c. Duke's pal

Goddard Thomas, vict. Black Prince,
 Upper walk

Godfery Masters, draper (Hunt & G.); house 16 London street

Goffin Matilda E. shoemkr. 14 Briggs st
 Goggs Wm. Dix, grocer, and wine, fruit, and provision merchant, King street, and Upper St. Giles' street

Golder Edward, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Golding Esther, broker, St. Benedict st

Golding Mary Ann, school, Cowgate
 Golding Misses, 2 Victoria place

Goldsmith Clement, Palace plain
 Goldsmith Jas. shoemkr. Back of Inns

Goldsmith Jas. grocer, St. Stephen's st
 Goldsmith Rbt. warehsman. Calvert st

Goldswain James, tutor, Belvoir street
 Gooch Mrs Amelia, Newmarket road

Gooch Augustus, coach lace manufacturer, Tinkler's lane

Gooch George Carver, plumber and painter, Castle meadow

Gooch Isaac, beerhs. Queen st. Crook's pl
 Gooch Joshua, fringe, lace, &c. dealer,

3 Dove street

Gooch Noah, brewer, Somerleyton st
 Gooch Rd. astrologer, Southwell road

Gooch Robt. bookseller, White Lion st
 Gooch Samuel Irwin, currier & leather,

&c. dealer, 17 Davey place

Gooch Thomas, brushmaker, Timberhill
 Gooch Mr Wm. Heigham road

Good Thos. shoemaker, Bridge st St. G.
 Goodchild Frederick, King street

Goodchild George Pipe, Brunswick rd
 Gooden Mrs Mary A. 14 Bloomsbury pl

Gooderham Sl. piano tuner, &c. Elm hill
 Gooding Harriet, milliner, Red Lion st

Goodings John, brazier, Bedford street
 Goodson Wm. butcher, Dereham road

Goodwin Charles, surgeon, Willow lane
 Goodwin Mrs Elizabeth, Willow lane

Goodwin John, solicitor, Willow lane
 Goodwin William, M.A. incumbent of St. Benedict's, Westbourne terrace

Goose Agas, clerk, Chantry court
 Goose Emma, milliner, 15 Briggs st

Goose Jacob, shopkpr. West Pottergt. st
 Goose Mrs Rachel, Fountain place

Goose Wm. Henry, artist, 15 Briggs st
 Gordon Mrs Kate, St. Stephen's square

Goreham Hy. auctioneer and sheriff's officer, Muspole street

Goreham John, brazier, William street
 Gorell Robert Atkinson, Unthank's road

Gosnold Henry Geo. accompt. Bethel st
 Gostling Francis, shoe manufacturer,

(Barker & G.); house Bedford street

Gostling Rd. vict. Robin Hood, Dh. rd
 Gostling Wm. shoemaker, Julian street

Gotts John, coach builder (Constable and Co.); house Eldon row

Gotts Miss Sarah, St. Stephen's square
 Gould Rev. Geo. (Bapt.) Unthanks rd

Govett Rev. D. S. curate, Upr. Hellesdon
 Govett Rev. Robert, (Bapt.) Chapel lke

Gower William, farmer, Lakenham

Gowing Mrs Hannah, Sussex street
 Gowing Rev. Jno. (Bapt.) Upr. Hellsdn. rd

Graham James, draper, Dereham road
 Grand Edward, tailor, 13 Upr. King st

Grand John, Esq. 74 St. Giles' street
 Grand Jno. fish salesman, Fish market; house Chapelfield

Grand Mr John, Hall road
 Grand Robert, beerhouse, Duke street

Grand Robert, clerk, 4 Alderford terrace
 Grand Samuel, tailor, Julian street

Grant Frederick, jeweller, Ber street
 Grant Thomas, druggist, Ber street

Gratwick Rev. George Archdall, D.D.
 canon of Norwich, and master of Emmanuel Coll. Cambridge, Upper Close

- Grave Richard, shoemaker, Ber street
 Graver John, butcher, Rose lane
 Graver Thomas, baker, St. Paul's place
 Graver William, vict. Swan, Magdalen st
 Graves Robert, beerhouse, Bulclose rd
 Graves Wm. vict. Crocodile, Heigham st
 Gray Edward, hosier, Tombland
 Gray James, hairdresser, Bethel street
 Gray John, hairdresser, Rose lane
 Gray Mrs Martha, Heigham grove
 Gray Mary, shopkeeper, Heigham street
 Gray Mrs Rebecca, 8 Upper Surrey st
 Gray Richard, clerk, Heigham road
 Greathead John, Paragon street
 Greaves Miss Ellen, Mount Pleasant
 Greaves Miss Charlotte, Dereham road
 Greaves Robert, shopkeeper, Palace st
 Green Alfred, shopr. King st. Crook's pl
 Green Ann, milliner, Post Office street
 Green Elizabeth, school, Botolph street Green Elizabeth and Ann, drapers and haberdashers, Saint Benedict street
 Green Mr George, Richmond place
 Green Isaac, traveller, Pitt street
 Green Jas. clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st
 Green James, clerk, 1 Alma terrace
 Green John, gardener, Park lane
 Green John, baker, Napier street
 Green John, plumber, &c. 5 William st
 Green Mrs Rachel, 3 St Giles' terrace
 Green Rd. plasterer, St. Miles' Church st
 Green Robt. basket mkr. St. Benedict st
 Green Robert, watchmaker, Red Lion street; h St. Stephen's Church alley Green Robert and Sons, timber merchants, Thorn lane
 Green Robert Samuel; h Waddington ter
 Green Robert, hosier, Bridge st. St. G.
 Green Wm. haberdasher, Magdalen st
 Green Wm. vict. Rainbow, King street
 Green Mr William Pigg, Bedford street
 Green William Dann, victualler, Beehive, Saint Paul's plain Green Wm. warehsmen. Chapel st. Upl
 Greenacre Jno. Money, gardnr. Nelson st
 Greene Chs. Jerh. tobacst. Bridewell alley
 Greengrass Thos. bricklayer, Elm hill
 Greenwood Mr Joseph, Earlham road
 Greenwood Mr William, City road Greenwood Wm. upholsterer, (Pigg, G. and Co.); house, 14 London street Greaves Henry, butcher, Upper Walk; house 2 Surrey road
 Greeves J. postman, Trowse
 Griffin Mrs Eliza, Cowhill
 Griffiths Hannah, plane maker, &c.;
 house, 12 Lower Goat lane
 Griggs Mr William, Saint Benedict st
 Grigor Mrs Matilda, St. Catherine's plain
 Grimes John, accountant, St. Giles' hill
 Grimmer Edw. brazier, Rising Sun lane
 Grimmer Frederic, wine, &c. merchant,
 (Seaman and Co.); house Bracondale
 Grimmer Samuel, wine, &c. merchant,
 (Seaman & Co.); h St. Andrew's st
 Grimwood Thos. tailor, 5 Lower Goat In Grinter Chs. Edw. bookbinder, Gildengt. st
 Groom George, dyer, Brazen doors road
 Grout and Co. silk and mourning crape manufacturers, Silk Mills, Lower West-wick st. & Yarmouth & Ditchingham
 Gunn Mrs A. G., Kimberley street
 Gunn Robert, coach builder and painter,
 Brazen doors road; h Surrey mews
 Gunton Alfred, surgeon dentist, 79 Saint
 Giles' street
 Gunton Henry, watchmaker and jeweller,
 Briggs street
 Gunton John Hamnell, Kimberley street
 Gunton Miss Mary M. Oxford street
 Gunton Thos. hair seating, &c. manfr.
 Oak street; house Thorpe hamlet
 Gurling Elizabeth, baker, Magdalen road
 Gurney Charles Henry, Esq. banker; house Eaton
 Gurney Daniel, Esq. banker; house
 North Runcton Hall
 Gurney Fras. Hay, Esq. banker; h Thorpe
 Gurney James, shopkeeper, Julian street
 Gurney John Henry, Esq. M.P. banker; house Catton Hall
 Gurneys & Birkbecks, bankers, Bank plain
 Guy Wm. M.D. surgeon, Magdalen st
 Gymer John, coal dealer, Tinkler's lane
 Habberton Mrs Elizabeth, Earlham road
 Haddon Mary Ann, shopr. Rose lane
 Haggith Jas. jun. shoemkr. Coslany st
 Haggith Jas. vict. Black Horse, Finket st
 Hagon William, broker, Oak street
 Haines Wm. Carter, victualler, Golden Dog, Magdalen street
 Haldenstein Philip, hat, cap, and shoe manufacturer, Queen street
 Hales James, cabinet maker, Saint John's street; house Unthanks road
 Hales Walter, cabinet maker and vict.
 Coach and Horses, Union street
 Hall Christopher, turnkey, City Gaol
 Hall Rev. Edm. LL.B. curate, St. Giles' rd
 Hall Fredk. Geo. butcher, Up. King st
 Hall Harriet, baker, Gildengate street
 Hall Henry, baker, Thorn lane
 Hall James, painter, All Saints' green
 Hall James, plumber, &c. Magdalen st
 Hall John, victualler, Kimberley Arms,
 Kimberley street
 Hall John, shoemaker, St. Faith's lane
 Hall Jno. Foster, writing master, Charles st
 Hall Jonathan, gardener, Somerleyton st
 Hall Mrs Mary, 18 Bloomsbury place
 Hall Richard Wm. traveller, Essex st
 Hall Mr Samuel, Rigby's court, St. Giles
 Hall Samuel, builder, Pottergate street
 Hall Samuel Robert, mason, Chapel field road; house Vauxhall street
 Hall Susan, school, Somerleyton street

Hall Timothy Bennett, boot and shoe-maker, Pottergate street
Hall Mr William, Ipswich road
Hall Wm. vict. White Lion, Palace plain
Hall William, grocer and victualler, Rose Valley Tavern, Unthanks road
Hall William, engraver, lithographer, &c. 22 White Lion st; h 21 Kimberley st Hallett Rev. John, (Indpt.) Unthanks rd
Hallows Geo. saddler, Rampant Horse st
Hallows Joseph, hairdresser, Angel st
Halls Henry, land agent, Bank street
Halls Jas. grocer & dpr. Somerleyton st
Halls Robert, traveller, Bedford street
Ham Mrs C., St. Catherine's plain
Hamley Osbertus Shipton, Distillery st
Hammond Mrs Emily, Botolph street
Hammond Jno. vict. Grapes, Red Lion st
Hammond John, miller, New Catton
Hammond Jonthn. shoemkr. Coslany st
Hammond Thos. Edgar, bridge surveyor for Norfolk and Suffolk, Castle street; house Eye Park
Hampson Daniel, Upper Surrey street
Hancock Thomas, shopman, Oxford st
Hanks Richard, victualler, Guildhall Tavern, Market place
Hannah Peter, draper, Fountain place
Hannah Wm. shopkeeper, Trafalgar st
Hannant Nathaniel, baker, Magdalen st
Hannant William, baker, Cross st. U. pl
Hansell Henry, solicitor, proctor, and notary, Upper Close Hansell Miss Mary, Lower Close
Hansell Robert, Esq., St. Clement's hill
Hansell Peter Edward, solicitor, Upper Close; house Thorpe
Hansell Sarah, earthenwr. dlr. St. Aug. st
Hansell Wm. shopkeeper, Chapel st U. pl
Hanson James, sweep, Barn road
Hanworth Geo. traveller, Unthanks rd
Harbord Henry, victualler, Marquis of Lothian, Lothian street
Harbord John, tailor, 8 Davey place
Harbord Joseph Massingham, saddler, &c., 10 Upper St. Giles' street
Harcourt Anthony, coachbuilder, Chapel-field road
Harcourt Bosworth Walter, surgeon-dentist, St. Giles' hill
Harcourt Jas. music profr. St. And.'s st
Harden Charles, baker, St. Stephen's st
Hardesty Eleanor, bookseller, Bethel st
Hardesty Robert, shopman, St. Giles' hill
Hardiment Robt. tanner and fellmonger, Oak street
Hardingham Wm. shopkeeper, Barrack st
Hardy Charles, whip mfr. Timber hill
Hardy Francis, school, Upr. Surrey st
Hardy Mrs Fanny, 46 Pottergate street
Hardy Holland, shoemaker, Lame Dog rd
Hardy Jas. grocer and tallow chandler, Rampant Horse street

Hardy Mr John, Park lane
Hardy Jonthn. shoemkr. St. Benedc. st
Hardy Michael, baker, Finket street
Hardy Mrs Susan, Upper St. Giles' st
Hardy Wm. Edwards, plumber, painter, &c., Little London street
Hardyman Sarah, school, Thorpe ham
Hardyment Jabez, glass dlr. St. Benedict
Hare Mrs Barbara, Upper Close
Hare Chas. chairmkr. St. Augustine's st
Hare Edw., Savings' Bank sec. Haymkt
Hare John, clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st
Hare Wm. fishmonger, The Butchery; house Fishers' lane
Harley John Payne, pork butcher, St. Benedict street
Harman Leonard & Sons (Geo., Rehd., and L., jun.), wine and spirit merts. St. Andrew's hill; h Sproston
Harman Mrs Mary, St. Stephen's road
Harmer David, furrier, Haymarket
Harmer Frdk. Wm. & Co., clothiers, Bethel street; house West parade
Harmer Henry, boat builder, Oak street
Harmer James, fruiterer, Red Lion st Harmer Mr Thos. West Pottergate street
Harmer Thomas, gentleman, Heigham rd
Harold Eliza, clothes dlr. St. Paul's st
Harper Ambrose Pask, joiner & builder, Trafalgar street
Harper George, librarian, Free Library; house Calvert street
Harper James Kersey, brush maker, St. Benedict street
Harper John Olley, druggist, Dereham rd
Harper Joshua, dyer, Bridge street St. George's; house Calvert street
Harper & Sutton, druggists, Bank plain
Harper Mrs Frances; house Bank plain
Harper William, shoemaker and leather dealer, Cross street Union place
Harper William, carpenter, Eagle lane
Harpley Thos. hair dresser, Cowgate st
Harris Ann, vict. Norfolk, St. Giles' street
Harris James, shopkeeper, Ber street
Harris James Thos. shoemfr. Ber street
Harris Rev. Samuel Bache, M.A., incht. of St. Martin's-at-Palace, Palace plain Harris Thos. victualler, Ship, Thorn in Harris Wm. vict. Angel, Trowse-Millgt.
Harrison Edward, baker, Elm hill
Harrison Harriet, shoemkr. 7 Bridewell alay
Harrison Isaac, builder, St. Giles' hill
Harrison John, clerk, Somerleyton st
Harrison Job, master of Workhouse
Harrison Philip, gentleman, Earlham rd
Harrison Robert, shoemaker, Elm hill
Harrison Thomas, rag dealer, Coslany st
Harrison Mr Ts. Thurlow, 5 St. Faith's ter
Harrison Wm. Ts. baker, Golden Ball st
Harrod Henry, shoemaker, Magdalen st
Harrod John, first turnkey at Castle; house Synagogue street

- Harrod John George, Somerleyton street
 Hart Charles, merchant, (Culley & H.); house 25 St. Giles' street
 Hart Clement Priestly, (Culley & H.); house Heigham Fields House
 Hart Mr Geo. Wm., West Wymer street
 Hart John, vict. Wheat Sheaf, Bethel st
 Hart Philip Woodrow, coach builder,
 Red Lion street; house Timber hill
 Hart Mrs Sophia, Holl's lane
 Hartley Helen, tailor, Calvert street
 Hartley John Geo. Jervis, William st
 Hartley Wm. hair dresser, Lit. Orford st
 Hartmann Fras. Alex., M.D., Surrey st
 Harvard Robt. Appleton Chas. confec-tioner, 1 Wt. Lion st; h Gildengate st
 Harvard Samuel, Bracondale
 Harvey Lady, Mousehold House
 Harvey Edwd. Kerrison, Esq., Thorpe
 Hamlet House
 Harvey Edward, eating house, Rose ln
 Harvey Isaac, pawnbroker, William st
 Harvey Mr James, 34 Victoria street
 Harvey Robt. Jno. Harvey, Esq. banker, and Lady Henrietta, Brundall House and Crown Point
 Harvey Robt. Nevett, cabinet maker, St.
 Lawrence lane; h West Pottergate st
 Harvey Sml. vict. Staff of Life, Fishgtst
 Harvey Wm. Southwark, plumber, &c.,
 Alma st; and whiting mfr. Wellington lane; house West Pottergate street Harveys and Hudsons, bankers, Crown
Bank, Upper King street
 Harwin James, tea dealer, &c. Charles st
 Hastings Geo. music prof. St. Giles' hill
 Hatch Mr Christopher, St. Giles' hill
 Hatch Frederick Horace, Julian street
 Hatch Wm. Proctor, victualler, Express Train, Rose lane
 Havanah Tobacco Co., (W. S. Miller, manager), 1 Little Orford street
 Havers Amelia, milliner, Fishgate street
 Havers Charles, ironmonger, Charing cross; house Pottergate street West
 Havers George J., dyer, &c., Tombland
 Havers James, eating house, Dove st
 Havers John Bailey, Distillery street
 Havers Mrs Maria, Chapelfield road
 Havers Rt. Nudds, mfr.; h Infirmary rd
 Havers William, baker, Heigham street
 Havers William Henry, pawnbroker, St.
 Paul's opening
 Haward Geo. William, 1 West End ter
 Hawes Geo. plumber, &c., Mariners' ln
 Hawes James, dyer, Adelaide street
 Hawkes Robt. Wm. wool agt. Willow ln
 Hawkes William, clerk, Unthanks road
 Hawkins Mr John, Bracondale
 Hawkins Miss Martha, Unthanks road
 Hawkins Wm. supervisor, 21 Victoria street, New Lakenham
 Haworth Hy. surv. of taxes, 6 Newmkt. rd
 Hay William, dentist, Post Office street
 Hayden Ts. clerk of St. Mary's Coslany
 Hayes Thomas, wood turner, Kingstreet
 Hayne Wm. vict. Rainbow, Holl's lane
 Hayward Cary, brazier, Ber street
 Haywood James John, watchmaker, All Saints' green
 Hayward John, gardener, Trowse-Millgt
 Hazlewood Benj. shopkpr. Lr. Westwk. st Hazlewood Mrs Harriet, plumber and vict. Flying Dutchman, Trafalgar st
 Hazlewood Robert, clerk, Heigham road
 Heald Miss Mary Ann, Heald's buildings
 Heasell Eliz. and Sus. school, Surrey rd
 Heath Edward, traveller, Magdalen rd
 Heaver Wm. shopman, 44 William st Heaviside Rev. Jas. Wm. Lucas, M.A., canon of Norwich, Upper Close Heaviside Jno. artist, Church st St. Smn.
 Hedgeman Miss Harriet, Bracondale Hedgeman Richard George, inspector of taxes, Upper King street
 Hefill Alder, 9 Victoria street
Heigham Hall Asylum, Dr. Ranking, &
 Messrs. Watson & Nichols, proprietors
 Heinemeier Ferd. music prof. Dereham rd
 Hemley Osbert, Distillery street
 Hemnell Johnson, eating hs. Upr. Walk
 Henderson John, draper, Dereham road
 Hendry Ann, vict. Napier Tav. Catt. mkt
 Henley Mrs Ann, Newmarket road
 Henley Mr William, 9 Newmarket road
 Henney Charity, grocer, Eagle street
 Herring Benjamin, grocer, &c. Cowgt. st
 Herring Mrs Maria Eliz. St. Faith's lane
 Hetherington Rev. H. curate, Heigham
 Hewett Chas. Hy. music prof. 2 Wm. st
 Hewing Jph. victualler, Plumbers' Arms,
 Princes street
 Hewison Mr Joseph, Unthanks road
 Hewitt Mr Edw. Coleby, Dereham road
 Hewitt John, land agent and surveyor,
 Theatre street
 Hewitt Wm. vict. White Horse, St. Mary's al
 Hey Mrs Dorcas, Newmarket road
 Heyhoe Thos. shopkpr. St. Augustine st
 Hibbett Amos, mason, Chapelfield road
 Hibgame Col. Edw. Thurlow, Chapelfld. rd
 Hick Wm. confectr. Bridge st. St. Andw.
 Hicklenton Thomas, Grove road
 Hicklenton Emma, school, Colegate st
 Hicks John, shopkeeper, Fishgate street
 Higgins Miss Amelia, Magdalen street
 Higgins John, marine store dlr. High st
 High Charles, vict. Eagle, Newmarket rd
 High Geo. vict. Eagle, West Pottergt. st
 High Isaac, senior and junior, sextons,
 Chapel street, New Lakenham
 High Jacob. shoemaker, Tinkler's lane
 Highland Jas. printer's foreman, & Jas.
 Thos. assurance agt. 2 St. Stephen's sq
 Hill Arthur Frederick, corn merchant,
 Colegate street

Hill Elric, grocer, &c. Gildengate street and Heigham street
Hill Mrs Hannah, St. Stephen's road
Hill Horace, music prof. St. Stephen's rd
Hill James, shopkeeper, King street
Hill Jas. Fredk. music prof. 4 St. Giles' ter
Hill Jas. ger. Trafalgar st. & Vauxhall st
Hill Mr John, Gildengate street
Hill John, gardener, Newmarket road
Hill John, ger. Cowgt. st; h Dereham rd
Hill Mrs Kate, Thorpe hamlet
Hill Lot, bookseller, &c. 8 Bridewell alley; & dyer, Bath House, St. Martin's Hill Mrs Maria, St. Augustine's street
Hill Michl Ferra, tailor, 6 St. Clement's ter Hill Reuben, baker, King street
Hill Mr Samuel Secker, Thorpe hamlet
Hilling My. vict. Steam Packet, King st
Hills & Underwood, wine & spirit merts. distillers, & vinegar mfrs. St. Faith's ln Hillyard Rev. Edward Augustus, B.A. rector of St. Lawrence's, Palace plain Hinde Francis and Son, (F. jun.), shawl, paramatta, poplin, &c. manufacturers,
Botolph street; house All Saint's grn
Hindes Edm. Jas. rope mkr. &c. Magdln. st Hindes Henry & Son, rope, sack and net manufacturers, Red Lion street
Hindes Henry; h Hellesden road
Hindes Henry, jun.; house Red Lion st
Hindes Robert, shopkpr. St. Benedict st
Hindes Wm. rope & sack mfr. St. Bdct. st Hines Charles, engineer, lathe and tool maker, &c. Muspole street
Hinsbey Thomas William, architect, &c.
St. Stephen's road
Hipper James, tailor, Rampant Horse st
Hipperson My. fancy wool dlr. 4 L. Goat ln Hitchman Robt. city chief constl. Park ln
Hoare Charles, Chatham street
Hobart Caroline, beerhouse, Palace pln
Hobrough Henry, coal merchant, King st
Hobrough Wm. Fras. contractor, Thorpe
Hodds Richd commission agent, Elm hill
Hodgson Dd. artist, Prince of Wales' rd
Hodgson James Lincolne, Waterloo
Hogg Henry, vict. Rose, Magdalen st
Hogg Noah, shoe mfr. 9 Sussex street
Holl Alfred Samuel, Chapelfield road
Holl George, pump maker, Waterloo
Holl George, shoemaker, All Saints' grn
Hall Mr Robert Durrant, Mount Pleasant
Holl Wm. Gurney, shoemkr St Andw.'s st
Holland Cath. shopkpr. 1 Lower Goat ln
Holland Edw. Chp. surgn. St. Stphn.'s rd
Holland Francis, butcher, Dereham road
Hollis Robt. vict. Shakspere, Theatre st
Holloway Miss Mary Ann, Newmarket rd
Holmes Edm. vict. Cock, Upper King st
Holmes Edmund, coal dealer & victualler
Drum, Lower Westwick street
Holmes Fdk. Rt. (& Sons); All Saints' grn
Holmes Geo. Randall, Hall road

Holmes Geo. Ts. (& Sons); h Prospect pl
Holmes Henry, traveller, Bloomsbury pl
Holmes James (& Sons); h Globe lane
Holmes James, shopkeeper, King street
Holmes Rd. Guillard, travr. Brazen drs. rd
Holmes Robert, shoemaker, St. Giles'
Holmes Robert. hairdresser, Palace plain Holmes & Sons, engineers, millwrights, machine mfrs. ironfndrs. &c. Prospect place works, Buffcoat lane & Castle hill Homan & Co. shoe mfrs. Theatre street
Homersham Mr Edward, Elm terrace
Homes James, bricklayer, Magdalen st
Homes John, shoemaker, Surrey street Homes John and Son (Charles), blacking manufacturers, Surrey street
Homœopathic Hospital, Orford hill
Hood Eliza Hardy, broker, Manchstr. bldgs
Hood John, carpenter, Norfolk street
Hood John Henry, bricklayer, Rupert st
Hood Robt. & Sons (Robt. jun. & Wm.), builders. Sussex st; h 21 Bloomsbury pl
Hook Benj. Jph. butcher, St. Stephen's st
Hook James, shopkeeper, John street
Hook Jph. John, draper, Brazen doors rd
Hook Saml. Beckett, tailor, St. Geo.'s pln
Hook William, beerhouse, Oak street
Hooper Robert Bowles Peter, chair maker,
Lothian street
Hopkins Stephen, bishop's verger and apparitor, Lower Close Hopson Mrs Charlotte, Distillery street
Horne John, estate agent, 8 Bank street
Horne Mr Robert, Distillery street
Horne Robert, jun. shoe manufacturer,
Charing cross; h Park lane
Horner Edward, 17 Victoria street
Horner Frederick, tax surveyor, Essex st
Horner Joseph, Oxford street
Horner Mrs Susanna, Unthanks road
Hornor Charles, land surveyor, &c.
Queen street; house Thorpe
Hornor Mrs Harriet, Muspole street
Hornor Mr Wyatt, 4 West end terrace
Horsfield and Bagshaw, bone crushers and manure manufacturers, Magdalen gates and Pockthorpe
Horsfield James; house North Walsham
Horth Wm. shoemaker, Coslany street
Hosken J. J., Post office clerk
Hoste Lady Harriet, Tombland
Hoste Rev. George Charles, M.A. rector of Heigham, Unthanks road
Hotblack John and Co. shoe manufacturers & leather merchts. St. Faith's ln Hotson Wales Christopher, Esq. barrister, Upper King street
Hough Joseph, grease manufacturer,
Castle meadow, and Surlingham
Houghton David, dyer, Upr. St. Giles' st
Houghton Eliza, dyer, Elm hill
Houghton Henry, victualler, Wounded
Hart, St. Peter's street

- Houghton Henry John, accountant, 9 Upper Surrey street
 Houghton John, dyer, Ten Bell lane
 Houghton Mrs Mary, Heigham road
 Houghton Robt. builder & baker, Ber st
 Houghton Rbt. boat bldr. St. Faith's ln
 Hovell Mrs, school, Carlisle terrace
 Hovell John, carpenter, Pottergate st
 Hovell Richard, clerk, Calvert street
 Hovell Wm. Bexfield, basket and brush manufacturer, 4 Bridewell alley Hovell William, basket and brush maker, Charing cross
 Howard Chas. bricklayer, St. Helen's pl
 Howard Daniel, shopkeeper, Barrack st
 Howard Ellen, shopkpr. Lit. Orford st
 Howard Eml. Simon, blind mkr. Rose ln
 Howard Everett, bricklayer, Peacock st
 Howard George, cabinet maker and upholsterer, John street, Rose lane
 Howard George, coach builder, Rampant Horse Back street; h Lit. Orford st
 Howard Hez. broker, Magdalen street
 Howard Harriet, milliner, Davey place
 Howard Henry, beerhouse, Fishgate st
 Howard James, builder, King street
 Howard James, victualler, Sardinian Tavern, St. Stephen's street
 Howard James, tripe dresser, Thorn ln
 Howard John, shopkeeper, King street
 Howard John, carver, Bethel st; house Distillery street, Heigham
 Howard John, bricklayer, Fishgate
 Howard Samuel, vict. Black Chequers, Cowgate street
 Howard Thomas, builder, Peacock st
 Howard Wm. Fdk. builder, Bishopgt. st
 Howard William Mace, victualler, Earl of Leicester, Brazen doors road
 Howard William Ramer, homœopathic druggist, St. Stephen's street
 Howarth Mrs Christina, 5 Cross street
 Howarth John, governor, City Gaol
 Howe John, shopkeeper, Belvoir street
 Howell Wm. leather seller, Lr. Goat ln
 Howes Abraham, boot and shoe maker, Rampant Horse street
 Howes Ann & Son, candle mnfrs. Ber st and grocers, St. Giles' hill
 Howes Charles (Howes & Sons); house Somerleyton street
 Howes Misses D. & L. Upper Close
 Howes Elizabeth, victualler, Adam and Eve, Tabernacle street
 Howes Mrs Emily, St. Saviour's alley
 Howes Mrs Hannah, Town close
 Howes Henry, beerhouse, King street
 Howes Henry Wm. coach builder, Ber st
 Howes James, shopkeeper, Magdalen st
 Howes James Henry, gardener, Queen st
 Howes James Andrew, printer, &c. (Soman & H.); house Golding street
 Howes Mr John, 4 Crescent
 Howes John, shopkr. Bridge st. St. G.
 Howes Joseph and James, coach and harness makers, Red Lion street
 Howes Maria, milliner, Coslany street
 Howes Richard, bootmaker, Magdalen st
 Howes Robert, shopkeeper, Barrack st
 Howes & Sons, coach builders, Chapelld
 Howes Thomas, hot presser, Coslany st
 Howes William and James, (Howes and Sons); house Chapelld
 Howes Wm. (Ann and Son); h Ber st
 Howes William Cooper, plumber, &c. Ber street; house Chapel lcke
 Howlett & Co. (Wm. & Chas.) ironmongers, bar-iron merchants, &c. 6 Haymarket
 Howlett Hy. Filby, music prof. Derehm. rd
 Howlett James Warnes, (Tillyard and H.); house Sedgeford Hall
 Howlett John Godfrey, (Tillyard and H.); house Saint Giles' road
 Howlett Richd. tailor, Bridge st. St. Geo.
 Howlett and Sons, organ builders, music sellers, &c. 2 The Walk
 Howlett Walter (& Sons); h 2 The Walk
 Howlett Wm. (& Sons); h Thorpe ham
 Howling Rudd, sweep, Thorn lane
 Howman Wm. vict. White Lion, Oak st
 Hubbard Hannah, staymkr. Wastlegate st
 Hubbard Henry, victualler, Coopers' Arms, Princes street
 Hubbard James, corn merchant and deputy registrar, Magdalen street
 Hubbard James Murgatroyd, brewer, and wine and spirit merchant, Phoenix Brewery, Magdalen street Hubbard John, dyer, Bridge st. St. Geo.
 Hubbard Miss My. Ann, 3 Up. Surrey st
 Hubbard Mrs Susanna, Park lane
 Hubbard Thomas, clerk, Holl's lane
 Huby Mrs Elizabeth, Distillery street
 Hudd Stephen, auctioneer, &c. Saint Benedict street
 Huddleston Wm. grocer, St. Stephen's st
 Hudson Charles, victualler, Pine Apple, Saint Martin's lane
 Huggins Chas. vict. Waterman, King st
 Huggins Edward, cowkeeper, Hall road
 Huggins Mrs Hannah, Chapel field road
 Huggins Jno. vict. Spread Eagle, Haymkt
 Huggins John, artist, 5 Davey place
 Huggins Robt. cattle dlr. Surrey mews
 Hughes Sarah, vict. Bath House, Oak st
 Hull Charlotte, shopkeeper, Peacock st
 Hull Mrs Hannah, Redwell street
 Hull Wm. Henry, baker, Coslany street
 Hulme John Hughes, druggist and dentist, Saint Andrew's plain Humphrey Sarah, school, Dereham rd
 Humphrey William, Thorpe hamlet
 Humphreys Susan, victualler, Spread Eagle, Sassex street
 Humphreys William, bricklayer, Oak st
 Hunt Charlotte, shopr. St. Benedict st

- Hunt Elizabeth, shopkeeper, Thorn lane
 Hunt George, clerk, Adelaide street
 Hunt and Godfery, woollen drapers, 16 London street
 Hunt Mrs Harriet, 1 Victoria street
 Hunt Henry, draper; h 16 London st
 Hunt Jas. confectioner, &c. 63 St. Stephen's st
 Hunt John, shopkeeper, Quay side
 Hunt John, cutler, St. Margaret's lane
 Hunt Wm. bookseller, White Lion street
 Hunter Mrs Frances, Grove road
 Hunter Jno. herbalist, 2 St. Andrew's hill
 Hunter Wm. auctioneer, &c. St. Andrew's plain; h Distillery street, Heigham Hupton Frances, school, Hall road
 Hurn Elizabeth, milliner, Bank street
 Hurn G. and D. rope, sack, net, and mat manufacturers, 13 Dove street
 Hurn Daniel; house St. Stephen's road
 Hurn George; house Mount Pleasant
 Hurrell Wm. fishmonger, Magdalen st
 Hurry Thomas, Pottergate West
 Huson and Co. lace, millinery, &c. dealers, 12 London street
 Huson Mr Joseph, Unthinks road
 Huson Miss Mary, 63 St. Giles' street
 Huson Robert, baker, Heigham street
 Hussey Wm. nurseryman, Eaton
 Hutchin Wm. paperhanger, Hall road
 Hutchison Charles, M.D. Surrey street
 Hutchison George Smith, surgeon, Chat-ham place and Surrey street
 Hutson James John, West end terrace
 Hutton Mrs Elizabeth, Mount pleasant
 Hutton John, tea, coffee, and spice dealer, Briggs street; h 5 Victoria st Hyams Pp. watchmkr. &c. 53 St. Stpn's. st
 Hyde Henry, beerhouse, Upper Goat ln
 Ibroke Mr Richmond, Newmarket road
 Ilott William, draper, St. Stephen's st
 Ingram Chas. Hy. brewery agt. Bridge st
 Inland Revenue Office, Orford hill
 Ireson Rebecca, butcher, Union street
 Irons Charles, shoemaker, Distillery st
 Isaac Edward, baker, Trafalgar street
 Isaacs John, slipper maker, Magdalen st
 Isbill Chas. Fisher, butcher, Charing cross
 Ives Ann Sarah, school, 13 Crescent
 Ives Charles, butcher, Magdalen street
 Ives Capt. Ferdinand, St. Catherine's hill
 Ives George, gent. St. Clement's ter
 Ives John, vict. Bakers' Arms, Ber st
 Ives John Collingwood, agent, West Wymer street
 Ives Richard Newton, accomptant and insurance agent, King street
 Iverson Edwd. baker, West Pottergt. st
 Jackson Mrs Ann, Southwell road
 Jackson Annie, draper, Dereham road
 Jackson Mrs Charlotte, 6 Lame Dog rd
 Jackson Mrs Mary, Bracondale
 Jackson James, musician, Cowgate
 Jackson Wm. clerk, 6 Foundry terrace
 Jackson Rev. John Russell, M.A., rector of All Saints and St. Julian, Carrow hl Jackson William, musician, Princes st
 Jackson Wm. shopkeeper, Starling pl
 Jacobs John, butcher, Ber street
 Jacobs Wm. and Augustus, furniture, hardware, &c., dealers, Haymarket
 James Benj. workg. jewl'r. St. And. st
 James Henry, druggist, Coslany street
 James Henry, victualler, King's Arms, Bishop's bridge
 James Mr Robert, Rising Sun lane
 Jarrett Charles, baker, Wensum street
 Jarrett Thomas, dyer, Magdalen street
 Jarrold Mrs Elizabeth, Thorpe hamlet
 Jarrold & Sons, booksellers, binders, printers, publishers, and wholesale stationers, London street, 3 Exchange street, and London
 Jarrold Samuel; h Bracondale House
 Jarrold Ts.; h The Mount, Thorpe ham
 Jarrold Wm. Pightling; h Newmrkt. rd
 Jarvis Henry, coal merchant, &c. Upper King st, and Victoria & Thorpe Stats.
 Jarvis John Bacon, vict. Globe, Globe ln
 Jarvis Joseph, shopkeeper, Fishgate st
 Jarvis Mrs Rhoda, 3 Cross street, U. rd
 Jarvis Wm. Thomas, Dereham road
 Jarvis Wm. vict. Pine Apple, Trowse-M.
 Jary Mrs Mary, 1 Crescent
 Jay Benjamin, florist, Lower Close
 Jay Charles, fishmonger, Fish market; house Unthinks road
 Jay George & Son, mohair, alpaca, and worsted yarn spinners, Albion Mills, King street
 Jay Joshua, dyer, Bethel street
 Jay Louisa, baker, West Pottergate st
 Jay Mrs Mary, 13, Newmarket road
 Jay and Pilgrim, solicitors, Tolls court, Briggs street
 Jay Mrs Susan, Brunswick road
 Jay Thos. Brewerton, gent. Heigham grv
 Jay Thos. mfr. (Geo. & Son); h Thorpe
 Jean Henry, coal merchant, Lame Dog road; house Bedford street
 Jeans Edwin, old-booksllr. St. Peter's st
 Jeary Robt. bookseller, &c., 18 Exchange st and Market pl; h Newmarket rd
 Jeckell George, Esq., Unthinks road
 Jeckells Geo. Augs. cooper, Ber street
 Jecks William and Charles, timber merchants, St. Faith's lane
 Jecks William; h Framingham Pigot
 Jecks Wm. junr., and Chas.; h Thorpe
 Jeckyll Thos. architect, Queen street; house Unthinks road
 Jeffries Geo. gunsmith, Golden Ball st
 Jeffries Lemon, victualler, Hen and Chickens, St. Mary's plain Jeffries Mr Samuel, Brazen doors road
 Jennings Miss Cath. Distillery street
 Jennings Samuel, shoe mfr. Fountain pl

- Jennings Sml. sawyer, Gas house hill
 Jennings Thos. hat mfr. Magdalen street
 Jenny Lind Infirmary, Pottergate street
 Jerry Jermh. shopkeeper, Bedford st
 Jerry George, grocer, Ber street
 Jerningham Hon. Wm., Unthanks rd
 Jessop James, baker, Oak street
 Jessopp Rev. Augustus, M.A., head master of Grammar School, Upper Close Johnson Ambrose, pawnbroker, Lower Westwick street
 Johnson Daniel, wood dlr. Trowse Mgt
 Johnson Edward Amond, gent. Pitt st
 Johnson Mrs Elizabeth, Heigham road
 Johnson James, M.D., Theatre street
 Johnson James John, Bloomsbury place
 Johnson John, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Johnson John Fuller, excise, 2 Saint Faith's terrace
 Johnson John Godwin, surgeon, 71 St. Giles' street
 Johnson Miss Maria, Town Close
 Johnson Martha, school, St. Giles' road
 Johnson Robt. regr. off. Castle Meadow
 Johnson Thomas, clerk, Oxford street
 Johnston Fergus, book agent, 29 Vic. st
 Jolly Ann, school, Earham
 Jolly C. W. and Son, coach builders and harness mfrs. St. Stephen's road
 Jolly Charles Wilson; h Newmarket rd
 Jolly Beaumont Wilson; h Newmrkt. rd
 Jolly Henry, horse dealer, Golding street
 Jolly John, vict. King's Arms, Hall rd
 Jones Elizabeth, draper, Briggs street
 Jones John, farmer, Lakenham
 Jones Robert, 9 Bloomsbury place
 Jones Thomas, assistant master, Commercial School; house Heigham road
 Jones Wm. plumber, &c., St. Margaret's Church alley
 Joseph Joshua and Sons, shoe mfrs. Bethel street and London
 Joy Mrs Charlotte, Newmarket road
 Juba Edmund, artist, Bridge st. St. G.
 Juler Joseph, clerk, 4 Grove road
 Kahler John Henry, baker, Rose lane
 Kahler John Martin, baker, Lwr. Close
 Keddington John, butcher, St. Aug's. st
 Kedenton Saml. shoemkr. St. Giles' hill
 Keeble James, cabinet maker, John st
 Keer Henry Jph. draper, (Cundall & K.); house Town Close Kehle Joseph, watchmaker, Stump Cross
 Keith, Blake, and Keith, solicitors, The Chantry, Theatre street
 Keith Frederick Thos.; h Bracondale
 Keith Thomas Moore; h Bracondale
 Kemp Alfred, victualler, Royal Standard, Chapel street, Union place
 Kemp Daniel Raynes, William street
 Kemp Geo. Pank, hairdres. 17 Exchange st
 Kemp Henry, reading room, &c., The Walk; house 36 Victoria street
 Kemp Henry, baker, Heigham Causeway
 Kemp Mr Isaac, Chapelfield road
 Kemp James Matthew, Bridge street
 Kemp James, broker, St. Benedict st
 Kemp Levi, turnkey, Rising Sun lane
 Kemp Thomas, saddler, Cattle market
 Kemp Wm. vict. Tuns, Chapelfield road
 Kemp Wm. & Sons, shoe mfrs. 18 Pitt st
 Kempster Rev. John Joseph James, cemetery chaplain, Dereham road
 Kempster Mrs, school, Dereham road
 Kent Mr Alfred, Upper Goat lane
 Kent Charles, beerseller, St. Paul's st
 Kent Hy. hosier & shirt mkr. 3 London st
 Kent Robert, shoemaker, 10 London st
 Kenyon John, tool maker, Goat lane
 Keppel Hon. Mrs F., Albemarle House, Mount Pleasant
 Kerr John, gentleman, Earham road
 Kerridge John, vict. Reindeer, Drhm. rd
 Kerridge Thomas, clerk of St. Martin's Kerrison & Co., tea dealers, Ber street
 Kerrison George, draper, Chapelfield rd
 Kerrison James, watchmkr. Magdalen st
 Kerrison & Preston, solicitors, Bank st
 Kerrison Roger, solicitor, and clerk to county magistrates; h Tombland
 Kerry Geo. house agent, Dereham road
 Kerry Geo. Caythorpe, rent collector and loan agent, Hall plain, St. Andrew's Kerry John, cabinet maker and beerhs. Northumberland street
 Kersey Mrs Emily, Thorpe hamlet
 Kett George, cattle dealer, Hall road
 Kett Henry Watson, coach builder and coach, hearse, &c. owner, 73 St. Giles' st
 Kett Jonathan, farmer, Earham
 Kett Mr Peter Mellish, St. Aug's. gates
 Kett Thos. Watson, upholsterer, Charing cross, and High street, Heigham Kett Wm. Woodhouse, draper & mercer, 2 Exchange street, and 2 London st Ketton John, seed crusher, &c. Foundry bridge; house Upper Close Key Samuel, shopkeeper, Upr. Heigham
 Key Septimus, baker, Unthanks road
 Keymer Mrs Rose Ann, 4 Lakenham ter
 Kibbey Miss F. school, Post Office street
 Kidd James, clerk, Gas house hill
 Kidd John Richd. tobacconist, Castle st
 Kidd Rev. Richard Hayward, curate of All Saints', Bracondale
 Kiddle Elizabeth, milliner, 12 London st
 Kilburn William, beerhouse, Rose lane
 Kilburn Wm. clothes dlr. St. Benedict st
 Killenback Harriet, gardener, Bulclose rd
 King Aurelius Robert, fish curer, and joiner, City road
 King Edw. butcher, St. Catherine's plain
 King James, plumber; h Grapes hill
 King James, vict. Bolingbroke Stores, Bank plain King James, greengrocer, Union street

King James and John, plumbers, painters, &c. Princes street
 King James; house Saint Giles' hill
 King James, clerk, Brunswick road
 King John (Jas. & John); h Princes st
 King My. Ann, vict. White Lion, Princes st
 King Richard Sol. tailor, King st. Cpl
 King Robert Jph. tobacn. st. Vauxhall st
 King Russell, grocer, King street, Cpl
 King Mr Samuel, Chapel field road
 King Saml. vict. Theatre Tav. Bethel st
 King (Sarah) and Seppings, (Charlotte) milliners, Stamp cross
 King Thomas Chas. Rackham, plumber, painter, &c. Palace street
 King William, manager, King street
 King Wm. Raymond, clerk, Distillery st
 Kirkby Eliz. milliner, Bridewell alley
 Kirkham Dennis, cabinet maker and upholsterer, Redwell street
 Kitson John, solicitor, proctor, notary, and registrar of court of probate, Upper Close; house Thorpe hamlet
 Kitton Mrs Anna Maria, Paragon street
 Kitton Fdk. tobacco & snuff mfr. Dereham rd. & 10 Haymarket; h Bedford st Kitton John, grocer, (Newson and Co.); house Thorpe hamlet Kitton Robert, architect, Tuck's court, St. Giles'; house Chapelfield road
 Kitton Samuel, tobacconist; h Golding st
 Kitton Wm. Manning, solicitor, Palace st
 Klein Hermann, teacher of German, Church street, Saint Simon
 Knapman Commander John, R.N. 15 Upper Saint Giles' street
 Knevett Hy. mason & shopr. Magdalen st
 Knevett Jonth. whitesmith, St. Benedt's. st
 Knight John E. shopman, Essex street
 Knight Thomas, bird, &c. preserver, Saint Faith's lane
 Knights Charlotte, pawnbroker, Ber st
 Knights Mr James, Mount pleasant
 Knights Sus. vict. Star & Crown, Timber hl
 Lacey Geo. Plummer, builder, Surrey rd
 Lacey Jas. Wilkins, builder, Surrey st
 Lacey Horace; house Bridge street
 Lacey Mr John, Chapel loke
 Lacey John Grimwood, bricklayer, Ber st
 Lacey Robert, shopkeeper, Cherry street
 Lacey Wm. Randall, St. Stephen's sq
 Ladbroke John Barney, artist, Gas house hill
 Ladell Mr William, Newmarket road
 Ladell Wm. Richard, West Wymer st
 Ladyman Joseph Harrison and Co. tea and coffee merchants, 6 The Walk Lain Edward, stationer, Elm hill
 Lait Jno. vict. Bartholomew Tav. Thorn ln
 Lake Chas. vict. Red House, Timber hill
 Lake Henry, pork dealer, Rising Sun ln
 Lake James, shoemaker, Red Lion st
 Lake Samuel, baker, Colegate street

Lake Mrs Sarah, 6 Wellington place
 Lake Wm. grocer, St. Stephen's street
 Lake Wm. school, Dereham road
 Lakeman Jasper, revenue officer, Essex st
 Lamb Benj. vict. Nursery Tav. Havelock st
 Lamb Benjamin Charles, coal merchant, Barrack street; h Magdalen street
 Lamb Miss Eleanor, Chapel field road
 Lamb James, butcher, Upper Walk
 Lamb Leonard, butcher, Upper Walk; house Kimberley street
 Lambert Francis, tea & coffee merchant, 6 Lower Goat lane; h Mount Pleasant
 Lambert George Loftus, victualler, Three Kings, Saint Benedict street
 Lambert Martin, vict. Prince of Wales, Cowgate street
 Lambert Mrs Mary, Mount pleasant
 Lammass Bros. (John & Abraham); tea, coffee, & spice merchts. 1 The Walk
 Lancaster Rebecca, school, Pottergate st
 Lanchester Thos. Wm. M.D. Bracondale
 Lanchester Rev. Chas. L. second master Grammar School; house Bracondale Lancum Thos. clog mkr. St. Mary's plain Land Henry, agent for Sutton's Parcel Despatch, Pottergate street
 Land Henry, baker, Rupert street
 Land Mary Clarissa, victualler, Adelphi, White Lion street
 Land Wm. gas fitter, &c. St. Peter's st
 Landy Mrs Charlotte, 6 Crescent
 Lane Chas. Crockett, agent, Rhoda ter
 Lane Albert David, victualler, Golden Wheat Sheaf, Saint Stephen's street
 Lane Chas. periodical agent, Dereham rd
 Lane Jas. vict. Three Pigeons, Charing cs
 Lane Joseph, hosier, All Saints' green
 Langton Edward, librarian, Bethel st
 Lanham Gilbert, victualler, Elephant and Castle, King street
 Lantenant Camille Louis Jacques, profr. of languages; and Madame Marie, school, Princes street
 Large Charles, grocer, Bishopgate street
 Large John, grocer, Julian street, and tallow chandler, Whitefriars street
 Larke Edgar, shoemaker, Ber street
 Larke Edw. Marsham, relieving officer, Bridge street; house Market lane
 Larkman Henry, broker, St. Benedict st
 Larkman James, shoemaker, Russell st
 Larkman Robt. vict. Thorn Tav. Ber st
 Larkman Robert, victualler, New Mills, Lower Westwick street
 Larkman William, tailor, Coslany street
 Larkman William, shopkeeper, King st
 Larkman Wm. Augsts. corn dr. King st
 Laskey Mary, baker, St. Andrew's hill
 Law Mrs Alfred, Unthanks road
 Lawn W. vict. White Lion, St. Bendet. st
 Lawrence Wm. shoemkr. St. Stphn's. rd
 Lawrence W. upholsterer, 49 Pottergt. st

- Laws George, fishmonger, Fish market ; house Pockthorpe
 Laws Js. vict. Vine Tav. Upr. St. Giles' st
 Laws John, fish curer, Fish market
 Laws Robert, smith, Dereham road
 Laws Robert Curll, Julian street
 Laws Susan, hat maker, Wastlegate st
 Lawson Charlotte Maria, druggist, Saint
 Benedict street
 Lawter Charles J. school, Elm hill
 Laxen Miss Harriet A., St. Giles' terrace
 Leach Rev. John, B.A. curate, Lakenham
 Leach Philip, builder, St. Martin's lane
 Leach Mr William, Golding street
 Leamon Geo. greengrocer, Magdalen st
 Leath Mrs Leah, 56 St. Giles' street Leavins Bailey, printer, (Cundall, Miller, and L.); h Cross street, Unthinks rd
 Lee George, traveller, Bethel street
 Lee Joseph, cowkeeper, Upper Heigham
 Lee Wm. shoemaker, All Saints' street
 Leech George, whitesmith, Lr. Goat ln
 Leech Jane, staymaker, Duke street
 Leeder Robert, smith, Thorn lane
 Leeds Mrs Mary, 67 St. Giles' street
 Leeds Misses Sarah & Mary, Thorpe ln
 Leeds Sarah & Eliza, shops. Tinkler's ln
 Leeds Samuel, schoolmaster, Castle
 Le Fevre Thomas, engineer and boiler maker, St. Stephen's street
 Leggatt James, forage dealer, King st
 Leggett John, wood dealr. Northmld. rd
 Legood Eliz. vict. Butchers' Arms, Berst
 Leist James, plane maker, Wensum st
 Leman Daniel, horse breaker and vict.
 Volunteer, Earlham
 Leman Mrs Emily, Oxford street
 Leman Thomas, baker, All Saints' street
 Leman Wm. horse breaker, Crescent pl
 Lemmon Rt. Js. printer, St. Lawrn's. ln
 Le Neve Charles, baker, Fishgate street
 Leney Mr Sam, Thorpe road
 L'Estrange Capt. Henry P. adjutant of W. N. Militia, Eaton Lodge
 L'Estrange John, clerk, Distillery street
 L'Estrange Sarah, cook, Bethel street
 L'Estrange Walter Rd. brewer, Holl's ln Lickert Dominick, jeweller, (Beha and Co.); house St. Stephen's plain Liddelow Robert, joiner, Elm hill
 Liffen John, bookbinder, Gildengate st
 Lincoln Jas. brazier, Church st St. M.
 Lincoln Jas. shoe mnfr. 14 Pottergate st
 Lincoln John, coffee house, Upper Walk
 Lincoln John, pipe and match maker,
 Synagogue street
 Lincoln Miles, hairdresser, Union st
 Lincoln Morris, hairdresr. Twentyone rw
 Lincolnne Eliz. Sar. bdg. school, Surrey st Lines Philip, broker, horse, &c. letter, and victualler, Globe, Globe street
 Linford Robt. watchmaker, Red Lion st
 Ling Edmund, bank clerk, Botolph st
 Ling George, builder, All Saints' green
 Ling Harriet, school, Bethel street
 Ling Henry, solicitor, Willow lane
 Ling Henry, school, Unthinks road
 Ling Mrs Marian, Castle meadow
 Ling Mr William, Infirmary road
 Ling Misses, school, Upper King st
 Lingwood Jeremiah, master of Boys'
 Home, St. Faith's lane
 Linstead George, coal dealer, Hall road
 Linstead Robert, draper, St. George's pln
 Lister John, cutler and surgical instrument manufacturer, 10½ Haymarket Literary Institution, St. Andrew's street
 Littell Hy. rope, sack, &c. mfr. Bedford st Littleboy George, clerk, Lower Close
 Littleboy John, clerk, Dereham road
 Livock Miss H. school, Bishopgate
 Livock Mr Jonathan, Synagogue street
 Livock William Thomas, tailor, draper, and outfitter, 4 London street
 Lloyd & Dawson, hot pressers, Colegt. st
 Lloyd Frederick (L. & D.); h Colegt. st
 Lloyd Richd. Owen, coal mert. Princes st
 Lloyd Thos. mason, 19 Bloomsbury pl
 Loades Benj. lithographer, Pottergate st
 Lock Mrs Ann, 1 Wellington place
 Lock Mr Charles, Dereham road
 Lock Hy. shoemaker, St. Stephen's st
 Lock Henry, shopkeeper, Waterloo
 Lock Wm. vict. John Bull, Union street
 Lockwood Lewis, shopkpr. St. Miles' al
 Lofty James, hair dresser, Colegate st
 Lohr Lydia, milliner and baby linen dlr.
 6 Briggs street; house Ipswich road
 Lomas William, tool mfr. & coffee house,
 Bridge street, Saint Andrew's Lombe William, shoemaker, St. James' st
 London Publishing Company, London st
 London Wm. vict. Free Trade Tav. Rose ln
 Lonergan Francis, victualler, Victoria
 Tavern, Stump Cross
 Loney Sam, army contractor, Thorpe ham
 Long Henry William, baby linen, &c. dealer, Post Office street
 Long John, farmer, Mousehold
 Long Joseph Page, baker, St. James' st
 Long Robert Saml. Walter, pork butcher,
 Coslany street
 Loombe Thomas, wire worker & machine maker, Golden Ball street
 Loose James, broker, Botolph street
 Lord Mr Aaron, Unthinks road
 Lord Jno. wooldspr. Fishgt. st; h 8 Duke st
 Louth Margaret, victualler, Rampant
 Horse Hotel, Rampant Horse street
 Love Charles Teasdale, plumber, &c.
 2 Palace street
 Love Geo. warehouseman, Magdalen rd
 Love Wm. vict. Queen's Head, Cowgt. st
 Loveday George, basket mkr. Palace pln
 Loveday Lewis, basket mkr. Peacock st
 Loveday Rt. vict. Pope's Head, St. Peter's st

Lovett George, builder, Dereham road
 Lovett Henry, haberdasher, toy dealer,
 &c. St. Stephen's street
 Lovett Jas. shopkeeper, King street, Cpl
 Lovick William and Co. glass and china dealers, St. Andrew's st; h Thorpe
 Lovick Mary, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Lowe Frederick, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Lowe Joseph, shopkeeper, Gildengate st
 Lowe Mr John Irvine, Park lane
 Lowe Stpn. music profsr. 31 Victoria st
 Lowe William, victualler, All Saints'
 Tavern, All Saints' green
 Lowe Wm. Emery, dyer, Elm hill
 Lowe William Charles, bank cashier, &c.
 Rampant Horse street
 Luckett Henry, shopkeeper, Pottergate
 Ludlow Henry, accountant, Town Close Lulham Edwin Walter, shoe manufactr.
 Pottergate street; h Unthanks road
 Lutchford Hy. Chas. shoe mfr. 3 L. Goat In Lying-in-Charity, Pottergate street
 Lynn Wm. victualler, Tuns, Coslany st
 MacCarthy Rev. Egerton Fras. Mead,
 M.A. mathematical master of Grammer School, Lower Close Mace Gilbert, lucifer match mfr. Cowgt. st
 Mace Mr James Allen, Plumstead road
 Mace Mr Joseph, Heigham road
 McEwen David, 26 Victoria street
 McIlmorrow John, travg. drpr. Coslany st
 McJannet Jas. tobacconist, St. Giles' hl
 Mack William, shopman, Muspole street
 McKay Alexander, draper, Earlham rd
 McKee Robt. rag merch. St. Margaret st
 Mackie Miss Elizabeth, Heigham road
 McKeown Hy. travelling draper, City rd
 McKeown Thomas, draper, Dereham rd
 Mackley Geo. Wm. dentist, 5 Westlegt. st
 Mackley Jas. shopkeeper, St. Giles' rd
 Mackley John, victualler, Marquis of Granby, Barrack street
 Mackley John Edw. tailor, 5 Wastlegt. st
 Mackley Richard, victualler, Gardeners'
 Arms, Infirmary road
 Mackley Ts. vict. Vine Tav. St. Benedict st
 Madders Mr Anthony, Thorpe hamlet
 Madge Giles, tunist and victualler, Wine
 Coopers' Arms, St. Augustine's street
 Madge Robt. Alex. music prof. Calvert st
 Madge Theodore, vict. Adelaide street
 Main Susan, staymaker, 4 Bridge street Maitland Frederick Augustus, glass and china mender, Saint Faith's lane
 Mallett Chas. (F. & Co.); h Unthanks rd Mallett Francis and Charles, tailors and drapers, 2 London street
 Mallett Henry, brush mfr. Calvert street
 Mallett Jph. Hy. mohair spnr. L. King st
 Mallows Geo. vict. Royal Exchg. Up. Walk
 Maltman Janet, milliner, Dereham road
 Mandell Mr Robert, Redwell street
 Mann Mr Charles, Mount Pleasant

Mann Henry, butcher, Elm hill
 Mann John, photographer, W. Pottergt. st
 Mann Joseph, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Mann Saml. tea dealer, Upper Surrey st
 Mann Samuel, bootmaker, Eye bridge
 Manning Geo. tool mfr. Golden Ball st
 Manning Jph. vict. Lord Nelson, Up. Walk
 Manning Robert, farmer, Lakenham
 Manning Mr William, William street
 Manser William, corn and timber dealer,
 Thorn lane; house Surrey grove
 Mansfield James, plumber, &c. Saint Stephen's street; h Newmarket street
 Mansfield James, gardener, Lakenham
 Manthorpe Jas. cabinet maker, King st
 March Mr James, All Saints' green
 March William, leather factor & boot & shoe mfr. Duke st; h All Saints' grn Margerson Hanh. stay mkr. St. Andw.'s pln
 Maris William, green grocer, Waterloo Markham Joseph John, hatter (Tomlin-son and Co.); house Castle street
 Markland Mrs Elizabeth, Magdalen st
 Marris Wm. hairdresser, St. Benedict st
 Marrison John, beerhouse, Bridge street
 Marshall Edmund, St. Martin's lane
 Marshall Miss E. model school, Saint Andrew's Broad street
 Marshall Jph. tailor, Rampant Horse st Marshall Robert, fishmonger, Fish mrkt. and 2 Magdalen street
 Marshall Robert, baker, Regent st, Cpl
 Marsham John, gardener, Holl's lane Marston Alfred Abraham, currier and leather dealer, All Saints' street
 Marston Charles, farmer, Ipswich road
 Marston Caroline, school, Carrow hill
 Marston Richard, cook & confectioner, 13
 The Walk; and brewer, Eaton
 Martin Benj. Abednego, shoe mfr. Saint Gregory's Church alley; h Heigham rd
 Martin Geo. shoemkr. St. Gregory's al
 Martin John, cowkpr. Short Cherry st
 Martin Mrs Olivia, Bracondale
 Martin Robert, broker, Quay side
 Martin Mr Robert Rawling, Trotry street
 Martin Mr Solomon, Lower Close Martin Thomas Lillystone, umbrella maker, 39 London street
 Martineau Miss Fanny, Bracondale Lodge
 Martineau Rd. maltster, King st & London
 Mase Henry, painter, (Pullen and Co.); house West Pottergate street
 Mason Benjamin, victualler, Staff of Life,
 Saint Augustine street
 Mason Rev. G. H. Thorpe hamlet
 Mason Henry Leeds, victualler, Sir John Barleycorn, Orford hill
 Mason Henry John, auctioneer, &c. Saint
 Gregory's Church alley
 Mason Jno. Cuttriss, butcher, Golden Bl. st
 Mason, Josiah, shopkeeper, St. Faith's In Mason Robert Staff, tailor, Dereham rd

- Mason Samuel, basket maker, Ber street
 Mason Sml. Cuttriss, butcher, St. Spn.'s st
 Mason Miss Sophia, 3 London terrace
 Mason Thomas, shoemaker, Dereham rd
 Mason Walter, vict. Jolly Drovers, Ber st
 Mason Wm. vict. White Horse, Magdln. st
 Mason William, butcher, Vauxhall street
 Masonic Hall, Theatre street
 Massingham Arthur Davey, Windsor ter
 Massingham Mr Hy. Alpe, Town Close
 Massingham Robert, baker, Bethel street
 Master Alfred, surgeon, Bethel street
 Matchett Rev. Jontn. Chase, M.A., minor canon, incumbent of St. Mary's-in-the-Marsh, & vicar of Easton, Lower Close Matchett & Stevenson, stationers, printers, & pnbrs. of Norfolk Chronicle, Mrktpl
 Matthews George, horse slaughterer and victualler, William IV. Mousehold
 Matthew James and Son (Samuel), herbalists, Raglan street
 Matthews John, victualr. Rose & Thistle, Barn road
 Matthews Mary Ann, school, Union pl
 Matthews Walter Franks, boarding schl. Thorpe grove
 Maxwell Honourable and Rev. Joseph C. (Roman Catholic), Willow lane
 Maxwell Ts. vict. Dolphin, Up. Heigham
 May Jas. bootmkr. 5 Upper St. Giles' st
 Mayes Miss Ann, St. Benedict street
 Mayes Henry, shopkeeper, King street
 Mayes John, victualler, London Steam Packet, St. Catherine's plain Mayfield James, Kimberley street
 Mayfield James, jun., boot top manufacturer, Vauxhall street
 Mayhew Robert, livery stables, Upper St. Giles' street; h Chapelfield Mayhew Wm. agent to County Fire and Provident Life Office, &c., King st; house 4 St. Faith's terrace
 Mayor James, tailor, Heald's buildings
 Mayston Edwin, Distillery street
 Mayston Samuel, Esq., Lower Close
 Meachen George, builder, Dereham rd
 Meachen Stephen Howlett, builder, William street, Heigham
 Mead John, tailor, Heigham road
 Meadows Cornelius, chain, &c., dealer, Magdalen street
 Meadows Jonathan, carriage builder, Duke's palace; & shopkpr. Coslany st Mealing & Mills, corn, coal, cake, &c., merchants, and maltsters Mealing Sml. Woodcock; h Ipswich rd
 Mear Mr Stephen, 9 Lame Dog road
 Meur William, architect, Surrey road
 Meek John, poulterer, Thorpe hamlet
 Meen Hy. Percy, butcher, St. Spn.'s. st
 Mendham Wace Lockett, sol. and town clerk, St. Andrew's st; h Unthanks rd
 Merrall Wm. vict. Bird-in-Hand, King st
 Merry Edward, beerhouse, Elm hill
 Merry John, cooper, Lobster lane
 Merry Robt. John, shoemaker, King st
 Metcalf Henry and Joseph, hot pressers and dyers, Colegate street
 Metcalf Joseph; house Peacock street
 Metcalf Wm. estate agent, Bedford st
 Meyrick Rev. Frederick, M.A., inspector of schools, Palace plain Mickleburgh John Henry, clothes dlr. Coslany street
 Micklethwait Capt. Geo., Bracondale
 Middleton and Answorth, paramatta, poplin, shawl, &c., mfrs. St. George's Mill, Calvert street
 Middleton George, mfr.; house London
 Middleton Mr George, 3 Wellington pl
 Middleton James, clerk, Town Close
 Middleton Jeremiah, victualler, Crown, Bridge street, St. George's Middleton John, victualler, Duke of Norfolk, Church path
 Middleton John, victualler, King's Head, Magdalen street
 Middleton John, tobacco mfr. Dersham rd
 Middleton John, shoemaker, Botolph st
 Middleton Mrs Mary, Surrey street
 Middleton Matthew, manager, Oak st
 Middleton Robert, butcher, Hall road
 Middleton Thos. beerhouse, Coslany st
 Middleton Thos. victualler, Hope Tav. Calvert street
 Middleton Thos. shoemkr. Wt. Wymer st
 Miles Mr Charles, Heigham road
 Miles John, grocer, Alma street
 Miles Stephen, silk mfr. Gildengate st
 Miles Mr William, Dereham road
 Militia Hospital, Pottergate street
 Militia Stores, Upper Surrey street
 Millard Chas. Wm. land agent and surveyor, Princes st; h Thorpe hamlet
 Millard Mrs Jane, Lower Close
 Miller Agnes, haberdasher, St. Cath.'s pln
 Miller Alfred, baker, Chapelfield road
 Miller Amelia, tobaccoconist, 5 London st
 Miller Arthur Russell, cigar importer, 11 St. Giles' hill
 Miller Chas. vict. Waterloo, Market pl
 Miller Charles, timber dealer, Chapelfield road; house 4 Norfolk street
 Miller Chs. vict. Geo. IV., Chapel st C. pl
 Miller Edm. shopkeepr. Northumberld. st
 Miller Geo. Mingay, butcher, St. Cath. pn
 Miller Geo. Robt. cabinet maker, &c., Bedford street; h 6 Kimberley street
 Miller Hy. solicitor, (Miller, Son & B.), and registrar of Guildhall Court; house Town Close Lodge
 Miller Hy. Blake, solr., (M., Son & B.), and clk. to Bd. of Health; h Ipswich rd
 Miller John, joiner, Gildengate street
 Miller Samuel, printer, (Cundall & M.); house Rampant Horse street

Miller, Son, & Bugg, solicitors, Bank Chambers
 Miller Wallace Shade, tobacconist, Little Orford street
 Miller Walter, baker, King street
 Mills Ann, school, Unthanks road
 Mills Charlotte, glover, Golden Ball st
 Mills Edward, agent, Scoles green
 Mills Geo. Thos. plasterer, 39 Pottergt.
 Mills Miss, Church path, New Lakenham
 Mills Jacob, merr., (Mealing & M.); house Mount Pleasant
 Mills James, yeast maker, Oak street
 Mills James, coal merchant and brick and tile maker, Castle Meadow Mills Mary, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Mills Mary Ann, vict. Bell, Lr. Goat In Mills Robert, corn merchant, (Mealing & M.); house Surrey street
 Mills Samuel, postman, Horsefair
 Mills Simon, sawyer, Philadelphia
 Mills W., postman, Mariners' lane
 Milnes Charles, Castle Meadow
 Mingay Frederick, French polisher and shopkeeper, Crook's place entrance
 Mingay George Nelson, ladies' shoe and fancy depôt, 7 Haymarket; h Eaton Minns David, butcher, St. Benedict st
 Minns Geo. Wm. gentleman, Tombland
 Minns Hannah, midwife, Ber street
 Minns Jesse, dresser of poplins, Sussex st
 Minns Jno. vict. Queen's Arms, Mgdlm. st
 Minns Robt. vict. Jolly Hatters, Cwgt. st
 Minns Samuel Wm. tailor, Magdalen st
 Minns Susan, vict. Eagle, St. Gregory's Church alley
 Minns Wm. shoemaker, Rising Sun lane
 Mitchell & Clarke, solicitors, Toll's court and Wymondham
 Mitchell David, currier, St. Stephn.'s pln
 Mitchell Mr Edward, St. Faith's lane
 Mitchell Frdk. Gavel, baker, Palace st
 Mitchell Henry G., shopkpr. Adelaide st
 Mitchell Hy. tobacconist, Heigham csy.
 Mitchell John, shopkeeper, Timber hill
 Mitchell John, draper, Dereham road
 Mitchell Robert, basket maker, Pitt st
 Mitchell Samuel, victualler, Duke of Wellington, Chapel street, Union pl Mitchell Rev. Wm. (R. Cath.), Willow In Mitson Samuel, victualler, Cellar House, Bridge street, St. G.
 Moll George, horse &c. letter, St. Giles' street; house Oxford street
 Moll John, tailor, West Wymer street
 Moll Richard, broker, St. John's street
 Moll Wm. gentleman, Heigham grove
 Moll William, draper, (Dexter & M.); house Unthanks road Money Jas. shopkeeper, Bethel street
 Money Wm. (Robberds & M.) h Lyng
 Monsey James, cooper, Thorn lane
 Moore Chas. watchmaker, Coslany st

Moore Clement, vict., Corn Exchange, Bridge street, St. George's Moore & Co. haberdashers and button factors, St. Giles' street
 Moore Eliz. beerhouse, Lr. Westwick st
 Moore Forster G. and Son, soda water manufacturer, &c. Wounded Hart yard
 Moore Forster Grand; h Mount pleasant
 Moore Fdk. Edwin; h St. Stephen's sq
 Moore George, artist, West Wymer st
 Moore Geo. Gaze, (M. & Co.); h Heigm
 Moore Honor, milliner, Rising Sun lane
 Moore Isaac, hairdresser, West Pottergt. street, and shopkeeper, Dereham road Moore Jas. beerhs. St. Paul's Back In Moore James, gardener, Thorpe hamlet
 Moore James, hairdresser, Ber street
 Moore John, contractor, Thorpe hamlet
 Moore John, beerhouse, Fishgate street
 Moore Jno. Geo. (& Co.); h Fountain pl
 Moore Luke, shoemaker, Upr. Heigham
 Moore Robert, gardener, Bishopgate st
 Moore William, builder, King street
 Moore Wm. vict. Royal Standard, Ber st
 Moore Wm. vict. Little Buck, Oak st
 Morant Mr, Thorpe hamlet
 Morgan Arthur Morris Foster, surgeon and registrar, St. Giles' street
 Morgan Chas. druggist, Bridewell alley
 Morgan Edward Charles, stock and share broker, Tombland
 Morgan Hy. (J. B. & H.); h Bracondale
 Morgan John B. and Henry, brewers, maltsters, & spirit merchants, King st
 Morgan John Brandram; h King street
 Morgan Rd. John Edw. 8 Newmarket rd
 Morgan Robert Pratt & Co. timber merchants, Synagogue st; h Town close Morgan Wm. Robt. pawnbrk. Magdln. st
 Moreland Mrs Amelia, Castle meadow
 Moreley Mrs Mary Ann, Nelson street
 Morris David, baker, Vauxhall street
 Morris Geo. coach builder, Magdalen st
 Morris Mr Robert, Park lane
 Morris Robert, gent. Thorpe hamlet
 Morrison Peter Archibald, wine and spirit merchant; Market place
 Morse Rev. Anthony South, B.A. curate of St. Mark's, Bracondale
 Morse Rev. Charles, LL.B., rector of St. Michael's-at-Plea, and incumbent of St. Mary's Coslany, Calvert street
 Morse Miss Emily, Lower Close
 Morse Miss Elizabeth, Bracondale
 Morter Meshach, shoemaker, Julian st
 Morter Robert, grocer and victualler, Norfolk Tavern, Norfolk street
 Morter William, shoemaker, Ber street
 Mortimer John Thursby, vict. Railway Hotel, 72 St. Giles' street
 Moss Robert, vict. Angel, Oak street
 Mottram Jas. Nasmith, clerk, Bank st
 Motts Mary, clothes dealer, Coslany st

- Motts John, cabinet maker, Calvert st
 Moughton John, coal dlr. Synagogue st
 Mounser W. cutler, Timberhill Mower Charles, victualler, Shoulder of Mutton, Botolph street
 Moy George, fishmonger, Fish market;
 house 33 Pottergate street
 Moy William, victualler, East End Retreat, Thorpe hamlet
 Muirhead Hannah, clothes dlr. Colegt st
 Muirhead Wm. coffee house, Bedford st
 Munday Thos. shopkeeper, New Catton
 Mundy Wm. gardener, Lower Close Munford John, victualler, Lord Nelson,
 Nelson street
 Muriel Charles Evans, surgeon & deputy registrar, 71 St. Giles' street
 Murnane Mrs Sarah E., Cross st Urd.
 Murphy Peter, draper, Somerleyton st
 Murray James, tailor, Russell street Murray Josiah and Son, joiners and builders, St. Andrew's street
 Murrell Gibbs Howes, auctioneer, estate agent, valuer, and insurance agent, 5
 Bank st; h 2 Montpelier place
 Murrell Henry Timothy, Kimberley st
 Murrell Jas. glass & china dlr. Chapelfd.
 Murrell Jonathan, shoemkr. St. Giles' rd
 Murrell Ths. Rt. jeweller; h Bracondale Murrell William, ironfounder, Crook's place entrance; h St. Stephen's sq
 Murrell W. victualler, Tiger, Fishgate st
 Murton James, clerk, Newmarket street
 Murton Wm. tinner, Magdalen street
 Museum, St. Andrew's street
 Musk John, baker, St. Mary's plain
 Muskett Miss Eliza, 10 St. Clement's hill
 Muskett Fdk. W. shpr. St. Augustn's. st
 Muskett Mrs Emily, Thorpe hamlet
 Muskett James, grocer, Dereham road
 Muskett Miss Mary, Unthanks road
 Mutimer Samuel, grocer, Oak street
 Myall Ann, vict. Baker's Arms, Palace pln
 Nary John, police sergeant, Julian street
 Nash Joseph, cheesefactor and provision dealer, Post office street
 Nash Rebeca. vict. Oak Shades, L. Goat ln
 Nash Robert, butcher, Stonor's buildings
 Nash Robert Smith, Norfolk Railway
 House, Foundry bridge
 Nash Wm. Spooner, papermfr. & stationr.
 Lower Westwick st; h Valentine st
 Neale Jas. Fredk. grocer, St. Andrw's st Neep George, dentist, Post Office street;
 house Mount Pleasant
 Nelson Robert, tailor, Norfolk street
 Nelson Mrs E. Grove place
 Nesbitt, J. J. clerk, Crown Bank
 Nettleton Mrs Ann, Brunswick road
 Neve Mrs Martha, Chapelfield road
 Neve Mrs Sarah, Bracondale Newbegin J. & E. J. tobacconists and cigar mfrs. &c. Mktpl. & Bridewell alley Newbegin James; h Bridewell alley
 Newbegin Edw. Jph.; house Pottergate
 Newby James, broker, Ber street
 Newby Mr John, Valentine street
 Newby William, beerhouse, Cobourg st
 Newcome Miss Charlotte, Albert place
 Newham Maria, dressmaker, William st
 Newhouse Arnold Barber, Suffolk street
 Newman Frederick Geo. rag dealer, bone crusher, &c. Ber street; h Trowse
 Newman Hy. lime burner, Thorpe ham
 Newman Henry, farmer, Eaton
 Newman Henry, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Newman Henry Richard, baker, Ber st
 Newman John, victualler, Cherry Tree,
 Gildengate street
 Newman Mrs Mary, Dereham road
 Newman My. Ann, dressmkr. 3 William st
 Newman Robert, plumber, &c. Ber st
 Newman Rbt. shoemkr. St. Stephen's rd
 Newman Samuel, jewellery and fancy depôt, 7 Saint Giles' street
 Newman Sarah, vict. Three Pigeons,
 Fishgate street
 Newman Wm. bricklayer, Dereham road
 Newson and Co. grocers and provision merchants, Stump cross
 Newson James, baker, Lady lane
 Newton Alfred, fruiterer, St. Stephen's st
 Newton Mrs Emma, Clarence road
 Newton Geo. harness mkr. Lame Dog rd
 Newton Mr Thomas, Castle meadow
 Newton William, fruiterer, Swan lane
 Newton Wm. land agent, &c. Tombland
 Nicholls Wm. Cobb, baker, King street
 Nichols Edw. vict. Distillery, Dereham rd
 Nichols Edward, brazier and victualler,
 Alma Tavern, Cow hill
 Nichols Mrs Eliz. Charles st. Heigham
 Nichols Miss Hannah, Chapel field road
 Nichols Henry, cap maker, 10 Lr. Goat ln
 Nichols John, vict. Greyhound, Ber st
 Nichols Richard, rope maker and vict.
 Rose, Saint Catherine's plain
 Nichols William, vict. Farriers' Arms,
 Pottergate street
 Nichols Wm. Peter, surgeon, Surrey st
 Nicholson Cath. school, The Chantry
 Nickalls Mr Matthew John, St. James' st
 Nightingale Wm. Royal, grocer, Botolphst
 Ninham Henry, artist, 12 Chapel field
 Ninham John, agent, Thorpe hamlet
 Nixon John Hindson, gent. Bracondale
 Nixon Mr Samuel Henry, 3 Grove road
 Nixon Robert, victualler, Lamb, Eaton
 Nobbs Edward, greengrocer, Oak street
 Nobbs Henry, beerhouse, Coslany street
 Nobbs James, shoemkr. Bridge st. St. G
 Nobbs Robert, rag, &c. dlr. City road
 Nobbs Samuel, coal dealer, Mill street
 Nobbs Wm. shoemaker, Dereham road Noble George, coach builder (Constable and Co.) ; house Trory street

- Noble Mark, organ bldr. Chapelfield rd
 Nockall Emma, stationer, 2 Lwr. Goat ln
 Nockall Jonathan, victualler, Royal Oak,
 Chapel street, Crook's place
 Nockolds Frederick Wm. Southwell rd
 Nockolds John, shoe manfr. Pitt street
 Nockolds Thomas Lincoln, victualler,
 Old Barge, King street
 Nokes Wm. vict. Star Hotel, Haymarket
 Norfolk and Eastern Counties Coal Company, London street and London
 Norfolk News Proprietors, printers, St.
 Andrew's Broad st. & 5 Exchange st
 Norgate & Son, wine, spirit, and porter merts. 11 The Walk, and Surrey st Norgate John; house Sprowston Hall
 Norgate William; house Surrey street
 Norman Benj. printer & bookbdr. Haymt
 Norman Emerson, traveller, Oxford st
 Norman Mr Richd. Briten, Magdalen rd
 Norman Mr William, Newmarket street
 Norris Mrs Lucy, Thorpe hamlet
 Norris Mrs Mary Ann, cabinet mkr. &c.
 Charing Cross; h Newmarket road
 North Samuel, school, College court
 North Thomas, shoemaker, Ber street
 North William, school, Mariner's lane
 North Wm. plasterer, Chapelfield road
 Norton and Blackburn, tailors & drapers,
 Back of the Inns
 Norton Fras. Jas.; h Back of the Inns
 Norton Edw. shoemaker, Chapelfield rd
 Norton Geo. shoemaker, St. Stephen's st
 Norton Mr Henry, Unthinks road
 Norton Mrs Jane, Bracondale
 Norton Mr John Culley, Unthinks rd
 Norton Mrs Phillis, Lower Goat lane
 Norton Robert, grocer, Fye Bridge
 Norton Wm. builder, Upper Heigham
 Norwich Crape Company, shawl, &c. manufacturers, Botolph street
 Norwich Union Fire & Life Assce. Co.
 Surrey st; Sir Saml. Bignold, Kt. sec.
 Nottley Charles, clerk, Newmarket road
 Noverre Frank, teacher of dancing; and Miss J., teacher of music, Theatre st
 Nuce William, hair dresser, King street
 Nudds John, bricklayer, Magdalen road
 Nudds Wm. S. carpenter, St. Stephen's sq
 Nunn James, hair dresser, Dereham rd
 Nunn John, hair dresr. St. Augustine st
 Nunn William, school, Barrack street
 Nurse Robert, carver & gilder, Castle st
 Nursey Claude Lorraine, artist, Saint Andrew's street; house Blofield
 Nursey Henry, porter, Workhouse
 Oakes Mrs E. A. Oxford street
 Oakes James, shopkeeper, Botolph st
 Oakley Robert, blacksmith, Palace st
 Offord James Sharpen, dentist, & truss,
 &c. maker, Theatre street
 Oliver Eliz. vict. Old Music House, King st
 Oliver Mr John, Grove road
 Ollett Mattw. builder, St. Catherine's pln
 Olley Edward, currier, 6 Timber hill
 Olley Hy. Wm. shoemkr. Distillery st
 Olley Stn. Benj. tinner, St. Benedict's st Onley Wm. Daniel, earthenware dlr. & vict. Golden Lion, Brazen doors road
 Orams Mr Edward, Dereham road
 Orfew John, timber merchant, Fishgate street; house Lower Close Orman Mr William, Mount pleasant
 Ormiston Edward, Thorpe hamlet
 Orris Frederic Henry, surgeon and draggist, Magdalen street; h Colegate st Orris George, druggist, St. James' st
 Orris Mrs Jane, West parade
 Osborn John, tailor, Little London st; house 5 Wellington place, N. L.
 Osborn Rd. Norman, chairmr. Muspolest
 Osborne Charles, corn dealer, Ber street, and Golden Ball street
 Osborne Chas. vict. Anchor, Ten Bell ln
 Osborne Edward, coal dealer, Quay side Osborne Rev. John Francis, rector of Eccles-next-the-Sea, Bethel street
 Osborne Oscar, grainer, Dereham road
 Osborne Samuel, clerk, Dereham road
 Ostler John, paper hanger, Suffolk st
 Otty Pp. printer & bookbinder, Orford hill
 Outlaw John, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Overment Mrs Maria, Newmarket road
 Overton John and Son, (Wm.) coopers,
 Thorpe hamlet
 Owen Rev. John S., B.A. Unthinks rd
 Owen Thomas, pawnbroker, Colegate st
 Owles Mr William, Valentine street
 Oxley Richard, hosier, glover, and shirt maker, 6 London street
 Page Alfred, baker, Trory street
 Page Alfred, junr., brush manufacturer, (Rogers & Page); h Wensum street
 Page Charles Fountain, (and Sons); house 23 Haymarket
 Page Mr Edmund, Newmarket road
 Page Frd. John (& Son); h 5 Earlm.ter
 Page George & Son (Geo. jun.), curriers,
 Fye Bridge; house Unthinks road
 Page Jermh. plasterer, Chapelfield road
 Page Joseph, tailor, outfitter and hosier,
 13 Briggs street
 Page Martin Fountain, The Point
 Page Mary, baker, St. John's street
 Page Miss Rachel, Distillery street
 Page Mr Robert, Surrey road
 Page Saml. carpenter, West Pottergt. st
 Page S. D. & Sons, printers, stationers, & brush & patten mfrs. 23 Haymarket
 Page Samuel Deyns; h 23 Haymarket
 Palgrave Mrs Ann, Hall road
 Palmer & Bell, blacksmiths and bill makers, St. Augustine's street
 Palmer Edwd. marine store dlr. King st
 Palmer Etheldred Bunn, Heigham road
 Palmer Francis, police clerk, Castle Mdw

- Palmer Geo. vict. Farmers, Charing cross Palmer James Hardman, (R. & J. H.); house Cross street
 Palmer John (P. & Bell); h St. Augstn. st
 Palmer Jno. harness mkr. St. Bndct. st
 Palmer Richard & J. H., shoe mfrs.
 Chapel street, Union place
 Palmer Robt. shoemaker, Unthanks rd
 Palmer Robert, smith, St. Saviour's lane
 Palmer Thos. horse dr. 10 Up. Surrey st Palmer Thos. Hitchen, solicitor & regr. of County Court, Princes st; h Thorpe
 Palmer William, cashier, West Parade
 Palmer William, last maker, Timber hill
 Palmer Wm. carver, St. Lawrence's lane
 Pank Abm. gas fitter, &c. 123 Bedford st
 Pank & Goat, shoe mfrs. Charles st, H.
 Pank Jas. shoe mfr.; h Charles st H.
 Pank Jph. John, smith, gas fitter, &c.,
 Colegate st, & Bedford st; h Heigham
 Pank William, supt. of Pauper Lunatic Asylum, Infirmary road
 Parfitt Edw. gardener, Unthanks road
 Parfitt George, gardener, Sussex street
 Parfitt Robert, victualler, Coach Makers'
 Arms, Bethel street
 Park Joseph, worsted, &c., spinner, St.
 James' factory; h Mount Pleasant
 Parker Mr Clare, Oak street
 Parker Clare, jun., bricklayer, Oak street
 Parker Frederick, grocer, Ber street
 Parker Mr George, Dereham road
 Parker Jermh. shoemaker, Distillery st
 Parker Joshua, fishmonger, Fish market
 Parker Mrs Mary Ann, Park lane
 Parker Mr Robert, Brunswick road
 Parker Mr Thomas, Somerleyton street
 Parker Thomas, fishmonger and manure dealer, St. Stephen's street
 Parker Wm. pill box maker, Sussex st
 Parker William, draper, Valentine street
 Parkerson Jude, vict. Ship, King street
 Parkerson Robt. vict. Bull, Bull close Parkes John, shopkeeper, King street
 Parlour Henry Edw., St. Andrew's hill
 Parlour John, whitesmith, &c., Redwell street; house Thorpe Hamlet Parmeter Robt. Wm. solr. & clerk of the peace for Norfolk, Orford hl; h Aylsham Parnell Richard, bricklayer, Bethel st; house John street, Dereham road
 Parnell Wm. hair dresser, St. Mary's pl
 Parr Caroline, milliner, Ber street
 Parr James, fruiterer, Rose lane
 Parr John, baker, 4 Upper St. Giles' st
 Parr Mrs W. B., Upper St. Giles' street
 Parr William Miles, Adelaide street
 Parsley Henry, traveller, Heigham road
 Parsons C., dressmaker, St. Giles' hill
 Partridge Mrs, matron, Hospital
 Paston Robert, beerhouse, Union street
 Paston Thomas, plumber, painter, &c.,
 Magdalen street
 Paston Wm. currier, (Rudd and P.), and vict. Paul Pry, St. Giles' hill
 Patch Henry, traveller, Paragon street Patent Stone Works (Ransome's), Cole-gate and Ipswich
 Patrick Charles, clerk, Middle street Patrick Jas. Fitz, timber merchant and sawyer, St. Miles' Saw Mills, Cslny. st
 Patrick J., postman, Fisher's lane
 Patterson Chas. book agent, Theatre st
 Patteson Henry Staniforth, brewer, (Steward and Co.); house Thorpe
 Patteson Rev. Wm. Fdk., M.A., canon of Norwich, incumbent of St. Helen's, &c.; house St. Helen's place
 Paul Chas. Joseph, fishmonger, Ber st
 Paul and Cadge, academy, Bracondale
 Paul Rd. eating house, 12 Bridewell ally
 Paul Wm. Fras. (P. & Cadge); h Eaton
 Pauling Henry, baker, Julian street
 Payne Rev. John Harvey, B.A., vicar of Earlham
 Payne Marianne, school, Cowgate street
 Payne Sturley, surgeon & regr. Duke st
 Peacock Geo. vict. Cock, Up. St. Gl.'s st
 Peacock Jas. shoemaker, Pottergate st
 Peake Edw. clerk, Bloomsbury place
 Pear John, bird preserver, 11 Surrey st Pearce (Chas.) & Gayford (Wm.), smiths and spring makers, St. Andrew's st Pearce Philip, whiting mfr. and lime burner, Harford Bridge & Chapelfield road; and vict. Compasses, Up. King st Pearce Robt. beerhouse, Heigham street
 Pearce Robt. rag dealer, St. Benedict st
 Pearce Wm. baker, St. Peter's street
 Pearse Mrs Mary, Pottergate street Pearson Edward, upholsterer (Freeman and P.); house Thorpe hamlet
 Pearson Margt. cutler, St. Andrew's hill
 Peck Edward, police, Pottergate street
 Peed Fdk. Martin, shopkpr. St. Augtn. st
 Pegg Mr Joseph, York place
 Pegg Saml. vict. Norwich Arms, Ber st
 Pegg Wm. Bacon, joiner, Horn's lane
 Peggs James Arissa, chemist & druggist
 Golden Ball street
 Peirson Edward Crisp, Back's yard
 Pelham Hon. & Right Rev. John Thos.
 D.D. Bishop of Norwich, The Palace
 Pellow Hon. & Very Rev. Geo. D.D. dean of Norwich & rectr. Gt. Chart, Deanery
 Penrice David, surgeon to the 1st West
 Norfolk Militia, Tombland
 Penny Mrs Elizabeth, Bedford street
 Penton James, broker, Chapelfield road
 Pepworth Jas. traveller, St. Stephen's rd
 Percy Mrs Eliza, Earlham road
 Perfitt George, warder at Castle
 Perfect Samuel, clerk of Eaton church
 Perowne James Joseph, bolting cloth mfr.
 Colegate street; house 1 William st
 Perowne Jontn. Sowell, uphlstr. Sussex st

Perowne Rt. John Sowell, Sussex street
 Perry James, beerhouse, Silver road
 Pert James, shoemaker, Pitt street
 Petch Wm. victualler, Horse Barracks,
 Barrack street
 Petchell Rd. vict. Stag, St. Benedict st
 Pettingill Miss Eliza, Thorpe hamlet
 Pettingill Mrs Somerleyton street
 Phillipps Matthias, gent. Newmarket rd
 Phillips Francis, school, St. Peter's st
 Phillips Mr Frederick, Freeman's villas
 Phillips John, victualler, Eagle & Child,
 Golden Ball street
 Phillips Robert, merchant, Rampant
 Horse street; house Carlton terrace
 Phillips Sarah, matron, Pauper Asylum
 Phillips Sl. Michl. watchmkr. Chapelfld. rd
 Phillips Thomas, shopkeeper, Finket st
 Philo Joseph, saddler, 4 London street
 Philo Wace, wheelwright, Belvoir street
 Phipson Richard Makilwaine, architect
 & county surveyor Surrey st & Ipswich
 Pickford & Co. carriers, Duke's palace;
 W. W. Wright, agent
 Pigg Arthur John, draper (S. and Sons); house Unthanks road
 Pigg Ed. ironmng. (Piper & P.); h West par
 Pigg Frederic, mahogany and deal mert.
 Pigg, Greenwood and Co. cabinet mkr.
 upholsterers, &c. 14 London street
 Pigg Henry, bookseller, printer, & Ordnance map agt. 7 London st; h Oxford st Pigg John, traveller, 5 Surrey terrace
 Pigg Mrs Mary, Surrey road
 Pigg Mrs Mary, King street
 Pigg Rt. cabt. mkr; h Brazen doors rd
 Pigg Samuel and Sons, woollen drapers and shoe manufacturers, Haymarket
 Pigg Saml. & Walter Hy.; h Unthank rd
 Piggott John Henry, St. Stephen's street; house Brunswick row Pilgrim John, solicitor, (Jay and P.); house 2 Newmaket road
 Pilgrim Miss Maria, Chapelfield
 Pinching Wm. baker, Queen st, Crook's pl
 Pinder Thomas Richmond, head master of King Edward VI.'s Commercl. schl Pinnock James, victualler, Duke of York,
 Thorpe hamlet
 Pinnock Robert, beerhouse, King st
 Pinnock Robert lime burner, Silver road,
 Pinson Henry, printer, &c. 30 Pottergt. st
 Pinson Geo. governor of Norwich Castle
 Piper Austin, traveller, Bracondale Piper and Pigg, ironmongers, oil and colourmen, &c. 8 London street
 Piper John Daniel; house West parade
 Pitcher Henry, shopkeeper, Rose lane
 Pitcher Henry, pawnbroker, St. John's st
 Pitman Mrs Mary Ann, Newmarket road
 Pitt John Ballard, surgeon, St. Stpn.'s st Pitts Robert Christopher, chemist and drugst, 8 St. Giles' st; h Thorpe villa

Pane Richard, victualler, Excise Coffee
 House, Lower Goat lane
 Platten My. livery stables, Upr. Surrey st
 Playford Geo. shopkeeper, Brunswick rd
 Playford William, victualler, Rising Sun,
 Golden Ball street
 Plummer Mr Chas. Taylor, Nelson ter. L.
 Plummer George, smith, Bethel street; house John street
 Plummer John, shopkpr. Golden Dog In Plummer Miss Pleasance, Chapelfield
 Plumstead Fredk. hairdrsr. Magdalen st
 Plumstead Robt. hairdresser, Wensum st Plumstead Robert, jun., hairdresser and victualler, Victoria Tavern, Julian st
 Plumstead Saml. Jas. cooper, Coslany st
 Plunkett John, beerhouse, Botolph street
 Pointer Robert, farmer, Old Catton
 Pointer Wm. manure mfr. Thorpe hamlet
 Poll James, Peacock street
 Poll Robert, brick maker & lime burner,
 Dereham road
 Poll Saml. camlet mfr. Magdalen street
 Poll Thomas, carpenter, Oxford street
 Pollard William, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Pond James, shoemaker, Hellesden road
 Pond Wm. herbalist, Pottergate street
 Poole Mrs Mehetabel, Theatre street
 Pooley Samuel, cabinet maker, &c. St.
 John street; house 97 Pottergate st Pooley William. cabinet maker and upholsterer, Charing cross
 Pope Henry, shopman, 3 Victoria plain Pope John, beerhouse, Heigham street
 Porritt Mr David, 12 Newmarket road
 Porter Elizabeth, victualler, Greyhound,
 Rampant Horse street
 Porter James, victualler, Bowling green
 Tap, Theatre street; h Chapelfield rd
 Porter James, Bridge street, St. George's Porter John Spratt, tailor, Julian street
 Porter Mrs Mary, 2 St. Giles' hill
 Porter Robert, coal agent, St. Giles' hill
 Porter Miss Rebecca, Thorpe hamlet
 Porter Samuel, traveller, Dereham road
 Porter Thomas Hall, West end street
 Porter Wm. shoer. St. Catherine's plain
 Postle Mr William, Chapelfield
 Potter Mrs Ann, Newmarket road
 Potter Geo. vict. Red Lion, Magdalen st
 Potter Mrs Sarah, Heigham road
 Potter Js. mfr. (Case & P.); h 2 Grove rd
 Potter Robert, shopkeeper, King street
 Potter Thos. & Co. hatters, furriers, &c.
 5 The Walk
 Powell Mrs Hannah, Theatre street
 Powell John, hairdresser, St. Benedict st
 Powell Robert, draper, 36 London st
 Powell Robert, butcher, Union street
 Powley James, vict. Brewers, St. John's st Powley John, wheelwright, Cattle market; h Crook's place, Heigham
 Powley Rt. vict. Jolly Farmers, Cattle mkt

- Pownall Rev. Alfred, M.A., vicar of Trowse and Lakenham, Newmarket rd
 Pratt Mrs Ann, Lower Close
 Pratt Arthur, grocer, cheese factor, &c. Wensum street; h Bishopgate street
 Pratt John, victualler, Prince of Denmark, Sprowston road
 Pratt John, shoemaker, Coslany street
 Pratt Richard Jeremiah, farrier & horse breaker, Northumberland street
 Pratt Mrs Sarah, matron of Orphans' Home, Pottergate street
 Pratt William, shoemaker, Bridge st
 Pratt William, fishmonger, Fish market
 Pratt William, watchmaker, Dereham rd
 Prentice John Frederick, Holl's lane
 Prentice John Smith, turner, Hghm. rd
 Prentice Mrs Lydia, Bracondale
 Presents Philip, binder, Cowgate street
 Press Edward, solicitor, and county coroner, Unthanks road Press Fdk. Geo. shopkeeper, Philadelphia
 Press Fk. Wm. vict. Red Lion, Mgdln. st
 Press Reuben, cowkpr. Upr. Hellesden rd
 Press Robert, beerhouse, Heigham road
 Press Wm. paramatta mfr. Ayisham rd
 Preston Arthur, solicitor and clerk to Burial Board, &c. (Kerrison and P.); house Bank street
 Price Rev. Geo. Fredk. M.A., rector of St. John's Mdk. ; h Brunswick road
 Price John, sub-sacrist, Lower Close
 Price Joseph, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Price Sml. W., dress printer, Botolph st
 Priest Henry Raven & Co., wine and spirit merts. 1 St. Giles' st; h Pottrgt.
 Priest Mrs Mary, 33 Victoria street
 Priest Miles, clerk, Bedford street
 Priest Richard, gent. 78 St. Giles' st
 Priest Mrs Sophia, Chapelfield road
 Priest Mr Thomas, St. Stephen's road
 Pritty Wm. vict. Half-Moon, Dereham rd
 Pritty Wm. shoemaker, Queen st, C. pl
 Provart Edgar, sheriff's-officer and vict. Royal Hotel Tap, Back of Inns Provart Mr William, 7 Alma terrace
 Provart Wm. jun. St. Augustine's terrace
 Prowne Robert, clerk, Sussex street
 Pryor Chas. Wm, reader, Lower Close
 Pulham William, grocer, Coslany street
 Pullen, Mase, and Furse, painters, decorators, &c. St. Lawrence's lane
 Pullen Thomas; h St. Lawrence's lane
 Pulley Henry, solicitor & insurance agent Surrey street; house Carrow hill
 Pammell James, baker, Ten Bell lane
 Pancher Wm. bookseller, 2 White Lion st
 Pantis Mrs Martha, Infirmary road
 Purdy Mrs Hannah, Hall road
 Purdy Mrs Jane, John st, Dereham rd
 Puxley James, victualler, Marquis of Granby, Bishopgate street
 Pycroft Mrs Ann, Grove place terrace
 Pycroft Nathl. butcher, Red Lion street
 Pye Robert, beerhouse, 63 Pottergate st
 Pye Wm. G. builder, St. Augustine's st
 Pye Wm. Martin, grocr. St. Augustine st
 Pyle Miss Harriet, Nelson street
 Pyle Henry, vict. Rose, Upper King st
 Pymar John, wool and silk merchant, &c. Castle meadow; house Mile end
 Quantrell Richard, victualler, Crown and Anchor, Gildengate street
 Quantrell Wm, victualler, Ropemakers' Arms, Lower Hellesden road
 Quihampton Basil Duckworth, foreman, Anchor Brewery
 Quinn Miss Cath. school, Ten Bell lane
 Quinton Benjamin, artist, Rose lane
 Quinton Elizabeth S. school, Charles st
 Quinton John, bookbinder, 36 Pottergt st
 Quinton John, librarian, Victoria street
 Quinton Joseph, clerk, Dereham road
 Quinton Wm. Benj. Somerleyton street
 Raby William, shopkeeper, Fishgate st
 Rackham Benj clerk, St. Faith's lane
 Rackham and Cooke, solicitors, Tuck's court, St. Giles' street
 Rackham Mrs Eliza, Thorpe hamlet
 Rackham Mrs Hannah M., Mt. Pleasant
 Rackham Jno. vict. Beehive, St. Bendt. st
 Rackham Rev. Matthew John, M.A. rector of St. Augustine's, Pitt street
 Rackham Mattw. Robt. solectr. Theatre st
 Rackham Thomas Hanworth, solicitor, (R. and Cook); house Catton
 Rackham Thomas, gent. Southgate st
 Rackham William Matthias, chemist and druggist, 2 Saint Peter's street
 Rackham William Simon, draper (Chamberlain and Co.); house Unthanks road Railway Stations: Victoria, top of Saint Stephen's street; Thorpe Station, near Foundry Bridge
 Rainger Fredk. George, Post Office clerk
 Rainger Geo. Henry, clerk, St. Giles' rd
 Ralphs Wm. watchmkr & gold & silversmith, 9 London st; h 9 St. Clem.'s ter
 Ramm William Fox, tailor, John street
 Ramsdale Mrs Mary, Essex street
 Ramsey Wm. & Co. coal, cake, salt, manure &c. merts. Trowse Millgt.; h Thorpe ham
 Randall George, warder at Castle
 Randall James, bootmaker, Magdalen st
 Randall Richard, grocer, Magdalen st
 Randall Thomas, hairdresser, Vauxhall st
 Randall S. A. Workhouse schoolmistress
 Randall Miss, Gildengate street
 Randle William, corn and flour dealer, Saint Peter's street; h Magdalen st Ranking William Harcourt, M.D. Upper St. Giles' street
 Ransom Denis, victualler, Black Horse, Heigham causeway
 Ransome Harriet, toy dlr. 18 The Walk
 Ransome Horatio, shopkeeper Lothian st

- Ransome Jas. working jeweller, Bridge street, Saint Andrew Rapier Alexander, chemist (Slade & R.) ; house 7 London street
 Rapley James, Chatham street
 Raven Edward, victualler, Queen Anne, Church street, Saint Miles
 Raven Mrs Mary, St. Augustine's terrace
 Raven William, accountant, Golding st
 Rawling Charles, shoemaker, Bethel st
 Rawling H. F. shopr. West Pottergt. st
 Ray Charles, shopkeeper, Julian street
 Ray Mr John, Chapelfield road
 Ray John A. hair dresser, Coslany street
 Ray Orlando Denis, auctioneer, &c. Upper King street
 Raymes Robert, basket maker, Rupert st
 Rayner James, butcher, Dereham road
 Raynes Michael Jas. gent. St. Giles' rd
 Rayson Wm. France, mason, Magdln. rd
 Read Mr Charles, Somerleyton street
 Read Cs. vict. Eaton Cottage, Mt. Pleast
 Read Gurney, coal dealer, Quay side
 Read Joseph John, painter, Julian st
 Read Rt. vict. Whip & Nag, Pitt street
 Read Robert, coal agent, Victoria terrace
 Read Thomas Wm. corn & coal mert. & miller, King st ; h Trowse Millgate
 Read Mr Trivett, 24 Newmarket road
 Read Wm. coal dlr. Church st. St. Stpn.'s
 Redgment Kirby, butcher, Vauxhall st
 Redgrave Joseph, corn merchant &c. St. Miles' Church street ; h Upper Close Redgrave Misses Ellen, Mary Ann, and Eliza, boardg. schl. Priory, St. Stpn.'s Redgrave William Rant, St. Martin's ln
 Reed Mrs Ann, West parade
 Reede Hy. Jph. saddler, Red Lion street
 Reeve Charles, confectr. St. Benedict st
 Reeve Ed. farmer, Harford Hall, Lknhm
 Reeve Ed. Galloway, whitesmith, Duke st
 Reeve Eliza Sarah, school, Kimberley st
 Reeve Horace, tuner, Gildengate street
 Reeve Jas. curator Museum ; h Colegt. st
 Reeve Mary Ann, school, St. Julian's al
 Reeve Richard, corn merchant, (Clarke and R.) ; house Earlham road
 Reeve Simms, barrister, 18 St. Giles' st
 Reeve Thos. Marshall, Cross st, Untk. rd
 Reeve Mr Wm., West Wymer street
 Reeve Wm. Henry, Distillery street
 Reid Saml. tailor & tea dlr. Bridge street
 Restieaux Joseph, insurance agent and registrar of marriages, Stafford street
 Revell Robert, turnkey, Castle
 Reyler Edward, teacher, Prospect place
 Reynolds Edward and Co. seed crushers and oil and manure merchants, St. Ann's Staithe ; house Unthanks road
 Reynolds Mrs Fras. Eliz. Thorpe ham
 Reynolds George Frederick, metal broker, Saint Ann's staithe
 Reynolds Henry Edward, Kimberley st
 Reynolds Joseph John, grocer and draper, Norfolk street
 Reynolds Wm. nurseryman, &c. Hall rd
 Reynoldson Mrs My. Lavender, Bethel st
 Ribbands Sergeant-Major, Southwell rd
 Ribbands W. postman, 7 King street
 Rice Jph. boot & shoe mkr. 20 Davey pl
 Rice William Herbert, music professor, Brunswick terrace
 Richard Sol. cabt. mkr. & broker, Ber st
 Richardson Samuel, school, Ber street
 Richardson Thomas Joseph, Oxford st
 Riches Edmund, shoe mfr. Distillery st
 Riches Edward, hairdresser, Bedford st
 Riches Harriet, beerhouse, Weavers' ln
 Riches Hy. Chas. tailor ; h Castle meadow Riches James, butcher, King street
 Riches Jno. vict. Two Quarts, Pottergt. st
 Riches John, hairdresser, Golden Ball st
 Riches Mary, lodging, Chapelfield road
 Riches Mrs Maria, 14 Crescent
 Riches Richard Robert, (R. & Watts) ; & corn miller, Pitt st ; h Gildengate st
 Riches Robert, hairdresser, Timber hill
 Riches and Skoyles, clothiers, hatters, &c. 9½ Davey place
 Riches Susan, bonnet maker, Queen st
 Riches Ths. vict. Earl Leicester, Derehm. rd
 Riches Ths. vict. Black Horse, St. Giles' rd
 Riches Thos. jun. tailor, 32 Victoria st
 Riches & Watts, engineers, millwrights, ironfounders, and importers of American machines, Duke's Palace
 Riches William Dunning, wheelwright, Barn road ; house Heigham place
 Richmond Mr John, Charles street
 Rigg Rev. Richd. M.A. rector of St. Clement's & St. Michl. Coslany, Chapelfd
 Riley Fras. vict. Wagon & Horses, Tombl'd
 Ringer Mrs Ann, Tombland
 Ringer Miss Susan, Brazen doors road
 Ripley Rev. Wm. Nottidge, M.A. incumbent of St. Giles' ; h Earlham Hall
 Ripper Kerenhappuch, shopr. Ber st
 Riseborough Miss Elizabeth, Bethel st
 Rivett Francis, gentleman, Bracondale
 Rix Benj. livery stables, Bethel street
 Rix Charles Edward, grocer & provision merchant, Oak street
 Rix Henry, brushmaker, 53 Timber hill
 Rix Martha, clothes dlr. St. Benedict's st
 Rix Mrs Mary, Thorpe hamlet
 Rix Samuel, shopkeeper, Magdalen st
 Rix Wm. vict. White Horse, Coslany st
 Roach Henry, traveller, Clarence road
 Robberds Chas. Augs. ; h Chapelfield rd
 Robberds John May, solicitor, (Foster and Co.) ; house Ber street
 Robberds and Money, millers and paper manfrs. Chapelfield road and Lyng
 Robberds Charles Leicester ; h Lyng
 Roberts Henry, botanist, Chapelfield rd
 Roberts Mr Wm. Henry, Newmarket rd

- Roberts Wm. Peter, tailor, Chapel loke
 Robertson and Sons, cabinet makers and upholsterers, Queen street
 Robertson Hy. sen. & jun. ; h Grove rd
 Robertson William ; house Queen st
 Robbins George, clerk, Dereham road
 Robinson Rev. Charles Kirkby, M.A. canon of Norwich, and master of St. Catherine's Hall, Cam., Lower Close Robinson Cphr. cabinet mkr. upholsterer, carver, gilder, &c. Pottergate street Robinson James, horse dealer, Chapel-field road ; house St. Stephen's road
 Robinson Rev. John, (Wes.) Oxford st
 Robinson John, vict. Corkcutters' Arms, Bridge street, Saint George's Robinson Miss My. Ann, Chapelfield rd
 Robinson Thomas Titus, vict. Green Dragon, Little London street
 Robinson Wm. Henry, gent. St. Faith's ln
 Robison John, manufacturer, (Grout & Co.) ; house Unthanks road
 Rodwell John, victualler, King's Head, Gildengate street
 Roe Bartholomew, St. Paul's Back lane
 Roe Charlotte, vict. Victoria, Pottergate st
 Roe Isaac, sweep, Magdalen street
 Roe John Chambers, cake, manure, &c. merchant, Thorpe hamlet
 Roe Samuel, tailor, West Wymer street
 Rogers Charles, tailor, Willow lane
 Rogers Edm. Dawson, reporter, Holl's ln
 Rogers George Wm. builder, Chapelfield road ; house St. Giles' road
 Rogers Mrs Hannah, Pitt street
 Rogers (R. & Page) ; h Thorpe hamlet
 Rogers & Page, brush and clog manufacturers, Wensum street
 Rogers Saml. shoemaker, Surrey mews
 Rolfe Charles, clerk, Sussex street
 Rolfe Mrs Hannah, Lower Close
 Roll Edward, beerhouse, Alma street
 Roll George, beerhouse, Coslany street
 Roll Robert, victualler, Coach & Horses, Red Lion street Roll Susan, vict. Dove, Muspole street
 Roofe Ann, baker, Spitalfields
 Rope Aaron, gardener, Dereham road
 Rope Wm. greengrocer, Rising Sun ln
 Rose Francis, shoemaker, Cowgate st
 Rose George, cork cutter, St. Stpn's. st
 Rose George, baker, Thorpe hamlet
 Rose John, baker, Golden Ball street
 Rose Philip, baker, Coslany street
 Rose Philip Wm. gent. St. Giles' road
 Rose Robert, victualler, Hot Pressers' Arms, Coslany street
 Rose Sarah, fancy depôt, Castle street
 Rose Wm. brazier, Gildengate street
 Roshier Wm. builder, Princes street
 Rossi George, jeweller, picture dealer, &c. Market place, Unthanks road
 Rossi Theodore ; house Thorpe hamlet
 Rouse James, boiler maker and smith, Foundry Bridge ; house, Sussex st
 Rouse James, victualler, Carriers' Arms, St. Giles' street
 Rouse Merrick Geo. grocer, St. Stephen's. st
 Row George druggist, St. Stephen's st
 Rowe Philip, school, Earlham
 Rowing Esau, engineer and machinist, St. James' factory ; h Fishgate street
 Rowland Daniel, vict. Raven, King st
 Rowling Nathan Spring, manufacturer, (Towler & Co.) ; h Thorpe hamlet Royall Charles and Elisha, plasterers, St. Margaret's plain Royall Mr Daniel, Palace street
 Royall Dl. jun. tailor, 17 Bloomsbury pl
 Royall Mrs Elizabeth, Kimberley street
 Royall James Bowes Wigg, Elmhill
 Ruburt Justus, shoe dr. Lr. Westwick st
 Rudd Edw. Fras. Grant, clerk, Park ln
 Rudd Francis, postman, Distillery st
 Rudd George James Rushmore, cabinet maker & upholsterer, St. Catherine's pl
 Rudd George John, tailor, St. Stephen's street ; house Surrey street
 Rudd Henry, music profr. 16 Duke st
 Rudd Jas. shopkpr. St. Catherine's plain Rudd John, druggist, St. George's plain Rudd Joseph, currier ; h St. Giles' hill
 Rudd Michael, shopkeeper, Oak st gates
 Rudd Mr Noah, Victoria street
 Rudd and Paston, curriers and leather sellers, St. Giles' hill
 Rudd Robert, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Rudd Robert Gray, jun. wine and spirit merchant, Pottergate street
 Rudd Mrs Susannah, St. Stephen's sq
 Rudd Thomas broker, Ber street
 Rudledge Thomas, tailor, Julian st
 Rudling James, coach builder, Palace street and Bridge street
 Rudling Wm. horse clipper, Goldn. Ball st
 Rudling William, butcher, Ber street
 Rudrum Isaac Solomon, Lady's lane
 Rudrum Spencer Drake, inspector of weights and measures, Upper Goat ln
 Rump Mr Jas. Smith, 2 Earlham rd ter
 Rump John, hosier, 8 Haymarket
 Rump Robt. Reuben, builder, Colegate st
 Rump Thomas, shopkpr. Golden Ball st
 Runacres Wm. registrar, Oxford street
 Rupert Wm. clerk, Bridewell street
 Rushbrook Benj. beerhouse, King street
 Rushbrook Miss E., Upper Hellesden
 Russell Benj. watchmr. &c. 128 Magdln. st
 Russell Hy. piano-forte mfr. Peacock st
 Russell Robert, bricklayer, Finket st
 Rust Rev. Cyprian Thos. incumbent of St. Michael's at-Thorn, 12 Crescent Rust James Barrow, tailor, Theatre st
 Rust Maria, shopkeeper, West Wymer st
 Rust Robert, mason, St. Faith's lane
 Rust Samuel, turner, Nash's yard

Rutland Thomas Wm. West Wymer st
Sabberton Ts. Wm. vict. Ship, Gashs. hill
Sacret Mary A. shoemaker, Magdalen st
Sadd Dd. victualler, Bricklayers' Arms,
Bull's close

Sadd Mr Joseph, Heigham road
Sadd Mr William, Heigham road
Sadd Wm. jun. solicitor, Theatre street
Saddler John, vict. Roebuck, Church path
St. Quintin Mr Charles, Somerleyton st
St. Quintin Edw. Hy. Esq. R.N., Thorpe
St. Quintin James, R.N., Lower Close
St. Quintin Richard Harvey, Weeds, shopkeeper, King street

Salls Francis, agent, Pitt street
Salkind George, watchmaker, Muspole st
Salmon Christopher, tailor, Raglan st
Salmon John, shopkeeper, King street
Salmon Thomas, tailor, Rupert street
Salter Mr Wm., St. Catherine's plain
Sampson Hercules, shoemaker, Chas. st Samuel Mrs Emma, pawnbroker, jeweller, &c. Timber hill
Sandell Wm. builder, Paragon street
Sands Isaac, beerhouse, Lr. Westwick st
Sapey Thomas, victualler, London Coffee House, Rampant Horse street

Saul and Frazer, timber merchants, and sawyers and planers, Palace plain Saul John, vict. Windmill, Ber street
Saul Jph. pill box mkr. West Pottergt. st
Saul Robert, horse and carriage letter,
Wastlegate street

Saul Thos. (S. & Frazer); h Palace pln
Saul Wm. Staff, timber mert. 62 Potrgt. st
Savage Mr Edmund, Golding street
Savage Mr John, Mount Pleasant
Savage Robert, butcher, Bridge street
Savage Thomas, butcher, Palace street
Savory David, shopkeeper, Rupert street
Savory Coulse, clerk, Unthanks road
Savory Thomas, cowkeeper, Rose lane
Sawyer Jno. Rt. option. cutler, & philosphel.
instmt. mkr. &c. 46 Lond. st; h St. Stpn. rd

Say Thomas, plumber, 14 St Giles' st
Sayer Miss Ann, 1 York place
Sayer Benj. vict. Heart's Ease, Thorpe ham
Sayer Danl. vetrny. surgeon, Pottergt. st
Sayer John, naturalist, bird &c. preservr.
7 Upper St. Giles' street

Sayer Richard Hy. traveller, William st
Sayer Wm. carrier, St. Benedict street
Scales Jerh. timber dlr. Chapel field road
Scales Richard, shoemkr. St. Cath.'s pln
Scarlett Samuel, shoemaker, Oak street
School of Art, Broad street, St. Andrews
Scofield Isabella, governess Training
Institution, St. George's plain

Scofield Susan, straw bonnet maker, &c.
Upper St. Giles' street
Scott Charles Turner, cabinet maker, &c.
Gildengate street
Scott Mrs E. 1 St. Giles' terrace

Scott George James, broker, Timberhill
Scott Harriet, draper, St. Stephen's st
Scott James, cutler, Back of the Inns
Scott John, shoemaker, Bracondale
Scott John, school, Queen street
Scott John T. shoemaker, Magdalen st
Scott Peter Thomas, brush and patten manufacturer, White Lion street
Scott Robt. Bagge, cabinet mkr. Charing cross & St. John st; h St. Andrew's st
Scott Mrs Sarah, Thorpe hamlet
Scott Thos. baker, Chapel st, Crook's pl
Scott William, shopkeeper, Magdalen st
Scott Wm. John, broker, Colegate street
Scotter Henry P. cabinet mkr. Charles st
Scotow Mary, confectioner, Red Lion st
Scowen John, victualler, Saracen's Head,
3 Saint Giles' street

Scrags R. W. house steward & secretary,
Norfolk and Norwich Hospital

Scrutton Henry, shopkeeper, Bethel st
Seager Robert, hair dresser, Ber street
Seager William, coachsmith, Ber street
Seager Elizabeth, glover, St. John's st
Seaman Cornelius John, furniture broker,
Saint James' street

Seaman, Grimmer & Co. wine, spirit, & porter merchants, Saint Andrew's st
Seaman Henry, shopkpr. 21 row, N. L.
Seaman Martha, beerhouse, Botolph st
Seaman Mrs Mary, 15 Chapel field
Seaman Richard, grocer, 20 Gildengt st
Seaman Saul, fishmonger, St. James' st
Seaman Walter, firewood dlr. Waterloo
Seamer Henry, shopman, Heigham rd
Searby Wright, druggist, White Lion st
Searles James, clerk, Trory street
Secker Mr John, Sussex street

Sedgwick Rev. Adam, M.A., D.C.L., F.R.S., canon of Norwich, & profsr. of geology, &c. Upr. Close & Trin. Col. Cam

Seed Hy. woolstplr. Muspole st; h Eaton
Seeley Eliz. eating hs. St. Stephen's pln
Seeley John, tunist, Pitt street
Seeley William, Victoria Station master,
Saint Stephen's gates

Selby Charles James, grocer (Newson and Co.) ; house Stump Cross

Selby Mrs Mary, Surrey road
Self James, victualler, Duke of Wellinton, Saint Stephen's street

Self Jas. Wm. superintendent, Cemetery
Self John, farmer, Lakenham

Self Lucy, shopkeeper, Oak street
Self Thos. gas fitter, brassfounder, smith,
&c. 112 Pottergt. st; h 18 West Wymer st

Self Ths. butcher, Tombland & Bishpgt. st
Senior Wm. vict. Dove, Lr. Westwick st

Senton George, rag dealer, Oak street
Seppings Mrs Ann, Castle meadow

Seppings Hannah, shopr. Vauxhall st
Severn Sam. vict. St. Paul's Tav. Cowgt. st

Sewell Arnold, shopkeeper, Eaton

- Sewell Charles, grocer, Lower Goat lane
 Sewell Mr Samuel, Oxford street
 Sewell James, sweep, Charing Cross
 Sexton Edward, brewer and victualler,
 Whalebone Inn, Magdalen road
 Sexton Horace Jas. carpnt. St. Cath's. pln Sexton Horace Watling, builder and rent collector, 104 Pottergate street
 Sexton John, shopr. St. Catherine's plain Sexton John, shopkeeper, Scoles green
 Sexton Jph. Watling, dyer, Calvert st
 Sexton Robert Wm. builder, Calvert st Shalders Albert Walter Bloy, and Edward, Dereham road
 Shalders Mr Horace, Colegate street
 Shalders Mr John, Bethel street
 Shalders John, pump maker and gutta percha dealer, Redwell street
 Shalders Noah, pawnbkr. &c. Wastlegt. st Shalders Richard and Co. smiths and farriers, Haymarket
 Sharman Mr Henry, Constitution place
 Sharman Mrs E. Adelaide street
 Sharon Anthony, boiler mkr. Pottergt. st
 Sharp Mrs Sarah, 7 Lakenham terrace
 Sharpe Benjamin Thomas, solicitor, St.
 Andrew's plain; h Chapelfield road
 Shaw Lieut. Chas. R.N. Upper King st
 Shaw Mr Henry, Dereham road
 Shaw Hy. vict. Hop Pole, St. Faith's ln
 Shaw William, clerk, Palace plain
 Shearing Sophia, baby linen, &c. dealer,
 Rampant Horse st; h 4 York place
 Shedden Sophia, corset maker, &c. St.
 Stephen's road
 Sheen Chas. coal dlr. Lower Westwick st
 Sheldrake Hannah, school, Dereham rd
 Shepherd Isaac, cooper, Magdalen st; house New Catton
 Sheppard Ann Elizabeth, boardingschool,
 Pottergate street
 Sheppard Robert, hop & seed merchant,
 Duke's Palace wharf; h Newmarket rd
 Sheward William, pawnbroker, King st
 Shibley Wm. house agent, 5 York place
 Shickle Mrs Sarah Ann, Thorpe hamlet
 Shields Daniel, hoop maker, Scoles gn
 Shields William, tallow chandler, Saint Stephen's church alley
 Shildrake Mr Thomas, Bracondale
 Shildrake Wm. watchmaker and jeweller,
 34 London street
 Shingles John, turnkey, City Gaol
 Shingles Wm. victualler, King's Head,
 Upper St. Giles' street
 Shirley Mr Thomas, Southwell road
 Short Edm. Barker, clerk, Dereham rd
 Short Elizabeth, milliner, Trory street
 Short Hy. wine cooper, 2 Gildengate st
 Short John Edmund, Earlham road
 Short Mary, milliner, Colegate street
 Shorten James, vict. Bull, Magdalen st
 Shorten William, farmer, Lakenham
- Shorting Mrs Mary, West parade
 Shreeve George, baker, Tinkler's lane
 Shreeve John, smith, Magdalen street
 Sidney and Armes, curriers, Dove st
 Sidney William John; house Sprouston
 Silcock Mrs, York place
 Silcock J. S. clerk of St. Helen's Sillett James B. teacher, All Saints' gn
 Sillis William, victualler, Windsor Castle,
 Barrack street
 Silvey Wm. confectioner, 3 White Lion st
 Simons Charles, farmer, Lakenham
 Simpson Charles, wood turner, Saint Lawrence's lane; h Charing cross
 Simpson Frederick, city treasurer, Guildhall; house Lower Close Simpson George, master of Great Hospital, St. Helen's place
 Simpson George Elward, solicitor, clerk of Henstead Union, &c. Tombland
 Simpson Miss Harriet, Mount Pleasant
 Simpson Matts. turner, St. John's st
 Simpson Rt. Lilly, grocer, Magdalen st
 Simpson Walter, turner, Charing cross
 Singleton Mrs Jemima, 13 Victoria street
 Sinkler Edward, builder, Botolph st
 Skelton John, hosiery manufactr. & spinner, St. James' factory; h Palace pln
 Skelton John Smith, tailor, 16 St Giles' st
 Skelton Mrs Mary Ann, Albert terrace
 Skelton Wm. bricklayer, Belvoir street
 Skiffins Thos. shopkeeper, Dereham rd
 Skipper Elizabeth, broker, Ber street
 Skipper Hy. confectioner, Magdalen st
 Skipper Wm. & Jas. Stark, solicitors,
 Bank street; house Carrow road
 Skippon Jas. insurance agent, Rose lane Skoyles Elam, clothier (Riches & S.); house Castle Meadow
 Skoyles Miss M., school, N. Lakenham
 Skoyles William, victualler, West End
 Retreat, Holl's lane
 Slack Jacob Harry, machinist. Giles' hill
 Slade & Rapier, homoeopathic chemists,
 7 London street
 Slater James, tailor, Tombland
 Slaughter Christopher, pork butcher,
 Gildengate street
 Slipper Eliz. shopkeeper, Surrey road
 Slipper Thomas, gent. Mount Pleasant
 Slonitz Leopold, teacher of German; &
 Mrs. teacher of music, St. Andrew's hill
 Sloper John, vict. Lame Dog, Lame D. rd
 Smart Eliz. school, Golden Dog lane
 Smart Wm. beerhouse, Trafalgar street
 Smith Amos, shoemaker, Lower Close
 Smith Benj. vict. Bell Hotel, Orford hill
 Smith Benj. vict. Nelson's Monument,
 King street
 Smith Mr Daniel, Upper Hellesden road
 Smith Mr David, 3 Alderford terrace
 Smith Edward (& Sons); h Calvert st
 Smith Edward, herbalist, Bethel street

Smith Edward, victualler, Lord Nelson, West Pottergate street
 Smith Rev. Edw. Digby, B.A. assistant master of Grammar School, Upr. Close Smith Mrs Eleanor, Nelson terrace, N.L.
 Smith Eliz. haberdasher, 11 Lr. Goat ln
 Smith Ellen, shopr. Upper St. Giles' st
 Smith Frederick, gardener, New Catton
 Smith Frank De Carle, druggist, (S. and Sons); house Magdalen street
 Smith George, coach builder, St. Stephen's square; house St. Stephen's rd
 Smith Geo. draper, Ber st; h Bracondale
 Smith Geo. beerhs. Rampant Horse st
 Smith George, clerk, Paragon street
 Smith George Lincoln, 47 William st
 Smith George Wm. clothier, (Steward and Son); house Tombland
 Smith Hannah, butcher, Pottergate st
 Smith Henry, shoe manfr. Calvert street
 Smith Mr James, Newmarket road
 Smith James, umbrella maker, Lady's ln
 Smith James, warder, Castle
 Smith Jas. Wilkins, baker, Stump cross
 South Mr George, Unthanks road
 Smith Mr John, Surrey road
 Smith Mr John, Earlham road
 Smith John, cheese factor, Bridewell alley; house Grove place
 Smith John, hardware dealer, Timberhill
 Smith John, yeast manfr. Botolph street
 Smith John Fras. reporter, West Wymer st
 Smith Jno. Christmas, shopr. Sayers' bldgs
 Smith John Joseph, baker, Ber street
 Smith Joseph, shoemaker, Derby street
 Smith Jph. De Carle (& Sons); h Bracondl
 Smith Joseph William, baker, Oak street
 Smith Lydia, shopkeeper, Botolph street
 Smith My. Ann, vict. King's Arms, Oak st
 Smith Rd. Buck (& Sons); h 1 Exchange st
 Smith Robert, wheelwright, King street
 Smith Robt. bricklayer, St. Stephen's rd
 Smith Robert, gardener, New Catton
 Smith Samuel, vict. Dun Cow, Oak st
 Smith Samuel Ephraim, joiner, City rd
 Smith Samuel Howard, watchmaker and jeweller, 6 Bridewell alley
 Smith Saml. Jas. tea dealer, Magdalen rd
 Smith Mrs Sarah Maria, 9 Surrey terrace
 Smith and Sons, chemists and druggists, 1 Exchange street and Magdalen st
 Smith Sus. & Ellen, milliners, 17 St. Giles' st
 Smith Susan, artist, Southwell road
 Smith Ths. carpntr. & builder, All Saints' gn
 Smith Walter Frank, marine store dealer, Saint Faith's lane
 Smith William, nurseryman, Nelson st
 Smith William, gardener, Albert street
 Smith Wm. vety. surgeon, Pottergate st
 Smith Wm. glass, &c. dr. Lit. Orford st
 Smith Wm. ironmonger, St. Benedict st
 Smith William, victualler, London Tavern, Saint Andrew's hill

Smith William, brazier, King street
 Smith William, shoemaker, Grove place
 Smith William, shopkeeper, Cobourg st
 Smith (William) and Mills (Simon) sawyers, Philadelphia
 Smith William, taskmaster, Castle
 Smith Wm. hospital dispenser; h Essex st
 Smith William Richard, soda water manufacturer, &c. Palace street
 Smith Wm. Rd. baker, St. Benedict st
 Smithdale John, eating hs. Upper Walk
 Smithdale Thomas, millwright, engineer, ironfounder, &c. St. Ann's Works, King st
 Smithy Charles, victualler, Clarence Gardens, Thorpe hamlet
 Smyth Rev. James David Hirst, (Unitarian) Grove place, Lakenham
 Snell Mrs Mary, Bracondale
 Snelling James Gage, confectioner and fruiterer, Rampant Horse street
 Snelling John, vict. Yarmouth Arms, Pudding lane
 Snelling Thomas, grocer, Magdalen st
 Snelling Wm. shoemaker, Orford hill
 Snowdon Hy. draper and warehouseman, Bridge st. St. George's; h Newmkt. rd
 Snowdon John Christopher, draper and mercer, 9 The Walk
 Snowdon Mrs Mary, Bridge street
 Snowling John, victualler, Duke's Palace Inn, Duke street
 Solomon Joseph Edmonds, Cow hill
 Soman David and Son, (Alfred Asher) shoe manufacturers, Calvert street
 Soman and Howes, printers & publishers of the Norwich Argus, Saint Andrew's hill, and 3 Upper Walk
 Soman Philip, printer; h William street
 Somerville Jno. travg. drpr. Gildengt. st
 Somerville Robert, draper, St. Benedict st
 Soons John, seedsman & florist, St. Aug. st
 Sothern Geo. music profr. Brunswick ter
 Sothern Miss Hannah, Lady's lane
 Sothern Samuel, gent. Palace plain
 South Mr George, Unthanks road
 Southgate Benjamin, St. Martin's lane
 Southgate John George, baker, Union st
 Sowells Mrs Charlotte, Chapel field rd
 Sowells Wm. clerk, West Pottergate st
 Sowels Mr John, Paragon street
 Spalding Boaz, shopkeeper, Barrack st
 Spalding Jas., French polshr. St. Andw's. hl Spanton Francis Humphrey, victualler, King's Arms, Ber street
 Sparham Mrs Julia, Newmarket road
 Sparke Alfred and Co. engineers, ironfounders, & agricultural implt. manfrs. Thorn ln; h Trowse Newton Lodge
 Sparke Jas. Bird, solicitor, Earlham road
 Sparkhall John, gardener, Heigham rd
 Sparks Francis William, auctioneer and victualler, Sun, Saint Giles' street
 Sparks Wm. cabinet maker, Fye Bridge

- Sparrow Charles, victualler, Anchor of Hope, Bracondale
 Spatchett James, druggist, St. John's st
 Spaul Jph. wood carver, St. Andrew's hill
 Spaul Wm. Bartw. builder, Lwr. Close
 Spelman Geo. clerk, West Pottergate st
 Spelman Henry and S. W. auctioneers, land agents, &c. St. Giles' street
 Spelman Henry; house Unthinks road
 Spelman Samuel Waters; h Yarmouth
 Spelman Mrs Sarah, Unthinks road
 Spence George, library, Bridge st. St. G.
 Spence Mrs Phoebe, Town Close
 Spencer Christopher John Miles, surgeon, Lower King street
 Spencer Daniel James, The Chantry
 Spencer Miss Harriet, Bedford street
 Spencer Isaac, shopr. St. Mary's alley
 Spencer Robt. vict. Elm, Magdalen rd
 Spice Thomas Winson, corn and flour dealer, Duke street
 Spinks James, horse and carriage owner, Saint Stephen's street
 Spinks Jas. grocer & dpr. St. Augustine st
 Spinks James, builder, Heigham road
 Spinks Mr John, Dereham road
 Spinks Mr John Lane, 8 Valentine st
 Spinks Samuel and Co. yarn and cotton agts. Muspole st; h St. Mary's ch. alley
 Spinks Wm. shoemaker, Pottergate st
 Spooner Edw. mat mkr. & beerhs. Barrack st
 Spooner Edw. Fdk. upholsterer, Lady's ln
 Spratt Mrs Emma, Unthinks road
 Spratt Jas. vict. King's Arms, Bethel st
 Spratt Mrs Mary Ann, Heigham road
 Spratt Miss Sarah, school, Bethel street
 Spratt William, corn and hay dealer, Haymarket; house 1 Gun lane
 Spratt William, agent, 3 York place
 Springall James, grocer, Tomblond
 Springall Rt. umbrella mkr. Rising Sun ln
 Springfield, Son, and Nephew, silk merchants, Saint Martin's lane
 Springfield Osborn; house Catton
 Springfield Thomas, fencing master, Kimberley street
 Sproul Henry Buckley, Thorpe station-master; house Thorpe terrace
 Spurgeon Mrs Eliza, Chapel field
 Spurgeon Mrs Mary Ann, Infirmary rd
 Spurgeon Wm. shopr. Golden Ball st Spurgeon Wm. clerk, Somerleyton st
 Spurling William, victualler, Trowel and Hammer, Saint Stephen's road
 Squires James, butcher, Ber street
 Stacey Charlotte, school, Coslany street
 Stacey Mr. Edward, 1 Newmarket road
 Stacey Mrs Elizabeth, St. Stephen's sq
 Stacey Mr George, St. Stephen's road
 Stacey Mrs Susan, 10 Chapelfield
 Stacy Henry Walter, bookseller, printer, &c. 2 Haymarket; h St. Peter's st
 Staff Frederick, vict. Nelson, Bedford st
 Staff Geo. shopkeeper, Brazen doors rd
 Staff John, pill box & match mkr. Oak st
 Stafford Henry, baker, King street
 Stafford Hewley Walker, editor, Essex st
 Stafford Robert, victualler, Mariners' Arms, Mariners' lane
 Stafford Thomas, Chapel st Crook's pl
 Stafford William, baker, Vauxhall street
 Stageman Miss, school, Trowse
 Stamp Office, Bank street
 Stanford Mr Joseph, Dereham road
 Stangroom Abm. shopr. St. Mary's plain
 Stangroom John, victualler, Duke of Sussex, Botolph street
 Stangroom Robert, builder, Fishgate st
 Stangroom Wm. builder, Coslany street
 Stanley George, scale beam, &c., manufacturer, Church street, St. Stephen's Stanley Joseph, mason, St. Stephen's st
 Stanley Wm. mason, St. Cath's. plain Stannard Alfred George, artist, Hall plain, St. Andrew's Stannard Cubitt, gent. St. George's plain Stannard James, vict. Red Lion, Eaton
 Stannard John, shopkeeper, Bull close Stannard Robt. yarn agent, Gildengt. st
 Stannard Rt. John, baker, Lit. London st
 Stannard Thomas, cattle dealer, Eaton
 Stanton John, artist, St. Augustine st
 Stapleton Robt. shoemkr. St. John's st
 Stark & Co. agricultural chemists, dyers, &c. Duke's palace
 Stark Michael John; h Magdalen street
 Stark Mrs, St. George's plain
 Starkey Mary Ann, school, St. Margaret's Church alley
 Starkey Mr Richard, Bracondale
 Starland George & Edward, plumbers, painters, &c. 34 Surrey street
 Starland Jas. vict. Surrey Tav., Surrey rd
 Starling Charles Grey, Alma terrace
 Starling Edm. schoolmr. St. Augstn's. gt
 Starling Edmund A., Distillery street
 Starling Mrs Elizabeth, Thorpe hamlet
 Starling Mrs Louisa, Infirmary road
 Starling Mary Ann, school, Calvert st; house Colegate street
 Starling (Rebecca) and Hyde (Sarah) school, Colegate street
 Starr Frank, clerk, Holl's lane
 States Charles, victualler, Royal Hotel, 16 The Walk Steam Power Company, Cowgate street
 Stebbing Mrs Ann, Newmarket road
 Stedman Mr Charles, Heigham road
 Stedman Mr Francis, 5 Crescent
 Steed Mary, plumber and lead and glass merchant, St. Andrew's hill
 Steel Edwin, school, Pockthorpe
 Steel Henry, agent, Chapelfield road
 Steel Wm. livery stables, St. Giles' road
 Stevens Charles Frederick, tinner and brazier, Magdalen street

Stevens Gardiner Cphr. ironmng. Orfd. h
 Stevens George Alden, Thorpe hamlet
 Stevens Hy. Jas. tobacnst. Back of Inns
 Stevens James, Thorpe hamlet
 Stevens John Thomas, law stationer, 15
 Castle meadow
 Stevens John Wm. cigar manufacturer,
 Back of the Inns
 Stevens Mrs Sophia, Chapelfield road
 Stevens Thos. Wm. tailor, Castle meadow; house Kimberley street
 Stevens Wm. clerk, Dereham road
 Stevens Wm. Horace, printer, Market place; house 6 William street Stevenson Henry, printer, &c. (Matchett and S.); house Newmarket road
 Stevenson Thomas, supt. Thorpe Station
 Steward & Fisher, solicitors, Upr. King st
 Steward Edward, solicitor; h Eaton Hall
 Steward George, baker, Bull close
 Steward Mrs J., Bracondale
 Steward Jas. & Son, tailors, clothiers,
 &c., Tombland, and 10 Queen street
 Steward James; house Thorpe hamlet
 Steward Mr Joseph, Newmarket road
 Steward Mrs Lucy, Heigham Lodge
 Steward, Patteson, Finch & Co. brewers, Anchor Brewery, Pockthorpe
 Steward Robert & Co. timber merchants,
 King street, and Yarmouth
 Steward Samnel, bookbinder, Princes st
 Stewardson Mr Edward, St. Giles' road
 Stewardson Nathl. Thos. pork butcher,
 St. James' street
 Stewardson William Harper, printer, &c.
 Bedford street
 Stewart Charles Keith, coach lace and fringe manufacturer, 78½ St. Giles' street; house Chapel st, Union place Stewart John, nursery and seedsman, 6
 Exchange street
 Stigles Daniel, hairdresser, Fishgate st
 Stimpson James, broker, Orford hill
 Stockings Alfd. druggist, St. Stephen's st
 Stockings Mark, butcher, St. Stephen's st
 Stockings Mattw. B. grocer, St. Stpn's. st
 Stocks Alfred Joseph, draper, 12 Briggs street; house St. Stephen's road
 Stocks George William, Heigham road
 Stockwell Thomas Edward, victualler,
 Jolly Gardeners, Brunswick road
 Stone Edw. vict. Golden Lion, King st
 Stone Edw. shoemkr. & beerhs. King st
 Stone Hy. plane maker, Magdalen st
 Stone James, Esq. Castle street
 Stonex Henry. clerk, Grove road
 Storey Dd. vict. Morning Star, Pottergt. st
 Storey Wm. plumber, &c. Pottergate st
 Stotham Benj. shopkeeper, Surrey road
 Stowers Jas. tobacconist, Red Lion st
 Strange Benjamin, victualler, Cabinet
 Makers' Arms, Redwell street
 Stratford James, Dereham road

Stribling Frederick, fishmonger, Union st
 Stroulger Charles, shoemaker, Oak st
 Stubbs Chas. poulterer, Golden Ball st
 Stubbs Edward, victualler, White Horse,
 St. Andrew's street
 Stubbs George, coal dlr. St. Andrew's st
 Stubbs' Trade Protection Office, Tuck's court; T. H. Garry, agent
 Sturgess John Patrick, Tombland
 Suckling Mr Maurice N., Distillery st
 Sudbury Mr Thomas, Mile-end lane
 Suffolk Edward, coal dealer, King street
 Suffolk George, shoe manfr. Fountain pl
 Suffolk Wm. Edw. joiner, Chapelfield rd
 Saggett & Dunsford, surgeon dentists,
 17 St. Giles' street
 Suggest John; h 17 St. Giles' street
 Sullivan Stephen, baker, St. Benedict st
 Sultzter John & Co. sewing cotton, &c.
 manufacturers, Botolph street
 Surfin William, plumber, painter, and victualler, Bank Tavern, Bank street Sursham John, corn merchant (Boardman & S.); h Fishgate street
 Surville Mrs, matron, Female Home,
 Chapelfield road
 Sutton & Co.'s parcel office, Pottergate street; Henry Land, agent
 Sutton Daniel Merrison, tailor, Saint
 Andrew's street
 Sutton Francis, analytical chemist (Harper & S.); h 2 Lakenham terrace Sutton Henry Merrison, draper, Botolph street, and St. Mary's plain Sutton Robert, broker, Magdalen street
 Sutton Samuel, cutler, Angel street
 Sutton Samuel, manager, Ber street
 Sutton William Rayner, Dereham road
 Swann Mrs Ann, Tabernacle street
 Swann Cottingham, shopkpr. Botolph st
 Swann James, bootmaker, Magdalen st Swann Joshua, manufacturer (Willett and Co.); h The Grove, Chapelfield Swash Maria, victualler, Turkey Cock, Church street, St. Simon's
 Swash John, clerk of St. Peter's Mntgt.
 Swash Sarah Ann, shopr. St. James' st
 Swinton Capt. Wm., West Pottergate st
 Sword John, livery stables, Rose lane
 Sword John, jun. hairdresser, Rose ln
 Symonds Mrs A., Sprowston
 Symonds Rev. Henry, M.A., precentor,
 Lower Close
 Symonds Wm. news agent, Back of Inns Tadman Chandler, superintendent of Gas Works, World's end lane
 Tadman Mr William, Thorpe hamlet
 Talbot Alfred, hairdresser & tobacconist,
 Duke street
 Talbot Mrs H., Lower Close
 Talbot Harriet, draper, Bridge street
 Tallack William, auctioneer and general agent, St. Stephen's road

- Tallant Mrs Elizabeth, Infirmary road
 Tallowin Saml. cowkpr. Up. Hellesden
 Talmedge Lydia, school, King street
 Taney George, artist, Timberhill
 Taney William, fishmonger, Timberhill
 Tann Hannab, baker, Charing cross Tann Samuel Wiseman, cabinet maker and upholsterer, St. Benedict street
 Tapman Wm. vict. Exhibition, Ber st
 Tarte William, upholsterer, Botolph st
 Tate James, confectioner, Coslany st
 Tattam Mr Charles, Distillery street
 Tattam Rd. cab owner & fruiter. Lady's In Tax Office, Orford hill, Henry Haworth and F. Horner, surveyors Taylor Mrs Agnes, Princes street
 Taylor Mrs A., Lady's lane
 Taylor & Co. wholesale grocers, Lamb yard, Old Haymarket
 Taylor Cornelius, superintndt. Cemetery
 Taylor Clement, solr., dep. clk. of peace for Norfolk, &c. Orford hill; h Eaton
 Taylor Capt. Edward Tennant, R. N.,
 Oxford street
 Taylor Elizabeth, milliner, Princes st
 Taylor George, truss, stay, and elastic bandage mfr. 13 Upper St. Giles' st
 Taylor George, clerk, St. Stephen's st
 Taylor George, greengrocer, Rose lane
 Taylor George, rag dlr. St. Benedict st
 Taylor Jabez, grocer (T. & Co.); house
 10 Newmarket road
 Taylor James Wm. builder, Palace plain
 Taylor John, shoemaker, Essex street
 Taylor Jno. Oddin & Son, solrs. St. Giles' st
 Taylor John Oddin, solicitor & registrar of marriages; house Hardingham
 Taylor John O. Howard; h Hardingham
 Taylor John William, cooper & victualler,
 Queen of Hungary, Saint Benedict st
 Taylor My. vict. Castle Hotel, Castle mdw
 Taylor My. Ann, tobacnst. Chapelfield rd
 Taylor Rev. Ts. M. A. curate, Hewitt's villas
 Taylor Thomas, horse & carriage owner,
 Haymarket
 Taylor William, tailor, Princes street
 Taylor William, druggist, Magdalen st
 Taylor Wm. Hy. (T. & Co.); h Town Close Taylor William James, plumber and victualler, Bird-in-Hand, New Catton Telegraph Offices, 13 Exchange street and 15 The Walk
 Temple Mrs Christiana, Willow lane
 Tench Charles, shoemaker, Sussex street
 Tench Jno. vict. Rampant Horse, Fishgt. st
 Terrington Edward, clerk, Rose lane
 Terrington Wm. shoemkr. Bloomsbury pl
 Tetley Geo. (P. Meth.) Magdalen road
 Thaxter John, blacksmith, Heigham st
 Thayne Edw. basket mkr. St. Benedict st
 Thayne Mr Thomas, Tinkler's lane
 Theobald Thomas and Son, hosiers, glovers, and leather dealers, London st
 Theobald Thomas; house London st
 Theobald John; house Newmarket road
 Thirkettle Downing, blacksmith, Barrack st
 Thirkettle George, confectioner, White
 Lion street; house Exchange street
 Thirkettle Henry, shopkeeper, Albert st
 Thirkettle William, whitesmith, & Mary Ann, dressmaker, Timberhill
 Thirkettle William, whitesmith, Eaton
 Thirtle Mrs Elizabeth, Dereham road
 Thirtle Thomas, bootmaker and chiropodist, 2 Bridewell alley
 Thomas John, coal dealer, Quay side
 Thompson Mr A. W., Mount Pleasant
 Thompson Charles, shopkeeper, Pitt st
 Thompson Chas. Js. fotogr. St. Adw.'s st Thompson Christopher & Sons, copper-smiths, braziers, &c. Rampant Horse st Thompson and Corrick, dressmakers,
 60 Saint Giles' street
 Thompson Edward, beerhs. Barrack st
 Thompson Edw. Chas. clerk, Oxford st
 Thompson George Joseph, victualler,
 Bricklayers' Arms, Cattle market
 Thompson Geo. vict. Canteen, Barracks Thompson Henry, deputy registrar, and photographer, 53 St. Stephen's street
 Thompson Hy. druggist, 78 St. Stephen st
 Thompson Hy. (C. & Sons); h Julian st
 Thompson Hy. Chas. shopr. Magdalen st
 Thompson Mr Jabez, 10 Newmarket rd
 Thompson James, shopkeeper, Cross ln
 Thompson Mrs Jemima, Dereham road
 Thompson John, victualler, Bear & Staff,
 Fisher's lane
 Thompson Martin, beerhouse, Barrack st
 Thompson Philip, shopkeeper, Cherry st
 Thompson Robert, iron merchant, ironmonger, &c. Davey pl; h Calvert st
 Thompson Robert, surgeon, Theatre st
 Thompson Rt. vict. Three Tuns, King st
 Thompson Robt. vict. Allies, Bedford st
 Thompson Thos. Wm. grocer, City rd
 Thompson Wm. (C. & Sons); h City rd
 Thompson William, victualler, Steam Packet, King street
 Thompson Wm. vict. Sawyers, St Paul's pln
 Thorn Chas. coach bldr. &c. St. Giles' rd
 Thorn Wm. shopkeeper, Magdalen st
 Thorndick & Dawson, printers, Princes st
 Thorne Josiah, vict. Dealers, Cattle mkt Thorns Robert, ironmonger, 8 Exchange street; house Duke's palace
 Thornton Mrs Harriet, 35 Victoria street
 Thorold Mr William, Thorpe hamlet
 Thorpe Alfred, bootmaker, Ber street
 Thorpe George, shoemaker, City road
 Thorpe Thomas Edward, victualler, Sun and Anchor, Colegate street
 Thorpe Wm. hairdresser, St. Stephen's st
 Thouless Hanh. Eliz. shopr. Pottergt. st
 Thouless Mr James, Raglan street
 Thouless Jas. shoemaker, Rising Sun ln

- Thrower Jno. bookbdr. St. Stpn.'s Ch. al Thurgar and Co. patent condensed egg manufacturers, King street
 Thurgar Walter C., surgeon, Oxford st Thurgar Wm. Thomas, school, Eaton
 Thurling James, victualler, Coachmakers'
 Arms, Saint Stephen's street
 Thurlow Elizabeth, victualler, Post Office
 Tavern, Post Office street
 Thurlow George, shoemaker, King st Thurlow Henry, victualler, Royal Victoria, Saint Stephen's road
 Thurlow William, shopkeeper and vict.
 Prospect House, Philadelphia
 Thurst Jas. blind maker, Upper King st
 Thurston Bros. grocers, St. Benedict st
 Thurston Danl. vict. Bull, St. Stpn.'s. st
 Thurston Mrs Frances, St. Stephen's rd
 Thurston Jno. Wm. (Bros.); h St. Bndct. st Thurston Robert (Brothers); h Lyng
 Thurston Mr Samuel, Chapelfield road
 Thurston Susannah, clothes dlr. Oak st
 Thurtell Henry, shopkeeper, King street
 Thurtell James, whitesmith, Thorn lane
 Thwaites Isc. Mower, painter, Timberhill
 Thwaites Mr John Henry, Holl's lane
 Tibbenham James, victualler, Artichoke,
 Magdalen gates
 Tidd Robert, grocer, Oak street
 Tidman Robert, victualler, Bishop's Bridge Inn, Thorpe hamlet
 Tidman Rt. jun. boiler mkr. Thorpe ham Tillett Abel, solicitor, Saint Andrew st; house Town Close
 Tillett Mr Jacob, Quay side
 Tillett J. H. & Son, solrs. St. Andw.'s st
 Tillett Jacob Hy. solr; h Carrow Abbey
 Tillett Thomas, shoemaker, Suffolk st
 Tillett William, butcher, Magdalen road
 Tillett Wm. wheelwrt, St. Augustn.'s gts Tillett William Henry, solicitor (J. H. & Son); house Heigham road
 Tilley Alfred, cabinet maker and uphol-sterer, Rose lane
 Tilley Henry, harness currier, St. Peter's street; house Saint Faith's lane
 Tills Benj. tea dealer, St. Saviour's lane
 Tillyard Abraham, shoe manufacturer,
 (T. and Son); house Thorpe hamlet
 Tillyard and Howlett, curriers and shoe manufacturers, Saint George's plain Tillyard Isaac; house Sprowston
 Tillyard Robt. (T. & H.); h Thorpe ham
 Tillyard and Son (Abraham) shoe manufacturers, Elm hill; h Thorpe hamlet
 Tilney George, foreman, Golding street
 Tinkler George, clerk to tax commissioners, Magdalen road
 Tinkley Esther, shoemkr. Rampt. Horset
 Tipple John, Newmarket street
 Titlow Rev. Samuel, M.A., rector of St.
 Peter Hungate, and incumbent of Saint John Timberhill, 16 Crescent
 Todd John & Son, tailors, Queen street
 Todd John, tailor; h Mount Pleasant
 Todd Mr Samuel, Unthinks road
 Todd Walter, tailor; house Queen st
 Todd William, clerk, King street
 Todd William Austen, tailor, draper, &c.
 16 London street
 Todd Wm. Hy. grocer, St. Cath.'s plain
 Toll Miss Elizabeth, 57 St. Giles' street
 Tolson Mrs Martha, St. Stephen's road
 Tomkins Miss E. J. school, Trowse
 Tomlinson and Co. hatters, Castle street
 Tomlinson Mrs Hannah, Bank street
 Tomlinson Thomas, victualler, White
 Rose, Back of the Inns
 Tonge Mr John, 29 Newmarket road
 Tooby Lucy, milliner, 12 London street
 Tooke George, agent, St. Clements'
 Tooley Peter, saddler, Upper King st
 Towell Ann, vict. White Cottage, Philldpha
 Towler Abel, mfr. (T., R. & A.); h Untk. rd
 Towler Alfred, fancy depôt, 7 Briggs st
 Towler Edward, phrenologist, Cowgt. st
 Towler Hannah, draper, Wensum street
 Towler Richard Burrows, vict. Ostrich,
 Spitalfields
 Towler, Rowling & Allen, shawl, poplin, paramatta, &c. manufacturers, Elm hl Towler Mr Saml. Elm ter. Magdalen rd Townley Jonathan, Esq. treasurer of County Courts, Surrey road
 Townshend Charles, broker, Palace pln
 Townshend Geo. vict. Crown, Elm hill
 Townshend Hy. tobacnst. 6 St. Giles' st Townshend Samuel Thomas, carver and gilder, Charing cross Townshend William, victualler, Fish-mongers' Arms, The Butchery
 Trackson James, draper, Bedford street
 Traxton Edward, verger, Lower Close Traxton Edw. jun. tailor, Lower Close Trevor Henry, cabinet maker and uphol-sterer, Post Office st; h St. Giles' rd Trimmer Rev. Kirby, B.A. incumbent of St. George's Tombland, Upper Close
 Tripp John, smith, All Saints' green
 Trollop George, shopkeeper, Hall road
 Trollop Wm. coal dlr. Short Cherry st
 Trory John, music professor, Elm hill
 Trory Mr William, Unthinks road
 Trory Wm. fishmgr. Fishmkt; h Bethel st
 Trowse Charles, furrier, Julian street
 Trowse Christopher, tailor, Ten Bell lane
 True Samuel, stationer and news agent,
 St. Augustine st; h Infirmary road
 True Samuel, jun. Oxford street
 Truman Jas. shoemaker, 11 Pottergate st
 Tubb Catherine, hosier, Bank plain Tuck Charles, beerhouse, Cowgate street
 Tuck Chas. Edw. solicitor, St. Giles' st
 Tuck Mrs Charlotte, 6 Surrey street
 Tuck Robert, baker, Bethel street Tuck Robert Alex. baker, Lower Goat In

- Tucker Fdk. Walter, Chapelfield road
 Tuddenham Edward, tailor, Duke street
 Tuddenham Rt. clothes dlr. Lr. Westwick st
 Tuddenham Wm. butcher, Gildengate st
 Tuffield Wm. fishmonger, St. Mary's pln
 Tuffs Wm. vict. Light Horsemn. Botolph st
 Tungate Benjamin, carpenter, Rupert street; house Second Cross street
 Tungate Mr. Wm., Somerleyton street
 Turner Rev. Charles. M.A., incumbent of St. Peter Mancroft, 17 Crescent
 Turner Edmund, traveller, Surrey grove
 Turner Jas. carver & gilder, Charles st. H.
 Turner James and Co. shoe manufrs. Pottergate street; house Park lane
 Turner James Mangles, shoe manuf. St. Benedict's plain; house Heigham
 Turner Mr John, Park lane
 Turner John Joseph, painter, &c. Saint Lawrence's lane; house Barn road
 Turner Joseph, vict. Anchor, Surrey st
 Turner Joseph, pipe maker, Wastlegate
 Turner Saml. grocer, West Pottergate st
 Turner Samuel, shopr. Distillery street
 Turner Sarah, shopkeeper, Dereham rd
 Turner Wm. Nicholas Harwin, solicitor, &c. Lower Close; h Newmarket road
 Turner William, shoemaker, Palace st
 Turner Wm. tailor & tobacnt. Wastlegt. st
 Turner Wm. Atthill, shoe dlr. Orford hill
 Turrell George, wood carver, Saint Lawrence's lane; house Fisher's lane
 Turrell James, shopkeeper, Ber street
 Turrell Josiab, shopkeeper, Cobourg st
 Turtle Francis Gilling, silk and worsted doubler, Botolph street
 Tuttell Ann Maria, baker, &c. Trafalgar st
 Tuttell John Watson, baker, &c. Church path, New Lakenham
 Tuxford Alfred, butcher, Cowgate street and Lower Westwick street
 Tuxford Wm. trunk maker, Red Lion st
 Twiddy Chas. painter, 37 Pottergate st
 Tyce George, cabinet maker, &c. Charing cross; house Dereham road
 Tye James, butcher, Saint Giles' hill
 Tyrrell John, baker, Rising Sun lane
 Tyzack William Baker, ironmonger, auctioneer, &c. Bank plain Tyzack Wm. Val. hairdrsr. &c. 13 London st
 Ulph Fdk. Taylor, carpenter, St. John's ter
 Ulph Thomas, shoe mercer and leather seller, 1 Dove street
 Ulph Wm. dyer, Lower Westwick street
 Underwood Chas. butcher, St. Giles' hill
 Underwood Mr John, Chapel field
 Underwood Joseph, wine merchant (Hills & U.); h St. Faith's lane
 Upcroft James, victualler, Jack of Newbury, Fye Bridge
 Upcroft Wm. printer & bookbndr. Fishgt. st
 Utting Charles, clerk, 6 Surrey terrace
 Utting Hannah, milliner, Sussex street
 Utting John, shoemaker, Gildengate st
 Utting Mr Robert, Magdalen road
 Valentine Wm. confectr. St. Benedict st
 Vallance Capt. T. W., Mount pleasant
 Vardon Mrs Matilda, Bedford street
 Varley John, cabinet mkr. Anchor yard
 Varvel Wm. butcher, St. Stephen's road
 Vassar James, shopr. Havelock street
 Venning Mrs Julia, Surrey street
 Venteman Mr George Dean, King street
 Vincent Charles, broker, St. Benedict st
 Vincent Charles Henry, Somerleyton st
 Vincent Daniel, vict. Carriers' Arms, Saint Stephen's back street
 Vincent Esther, farrier, Red Lion street
 Vincent Henry, brazier, St Benedict st
 Vincent James, hat maker, Fye bridge
 Vincent Walter, broker, St. Gregory's
 Virtue and Co. publishers, St. Peter's st
 Vlieland Jerome Nicholas, professor of languages, Redwell street
 Vyall Danl. coal dealer, St. Andrew's st
 Vyall Henry Manning, coml. traveller, & agent to Scottish Provident Mutual Insurance Company, 3 Carlton terrace
 Wade Charles, grocer and victualler, Black Eagle, Rupert street
 Wade Miss Harriet, Queen street
 Wade James, broker, Fishgate street
 Wade John Parr, wln. draper, Redwell st
 Wade Rev. Robt., B.A. incumbt. of New Catton, & chap. of City Gaol, N. Catton
 Wade Robert, hairdresser, Bank street
 Wadman Walter, Chantry court
 Waite Harriet, brazier, 4 Redwell street
 Wales John, builder, Kimberley street
 Wales Mr William, Oxford street
 Walker Chas. Walter, painter, Theatre st
 Walker Mr Clement, 1 Victoria place
 Walker Elizabeth, clothes dealer, Ber st
 Walker George, vict. Cardinal's Cap, Saint Benedict street
 Walker Henry, bricklayer, Rupert street
 Walker James, butcher, Coslany street
 Walker John, vict. Castle Inn, Spitallds
 Walker Rd. plumber, &c. Surrey mews
 Walker Rd. toy dlr. Bridge st. St. G.
 Walker Rt. printer, Church st. St. M.
 Walker Thomas, joiner, St. Benedict st
 Walker Wm. district manager of British Nation Life Assee. Co., Colegate st
 Walker William Steward, Surrey road
 Wallace Robert, victualler, Waterman's Arms, Saint Ann's Staithe
 Waller Isaiah, beerhouse, Barrack street
 Waller John G. shopr. St. Paul's opening
 Waller Rt. Pitts, dentist, St. Andrew's hill
 Waller Thos. scripture reader, Chapel st
 Walmsley Geo. Wm. carpntr. Wt. Pottrgt. st
 Walters Martha & Agnes, school, Earlhmr. rd
 Want Daniel, taskmaster, City Gaol
 Want Frederick, mason, Dereham road
 Ward Chas. Palmer, hairdrsr. White Lion st

- Ward George, baker, Red Lion street
 Ward Henry, surgeon, All Saints' green
 Ward John, sweep, Duck lane
 Ward Mrs Susannah, Brunswick terrace
 Ward Ths. Wm. shoemkr. St. Benedict st
 Ward Wm. shoemaker, St. Martin's lane
 Ward William, sweep, Cobourg street
 Waring Miss Mary, 25 Victoria street
 Warman Zach. Wright, haberdasher, 17 Bedford street
 Warner George Gardiner, bath proprietor, 14 Bank street
 Warner Hy. vict. George Inn, Haymkt
 Warner James, smith, Trafalgar street
 Warner Walter Waite, All Saints' green
 Warner William & Co., coppersmiths, braziers, &c. 2 St. Giles' street Warner Wm. Waite, lodgings, Lady's In Warnes Elizabeth, vict. Eastern Counties Railway Tavern, Foundry bridge
 Warnes Henry, clerk, St. Stephen's sq
 Warnes Mrs L. B., Lower Close
 Warnes Robert Miller, Catton road
 Warnes Thomas, beerhouse, Cowgate st
 Warrant Mr William, Bracondale
 Warren Geo. confectioner, 7 Exchange st
 Warren John, clerk, 4 Grove place
 Warwick Wm. artist, St. Stephen's road
 Water Works Co., Surrey street; A. Dalrymple, sec.: & J. Ayris, manager Watering Jermh. grindery dlr. Hall rd
 Watering Mr John, 9 Douro terrace
 Waters Mrs Sarah, Infirmary road
 Waterton Edw. vict. Cottage, Silver rd
 Watling James, warehouseman, Chas. st
 Watling Robert Shingles, corn, cake, and coal mert. Lr. Westwick st & Yarmouth
 Watling Simon, postman, Cowgate
 Watson Daniel Filby, carver & gilder, All Saints' green
 Watson Edw. Chas. carpenter, King st
 Watson Fredk. Edwin, solicitor, Rampant Horse street; house Surrey street
 Watson George, manager, Sussex street
 Watson Gilbert Pickering, druggist, Lower King street
 Watson Jas. schoolmaster, Church path
 Watson Jas. Edw. Hy. druggist, King st
 Watson James Crane, builder, John st
 Watson John Ferra, surgeon, Heigham Hall Asylum
 Watson Margt. rag dlr. Lr. Westwick st
 Watson Wm. earthenware dealer, Ber st
 Watts Charles Jas. ironfounder (Riches and W.); h Dereham road
 Watts and Graham, travelling drapers, Dereham road
 Watts Hy. printer, &c. 50 Pottergate st
 Watts Horace Newbiggin, surgeon, Dispensary, St. John's street
 Watts Mr James, Somerleyton street
 Watts James, engineer, Bloomsbury pl
 Watts John (W. & Graham), Dereham rd
 Watts John, vict. Kett's Castle, Spitallds.
 Watts Sar. vict. Lord Nelson, Dereham rd
 Watts Thomas, butcher, Market place; house Willow lane
 Watts Thomas, St. Stephen's square
 Wayth Mr Henry Wm., Mile-end lane
 Weavers Wm. & Son (Wm. jun.) fishmongers, Fish market; h St. Peter's st
 Weavers C. dressmaker, Pottergate st
 Webb Miss Emma, Mount Pleasant
 Webb James, shoemaker, Chapelfield rd
 Webb Wm. rope maker, Magdalen st
 Webb William, shopkeeper, Eaton
 Webber Joseph, tinner, Pitt street
 Websdale Ann, shopkeeper, King street
 Websdale Js. grocer & porter dlr. King st Websdale Maria, beerhs. Up. Goat In Websdale Wm. upholsterer, Surrey st
 Webster Benjamin, clerk, Oxford street
 Webster Elizabeth, shopr. St. Giles' hill
 Webster George, clerk, Sussex street
 Webster Mrs Hannah, 27 Victoria st
 Webster James, shoemkr. Botolph st
 Webster John, beerhouse, Magdalen st
 Webster Robert, clothes dealer, &c. Saint Lawrence steps
 Webster William, victualler, Maid's Head Hotel, Wensum street
 Webster Wm. vict. Royal Oak, Ber st
 Weeds Mary A. baker, Bishop's bridge
 Weeks Henry, vict. Dolphin, Coslany st
 Wegg Christopher, smith, Fishgate st
 Wegg Robert, lodgings, Trory street
 Wellingham Mrs Margaret, 2 Grove ter
 Wells Miss Ann, Unthinks road
 Wells Mrs Mary, Southwell road
 Wells Peter Michael, tailor and vict. Oxford Tavern, Oxford street
 Wells Stephen Peter, victualler, Black Horse, St. Giles' street
 Wells Thos. veterinary surgeon, Castle meadow; h Bracondale
 Wells Thomas, cap maker, St. Gregory's Church alley
 Wells William Harrison, corn miller, New Mills, St. Mary's; h Gildengate st
 Wells Mr Wm. John, Thorpe hamlet
 Welton Edmund, wheelwright, smith, &c. Brazen doors road West A. postman, 7 Charles street
 West Mr Charles John, Mount Pleasant
 West Robert, carpenter, Julian street
 Weston Charles, brewer, Bridge street, St. George's; house Thorpe
 Whaites Mrs Hannah, Surrey street
 Whaites Mr John, Golding street
 Whaites Mr Robert, Newmarket road
 Whaites Robert, victualler, Waterman, Lower Westwick street
 Whall Jeremiah, piano tuner, Julian st
 Whall Robert, beerhouse, New Catton
 Whall Wm. whitesmith, Garden road
 Whall Wm. baker, Union street

- Whalley Amy, vict. Foundry Bridge
 Tavern, Rose lane
 Wheatley Edward Adams, yarn agent,
 &c. All Saints' green
 Wheatley George Wm., Bedford street
 Wheeler Francis, druggist, and deputy registrar, Bedford street
 Wheeler Rev. Thomas Archibald (Bapt.)
 Magdalen street
 Wheelhouse Mr William, St. Giles' rd
 Whincop George Garwood, Thorpe ham
 Whistler George, Rising Sun lane
 Whitby Collins, clerk, Heigham road
 White Anne & Drusilla, milliners, 8 Lon-
 White Mrs Chl'te. Bracondale [don st
 White Fredk. Edward, 30 St. Giles' st
 White Jas. vict. Black Swan, St. Peter's st
 White Jeremiah, builder, Thorn lane
 White Jeremiah, jun. clerk, King street
 White Richard, dental surgeon, Saint Giles' street; house Ipswich road
 White Richard, greengrocer, Lady's ln
 White Robert, fishmgr. St. Augustine st
 White Saml. sign writer, St. Benedict st
 White William, Surrey mews
 White W. vict. Sportsman, Northmld. st
 White Wm. brokr. St. Gregory's Ch. alley
 White William, Magdalen road
 White Wm. Frederick, St. Giles' road
 Whitehead George, Calvert street [hill
 Whitehead Honor, regr. office, St. Giles'
 Whitear John, bootmaker, Hall road
 Whiting Hy. plumber, St. Saviour's ln
 Whiting Wm. school, Magdalen street
 Whitlock Mrs Hannah, Timberhill
 Whitrick James, grocer, Pottergate st W.
 Wicks Thomas, wireworker, Tombland
 Widdows Charles, victualler, City Arms,
 St. Andrew's plain
 Widdows Francis, shopr. Magdalen st Widdows Mark, musical inst. maker and boat owner, Ferry yard, Lr. King st Wigg Mrs Edith and Mrs S. Rose lane
 Wigg Edward, cab owner, rag dealer, and vict. Crown, St. Benedict street
 Wigg Mrs Frances, St. Stephen's square
 Wigger John, vict. Dog, St. Paul's plain Wigger John Henry Augustus, artist and picture dealer, Lame Dog road
 Wiggett Joseph, turner, Calvert street
 Wiggins Mrs H. S., 40 Victoria street
 Wigham Mrs Elizabeth, Lower Close
 Wilby Mrs Mary Ann, Cross st, Urd.
 Wilby Mr William, Heigham road
 Wilch Harriet, shopkeeper, King street
 Wilch Jas. Rt. John, shopr. Mariners' ln
 Wilch Mary Ann, shopkeeper, King st
 Wilcox Eliza, shopkeeper, Ber street Wild Edward, grocer, 11 Haymarket; house Thorpe village
 Wild Thomas, greengrocer, Heigham pl
 Wilde Frances, clothes dlr. St. Benedict st
 Wilde Fredk. plumber, St. Stephen's st
 Wilde John, coal dealer, King street
 Wilde Matthew, vict. Eastern Union
 Railway, St. Stephen's road
 Wilde & Sons, parliamentary agents, St.
 Stephen's street, and London
 Wilde Mrs Stephens, Unthinks road
 Wilde Wm. (W. & Son), auctioneer & coroner, St. Stephen's st; h Bramerton Wilde Wm. jun. (W. & Son), and high bailiff of County Court, Redwell st; house 2 Newmarket road
 Wilde Wm. Geo. solicitor, 2 Newmkt. rd
 Wilding Henry, haird'r. St. Stephen's rd
 Wiley Saml. Hall, beerhouse, Cowgate st Wilkin Chas. carver and gilder, Wensum street; and grocer, Botolph street
 Wilkins Robert Frederick, Bethel street
 Wilkinson Benjamin, gent. Newmakt. rd
 Wilkinson Eliza, school. Upper King st
 Wilkinson Hy. Jph. saddler, St. Giles' st
 Wilkinson Mr Joseph, Upper King st
 Wilkinson Wm. vict. Suffolk Arms, Oak st
 Willement Howlett, clerk, St. Swithin's
 Willement Martin, Alma terrace
 Willement Maria, shopkpr. Botolph st Willement Richard, silk, &c. manufacturer, Calvert street; h Hewitt's villas
 Willett Mrs Ann, Unthinks road Willett Edward, manufacturer (Nephew and Co.); h Eaton Grove Willett Henry, manufacturer (Nephew and Co.); house Ipswich road
 Willett Mrs Mary Ann, Eaton
 Willett, Nephew and Co., silk, worsted,
 &c. mfrs. Pottergate st and London
 Williams Ann R. school, Mariners' lane
 Williams Benjamin, collector, Tombland Williams Charles, house surgeon, Norwich and Norfolk Hospital
 Williams Elias, shopkeeper, Hall road
 Williams Mrs Eliza, Oxford street
 Williams Frederick, Hewitt's buildings
 Williams Hy. vict. Cinder Ovens, King st
 Williams Isaiah, glass &c. dlr. Wastlegt. st
 Williams John Hy. shopkeeper, Duke st
 Williams Joseph, shoe manufacturer
 (Willis and W.); house Sussex street
 Williams Josiah, grocer, Bedford street
 Williams Miss, Blind School
 Williams Mary Ann, victualler, Moon and Stars, Duke's palace
 Williams Thomas, shopkpr. King st, Cpl
 Williamson Henry William, corn & hay merchant, Saint Stephen's street Williamson John Austin, corn and seed merchant, Duke's palace
 Williamson Mary Ann, shoemaker, 66
 Saint Stephen's street
 Williamson Mr Thomas, Heigham road
 Willins Miss Charlotte, Mount Pleasant
 Willins William, solicitor, Palace street
 Willis Geo. vict. Wellington, Muspole st
 Willis Jno. (W. & Williams); h Exchang. st

Willis Reuben, shopkeeper, Oak street
 Willis & Williams, shoe mfrs. Colegt. st
 Wills Anthony Frederick, victualler,
 Gibraltar, Upper Heigham
 Willis Geo. Ed. shopkeeper, Heigham st
 Wills Wm. tanner & fellmgr. Heigham st Willsea John, victualler, Waggon and Horses, Coslany street
 Wilson John, jun., shopkpr. Coslany st
 Wilson Abraham, beerhouse, Oak st
 Wilson Mrs Eliza, Ipswich road
 Wilson George, St. Peter's street
 Wilson George, confectioner, Queen st; house Tombland
 Wilson Mrs Hannah, Hewitt's buildings
 Wilson James, victualler, Railway Inn,
 Trowse Millgate
 Wilson Mary Ann, school, Newmarket rd
 Wilson Maria, shopkeeper, Coslany st
 Wilson Robert, hosier, Saint Benedict st
 Wilson Stephen, 2 Wellington place
 Wilson Thomas, cork mfr. Magdalen st
 Wilson William, solicitor, 7 Victoria st Wilson Wm. Stitt, manager of East of Eng. Bank, Haymkt; h 27 Newmkt. rd
 Wimperis Wm. shopkeeper, Palace st
 Windatt Mr James, 16 Chapel field
 Wing Robert, beerhouse. Trafalgar st
 Winkle John, machinist, Dereham road
 Winter Mr Ambrose, Heigham road
 Winter Charles, shoe manufactr. & leather dlr. 8 St. Peter's st; h St. Giles' road Winter Geo. baker & confectnr. Timberhl Winter James and Son, solicitors and insurance agents, Saint Giles' street Winter James; house Drayton Lodge
 Winter James John; house Lower Close
 Winter John, clerk, Valentine street
 Winter Rt. relievg. officer, St. Saviour's ln
 Winter Robert, baker, Cobourg street
 Winter Samuel, baker, Pitt street
 Winter Saml, baker, Cobourg street
 Winter Sus. vict. New Inn, Greenhl. gdns
 Winter Thomas, clerk, 8 Brunswick road
 Winter Wm. plumber, &c. Timberhill
 Wiseman Alfred, 1 Earlam terrace
 Wiseman and Co. wine and spirit merts.
 Post Office st (now Barwell and Son)
 Wiseman John, Fishgate street
 Wiseman Rt. Purland, bricklr. Muspole st
 Wiseman Mr Samuel, Mount Pleasant
 Wiseman Mr William, West Pottergate st
 Wittrick Samuel, coal dealer, Vauxhall st
 Wodehouse Wm. agent for Royal Liver
 Friendly Society, Saint Stephen's rd
 Wolveridge Ts. relievg. officer, Sussex st Womack Ann, tailor & outfitter, Davey place and White Lion st; h Surrey st Womack George Robert, tailor and outfitter, Dove street; house Eaton
 Womersley Mr Joshua, Thorpe hamlet
 Wood Geo. Jas. leather dealer, Sussex st
 Wood James, Masonic Hall keeper

Wood James, shopkeeper, Queen st, Cpl
 Wood John, tailor, John street
 Wood John, tailor, Stonehills
 Wood Robt. victualler, Cricketers' Arms,
 Red Lion street
 Woodcock Mr Henry, 70 Saint Giles' st
 Woodcock Samuel, butcher, Palace st
 Woodgate Deb. B. shopkpr. St. Paul's st
 Woodgate Philip, shoe manufacturer, Old Post Office yard; house Earlam road
 Woodhouse Geo Brereton, 6 Victoria st
 Woodhouse Mr Geo. Fredk. Pottergt. st
 Woodhouse Jno. vict. George, St. Stpn's st
 Woodhouse John, shopkeeper, King st
 Woodhouse Joshua, beerhs. Padding ln
 Woodhouse Wm. surgeon, St. Andrew's Broad street
 Woodrow Mrs Ann Maria, Bracondale
 Woodrow Arthur Charles, land agent
 (Wright and W.); house Queen street
 Woodrow Mrs Charlotte, Unthinks road
 Woodrow Mr John, Earlam road
 Woodrow Joseph, wine &c. merchant (Bolingbroke & Co.); h Unthinks rd
 Woodrow Mr Thomas, Dereham road
 Woods William, shopkeeper, Union st
 Woodward (Charlotte) & Page (Alfred), bakers and confectioners, Trory street
 Woodward Mrs Elizabeth, Magdalen st
 Woodward Mrs Eliza, 4 Newmarket ter
 Woolbright Mrs Blythe, grocer, 3 Briggs street; house 23 Bethel street
 Woolbright Robert, gardener, Bishop st
 Woolliston Mr D. O. Newmarket road
 Woolliston Emily, timber dlr. Hall road, and baker, Cherry street
 Woolnough Martha, shopkeeper, Ber st
 Woolsey Harry Brown, Mousehold
 Woolterton Robert. surgeon, Magdalen st
 Worby Mr Robert, Saint Catherine's pln Wordingham Robert, plumber, painter, & vict. Rose, Saint Catherine's plain Wordingham William, builder and wheelwright, St. Catherine's pln; h Hall rd
 Worledge Jno. vict. Wm. IV. Gildengt. st
 Worman James, builder, Castle meadow
 Wortley Mrs Amelia, Bracondale
 Wortley Eliz. Jane, milliner, Bethel st
 Wortley Martha, milliner, 5 Briggs st
 Wragg John, blacksmith, King street
 Wright & Base, bootmakers, London st
 Wright Charles, clerk, Valentine street
 Wright Daniel, tinner, Pitt street
 Wright Mrs Harriet, Upper Close
 Wright Jacob, ironfounder, Muspole st; house 14 Duke street
 Wright James & Son (Thos. Fdk.) land agents and surveyors, Bank chambers; house Earlam road
 Wright James, bricklayer, &c. Horns ln
 Wright Joseph & Son, plumbers, painters,
 &c. Lower King street
 Wright Robert, gentleman, Earlam rd

- Wright Robert John, (W. & Woodrow) ;
house Lower Close
Wright Sarah, draper, Ber street
Wright Thos. butcher & beerhs. Waterloo
Wright Walter & Son, plumbers, painters,
&c. Brazen doors road ; h Surrey road
Wright W. jun. ; h Framingham Earl Wright Wm. Holdren (Joseph and Son) ; house Julian street
Wright William, builder, Richmond pl
Wright William, shopr. Church path
Wright Wm. Wellington, Duke's palace Wright and Woodrow, land agents and surveyors, Queen street
Wrightup Mr Henry, 28 Newmarket rd
Wurr James, tailor, Upper St. Giles' st
Wurr Louisa, beerhouse, Grove place
Wurr Wm. bricklayer, 9 St. Giles' hill
Wyatt David, tailor, Paragon street Wyatt Esdaile, brewer, &c. (Arnold and W.) ; house Grove road, Lakenham
Wyatt Henry, shoemaker, Princes street
Wyatt John, vict. Spear in Hand, Vaux-hall street
Wyatt John, umbrella maker, 21 Row
Yallop Wm. vict. Somerset Tav. Union st
Yarington Mrs Charlotte, Tabernacle st
Yarington My. A. school, Hewitt's bldgs
Yates Charles, china, glass, and earthenware dealer, Davey place
Yaxley Eliz. vict. King's Arms, Botolph st
Yaxley Thomas, shopr. Cross street, Upl
Yexley Mr William, Heigham road
Youell Catherine, dress maker, Union pl
Youell Wm. wheelwright, Nelson st
Young Mrs Elizabeth, Unthinks road
Young James, builder, Dereham road
Young Neil Chas. coal agt. Windsor ter
Young Peter, vict. Richmond Tav. Bracondl
Young Thomas, baker, Magdalen street
Youngman Harold, agent for sewing machines, and the Scottish Union Insurance Co. &c. Post Office street
Youngman John Henry, clerk, Surrey rd
Youngman Samuel Wood, traveller, 10
Victoria street
Youngs, Crawshay, and Youngs, brewers, maltsters, & spirit merts. Lower King st
Youngs Mrs Elizabeth, Unthinks road
Youngs George, shoemaker, St. John's st
Youngs John, brewer, &c. ; h Richmond hl Youngs John, baker, St. Stephen's st
Youngs Robt. Carss, brewer, &c. ; house
Lower King street
Youngs William, draper, Fye Bridge
Zipfel Charles, watchmaker, Magdalen st
Zipfel Chas. jun. watchmkr. Magdalen st
Zipfel Mtw. watchmkr. Bridge st. St. Geo's.
Zipfel George, watchmaker, St. Gregory's Church alley

CLASSIFICATION OF TRADES AND PROFESSIONS.

 In this arrangement, Christian Names, &c., are often considerably abridged, but the full addresses of all will be seen in the preceding Alphabetical Directory of the City and Suburbs.

ACADEMIES.

Marked * take Boarders, † Teach Languages, and ‡ Dancing.

Abel Fanny, Paragon st
Alden W. M., Lothian st
Baker Martha, Pottergate
Bardwell Miss, St. Stpn's sq
Barker Eliza, Southwell st
* Blakeley Miss, St. Giles' rd Blind School, (see p. 228)
Blogg Wm., Upr. King st
* Boyden Misses, Pottergt
* Brawer Lucy, Town close
British Schools, (see p. 226)
Burrage Mrs., Scoles green
* Burrage Jane, Calvert st
* Burrage F. J., Duke's pal
* Burrage J. C., Castle hill
Barton Mrs., St. Stepn's rd

Campling E. J. All Saints' gn
Cannell Misses, All Saints' g
† Caro Rev. S., Ber street
Carver Ruth, Wt. Pottergt
Catholic Schools (see p. 226)
Clarke Rt. A., Heigham pl
* Codling A. J., Magdalen st
Coldwell Miss, Bracondale
Commercial School, Bridge
st. St. Geo's., T. R. Pinder,
T. Jones, and assistants
* Cooke Emma, Cowhill
Cooke My. A., Charles st
Copeman Martha, King st
† Crook Mrs & Miss, Tombld
Diocesan Training School
(see p. 225)
District Schools (see p. 225)
* Dunnett Mary, Surrey st
Edwards M., Kimberley st

+ Equilbecq E., Willow In Farmer Benj., Pottergate st
* Farnell J. T., Tuck's ct
* Farnell W. K., Chapelfield
+ Finnegan T. W., Pottergt
* Pitt Miss, 5 City road
Franklin Miss, Chapelfd. rd
* Froggatt Miss, St. Clement's Church alley
Gilbert Mrs, Gildengate st
* Grammar School, Upper Close, Rev. A. Jessopp,
M.A. head master ; the Revs. C. L. Lanchester,
E. F. M. MacCarthy, and
E. D. Smith, and other assistants.
Green Mrs., Botolph st
Hall Sus., Somerleyton st
Hardyman S., Thorpe ham

*Heasell Misses, Surrey rd Hospital School, Fishgate
 st. Fdk. & Mary Gidney
 Hovell Misses, Carlisle ter
 Humphrey Sar., Derehm. rd
 Hupton Miss, Hall road
 Infant Schools (see p. 226)
 Independent (see page 226)
 *Ives Miss, The Crescent
 *Johnson Mtha. St. Giles' rd
 Kempster Mrs., Dereham rd
 + Klein H., St. Simon's
 † Klein Madame, ditto
 Lake Wm., Dereham road
 Lancasterian (see p. 226)
 + Lantenant C. L. J., Princes street
 *Lincolne Eliz. S., Surrey st
 Ling Harriet, Bethel st
 *Ling Henry, Unthanks rd
 *Ling Misses, Upr. King st
 Marston Miss, Carrow hill
 Matthews W. F., Thorpe hm
 *Mills Ann, Unthanks rd
 Model Schools (see p. 225)
 National Sch. (see p. 225)
 *Nicholson Cath., Chantry
 Norman's Charity, Cowgate, J. B. Brown
 † Noverre F., Theatre st
 Parsley My. E., Heigham rd
 *Paul & Cadge, Bracondale
 Phillips Jane, Chapel fld. rd
Presbyterian, Calvert st.
 H. J. Booty, and Misses Starling and Brock
 Quinton Eliz., Charles st
 Redgrave Misses, Priory st
 Reeve Eliza S., Kimberley st
 Richardson Samuel, Ber st
 School of Art (see p. 187)
 *Scott James, Queen st
 Sheldrake Hh., Dereham rd
 *Sheppard Mrs., Pottergt. st
 + Sillett J. B., All Saints' gn
 Smith Mrs. 47 William st
 Spratt Sarah, Bethel st
 + Slonitz L., St. Andrew's hl
 *Starling & Hyde (Misses)
 Colegate street
 Stocks Maria, Heigham rd
 Thurgar W. T., Eaton
 + Vlieland J. N., Redwell st
 Walters Misses, Earham rd
 Watson Mary A., John st
 Wilkinson Eliza, U. King st
 *Wilson My. A., Newmkt. rd Yarrington Mrs., Upper
 Hellesden road.
 ACCOUNTANTS and Collectors of Rents, &c.
 Bardwell G. S., St. Stpn's rd
 Butler Robert, Ber street

Campling T., Golden Ball st
 Cossey J., Gildengate st
 Delf W. S., Dereham road
 Francis Thomas, Eagle st
 Gosnold H. G., Dereham rd
 Houghton H. J., U. Surrey st
 Kerry George, Dereham rd
 Kerry G. C., Hall plain
 Loombe T., Golden Ball st
 Ludlow Henry, Town close
 Metcalf Wm., Bedford st
 Ninham J., Mousehold
 Sexton H. W., Pottergate st
 Shibley Wm., 5 York place
 Whiting Wm., Magdalen st AGENTS.

See Auctioneers, Land Agents, Fire Offices, and Yarn Agents, &c.

AGRICULTURAL IM-PLEMENT, &c. MKRS.
 AND DEALERS.

(See also Ironfounders.)
 Barnard, Bishop, & Barnards, The Walk
 Blyth F. & Co., Cattle mkt
 Cudbard C., Theatre st
 Holmes & Sons, Cattle mkt
 Riches & Watts, Duke's pal
 Sparke & Co., Thorn lane
 ALE & PORTER DLRS.
 (See Brewers & Wine Merts.)

ARCHITECTS.

Barry T. D., Castle meadow
 Benest J. S., Bank chambers
 Brown J. H., Upr. King st
 Bunn Jno. 74 Pottergate st
 Barrows A. W., London st
 Fisher T., Museum court
 Hinsbey T. W., St. Stpn's rd
 Jeckyll Thomas, Queen st
 Kitton Rbt., Tuck's court
 Mear Wm., Surrey road
 Phipson R. M., Surrey st
 ARTISTS.

(See Photographers.)

Downes Thomas, Bethel st
 Heavyside John, St. Simon's
 Hodgson David, Prince of Wales road
 Ladbroke J. B., Kett's castle
 Ninham Henry, Chapel field
 Nursey C. L., St. Andw's st
 Stannard A. G., Hall plain
 Wigger J. H. A., Lamedog ln
 ATTORNEYS.

(* Proctors also.)

Asker S. H., Tuck's court
 Atkinson J. G., Post Office st
 Bailey E. C., Surrey street
 Bardwell E., Lower Close
 Barnham J. C., St. Stpn's rd
 Bensley W. T., Upper Close

Blake F. J., Upper King st
 Brightwell & Son, Surrey st
 Chittock J. C., Redwell st
 Collins A. J., Willow lane
 Culley Robert T., Bank st
 Dalrymple & Cooper, St.
 Giles' street
 Daveney C. B., Bethel st
 Day P. & Son, Upr. Surrey st Day Wm. (clerk to magistrates) Trowse Millgate Dowson J. W., Prince of Wales' road
 Durrant George, Surrey st
 Emmerson M. S., Oxford hl Field and Bignold, Upper
 Surrey street
 Foster Sir Wm., Sons, Bur-roughes, and Robberds,
 Bank street
 Fox Frederick, Surrey st
 Freestone and Copeman,
 Little Orford street
 Gilman C. R., St. Giles' st
 Gilman C. S., St. Giles' st
 Goodwin John, Willow ln
 *Hansell Henry, Upr. Close
 Hansell P. E., Upper Close
 Jay & Pilgrim, Toll's court
 Keith, Blake, and Keith,
 The Chantry
 Kerrison & Preston, Bank st
 *Kitson John, Upper Close
 Kitton W. M., "Palace st
 Ling Henry, Willow lane Mendham W. M. (town clerk) St. Andrew's st
 Miller, Son, and Bugg,
 Bank Chambers
 Mitchell and Clarke, Toll's
 Court and Wymondham
 Palmer T. H., Princes st
 Press Edw., Unthanks rd
 Palley Henry, Surrey st
 Rackham & Cooke, Tuck's ct
 Rackham M. R., Theatre st
 Sadd Wm. jun. Theatre st
 Sharpe B. T., St. Andrew's
 Simpson G. E., Tomblaud
 *Skipper W. & J. S., Bank st
 Sparke J. B., Earham road
 *Steward & Fisher, Upper
 King street
 Taylor C., Orford hill
 Taylor J. O. and Son, St.
 Giles' street
 Tillet Abel, St. Andw's st
 Tillet J. H. and Son, St.
 Andrew's street
 Tuck C. E., St. Giles' st
 *Turner W. N. H., Lr. Close
 Watson F. E., Rampant
 Horse street

Wilde W. G. 2 Newmarket rd
Willins Wm., Palace st
Wilson Wm. 7 Victoria st
Winter J. & Son, St. Giles' st
AUCTIONEERS,

Estate Agents and Valuers.
Butcher & Sons, Theatre st
Clowes and Flowerdew,
Bank Chambers

Drane W., St. Stephen's rd
Foulsham T., Wastlegt. st
Goreham Hy., Muspole st
Hudbud S., St. Benedict st
Hunter Wm., St. Andrew's. pln
Mason H. J., St. Gregory's
Church alley

Murrell G. H., 5 Bank st
Ray O. D., Upper King st
Sparks F. W., St. Giles' st
Spelman H. and S. W.,
St. Giles' street

Tallack Wm., St. Stpn's. rd
Tyzack W. B., Bank plain
Wilde Wm., St. Stephen's st
BABY LINEN DLRS.

Bishop George, Haymarket
Caley N. H., London st
Canham W. W., Hall plain
Forster John, London st
Lohr Lydia, Briggs street
Long H. W., Post Office st
Shearing S., Rmpt. Horse st
BAKERS AND FLOUR DEALERS.

(See also Confectioners.)

Abigall John, Muspole st
Alden Edward, Oak street
Alexander Hy., Heigham st
Aldous J. T., Grove place
Anderson Jph., Howard st
Artis F., Distillery street
Atkins M., St. Benedict st
Ayton J., St. Augustine's st
Becon Rbt., Brunswick rd
Baldwin Henry, Oak st
Barber M. A., Valentine st
Bardwell A., Trafalgar st
Barker George, Golding st
Barker S., Somerleyton st
Barnes E. R., Thorn lane
Barnes Richd., Cowgate st
Baxter Mrs., Brazndoor. rd
Bayfield H. K., Northbld. st
Beckham W. E., Upr. Hghm
Bennett Hy., Orford hill
Bennett Robert, City road
Bennett R. jun. W. Pottergt
Bennett S., Cowgate st
Bennett William, Ber st
Berry George, Ber street
Betts J. S., Coslany st
Blyth J., Princes street
Bone F., St. Benedict st

Brett James, Heigham st Brighten Chas. G., Eagle
st. and St. Stephen's st
Brock William, Oak street
Brown Ann, Lr. Westwick st
Brown S., Philadelphia
Browne B., City road
Burrage Edw., Colegate st
Burrage Edwin, Elm hill
Barrows Edw., Pitt street
Buttinfant J., Wellington ln
Cannell Robert, King st
Catling A., Carrow hill
Cattermer Isaac, Barrack st
Chapman J., Havelock st
Chiddick F. J., Magdalen st
Clarke William, Pottergate
Cobb F. G., Pottergate
Comer Hy., St. Margt's. st
Co-operative Store, Oak st
Cooper Richd., Cobourg st
Davison M., Rising Sun ln
Dunn J., West Pottergate
Empton Harriet, St. Jas' st
Feavyer W., Botolph st
Folk Chas., King st. Cpl
Folk C. jun. Gildengate st
Folk E., King street, Cpl
Freeman Jas., St. Giles' st
Freeman Wm., Chapel st
Freestone A., St. August-tine's st. & Church path
Fulcher Wm., Gashouse hl
Gibson Wm., St. Cath's. pl
Gill James, Coslany street
Girling Eliz., Magdalen rd
Graver T., St. Paul's plain
Green John, Napier street
Hall Henry, Thorn lane
Hannant N., Magdalen st
Hannant W., Cross st. Upl
Harden C., St. Stephen's st
Hardy Michael, Finket st
Harrison Edw., Elm hill
Harrison T., Golden Ball st
Havers Wm., Heigham st
Hill Rebecca, King street
Houghton Robert, Ber st
Howard Daniel, Barrack st
Howard H., Magdalen st
Hull W. H., Coslany st
Huson Rbt., Heigham st
Isaac E., Trafalgar street
Iverson E., West Pottergt
Jarrett Chas., Wensum st
Jay L., West Pottergate
Kahler J. H., Rose lane
Kemp Hy., Hghm. causewy
Key Septs., Unthanks rd
Lake Samuel, Colegate st
Land Henry, Rupert street
Laskey My., St. Andrew's hl
Leman T., All Saints' st

Le Neve Chas., Fishgate st
Long J. P., St. James' st
Marshall Rbt., Regent st
Massingham Rt., Bethel st
Miller A., Chapelfield rd
Miller My. A., Gildengt. st
Miller Walter, King street
Mitchell F. G., Palace st
Morris David, Vauxhall rd
Musk John, St. Mary's pln
Myhill Ann, Palace plain
Newman H. R., Ber street
Nichols W. C., King street
Page Mary, St. John street
Parker Clare, Oak street
Parr J., Upper St. Giles' st
Pauling Henry, Julian st
Pearce Wm., St. Peter's st
Pinching W., Queen street
Pummell J., Ten Bell lane
Roofe Ann, Spitalfields
Rose Geo., Thorpe hamlet
Rose Philip, Coslany st
Scott Thos., Chapel st. Cpl
Shreeve Geo., Tinkler's ln
Smith Jas. W., Magdalen st
Smith John Joseph, Ber st
Smith John Wm., Dove st
Smith Wm. Jph., Oak st
Smith W. Rd., St. Benedt. st
Southgate J. G., Union st
Stafford Henry, King st
Stafford Wm., Vauxhall st
Stannard Robert J., Little
London street

Steward G., Bull Close
Sullivan S., St. Benedict st
Tann Hanb., Charing cross
Thurston Bros., St. Bndct. st
Tuck Robert, Bethel st
Tuttell A. M., Trafalgar st
Tuttell J. W., Church path
Tyrrell J., Rising Sun ln
Ward George, Red Lion st
Watson J., Southwell rd
Weeds My. A., Bishop's bdg
Whall Wm., Union street
Winter Geo., Timberhill
Winter Robert, Cobourg st
Winter Samuel, Pitt street
Winter S., Magdalen st
Woodward & Page, Trory st
Woolliston E., Cherry st
Young T., Magdalen st
Youngs Jno., St. Stpn's. st
BANKS.

East of England, Haymkt.
(draw on London and Westminster Bnk); Wm.
S. Wilson, manager
Gurneys & Birkbecks, Bank plain (on Barclay and Company.)

Harveys & Hudsons, Crown Bank, Upper King street (on Barnett, Hoare, & Co.) Savings' Bank, Haymarket. (open Mon. Wed. & Sat. 12 till 2); Ed. Hare clerk, Post Office Savings' Bank, Post Office

BARRISTERS.

Cooper Carlos, Orford hill
Drury J. H., St. Leonard's
Evans C., Upper Surrey st
Holton W. C., Upr. King st
Reeve Simms, St. Giles' st

BASKET MAKERS.

Beales Mary, Wensum st
Carr Charles, Elm hill
Cushion John, Magdalen st
Fane Edw., Pottergate st
Gay & Co., St. Peter's st
Green Rt., St. Benedict st
Hovell Wm., Charing cross
Hovell W. B., Bridewell al
Loveday L., Peacock st
Mason Samuel, Ber street
Mitchell Robert, Pitt st
Raymes Robert, Rupert st
Thayne E., Pottergate st

BEERHOUSES.

(See after Hotels, Inns, &c.)

BERLIN AND FANCY REPOSITORIES.

Baker Sarah A., Bank st
Brennan Eliz., The Walk
Delf Sarah A., Princes st
Dye My. & M., Back of Inns
Ellison Mrs., Dove street
Ganley James, London st
Hipperson My., Lr. Goat ln
Miller A., Catherine's pln
Mingay G. N., 7 Haymkt
Ransome H., 18 The Walk
Rose Sarah, Castle street
Rump John, 8 Haymarket
Towler Alfd., 7 Briggs st
Tubb Mrs., Bank plain
Warman Z. W., Bedford st
White A. & D., 8 London st

BIRD & C. PRESERVERS

Bullock J., Lr. Westwick st
Knight T., Upper King st
Pear John, Surrey street
Sayer J., Upr. St. Giles' st

BLACKSMITHS.

Banham Henry, Holl's ln
Beeston John, King street
Bollaston W., Thorpe ham
Brandish Robert, Oak st
Brooks John, All Saints' st
Butcher Jas., St. Giles' st
Chapman Abel, King st
Child Stpn., Chapelfld. rd
Cocks Wm., St. Cath's. pln

Cook John, Coslany street
Forder J., Chapelfield rd
Freeman Jermh., Barn rd
Laws Robt., Dereham rd
Oakley Robert, Palace st
Palmer & Bell, St. Augsn's
Plummer Geo., Bethel st
Rouse J., Foundry Bridge
Shalders R. & Co., Haymkt
Shreeve J., Magdalen st
Smith Samuel, Oak street
Thaxter J., Heigham st
Thirkettle D., Barrack st
Warner J., Trafalgar st
Wragg John, King street

BOAT BUILDERS.

Baker J. D., Rainbow yd
Butcher J., Carrow abbey
Harmer Henry, Oak street
Houghton Rt., St. Faith's ln
Petch Wm., Barrack st

BOILER MAKERS.

LeFevre T., St. Stephen's st
Rouse J., Foundry Bridge
Smithdale Thos., King st
Tidman Rbt., Thorpe ham

BONE CRUSHERS, &c.

Cullingford H., Botolph st
Horsfield and Bagshaw, Magdalen gates

BOOKBINDERS.

(See also Booksellers, &c.)

Barnes Chas., Bedford st
Campling J., Wastlegate st
Colby Rd., Golden Dog ln
Grinton C. E., Gildengt. st
Liffen J., Gildengate street
Norman Benj., Haymarket
Otty Philip, Orford hill
Pinson Henry, Pottergt. st
Quinton Jas., Pottergate st
Soman and Howes, Saint Andrew's hill

Steward Saml., Princes st
Stewardson W. H., Bedfd. st
Thrower J., St. Stepn's. al

Uproft Wm., Fishgate st

BOOKSLRS. STATNRS.PRINTERS, &c.

(Marked * also Bookbndrs)

Bacon Richard N., Mercury office, 12 London street
Bramwell Daniel K., Upr. Saint Giles' street

Burroughs G., St. Stepn's. st

Cundall and Miller, Rampant Horse street

Darken James, Swan lane

Duffield A., Gildengate st

Fletcher Josiah, 8 The Wik

Fuller T. B., St. Stepn's. st

Gooch Rt. (Old) Wht Lion st
Hardesty Elnr., Bethel st
Hill Lot, Bridewell alley
Hunt W. (Old) White Lion st
Jarrol & Sons, Exchange street and London

Jeans E., (Old) St. Ptr's. st

Jeary Robt., Exchange st

Lain Edward, Elm hill

Matchett and Stevenson, Chronicle office, Mrktpl

Newman Saml., St. Giles' st

Pigg Henry, 7 London st

Puncher Wm., Wht. Lion st

Stacy H. W., 2 Haymarket

BOOT & SHOE MKRS.

(* are Wholesale Mfrs.)

Aldous J., Church path

Aldous Sus., St. Bendet. st

Allen & Goffin, Briggs st

Allcock G., Adelaide st

Allman George, King st

Bailey F. J., Oxford st

Barker & Gostling, Wensum street

Barker Wm., Hall road

Base William, London st

Bassingthwaite William, Saint Peter's street

Blackmore B., Muspole st

Blowers Wm., Bridge st

Blyth William, Bethel st

Bone Thos., St. Benedict st

Borking J., St. Benedict st

Bostock E. & T., Swan ln

Brett Isc., Upper King st

Brighten T. W., Bethel st

Brown Robert, Botolph st

Bruton A., Chapelfield rd

Buckingham J. and Sons, London street

Calver Fdk. Somerleyton st

Calver J., St. Simon's Ch. st

Calver T., St. Giles' st

Cannell George S., Ber st

Carter James, Church path

Carter John, Peacock st

Challis T. S., Castle mdw

Clarke Thos., Cobourg st

Colby John, Union street

Collins Jas., Davey place

Cook Hy., St. Saviour's ln

Cook Robt., White Lion st

Cooper John, Rupert st

Copeman Edw., Union pl

Copeman Jas., Norfolk st

Copeman Wm., Norfolk st

Cott Hy., Cross st, Union pl

Cott Robert, Julian street

Cousins Thos., Bethel st

Cox Barnard, St. Giles' rd

Curle Robert, King street

Daines James, Holl's lane

Dann Isc., St. Benedict st
 Dawson J. B., Adelaide st
 Day Wm., West Wymer st
 Death J., Chapel st, Cpl
 Denmark H. W., Magdln. st
 Dickinson J., St. Stephn's st Dicks R. and J., (gutta percha), St. Stephen's st Dobson Rt., Unthanks rd
 Downes Jas., Vauxhall st
 *Dunn James, Pitt street
 *Dunn J. jun., Gldn. Dog ln
 Edwards George, Pitt st
 Elwes Jno., St. Stephn's. st
 Fisher John, Magdalen st
 Fitt Joseph, Havelock st
 *Ford William and Son,
 Back of the Inns
 Foster George, Timberhill
 *Fox Joel, 27 London st
 Fox William, John street
 *Freeman Edw., Calvert st
 Freeman Rd., St. Bendct. st
 Gale J., St. Stphn's. Ch. al
 *Gamble & Davis, Calvert st
 Gardner T., Mount Pleasnt
 Garrad George, Rose lane
 Gibson Robt., Newmkt. rd
 Goldsmith J., Back of Inns
 Good Ts., Bridge st, St. G
 Gostling Wm., Julian st
 Grave Richard, Ber street
 Haggith Jas., Coslany st
 *Haldenstein Pp., Queen st
 Hall John, St. Faith's ln
 Hall T. B., Pottergate st
 Hammond J., Coslany st
 Hardy H., Lame Dog lane
 Hardy J., St. Benedict st
 *Harris J. T., Ber street
 Harrison H., Bridewell al
 Harrison Robert, Elm hill
 High Jacob, Tinkler's lane
 *Hogg Noah, Sussex st Holl Geo., All Saints' grn
 Holl W. G., St. Andw's. st
 Holmes Robt., St. Giles' st
 *Homan & Co., Theatre st
 Homes John, Surrey st
 *Horne Rt., Charing cross
 North Wm., Coslany st
 *Hotblack and Co., Saint
 Faith's lane
 Howes A., Rampt. Horse st
 Howes Richd., Magdalen st
 Irons Chas., Distillery st
 *Jennings Sml., Fountn. pl
 *Joseph J. & Sons, Bethel st
 *Kemp Wm. & Son, Pitt st
 Kent Robert, 10 London st
 Lake James, Red Lion st
 Larke Edgar, Ber street
 Lawrance Wm. St. Stpn's. st

Lee Wm. All Saints' st
 *Lincoln Jas., Pottergt st
 Lock Hy., St. Stephen's st
 Lombe Wm., St. James' st
 *Lulham E. W., Pottergt. st
 *Lutchford H. C. Lr. Goat ln Mann S., Magdalen street
 *March Wm., Duke street
 *Martin Benjamin A., St.
 Gregory's Church alley
 Martin G., St. Greg's. Ch. al
 Mason Thos., Dereham rd
 May Jas., Up. St. Giles' st
 *Mayfield James, jun., (tops) Vauxhall road
 Merry Robt. J., King st
 Middleton T., W. Wymer st
 Middleton J., Botolph st
 Mingay G. N., 7 Haymkt
 Minns W., Rising Sun ln
 More Luke, Up. Heigham
 Morter William, Ber st
 Murrell J., St. Giles' road
 Newman Rt., St. Stpn's. rd
 Nobbs Jas., Bridge st, St. G.
 Nobbs Wm., Dereham rd
 *Nockolds John, Pitt st
 North Thomas, Ber street
 Norton G., St. Stephn's. st
 Olley H. W., Distillery st
 *Palmer R. & J. H., Chalpel street, Union place
 *Pank & Goat, Chas. st, H
 Parker J., Distillery street
 Peacock J., Pottergate st
 Pert James, Pitt street
 Pond Jas., Up. Hellesden rd
 Porter Wm., St. Cath's. pln
 Pratt John, Coslany street
 Pratt William, Bridge st
 Pritty Wm., Queen st, Cpl
 Randall J., Magdalen st
 Rawling Chas., Bethel st
 Rice Jph., 20 Davey place
 *Riches Edm., Distilry. st
 Rogers S., Surrey mews
 Rose Francis, Cowgate st
 Sacret My. A., Magdalen st
 Sampson H., Charles st
 *Samuel E., Timberhill
 Scales Rd., St. Cath's. pln
 Scarlett Samuel, Oak st
 Scott John, Richmond hill
 Scott J. S., Magdalen st
 Smith A., Lower Close
 *Smith Henry, Calvert st
 Smith Joseph, Derby st
 Smith William, Grove pl
 *Soman D. & Son, 15 Calvt. st
 Snelling W., Orford hill
 Spinks W., Pottergate st
 Stapleton Rt., St. John's st
 Stone Edward, King street

Stroulger Charles, Oak st
 *Suffolk Geo., Fountn. pl
 Swann Jas., Magdalen st
 Taylor John, Essex street
 Tench Charles, Sussex st
 Terrington W., Rose lane
 Thirtle T., Bridewell alley
 Thorpe Alfred, Ber street
 Thorpe George, City road
 Thonless J., Rising Sun ln
 Thurlow George, King st
 Tillett Thomas, Suffolk st
 *Tillyard and Howlett, St.
 George's plain
 Tillyard and Son, Elm hill
 Tinkley Mrs., Ramp. Hrse. st
 Truman J. H., Pottergt. st
 *Turner J. & Co., Pottergt
 *Turner J. M. St. Bendt's. pn
 Turner William, Palace st
 Turner W. A., Orford hill
 Utting J., Gildengate st
 Ward T. W., St. Benedt. st
 *Ward Wm., St. Martin's ln
 Webb Jas., Chapelfield rd
 Webster J., Botolph street
 Williamson M. A., Saint
 Stephen's street
 *Willis & Williams, Cole-gate street
 Willsea John, Coslany st
 *Winter Chas. St. Peter's st
 *Woodgate Philip, Old Post Office yard
 Wright & Base, Londn. st
 Wyatt Henry, Princes st
 Youngs G., St. John's st
 BOTANISTS (Medical).
 Brightwell T., Bridge st
 Brown J., Rising Sun ln
 Burrows B. L., Ber street
 Hunter J. St. Andrew's hl
 Matthews & Son, Raglan st
 Pond Wm., West Pottergt
 Roberts Hy., Chapelfd. rd
 Smith Edward, Bethel st
 Stigles Daniel, Fishgate
 BRAZIERS & TINNERS.
 Alden Rt., St. Stephen's pln
 Ashen Rt., St. Stephen's st
 Callow W. J., Golden Ball st
 Goodings J., Bedford st
 Goreham J., William st
 Grimmer E., Rising Sun ln
 Hayward Cary, Ber street
 Lincoln J., Church st, St. M
 Murton Wm., Magdalen st
 Nichols Edw. Cow hill
 Olley S. B., St. Benedict st
 Rose Wm. Gildengate st
 Smith William, King st
 Smith Wm., St. Benedict st
 Stevens C. F., Magdalen st

Thompson Christopher & Sons, Rampant Horse st
Vincent Hy., St. Benedt. st
Waite Har., Redwell st
Warner W. & Co. (& brass founders), St. Giles' st
Wright Daniel, Pitt st

BREWERS.

(And Maltsters.)

Arnold and Wyatt, Saint Margaret's plain
Ballard Richard, Anchor Brewery, St. Miles' Brdg
Clarke Charles, St. Miles' Brewery, Coslany street
Hubbard Jas. M., Phoenix Brewery, Magdalen st
Marston Richard, Eaton
Morgan J. B. & H., King st
Phillips Jno., Golden Bl. st
Sexton Edw., Magdalen rd
Steward, Patteson, Finch, & Co., Anchor Brewery, Pockthorpe
Webster William, Ber st
Weston C., Bridg. st, St. Geo
Youngs, Crawshaw, and Youngs, Lower King st

BRICKLAYERS.

(See also Crpntrs & Bldrs.)
Adkin William, Trory st
Alderson W. H., St. Adw's. hl Barber Wm., Palace plain
Barnes J., West Pottergt. st
Blyth John, John street
Britcher Charles, Pitt st
Britcher T., St. Benedict's
Browne Charles, Hall rd
Bunn Charles, Vauxhall rd
Burton E., Mariners' lane
Bush John, Union street
Curtis G. B., Scoles green
Downing John, Pitt st
Freeman John, Nelson st
Green Rd., Church st, St. M
Greengrass Thos., Elm hill
Hood J. H., Rupert street
Hook J. J., Brazen drs. rd
Howard C., Bishopgate st
Howard J., Fishgate st
Howard E., Peacock st
Howes Jas., Magdalen st
Humphreys W., Peacock st
King James, St. Giles' hill
Lacy James G., Ber street
Mills G. T., Pottergate st
Newman W., Dereham rd
North Wm., Chapelfd. rd
Nudds John, Magdalen rd
Page Jer., Chapelfield rd
Parker Clare, jun. Oak st
Parnell Richard, Bethel st
Pegg Samuel, Ber street

Presents Philip, Cowgate
Pye W. G., St. Augustn's. st
Royall C. & E. St. Margt's. pln
Russell Robert, Finket st
Sexton R. W., Calvert st
Skelton Wm., Belvoir st
Spinks Samuel, Hall road
Stangroom Rt., Fishgt. st
Walker Henry, Rupert st
Wiseman R. P., Pitt street
Wright James, Horns ln
Wurr Wm., St. Giles' hill

BRICK & TILE MKRS.

(And Drain Pipes.)

Armes Daniel, Earlharn
Blake Rbt., Brazen doors rd
Dawson G., Brazen doors rd
Mills Jas., Castle meadow and Chalk hill
Pinnock Robert, Silver rd
Poll Robert, Dereham rd

BRUSH MAKERS.

Abel Fredk., Unthanks rd
Blyth J., Magdalen street
Bradfield F., Bridewl. alley
Candler J., Rampant H. st
Cook R. P., Magdalen st
Cook Samuel, Davey place
Gay & Co. St. Peter street
Gooch Thos. Timberhill
Harper J. K., St. Benedict st
Hovell Wm., Charing cross
Hovell W. B., Bridewl. alley
Mallett Henry, Calvert st
Page S. D. & Sons, Haymkt
Rix Henry, 53 Timberhill
Rogers & Page, Wensum st
Scott P. T. White Lion st

BUILDERS.

See Bricklayers, Carpenters, and Stone Masons.

BUTCHERS.

( are Pork Butchers.*)

*Adcock T., St. Benedict st Archer James, Pitt street
Bale Geo., St. Benedict st
Baxter John, Ber street
Blake Sl. Bridewell alley
Blazer Rt., Lr. Westwick st
Bloomfield F. W., Palace st
Boyce H. T., King street
*Brackenbury Robert, St. Benedict street
Brewster and Chapman, Upper Walk
*Bridges J., Heigham st
Brighty Henry, Coslany st
*Bruton Rbt. Chapelfd. rd
Bunn T. C., Distillery st
*Burton Gent, Dove st Bushel Wm., Norfolk st
Cannell Abm., St. Jas. st
Chapman T., Upr. Walk

Chapman S., U. St. Giles' st
Chapman A., Magdalen st
Clarke Isc., St. Augustn st
Clarke S. R., Unthank rd
*Clarke W., Pottergate st Cobb Leggett, Botolph st
Cobb R. L., Magdalen st
Coldham Henry, Tombland
Coldham J., Bridge st, St. G.
Cross William, Rose lane
Curme Geo., Magdalen st
Daniels B., Colegate st
Daniels Ths., Magdalen st
Dawson Jtn., Magdalen st
Dawson Pp., Magdalen st
Dent Thomas, Ber street
Dingle Henry, St. Paul's st
Dyball Rt., Northmbl. st
Ellwood Hy., Timberhill
Fitt William, Ber street
Foreman Js., Trowse Migt
Futter Wm., Somerleyton st
Gibbs R. W., St. Steph'n's. st
Goodson W., Dereham st
*Graver John, Rose lane
Greeves Hy., Upper Walk
Hall F. G., Upper King st
*Harley J. P., St. Benedict st
*Holland F., Dereham rd
Hook B. J., St. Stephen's st
Ireson Rebecca, Union st
Isbell C. F., Charing cross
Ives Charles, Magdalen st
Jacobs John, Ber street
Keddington J., St. Augustn's
King Edw., St. Cathne's. pln
*Lake H., Rising Sun ln
Lamb James, Upr. Walk
Lamb Leond., Upr. Walk
*Laws Rt., St. Benedict st
*Long R. S. W., Coslany st Mann Henry, Elm hill
Mason J. C., Golden Ball st
Mason S. C., St. Stephen's st
Mason Wm., Vauxhall st
Meen Hy., St. Stephen's st
Middleton Robert, Hall rd
Miller G. M., St. Cathn's. pln
Minns Dd., St. Benedict st
*Nash Robt. Magdalen rd
*Potter Robert, King st
Powell Robert, Union st
Pycroft N., Red Lion st
Rayner Jas., Dereham rd
Redgment K., Vauxhall rd
*Riches James, King st
Rudling Wm., Ber street
Savage Rt., Bridge st, St. A.
Savage Thomas, Palace st
Self Thomas, Tombland
Slaughter C., Gildengt. st
Smith Hannah, Pottergate
Squires James, Ber street

*Stewardson N.T., St.Jas. st
 Stockings M., St. Stephn's. st
 Tillett W., Magdalen st
 Tuddenham W., Gildengt
 Tuxford A., Cowgate st
 *Tye James, St. Giles' hill
 Underwood C., St. Giles' hill
 Varvell W., St. Stephen's rd
 *Walker Jas., Coslany st
 Watts Thomas, Market pl
 *Woodcock S., Palace st
 *Wright Thos., Waterloo
CABINET MAKERS &
 UPHOLSTERERS.

Abel Daniel, Bedford st
 Aldous J.F., St. Stephn's. st
 Andrews and Gardiner,
 Chapelfield road

Barnes Jas., Surrey grove
 Barnes Wm., Bridge st
 Bexfield J., Rising Sun In Bultitude E., Charing cross
 Chamberlain W., Culvert st
 Chapman W., St. Stephn's. st
 Corrick W., St. Giles' st
 Craske J., Lower Goat In Crowe & Son, St. Stphn's. st
 Freeman and Pearson, 37
 London street

Furse Jas. Ts., Princes st
 Hales James, St. John st
 Hales W., Union street
 Hare C., St. Augustine st
 Harvey R.N., St. Lawrence st
 Howard George, John st
 Jacobs W. & A. (dealers),
 Haymarket

Keeble James, John street
 Kerry J., Northumbld. st
 Kirkham D., Redwell st
 Manthorpe James, King st
 Miller G. R., Bedford st
 Miller Rbt., Kimberley st
 Norris My.A., Charing cross
 Nurse Robert, Castle st
 Pigg, Greenwood & Co.,
 14 London street

Pooley Samuel, St. John st
 Pooley Wm., Charing cross
 Richard Solomon, Ber st
 Robertson & Son, Queen st
 Robinson C., Pottergate st
 Rudd G. J. R., St. Cath-erine's place

Scott C. T., Gildengate st
 Scott R. B., Charing cross
 Scotter H. P., Charles st
 Sparks Wm., Magdalen st
 Tann S. W., St. Benedict.st
 Tilley Alfred, Rose lane
 Trevor Hy. Post office st
 Tyce Geo., Charing cross
 Varley John, Anchor yard

CAMLET MANUFRS.

(See Manufacturers.)

CAP MAKERS.

Bayes W. A., Market pl
 Haldenstein Pp., Queen st
 Nichols Hy., Lr. Goat In Steward & Son, Queen st
 Wells T., St. Gregory's
 Church alley

CARPENTERS,

JOINERS & BUILDERS.

(See also Bricklayers.)

Addison B., Magdalen st
 Aldous J. F., St. Stephn's. st
 Amies John, Hall road
 Atkins Rd., Chapelfield
 Bailey W. E., Lawrence st
 Bailey Ths., West Pottergt
 Barnes S., Stephn's. Ch. alley
 Barnes Wm., Muspole st
 Bishop T., Magdalen st
 Bishop W.H., Magdalen st
 Boardman E., St. Andw's. st
 Bone W., Somerleyton st
 Breese B. S., Dereham rd
 Brewster Jas., Buffcoat In Brooke James, Palace st
 Brooks T., Bridge st, St. A.
 Brooks W. T., Lower Close
 Brown Peter, City road
 Browne & Bailey, Raglan st
 Burrell B., King street
 Chapman W., Cowhill
 Colman Samuel, Suffolk st
 Curtis & Balls, Alma sq
 Daines Rt., Short Cherry st
 Dawes Robert, Dereham rd
 Downing John, Tooley st
 Ede E., Gildengate street
 Fisher W., Magdalen st
 Fitt John, Rising Sun In Ford Rt., St. George's pln
 Fox J., Heighm. causeway
 Foyson Robt. B., Rose In Francis William, King st
 Freeman John, Nelson st
 Freeman Sml., Quay side
 George Robert, Pitt st
 George W. M., Pottergt. st
 Gilbert William, Pitt st
 Gilbert W. T., Gildengt. st
 Hall Samuel, Pottergt. st
 Harper William, Eagle In Harrison Isc., St. Giles' hill
 Hood John, Norfolk street
 Hood Rt. & Sons, Sussex st
 Houghton Robert, Ber st
 Hovell John, Pottergate st
 Howard James, King st
 Howard W.F., Bishopgt. st
 King A., City road
 Lacey G. P., Surrey road
 Lacy Jas. W., Surrey st

Lacey John G., Ber street
 Leach Pp., St. Martin's In Liddelow Robt., Elm hill
 Ling G., All Saints' gn
 Lovett Geo., Dereham rd
 Meachen G., Dereham rd
 Meachen S. H., William st
 Miller Chas., Chapelfd. rd
 Miller J., Gildengate st
 Moore William, King st
 Murray J. & Son, St. Andw. st
 Norton W., Upr. Heigham
 Ollett M., St. Catherine's pl
 Page S., West Pottergt. st
 Pegg W. B., Horns lane
 Plummer G., Bethel street
 Poll Thomas, Oxford st
 Rogers G. W., Chapelfd. rd
 Roshier W., Princes st
 Rump R. R., Colegate st
 Sexton H. J., Cow hill
 Sexton H. W., Pottergt. st
 Sinkler E., Botolph st
 Smith Saml. C., City road
 Smith T., All Saints' gn
 Spaul W. B., Lower Close
 Spinks James, Heigham rd
 Spinks Samuel, Hall road
 Stone Henry, Magdalen st
 Suffolk W., Chapelfield rd
 Taylor J. W., Palace plain
 Tngate Benj., Rupert st
 Ulph F. T., St. John's ter
 Wales J., Kimberley st
 Walker T., St. Benedict st
 Walmsley G.W., Pottergate
 Watson E. C., King st
 Watson James C., Chas. st
 West Robert, Julian street
 White Jeremiah, Thorn In Wordingham William, St.
 Catherine's plain
 Worman J., Castle meadow
 Wright W., Richmond pl
 Young James, Dereham rd

CARVERS & GILDERS.

are Wood Carvers only.*

Andrews and Gardiner
 Chapelfield road
 Boswell W. and Son, 15
 Exchange street
 *Burrell B., Lr. King st
 *Bushnell J., Suffolk road
 Cook Joseph, Bedford st
 Culyer T., Castle meadow
 Dawes L., Bedford street
 Freeman W. P. B., Rampant Horse street
 *Gardiner Geo., Elm hill
 Gilman J., 26, London st
 Howard J., Bethel street
 Miller G. R., Bedford st
 Nurse Robert, Castle st

*Palmer W., St. Lawrence ln
Pigg, Greenwood & Co.,
14 London street
Robinson C., Pottergt. st
*Spaul J., St. Andrew's hill
Townshend S., Charing crs
Turner James, Charles st
*Turrell G., St. Lawrence ln
Watson D. F., All Saints' gn
Wilkin Chas. Wensum st
CHAIR MAKERS.

(See also Cabinet makers.)
Batley Hy., Lr. Westwick st
Bunting Rd., St. Margaret's
Clapham John, Ber street
Field Robert, Queen st
Harvey R. N., St. Lawnee ln
Hooper Rt. B. P., Lothian st
Osborn Rd. N., Muspole st
CHEESE, BUTTER, &
BACON FACTORS.

Banham F. J., Haymarket
Belding Wm., Magdalen st
Butcher Robert & Nephew, Bank plain

Durrant Henry, Ber st
Fish Charles, Coslany st
Freeman Hy., St. Peter's st
Freeman Chas. Robt., do.
Goggs W. D., Up. St. Giles' st
Nash J., Post Office street
Smith J., Bridewell alley
CHEMISTS & DRUGTS.
Andrews T. W. & G., Colgt. st
Arnold Edward, Orford hill
Birch Henry, Hall road
Bliss J. J. (& truss maker)
Magdalen street

Bradbury Robt., Coslany st
Brown Wm., Wensum st
Caley A. J., London st
Cooke Wm. 27 St. Giles' st
Cossey J., St. Augustine st
Cottingham J. J., St. Giles' st
Crook W. G., Chapel st, Upl
Cubitt G. & C., 17 The Walk
DeCarle J., St. Benedict st
English J., Up. St. Giles' st
Fitch & Chambers, Mkt. pl
Gardiner Wm. Dove street and Pottergate street
Grant Thomas, Ber street
Harper J. O., Dereham rd
Harper & Sutton, Bank pln Howard W. R. (homœopathic), St. Stephen's st Hulme J. H., St. Andrew's pl
James Henry, Coslany st
Lawson C. M., St. Bendet. st
Morgan C., Bridewell alley
Orris F. H., Magdalen st
Peggs J. O., Golden Ball st
Pitts R. C., St. Giles' st

Rackham W. M., St. Peter st
Row G., St. Stephen's st
Rudd J., St. George's pln
Searby W., White Lion st Slade & Rapier (homœopathic), 7 London street Smith & Sons (and wholesale) Mkt. pl. & Magdln. st Spatchett J., St. John's st
Stark & Co. agcl. Duke's pal
Stockings A., St. Stphn's. st
Taylor Wm., Magdalen st
Thompson H., St. Stpn's. st
Watson G. P., King st
Watson J. E., King street
Wheeler Fras., Bedford st
CHIMNEY SWEEPERS.
Bilton W. H., Bethel st
Bowgen J. H., Lr. Westwk. st
Brown G. R., Cobourg st
Copeman G., St. Stpn's. pln
Copeman H., St. Stphn's. st
Crisp W., Brazen doors rd
Finch J. & W., St. Miles'
Church street

Harrison James, Barn rd
Howling Rudd, Thorn ln
Levee Rt., St. Stpn's Back st
Roe Isaac, Magdalen st
Sewell, J., Charing cross
Ward John, Duck lane
Ward Wm., Cobourg st
CLOG.—See Patten.

CLOTHES BROKERS.
Atkins E., Lr. Westwick st
Bayes R. K., Orford hill
Boast J., Lr. Westwick st
Bridges M. A., Coslany st
Burrage John, Castle st
Burrows Rt. Lr. Westwick st
Butler J., Lr. Westwick st
Clark C., Church path
Cates Jane, Oak street
Cocks My., Lr. Westwick st
Dansey Wm., St. James' st
Forster T., West Pottergt. st
Francis Chte., Coslany st
Fromow J., Lr. Westwk. st
Green J., Lr. Westwick st
Hare J., Lr. Westwick st
Harold E., St. Paul's st
Kilburn W., St. Benedict st
Mickleburgh John Henry,
Coslany street

Motts Mary, Coslany st
Muirhead Hanb., Colegate
Rix Martha, St. Benedict st
Thurston Susan, Oak st
Tuddenham Rt., Westwick
Webster Rt., St. Benedict st
Wild Fras., St. Benedict st
COACH, &c. BUILDERS.
Constable & Co. Chpfd. rd

Gunn Rt., Brazen doors rd
Harcourt A., Chapelfield rd
Hart P. W., Red Lion st
Howard George, Rampant
Horse Back street
Howes Hy. Wm., Ber st
Howes J. & J., Red Lion st
Howes & Sons, Chapelfd.
Jolly C. & Son, St. Stpn's. rd
Kett H. W., St. Giles' st
Meadows J., Duke's palace
Norris G., Magdalen st
Rudling J., Palace street
Smith G., St. Stephen's sq
Thorn Chas., St. Giles' rd
COACH LACE MFRS.
(Trimming & Livery Lace).
Alderton Wm., Swan lane
Cockaday Isaac, Bedford st
Gooch A., Tinkler's lane
Gooch Joshua, Dove st
Stewart C. K., Tuck's ct
COACH, GIG, FLY, HORSE, &c., LETTERS.
(See also Coach Builders and Livery Stables).

Brown John, St. Peter's st
Brunning J., St. Cath's. pln
Butcher W., Golden Ball st
Coldwell J., Dereham road
Cooper Danl., Unthanks rd
De Caux W., Castle Hotel yd
Frost William, Bethel st
Gibson Geo., Crook's place
Howman William, Oak st
Kett Henry, St. Giles' st
Lines Philip, Globe street
Moll George, St. Giles' st
Palmer T., Up. Surrey st
Saul Robt., Wastlegate st
Shorten J., Magdalen st
Smith Benjamin, King st
Snowling John, Duke st
Spinks Jas., St. Stephen's st
Tattam Richard, Lady's ln
Taylor Thomas, Haymkt.
Warner Henry, Haymkt.
Wigg E., Crown Inn
COAL DEALERS.
(* Coal Merchants.)

Bell Matthew, Ber street
Blyth John, Quay side
Boardman and Sursham,
Wensum street
Bowgen J. H., Lr. Westwk. st
Brooks A. & J., Barn road
*Bullard Rd. St. Miles bdg
Burcham S., Coslany st
Butler My., Lr. Westwick st
Buttle Richard, Quay side
Campling T., Golden Ball st
Campling P. P., W. Pottergt
*Clarke & Reeve, Duke's pal

Clarke Royal, William st
Crowe E., Lr. Westwick st
*Culley & Hart, Duke's pal
*Dawbarn J., Castle meadow, & Victoria Station
*Dowson B. & Son, King st
*Eastern Counties Company, London st; Butcher & Girling, agents
England Wm., Water lane
George M.R.D., Quay side
Hansell W., Chapel st. Upl
Harbord Joseph M., 10

Upper St. Giles' street
Holbrough Henry, King st
Holmes E., Lr. Westwick st
*Jarvis Hy., Upr. King st
*Jean Hy., Victoria Station
Lamb B.C., Magdalen st
Linstead George, Hall rd
*Lloyd R. O., Princes st
*Mealing & Mills, King st
Mills Jas., Castle meadow
Moughten J., Surrey st
Nobbs Samuel, Mill st
Oaks James, Botolph st
Osborne E., Quay side
Porter Rt., St. Giles' hill
*Ramsay Wm. and Co.,
Trowse Millgate

Read W., Church st. St. S.
Sheen C., Lr. Westwick st
Stubbs G., St. Andrew's st
Suffolk E., King st, Cpl.
Thomas J., Quay side
Trollop W., Short Cherry st
Vyall D., St. Andrew's st
*Watling R.S., Westwick st Wild John, King street
Wittrick S., Vauxhall st
Yaxley Thos., Cross st, Upl
COFFEE & EATING HOUSES.

Bloomfield G., Market pl
Burton G., Castle hill
Carter J., Golden Ball st
Colsey F. (temperance hotel.)

Exchange street
Creed James, Colegate st
Dean A., St. Peter's st
Esling Henry, Orford hill
Fountain My.A., London st
Harvey Edw., Rose lane
Havers James, Dove st
Hemnell J., Market place
Lincoln John, Market pl
Lomas W., Bridge st, St. A.
Maitland Fredk. Augustus,
Golden Ball street

Muirhead W., Bedford st
Seeley E.H., St. Stephen's. pln
Smithdale J., Upper Walk
Woodhouse J., Pudding ln

CONFECTIONERS.

(See also Bakers.)

Batley Rd., St. Cath's. pln
Borrett Wm., Lr. Westwk. st
Brighton C.G., St. Stpn's. st
Brock William, Oak street
Fountain My.A., London st
Hannant N., Magdalen st
Harvard R.A.C., White Lion
Hick Wm., Bridge st [st
Hunt Jas., St. Stephen's st
Lake Samuel, Colegate st
Marston Rd., The Walk
Parr J., Upr. St. Giles' st
Reeve C., St. Benedict st
Rose John, Golden Ball st
Scottow Mary, Red Lion st
Silvey Wm., White Lion st
Skipper Hy., Magdalen st
Snelling J. G., Rampant
Horse street

Tate J., Coslany street
Thirkettle G., White Lion st
Tuck R. A., Lwr. Goat ln
Valentine W., St. Benedict st
Warren G. 7 Exchange st
Wilson George, Queen st
Winter George, Timberhill
Woodward & Page, Trory st
COOPERS.

Banham George, King st
Burrell Joseph, Church st
Carpenter Robert, Oak st
Coldham A., Dereham rd
Cook John, Botolph street
Culyer C.A., Rmpt. Horse st
Gay W. & G., Surrey rd
Jeckells G. A., Ber street
Merry J., Lobster lane
Mounsey James, Thorn ln
Overton J. & Son, Chalk hl
Plumstead S.J., Coslany st
Shepherd Isc., Magdalen st
Short Hy., Gildengate st
Taylor J.W., St. Benedict st
Wyatt J., Vauxhall street

CORK CUTTERS.
Crosskill R.C., Bdg. st. St. G.
Robinson J., Bridge st. St. G.
Rose G., St. Stephen's st
Wilson Thos., Magdalen st
CORN, &c., MERCHANTS.
(* Corn and Hay Dealers.)
Barber J. and Son, Lower
Westwick street

*Barnard J., Golden Ball st
Batson Ed., Magdalen st
Boardman and Sursham,
Wensum street
*Baxter Robt., Chapelfield
Boswell and Baxter, Magdalen street
Brown Frederick, King st

Brown Isaac, Tinkler's ln
Bullard Rd., St. Miles' bdg
Burcham J., Dereham rd
Clarke & Reeve, Duke's pal
*Cooke Anna M., Pitt st
Culley & Hart, Duke's pal
*Daniels J., Buffcoat lane
Dawber Wm., Wensum st
*Dawson G., Brazen drs. rd
Dowson B. U. and Sons,
Duke's palace

Dunmore Rbt., St. Benedt. st
Dunmore T., Coslany st
Fox Wm., Bishopgate st
*Girling Mary A., Golden
Ball street

Hill A. F., Colegate street
Hubbard Jas., Magdalen st
Larkman W. A., King st
Mealing and Mills, King st
Osborne Charles, Ber st
Ramsay W. & Co., Trowse
Millgate

Randle Wm., St. Peter's st
Read T. W., King street
Redgrave J., Church st. St. M
Sheppard R., Duke's pal
*Spanton Francis, Ber st
Spice T. W., Duke street
Spratt Wm., Haymarket
Watling Robert S., Lower
Westwick street
Williamson J.A., Duke's pal
*Williamson H. W., Saint
Stephen's street

Woolnough Mtha., Ber st
CORN MILLERS.
Andrews John, New Catton
Barber and Son, Lower
Westwick street
Blomfield M., Chapel st. Cpl
Colman J. & J., Carrow &
Stoke Mills

Eglinton E., Philadelphia
Feltham B., New Lakenham
Glasspoole H., Plumstead rd
Hammond J., New Catton
Read T.W., Trowse Millgt
Riches R. R. & Co., Pitt st
Robberds & Money, Chapelfield road

Wells W. H. New Mills
CRAPE MANUFACTRS.
(See Manufacturers.)

CURRIERS & LEATHER
CUTTERS & DEALERS.
Blackburn J. B., St. Stephen's plain

Brooks Sar., St. Stpn's. pln
Brooks William, Oak st
Clapham J., Chapel st. Cpl
Foulsham H., Magdalen st
Fox O., St. Benedict st

Gooch S. I., Davey place
Harper W., Cross st., Upl
Howell W., Lower Goat ln
March Wm., Duke street
Marston A.A., All Saints' st
Mitchell D., St. Stepn's. pln
Olley Edward, Timberhill
Page G. & Son, Magdalen st
Rudd & Paston, St. Giles' hl
Sayer W., St. Benedict st
Sidney & Armes, Dove st
Theobald & Son, London st
Tilley Henry, St. Peter's st
Tillyard and Howlett, St.

George's plain
Ulph Thomas, 1 Dove st
Watering Jeremh., Hall rd
Winter Chas., Upr. market
Wood G. J., Sussex street
CUTLERS, and Hardwaremen.

(* are Surgical Int. Mkrs.)

*Allison Mrs S., Upr. Walk
Bernasconi P., Wht. Lion st
*Branch G., Golden Lion st
Frost J., Magdalen street
Hunt J., St. Margaret's ln
Jacobs W. & A., Haymarket
*Lister John, Haymarket
Mounser W., Timberhill
Pearson Mrs., St. Andw's. hl
*Sawyer J.R., 6 London st
Scott James, Back of Inns
Smith John, Timberhill
Sutton Samuel, Angel st

DENTISTS.

Boulger P. J., St. Giles' st
Bridgeman W. K., St.
Giles' street
Coleman A., West Wymer st
Dearle G., Post Office st
Guntton A., St. Giles' st
Harcourt B.W., St. Giles' hl
Hay Wm., Post Office st
Mackley G.W., Wastlegt. st
Neep G., 5 Post Office st
Offord J. S. (truss maker)
Theatre street
Suggett and Dunsford, 17
St. Giles' street
White Richd., St. Giles' st

DYERS,

and Dressers & Finishers.
Allen B., Scoles green
Barber S., Timberhill
Briggs W.H., Magdalen st
Campling A., Botolph st
Carter J., All Saints' st
Cooke Hannah, Coslany st
Fenn Samuel, Distillery st
Gedge George, Coslany st
Groom G., Brazen doors rd
Harper J., Bridge st. St. Geo

Havers G. J., Tombland
Hawes James, Adelaide st
Hill Lot, St. Martin's Houghton David, Upper
Saint Giles' street
Houghton Eliza, Elm hill
Houghton J., Ten Bell lane
Hubbard J., Brdg. st. St. Geo
Jarrett T., Magdalen st
Jay Joshua, Bethel street
Lowe W. E., Elm hill
Metcalf H. & J., Colegate st
Minns Jesse (dresser), St.
Clement's alley

Sexton J. W., Calvert st
Stark and Co., Duke's pal
Ulph Wm., Lr. Westwick st
Willett & Co., Pottergt. st
EARTHWARE. DLRS.

(See Glass, China, &c.)

EATING HOUSES.

(See Coffee Houses.)

ENGINEERS, AND Millwrights & Machinists.
Blyth & Co., Cattle market
Barnard, Bishop, and Barnards, Norfolk Iron Works
Carver W. & R., Hall road
Cudbard C., Theatre st
Gaze W. & R., St. Paul's
Back lane

Hines Charles, Muspole st
Holmes & Sons, Castle hill
LeFevre T., St. Stephen's st
Riches & Watts, Duke's pal
Rowing Esau, St. James'
Factory
Slack J. H., St. Giles' hill
Smithdale T., King street
Sparke & Co., Thorn lane
Watts J., Bloomsbury pl
Winkle John, Dereham rd

ENGRAVERS, &c.

Browne W., St. Andrew's st
Browne W. F., Orford st
Dallinger & Son, Davey pl
Emslie & Son, Back of Inns
Hall W., White Lion st
Marrison Robt., Orford st
FELLMONGERS.

Brewster and Chapman,
Upper Walk

Claxton George and Co.,
St. George's plain
Claxton Wm., Fishgate st
Everett J., Bishop's Bridge
Hardiment Robert, Oak street gates

Wills William, Heigham st
FIREWORK MAKERS.
Baxter N. P., Brazen doors road

Coe George, Sprowston rd

FIRE & LIFE OFFICES, and Agents.

Accidental, H. Ludlow,
Town Close
Albert (Guarantee), W. A.
Turner, Orford hill
Alliance, Henry Brown, 14
The Walk
Atlas, W.N.H. Turner, Lr.
Close, and H. Bidwell,
Pitt street
British Empire, B. T.
Sharp, St. Andrew's pln
British Equitable, Z. Chapman, St. Stephen's st
British Nation, W. Walker,
5 Colegate street
British Prudential, T. L.
Deane, Duke street
Caledonian, O. D. Ray,
Upper King street
Church of England, J. H.
Brown, King street; and Joseph G. Atkinson, Post Office street
City of Glasgow, C. R.
Gilman, St. Giles' st
City Life, B. Bateman,
St. Stephen's street
County, W. Mayhew, King st
Crown, M. S. Emmerson,
Orford hill
Eagle, C. Taylor, Orford hl
Economic, H. Bolingbroke,
St. Clement's Ch. alley
Edinburgh, Taylor & Son,
St. Giles' street
Genl. Hailstorm, St. Giles' st; C. S. Gilman, sec.
General, Tillett & Son, &
B. T. Sharpe, St. Andw's. st
Globe, A. Tillett, St. Andw's
Great Britain, W. Hunter,
St. Andrew's plain
Hail, G. H. Murrell, Bank st
Hand-in-Hand, F. Clowes,
Bank street
Imperial, M. S. Emmerson,
Orford hill, & M. Rackham, St. Giles' street
Law Fire, Jay & Pilgrim,
Briggs st; S. H. Asker, Tuck's court; & P. Day,
Surrey street
Law Union, Wright and Woodrow, King st; & J.
T. Highland, St. Spn's. st
Lancashire, Jas. Skipper,
Rose lane
Life Associatn. of Scotland,
W. Sadd, Theatre street
Liverpool and London,
R. N. Ives, King street

London Assurance, H. Pulley, Surrey street
 London and Provincial, S.H. Asker, Tuck's court
 Manchester, B. T. Sharpe, St. Andrew's plain
 Minerva, W. Browne, St. Andrew's street
 National, Chas. Goodwin, Willow lane
 National Mercantile, J. Fletcher, The Walk
 National Provident, H. Ludlow, Town Close, and H. Bidwell, Pitt street
Norfolk Farmers' Cattle, St. Giles' street; C. R. Gilman, secretary
Norfolk Union Fire & Life, Surrey street; Sir S. Bignold, secretary
 Norwich Equitable, G. & C. Cubitt, The Walk
 Norwich & London Accident, &c., C. S. Gilman, St. Giles' street
 Norwich Provident, C. R. Gilman, St. Giles' st
 Pelican, Steward & Fisher, Upper King street
 People's, S. Lake, Colegate
 Phenix, Pigg, Greenwood, & Co. 14 London street
 Plate Glass, J. & J. King, Princes street
 Provident Clerks', W. C. Lowne, Rampt. Horse st
 Provident, W. Mayhew, King street
 Queen, G. H. Murrell, 5 Bank street
 Railway Accident, H. Youngman, Post Office st
 Reliance & East of England, T. Thirtle
 Rock, Taylor and Son, St. Giles' street
 Royal Exchange, W. Newton, Tombland
 Royal Farmers', Bateman & Son, Gildengate st
 Royal Fire, C.B. Daveney, and Henry Ludlow
 St. George's, B. Bateman, Saint Stephen's street
 Scottish Equitable, R. J. Flowerdew, Bank chmbrs
 Scottish Provident, H. M. Vyall, 3 Carlton terrace
 Scottish Union, W.A. Turner and H. Youngman
 Star, J. W. Dowson and B. T. Sharpe

Suffolk Alliance, C. W. Millard, Princes street
 Sun, J. W. Dowson
 United Kingdom, J. M. Harbord, St. Giles' st
 Westminster, W. Sadd and J. M. Harbord
 World, J. T. Highland, and O. D. Ray
 Yorkshire, J. E. Watson
FISH CURERS.
 Appleton J. & W., Gildengat
 King A. R., City road
 Laws John, Fishmarket
FISHMONGERS.
 (* Game Dealers also.)
 Andrews C., St. Bendt. st
 Annison W., St. Bendt. st
 Appleton J. & W., Gildengat
 Angood H., Rising Sun ln
 *Bagshaw G., Coslany st
 *Bagshaw J., St. Spn's. st
 *Barnard Mrs, Wensum st Bates J., Magdalen street
 Betts J., Magdalen street
 Blyth J. N., Fishmarket
 Brown T., Red Lion street
 Campling J., Magdalen st
 Church Thomas, Cowgate
 Clayton G., Ramp. Horse st
 Codling Rt., Gildengate st
 *Colman Charles, Fishmkt
 Dack J., Fishgate street
 Engall T., Botolph street
 Farrer Thomas, Ber street
 *George Rt., St. Bendt. st
 Grand J., Fishmarket
 Haines W. C., Magdalen st
 Hare Wm., Butchery
 Harrell J., Magdalen st
 *Jay Charles, Fishmarket
 Laws John, Fishmarket
 Marshall Robert, Fishmkt
 *Moy George, Fishmarket
 *Parker Joshua, Fishmkt
 *Parker T., St. Stepn's st
 *Paul Charles J., Ber st
 *Pratt William, Fishmkt
 Seaman S., Saint James' st
 Stribbling F., Union'st
 Taney W., Timberhill
 Trory Wm., Fishmarket
 Tuffield W., St. Mary's pln
 *Weavers & Son, Fishmkt
 White Robert, St. Aug. st
FRENCH POLISHERS.
 Alderman Henry, Ber st
 Breeze E., Russell street
 Bussey T., Clement's court
 Clapham W., St. Stephen's Back street
 Fenn John, Ber street
 Hutchin Wm., Hall road

Mingay F., Crook's place
 Spalding J., St. Andw's. hl FRUITERS.
 (See Greengrocers, &c.)
FURNITURE BROKRS.
 Abel G., Fountain place
 Archer Henry, Ber street
 Barker John, Dereham rd
 Boast G., Gildengate st
 Boulton E., St. Benedt. st
 Crowfoot William, Ber st
 Cubitt T., Magdalen street
 Forster T., W. Pottergt. st
 Golding E., St. Benedt. st
 Hagon William, Oak st
 Hood Eliza H., Union pl
 Jacobs W. & A., Haymkt
 Kemp J., St. Benedict st
 Larkman Hy., St. Benedt. st
 Lines Philip, Globe street
 Martin Robert, Quay side
 Moll Richd., St. John's st
 Newby James, Ber street
 Penton Jas., Chapelfield rd
 Plumstead S. J., Coslany st
 Richards Solomon, Ber st
 Rudd Thomas, Ber street
 Scott G. J., Timberhill
 Scott W. J., Colegate st
 Seaman C. J., St. James' st
 Skipper Elizabeth, Ber st
 Stimpson James, Orford hl Sutton Robt., Magdalen st
 Tamm S. W., St. Bendt. st
 Townshend C., Palace pln
 Tye Geo., Charing cross
 Vincent C., St. Benedt. st
 Vincent W., St. Gregory's Church alley
 Wade James, Fishgate st
 White W., St. Greg's. alley
FURRIERS.
 Claxton George and Co., St. George's plain Claxton William, Fishgt. st
 Edwards Miss, Castle mdw
 Felstead Mrs, Castle mdw
 Fox Joel, 27 London st
 Kett W. W., 2 London st
 Potter T. & Co., The Walk
 Trowse Charles, Julian st
GARDENERS.
 (See also Nurserymen.)
 Allen Frs., Dereham road
 Allen Robert, Surrey road
 Bennett J., Infirmary rd
 Bidwell J., St. Faith's ln
 Booty Edw., Silver road
 Booty J., St. Stephen's rd
 Carter Jno., New Catton
 Chapman L., Dereham rd
 Coe Thomas, Unthamk rd
 Cook John, Bishopgate st

Cork Jno., Brunswick rd
 Drane Cphr., W. Wymer st
 Ellis Edw., Chatham st
 Elmer John, Lower Close
 Frost Hez., Lower Close
 Green John, Park lane
 Greenacre J. M., Nelson st
 Haywood J., Trowse Mgt
 Howes J., Magdalen st
 Howes J. H., Queen street
 Jay Benj., Lower Close
 Killenback H., Bull close rd
 Mansfield J., Old Lakenhm
 Moore J., Thorpe hamlet
 Moore Rt., Bishopgate st
 Mundy Wm., Lower Close
 Nunn J., St. Augustine st
 Parfitt E., Unthanks road
 Parfitt George, Sussex st
 Roper Aaron, Dereham rd
 Smith Fredk., New Catton
 Smith Robert, New Catton
 Smith William, Albert st
 Soons J., St. Augustine st
 Woolbright Rt., Bishop st
GAS FITTERS.

Bishop John, Elm hill
 Campling Ts., Coslany st
 Hall James, Magdalen st
 Howlett & Co., 6 Haymkt
 Jones Wm., St. Bendct. st
 Land Wm., St. Peter's st
 Leech G., Lower Goat ln
 Pank Abm., Bedford st
 Pank J. J., Colegate st
 Potter Edmund, Gun ln
 Say Thos., St. Giles' st
 Self Thomas, Pottergate st
GINGER BEER, &c., MAKERS.

Creed James, Colegate st
 Drake John, Ber street
 Hunt Jas., St. Stephen's st
 Moore & Son, (soda water,
 &c.) Wounded Hart yard
 Smith W. R., Palace st
GLASS, CHINA AND EARTHENWR. DLRS.
 Baker Wm., Dereham rd
 Boast C., Gildengate st
 Boulton E., St. Benedt. st
 Downing Joseph, The Walk
 Dye Mary and Margaret,
 Back of the Inns
 Gifford S., St. Benedict st
 Gill John, St. Giles' street
 Hansell Sarah, St. Aug's. st
 Hardymont J., St. Benedt. st
 Jacobs W. & A., Haymrkt
 Lovick & Co., St. Andw's. st
 Meadows C., Magdalen st
 Murrell J., Chapelfield rd
 Onley W. D., Brazen drs. rd

Smith W., Little Orford st
 Watson William, Ber st
 Williams I., Wastlegate st
 Wimperis Wm., Palace st
 Yates Charles, Davey pl
GLASS STAINERS.
 Cullyer W. F., Willow ln
 King J. & J., Princes st
GLOVERS.

(See also Hosiery, &c.)

Asker Geo., 20 The Walk
 Bishop George, 5 Haymkt
 Boughen Wm., London st
 Boughton Saml., Orford hl
 Mills C., Golden Ball st
 Oxley Rd., 6 London st
 Page Joseph, 13 Briggs st
 Riches John, Golden Bl. st
 Seager Eliz., St. John's st
 Theobald & Son, London st
 Tomlinson & Co., Castle st
GREENGROCERS.

(See also Gardeners.)

Ashley John, Thorn lane
 Baldry J., St. Stephen's st
 Barnes Rt., Foundry Bldg
 Batchelder T. J., Ber st
 Batley Rd., St. Cath's. pln
 Bird J., Wastlegate street
 Blyth Sarah, Coslany st
 Bowhill Richd., Coslany st
 Browes J., St. Benedict st
 Brown Jas., Magdalen st
 Bullard Robert, Swan ln
 Carter Henry, Cowgate st
 Chapman J., Union street
 Crosskill Robert, Bridge st
 Dady Dl., St. Stephen's st
 Denny John, Union street
 Darrant Michael, King st
 Engall T., Lr. Westwick st
 Fitt Ann, Botolph street
 Folkard G., Vauxhall st
 Francis Thos., Timberhill
 Fuller William, Ber street
 Gardiner M., St. Bendt. st
 Gay Samuel, Coslany st
 Hansell W., Chapel st, Upl
 Harmer J., Red Lion st
 Howes Jas. H., Queen st
 Jermy J., Bedford street
 King James, Union street
 Leaman G., Magdalen st
 Maris William, Waterloo
 Meadows J., Coslany st
 Mingay Fredk., Crook's pl
 Mitchell J., Timberhill
 Newton A., St. Stepn's. st
 Newton William, Swan ln
 Nobbs Edward, Oak street
 Parr James, Rose lane
 Peed Fredk., St. Aug's. st
 Petchell Rd., St. Bendt. st

Phillips Thomas, Finket st
 Pitcher Henry, Rose lane
 Rope Wm., Rising Sun ln
 St. Quintin R. W., King st
 Salmon John, King street
 Savory David, Rupert st
 Slipper E. Southwell st
 Smith E., Up. St. Giles' st
 Stolham B., Southwell st
 Stribling Fredk., Union st
 Tattam Richard, Lady's ln
 Taylor George, Rose lane
 Thorn W., Magdalen st
 Trollop George, Hall road
 Trory William, Bethel st
 Turner Wm., Wastlegt. st
 White Richard, Lady's ln
 Wild Thomas, Heigham pl
 Wilson Sarah, Barrack st
 Woods Wm., Union street
 Yaxley Thos., Cross st, Upl
GROCERS & TEADLRS.

* Wholesale and Retail.

(See also Shopkeepers.)

Absolon E. N., Wensum st
 Aldrich J., W. Pottergt. st
 Avey Thomas, Ber street
 *Back & Co., 3 Haymarkt
 *Banham F. J., Haymkt
 Barrow Hy., White Lion st
 *Beecheno F. R., London st
 *Belding W., Magdalen st
 Bennett Wm., Timberhill
 Betts Henry, Timberhill
 Bexfield Richd., Trory st
 *Bream and Bennett, St.
 Peter's street

Brook T. V., St. Peter's st
 Brown Hy., 14 The Walk
 Brown Isaac, Tinkler's ln
 *Browne S., Palace plain
 *Bugden T. & E., Muspole st
 Bunting John, Bedford st
 *Butcher Robert and Nephew, Bank plain
 Cannell J., St. Benedict st
 Carver R., Southwell road
 Caston J., St. Benedict st
 Candler G., White Lion st
 Chamberlin J., Post Off. st
 Clarke Sarah, Ber street
 Coe Edw., Lower Goat ln
 Co-operative Stores, Ber street, Oak st, &c. &c.
 *Coman Hy., St. Bendt. st
 *Copeman & Sons, The Wlk
 *Dakin & Co., Davey pl
 Dawson G., St. Benedt. st
 Ducker J. F., L. Westwick st
 Dunham Geo., Grove pl
 Durrant Henry, Ber street
 Durrant Rt., Ch. st., St. Miles
 Ellison J. S., Dove street

*Fisher J., St. Stephen's st
 *Fisher Rt., Brdg. st., St. G
 Fitch Charles, Coslany st
 Forster T., W. Pottergt. st
 Foster Joseph, Sussex st
 *Freeman C. R. St. Peter's st
 *Freeman E. J., London st
 *Freeman Hy., St. Peter's st
 Galey Thos., St. Bendt. st
 Garnham W. H., Hall rd
 Gill John, Coslany street
 Goggs W. D., U. St. Giles' st
 *Goldsmith J., St. Stepn's st Hall Wm., Unthanks road
 Halls J., Somerleyton st
 *Hardy J., Rampant H. st
 Henney C., Eagle street
 Herring Benj., Cowgate st Hill Elric, Gildengate and Heigham street, &c.
 Hill John, Cowgate street
 Howes A. & Son, Giles' hill
 Huddleston W., St. Stpn's st
 *Hutton John, Briggs st
 Jermy George, Ber st
 *Kerrison & Co., Ber st
 King Russell, King st, Cpl
 *Ladyman & Co., The Walk
 Lake Wm., St. Stephen's st
 *Lambert F., Lr. Goat ln
 Lammas Bros., The Walk
 Large Chas., Bishopgt. st
 Large John, Julian st
 Mann Sl., Upr. Surrey st
 Miles John, Alma street
 Money James, Bethel st
 Morter Robert, Norfolk st
 Muskett Jas., Dereham rd
 Mutimer Samuel, Oak st
 Neale J. F., St. Andw's. pln
 *Newson & Co., Magdln. st
 Nightingale W., Botolph st
 Norton Robt., Magdalen st
 Parker Frederick, Ber st
 Parker Wm., Dereham rd
 *Pratt A., Wensum street
 Pulham Wm., Coslany st
 Pye W. M., St. Augustine st
 Randall Rd., Magdalen st
 Reynolds J. J., Norfolk st
 Rix Charles E., Oak st
 Rouse M. G., St. Stephn's. st
 Scrutton Henry, Bethel st
 Seaman Rd., Gildengate st
 Sewell C., Lower Goat ln
 Simpson Rt. L., Magdln. st
 Smith John, Timber hill
 Snelling T., Magdalen st
 Springall Jas., Tombland
 Stockings M. B., St. Stpn's. st
 *Taylor & Co., Old Haymkt
 Thompson H. C., Magdln. st
 Thompson T. W., City rd

Thurston Brs. St. Bendet. st
 Tidd Robert, Oak street
 Todd W. H., St. Cathn's. pln
 Turner S., West Pottergt.
 Wade Charles, Rupert st
 Websdale James, King st
 Whitrick J., West Pottergt
 Wild Edward, Haymarket
 Wilkin Chas., Botolph st
 Williams J., Bedford st
 Williams J. H., Duke st
 Woolbright B. 3 Briggs st
 GUN MAKERS, &c.

Cartwright Wm., Rampant
 Horse street

Jefferies G., Golden Ball st
 GUTTAPERCHADLRS.
 Dicks R. & J., St. Stepn's. st
 Shalders J., Redwell st
 Snelling Wm., Orford hill
 HABERDASHERS.

(See also Hosiers.)

Blackburn E., St. Cath's. pln
 Brennan Eliz., London st
 Denmark H. W., Magdn. st
 Fox Hugh, St. Stphn's. st
 Gray Edward, Tombland
 Green Wm., Magdalen st
 Herring Benj., Cowgt. st
 Hunt & Godfrey, London st
 King & Seppings, Magdln. st
 Lovett H., St. Stephen's st
 Miller A., St. Cathne's. pln
 Moore & Co., St. Giles' st
 Rump J., 8 Haymarket
 Smith E., Lower Goat ln
 Warman Z. W., Bedford st
 White A. & D., London st
 Wills G. E., Heigham st
 HACKNEY MASTERS.
 (See Coach, &c., Letters.)

HAIRDRESSERS

And Perfumers.

Allen Wm., Magdalen st
 Amiss Stephen, Oak st
 Armes J. J., St. Giles' st
 Buttifant D., Gldn. Ball st
 Craske Henry, Cobourg st
 Crotch M., Cowgate st
 Curtis John, St. Peter st
 Dew B. E., jun., Butchery
 Dunn S., Magdalen street
 Edwards E. M., London st
 Edwards M., Red Lion st
 Gedge Wm. J., King st
 Gerard W. S., Botolph st
 Girdlestone R., Upper St.
 Giles' street
 Gray James, Bethel street
 Gray John, Rose lane
 Hallows John, Angel st
 Harpley Thos., Cowgt. st
 Hartley Wm., Litt. Orford st

Holmes Robert, Palace pln
 Kemp G. P., Exchange st
 Lincoln Miles, Union st
 Lincoln Morris, 21 Row
 Lofty James, Colegate st
 Marris W., St. Benedict st
 Moore James, Ber street
 Moore I., West Pottergt. st
 Nuce Wm., Lr. King st
 Nunn J., St. Augustine st
 Nunn James, Dereham rd
 Parnell W. A., St. Mary's. pln
 Plumstead F., Magdln. st
 Plumstead Rt. Wensum st
 Plumstead R., jun. Julian st
 Powell J., St. Benedict st
 Randall T., Vauxhall road
 Ray J. A., Coslany street
 Riches Edw., Bedford st
 Riches J., Golden Ball st
 Riches Robert, Timberhill
 Seager Robert, Ber street
 Spink J., St. Augustine st
 Stigles Daniel, Fishgate s
 Sword J., jun., Rose lane
 Thorpe Wm. St. Stphn's. st
 Tyzack W. V., London st
 Wade Robert, Bank street
 Ward C. P., White Lion st
 Wilding Hy., St. Stepn's. st

HAIR-SEATING

And Curled Hair Mfrs.

Burrell John, Havelock st
 Finch Wm., Weavers' ln
 Gunton Thomas, Oak st
 HARDWARE DEALERS

See Cutlers & Ironmngrs.

HATTERS.

Bayes W. A., Market place
 Beasley & Son, 11 London st
 Bond Wm., 30 London st
 Boughen W., 5 London st
 Browne and Barker, 10
 London street

Downes & Co., London st
 Haldenstein P., Queen st
 Jennings T., Magdalen st
 Livock W. T., London st
 Mallett & Co., 2 London st
 Potter & Co., 5 The Walk
 Todd W. A., 16 London st
 Tomlinson & Co., Castle st
 Vincent James, Fye bridge
 Wells T., St. Greg's. Ch. alley

HORSE BREAKERS.

Abel John, Chapelfld. rd
 Andrews W., Wastlegt. st
 Leman W., Crescent pl
 Pratt Rd. J., Northmbd. st
 Steel Wm., St. Giles' rd

HORSE DEALERS.

Abel J., Chapelfield road
 Andrews W., Wastlegt. st

Jolly Henry, Golding st
Palmer Ts., Upr. Surrey st
Robinson J., Chapelfd. rd
HOSIERS.

See Haberdashers & Linen Drapers.

Asknew G., 20 The Walk
Boughen Wm., London st
Browne & Barker, London st
Gray Edward, Tomblond
Hall & Iloft, St. Stepn's. st
Kent Henry, London st
Lane Jph., All Saints' grn
Oxley Richd., 6 London st
Page Joseph, 13 Briggs st
Rump J., 8 Haymarket
Skelton J. (manufacturer)

St. James' Factory
Theobald & Son, London st
Tomlinson & Co., Castle st
Wilson Rt., St. Benedict st
HOT PRESSERS.

Barker T., Rosemary lane
Bayfield W.H., Gildengt. st
Harper J., Bridge st. St. G.
Howes Thomas, Coslany st
Lloyd & Dawson, Colegt. st
Metcalf H. & J., Colegt. st
Stark & Co., Duke's palace
Willett & Co., Pottergt. st
HOTELS, INNS, AND TAVERNS.

Adam & Eve. Eliz. Howe,
Tabernacle street
Adelaide Tav., T. Madge,
Pitt street
Adelphi, Mary C. Land,
White Lion street
Albert Tavern, W. Clarke,
Albert street
Albert, W. Coleman, Ber st
Albion, Sarah English,
Market place
All Saints' Tavern, Wm.
Lowe, All Saints' green
Allies, Robert Thompson,
Bedford street
Alma Tavern, Ed. Nichols,
Cow hill [road
Anchor, S. Fletcher, Silver
Anchor, Charles Osborne,
Ten Bell lane
Anchor, T. Betts, Surrey st
Anchor of Hope, C. Sparrow, Bracondale
Angel, W. Harris, Trowse
Millgate
Angel, Robt. Moss, Oak st
Angel, C. Dover, Nw Catton
Artichoke, J. Tibbenham,
Magdalen street
Bakers' Arms, A. Myhill,
Palace plain

Bakers' Arms, W. Fulcher,
Gashouse hill
Bakers' Arms, J. S. Betts,
Coslany street
Balloon, E. Crowe, Lower
Westwick street
Bank Tavern, W. Surflin,
Bank street
Barn Tavern, J. Coldham,
Barn road
Bartholomew Tavern, J.
Lait, Thorn lane
Bath House, S. Hughes,
Oak street
Bear Inn, Rt. Ames, Mkt pl
Bear and Staff, J. Thompson, Fisher's lane
Beehive, Wm. Anthony,
St. Peter's street
Beehive, J. Gearing, St.
Stephen's street
Beehive, J. Rackham, St.
Benedict street
Beehive, W. D. Green, St.
Paul's plain [ford hill
Bell Hotel, B. Smith, Or-
Bess of Bedlam, Js. Parker,
Oak street [King st
Bird-in-Hand, W. Merrall,
Bird-in-Hand, Wm. James Taylor, New Catton
Bird-in-Hand, A. Blyth,
Barrack street
Black Boys, Colegate st
Black Chequers, Stephen
Howard, Cowgate
Black Eagle, Chas. Wade,
Rupert street
Black Horse, King street
Black Horse, J. Aylmer,
Wensum street
Black Horse, D. Ransom,
Heigham
Black Horse, S. P. Wells,
St. Giles' street
Black Horse, T. Riches,
St. Giles' road
Black Prince, T. Goddard,
Upper Walk
Black Swan, J. White, St.
Peter's street
Boar's Head Hotel, G.
Figg, Surrey street
Bolingbroke's Stores, J.
King, Bank plain
Bowling-green Tap, J.
Potter, Theatre street
Brazen Doors, J. Brighton,
Lame Dog lane
Bricklayers' Arms, G. Fuller, Union street
Bricklayers' Arms, David
Sadd, Bull's close

Bricklayers' Arms, G. J.
Thompson, Cattle mkt
Bridge House, Robt. Tid-man, Bishop's bridge
British Lion, T. Clarke,
Cobourg st [King st
British Lion, W. Ellison,
Buff Coat Inn, Jph. Daniels,
Buffcoat lane
Bull, J. Shorten, Magdln. st
Bull, Rt. Parkerson, Bull cl
Bull, D. Thornton, Saint
Stephen's street
Bull & Butcher, S. Colby,
St. Giles' hill [Ber st
Bull's Head, Wm. Blyth,
Butchers' Arms, Elizabeth
Legood, Ber street
Bushel, J. Bullock, Saint
Augustine's street
Cabinet Makers' Arms, B.
Strange, Redwell street
Cambridge (The), William
Campling, Haymarket
Canteen, G. Thompson,
Barracks
Canterbury Hall, T. Foul-sham, Wastlegate street Cardinal's Cap, G. Walker,
St. Benedict street
Carpenter's Arms, Henry
Blackburn, Thorn lane
Castle Hotel, Mrs Taylor, Castle hill
Castle Tavern, J. Walker,
Spitalfields
Cat and Fiddle, A. Blythe,
Magdalen street
Catherine Wheel, Robert
Felstead, St. Augustn. st
Cattle Market, Hy. Crickmore, Cattle market Cellar House, My. Cubitt,
King street
Cellar House, J. Fish, Eaton
Do., J. Matthews, Barrk. st
Do., S. Mitson, Bridge st
Champion, Sarah Burnard,
Chapelfield road
Cherry Tree, J.N. Browne,
Cherry street
Church Style, G. Easto,
St. Peter's street
Cinder Ovens, Henry Williams, King street
City Arms, C. Widdows,
St. Andrew's plain
City of Norwich, W. B.
Blackburn, St. Stepn's. pln
Club House, J. D. Calton,
Old Post Office yard
Clarence Harbour, Chas.
Smithy, Thorpe hamlet

- Coach & Horses, William Hales, Union street
 Coach and Horses, Robert Roll, Red Lion street
 Coach and Horses, J. Cattermole, Thorpe hamlet
 Coach & Horses, E. Daines, Bethel street
 Coach Makers' Arms, Jas. Thurling, St. Stephn's rd
 Coach Makers' Arms, Rt. Parfitt, Bethel street
 Cock, S. Battrum, Lakenham
 Cock, E. Holmes, King st
 Cock, G. Peacock, Upper St. Giles' street
 Compasses, Philip Pearce, Upper King street
 Coopers' Arms, Hy. Hubbard, Princes street
 Cork Cutters' Arms, J. Robinson, Bridge st St G.
 Corn Exchange Tav., R. A. Brown, Little London st
 Corn Exchange, C. Moore, Bridge st, St. George's
 Corn Exch. Vaults, Barwell & Son, Post office st
 Cottage, Edw. Waterton, Silver road
 Cow & Hare, Sar. Armes, Heigham street
 Cricketers' Arms, R. Wood, Red Lion street
 Crocodile, Wm. Graves, Heigham street
 Crooked Billet, J. Brown, Heigham street
 Cross Keys, John Abbs, Magdalen street
 Crown Inn, J. Middleton, Bridge street, St. Geo's
 Crown Inn, Edward Wigg, St. Benedict street [hill
 Crown, G. Townsend, Elm
 Crown & Angel, M. Daynes, St. Stephen's street
 Crown & Anchor, R. Quantrell, Gildengate street
 Crystal Palace, J. Barker, Dereham road
 Curriers' Arms, G. T. Bull, Union street
 Curriers' Arms, D. Vincent, St. Stephens' street
 Curriers' Arms, J. Rouse, St. Giles' street
 Dawson's Chop House, W. Dawson, Upper Walk
 Dial, J. Burdett, Derehm. rd
 Dog, J. Wigger, St. Pl's. pln
 Dolphin, T. Maxwell, Upr. Heigham
 Dolphin, J. Weeks, Coslany street
 Dove, Sus. Roll, Muspole st
 Dove, G. Bales, St. Jas. st
 Dove, W. Senior, Lower Westwick street
 Drum, E. Holmes, Lower Westwick street
 Duke of Norfolk, J. Middleton, Church path
 Duke of Marlborough, H. Howard, Fishgate street
 Duke of Sussex, J. Stangroom, Botolph street
 Duke of Wellington, E. Pitt, Wellington lane
 Duke of Wellington, S. Mitchell, Chapel st, Upl
 Duke of Wellington, J. Self, St. Stephen's street
 Duke of York, J. Pinnoek, Thorpe Hamlet
 Duke's Palace, J. Snowling, Duke street
 Duke's Tavern, C. Franklin, Tombland
 Duncan Arms, W. Burrows, Magdalen street
 Dun Cow, S. Smith, Oak st
 Dun Cow, —, Pockthorpe
 Dyers' Arms, S. Freeman, Quay side
 Eagle, Susan Minns, St. Gregory's Church alley
 Eagle, C. High, Newmarket road
 Eagle Tavern, Geo. High, West Pottergate street
 Eagle Tavern, W. J. Bunting, Lower Westwick st
 Eagle & Child, J. Phillips, Golden Ball street
 Earl of Leicester, W. M. Howard, Brazen doors rd
 Earl of Leicester, T. Riches, Dereham road
 East-end Retreat, W. Moy, Thorpe hamlet
 Eastern Counties' Railway Tavern, E. Warnes, Foundry bridge
 Eastern Union Railway Tav. Wilde, St. Stephen's rd
 Eaton Cottage, C. Read, Mount Pleasant
 Eight Ringers, T. Cunningham, Coslany st
 Elephant, H. Eaton, Magdalen street
 Elephant and Castle, G. Lanham, King street
 Elm Tavern, W. Cadney, Princes street
 Elm Tavern, Rt. Spencer, Magdalen street
 Engineers' Tavern, Wm. Arthur, Julian street
 Exchange Hotel, (temp.) F. Colsey, Exchange st
 Excise Coffee House, Richard Plane, Lr. Goat lane
 Exhibition, Wm. Tupman, Ber street
 Express Train, W. P. Hatch, Rose lane
 Farriers' Arms, W. Nichols, Pottergate street
 Fishmongers' Arms. W. Townshend, Butchery
 Fleece Inn, J. Currie, Bridewell alley
 Fleckered Bull, J. Barrett, Ber street
 Flower-in-Hand, T. Delph, Pitt street
 Flying Dutchman, Mrs Hazlewood, Trafalgar st
 Fortune of War, E. Gibson, Calvert street
 Foundry Bridge Tav., Amy Whalley, Foundry Bdg
 Fountain, J. Debbage, St. Benedict street
 Fox & Hounds, D. Bancalari, Ber street
 Freemasons' Arms, Robert Carver, Hall road
 Free Trade Tavern, Joseph Brook, William street
 Free Trade Tavern, Wm. London, Rose lane
 French Horn, T. Betts, Bedford street
 Gardeners' Arms, F. Cooper, Timberhill
 Gardeners' Arms, P. Chapman, Tinkler's lane
 George Inn, H. Warner, Haymarket
 George Inn, J. Woodhouse, St. Stephen's street
 George IV., J. Deeks, Ber st
 George IV., Charles Miller, Chapel street
 Gibraltar, A. F. Wills, Upper Heigham
 Gin Shop, Mrs Fitt, Castle Meadow
 Globe Inn, Philip Lines, Globe street
 Globe Tavern, J. J. Bacon, Globe lane
 Golden Can, W. Flaxman, Broad st. St. George's
 Golden Can, J. Briggs, Gildengate street

Golden Cross, T.D. Dunch, Charing cross	Jolly Farmers, Robt. Pow- ley, Castle hill	Lord Howe, G. J. Bell, St. Benedict street
Golden Dog, W.C. Haines, Magdalen street	Jolly Farmers, G. Palmer, Charing cross	Lord John Russell, C. A. Betts, Dereham road
Golden Fleece, Fishgate	Jolly Gardeners, R. Mack- ley, Infirmary road	Lord Nelson, J. Daynes, Trafalgar street
Golden Lion, J. Bloyce, St. John's st	Jolly Gardeners, T. E. Stockwell, Brunswick st	Lord Nelson, J. Munford, Nelson street
Golden Lion, E. Stone, King street	Jolly Hatters, R. Minns, Cowgate	Lord Nelson, E. Smith, West Pottergate
Golden Wheat Sheaf, A.D. Lane, St. Stephen's st	Jolly Topers, J. F. Calver, Oak street	Lord Nelson, J. Manning, Upper Walk
Goose and Gridiron, J. Butcher, Lit. Orford st	Jubilee, R. Byles, Ber st	Lord Nelson, Sarah Watts, Dereham road
Grapes, J. Hammond, Red Lion street	Keel & Wherry, J. Cooper, King street	Lord Raglan, James Balls, Spitalfields
Grapes Hotel, J. Clarke, St. Giles' street	Kett's Castle, John Watts, Spitalfields	Magpie, J. Dunthorne, St. Augustine's gate
Green Dragon, T. T. Ro- binson, Lit. London st	Kimberley Arms, J. Hall, Kimberley street	Maid's Head, W. Webster, Wensum street
Green Man, W. Francis, King street	King's Arms, Mrs. E. Yax- ley, Botolph street	Mariners' Arms, R. Staf- ford, Mariner's lane
Greenhill Gardens, Susan Winter, St. Augustine's	King's Arms, R. Bray, Ber street	Marquis of Granby, J. Pux- ley, Bishopgate street
Greyhound, John Nichols, Ber street	King's Arms, M.A. Smith, Oak street	Marquis of Granby, J. Mackley, Barrack street
Greyhound, Eliz. Porter, Rampant Horse street	King's Arms, Hy. James, Bishop's bridge	Marquis of Lothian, H. Harbord, Lothian st
Guildhall, Richard Hanks, Market place	King's Arms, J. Jolly, Hall road	Masonic Tavern, C. Carr, Elm hill
Half Moon, Richard Bra- zell, Upper Walk	King's Arms, F. H. Span- ton, Ber street	Mitre, R. Ellis, Briggs st
Half Moon, W. Pretty, Dereham road	King's Arms, Jas. Spratt, Bethel street	Moon and Stars, Mary A. Williams, Duke street
Hampshire Hog, W. Cut- ting, St. Swithin's Ch. alley	King's Head, J. Middle- ton, Magdalen street	Morgan's Cellar House, J. Cooper, King street
Heart's Ease, B. Sayer, Plumstead road	King's Head, Mary Dough- ty, Davey place	Morning Star, Dd. Storey, Pottergate street
Hen and Chickens, L. Jef- fries, St. Mary's plain	King's Head, J. Rodwell, Gildengate street	Napier Tavern, Ann Hen- dry, Cattle market
Hoop Inn, J. Amies, St. Stephen's road	King's Head, W. Shingles, Upper St. Giles' street	Nelson's Monument, B. Smith, King street
Hope Brewery, A. Burgess, St. Saviour's lane	Lamb, R. Bailey, Haymkt	Nelson Tavern, T. B. Cos- grove, Timberhill
Hope Tavern, T. Middle- ton, Calvert street	Lamb, Rbt. Nixon, Eaton	Nelson Tavern, Frederick Staff, Bedford street
Hop Pole, H. Shaw, St. Faith's lane	Lame Dog, J. Sloper, Lame Dog road	New Brewery, W. Cun- nington, Lr. Westwick st
Horse Barracks, W. Petch, Barrack street	Light Horseman, W. Tuffs, Botolph street	New Brewery, Chas. Goat, Barrack street
Hot Pressers' Arms, Robt. Rose, Coslany street	Lily, Mary A. Clarke, Ber st	New City, B. Clover, King street, Crook's place
Jack of Newbury, J. Up- croft, Magdalen street	Lion and Castle, Benjamin Bully, Timberhill	New Mills, Robert Lark- man, Lower Westwick st
John Bull, William Lock, Union street	Little Buck, W. Moore, Oak street	Norfolk Hotel, Anne Har- ris, St. Giles' street
Jolly Brewers, T. Cubitt, Magdalen street	Little Tuns, F. Ball, Cha- pelfield road	Norfolk and Norwich Chop House, G. Bloomfield, Market place
Jolly Butchers, J. Dam- brock, Ber street	Lock & Key, M. Bell, Ber st	Norfolk Railway House, R. S. Nash, Foundry Bridge
Jolly Dealers, J. Thorne, Cattle market	Locomotive, Robert Mor- ter, Norfolk street	Norfolk Tavern, Robert Morter, Norfolk street
Jolly Drovers, W. Mason, Ber street	London Coffee House, T. Sapey, Rampt. Horse st
	London Tavern, W. Smith, Saint Andrew's hill
	Lord Camden, Rbt. Bruff, Charing cross

- Norwich Arms, S. Pegg,
 Ber street
 Norwich Port, W. Balls,
 King street
 Nursery Tavern, B. Lamb,
 Havelock street
 Oak Shades, Rebecca Nash,
 Lower Goat lane
 Odd Fellow's Arms, J.
 Barber, Ber street
 Old Barge, T. L. Nockolds,
 King street
 Old Friends, Ber street
 Old Lobster, J. Amies,
 Lobster lane
 Old Music House, E. Oliver, King street
 Orchard Tavern, Robert
 Cooper, St. Faith's lane
 Ostrich, R. B. Towler,
 Spitalfields
 Oxford, J. F. Fenn, Up. Wlk
 Oxford Tavern, P. M. Wells,
 Oxford street
 Paul Pry, W. Paston, St.
 Giles' hill
 Peacock, J. Colman, St.
 Stephen's plain
 Perseverance Tavern, L.
 Dawes, William street
 Pheasant Cock, J. Blake,
 St. Catherine's plain
 Phoenix Brewery, J. M.
 Hubbard, Magdalen st
 Pine Apple, C. Hudson,
 St. Martin's lane
 Pine Apple, W. Jarvis,
 Trowse Millgate
 Plasterers' Arms, L. Burrowes, Cowgate street
 Plough, M. Coe, Cattle Mkt
 Plough, W. Cooper, St.
 Benedict street
 Plumbers' Arms, J. Hewing, Princes street Pope's Head, Robert Loveday, Saint Peter's street
 Portland Arms, A. Brett,
 Church path
 Post Office Tavern, E. Thurlow, Post Office street
 Prince of Denmark, J. Pratt
 Sprowston road
 Prince of Wales, M. Lambert, Cowgate street
 Prince of Wales, W. Delph, jun., St. Augustine st
 Prince of Wales, J. Canner,
 St. Benedict street
 Prospect House, W. Thurlow, Philadelphia
 Queen Anne, E. Raven,
 Church street, St. Miles'
- Queen's Arms, J. Minns,
 Magdalen street
 Queen Caroline, W. Briggs,
 Oak street
 Queen's Head, Isaac Fox,
 Upper St. Giles' street
 Queen's Head, W. Love,
 Cowgate street
 Queen of Hungary, J. W.
 Taylor, St. Benedict st
 Queen Victoria, J. Faller, Adelaide street
 Railway Inn, J. Wilson,
 Trowse Millgate
 Railway & Comrel. Hotel,
 J. Thursby, St. Giles' st
 Rainbow, W. Green, King st
 Rainbow, William Hayne,
 Holl's lane
 Rampant Horse Hotel, M.
 Louth, Rampt. Horse st
 Rampant Horse, J. Tench,
 Fishgate street
 Raven, D. Rowland, King st
 Red Cow, A. G. Barnard,
 Cow hill
 Red House, C. Lake, Tim-berhill street
 Red Lion, J. Fletcher,
 Bridge st, St. Andrew's
 Red Lion, W. Gardiner,
 London street
 Red Lion, F. W. Press,
 Magdalen street
 Red Lion, G. Potter, Mag. st
 Red Lion, S. P. Boden,
 Bishopgate street
 Red Lion, J. Stannard,
 Eaton
 Red Rose, E. Burgess,
 Back of the Inns
 Reindeer, J. Kerridge,
 Dereham road
 Ribs of Beef, J. Ecclestone
 Wensum street
 Richmond Tav., P. Young,
 Bracondale
 Rifleman, J. Campling,
 Cross lane
 Rising Sun, John Abel,
 Chapelfield road
 Rising Sun, J. G. Burton,
 Rising Sun lane
 Rising Sun, W. Playford,
 Golden Ball street
 Robin Hood, Rt. Gosling,
 Dereham road
 Roebuck, J. Saddler, Ch. pth
 Rope Makers' Arms, Wm.
 Quantrell, L. Hellesdn. rd
 Rose, C. Anderson, Saint
 Stephen's street
 Rose, H. Hogg, Magdn. st
- Rose, Benj. Fearnside, Palace plain
 Rose, D. Gent, St. Aug's. st
 Rose, R. Burrell, Oak st
 Rose, H. Pyle, King street
 Rose, R. Wordingham, St.
 Catherine's plain
 Rose Tavern, R. Nichols, do
 Rose and Crown, R. Gibbs,
 Bishopgate street
 Rose and Thistle, J. Matthews, Barn road
 Rose Valley, Wm. Hall,
 Unthanks road
 Rosemary, H. Cartwright,
 Rosemary lane
 Royal Exchange, J. Cubitt,
 Julian street
 Royal Exchange, G. Mal-lows, Upper Walk
 Royal Hotel, Geo. States,
 The Walk
 Royal Hotel Tap, E. Provart, Back of the Inns
 Royal Oak, M. A. Brown,
 St. Augustine street
 Royal Oak, J. Nockall,
 Chapel street
 Royal Oak, W. Webster,
 Ber street
 Royal Standard, W. Moore,
 Ber street
 Royal Standard, A. Kemp,
 Chapel street
 Royal Victoria, H. Thurlow,
 Saint Stephen's road
 Saracen's Head, J. Gilden,
 West Pottergate street
 Saracen's Head, J. Scowen,
 Saint Giles' street
 Sardinian Tavn. J. Howard,
 Saint Stephen's street
 Sawyers, W. Thompson,
 Saint Paul's plain
 Seven Stars, W. Denmark,
 Barrack street
 Shakespere, T. R. Booth,
 Colegate street
 Shakespere, Robt. Hollis,
 Theatre street
 Ship, G. Davey, King st
 Ship, T. Harris, Thorn ln
 Ship, J. Parkerson, King st
 Ship, T. W. Sabberton,
 Mousehold
 Shoulder of Mutton, C.
 Mower, Botolph street
 Shoulder of Mutton, H.
 Cawdron, St. Andw's. ln
 Sir John Barleycorn, H.
 L. Mason, Orford hill
 Somerset Tavern, William
 Yallop, Union street

- Sons of Commerce, E. Cox, Thorn lane
 Southwell Arms, J. Brinkley, Hall road
 Spear-in-Hand, J. Wyatt, Vauxhall street
 Sportsman, Wm. White, Northumberland street
 Sportsman, Richd. Batson, Barrack street
 Spread Eagle, Sus. Humphreys, Sussex street
 Spread Eagle Tavern, J. Huggins, Haymarket
 Staff of Life, S. Harvey, Fishgate street
 Staff of Life, B. Mason, Saint Augustine street
 Stag, Richard Petchell, Saint Benedict street
 Star Hotel, W. Noakes, Haymarket
 Star and Crown, Susannah Knights, Timberhill
 Steam Packet, Mary Hilling, King street
 Steam Packet, J. Mayes, Saint Catherine's plain
 Steam Packet, W. Thompson, Lower King street
 St. Paul's Tavern, Samuel Severn, Cowgate street
 Suffolk Arms, W. Wilkinson, Oak street
 Sun, F. W. Sparks, Saint Giles' street
 Sun and Anchor, T. E. Thorpe, Colegate street
 Surrey Inn, J. Cornwell, Southwell road
 Surrey Tavern, Jas. Starland, Surrey road
 Sussex Arms, J. George, Saint Augustine street
 Swan Hotel, Ann Asker, Saint Peter's street
 Swan, W. Graver, Magdln. st
 Swan with two Necks, J. G. Betts, St. Stephen's st
 Swan with two Necks, J. Andrews, Upper Walk
 Swiss Cottage, H. Clifford, Dereham road
 Ten Bells, Henry Brown, Saint Benedict street
 Theatre Tavern, S. King, Bethel street
 Thorn Tavern, Robt. Larkman, Ber street
 Three Horse Shoes, G. Drake, Palace street
 Three Kings, G. L. Lambert, Saint Benedict st
 Three Pigeons, Jas. Lane, Charing cross
 Three Pigeons, Sar. Newman, Fishgate street
 Three Tuns, Rt. Thompson, King street
 Tiger, W. Murrell, Fishgt
 Toper, S. Bryant, Thorn In Trowel and Hammer, W. Spurling, St. Steph's. rd
 Trumpet, Robert Fuller, Saint Stephen's street
 Tuns, W. Lynn, Coslany st
 Tuns, C. Cowan, All St's. gn
 Tuns, W. Kemp, Chapel fld
 Turkey Cock, Mrs Swash, Church st, St. Simon
 Two Brewers, J. Powley, Saint John street
 Two Quarts, Jas. Cooper, Bridge st, St. George's
 Two Quarts, John Riches, Pottergate street
 Unicorn, G. Browne, St. Stephen's street
 Unicorn, Isaac Easton, Coslany street
 Vauxhall Tavern, Charles Bunn, Vauxhall street
 Victoria Tavern, Robert Plumstead, Julian street
 Victoria Tavern, F. Loneragan, Magdalen street
 Victoria Tavern, Charlotte Roe, Pottergate street
 Victoria Vaults, J. H. Bowgen, Lower Westwick st
 Vine Tavern, T. Mackley, Saint Benedict street
 Vine, M. A. Daniels, Dove st
 Vine, J. Laws, St. Giles' st
 Volunteer, Daniel Leman, Earham
 Waggon and Horses, J. Willsea, Coslany street
 Waggon and Horses, F. Riley, Tombland
 Walnut Shades, Old Post Office yard
 Waterloo, Charles Miller, Upper Walk
 Waterman, C. Huggins, King street
 Waterman, Robt. Whaites, Lower Westwick street
 Waterman's Arms, R. Wallace, St. Anne's st
 Wellington Tavern, G. Willis, Muspole street
 West-end Retreat, Wm. Skoyles, Holl's lane
 Whalebone Inn, E. Sexton, New Catton
 Wheat Sheaf, John Hart, Bethel street
 Whip & Nag, Robert Read, Pitt street
 White Cottage, A. Towell, Philadelphia
 Whitefriars Tavern, R. G. Collett, Whitefriars st
 White Hart, J. Browne, St. Peter's street
 White Hart, Wm. Emms, Ber street
 White Horse, Ed. Stubbs, Saint Andrew's street
 White Horse, W. Hewitt, St. Mary's Church alley
 White Horse, W. Mason, Magdalen street
 White Horse, W. Gardiner, Haymarket
 White Horse, G. Gibson, Crook's place
 White Horse, William Rix, Coslany street
 White Lion, My. A. King, Princes street
 White Lion, Fredk. Crowe, Magdalen street
 White Lion, Wm. Hall, Palace plain
 White Lion, W. Howman, Oak street
 White Lion, W. Lawn, St. Benedict street
 White Rose, T. Tomlinson, Back of the Inns
 White Swan, B. Cogman, Cowgate street
 Wild Man, J. Beeton, Bedford street
 William IV., J. Worledge, Gildengate street
 William IV., Rt. Baldwin, King st, Crook's place
 William IV., G. Matthews, Thorpe hamlet
 Windham Arms, J. T. Aldous, Grove place
 Windmill, J. Saul, Ber st
 Windsor Castle, W. Sillis, Barrack street
 Wine Coopers' Arms, G. Madge, St. Augustine st
 Do., F. Fitt, West Pottergt
 Woolpack, W. W. Butcher, Golden Ball street
 Woolpack, Mary Barnes, Saint George's plain World's-End, W. Drage, World's-End lane
 Wounded Hart, H. Houghton, Saint Peter's street
 Wrestlers, J. Fake, St. Jas

Yarmouth Arms, J. Snelling, Pudding lane
Yarn Factory, C. Bindley, Cowgate street

York Tavern, Mary Eastaugh, Castle meadow
BEER HOUSES.

Adams J., St. Geo's. plain
Adams W., Cowgate street
Anderson J., Howard st
Atkins T., Heigham street
Balls F., Chapelfield road
Barker William, Pitt street
Benefather T., Oak street
Bidwell John, Oak street
Blyth I., Unthanks road
Blyth J., Quay side
Blyth Jas., Twenty-one row
Brewster G., Thorpe ham
Briggs W.H., Magdalen st
Brooks T. V., St. Peter's st
Brown W. T. King street
Burton Robt., Thorpe ham
Carver W., Trowse Millgt
Colby S., Saint Giles' hill
Cole E., Earham road
Daynes H., Queen street
Drake F., Coslany street
Earl J., Magdalen street
Eke Wm., St. Stephen's st
Elliott G., Cowgate street
Finch W., Weaver's lane
Fisk A., Upper King street
Fountain Mary, King st
Fox James, Alms street
Freestone S., New Catton
Gambia J., Ber street
Gooch Isaac, Queen street
Grand Robert, Duke street
Graves Rt., Bull Close road
Haggith J., Coslany street
Hobart C., Palace plain Hook William, Oak street
Howes Henry, King st
Hyde Hy., Upr. Goat lane
Kent C., St. Paul's street
Kerry J., Northumbld. st
Kilburn W., Rose lane
Loveday G., Palace plain
Marrison J., Bridge street
Merry Edward, Elm hill
Middleton T., Coslany st
Moore E., Lwr. Westwick st
Moore Jas., St. Paul's Bk. In Moore John, Fishgate st
Newby Wm., Cobourg st
Nobbs Henry, Coslany st
Paston Robert, Union st
Pearce Robert, Heigham st
Perry James, Silver road
Pinnock Robert, King st
Plunket J., Botolph street
Pope J., Heigham street

Powell Robert, Union st
Pye Robert, Pottergate st
Press Robert, Heigham rd
Riches Har., Weaver's In Roll Edward, Alma street
Roll George, Coslany st
Rushbrook B., King street
Sands I., Lwr. Westwick st
Seaman M., Botolph street
Smart W., Trafalgar street
Smith G., Rampt. Horse st
Spooner E., Barrack st
Stone Edward, King st
Thompson E., Barrack st
Thompson M., Barrack st
Tuck Charles, Cowgate st
Waller Isaiah, Barrack st
Warnes Thos., Cowgate st
Websdale M., Upr. Goat In Webster J., Magdalen st
Welton E., Brazen doors rd
Whall Robert, New Catton
Wiley S. H., Cowgate st
Wilson Abraham, Oak st
Wing Robert, Trafalgar st
Woodhouse J., Pudding In Wright Thos., New Catton
Wurr Louisa, Grove place

IRONFOUNDERS,

Brassfounders, &c.

Barnard, Bishop, & Barnards, Norfolk Iron Wks
Barnes John, Church st.
St. Miles'
Boulton W. S., London st
Hewitt Geo., Red Lion st
Holmes & Sons, Buffcoat In Murrell W., Crook's place
Riches & Watts, Duke's pal
Self T. (brass), Pottergate
Smithdale Thos., St. Ann's
Works, King street
Sparke and Co., Thorn In Thompson Robt., Davey pl
Wright Jacob, Muspole st
IRONMONGERS.

(Iron Merchants.)*

*Baker G. (cut nail mfr.)
Cow hill
*Barnard, Bishop, & Barnards, 3 The Walk
Bayfield Ann and Son, Magdalen street
*Boulton W.S., London st
Brooks J., Goldenball st
*Browne J. and Sons, St. Peter's street
Buttiffant H. and J., Saint Giles' hill
Cattermoul Henry, Saint Andrew's plain Colman and Glendennings, Rampant Horse street

*Cubitt S. D., Market pl
Flatt J., Magdalen street
Havers C., Charing cross
*Howlett & Co. 6 Haymkt
Piper & Pigg, 8 London st
Reynolds G. F. (broker)
Saint Ann's staithe
Smith Wm., St. Benedict st
Stevens G. C., Orford hill
*Thompson Rt., Davey pl
Thorns Rbt., Exchange st
Tyzack W. B., Bank plain
JEWELLERS.

See Watchmakers, &c.
JEWELLERS (Working)
Davis Mark, Ber street
Ellison Wm., Bank street
Grant Frederick, Ber st
James B., St. Andrew's st
Ransome J., Bridge street
JOINERS, &c.

(See Carpenters.)

LAND SURVEYORS,
and Land, &c. Agents.
Baldry Wm., St. Stepn's. st
Barry T. D., Castle meadw
Benest J.S., Bank chmbers
Brown J. H., Upr. King st
Browne W., St. Andrew's st
Browne W. F., Orford st
Bunn John, Pottergate st
Butcher & Sons, Theatre st
Edwards Thomas (agent)
Bank chambers
Fisher T., Museum street
Forrester George (agent)
Tombland

Gidney S. (agent) Palace pln
Halls H. (agent) Bank st
Hewitt J., Theatre street
Horne J. (agent) Bank st
Hornor Charles, Queen st
Millard C. W., Princes st
Newton W. (agent) Tombl
Phipson R. M. (County)
Surrey street
Wright James and Son,
Bank chambers
Wright and Woodrow,
Queen street
LAST & BOOT TREE
MAKERS.

Alden James, Ber street
Ampleford J., St. Benedict
Palmer Wm., Timberhill
LIBRARIES. (See p. 186)
LIME BURNERS.

Batch J., Barrack street
Ewing J. W. Eaton
Newman H. Kett's castle
Pearce P., Chapelfield rd
Pinnock Robert, Silver rd
Poll Robert, Dereham rd

LINEN & WOOLLEN DRAPERS.

See also Tea Dealers and Drapers; & Tailors & Dprs. (* are Warehousemen.)

Aldous J., Trafalgar street
Aldrich J., West Pottergt
Armstrong H., St. Andw's st
Austrin A., Orford hill
Barnes John, Union st
Bexfield Richd., Trory st
Bishop George, Haymkt
Caley N. H., London st
*Chamberlin, Sons, & Co.
Market place

*Coleman G. L., Market pl
Collins F., London street
Cundall & Keer, The Walk
Delf Mrs., St. Stephen's st
*Dexter & Moll, Market pl
*Diggins G. & Co. Bedford st
Dixon E. L., Magdalen st
Dunham J., Grove place
Dunton A., Vauxhall st
*Edwards W. P., St. Stpn. st
English & Sons, London st
Fairweather L., London st
Fiske F. R., London st
Flower J., Wensum street
Garland R. E., London st
Green E. & A., St. Benedt. st
Halls J., Somerleyton st
Henney Mrs., Eagle ter
Hilling F., Magdalen st
Hook J. J., Brazen doors st
Hlott W., St. Stephen's st
Jackson A., Dereham road
Jones Mrs E., Briggs st
Kett W. W., 2 London st
*Pigg S. & Sons, Haymkt
Piggott J. H., St. Stpn's. st
Powell Robt., 36 London st
Reynolds J. J., Norfolk st
Scott H., St. Stephen's st
Smith George, Ber street
*Snowden Henry, Bridge street, St. George's

Snowdon J. C. 9 The Walk
Spinks J., St. Augustn. gt
Stocks A. J. 12 Briggs st
Sutton H. M., St. Mary's pln
Towler H., Wensum st
Wilson Robert, Benedict st
Wright Sarah, Ber street
Youngs Wm., Magdalen st

LITHOGRAPHERS.

Browne W. F., Orford st
Browne Wm., Saint Andrew's street
Dallinger & Son, Davey pl
Emslie & Son, Back of Inns
Hall W., White Lion st
Loades B., Pottergate st

LIVERY STABLES.

Abel W., Chapelfield road
Barnard J., Golden Ball st
Baxter Robert, Chapelfield
Butcher Walter W., Golden Ball street
Cook Anna M., Pitt street
De Caux W., Castle Hotel
Gibson G., Crook's place
Mayhew Rt., Up. St. Giles' st
Platten My., Up. Surrey st
Rix Benjamin, Bethel st
Spinks J., Rampant Horse st
Steel Wm., St. Giles' road
Sword John, Rose lane

LUCIFER MATCH MANUFACTURERS.

Britton John, Oak street
Lincoln J., Synagogue st
Mace Gilbert, Cowgate
Staff John, Oak street

MALTSTERS.

(See Brewers & Maltsters.)
Brown Frederick, King st
Martineau R., King street
Mealing and Mills, King st
Read T. W., King street
Redgrave J., Church st. St. M

MANUFACTURERS.

WORSTED, SILK, &c.
Crape, Silk, Shawl, Poplin, Paramatta, Gros-de-Naples, Camlet, Merino, Alpaca, &c., &c.

(See Worsted Spinners.)

Allen G. (elastic fabrics)
St. Stephen's Back st
Barber J. L. & Co. (cotton)
St. Martin's lane
Berry Richd. (elastic glove-cloth) St. Paul's Back ln
Bolingbroke C. & F., St. Clement's Church alley
Caley N. H., London st
Case and Potter, Calvert st
Clabburn, Sons, & Crisp, Pitt street

Clarke John, Redwell st
Cundall and Keer (shawls)
19 The Walk

French Robert (crape) Mill yard, Saint Mary's
Grout and Co. (silk crape, &c.) Lower Westwick st.

Hinde F. and Son, Botolph street

Jay G. & Son (mohair, &c.) King street

Mallett J. H. (mohair, &c.) King street

Middleton and Answorth (poplins, &c.) Calvert st

Miles S., Gildengate st

Norwich Crape Company (Limited) Botolph st
Park J., St. James' Factory
Perowne J. J. (bolting cloth, &c.) Colegate st
Poll S. (camlet) Magdn. st
Skelton J. (hosiery) Saint James' Factory
Sultz J. & Co. (& sewing cotton) Botolph street
Towler, Rowling, & Allen, Elm hill
Williment Rd., Calvert st
Willett, Nephew, and Co. Pottergate street
MANURE MANUFERS. AND DEALERS.

Culley and Hart (dealers) Duke's palace
Horsfield and Bagshawe, Pockthorpe

Newman F. G., Ber street
Parker T., St. Stephen's st
Pointer Wm., Thorpe ham
Pratt Wm., Fishmarket

Reynolds and Co., King st

Roe J. C. (dealer) Thorpe

Stark & Co., Duke's pal

MARINE STORE DLRS.

Bagshawe G., Coslany st
Clarke J., Brazen doors rd
Claxton George & Co., St. George's plain

Cullingford H., Botolph st

Cullingford T., Palace pln

Earl Joseph, Ber street

Elliott George, Cowgate

Gardiner W., St. Paul's opg

Harrison Ths., Coslany st

Higgins J., High st. St. Mtn

Newman F. G., Ber st

Nobbs Robert, City road

Palmer Edward, King st

Pearce Rt., St. Benedict st

Senton George, Oak st

Smith W. F., St. Faith's ln

Stribling Fredk., Union st

Taylor G., St. Benedict st

Watson M., Lr. Westwick st

Wigg E., St. Benedict st

MERCHANTS.

(See Coal, Corn, Timber, Wool, Wine, &c. Merts.; and Warehousemen.)

Bateman J. G. and Son (wool, silk, and cotton)

Gildengate street

Copestake, Moore, & Co. (lace, &c.) Bedford st

Davey T. & Son (silk) Pitt st

Phillips R., Rampt. Horse st

Pymar J. (silk and wool) Castle meadow

Springfield, Son, & Nephew
(silk) St. Martin's lane
MIDWIVES.

Cock Sarah, Oak street
Dowde Mary E., St. Margaret's Church alley
Fuller Maria, Ber street
Minns Hannah, Ber street
Palmer Mrs H., Queen st Pole Mrs E., St. Cath's. pln
Sampson Mrs, Chalk hill
Taylor Mrs, Cove terrace
Webb Mrs, St. John's ter
MILLINERS, &c.

Ames Mrs, Distillery st
Bird Sarah, Duke street
Brown M., Bridge st, St. G.
Brundell M. A., King st
Bulgin H., Freeman's villas
Chandler, H. St. Stephn's. rd
Chapman M. A., All Saints'
Clare C., Magdalen street
Clarke M. & C., Willow In Cogman E., Princes st
Coleman M., Bridge st. St. A.
Collins F., London st
Colman S., Bethel street
Cook C. M., St. Giles' st
Cooper J., Magdalen st
Copeman & Bell, St. Gregory's Church alley
Daniels My., Magdalen st
Davy J. & M., Upper St. Giles' street

Delph E., Victoria street
Drake H., 20 Victoria st
Elliott Mary, Bank street
Elmer E., Back of Inns
Fairhead L., 9 Pottergate
Fairweather L., London st
Forster J., 28, London st
Goodchild C., King st
Gooding H., Red Lion st
Goose Emma, Briggs st
Green A., Post office st
Green Rt., Bridge st, St. G.
Harford J., 8 Davey place
Harrold Mrs, Upr. King st
Havers A., Fishgate st
Howard A., Theatre st
Howard H., Davey place
Huson & Co., 12 London st
Leach H., Unthanks road
Lock E., Redwell street
Lohr Lydia, Briggs street
Love A., Kimberley street
Maltman J., Dereham rd
Milnes Mrs, Castle mdw.
Moore H., Rising Sun In
Mortimer H. E., Willow In Page Elizabeth, Norfolk st Palmer Misses, Lady's In Parr Catherine, Ber street

Payne A., Castle meadow
Potter H., Lit. London st
Schofield S., Up. St. Giles st
Sharon R., Pottergate st
Short Mary, Colegate st
Short Elizabeth, Trory st
Smith S. & E. St. Giles' st
Spooner M. A., Lady's In Tayler C., Bethel street
Taylor E., Princes street
Thirkettle Mrs, Timberhill
Thompson and Corrick,
St. Giles' street
Utting Hannah, Sussex st
Walter A., Theatre street
Watts Harriet, Rose lane
Weavers C., Pottergate st
White A. & D., 8 London st
Wortley E. J., Bethel st
Wortley M., 5 Briggs st
MILLWRIGHTS.

(See Engineers, &c.)

MUSIC & PIANOFORTE
WAREHOUSES.

Darken James, London st
Fish Wm., Bridewell alley
Howlett & Sons, 2 The Walk
Russell Hy. (piano manufacturer), Peacock st

MUSICAL INSTRUMENT MAKERS AND REPAIRERS.

Cary J. H. (hammer rail mfr.) St. James' Factory
Dambrock John, Ber st
Widdows Mk., Lr. King st
MUSIC-TUNISTS.

Ayton Wm., Botolph st
Chilvers John, Pitt street
Clarke F. E., Princes st
Gooderham Sml., Elm hill
Hewett C. H., 2 Wm. st
Howlett H. P., Dereham rd
Madge G., St. Augustine st
Reeve H., Gildengate st
Seeley John, Pitt street
Whall Jerh., Julian street
MUSIC TEACHERS.

Back Dr. Z., Upper Close
Bunnett Edw., M.B., do.
Burton F. C., St. Stephn's. rd
Clarke Dd. (violin) Rising
Sun lane

Clarke R. A., Heigham pl
Critchfield S., Upr. King st
Crock Mrs and Miss (singing), Tombland
Curtis L. G., Richmond pl
Dodd Miss, Chapelfield rd
Freeman J. J., St. Cath's. pln
Harcourt J., St. Adw's. st
Hastings G., St. Giles' hill
Heinemeier F., Derehm. rd

Hill H., St. Stephen's rd
Hill J. F., St. Giles' ter
Howlett H. F., Dereham rd
Howlett & Sons, The Walk
Jackson Jas., Cowgate st
Jackson Wm., Princes st
Lowe S., 6 London st
Madge R. A., Calvert st
Noverre Miss, Theatre st
Rice W. H., Brunswick ter
Rudd Henry, Duke street
Slonitz Mrs, St. Andw's. hill
Sothorn G., Brunswick ter
Trory John, Elm hill
Widdows C., St. Andw's. pln
MUSTARD MFRS.

(See Starch.)

NEWSPAPERS.

Norfolk Chronicle (Fri. aft.),
Matchett and Stevenson,
Market place

Norfolk News (Fri. aft.),
T. W. Bond, for the proprietors, Exchange st
Norwich Mercury (Wed. & Sat.), R. N. Bacon, 12
London street

Norwich Argus (Sat.), So-man & Howes, Up. Mkt. and Saint Andrew's hill
NEWS AGENTS.

(See also Booksellers.)

Bateman B., St. Stpn's. st
Blyth Sarah, Botolph st
Burgess Eliz., Orford hill
Fuller W. H., Red Lion st
Goddard S., Duke's palace
Green C. J., Bridewell al
Nockall E., Lower Goat In
Seppings H., Vauxhall st
Symonds W., Back of Inns
Taylor M. A., Chapelfield rd
True S., St. Augustine st
Ward C. P., White Lion st
NURSERYMEN.

(Seedsmen and Florists.)

(See Gardeners also.)

Allen J. & Son, Newmkt. rd
Allen Robert, Surrey rd
Bell J., 10 Exchange street and Bracondale
Elphinstone R., London street, and Sprowston Ewing J. W., Exchange street, and Eaton
Hill John, Newmarket rd
Hussey William, Eaton
Reynolds William, Hall rd
Smith William, Nelson st
Stewart J., Exchange st
OIL MILLERS.

(And Cake Manufacturers)

Ketton J., Foundry Bridge

Reynolds E. & Co., King st
OPTICIANS.

Allen J. B., 45 London st
Dixon T., 17 London st
Gidney Rt., White Lion st
Ralfs Wm., 9 London st
Russell B., Magdalen st
Sawyer J. R., 46 London st

ORGAN BUILDERS.

Corps & Son, Bridge st St. G
Howlett & Sons, The Walk
Noble M., Chapel field rd
PAINTERS.

(See Plumbers & Painters)

Beaty C., Palace street
Bird W. E., Surrey street
Gunn Rt., Brazen doors rd
Osborne O., Dereham road
Twiddy C., Pottergate st
PAPER BAG MAKERS.
Page & Son, Haymarket
Thorndick and Dawson,
Princes street

PAPER DEALERS.

Candler J., Rampt. Horse st
Fletcher J., The Walk
Jarrold & Sons, London st
Page & Sons, Haymarket
PAPER MAKERS.

Colman J. and J., Carrow
Compere T. B. (card & mill-board), Badding's lane
Cullingford T., Palace pln
Nash W. S., Lr. Westwick st Robberds & Money, Chapelfield road

PATTEN & CLOG MKRS

Bradfield Frdk., Bridewal
Cook S., 6 Davey place
Harper J. K., St. Benedict st
Lancum T., St. Mary's pln
Page & Sons, Haymarket
Scott P. T., White Lion st
PAWNBROKERS.

Ballord E., All Saints' gn
Boston Wm., Orford hill
Cott Thos., Pottergate st
Harvey Isaac, William st
Havers W. H., St. Paul's pln
Johnson A., L. Westwick st
Knights Mrs., Ber street
Morgan W. R., Magdln. st
Owen Thomas, Colegate st
Pitcher Hy., St. John's st
Samuel E., Timberhill
Shalders N., Wastlegate
Sheward William, King st
PHOTOGRAPHERS.

(See Artists also.)

Barker C. J., Dereham rd
Childs & Curry, Gldn. Ball st
Cunningham E., St. Bdt. gts
Dewing F., Botolph street

Freeman W. P. B., Rampant Horse street

Fuller W., Theatre street
Huggins J., 5 Davey place
Juba E., Bridge st, St. G.
Mann J., West Pottergt. st
Moore G., West Wymer st
Quinton B., Rose lane
Sawyer J. R., London st
Stanton J., St. Augustn. st
Taney G., Timberhill
Thompson C. J., St. Andw. st
Thompson H., St. Stpn's. st
Wurr J., Upr. St. Giles' st
PHYSICIANS.

Bateman F., Up. St. Giles' st
Copeman E., Upr. King st
Dalrymple D., Surrey st
Eade P., Queen street
Hartman F. A., Surrey st
Hutchison C., Surrey st
Johnson J., Theatre street
Lanchester T. W., Bracondl
Rankin W. H., U. St. Giles' st PILL BOX MAKERS.

Betts O., Waterloo road
Blackmore A., W. Wymer st
Britton John, Oak street
Lincoln J., Synagogue st
Parker William, Sussex st
Saul J., West Pottergate st
Staff John, Oak street

PLANE MAKERS.

Griffiths H., Lower Goat ln
Leist James, Wensum st
Stone Henry, Magdalen st
PLASTERERS.

(See Bricklayers.)

PLUMBERS, GLAZRS.
AND PAINTERS.

Barber Robert, Timberhill
Belson Robert, Orford hill
Bowen W., Pottergate st
Burgess Robert, Chapelfld
Campling T., Coslany st
Clabburn J. W., Oak street
Cletheroe J., City road
Cooke J., Rampt. Horse st
Cooper Robert, Stepping ln
Cousins W., Lower Goat ln
Delph W., St. Augustn. st
Delph William, jun., do
Devereaux E., Gildengt. st
Dowson Edw. C., Duke st
Dunn C., Surrey grove
Ellingham H., Elm hill
Fisher E., Timberhill
Fisher J., Heigham road
Gedge G., Wounded Hart ln
Gilbert S. J., St. Giles' hill
Gooch G. C., Castle medw
Green John, William st
Hall Jas., Magdalen street

Hall Jas., All Saints' grn
Hardy W. E., Lit. London st
Harvey W. S., Alma street
Hawes G., Mariners' lane
Hazlewood Mrs., Trafgar. st
Howes Wm. C., Ber street
Jones W., St. Benedict st King J. & J. (glass merchants), Princes street
King T. C. R., Palace st
Love C. T., Palace street
Mansfield J., St. Stepn's. st
Newman Robert, Ber st
Paston T., Magdalen st
Pullen, Mase and Furse,

St. Lawrence lane

Read J. J., Wounded Hart yd
Say T., 14 St. Giles' st
Starland G. & E., Surrey st
Steed My., St. Andrew's hill
Storey Wm., Pottergate st
Surflin Wm., Bank street
Taylor W. J., New Catton
Thwaites I., Timber hill
Turner J. J., St. Lawrence ln
Walker C. W., Theatre st
Walker Rd., Surrey mews
Whiting H., St. Saviour's ln
Wilde F., St. Stephen's st
Winter W., Timberhill
Wordingham Robert, St.
Catherine's plain
Wright J. & Son, King st
Wright W. & Son, Brazen doors road

PRINTERS.

(Letter Press.)

Bacon R. N., London st
Barnes C., Bedford street
Bramwell D., Upper Saint
Giles' street
Breame H. I., Sussex st
Colby Rd., Golden Dog ln
Cundall, Miller & Leavins,
Rampant Horse street
Davey J., St. Clements' alley
Daynes S., St. Stephen st
Fletcher J., 8 The Walk
Fuller T. B., St. Stephen's st
Jarrold & Sons, London st
Lemmon R. J., St. Lawnce's. st
Matchett and Stevenson,
Market place
Norfolk News Proprietors,
5 Exchange street
Norman B., Haymarket
Otty Philip, Orford hill
Page & Sons, Haymarket
Pigg Henry, 7 London st
Pinson Henry, Pottergt. st
Soman and Howes, Saint
Andrews street
Stacey H. W., 2 Market pl

Stevens W. H., Market pl
Stewardson W. H., Bedford st
Thorndick and Dawson,
Princes street

Uproft Wm., Fishgate st
Walker Rt., Church st, St. M.
Watts H., Pottergate st

PROCTORS.

(See Attorneys.)

PUMP MAKERS.

Fake John, St. James' st
Holl George, Waterloo
Shalders J., Redwell st

RAG MERCHANTS.

(See Marine Store Dealers.)

REGISTER OFFICES

For Servants.

Baker S. A., Bank street
Barber Mary, Timberhill
Barwell Mrs., All Saints' gn
Bayfield Mrs., Bank st
Beales Mary, Wensum st
Cooke E., St. Stephen's rd
Gaze W. H., Wastlegate st
Green A., Post Office st
Johnson Rbt., Castle mdw
Scott W. J., Colegate st
Skipper H., Magdalen st
Thouless H. E., Pottergate
Whitehead H., St. Giles' hill

ROPE, TWINE AND SACKING MANUFERS.

Bacon J. N., 3 Davey pl
Cox Wm., Scoles green
Fisher J., St. Saviour's alley
Hindes E. J., Magdalen st
Hindes H. & Son, Red Ln. st
Hindes W., St. Benedict st
Hurn G. & D., Dove st
Littell Henry, Bedford st
Nicholls Rd., St. Cath's. pln
Webb W., Magdalen st

SADDLERS

And Harness Makers.

Abel C., Golden Ball st
Bowes W., St. Benedict st
Breese Rbt., Magdalen st
Calver J., All Saints' gn
Chittleburgh Rt., Tombland
Fuller James, Haymarket
Hallows G., Rampant H. st
Harbord J. M., U. St. Giles' st
Howes J. & J., Red Lion st
Jolly and Son, St. Stephen's road
Kemp T., Cattle market
Loveday L., Peacock st
Newton G., Lane Dog rd
Palmer J., St. Benedict st
Philo Joseph, London st
Reede H. J., Red Lion st
Tooley P., Upper King st
Wilkinson H. J., St. Giles' st

SAW MILLS.

Chaplin J., Philadelphia
Cann J. & S., Philadelphia
Fryer William, Union st
Gallant C. R., Gashs. hill
Jennings S., Gashouse hill
Orfeur J., Fishgate street
Patrick J. Fitz, St. Miles'
Saul & Frazer, Palace pln
Smith & Mills, Philadelphia.

SAW MAKERS.

Griffiths H., Lower Goat ln
Kenyon John, ditto
Lomas W., Bridge st, St. A.

SEWING MACHINE AGENTS.

Adcock J. C., Bethel st
Alexander T., St. Spn's. st
Hines C., Muspole street
Sales Francis, Pitt street
Turner W. A., Orford hill

SHAWL (See Manfrs.)

SHERIFF'S OFFICERS.
Goreham H., Muspole st
Provart E., Back of Inns

SHIRT MAKERS.

Bird Jane, Timberhill
Boughen W. 5 London st
Kent Henry, London st
Oxley Richd., 6 London st
Page Jph., 13 Briggs st

SHOPKEEPERS.

Groceries, Flour, &c. Drls.
See also Bakers & Grocers.
Adcock Rd., St. Benedict st
Aldridge S., Church path
Amiss Robert, Cowgate st
Andrews T., St. Faith's ln
Annison Robert, Globe st
Artherton T., Magdalen st
Austin Peter, Ber street
Barnes E. W., Trowse Mgt
Barnes John, Union place
Batley Rd., St. Cath's. pln
Batson J., Barrack street
Bayfield H. K., North mld. s
Beckham W. E., Heigham
Bennett E., Arthur street
Bennett J., St. Miles'
Bensley Wm., Union st
Bexfield J., Rising Sun ln
Bidwell J., St. Faith's ln
Bloy Charles, Bridge st
Blyth Ann, Cowgate street
Blyth Esther, Oak street
Bransby Eliz., Cowhill
Breeze Rebc., Trowse Mgt
Brenning W., Fisher's ln
Brett Thos., Church path
Bullard Wm., Suffolk st
Bulman Rt., St. James' st
Bunting H., Coslany st
Bush John, Magdalen st

Bussey B., Gildengate st
Butler James, Finket st
Butler Thos., Barrack st
Buttinfant J. G., Globe st
Buxton S., Thorpe ham
Campling J., Peacock st
Canham Henry, Oak st
Cannon G. W., St. Bendt. st
Carter T., St. James' st
Carver Wm., Ber street
Carver Wm., Trowse Mgt
Catchpole J., Coslany st
Chalmers W., Barrack st
Chapman J., St. Nicholas'
Churchyard J., Coslany st
Clark Ann, Ber street
Claxton G., Trafalgar st
Cook Jeremiah, Oak st
Cooper T., St. Augustn's. st
Copeman E., Union place
Crickmore W., Coslany st
Cross John, Ber street
Crosskill Wm., Oak street
Crowe Eleanor, Elm hill
Cubitt James, King street
Cubitt John, Julian street
Dawson E. H., Scoles grn
Dawson Samuel, Oak st
Dickerson Mrs., Ber st
Donegani F., Silver road
Doubleday J., Napier st
Douglas J., Silver road
Durrant E., Mariners' ln
Dyer Thomas, Union st
Easter C. & Z., Chapel st. Cpl
Edwards J., St. Paul's pln
Eglington J., Chapel st. Cpl
Ellison E., Lr. Westwick st
English E., Golden Ball st
Felstead J., Union street
Fenn Robert, Magdalen st
Field Alfred, Finket street
Forster Thos., Union st
Foster Sml., St. James' st
Foulger Robert, Ber street
Fox Wm., John st. Rln
Freestone A., Church path
French Rbt., Upr. King st
Gay Samuel, Coslany st
Gedge E. P., Brazendoors rd
Gent George, Coslany st
Gibson Henry, Botolph st
Gibson John, Pitt street
Golder Edward, Oak st
Goose J., West Pottergt. st
Gray Mary, Heigham st
Greaves Rbt., Palace st
Green A., King street, Cpl
Gurney James, Julian st
Haddon M. A., Rose lane
Hannah W., Trafalgar st
Harden C., Heigham st
Hardingham W., Barrack st

Harris James, Ber street
 Harris Thos., Thorn lane
 Harrison Robert, Elm hill
 Hazlewood B., Lr. Westwks
 Heyhoe T., St. Augustine st
 Hicks John, Fishgate st
 Hill Charlotte, Peacock st
 Hill James, King street
 Hindes Rt., St. Benedict st
 Holmes James, King st
 Hook J. J., Brazendoors rd
 Hook Jas., John st. Rln
 Howard Daniel, Barrack st
 Howard H., Magdalen rd
 Howard John, King street
 Howes James, Magdalen st
 Howes J., Bridge st. St. G.
 Howes Robt., Barrack st
 Hunt C., St. Benedict st
 Hunt Elizabeth, Thorn In
 Jackson A., Dereham road
 Jackson W., Starling pl
 Jarvis J., Fishgate street
 Jeckells G. A., Ber street
 Johnson John, Ber street
 Kahler John H., Rose In Kemp H., Heigham cswy
 Key S., Upper Heigham
 Kneve H., Magdalen st
 Lacey Robert, Cherry st
 Larkman W., King street
 Lawrance W., St. Stepn's st
 Leeds S. & E., Tinkler's pl
 Linstead R., St. Geo's. pl
 Livock Mary, Ber street
 Lock Henry, Waterloo
 Lovett J., King street, Cpl
 Lowe Frederick, Ber st
 Lowe Joseph, Ber street
 Lowe Jph., Gildengate st
 Lowe Sarah, Holl's lane
 Luckett H., Pottergate st
 Mackley C., St. Giles' rd
 Mann Joseph, Oak street
 Manser Wm., Thorn lane
 Mason J., St. Faith's lane
 Matthews J., Barn road
 Mays Henry, King street
 Miles Mary, Oak street
 Miller E., Northmld. st
 Miller W., King street
 Mitchell H. G., Adelaide st
 Mitchell S., Chapel street
 Moore Isc., Dereham road
 Morris David, Vauxhall st
 Munday T., New Catton
 Munford J., Nelson street
 Muskett S. W., St. Augstn. st
 Newman Henry, Oak st
 Nichols Rd., St. Cathn's. pln
 Oakes James, Botolph st
 Outlaw John, Ber street
 Parker John, King street

Paston Robert, Union st
 Peacock J., Pottergate st
 Playford G., Brunswick rd
 Plummer J., Golden dog ln
 Pollard W., Coslany street
 Potter Robert, King street
 Press F. G., Philadelphia
 Price J., Coslany street
 Raby Wm., Fishgate street
 Ransome H., Lothian st
 Rawling H. F., Wst. Pottrgt
 Ray C., Julian street
 Ripper K., Ber street
 Rudd J., St. Catherine's pln
 Rudd Michael, Oak street
 Rudd Robert, Coslany st
 Rump T., Golden Ball st
 Scott W., Magdalen street
 Seaman H., 21 Row
 Self Lucy, Oak street
 Sexton John, Scoles green
 Sexton J., St. Cath's. plain
 Shreeve G., Tinkler's lane
 Skiffins T., Dereham road
 Smith E., Upr. St. Giles' st
 Smith L., Botolph street
 Smith J. S., Sayer's bldgs
 Smith Wm., Cobourg st
 Spencer I., St. Mary's alley
 Spurgeon W., Golden Ball st
 Staff J., Brazendoors road
 St. Quinton R. H. W., King st
 Stangroom A., St. Mary's pl
 Stangroom R., Fishgate st
 Stangroom W., Coslany st
 Stiffard T., Chapel st. Cpl
 Swann C., Botolph street
 Swash S. A., St. James' st
 Thirkettle H., Albert st
 Thompson T., Pitt street
 Thompson P., Cherry st
 Thouless H. E., Pottergt
 Thurlow W., Philadelphia
 Tidman Robt., Thorpe hm
 Turner Sarah, Dereham rd
 Turner S., Distillery st
 Turrell J., Cobourg street
 Tuttell A. N., Trafalgar st
 Tuttell J. W., Church path
 Vassar J., Havelock street
 Waller J. G., St. Paul's opg
 Watering J., Hall road
 Webb Wm. Eaton
 Websdale Ann, King st
 Webster E., St. Giles' hill
 Wilch Harriet, King st
 Wilch Jas. R. J., Mariners' ln
 Wilch Mary A., King st
 Wilcox Eliza, Ber street
 Wiley S. H., Cowgate st
 Willement M., Botolph st
 Williams E., Hall road
 Williams T., King st. Cpl

Willis Reuben, Oak street
 Wilson M., Coslany street
 Wood James, Queen st
 Woods William, Union st
 Woodgate D. B., St. Paul's st
 Woodhouse J., King st
 Wright W., Church path
SHUTTLE MAKERS.
 Boswell T., St. John st
 Gaule J., St. Clement's aly
SILK FINISHER.
 Beloe Henry, Coslany st
SILK (See Manufacturers)
SILK DOUBLER.
 Turtle F. G., Botolph st
SILK MERCERS.
(See Linen Drapers.)
SILVERSMITHS.
(See Watchmakers, &c.)
SLAIE MAKERS.
 Aldis Jane, Princes street
 Hart C., Golden dog lane
SLATE MERCHANTS.
 Blyth W., St. Faith's lane
 Culyer E. S., King street
SOAP MANUFACTRS.
 Andrews W., Fishgate st
STARCH, MUSTARD, &
BLUE MANUFACTRS.
 Colman J. and J., Carrow
 Works.
STAY & CORSET MKRS.
 Aldis Jane, Princes street
 Alexander T., St. Sph's. st
 Frost Mrs., Davey place
 Hubbard Mrs., Wastlegt. st
 Leech Jane, Duke street
 Main Mrs S. 4 Briggs st
 Margerson Hannah, Saint
 Andrew's plain
 Shedden S., St. Stepn's. st
 Taylor E., Upr. St. Giles' st
STEELYARD MAKERS.
 Drew John, Ber street
 Stanley G., Church st. St. S
STOCK AND SHARE
BROKERS.
 Gilman C. S., St. Giles' st
 Morgan E. C., Tombland
STONE AND MARBLE MASONS.
 Allen Wm., St. Stpn's. Bk. st Barrett Barnabas (sculp- tor) Redwell street
 Burrell B., King street
 Childs J. R., Chapelfield rd
 Hall S. R., Chapelfield rd
 Hibbett A., Chapelfield rd
 Lloyd Thomas, Rose lane
 Rayson W. F., Magdalen rd
 Rust Robert, Rose lane
 Stanley W. (sculptor) St.
 Catherine's plain

Want Fredk., Dereham rd
STRAW HAT MAKERS.
 Ames E., Distillery street
 Clare Mrs., Magdalen st
 Clarke S., St. Gregy's alley
 Copeman & Bell, ditto
 Dickenson S., St Stphn's rd
 Felstead C., Castle meadow
 Gooding H., Red Lion st
 Green A., Post Office st
 Keeble H., John st. Rln
 Laws S., Wastlegate st
 Riches Sns., Queen street
 Scofield S., Upr. St. Giles'

SURGEONS.

Allen Joseph, Tombland
 Bateman Frederick, M.D.
 Upper St. Giles' street
 Bell J. C., Princes street
 Brownfield J., Goldn. Dogln
 Cadge W., All Saints' gn
 Cooper E., Tombland
 Cremer Rbt., Magdalen st
 Crook John, Tombland
 Crosse T. W., 22 St. Giles' st
 Dashwood L., Bethel st
 Day W. H., All Saints' gn
 Drake C., All Saints' gn
 Firth G. W. W., St. Giles' st
 Fisher F., Chapelfield rd
 Fox J., Upper St. Giles' st
 Francis W. B., Colegate st
 Garthorn J. S., U. St. Giles' st
 Gibson C. M., Bethel st
 Goodwin C., Willow lane
 Guy Wm., M.D., Magdln. st
 Holland E. C., St. Stpn's rd
 Hutchison G. S., Chaplfld. rd
 Johnson J. G., St. Giles' st
 Master Alfred, Bethel st
 Morgan A. M. F., St. Giles' st
 Muriel C. E., St. Giles' st
 Nichols W. P., Surrey st
 Orris F. H., Magdalen st
 Payne Sturley, Duke st
 Penrice David, Tombland
 Pitt J. B., St. Stephen's st
 Spencer C. J. M., King st
 Thompson R., Theatre st
 Thurgar W. C., Oxford st
 Ward Hy., All Saints' gn
 Watson J. F. *Heigham
 Hall Asylum*
 Watts H. N. Dispensary
 Williams C. Norfolk and Norwich Hospital
 Woodhouse William, Saint
 Andrew's street
 Woolterton R., Magdalen st
SURGEON DENTISTS.
(See Dentists, page 307.)
SURVEYORS.
(See Land Surveyors.)

TAILORS.

*Marked * are Wln. Drprs.*
 Allured Rbt., Chapelfd. rd
 Atkins Hy., St. Augustine st
 Balls James, Spitalfields
 Balls Robert, Coslany st
 *Banks & Co., Bank plain
 *Barber G., Timberhill
 Bayes Rbt. K., Orford hill
 Bennett J., Back of Inns
 Bingham T., Post Office st
 *Boddy J., Pottergate st
 *Bond Wm. 30 London st
 Borking Thos., Willow ln
 Bridges Wm., Norfolk st
 Briggs S., Golden Ball st
 Brown G., Orford hill
 Browne F., Colegate st
 *Bullard W., Exchange st
 *Burrage J., Castle street
 Campling H., Charing ers
 Clark J., Infirmary road
 Climpson E., Hall road
 Cocks D., Magdalen st
 Cogman Fredk., Princes st
 *Cole J. B., Post Office st
 Corbyn H., John street
 *Crisp J. W., (clerical robe, &c.) Castle meadow
 Cullington M. W., West
 Wymer street
 Dawson E. H., Scoles grn
 Dow J., Gildengate street
 *Downes & Co., London st
 *Duffield H., Exchange st Dye George, Queen street
 Edwards W., Queen street
 Everett W. W., St. Stpn's rd
 Everett W., Chapel street
 Gay Wm., King street, Cpl
 *Grand E. 13 King street
 Grand S., Julian street
 *Grimwood T., Lr. Goat ln
 *Harbord J., Davey place
 *Harmer F. W. and Co.,
 Bethel street
 Hill M. F., St. Clemt's. ter
 Hipper J., Rampt. Horse st
 Hook S. B., St. Geo's. pln
 Howlett R., Bridge st, St. G
 King R. S., King st, Cpl
 Larkman W., Coslany st
 *Livock W. T., 4 Lond. st
 *Mackley J. E., Wastlegate
 *Mallett & Co., 2 London st
 *Marshall J., Rmpt. Horset
 Mason Robt., Dereham rd
 Mayor James, Rose lane
 Mead J., Heigham road
 Minns S. W., Magdalen st
 Moll J., West Wymer st
 Murray James, Russell st
 Nelson Robert, Norfolk st

*Norton and Blackburn,
 Back of the Inns
 *Osborn J., Lit. London at *Page J., 13 Briggs street
 Porter J. S., Julian street
 Ramm W. F., John street
 *Reid S., Bridge st, St. A
 *Riches and Skoyles, 9
 Davey place
 Riches T., Victoria street
 Roberts W. P., Chapel loka
 Roe S., West Wymer st
 *Rogers Chas., Willow ln
 Royall D., Bloomsbury pl
 *Rudd G. J., St. Stpn's. st Rudledge T., Julian street
 Rust J. B., Theatre street
 Salmon T., Rupert street
 Samuel E., Timber hill
 *Skelton J. S., St. Giles' at *Slater J., Tombland
 *Stevens T. W., Castle mdw
 *Steward & Son, Tombland and Queen street
 Sutton D. M., St. Adw's. st
 Talbot Mrs., Bridge st, St. A Taylor Wm., Princes st
 *Todd and Son, Queen st
 *Todd Wm. A., 16 Lond. st
 Traxton E., Lower Close
 Trowse C., Ten Bell lane
 Tuddenham E., Duke st
 Turner W., Wastlegate
 Wells P. M., Oxford street
 *Womack Mrs., Davey pl
 *Womack G. R., Dove st
 Wood John, John street
 Wood John, Stonehills
 Wurr J., Upr. St. Giles' st
 Wyatt David, Paragon st
TALLOW CHANDLERS
 Andrews W., Fishgate st
 Freeman H., St. Peter's st
 Frost Thomas, Fishgate st
 Hardy J., Rampt. Horse st
 Howes A. & Son, Ber st
 Large J., Whitefriars st
 Pratt A., Wensum street
 Pulham W., Coslany st
 Shields W., St. Stephen's
TANNERS.
 Beare S. P., Lr. Westwick st
 Hardiment R., Oak st. gate
 Wills Wm., Heigham st
TEA & DRAPERY DLRS
(TRAVELLING.)
 Aikin F., Distillery street
 Bowles M., St. Benedict st
 Boyle A., Dereham road
 Cowan A., Dereham road
 Garrett J., Pottergate st
 Hannah P., Fountain place
 Harwin J., Charles street

Henderson J., Dereham rd
Kerrison G., Chapelld. rd
McIlmorrow J., Coslany st
McKay A., Earlham road
McKeown T., Dereham rd
Mitchell J., Dereham road
Murphy P., Somerleyton st
Parker W., Valentine st
Smith S. J., Magdalen st
Somerville J., Gildengate
Somerville R., St. Bdct. st
Tills B., St. Saviour's ln
Watts and Graham, Dereham road

TIMBER MERCHANTS

(See also Saw Mills.)

Aldous J. F., St. Stpn's. st
Applegate J., Pottergate st
Batley Charles, Alma st
Blyth J., Pockthorpe
Blyth Wm., St. Faith's ln
Culley & Hart, Duke's pal
Cushion W., Lothian st
Fryer Wm., Union street
Gaze G., 11 Victoria st
Green and Son, Thorn ln
Jecks W. & Co., St. Faith's ln
Johnson D., Trowse Mlgt
Manser W., Thorn lane
Morgan & Co., Synagog. st
Orfeur J., Fishgate street
Pigg F., St. Geo's. Brdg. whf
Saul & Frazer, Palace plu
Scales J., Chapelld. rd
Steward R. & Co., King st
Woolliston Mrs., Hall road

TOBACCONISTS.

(* are Manufacturers.)

Bateman B., St. Stpn's. st
Brook T. V., St. Peter's st
Bunting J., Bedford st
Butler W., Magdalen st
Dawson Robt., Bedford st
Foulsham W. St. Stpn's. st
Fraser R., Bridge st, St. A
Fraser J., 7 The Walk
Fuller W. H., Red Lion st
Greene C. J., Bridewell al
Havanah Tobacco Comp.,
Little Orford street

Huddleston W., St. Stpn. st
Kidd J. R., Castle street
Kilburn William, Rose ln
King R. J., Vauxhall st
*Kitton Fredk., Haymrkt
McJannett J., St. Giles' hl
*Middleton J., Dereham rd
Miller A., 5 London street
Mitchell H., Heigham csy
*Newbegin J. & E., Mkt. pl
Nunn Jas., Dereham road
Seppings H., Vauxhall st
*Stevens H. J., Back of Inns

*Stevens J. W., Back of Inns Stowers J., Red Lion st
Talbot Alfred, Duke street
Taylor M. A., Chapelld. rd
Townshend H., St. Giles' st
Turner W., Wastlegate st
TOBACCO-PIPE MKRS.
Browne J. T., Wellington yd
Fitt Bartholomew, Ber st
Lincoln J., Synagogue st
Turner J., Wastlegate st
TOY DEALERS.

Baker S. A., Bank street
Boswell T., St. John's st
Bush G., Bridge st, St. A
Ellison Mrs., Dove street
Fox H., St. Stephen's st
Gibson Henry, Botolph st
Lovett Hy., St. Stpn's. st
Ransome H., The Walk
Rose Sarah, Castle street
Walker Rd., Bridge st, St. G
TRUNK MAKERS.

Frost Mary, Davey place
Tuxford W., Red Lion st
TRUSS MAKERS.

Allison S., Upper Walk
Offord J. S., Theatre st
Taylor G., Up. St. Giles' st
TURNERS (WOOD).

Burton W., Cowgate st
Cunnington W. and Sons,

Lower Westwick street
Ellison Francis, Dove st
Ellison Rt., Up. Goat ln
Gaul J. E., St. Clements
Gay W. & G., Southwl. rd
Hayes John, King street
Rust Saml., Nash's yard
Simpson C., St. Lawrence ln
Simpson M., St. John's st
Simpson W., Charing cross
Wiggett Jph., Calvert st
UMBRELLA MAKERS.
Balls William, Bull Close
Forster Jno., 28 London st
Martin T. L., 39 London st
Smith James, Lady's lane
Springall R., Rising Sun ln
Wyatt Jno., Twenty-one rw
UPHOLSTERERS.

See Cabinet Makers, &c.
Butler W., Lit. Orford st
Easthaugh G., King st, Cpl
Fairweather H., Unthk. rd
Hutchin Wm., Hall road
Kett T. W., Charing cross
Lawrence W., Pottergate st
Ostler John, Suffolk st
Perowne J. S., Sussex st
Roll Robt., Red Lion st
Spooner E. F., Lady's ln
Tarte Wm., Botolph st

Websdale Wm., Surrey st
VENETIAN BLIND
MAKERS.

Furse J. T., Princes st
Howard E. S., Rose lane
Thurst Jas., Up. King st
VETERNRY. SURGEONS
Pratt R. J., Northmbd. st
Sayer Daniel, Pottergt. st
Smith Wm., Pottergate st
Wells T., Castle meadow WAREHOUSEMEN.

See L. & W. Drapers and Merchants.

WATCH AND CLOCK MAKERS,

Jewellers & Silversmiths.

Abraham B., Bethel st
Allen J. B., London st
Ames T., West Wymer st
Bayfield J. F., St. Benedict st
Beha, Lickert and Beha,
St. Stephen's plain
Bell Robert, Davey place
Bloch I., Golden Ball st
Bowles Caleb, Oxford st
Briggs E., St. Peter's st
Buckingham J. C., Tombl
Bush Edward, Pitt street
Clarke Wm., 7 Briggs st
Cooper & Son, London st
Davey Edward, John st
Dixon T., 17 London st
Dyball E., Post office st
Eagleton George, Ber st
Etheridge & Ellis, 10 The Walk

Gerard Wm., Botolph st
Gidney Rt., White Lion st
Green Rbt., Red Lion st
Gunton Henry, Briggs st
Hayward J. J., All Saints' gn
Hyams Pp., St. Stephen's st
Kehle Jph., Magdalen st
Kerrison J., Magdalen st
Linford Rt., Red Lion st
Moore Charles, Coslany st
Phillips S., Chatham place
Pratt W., Dereham road
Ralfs Wm., 9 London st
Ransome J., Bridge st, St. A.
Rossi George, Market pl
Russell B., Magdalen st
Salkind G., Muspole st
Samuel E., Timberhill
Shildrake W., London st
Smith S. H., Bridewell alley
Zipfel C., Magdalen st
Zipfel Charles, jun., do.
Zipfel G., St. Gregory's
Zipfel M., Bridge st, St. G
WHARFINGERS.

Barber & Co., St. Swithin's

Clarke and Reeve, Duke's Palace Wharf
WHEELWRIGHTS.
See also Coach Builders.
Addington B., Magdalen st
Betts James, Vauxhall st
Blythe T., St. Augustine st
Franklin C., Napier street
Philo Wace, Belvoir street
Powley J., Cattle market
Riches W.D., Barn road
Smith Robert, King st
Tillett W., St. Augustine gt
Welton E., Brazeudoors rd
Wordingham William, St.
Catherine's plain
Yewell Wm., Nelson st
WHIP MAKERS.
See also Saddlers.
Abel C., Golden Ball st
Hardy C., Timberhill
Philo Joseph, London st
WHITESMITHS,
Bellhangers, &c.
Berry S., St. Andrew's st
Bishop John, Elm hill
Blazeby W., Scoles green
Boswell J., St. Andrew's hill
Brooks J., Golden Ball st
Carver W. & R., Hall road
Clarke Stephen, Surrey st
Cook J., Coslany street
Cullyer G., Cow hill
Gilbert M. G., Timberhill
Howlett & Co., Haymarket
Knevett J., St. Benedict st
Land Wm., St. Peter's st
Leech Geo., Lower Goat In Leeder Thomas, Thorn In Palmer R., St. Saviour's In Pank A., 123 Bedford st
Pank J. J., Bull lane
Parlour J., Redwell street
Pearce and Gayford, Saint
Andrew's street
Potter Edmund, Gun lane
Reeve E. G., Duke street

Self T., Pottergate street
Thirkettle W., Timberhill
Thirtles James, Thorn In Wegg Cphr., Fishgate st
Whall Wm., Garden road
WHITING MANFRS.
Harvey W.S., Wellington In Pearce Pp., Chapelfield rd
WINE AND SPIRIT MERCHANTS.
(Also Ale and Porter.)
Anthony W., St. Peter's st
Arnold and Wyatt, Saint Margaret's plain
Athow Edward, Castle st
Back & Co., 3 Haymarket
Barwell & Sons, London st
Barwell & Son, Post off. st Bolingbroke, Woodrow and Co. (Norwich Wine Co.)
Upper St. Giles' street
Boswell and Baxter, Magdalen street
Browne, L. A., Bedford st
Bullard R., St. Miles' brdg
Caston J., St. Benedict gts
Chamberlin J., Post off. st
Clarke Charles, Coslany st
Cubitt W. J., Magdalen st
Fenn J. F., Upper Walk
Geldart & Son, Wensum st
Harman L. & Sons, Saint
Andrew's hill
Hills and Underwood, St.
Faith's lane
Hubbard J.M., Magdalen st
Morgan J.B. & H., King st
Morrison P. A., Market pl
Neale J.F., St. Andrew's pln
Norgate & Son, 11 The Walk
Priest & Co., St. Giles' st
Rudd R. G., Pottergate st
Seaman, Grimmer, & Co.,
St. Andrew's street
Smith B., Orford hill
Steward, Patteson, Finch, and Co., Pockthorpe

Wiseman (now Barwell & Son), Post office street
Youngs, Crawshay and Youngs, King street
WIREWORKERS.
Andrews Rd., Coslany st
Loombe T., Golden Ball st
Wicks Thomas, Tomblaud
WOOD CARVERS.
(See Carvers.)
WOOLLEN DRAPERS.
(See also Tailors, &c.)
Chamberlin, Sons, & Co.,
Market place
Coleman G. L., Market pl
Hunt & Godfrey, London st
Pigg & Sons, Haymarket
Wade J. P., Redwell st
WOOLSTAPLERS.
Bateman J. & Son, Gildengt
Chaplin G., Muspole st
Everett Jph., Bishop's bdg
Hawkes R.W., Willow In Lord John, Fishgate st
Pyman J., Castle meadow
Seed Henry, Muspole st
WORSTED SPINNERS,
And Mohair, &c.
Blake E. & R. W., Saint Edmund's and Lakenham Mills
Jay & Sons, Albion Mills,
King streets
Mallett J. H., King street
Park J., St. Jas'. Factory
Poll Saml., Magdalen st
Skelton J., St. Jas'. Factory
YARN AGENTS.
Bateman & Son, Gildengt.
Lord J., Fishgate street
Spinks & Co., Muspole st
Stannard J., Gildengate st
Wheatley E. A., All Saints' green
YEAST MAKERS.
Mills James, Oak street
Smith James, Botolph st

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

The POST OFFICE is in the street to which it gives name. Mr. Samuel Base is the postmaster; and Messrs. F. G. Rainger, G. Hunt, W. Snelling, G. Caswell, and J. J. Hosken, are the clerks. There are about 20 sorters and letter carriers, and the latter are sent out on delivery three times a day, at 7 a.m., and 2 and 7½ p.m., except on Sundays, when there is only a morning delivery. There are RECEIVING HOUSES in Magdalen street, Upper St. Giles' street, Dereham road, St. Catherine's plain, King street, St. Stephen's street, Thorpe hamlet, and New Catton; and PILLAR LETTER BOXES in Newmarket road, Earlham road, Pitt street, Pockthorpe, Golden Ball street, The Close, Unthanks road, St. Benedict street, St. Martin's-a-Palace, Tomblaud, Bank plain, and Surrey street; and also a Box at Thorpe Station. Here is a POST OFFICE SAVINGS' BANK; and MONEY ORDERS are granted and paid from 9 till 6, and on Saturdays till 8 o'clock. The MAILS are despatched at 5½, 10½, and ten min. before 11 a.m.; and at 1.15, 6.20, and 9 p.m. The Mail Carts and Rural Messengers depart at 5½ a.m. The Office closes at 9½ p.m.

RAILWAY CONVEYANCE.

From the VICTORIA and THORPE RAILWAY STATIONS, passenger trains many times a day to London, Yarmouth, Lowestoft, Thetford, Lynn, Wisbech, Cambridge, Peterborough, &c.; and luggage trains daily to all parts. Mr. W. Seeley is station master and goods manager at the Victoria Station, and William Hall is booking clerk, and Charles George Brighten, keeper of the refreshment room. At the Thorpe Station, Mr. Hy. Buckley Sprowl is station master and goods manager, and Mrs. Margaret Louth, keeper of the refreshment room. Mr. Thos. Stevenson, district superintendent of the line, has his office at Thorpe Station. There is also a small station at Trowse, on the south-east side of the city suburbs. There are Telegraph Offices at the Stations, and also at 13 Exchange street and 15 The Walk. The Railway Company's parcels office is in Post Office street, and Sutton's parcels despatch office is in Upper Goat lane. Messrs. Pickford and Co., carriers by rail to all parts, have their warehouse and offices at Duke's palace.

COACHES.

To CROMER & AYLSHAM, from the Royal and Norfolk Hotels, daily, at 5 p.m.; and from the Duke's Palace, every morning in Summer (except Sunday). To NORTH WALSHAM, Coltishall, Scottow, &c., daily, at a quarter before 5, from the Norfolk Hotel; and on Sat. at 5 p.m. from the White Horse, Haymarket. To STALHAM, CATFIELD, &c., from the Bell Hotel, Mon. Wed. and Sat. at a quarter before 5 p.m.

OMNIBUSES AND VANS.

To ALDBOROUGH and AYLSHAM, from the Bell Hotel, Wed. and Sat., 4½ p.m. To AYLSHAM, from Post Office Tavern, Mon. Wed. and Sat. 4 p.m. To HAPPISBURG, from White Horse Inn, Wed. and Sat. 4 p.m. To REEDHAM, from Duke's Palace and Moon and Stars, Wed. & Sat. 5½ p.m. To NORTH WALSHAM, from White Horse, Haymarket, Mon. Wed. and Sat. 5½. OMNIBUSES run from the Norfolk & Royal Hotels to & from the Railway Stations.

POST CARTS.

Daily at half-past 5 Morning.

To ACLE, from Crown, St. Benedict's
To AYLSHAM, from Duke's Palace
To BLOFIELD, from Crown, St. Benedict's
To CROMER, from Duke's Palace
To LODDON, from Duke's Palace
To NORTH WALSHAM, from Post Office Tav
To REEPHAM, from Moon and Stars
To YARMOUTH, from Crown, St. Bendet.
An Evening Mail Cart at 7, from the Crown, St. Benedict's, to IPSWICH, LONG STRATTON and Scole.

FOOT POSTMEN convey parcels from the Post Office Tav. to surrounding villages

TRADING VESSELS.

CLARKE & REEVE's wherries from Duke's Palace whf. daily to Yarmouth, whence goods are forwarded by steam packets and sailing vessels to London, Hull, Goole, and Newcastle.
H. H. BARBER & Co.'s wherries from their wharf, St. Swithin's, daily to Yarmouth, to meet steamers to London, Hull and Newcastle.

CARRIERS TO AND FROM NORWICH,

WITH THE DAYS AND TIMES OF LEAVING, AND THE INNS THEY USE.

ACLE, Holmes, York Tavern, M. W. S. 4
ALBURGH, Tidman, King's Arms, Ber st.
Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
ALDBORO', (Norfolk,) Horner, Bell, Wednesday and Saturday, 5
ALDBORO', (Suffolk,) Sawyer, Star, Wed. 2
ASHILL, Payne, Coach & Horses, Bethel street, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
ASHWELLTHORPE, Lloyd, Bull, St. Stephen's, Mon. Wed. 4, Sat. 5; Brown, Trowel and Hammer, Wed. Sat. 5
ATTLEBOROUGH, Musk, White Horse, Haymarket, Tuesday and Saturday, 3; and Clarke, Star, Friday, 3
ATTLEBRIDGE, Elliott, Bess of Bedlam, Wednesday and Saturday, 2; and Plumbly, Pope's Head, Saturday, 1
AYLSHAM, Margetson, Post Office Tavern, Monday, Wed. Friday and Sat. 4½; and Chapman, Duke's Palace, daily, 4

BACTON, Abigail, Duke's Palace, Wed. 12, Saturday, 2; and Marsh, Waggon and Horses, Tombland, Saturday, 2
BARFORD, Laskey, Queen's Head, Saint Giles, Monday, Wed. and Saturday, 4
BARNINGHAM, Tyrell, York Tavern, Wednesday and Saturday, 1
BARNHAM BROOM, Orton, Cock, St. Giles, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
BAWDESWELL, Rix, White Horse, Saint Lawrence, Wednesday and Saturday, 3
BEIGHTON, Howard, Horse Shoes, Sat. 4
BECCLES, Beddingfield, Star, M. W. S. 4
BECKHAM EAST, Spurgeon, Moon and Stars, Saturday, 1
BECKHAM WEST, Gray, Star, Wed. Sat. 2
BERG APTON, Freestone, Star, Sat. 1
BESSINGHAM, Gray, Star, Wed. & Sat. 2
BILLINGFORD, Rix, White Horse, Saint Miles, Wednesday and Saturday, 3

- BINHAM, Coe, Duke's Palace, Wed. Sat. 4
 BLAKENEY AND CLEY, Gent, Rose, Saint Augustine's, Monday & Thurs. 9 a.m.
 BLOFIELD, Thurtle, White Lion, Palace plain, Saturday, 4
 BOTESDALE, Browne, Star, Wed. & Sat. 3
 BRANDON PARVA, Orton, Cock, St. Giles, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 BRISTON, Carr, Elephant, Wed. & Sat. 4; and Coe, Duke's Palace, Wed. & Sat. 4
 BROOKE, Mickleburgh, White Horse, Haymarket, Wed. & Sat. 3; Tidnam, King's Arms, Ber st. Mon. Wed. Sat. 4
 BUCKENHAM, Burroughes, White Horse, Haymarket, Tu. Sat. 3; Arms, Lamb Inn, Haymarket, Wed. Sat. 12; & Steggle, Trowel and Hammer, Wed. Sat. 4
 BUNGAY, Hogg, Lamb Inn, daily, 4
 BUNWELL, Browne, Trowel and Hammer, Monday, Wed. and Saturday, 4
 BURGH ST. MARGT'S, Meadows, Buff Coat, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 BURGH AYLISHAM, Brown, Elephant, Magdalen st. Mon. Tues. Wed. & Sat. 4
 BUXTON, Abbs, Cross Keys, Mon. Wed. and Saturday, 4½; Daniels, Bell, Mon. Wed. and Sat. 4; and Hall, White Horse, Magdalen st. Wed. and Sat. 4
 CANTLEY, Moll, York Tav. Wed. 3, Sat. 4
 CARBROOKE, Lawrence, Coach & Horses, Bethel st. Tuesday and Friday, 1
 CASTLEACRE, Betts, Coach and Horses, Bethel st. Wednesday & Saturday, 3
 CASTON, Bowen, Crown and Angel, Tuesday and Friday, 5
 CATFIELD, Lowne, Waggon and Horses, Tombland, Sat. 4; Hammond, Waggon and Horses, Tombland, Wed. Sat. 4
 CAWSTON, Tuddenham, Unicorn, Saint Mary's, Wed. Sat. 4; Dix, Crown, St. George's, Mon. Wed. Sat. 4
 COLTISHALL, Barnard, Wounded Hart, Monday, Wed. Friday, & Saturday, 4½; and Edwards, White Lion, White Lion street, Monday, Wed. and Saturday, 4
 COSSEY, Whiting, Fountain, M. W. S. 4
 CRESSINGHAM, Lawrence, Coach and Horses, Bethel st. Tues. & Friday, 1
 CROMER, Beasy, White Horse, Haymarket, Tu. Fri. 2; Puxlay, George, Haymarket, Wed. Sat. 2; Cooper, White Hart, St. Peter's, Wed. Sat. 3
 DENTON, Tidnam, King's Arms, Ber st. Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday, 4
 DEREHAM, Pamman, Coach and Horses, Bethel street, Wed. and Sat. 4; Parfitt, White Hart, St. Peter's, Wed. and Sat. 4; and Barnes, Coach & Horses, Bethel street, Wed. and Saturday, 3
 DICKLEBURGH, Smith, George, Haymarket, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 DILHAM, Barber, White Horse, Haymarket, Wednesday and Saturday, 3
 DISS, Browne, Star, Wed. and Sat. 3
 EASTON, Claxton, Crown, St. Benedict, Wed. and Saturday, 1; and Skipper, Fountain, Wednesday and Saturday, 2
 ELLINGHAM, Bowen, Crown and Angel, Tuesday and Friday, 5
 EYE, Smith, George, Haymarket, W. S. 2
 FIELD DALLING, Brown, Whip and Nag, Saturday, 2
 FORNCETT, Lloyd, Bull, St. Stephen's, Monday and Wednesday, 4
 FOULSHAM, Balls, White Horse, Saint Lawrence, Tuesday & Saturday, 6
 FRAMLINGHAM, Sawyer, Star, Wed. & Sat. 2
 FREETHORPE, Moll, York Tavern, W. S. 4
 GISSING, Ribbons, Buff Coat Inn, W. S. 2
 GRESHAM, Gray, Star Inn, Wed. & Sat. 2
 HACKFORD, Lawrence, Coach & Horses, Bethel street, Tuesday and Friday, 1
 HALESWORTH, Sawyer, Star, Wed. & Sat. 2; and Hogg, Lamb, Haymkt. daily, 4
 HALVERGATE, Moll, York Tav., W. S. 4
 HANWELL, Leggatt, Cricketers' Arms, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 HANWORTH, Paxley, George, Haymarket, Wednesday and Saturday, 2
 HAPPISBURGH, Purdy, White Horse Inn, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 HARDINGHAM, Skipper, Fountain, Sat. 2; and Bush, Pope's Head, Saturday, 3
 HARDWICK, Riches, Baker's Arms, Ber street, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 HARLESTON, Prime, Bell, Saturday, 4
 HEMPSTALL, Leggatt, Cricketers' Arms, W. S. 4; Shingfield, Boar's Head, S. 4
 HEYDON, Lewes, Duke's Palace, M.W.S. 4
 HICKLING, Goose, Horse Shoes, Sat. 4
 HINDOLVESTON, Raven, Hen & Chickens, W.S. 12; Gunton, Moon & Stars, W.S. 4; & Wilson, Golden Lion, St. John's, S. 1
 HINGHAM, Laskey, Queen's Head, Saint Giles, Mon. Wed. & Sat. 4; & Hilling, Black Horse, St. Giles, Tu. Th. & Sat. 4
 HOCKHAM, Edwards, George, Haymarket, Saturday, 2
 HOLT, Gray, Golden Lion, Maddermrkt, Wednesday & Saturday, 2; & Fiddy, Crown, St. George's, Wed. & Sat. 2
 HONING, Hammond, Waggon & Horses, Tombland, Wednesday & Saturday, 4
 HONINGHAM, Claxton, Crown, St. Benedict's, Wednesday and Saturday, 1
 HOPTON, Goult, Lamb, Haymarket, Tuesday and Friday, 11
 HORNING, Hammond, Waggon & Horses, Tombland, Wednesday & Saturday, 4
 HORSTEAD, Rogers, White Lion, Magdalen street, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 HORSFORD, Dix, Crown, Saint George's, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday
 HOUGHTON, Stringer, Wheat Sheaf, W. 3
 ILLINGHAM, Tyrrell, York Tavern, Wednesday and Saturday 1

KENNINGHALL, Bowen, Lamb, Haymkt, Wednesday and Saturday, 12
 KNAPTON, Everard, Pope's Head, W. S. 2
 LAMMAS, Daniels, Bell Inn, M. W. S. 4
 LANGLEY, Crisp, Woolpack, Golden Ball street, Wednesday and Saturday, 3
 LENWADE, Elliott, Bess of Bedlam, W.S.2
 LITCHAM, Betts, Coach and Horses, Bethel street, Wed. and Sat. 3
 LODDON, Greengrass, George, Haymkt, Wed. Sat. 3; & Woolner, White Lion, White Lion street, Tu. Wed. Fri. Sat. 4
 LOPHAM, Bowen, Lamb, Haymarket, Wednesday and Saturday, 12
 LONG STRATTON, Edwards, White Hart, Ber st, Wed. & Sat. 4; Riches, White Lion, White Lion st, Wed. & Sat. 4; & Dodd, Lamb, Haymkt. Wed. & Sat. 4
 LUDHAM, Fairhead, York Tav., M. W. S. 4
 LYNG, Burton, Golden Lion, Sat. 4
 LYNN, Coach & Horses, Bethel st, Wed. & Sat. 3; & Stringer, Wheat Sheaf, Wed. 3
 MARTHAM, Meadows, Buff Coat, W. S. 4; and Dove, Nelson Monument, W. S. 4
 MATTISHALL, Howes, White Hart, Saint Peters, Wednesday and Saturday, 2
 MELTON PARVA, Laskey, Queen's Head, St. Giles, Monday, Wednesday & Sat. 4
 MERTON, Lawrence, Coach and Horses, Bethel street, Tuesday and Friday, 1
 MORNINGTHORPE, Riches, Bakers' Arms, Ber street, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 MUNDSEY, Everard, Pope's Head, W. S. 2; & Gray, Golden Lion, Wed. Sat. 1
 NEATISHEAD, Lowne, Cat and Fiddle, Wed. & Sat. 4; & Etheridge, Waggon & Horses, Tomblond, Wed. & Sat. 4
 NORTH WALSHAM, Bradfield, White Horse, Haymarket, daily, 4
 PLUMSTEAD, Tyrrell, York Tav., W. S. 4
 POTTER HEIGHAM, Dove, Nelson Monument, Wednesday and Saturday, 1
 PULHAM, Riches, White Lion, White Lion st, Wed. & Sat. 4; Dodd, Lamb, Haymarket, Wed. & Sat. 3; and Riches, Baker's Arms, Ber st, Wed. & Sat. 4
 RANWORTH, Thurtle, White Lion, Palace plain, Wednesday 3, and Saturday 4
 REEPHAM, Leeds, Moon & Stars, W. S. 4; and Lewes, Duke's Palace, M. W. S. 4
 REPPS, North & South, Foulger, Duke's Palace Inn, Saturday, 2
 ROCKLAND, Bowen, Crown, Tu. Fri. 5
 ROLLESBY, Meadows, Buff Coat, W. S. 4; and Dove, Nelson Monument, W. S. 4
 RUDHAM, Stringer, Wheat Sheaf, Wed. 3
 SUSTON EAST, Sims, White Lion, Magdalen street, Saturday, 4
 SAHAM TONEY, Lawrence, Coach and Horses, Bethel st, Tuesday & Friday, 1; Payne, Currier's Arms, Wed. Sat. 4
 SAXLINGHAM, Riches, Bakers' Arms, Ber st, Wed. and Sat. 4; Cushing, White

Hart, Ber street, Wed. & Sat. 4; Leggatt, Cricketers' Arms, Wed. and Sat. 4; and Dade, King's Arms, Ber street, Wednesday and Saturday, 3
 SAXMUNDHAM, Sawyer, Star, Wed. Sat. 2; Hogg, Lamb, Haymkt. Th. Sat. 4
 SAXTHORPE, Gent, Rose, Mon. & Th. 9
 SCOLE, Smith, George, Haymarket, W. S. 3
 SCOTTOW, Hunt, Lobster, Saturday, 4
 SHERRINGHAM, Blogg, White Hart, St. Peter's, Wed. and Sat. 2; Aldridge, Lobster, Tu. and Fri. 1; and Olley, White Horse, Haymarket, W. S. 2
 SHIPDHAM, Skipper, Fountain, Sat. 2
 SHOTTISHAM, Martin, King's Arms, Ber street, Wed. and Sat. 4; and Self, Jubilee, Ber street, Wed. and Sat. 4
 SMALLBURGH, Barber, White Horse, Haymarket, Wed. & Sat. 3; and Knights, Cat and Fiddle, Wed. and Sat. 4
 SOUTHPREPS, Perkins, Waggon & Horses, Tomblond, Wednesday and Sat. 2
 SOUTH WALSHAM, Cator, Horse Shoes, Saturday, 4
 SOUTHWOLD, Beddingfield, Star, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
 SPARHAM, Plumbly, Pope's Head, Sat. 1
 STALHAM, Leatherdale, Bell Inn, Mon. Wed. & Sat. 4; and Marsh, Waggon and Horses, Tomblond, Saturday, 2
 STIFFKEY, Brown, White Horse, St. Lawrence, Wednesday and Saturday, 2
 STOKE FERRY, Payne, Curriers' Arms, St. Giles', Saturday, 4
 SURLINGHAM, Aldis, Woolpack, Golden Ball street, Wednesday and Sat. 3
 SUTTON, Payne, Waggon and Horses, Tomblond, Saturday, 4
 SUSTEAD, Gray, Star, Wed. and Sat. 4
 SWAFFHAM, Payne, Coach and Horses, Bethel street, Wednesday and Sat. 4
 THETFORD, Clarke, Star, Friday, 3
 TOPCROFT, Tidnam, King's Arms, Ber street, Monday, Wednesday and Sat. 4
 TRUNCH, Everard, Pope's Head, Wednesday and Saturday, 2
 TUDDENHAM, Skipper, Fountain, Sat. 2; and Claxton, Crown, St. Benedict's, Wednesday and Saturday, 1
 TUNSTEAD, Roe, White Horse, Magdalen street, Wednesday and Saturday, 2
 TUTTINGTON, Hall, White Horse, Magdalen street, Wednesday and Sat. 4
 WALCOT, Marsh, Waggon and Horses, Tomblond, Saturday, 2
 WALSINGHAM, Williams, Black Horse, St. Giles', Thursday, 1
 WATTON, Payne, Coach and Horses, Bethel street, Wednesday & Saturday, 4; and Lawrence, Coach and Horses, Bethel street, Tuesday and Friday, 1
 WELLS, Coe, Duke's Palace, W. S. 4; & Williams, Black Horse, St. Giles', Th. 1

WEYBORNE, Fiddy, Crown, St. George's,
Wednesday and Saturday, 2
WIMBOTSHAM, Perfitt, White Hart, St
Peter's, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
WINTERTON, Meadows, Buff Coat, Wednesday and Saturday, 4
WOODBASTWICK, Thurtle, White Lion,
Palace plain, Saturday, 4
WOODBIDGE, Sawyer, Star, Wed. & Sat. 2
WOOD DALLING, Sexton, White Lion,
St. Lawrence, Saturday, 3
WORSTEAD, Abigail, Duke's Palace, W. 12,
S. 2; & Roe, White Horse, W. & S. 2

WORTWELL, Tidman, King's Arms, Ber street, Monday, Wednesday, & Saturday, 4
WRAMPLINGHAM, Hilling, Black Horse,
St. Giles', Tuesday, Th. and Sat. 3
WRENINGHAM, Brown, Trowel & Hammer,
St. Stephen's, Mon. Wed. and Sat. 4
WYMONDHAM, Betts, Bull, St. Stephen's,
Mon. Wed. and Sat. 4; and Gooch,
Cricketers' Arms, Wed. and Sat. 5
YARMOUTH, Dove, Nelson Monument,
Wednesday and Saturday, 4
YAXHAM, Skipper, Fountain, Sat. 2

HAMLETS IN THE COUNTY OF THE CITY.

The following are the principal inhabitants of the detached parts of the City Hamlets; and those residing in the other parts, forming portions of the city and immediate suburbs, are included in the preceding Directory. (See pp. 216 to 242.)

EARLHAM.

POST OFFICE at Hannah Bones'. Letters despatched to Norwich at 5.30 p.m.
Buck James, farmer
Bullard Richard, brewer, Earlham Lodge
Cross My. Ann, farmer, Lower Earlham
Kett Jonathan, farmer, Church farm
Leaman Daniel, horsebreaker and victualler, Volunteer
Lowe Philip, schoolmaster
Ripley Rev. Wm. Nottidge, M.A., incbt. of St. Giles', Norwich, Earlham Hall

EATON.

POST OFFICE at Wm. Webb's. Letters despatched to Norwich at 5.40 p.m.
Barnard Mrs Maria, Bellevue House
Bedford Mrs Chte., Fern hill Cottage
Bensley Mrs Harriet, Mile end
Bensley Wm. Thos. solicitor, Mile end ln
Betts John, Esq., J.P., Mile end lane
Bolingbroke Mrs Frances Cecilia, Villa
Butcher Robert, grocer; h Unthanks rd
Button Mrs Mary, Mile end lane
Clarke Justinian B.; h Richmond Lodge
Crook Mrs Sarah, Mile end lane
Daynes Samuel, printer; h Mile end ln
Dix Wm. Jas. farmer, Eaton Grove farm
Ewing John Wm. nurseryman and lime burner, Eaton and Cringleford Nur- series. (This nursery covers nearly 50 acres, and is the largest in the Eastern Counties).

Fish John, victualler, Cellar House
Forder James, market gardener
Freeman Chas. Rt. grocer; h Eaton park
George Thos. Wm. farmer, Church farm
Gurney Charles Henry, Esq., banker
Hussey Wm. nurseryman, Mile end lane
Jeckell George, Esq., Unthanks road
L'Estrange Capt. Hy.P., adjutant of West
Norfolk Militia, Eaton Lodge
Marston Richard, brewer; h Norwich
Mingay George, fancy dealer at Norwich
Newman Henry, farmer, North farm
Tallowin Joseph, victualler, Mile Cross

Nixon Robert, victualler, Lamb
Press Edward, coroner; h Unthanks rd
Pymer John, woolstapler; h Mile end
Robison John, silk mfr; h Unthanks rd
Rossi George, jeweller; h Unthanks rd Seed Henry, wool merchant; h Eaton hill
Sewell Arnold, shopkeeper
Stannard James, victualler, Red Lion
Stannard Thomas, cattle dealer
Sudbury Mr Thomas, Mile end lane
Taylor Clement, solicitor; h Mile end ln
Thirkettle William, shoeing smith
Thurgar Wm. Thomas, boarding school
Wayth Mr Henry Wm., Mile end lane
Webb Wm., shopkeeper and Post Office
Willetts Mrs Mary Ann
Womack Geo. Rbt.; h Claremont Lodge
HELLESDEN.

POST OFFICE at Edward Batson's, Upper Hellesden. Letters despatched to Norwich at 6.30 p.m. Letters for Lower Hellesden come through Cossey.

Armes Timothy, cowkeeper
Batson Edward, shopkr. and Post Office
Blyth James, wheelwright
Delane Wm., paper manfr. at Taverham
Govett Rev. Decimus Storry, M.A. curate
Grimmer Mr Wm. || Locke Miss Eliz.
Holman George, blacksmith
Hoskin Rev. Chas. H. (Particular Bapt.)
Palmer Robert, victualler, Windmills
Porrett Wm. butcher || Rushbrook Mrs
Ricebrook George, parish clerk
Thompson George, farm bailiff
Wright Harriet Lewis, schoolmistress

BRICKMAKERS.

Palmer James
Poll John

CORN MILLERS.

Batson Edward Bond Martha
Witard Ephraim

FARMERS.

Cross George
Gowing Geo. Hall

Orris Alfred
Stroulger Susan
GARDENERS.

Basey John
Brown Robert
Cox James
Dennington Job
Greenfield Samuel
Jeffries William
Upton Robert

HISTORY

OF THE

BOROUGH AND PORT

OF

YARMOUTH.

YARMOUTH, the principal sea-port and second town and borough of magnitude in Norfolk, stands pre-eminent for its prolific herring and mackerel fisheries, and during the late French war was an important naval station. It also enjoys an extensive traffic in coal, corn, and timber, and is in great celebrity as a bathing place, being pleasantly situated on that narrow peninsular strip of land, which is less than a mile in breadth and stretches about five miles from north to south, betwixt the German Ocean and the estuary of the rivers Bure and Yare; from the latter of which it has its name. It is distant 123 miles N.E. of London; 19 miles E. by S. of Norwich, and 9 miles N. of Lowestoft; being in 52 deg. 35 min. north latitude, and in 1 deg. 46 min. east longitude from the meridian of Greenwich; and standing on the east bank of the Yare, at its confluence with the Bure, more than two miles from the mouth of the Haven, which is lined with spacious quays, ship yards, warehouses, &c., and protected at the entrance from the sea by extensive and massive wooden piers. On the sea coast, east of the town, is the elegant modern suburb of Yarmouth, which is now one of the handsomest bathing places in England, and has long ranges of spacious houses, hotels, &c., extending about a mile in length from north to south, and having in the centre the Beach and the Jetty, where the herrings and mackerel are landed for sale; and at either extremity the Wellington and Britannia Piers, erected for the accommodation of the numerous visitors who throng hither in summer, and each extending about 700 feet into the sea. These piers are handsome structures, and were built in 1855 and 1858, at a cost of nearly £7000 each, by companies of shareholders. The jetty was erected in 1808, at a cost of £5000, and has a platform 21 feet broad and 450 feet long. It is a free promenade, but small admission fees are paid by those who assemble on the two piers, which are well supplied with seats, and have at their extremities broad and spacious platforms, sheltered by awnings in sunny and wet weather. The Marine Drive, which extends nearly a mile and a half along the shore from Nelson's monument to the North Star Battery, was formed at a cost of nearly £5200, and commands a magnificent sea prospect. By means of the Great Eastern Railway, which has two stations here, Yarmouth has a direct and rapid communication with London and all parts of the kingdom.

The PARISH of GREAT YARMOUTH, as it is called in contra-distinction to Southtown, or Little Yarmouth, on the opposite side of the river, in Suffolk, comprises the whole of the narrow peninsula just described, and contains about 1270 acres of land. It has 30,338 inhabitants, of whom 13,460 are males, and 16,878 females, according to the returns of 1861; but to these must be added the 4472 inhabitants of Southtown and Gorleston, on the opposite side of the harbour, in the county of Suffolk, swelling the total population of the town and borough to 34,810 souls, though in 1801 it only amounted to 16,573; in 1811, to 19,691; in 1821, to 22,000; in 1831, to 24,115; in 1841, to 28,038; and in 1851, to 30,879. The return of the parish of Great Yarmouth, in 1861, includes 16 persons in the Hospital, 332 in the Workhouse, 180 in the Royal Hospital, 40 in the House of Correction and Borough Gaol, 192 fishermen, &c. in boats and barges, and 39 absent mariners. Southtown, on the Suffolk side of the river, was annexed to the BOROUGH of GREAT YARMOUTH, in 1681; and the rest of Gorleston parish was added to it by the Parliamentary and Municipal Reform Acts of 1832 and 1835, so that it now comprises 3201 acres of land, and had 8169 houses in 1861. Of the latter, 7164 are in Great Yarmouth, and 300 were uninhabited, and 77 building, when the census was taken. The parish of Great Yarmouth forms a Registration District, and maintains its poor as an Union under the Poor Law; but Gorleston parish, with the hamlet of Southtown, is in Mutford and Lothingland Hundred (Suffolk), which was incorporated for the maintenance of the poor of its 24 parishes, in 1763, and by an amended Act in 1833.

The TOWN of GREAT YARMOUTH, from the shape of the peninsula on which it stands, is built in the form of a long and irregular parallelogram, comprising about 350 acres, and extending upwards of a mile along the river, from north to south, and half a mile in breadth. It is bounded on the east by the Ocean, and on the west it is separated from the suburb of Little Yarmouth by the river Yare, over which there is a handsome iron bridge. On the east, north, and south, the old parts of the town are encompassed by the remains of an embattled wall 2238 yards in length, and formerly having ten gates and sixteen towers, mostly of flint; but all the former have been removed since 1790, for the improvement of the entrances to the town, and, though many of the towers remain, they have been variously disfigured and altered. The town was formerly divided into four leets, and is now subdivided into six municipal wards. The principal streets are uniformly in the direction of north and south, except two at the extreme ends; and Regent street, a spacious opening from the centre of the Quay to the Market place, lined with neat buildings of white brick, and completed in 1813 at a cost of nearly £30,000. Before the erection of this street, there was no carriage-way through the town, except by Fuller's hill on the north, and Friar's lane on the south, both distant and inconvenient. The streets are connected by about 156 remarkably narrow lanes or alleys, crossing them at right angles, and bearing the common name of Rows, but distinguished from each other by numbers. Adapted to the straitness of these rows, the inhabitants, until a few years ago, used low narrow carts for the conveyance of goods to and from the shipping. These singular one-horse vehicles were about 12 feet long and $3\frac{1}{2}$ broad; and their wheels 2 feet 9 inches high, were sometimes made of solid wood, without tire. The drivers, with short whips, stood on the cross-staves and guided the horses with a rein. Formerly, carts of this description, but more elegantly made, were let to pleasure parties, by the name of Yarmouth coaches; and almost every visitor in the bathing season made a point of riding in one of the most whimsical carriages which any place in the kingdom could produce. These carts are now almost entirely superseded by long narrow vehicles, called Barrow Carts, which have high wheels and a rail on each side. The Market place, nearly encompassed by large and respectable shops, is spacious and handsome, having a well paved area of $2\frac{3}{4}$ acres; and Broad row and Market row, which are now great thoroughfares, are well flagged and lined with handsome shops.

The MARKETS, held every Wednesday and Saturday, are well supplied with corn, fish, flesh, poultry, butter, eggs, fruit, vegetables, swine, &c. Saturday is the principal market-day. The CORN EXCHANGE, in Regent street, occupies a commodious oblong building, lighted from the roof, and attached to the Commercial Club-House, which fronts the Short Quay, and is now used for the meetings of the Elocution Society. Both were opened in 1842. A commodious but unroofed Fish Market, on the site of the old one, was opened in Oct. 1844, by the Corporation. A FAIR, for all kinds of merchandise, except cattle, is held on the Friday and Saturday in Easter week; and a pleasure mart, or "gig fair," sometimes called "the orange fair," is held on Shrove Monday and Tuesday. The Races, first established in 1810, by the officers of the Berkshire Militia, take place in the latter part of August, on the excellent turf of the South Denes, near the Barracks, and the Naval Pillar erected to the memory of Lord Nelson. The space between the north end of the Market place and the Churchyard gate is occupied by a fine avenue of trees. One of the chief objects of attraction to visitors in this busy town, is its unrivalled commercial QUAY, which is allowed to be the finest and most extensive in Europe, except the far-famed one at Seville, in Spain. It is one mile and 270 yards in length, and in many places 150 yards broad, divided into two nearly equal parts, extending either way from the bridge, and distinguished by the names of North and South Quays; the latter of which is the most beautiful and interesting, being the resort of the larger ships, and having in its centre a charming promenade, planted on each side with a row of fine trees, and enclosed on the east by large and handsome houses, mostly of modern erection, and occupied by merchants and gentry. The west side of the Yare, in the county of Suffolk, also presents a busy assemblage of buildings, quays, shipping, &c., and is approached by a noble cast-iron Lifting Bridge, erected in 1854, by the Haven Commissioners, at a cost of £54,000. The iron leaves are so balanced, that four men can easily raise them, so as to permit the passage of vessels. This bridge occupies the site of an ugly wooden structure, which was built in 1843 in lieu of the old draw-bridge, which was also chiefly of wood, and was thrown across the stream from the centre of the quay, near the Town Hall, where the communication was by a ferry boat until 1427, when a bridge was erected, but several times falling into decay, it was rebuilt in 1553, in 1570, and 1785. A handsome Suspension Bridge, chiefly of iron, was thrown across the river Bure, at the north end of the town, by Robert Cory, Esq., under the powers of an Act of parliament passed in 1827, and at a cost of about £4000. This bridge was the scene of a fearful tragedy, on May 2nd, 1845, when in consequence of the clown of a circus sailing down the river in a tub drawn by geese, a large crowd assembled on the bridge, (which had recently been widened,) and making a sudden rush to one side, one of the chains gave way, and about 400 persons fell into the water. Seventy-nine perished, and many of those who were rescued never recovered from the shock. A new bridge was erected in 1847, at a cost of £1000, by C. Cory, Esq., and family. The Railway Bridge, which affords access to the Railway Station, was built in 1848, and is constructed chiefly of iron. It is 33 yards long, by 12 yards wide, and is divided into two portions, one side having a tramway connecting the railway with the quay, and the other side being for the use of passengers and carriages.

During the last 40 years, many handsome houses, and several extensive and elegant hotels, have been erected without the walls, on the Denes, or town commons; the Corporation having let on leases, upwards of 220 acres, in small allotments, now occupied by buildings and gardens. These building plots are now mostly freeholds. The rest of the Denes, extending southward to the haven's mouth, is open common and sea-beach, which latter presents a varied and busy scene to the spectator, especially in the fishing season, when the whole business of the herring-boats may be viewed from the jetty; but at all times of the year, ships of various magnitudes, and sometimes in considerable numbers, may be seen passing the shifting and dangerous shoals of sand in the offing, called Yarmouth Roads. As a bathing-place, few towns possess more attractions than Yarmouth, for, besides several excellent hotels, here are numerous private boarding and lodging-houses, and baths, bathing-machines, public gardens, and bowling-greens, of the best description. Pleasure and exercise may at all times be enjoyed, in an infinity of ways. To such as delight in the bustle of mercantile pursuits, its noble quays, its wharves, and its rivers, offer an enlivening treat; whilst the admirers of nature, in her quiet and rustic garb, may solace themselves in the more remote parts of the Beach and the Denes, where the lover of scenery may enjoy extensive marine views, and the botanist may amuse himself with examining a variety of rare plants. The Sea Coast of Yarmouth, for about two miles each way, is nearly a level common, elevated between two and three yards above high water mark. From the verdant edge of this common to the sea, is a gentle slope, composed of a deep, fine sand, intermixed with great quantities of loose pebbles, called shingle. As the highest tides here do not rise more than six or seven feet, the distance from high to low water mark is but a few yards. The beach, at ebb tide, offers an extensive and pleasant road for those who ride or walk. The time of high water, at the full and change of the moon, in Yarmouth Roads, is 45 minutes past 8 in the morning, and on the Bar, 20 minutes past 9. Owing to the general salubrity of the air, Yarmouth is but seldom infected with epidemic diseases. The wholesome exhalations, arising from the fish, during the operation of curing, are said to have a tendency to dissipate contagious disorders, and to be generally beneficial to the human constitution, which is here sometimes preserved to extreme LONGEVITY, for we find that, in 1784, Mr. Barrett died here, aged 100 years; in 1793, Matthew Champion, aged 111; in 1810, Mrs. Hunter, aged 102; in 1812, A. Royals, aged 103; in 1824, Luke Waller, aged 105; and in 1854, Eleanor Warren, aged 105; and at the time of taking the census, in 1861, there were living here 19 persons above 90, and 4 above 95 years of age. The plague, however, is recorded as having raged here to a dreadful extent in the years 1349, 1579, and 1664, carrying off at each period upwards of 2000 of the inhabitants.

As already noticed, the BOROUGH now comprises Southtown, or Little Yarmouth, on the opposite side of the Yare, and all the rest of Gorleston parish, which is wholly in Suffolk. The admiralty jurisdiction of the Mayor and Corporation, as conservators of the rivers, extends to Hardley Cross, on the Yare; St. Olave's Bridge, on the Waveney; and Weybridge, on the Bure; and to perambulate these boundaries, a grand aquatic procession takes place yearly in August, when the Corporation, after dining in great state, near the ruins of Burgh Castle, finish the day, and the "Water Frolic," as it is called, with sailing and rowing matches, in the presence of thousands of gay and joyous spectators.

ANCIENT HISTORY.—From the appearance of the country, and an ancient chart supposed to be drawn about A.D. 1000, it is evident that a broad and extensive estuary dissociated this part of the eastern coast, not only in the time of the Iceni (its aboriginal inhabitants), but for a long period after the Saxon conquest; extending its mighty waters westward to the city of Norwich; northward to Caister, Reedham, Herringby, and Strumpshaw; and southward to Gorleston, Burgh, Bungay, Harleston, and Haddiscoe. This large arm of the ocean, forming the grand receptacle of all the eastern rivers of Norfolk, (as it still continues to do, under the circumscribed form of the Yare), began to disappear early in the fifth century, when the sand collecting at its entrance was, by the action of the waters, gradually formed into an island, which ultimately extended to the main land, and became the peninsula on which Yarmouth is founded; the term Iar or Yare, being conferred by the Saxons on the present narrow estuary, from the turgid appearance and dark hue of its waters. This redemption of the eastern valleys of Norfolk is supposed by most writers to have been gradually effected by the layers of sand and silt brought by the tides from other parts of the coast, and deposited here; but Mr. Robberds, in his "Geological Observations," rebuts this opinion, and says that, as it is physically impossible for water to raise any permanent barrier above its own level, and as no sluice-gates nor continuous line of artificial embankments have been raised, "it follows, of course, that the change here observed is the result of a depression of the German Ocean itself, which is now at least forty feet below the height where there is evidence of its having been stationary at some distant period." From a comparison of facts recorded at different intervals, he estimates the gradual fall of the level of the sea at from 8 to 9 inches in every century; so that, according to this data, it must be about 6000 years since it was here at its greatest elevation. He likewise asserts that similar traces of receding waves are observable on the shores of all the seas and gulfs of Europe, whilst an opposite effect is visible in the Indian and Pacific oceans.

The Romans, who held this country in subjection from about A.D. 80 till their final departure in 446, gave to the broad estuary just described the appellation of Gariensis, and guarded its entrance on the north and south by two military stations at Caister and Burgh, to one of which they gave the name of Garianonum; but historians are not agreed which of the two bore that name, Spelman and Parkin ascribing it to Caister, and Camden, Ives, and other later antiquaries, to Burgh. It is probable, however, that both stations were garrisoned at the same time by the Roman Stablesian horse, for the purpose of keeping the conquered inhabitants in subjection, and guarding the shore from the predatory invasions of the confederated tribes of Saxons, Angles, and Jutes, who, even at this early period, often crossed from the opposite coasts of the German Ocean to plunder the fair territory of Britain. After the retirement of the Romans, who had been recalled by the intestine wars of Italy, Britain became an easy prey to the incursions of these tribes of northern marauders; and in 495, Cerdic, a Saxon prince, with Cenric his son, and a considerable body of soldiers, whom he had transported in five ships, effected a landing on the sand bank at the entrance of the estuary, and having put the Britons to flight, he commemorated his conquest by naming the place where he landed Cerdic Shore, or Cerdic Sand. This sandy island had then become firm land, and so large as to confine the waters at the outlet of the estuary within two narrow channels, one passing on the north by Caister, and the other on the south by Gorleston; but the northern channel, called Cockle water, or Grub's haven, was afterwards choked up. And thus the Waveney and the Wensum have since passed to the ocean through the present channel of the river Yare, which, above the town, expands into a broad but shallow lake, 3 miles long and $1\frac{1}{2}$ broad, called Breydon Water, and navigable only for small craft, though the tide often flows up to Norwich. When the Saxons had gained a firm footing, they began to turn their attention to trade and commerce; and as the waters had receded from the Roman stations at Caister and Burgh, they founded a new town on the west bank of the Yare, which they called, in the Teutonic language, Jiermud, since corrupted to Yarmouth; but the town was soon extended across the stream to Cerdic shore, which for some time had been the resort of fishermen from Norway, Holland, France, &c., who had erected on it booths, or tents for their temporary residence during the herring fishery, the place having been found convenient for drying nets and salting fish. The first houses are said to have been built near the spot now called Fuller's hill, so named, as tradition says, from the fisherman or merchant who first settled there. The town henceforth continued gradually to increase; but of its local affairs, under the government of the Anglo-Saxons, scarcely anything is authentically known; and as a specimen of the traditional legends of this period, Sir Henry Spelman has preserved the story of Lodbrog, or Lothbroch, the Dane, of whom it is said that, being hawking for birds near the islands of Denmark, he was driven by a sudden tempest across the sea, and entering the Yare, landed at Reedham, where the court of Edmund, king of the East Angles, was then kept. Lodbrog, being received into court favour, frequently associated with Bern, the king's huntsman, whom he soon excelled; this creating envy in Bern, he murdered Lodbrog in the woods, but was detected by the affliction of Lodbrog's dog, and being convicted, was committed to the mercy of the wind and waves, which carried him to Denmark, where, being examined on the rack concerning Lodbrog's death, he concealed his own guilt, and attributed it solely to King Edmund; in consequence of which Hinguar and Hubba, two Danish chieftains, to revenge the death of their countryman, immediately raised an army of 20,000 men, and, taking Bern for their guide, suddenly ravished all East Anglia, overcame Edmund, took him prisoner, and soon afterwards beheaded him; and by these means put an end to the Saxon dynasty in East Anglia, about the year 870.

After the dissolution of the Saxon Heptarchy, and the consequent union of the kingdom under one sovereign, Yarmouth began to make rapid strides in the scale of commercial importance; and to settle the frequent disputes of its fishermen and merchants, certain port reeves, or bailiffs, were sent by the barons of the Cinque Ports, invested with the necessary powers; but they staid only forty days during the herring season, viz., from Michaelmas to Martinmas. Subsequently, a free fair was established, and a burgh was founded, for the mutual consideration of comfort and defence. According to Domesday Book, the town belonged to the king in the reign of Edward the Confessor (A.D. 1041), and had a chapel dedicated to St. Bennet, and seventy burgesses, besides a number of socagers.

About the year 1100, Bishop Herbert de Losinga, the founder of Norwich cathedral, built here a church and priory, the former of which is now the parish church; and the black monks of the latter were in great repute for sanctity and devotion, under the control of the Priory at Norwich. In 1100, Henry I. placed the town under the government of a provost, whose magisterial office was in or near the Broadway, now called the Conge, and often styled in old deeds, The King's Conge. King Henry thus took the town under his protection, for the purpose of terminating the frequent disputes between its inhabitants and the Barons of the Cinque Ports, who for a long period despatched bailiffs here to superintend and regulate the business transacted during the grand mart, or free fair, held yearly for the sale of herrings. The Cinque Ports appear to have exercised this prerogative long subsequent to the period when the town was constituted a borough, their bailiffs having been admitted into court to hear and determine causes, in conjunction with the municipal magistrates. In 1208, King John, by a charter granted at Marlborough, constituted the town a free borough, and granted it many privileges, on condition of its paying to him and his heirs a yearly fee-farm rent of £55, in lieu of all the customs arising from the port, and this sum is still paid by the Corporation to the Crown. Different charters, to the number of twenty-five, have been granted to the burgesses by succeeding sovereigns, each conveying additional immunities, and the last (obtained from Queen Anne in 1702) settled the municipal government as it existed till the Municipal Reform of 1835. After the receipt of King John's charter, the burgesses made considerable progress in commerce, and formed themselves into guilds, or associations, for the protection of trade. In the succeeding reign of Henry III., two houses of black and grey friars were founded; and the long-subsisting disputes between the burgesses and the inhabitants on the west side of the river, in Little Yarmouth and Gorleston, broke out at intervals with such acrimony and violence, that the interference of royalty was called for. The king consequently instituted an inquiry into the pretensions of both parties, and a verdict was found "that the haven of Yarmouth appertaineth of right to the burgesses, and that all wares and merchandizes ought to be unladen and sold in the borough." Henry III. afterwards granted the burgesses two charters of privileges, with the liberty of having a gaol for the security of their own prisoners. Considering that

Yarmouth was the key to the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, he also granted his letters patent to the burgesses, in 1260, to fortify the town with a WALL and MOAT, and to use every precaution against a foreign enemy. These fortifications, however, do not appear to have been commenced till the 13th of Edward I. (1285), when King Henry's tower was erected at the north-east corner of St. Nicholas's churchyard; but the other works were subject to interruptions, from a lack of money and the intervention of the plague, and were not completed till the reign of Edward III. The wall and ditch encompassed the town on all sides but that next the river, and measured 2238 yards. The wall had 10 gates and 16 towers, and the ditch was navigable for boats and had a draw-bridge at each gate. A CASTLE was also erected near the centre of the town, surmounted by a beacon, and flanked at the corners by four turrets or watch-towers. Thus fortified, the town was considered impregnable, until the introduction of cannon made it necessary to improve the works. On war being declared against France in 1545, a large rampire was thrown up on the eastern side, and afterwards extended along the north and south walls. In 1588, when the Spanish Armada was hovering off the coast, it was deemed advisable to erect other works; for which purpose the deputy-lieutenants and justices met, and assessed on the county the sum of £1355. 4s. 9d. A strong garrison was immediately quartered here, a boom laid across the river, and a mound of earth raised higher than the walls, called the South Mount, on which were placed several pieces of ordnance. Another mound, called the New Mount, was afterwards thrown up near the site of St. George's chapel, and a warlike ship was fitted out, at the expense of the town, to annoy the enemy at sea. Of these fortifications a great part of the wall and a few of the mutilated towers still remain, as noticed at page 330. In 1550, the castle was used as the borough gaol, but during subsequent periods of alarm it was again repaired. The upper part of it was taken down in 1620, and in the following year the whole fabric was ordered to be dismantled and demolished. The North Gate, taken down in 1807, was flanked with square towers of curious workmanship, and is said to have been erected at the expense of persons employed in the revolting office of interring the dead during the plague, which is said to have swept away 7000 of the inhabitants, in 1349. The South Gate, taken down in 1812, presented two massive round towers, flanking a square curtain, beneath which was the arch. The most perfect tower now standing is the south-east, which, like that at the north-west corner, is semicircular, having its diameter next the wall, and projecting inward beyond the rampart. It is quite entire, chequered with black and grey flints, and has been converted into several dwellings. The modern defence of Yarmouth is by two batteries, on the north and south sides of the town, one mounting six, and the other seven guns of heavy calibre.

THE NAVAL ASYLUM, on the South Denes, forms a large quadrangular building, with piazzas and a detached range of offices, built in 1809, at a cost of £120,000, and used as a naval hospital until Saint Nicholas' Gatt, by shoaling its waters, rendered that entrance to the roads unsafe for men of war, and the Admiralty consequently ordered this establishment to be converted into Foot Barracks. It afterwards became a Military Lunatic Asylum, and then a Hospital for Invalid Soldiers; but in 1863 it was re-transferred to the Admiralty, and has undergone considerable alteration and improvement, at a cost of nearly £3000, so as to adapt it for the reception of naval lunatics. In 1815, upwards of 600 of the wounded Waterloo heroes were lodged here. The MILITIA BARRACKS, a handsome range of red brick buildings adjoining the Naval Hospital, were erected in 1856 for the accommodation of the staffs of the East Norfolk Militia and the Norfolk Artillery Militia. The ROYAL ARMOURY, in South Town, was built in 1806, at a cost of £15,000, for the reception of naval and military stores, but after being disused for many years it was in 1855 converted into Militia Barracks. It is a brick building, with a dwelling-house and offices, enclosing a court-yard; and, during the French war, about 10,000 stand of arms were arranged in it. The COAST GUARD STATION on the South Beach, is a good building of white brick, erected in 1859 at a cost of £3500. It occupies three sides of a triangle, and comprises residences for an officer and twelve men. An Observatory Tower, of white brick, was erected in 1843, near St. George's square, by the merchants and shipowners. It commands an extensive view of the ocean and the beach, and cost about £150.

Though many inquisitions had been taken by royal authority for settling the disputes between Yarmouth and the Cinque Ports, they broke out again in an open rupture in the 25th of Edward I., when Hollingshed says, "the King passing into Flanders to assist the Earl thereof against the King of France, had no sooner landed, than the men of the Ports, and those of Yarmouth, through an old grudge, long pending between them, fell together upon the sea, and fought with so much fury that notwithstanding the King's commands to the contrary, 25 ships of Yarmouth were burnt." In this desperate encounter many lives were lost, and goods to the value of £15,356 were destroyed; but we are told by Manship, that "a grievous requital was not long after made by the men of this burgh against the Portsmen." These disagreements continued until Queen Elizabeth adjusted matters to the satisfaction of both parties, after a quarrel of long duration, much bloodshed, and great loss of property. In the same reign, the ship carpenters of Yarmouth were in such repute that they received orders to prepare a large and very elegant ship, to be sent to Norway for the King's daughter, who was to marry Prince Edward. In 1287, the Church, and a large portion of the town, were inundated by the sea, during a tremendous storm. In 1294, the French attempted to invade England with a fleet of 400 ships, assisted by the treachery of Tuberville, an English Knight; but the plot miscarried, and the men of Yarmouth putting to sea a fleet of armed ships, captured and burnt Cherburgh, in Normandy, while a fleet from the Cinque Ports ravaged the whole coast of France within twenty miles of Dieppe. For this and other services rendered by the burgesses, Edward I. granted them two more charters, one in 1298, for acquitting them of tallage, aids, and other taxes; and the other in 1309, for regulating their trade and commerce, and the suppression of regrating within the town.

In 1332, a new controversy arose between the burgesses and the inhabitants of Little Yarmouth and Gorleston, the latter of whom were tenants of the Earl of Richmond. The Earl, as lord of the manor of the half hundred of Lothingland, on the west side of the Yare, persisted in claiming one-half of the haven, and the burgesses as strenuously opposed him. At length the contest was decided by the Lord Chancellor, in favour of the burgesses, to whom Edward III. immediately granted a new charter of confirmation. Similar disputes, however, arose in the reign of Elizabeth, when the "foot ferry" across the Yare was conceded to Gorleston; and in the reign of Charles II., when Little Yarmouth, or Southtown, was finally incorporated with the borough by letters patent, dated 1681. The burgesses were afflicted with another long and turbulent dispute respecting the boundary of Yarmouth and Caister, which had formerly been marked by the channel of the north haven, which was choked up, and converted into pasture land soon after the Norman conquest. After many acts of open hostility, in the time of Edward I. and subsequent reigns, a royal commission in 1546, determined the boundary, and ordered a ditch to be cut along it, and kept in repair at the expense of the burgesses of Yarmouth and the Lord of Caister. The town was plunged into another litigious contest respecting a sand bank, or small ISLAND, about a mile square, which was thrown up by the ocean in 1578, opposite the village of Scraby, and having become firm, grass grew and sea fowls built their nests upon it. Parties, in summer, went upon it for their recreation, and the Corporation, thinking it permanent, formally took possession of it in 1580. In this appropriation they were opposed by Sir Edw. Clere, who claimed it as part of his manor of Scratby, and accordingly placed a frame of timber upon it in support of his right. The litigation of the case afforded high sport for the lawyers, who, however, were put to their ne plus ultra to determine whether the bottom of the sea, if the water thought proper to leave it, could come under the denomination of either waif, wreck, or flotsam. In the midst of the contention, nature easily determined a point which they found so difficult to decide, for a boisterous storm, with a strong easterly wind, in a single night, swept away the whole island !

HAVEN.—In addition to the grievous and expensive litigations already noticed, the inhabitants of Yarmouth, from the foundation of the town to the present century, have experienced great difficulties, and incurred continued and heavy expenses in preserving the haven from decay, owing chiefly to the level state of the adjoining coast; the extensive shoals of sand, silt and gravel in the roads, and the scanty flow of water, even at the highest spring tides, which seldom exceed six or seven feet, whilst the neap tides only rise about four feet, so that the water on the bar of sand at the haven's mouth is not often more than eleven feet deep during the spring floods. When the north channel of the estuary had entirely choked up, as noticed at page 333, a powerful impulse was given to the inland waters down the south channel of the Yare, which then emptied itself into the ocean near Newton, a hamlet which was situated near Corton, in Suffolk, more than four miles south of the present haven, but long since swallowed up by the sea, which has left no vestiges of it but a small plot of land called Newton green, and the base of a stone cross. This channel subsequently forced an opening a little further to the south, beyond Corton; but from its great length and the many natural obstructions, it began about 1337, to be so choked with sand banks at the entrance as to prevent the navigation from being continued with safety, and in about ten years the trade of the town was entirely stopped. Under these distressing circumstances, the inhabitants obtained permission from Edward III. to cut a new haven opposite the village of Corton; but this, after costing an immense sum of money, became so filled with stones and gravel in 1373, as to be navigable only for boats. In 1393, a second artificial haven was cut across the Denes, a little to the north of the present foot ferry, and to assist in defraying the expense, Richard II. empowered the Corporation to levy a tax of 12d. upon every last of herrings brought to Yarmouth during the succeeding five years. Though this haven passed by a short and straight channel to the ocean, all the pains taken to preserve it were fruitless, for it followed the fate of the former in 1409, when Henry IV. granted them leave to make another channel near Newton, and gave £500 towards the expense out of the receipts of his customs. But in the course of a century, the charges of this haven were so oppressive, that the commerce of the port was almost ruined, and the inhabitants were so reduced as to be unable to pay the common subsidies of Government, from which the King generously exempted them. They were in this forlorn state, when Edward IV. assisted them with a gift of 2000 marks, and a remission of the fee farm rent for twenty years. But these, and many subsequent aids, were all unavailing; and in 1508, the burgesses were obliged to petition for a fourth haven, which was cut much nearer the town; but this was abandoned in 1528, when they made another cut near the south end of Gorleston. This failed, like its predecessors; and the burgesses, in utter despair, called to their council and assistance the principal persons in the adjoining counties, and after much consideration, it was resolved to try another cut, a mile nearer the town. Towards the expense, they sold the plate, ornaments, vestments, and bells of St. Nicholas's Church, and whatever else they could turn into money. By these means and private donations they raised the sum of £1816. 9s. 7d. This cut across the South Denes, nearly a quarter of a mile below the south gate, where the trench is still visible, was commenced in 1549; but the work was soon interrupted by the great rebellion, under Kett, the tanner, who sent a party of men to Yarmouth to demand a supply of provisions, and they not finding the people well affected towards them, surprised and captured the town bailiffs, and carried them to their camp, on Mousehold Heath, near Norwich. The bailiffs soon afterwards made their escape, and strongly fortified the town against the rebels, who, in revenge, came in the night, and breaking in upon the works at the haven, destroyed the greater part of the implements and materials collected by the industrious townsmen, who, with their magistrates, kept watch day and night upon the walls till Kett was taken and the rebellion crushed, as noticed at page 153. The works at the haven were renewed in the following year, but the funds being exhausted, they were suspended till 1553. In 1554, it was agreed that each alderman should find two men, and each of the common council one man, for actual labour, until such time as the haven should discharge itself into the ocean; but after continuing the works till 1557, and expending £6000 of the common stock, besides other moneys and contributions, they found, by sad experience, that the place was unsuited for the purpose, and were consequently obliged to stop up the haven with furze and rubbish, which were washed away fourteen days after by a great flood, in which the town was so deeply inundated, "that men might row up and down the streets, and several vessels were forced from their moorings and lodged upon the Denes." In 1559, having somewhat improved their finances, the burgesses, with a perseverance highly commendable, determined on beginning the present haven, (the seventh formed by artificial means,) and in this their efforts were ultimately crowned with success. The work was commenced by re-opening and deepening the channel which had been cut in 1528, opposite the parsonage house, at Gorleston. In this scheme, the people were enjoined to assist generally in the work on the 2nd of March, which they did, to the number of one thousand men, women, and children; and in the short space of two days, their united efforts were so successful, that the water issued forth into the sea, leaving a depth of ten feet at ebb tide. A pier was then erected, to prevent the current from running southward into the old channel, and the stones and rubbish of the ruined church of St. Mary, in Southtown, were employed in strengthening it; but after an expense of £2600, the water, in 1567, forced a passage down the old channel, towards Corton. After this disaster, the unfortunate burgesses engaged Joyce Johnson, a celebrated Dutch engineer, who commenced his operations by driving and hedging down large stakes and piles, to make a firm and substantial foundation. This was first done on the north, and afterwards on the south side of the entrance, for the purpose of forcing the reflux tide to run out by a north-east channel. The next step was the erection of piers and a jetty, for preventing the haven from being overflowed, and preserving at all times of tide a sufficient depth of water for the ships to float at their moorings. The North Pier and the Jetty were rebuilt in 1808. The South Pier, near Gorleston, has been greatly enlarged; and a continuation of it, in a fine curve carried up the river, forms an extensive and excellent wharf. It is constructed chiefly of large timber trees, joined and braced together by cross beams and iron work, and measures 800 yards long, 30 feet broad, and 30 feet deep, of which latter 26 feet are generally under water. The expense of cleansing the harbour, and repairing the piers, quays, &c., averages about £2000 per annum; and according to Swinden's history, no less than £241,578. 9s. 11d. were thus expended from 1567 to 1770. For meeting this vast expenditure, various powers have been granted since 1769, by twelve acts of parliament, the last of which was obtained in 1835. The act obtained in 1800, appointed 12 "Haven and Pier Commissioners," consisting of three members of each of the Corporations of Yarmouth and Norwich, and three magistrates from each of the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk. They had the power of levying a harbour tax of one shilling upon every chaldron of coals, also on every last of grain and weigh of salt, and on every ton of goods of a different description, (except fish,) which are unladen in the harbour. These dues produced about £10,000 per annum; but by the act of 1835, they have been considerably reduced, so as to enable this port to compete on more equal terms with the new navigation from Lowestoft to Norwich, in opposing which, the Corporation of Yarmouth fruitlessly expended £8000. The corporation dues formerly produced upwards of £3000 per annum, and consisted of a "chapel duty" of one shilling per chaldron, levied on all coals landed in the town, pursuant to an act passed in 1714, for the erection and endowment of St. George's Chapel of Ease, and of a tonnage duty of 1d. per ton on all coals and goods brought into the harbour, with an addition of 4d. per ton, called the "non-registry duty," and charged on all coals imported by non-freemen. These dues were abolished in 1846, and the Corporation now receives 1½d. per chaldron on coals and cinders, and ½d. per ton on other goods landed here, and charges small sums for measurage of corn, cranage, &c.

Among the many difficulties connected with this haven, the contest between Yarmouth and Lowestoft, concerning Kirkley road, was not one of the least. When the haven at Corton had become so much obstructed with sand and gravel, that the Yarmouth ships were obliged to unlade their cargoes in Kirkley roads, the burgesses petitioned Edward III. to unite that portion of the sea-coast to Yarmouth, to which his Majesty acceded (after an opposition of six years,) by granting them a charter, in 1372, empowering them, on paying to him and his successors 100s. yearly, to receive the same customs there as were collected at Yarmouth, and to seize the ships and goods of all defaulters, who bought or sold within seven leuks of the same. This charter excited much animosity and litigation between the men of Yarmouth and Lowestoft; and such was their various success, that the charter was repealed in 1376, 1381, and 1383, and re-granted in 1378, 1382, and 1386; since which Yarmouth has continued to enjoy the customs and other privileges which the charter confers, although much altercation was afterwards carried on between the two places. Towards the end of the controversy, there was much disputation respecting the true situation of Kirkley road, the Yarmouth men insisting that it was opposite the village of Kirkley, about a mile south of Lowestoft; and the Lowestoft men as strenuously asserting that the real name of that part of the sea was Pakefield Bay; that in consequence of Kirkley having been formerly a town of considerable trade in the herring fishery, it gave to all the sea thereabouts, even as far as Yarmouth, the name of Kirkley sea, part of which, namely, that situated a little to the south of where the haven's mouth then was, was called Kirkley road, and then annexed to Yarmouth haven. It was also alleged by the men of Yarmouth, that the seven leuks or miles were not to be measured from the quay of their town, but from the haven's mouth, which would have included within their port the town of Lowestoft. It was finally determined, "that the admeasurement should take place from the Crane Key, in the haven of Great Yarmouth, where the herring fair was usually held; and at the end thereof a post should be erected to denote the termination, within which extent the bailiffs of the burgh should enjoy the privileges and immunities afforded them by their charter, but no further." The jurisdiction of the haven, as now fixed, includes that part of the sea called Yarmouth Roads, extending northward to Scratby, and southward to Corton, in Suffolk.

Though Yarmouth never obtained the honour to which it long aspired, of being reckoned one of the Cinque Ports, it was evidently an important NAVAL STATION at an early period. At the commencement of the long and glorious reign of Edward III., it had 80 ships with forecastles, and 40 without. In 1337, the Yarmouth fleet, consisting of 20 men of war, conveyed Edward the Third's plenipotentiaries to the court of Hainault, and on its return, took two Flemish ships, laden with men, money, and provisions for Scotland. In 1342, the King embarked on board this fleet, on his expedition to Brittany; but while he lay entrenched before Vennes, Prince Louis of Spain dispersed the fleet, and thus drove Edward to great straits for want of provisions. For the memorable siege of Calais, in 1346, the principal sea-ports were commanded to provide a certain number of ships and men, and the quota furnished by Yarmouth was not equalled by London or any other port in the kingdom. The North Sea fleet consisted on that occasion of 240 sail, out of which number Yarmouth supplied 43, on board which were 1075 sailors. John Perebourn, a burgess of the town, was the admiral, to which rank he had been elevated in 1340, when he defeated the French fleet off Sluys, in Holland, after a desperate engagement, in which the French lost 230 ships and 30,000 men. In this fatal battle was used that destructive preparation, Greek fire, composed of sulphur, bitumen, naphtha, and some other ingredients, combustible under water, and burning with such intense heat, as to consume stones and metals, and consequently, if it fell on a warrior, would penetrate his armour, and peel the flesh from his bones with exquisite torture. One Dupré, about 60 years ago, discovered this lost invention, and offered his secret to the French government, who humanely refused to receive it, and gave him a pension not to disclose this horrid method of destroying mankind. During the late French war, Yarmouth became a grand station for part of our navy, and its relative consequence may be seen by an act passed in 1797, requiring 17,948 men to be raised in the sea-ports, according to the tonnage of each place. The quota for London was 5725; Liverpool, 1711; Newcastle, 1240; Hull, 731; Sunderland, 669; Bristol, 666; Whitby, 573; and Yarmouth, 506. It was formerly supposed that ships of the line could not ride safely in Yarmouth Roads; but it has been discovered that they afford a safe anchorage for a numerous fleet, immediately opposite the town, and consequently they are a great rendezvous for the colliers which are constantly passing to and from London and other ports. But though this part of the roads and the haven afford a secure asylum from the wasting elements and ruthless storm, the coast is the most dangerous in Britain, especially from Winterton-Ness to Flamborough Head, between which, for a distance of 140 miles, the land recedes inward, forming a large bay, the bottom of which is the Metaris æstuarium.

SHIPWRECKS.—A melancholy instance of the dangers of this part of the sea occurred in 1692, when a fleet of 200 sail of colliers having left the roads with a fair wind, were suddenly assailed by a violent gale from the north-east. After they had passed Winterton-ness, some of them tacked and arrived back safe in the roads; the remainder pushed out to sea, but were unable, through its violence, to clear the ness to the southward. The night was excessively dark, and missing the lights, few could find their way; some rode it out at a distance, but the rest, amounting to more than 140 sail, were driven ashore, completely wrecked, and scarcely any of their crews saved. At the same unfortunate juncture a number of coasting vessels laden with grain, bound to Holland, from Lynn and Wells, having just left the roads, experienced the same disaster; so that in the whole, more than 200 vessels and 1000 people were lost in one fatal night. In 1554, fifty sail of ships were lost here in one day, and a similar catastrophe befel a larger number in 1790. The danger arises chiefly from the formation of the coast, and the course which vessels navigating it are obliged to steer. If vessels leaving Flamborough Head proceed southward, and meet with a hard gale from any point between N.E. and S.E.; or if leaving Yarmouth Roads, proceeding northward, they are retarded by the wind blowing hard from the N.E., so that they cannot weather Winterton-ness, they become embayed, and the only chance of safety is to run for Lynn-deeps, in attempting which, they are in danger of foundering on the rocks near Cromer, or stranding on the flat shores between Cromer and Wells. On the 28th May, 1860, there was a terrific gale on the eastern coast of the kingdom, which swept 194 men in the prime of life into eternity, leaving 80 widows and 191 children bereft of their support, and entailing a loss of 21 fine boats on the shipping interest of this borough. About £10,400 were contributed by the benevolent for the relief of the families of the drowned, and this sum is invested in the 3 per cent. consols, and the interest doled out to the widows and children of those who perished. On Dec. 3rd, 1863, another tremendous gale did great damage to the shipping of this port, and occasioned the loss of a large number of poor fishermen. The late Captain George William Manby, who for a long period held the office of barrack master at Yarmouth, happily succeeded in perfecting a plan for saving the lives of shipwrecked sailors. His apparatus, under the care of proper persons paid by Government, is stationed at almost every port on the British coast, and has been the means of preserving many valuable lives. His humanity and ingenuity were rewarded by Parliament. The LIFE BOAT HOUSE, on the South Beach, was built by the Royal National Life Boat Institution, at a cost of £400, and contains two fine Life Boats, with tackle complete and ready for immediate use. These boats are worked by the beachmen, who are divided into four companies for the purpose, and there are similar boats at other places on the coast, and Lighthouses at Winterton, Haisborough, and Cromer, on the north, and at Lowestoft, Pakefield, Orford, &c., on the south. There is a Floating Light in St. Nicholas Gatt, and another was placed in December, 1843, in the Cockle Gatt, at the north entrance to Yarmouth Roads. The Brethren of the Trinity House, London, have several pilots here, and have stationed in the roads a number of Buoys for the guidance of mariners.

In 1352, the Corporation of Yarmouth gave to the College of Windsor a last of red herrings, and agreed to render the same quantity yearly, as a mark of their attachment to Edward III., who had been baptized there. Owing to the Dean and Canons making frequent complaints of the quality of the herrings, they were subsequently changed for the payment of £8. 1s. per annum, which still continues. In 1638, John Lawes, a mariner, was executed here for exporting seven sacks of wool without paying the customs. In the reign of Richard II., the charters of the borough were twice repealed, but as often re-granted and confirmed. During the rebellion of Wat Tyler, a party of the insurgents under Litester, the Norwich dyer, marched into Yarmouth, and after plundering many of the houses, broke open the gaol, executed three of the prisoners, and set the rest at liberty. The townsmen having armed themselves, attacked and routed the rebels without the walls, and they were shortly after completely overthrown by the warlike Bishop of Norwich. In 1395, several ships were captured on the coast by Danish Pirates, who demanded large sums of money for the ransom of their prisoners. A large whale was cast on shore, in 1475. The porpoise being then a favourite dish at civic feasts, the burgesses presented one of these sea-hogs to the Earl of Orford in 1491. The French Queen, and the Duke and Duchess of Suffolk, were sumptuously entertained here in 1515, during a stay of three days. The seven monastic institutions of Yarmouth were suppressed at the general dissolution in 1536; and in 1538, the Church was stripped of its images, pictures, and richly decorated altar. The brass plates were removed from the tombs in 1551, and cast into weights for the use of the town. The Grammar School was founded in the same year; but in 1579, it was shut up for six months during the prevalence of the plague, when booths were erected on the Denes for the safety of the fishermen in the herring season.

In 1574, the town was so full of Protestant refugees from France and the Netherlands, that the bailiffs published an edict forbidding the influx of any more of these foreigners; many of whom were ingenious artizans, and by settling in Norwich and its neighbourhood, greatly improved the staple manufactures of this county. In 1580, the fishermen caught and brought into the haven during a single tide, 2000 lasts of herrings. In 1584, twenty-four tons of stone were brought from France for the use of the piers, at a cost of £144. In 1625, an order was made that the poor of this town should be prohibited from marrying, unless they could show, by the handwriting of the alderman and chief constable of the ward in which they resided, that they were capable of maintaining a family.

During the CIVIL WARS between Charles I. and Parliament, Yarmouth declared for the latter, on the 9th of July, 1642, and the town was consequently put into a state of defence. The houses and workshops adjoining the walls were taken down, the gates rampired and locked, and the east leaf of the bridge drawn up every night. On October 12th, a ship, with 140 soldiers collected by the Queen in Holland, was compelled, through stress of weather and leakage, to put into the harbour, where she was captured by the inhabitants, who sent the men and arms to London. In December, £1200 was assessed on the inhabitants for fortifications; and they had afterwards to pay £34. 16s. 5d. weekly to what was called the parliamentary rate. In February, 1644, twenty fishing barks belonging to Yarmouth were taken by a small fleet of Royalists under the command of Captain Allen, of Lowestoft. Additional fortifications were made in 1645, and breastworks and platforms built at the sea-side. In 1648, the burgesses raised 600 foot and 50 horse; and in the following year after Cromwell had secretly solicited and contrived the King's death, they received orders not to proclaim the Prince of Wales or any other person to be King of this realm. On the death of Oliver Cromwell, in 1659, an address was unanimously voted by the Corporation to his son Richard, testifying in the most obsequious terms their readiness to submit to his government, and in the fanatical phraseology of the times, designating his deceased father as "the good, the great man, the captain of the Lord's host who is fallen in Israel;" and deprecating the Royalists as the "sons of Belial," and "the children of darkness." Notwithstanding the contemptible epithets applied to the Royal party in this fulsome epistle, the Corporation was politic enough to present a congratulatory address to Charles II., on his restoration in 1640, when they dutifully surrendered to his Majesty the fee-farm rent which they had purchased of Parliament, together with all arrears, and a present of £500. As a further mark of loyalty, they ordered, in January, 1661, that the name of Henry Cromwell, as High Steward of Yarmouth, should be erased from their records, and that their address to Richard Cromwell should be "utterly disclaimed, obliterated, and made void." By these means they gained the favour of Charles II., who, in 1663, granted them a new charter, with more extensive privileges. Judge Bradshaw, who signed the death-warrant of King Charles, resided here in the early part of his life, in the house now the Star Inn, and his family retained some property in the town many years after the Restoration. The great room called the Nelson, at this inn, is beautifully carved in wainscot, now sabled by time but in good preservation. Oliver Cromwell was a frequent visitor here, at the house of his Presbyterian friend and counsellor, John Carter, Esq. This fine Elizabethan mansion is still standing on the South Quay, and formed part of the precinct of the Grey Friary, granted at the dissolution to Thomas Lord Cromwell, but it was rebuilt in 1591. At one of the meetings held here by Cromwell and his officers, the death of the unfortunate King is said to have been proposed and determined on; and an upper room in the house is pointed out as the place in which this sanguinary act was contemplated. This house is now the residence of Charles John Palmer, Esq., who has expended about £400 in restoring its principal apartments. The drawing room, where the regicides met, measures 30 feet by 20, and is adorned with richly carved wainscot panelling to the height of six feet, and a beautiful ceiling divided into eight compartments, enriched with representations of fruit, flowers, &c. The chimney-piece is elaborately carved, and has two fluted Corinthian pilasters, supporting an entablature of curious workmanship. The dining room, on the ground floor, is 22 feet by 18, and its wainscot panels are profusely carved. Mrs. Cromwell, lineally descended from the usurper, died here in 1750.

In 1662, a great number of farthings were coined here for the use of the poor, which so offended the king, that it cost the Corporation £90 before they could obtain his pardon. In 1671, Charles II. visited the town, and the Corporation presented him with four golden herrings and a chain of £250 value, for which his Majesty knighted three of the burgesses; and by his charter of 1684, he empowered them to elect a mayor instead of the two bailiffs, and to hold two fairs yearly, with a court of Piepoudre; but these privileges were abrogated by James II., and not restored till the reign of Queen Anne. James II. removed eight aldermen and sixteen common councilmen, and placed others in their stead. On October 18th, 1692, William III. landed here with his retinue, and was sumptuously entertained by the Corporation. In 1711, an act was obtained for making a causeway across the Denes to Caister; and in 1712, twenty people were drowned by the upsetting of a wherry on Breydon water.

Methodism was first preached here in 1754, by Thomas Olivers, an itinerant preacher, who, after the church service was concluded, assembled a numerous meeting in the Market place; but as soon as he had read his text a clamour arose among the multitude, and he was forthwith mobbed out of the town. A more successful attempt to introduce the doctrines and forms of John Wesley was afterwards made by Mr. Howell Harris, who had previously been a preacher in South Wales, and arrived here in 1760, at the head of a volunteer corps raised by himself for the defence of the country, and then attached to a regular regiment. Finding that there were no Methodists in Yarmouth, and hearing of the treatment shewn to Olivers, he secretly caused the town crier to give notice that a Methodist teacher would preach to the people, in the Market place, on a certain day. The passion for novelty in some, and a feeling of curiosity and mischief in others, attracted a large assembly to the spot, many of them armed with sticks, brickbats, and other weapons. Mr. Harris, apparently unconcerned at their proceedings, had been exercising his men at a short distance from the mob, and when the clock struck the appointed hour, he quietly walked into the midst of the crowd, and coolly demanded the reason of its assemblage. Those nearest him replied that a Methodist had advertised his preaching there at that hour, but it was well he had not come, for if he had made his appearance they certainly would not have left him alive. Mr. Harris expressed his sorrow for their disappointment, and said, if they would favour him with their attention, he would give them a little friendly advice. His men then surrounded him; and mounting a table, he proceeded to sing a hymn, in which the soldiers most zealously joined; a prayer succeeded, and the military preacher then exhorted the people to abstain from their wicked courses. The wondering mob, awe-struck by the presence of the military, and subdued by the novelty of the scene, offered no opposition; their hostile intentions were abandoned, and the preacher, after a long and uninterrupted hearing, succeeded in converting many.

The first stone of the NORFOLK NAVAL COLUMN, to the memory of the gallant NELSON, was laid on Aug. 15th, 1817, by the Hon. Col. Wodehouse. This beautiful monumental pillar stands on the south Denes, about a mile from the town, and was erected by the contributions of the gentlemen of Norfolk, under the direction of Wm. Willkins, Esq., the architect. It is of the Grecian Doric Order, elegantly fluted, and 144 feet in height, ascended by an easy flight of 270 steps, and commanding an extensive view of the ocean, and of the country as far as Norwich. Upon the plinth are the names of the four ships, "Vanguard, Captain, Elephant, and Victory," on board which the heroic Admiral's flag was so valorously displayed; and on the coping of the terrace are inscribed the names of the four principal battles, "Aboukir, St. Vincent, Copenhagen, and Trafalgar." On each of the four sides of the pedestal is a flight of steps leading to the terrace, which affords a promenade round the shaft. The roof is supported by Caryatides, surmounted by a ball, and a figure of Britannia, exquisitely cast, holding in her hand a trident and laurel wreath. On the east side of the pedestal are the names of the committee, architect, &c., and on the west side is a very elegant Latin INSCRIPTION, from the pen of Mr. Sergeant Frere, of which the following is a translation:—

HORATIO LORD NELSON,

Whom, as her first and proudest champion in naval fight, Britain honoured, while living, with her favour, and, when lost, with her tears;
 Of whom, signalised by his triumphs in all lands, the whole earth stood in awe on account of the tempered firmness of his counsels, and the undaunted ardour of his courage;
 This great man,

NORFOLK

boasts her own, not only as born there of a respectable family, and as there having received his early education, but her own also in talents, manners, and mind.
 The glory of so great a name, though sure long to outlive all monuments of brass and stone, his fellow-countrymen of Norfolk have resolved to commemorate by this column, erected by their joint contributions.
 He was born in the year 1758;
 Entered on his profession in 1771;
 And was concerned in nearly 150 naval engagements with the enemy;
 Being conqueror, among various other occasions,
 At Aboukir, August, 1798;
 At Copenhagen, April, 1801;
 And at Trafalgar, October, 1805;
 Which last victory, the crown of so many glorious achievements, he consecrated by a death, equally mournful to his country, and honourable to himself.

In 1766 and '7, owing to a lack of employment and the high price of provisions, a subscription was raised for supplying the poor with bread at about half the current price. On Feb. 2nd, 1791, a raging tide inundated the Denes and the meadows to such a depth, that boats rowed on Southtown turnpike. On Jan. 19th, 1795, the Princess of Holland, her son, and several of the Dutch nobility, landed here after their escape from Holland, and were received with great hospitality. The Hereditary Prince and the Stadtholder arrived from Harwich two days afterwards, and accompanied the party to Colchester. The Duke of York arrived next day, but finding the royal refugees were gone, he followed their route. On the 1st June, 1797, a mutiny broke out on board the North Sea fleet, stationed in Yarmouth Roads, and several vessels hoisted the red flag of defiance, but it happily subsided before much damage was done, and the squadron was speedily called into active and successful service; for in October, Admiral Duncan, after defeating the Dutch, arrived here with the following prizes, viz.:—seven sail of the line, two of 65 guns each, one of 44, and one of 32. In the year 1800, Lord Nelson was presented with the freedom of the borough, and in 1801, he arrived here with his flag on board the London of 98 guns, to join the fleets under Admirals Dickson and Parker. The Rows or alleys here were first numbered in 1804; and in 1805, a tremendous storm nearly destroyed the old jetty. The King of Sweden having abdicated his throne, landed here Nov. 14th, 1810, under the title of Count Gottorp. On April 19th, 1814, the return of peace, and the restoration of Louis XVIII. to the throne of France, was celebrated here by a public dinner, purchased by subscription at the cost of £1106. 8s. 6d., and spread out on 58 tables along the South Quay, where 8023 persons made an excellent repast of roast beef, plum pudding, and ale.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.—Yarmouth is very advantageously situated for commerce, particularly to the north of Europe; and lying on the estuary of the rivers Yare, Bure, Waveney, and Wensum, which are navigable for keels of from 20 to 40 tons burthen to Norwich, Aylsham, Beccles, Bungay, North Walsham, &c., it has a ready communication with the interior. It has also direct railway communication with London and all parts of the kingdom, by means of the Great Eastern Railway, which has two stations here. At spring tides, vessels of 60 or 70 tons can get up to Norwich. The number of registered vessels belonging to the port is about 400, exclusive of about 500 fishing smacks and small craft, and the seamen are considered amongst the most able and expert navigators in the kingdom. The shipwrights are also much esteemed for their professional knowledge. From 30 to 40 vessels, many of them from 300 to 500 tons burthen, are built here yearly, for London and other merchants; but the number launched here in 1818 amounted to nearly one hundred. Here are several extensive Bonding Warehouses, with no limitations except tobacco, which may be brought coastwise for home consumption or ship's stores. The CUSTOM HOUSE is a large building near the centre of the South Quay, and belonging to it is an extensive warehouse on the South Denes. The gross receipt of customs here in 1833, was £56,487; in 1841, £69,726; and in 1862, £23,000. In its coasting trade, Yarmouth imports about 150,000 chaldrons of coals yearly, for supplying a great part of this and the adjacent county; and exports annually about 400,000 quarters of barley, malt, wheat, flour, beans, peas, and rye. Of this quantity, nearly one-half (about 200,000 qrs.) is barley, and upwards of 80,000 qrs. malt. The coasting vessels are generally from 70 to 100 tons; but ships of a much larger description are employed in performing foreign voyages to Russia, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Hamburg, the West Indies, &c. There are five wind-mills on the Denes, and three in Southtown, most of them very lofty, and each of them capable of grinding from 70 to 80 quarters of wheat per week. There is also a large steam corn mill in Southtown. Bridget Bendish, the eccentric and enthusiastic granddaughter of Oliver Cromwell, formerly carried on salt works on Cobholm Island, but they have been for some time abandoned. On the Denes are the extensive silk mills erected in 1818 by Messrs. Grout and Co., crape and shawl manufacturers, of Norwich, but considerably enlarged in 1825, so that they now give employment to about 1000 men, women, and children. But the chief business of the port lies in its extensive and unrivalled FISHERIES, which have been a constant and uninterrupted source of wealth and employment to the inhabitants, from the foundation of the borough to the present time.

THE MACKEREL FISHERY, upon this coast, commences in the last week of April, and terminates in the first week of July, during which period it employs more than 100 decked boats or luggers, of from 30 to 50 tons, each carrying a crew of ten men, and built at a cost of from £300 to £500, (exclusive of fishing tackle,) being of excellent workmanship, and calculated for fast sailing. Every boat is furnished with from 80 to 100 nets, each of which is about 20 yards long, by about 8½ deep; they are fastened in length to a wear rope by cords or seasonings, and are floated by corks at intervals of a few feet from each other, whilst the wear rope (nearly a mile and a half in length) is supported by small tubs or buoys, about thirty-five yards distant from each other. These boats fish from 30 to 40 miles off the shore, and mackerel are brought in every morning, often in very large quantities, and sold on the beach to the highest bidder; after which they are conveyed by rail to London and all parts of the kingdom. Yarmouth Roads also abound in sprats, cod, skate, turbot, soles, eels, whittings, and shrimps. One of the principal advantages derived from the Mackerel Fishery, consists in its furnishing employment for the fishermen, and keeping them at home for the herring season.

The HERRING FISHERY begins a few days before Michaelmas, and ends about the last week in November. This prolific source of wealth to the trader employs about 200 luggers, or decked boats, of from 30 to 50 tons, belonging to Yarmouth, besides about 40 cobles employed by the merchants, but belonging to Whitby, Scarbro', and other places in Yorkshire. Each of these vessels carries 10 men and one boy, and from 80 to 100 nets, each about 18 yards long upon the rope, and fastened together and floated in the water in the same manner as the mackerel nets just described. Providing themselves with a sufficient quantity of salt, in the event of being kept long out of the harbour, these vessels proceed to sea, and generally take their drift, as it is termed, about 8 or 10 leagues to the north-east of Yarmouth; but at some periods they meet with fish much nearer home. Early in the evening, the nets are thrown over the side of the boats, which are steered away under an easy sail, and hauled or drawn up again at daylight, when the success of the cast is ascertained: a single boat has thus been known to take in one night 12 or 14 lasts of herrings,* and a few years ago, a boat belonging to Messrs. Shuckford and Son came into the harbour with the extraordinary number of 25 lasts. The boats sometimes land their herrings every morning upon the beach, whence they are carried to the curing houses and salted, but more frequently they remain until several lasts are caught. In this case, the fish are salted on board, and when brought on shore they are carried to the curing houses in baskets of a peculiar shape called swills. Those herrings intended for exportation are again salted, and then all are allowed to remain several days in immense heaps, after which, they are washed in vats, then spitted through the head or gills and hung up in tiers reaching to the top of the building. Fires of oak billets are then kindled under them, but extinguished two or three times during the operation, to allow the oil or fat to drip from the herrings, until they are properly smoked,† which usually occupies nine or ten days,

* A last of white herrings is 13,200 fish; the long tale hundred being here 132. A barrel of red herrings contains from 600 to 1000 fish. Ten of the largest make a last of red herrings.

+ William Buckelsz, a Swede, who died in the year 1397, was supposed to have been the inventor of pickling herrings. But in Leland's Collectanea, Vol. III. p. 173, it is recorded as a fact, that pickled herrings were sold as early as A.D. 1273. It may fairly be presumed that preserving herrings, by smoking and drying, if not by pickling, is more ancient than has been recorded. Mr. Thomas Nashe, in a pamphlet published in the year 1599, entitled "Lenten Stuffe, containing the description and first procreation of the town of Great Yarmouth, with a new play of the praise of red herrings," ascribes the discovery to accident, by a fisherman having hung some up in his cabin, where, "what with his firing and smoking, or smoke-firing, in that his narrow lobby, his herrings, which were as white as whalebone when he hung them up, now looked as red as a lobster." The same facetious writer, in enumerating the excellencies of herrings, says, "A red herring is wholesome in a frosty morning: it is most precious fish-merchandise, because it can be carried through all Europe. No where are they so well cured as at Yarmouth. The poorer sort make it three parts of their sus-unless for foreign markets, when they remain much longer; they are then packed in barrels for sale. This fishery gives employment to about 2000 fishermen, exclusive of more than 100 ferrymen, 160 men and about 600 women and children employed in the curing houses, and a considerable number of rope and twine spinners, net makers and menders, basket makers, coopers, &c. Owing to the Dutch, French, and other fishermen being now engaged in this fishery, the exports from Yarmouth to foreign countries have somewhat declined; but they still amount to upwards of 20,000 barrels yearly. The home consumption has of late years increased, so that, in good seasons, from 60 to 70,000 barrels are sent coastwise to various parts of the kingdom. During the last 30 years, many of the Yarmouth fishing merchants have sent their boats to the coast of Yorkshire in August, and brought the fish here to be reded, but these summer herrings are much inferior to those caught here at Michaelmas; though by glutting the market, they often cause a reduction in the price of the latter. The Fish Offices, or curing houses, are about 60 in number, and some of them are extensive establishments.

A few of the spirited merchants of Yarmouth formerly embarked in the North Sea Fishery, near Brasse, one of the Shetland Islands, to which their boats proceeded about the month of June. This fishery was chiefly monopolised by the Dutch until the beginning of the 17th century, after which it was regulated by an Act of Parliament, and the merchants had a bounty allowed them for encouragement, according to the tonnage of their boats and the number of barrels caught; but the Act was repealed and the bounty discontinued many years ago, and the fishery consequently ceased.

Migration of Herrings.—The herring has been noticed by naturalists for its gregarious and migratory propensities. Shoals of them pass from the north to the south, and from the east to the west in search of food, for the purposes of depositing their spawn in the rivers, and enjoying that proportion of warmth which appears essential to their existence. When the weather becomes cold they leave the North Seas, and steer to the American rivers and other more southern climes; as the weather changes to heat they revisit the north, and then descend to the shores of Britain and Ireland, and thus by an instinctive change of place experience that perpetual temperature which appears to be best adapted to their nature. A large shoal appears off the Shetland Isles in the month of June. Here they separate into two divisions, one of which takes the eastern side of Britain, and the other the western. The latter is again divided by Ireland, part of which appears on the eastern coast, while the other crosses the Atlantic Ocean, and visits the American shores. Some of these brigades, belonging to the grand division, appear off the eastern coast of England about the month of September, when the fishing season commences.

The SAILORS' HOME, on the South beach, was erected in 1860, at a cost of £2000, raised by voluntary subscription. It is an extensive building of red and white brick, with four stories and a basement. The latter is open night and day during stormy weather, as a Refuge for Shipwrecked Mariners, to whom it affords warm baths, dry clothing, and all the necessary appliances for restoring suspended animation. In the upper stories are a Coffee and Smoking Room, open free of charge to all seafaring men, and in which refreshments are supplied at cost price; a Library and Reading Room, amply supplied with books, newspapers, time tables, magazines, &c.; a Class Room and Museum, containing numerous models of tenance. It is every man's money, from the King to the peasant. The round, or cob, dried and beaten to powder, is a cure for the stone. Rub a quart pot or any measure round about the mouth with a red herring, the beer shall never foam or froth in it. A red herring drawn on the ground will lead hounds a false scent. A broiled herring is good for the rheumatism."

ships, boats, and other objects of marine interest, games of chess, draughts, tactics, &c., and in which exhibitions, select readings and lectures on nautical, astronomical, and philosophical subjects are given, and the state of the barometer, thermometer, wind and weather, &c., are daily logged; a Nautical Class Room, for day and evening adult instruction in reading, writing, navigation, arithmetic, &c.; a Seamen's Savings' Bank; and a number of comfortable bed rooms, lavatories, &c. In front of the building is a noble flagstaff, giving a clear hoist of 100 feet, and effecting the double object of providing part of the funds necessary for the support of the Institution, and enabling vessels in the roadstead to report their wants, arrival or departure, by means of the New Commercial, or by Marryat's Code of Signals. Mr. George T. Watson is the secretary of the Institution.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.—It has already been seen that the burgesses have at various periods, from 1208 to 1702, received twenty-five charters; some confirmatory of former privileges, and others conveying additional immunities. The last, granted by Queen Anne, March 11, 1702, settled the mode of government, and constituted the burgesses one body politic and corporate, by the style of "the mayor, aldermen, burgesses, and commonalty of the borough of Great Yarmouth." Under this charter the municipal body consisted of a mayor, high steward, sub-steward, recorder, eighteen aldermen, inclusive of the mayor, and thirty-six common councilmen, with a town clerk, two coroners, two chamberlains, a water-bailiff, and other inferior officers. The mayor, high steward, recorder, sub-steward, and such of the aldermen as had served the office of mayor, were justices of the peace within the borough. The mayor was elected yearly, with other officers of the borough, on the 29th of August, by an inquest of the freemen, in a very peculiar manner, and sworn into office on the 29th of September, at the Guildhall. In the Municipal Reform Act of 1835, the borough is included in Section I. of Schedule A. among those boroughs, the parliamentary boundaries of which are to be taken for municipal purposes till altered by Parliament; and among those to have a commission of the peace, with a recorder and Court of Quarter Sessions, re-appointed. Under this Act it is divided into six wards, and governed by a mayor, twelve aldermen, and thirty-six councillors, forming the "Town Council," and dividing themselves into Committees bearing the following appellations:—"Ballast and Port Dues, Gaol and Bridewell, Market Tolls, Watch, Finance, Borough Lands, New Works and Repairs, Record, Cemetery, and Enclosure of Waste." The Commission of the Peace comprises 32 magistrates, and a list of them and the Corporate Body and Officers will be found at a subsequent page. In token of his office, the mayor wears a gold chain on all public occasions; and he is preceded by the town regalia, consisting of two maces, silver gilt; an oar of the same metal, a sword, and banners, on the last of which are depicted the arms of the town, viz., per pale, gules and azure, three demi-lions, empaling three herrings' tails."

The Corporation, by its charters, was invested with extensive privileges. It had a court of oyer and terminer, and general gaol delivery, which was only held once a year till 1814, when, in consequence of the great increase of prisoners, and the confined limits of the borough gaol, it was ordered to be held twice a year. This assize court, which is now abolished, had the power of life and death,* and the recorder or sub-steward was the presiding judge. The borough court is a court of record, held once a fortnight, for hearing and determining all manner of trespasses, covenants, deceits, debts, and contracts, to any amount, arising within the borough. The recorder or his deputy presides as judge in this court, which had its origin in the "Court of Hustings," held by prescription before the incorporation of the borough. Its practice nearly resembles that of the Court of Queen's Bench. Queen Elizabeth's charter, in 1559, gave the Corporation the important privilege of a court of admiralty, to be held every Monday throughout the year, for trying all manner of maritime cases (except piracy), arising within their jurisdiction, which, as conservators of the rivers, extends about ten miles up the Waveney, Yare, and Bure. James I. gave the Corporation the additional power of punishing pirates in this court, which was abolished by the Municipal Act of 1835. A weekly Court of Requests, commonly styled the Court of Conscience, was established by Act of Parliament in 1758, for the recovery of debts under 40s., and was held every Monday, in an apartment over the gaol, called the "Tol-house Hall," from the ancient tax on fish having been collected there; but this Court has given place to the County Court, afterwards mentioned. Petty Sessions are held daily at the Town Hall.

* Executions at Yarmouth, when it had jurisdiction in capital offences, were happily of rare occurrence; the last person who suffered here being John Hannah, a miserable old man, upwards of seventy years of age, who was hanged in 1813, for the murder of his wife. Only two others suffered here during the last hundred years, viz., John Barcham, in 1750, for the murder of Robert Ballen; and Eliz. Martin, for the murder of her illegitimate child; but in 1781, Wm. Pain, a pirate, was hanged in London, and afterwards gibbeted here on the North Denes.

Yarmouth sent two burgesses to Parliament in the reign of Edward I., equally early with Norwich and Lynn. Until the passing of the Reform Bill in 1832, the election of these representatives was confined to the freemen, who obtained their freedom by birth-right, servitude, gift, or purchase. About 800 of the freemen were disfranchised by the Reform bill for non-residence, and the remainder (about 1100) experienced the same fate in 1848, under the powers of a special act of parliament. The number of electors was, however, greatly increased by the admission of householders of the yearly rent of £10 or upwards, and the extension of the borough to the whole of the parish of Gorleston, of which it formerly only included Southtown, or Little Yarmouth. The number of voters registered in 1862 was 1535, and the present Representatives of the Borough are Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., and Sir H. J. Stracey, Bart.

The INCOME OF THE CORPORATION for the year ending August 31st, 1862, amounted to about £7265. 2s. 9d., arising as follows:—Rents of Borough Lands, £2528. 13s.; Rent Charge of Children's Hospital, £90; Tolls and Dues on 119,981 Chaldrons of Coals and Cinders, at 1½d. per chaldron, and on 76,087 tons of goods, at ½d. per ton, £908. 19s.; Measurement on 33,952 lasts of Corn and Flour, at 2d. per last, £282. 19s. 10d.; In lieu of Customs, Outgoings, and Pilotage, £430. 17s. 6d.; Market Tolls, £324. 5s. 4d.; Ballast Rent, £600; and the remainder from several smaller items. The EXPENDITURE in the same year was nearly of the same amount, and the following are its principal items:—Salaries, £820, including £200 to the Minister of St. George's Chapel; Annuities and Pensions, £204. 15s.; Compensation to late Municipal Officers, for loss of Offices under the Reform Act of 1835, £518. 0s. 9d. (viz., £213. 13s. 6d. to late Clerk of the Peace; £173. 5s. to Water-Bailiffs, less income-tax; and various pensions to late Proctors and Attorneys of the Admiralty and Borough Courts); Fee Farm Rent for the Town, £55; Police and Constables, £2067. 15s. 7d.; Recorder's salary, £63; Prosecutions, £337. 14s. 3d.; Gaol and Bridewell, and Maintenance of Prisoners, £846. 1s. 1d.; Coroners' Inquests, £113. 15s. 2d.; Public Works, £667. 4s.; Charities, £42. 10s.; Law Expenses, £41. 16s.; Local Board of Health, £140; and Cost of New Roads, £316. 17s. 9d.

The LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH was established in 1855, under the powers of the Public Health Acts of 1848 and 1851, and is now managed, in accordance with the provisions of the Local Government Act of 1858, by a Committee of the Town Council, who expend upwards of £5,000 a year in making and cleansing sewers; making, repairing, and improving roads; lighting, paving, watering, and scavenging streets, courts, &c.; maintaining fire brigade and engines; planting trees and shrubs; paying interest on mortgages; salaries, &c. Charles Cory, Esq., is clerk, and Mr. Joseph Nunn surveyor and inspector of nuisances.

The WATER WORKS were formed in 1855, at a cost of £80,000, raised in £10 shares by a company of shareholders, under the powers of an Act of Parliament obtained in 1853. The water is obtained from Ormesby "Broad," about eight miles from Yarmouth, and is of a peculiarly soft character, the Broad being supplied by natural springs and rain, and receiving no drainage or other impurities. Two steam engines of 40-horse power each, pump the water from the Broad into the filter-beds at the rate of 1200 gallons per minute, and after filtration, force it at the rate of 800 gallons per minute to the high-service reservoir at Caister, whence it finds its way by gravitation to all parts of Yarmouth. The filter-beds are composed of layers of sand and gravel, so disposed that the finest sand is on the surface, and the coarsest gravel at the bottom. All matter held in suspension is thus arrested in its progress, and the filters being frequently cleansed, the water is always pure and wholesome. Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., M.P., is chairman of the Company, Thos. Hawksley, Esq., of London, consulting engineer, C. J. Palmer, Esq., secretary, and Mr. Thomas Dale, resident engineer and manager. The office is at York House, York road.

The GAS WORKS on the South Denes were erected in 1824 by Mr. G. H. Palmer, who afterwards sold them to a company of shareholders. Since then the works have been at various times enlarged to meet the wants of the rapidly increasing population. In 1863 the company expended £30,000, and had a working capital of £5000, when a new Act of Parliament was obtained, giving power to raise an additional capital of £60,000 and to extend the works so as to make the necessary provision for efficiently lighting the town and neighbourhood. The office is in King street. Thos. Brightwen, Esq., is chairman of the company, and Mr. W. H. Willis, secretary.

The TOWN HALL, erected in 1716, for the general use of the Corporation, stands nearly in the centre of the Quay. The west front has a fine portico, supported by pillars of the Doric order, on each side of which an angular flight of stone stairs ascends to an elegant and well proportioned dining-room, with a richly embossed stucco ceiling, from which descend three very brilliant cut glas chandeliers. At the upper end is the fire-place, over which hangs a fine full-length portrait of George II., in his coronation robes, by Worsdale. An elevated orchestra extends across the lower end, and in a recess opposite the entrance-door is a model of Nelson's pillar, executed in wood. In the card-room is a good full-length portrait of Sir Robert Walpole. In the dining-room the Mayor usually convenes public meetings of the inhabitants; and balls are given there by his permission. The north front has a Corinthian entablature. This side of the building has been enlarged, and contains the town clerk's office, the police office, several cells for the temporary confinement of prisoners, and the court-room in which petty sessions are held daily. The police force consists of a superintendent, three sergeants, three acting sergeants, and twenty-seven men. A Record Room has recently been added to the Town Hall, and the whole of the charters and other borough records are now kept in a small fire-proof room in connection with it. Some of these records are beautifully engrossed and richly illuminated. The "Hutch," in which they were till recently preserved, is also in the Record Room, and was given to the Corporation in 1601, by Mrs. Alice Bartlemew. It is a curious chest of oak, completely covered and banded with iron, and appears to have been made in the fifteenth century, and originally to have belonged to a church.

The TOWN HOUSE, on the South Quay, is another edifice belonging to the Corporation. It was originally a Dutch Chapel, built in 1600, and afterwards used as an English chapel by Mr. Brinsley, one of the ministers ejected from St. Nicholas's church; but not being consecrated, it was suppressed by the bishop. Part of the building is occupied by the Public Library and the Haven and Pier Commissioners.

The GAOL and BRIDEWELL, in Gaol street, are extensive buildings, all erected since the year 1818, at a cost of £3397, except the Old Gaol, which fronts the street, and contains the Tolhouse or court-room, in which the Quarter Sessions are held. There are about 30 cells, of which about 16 are for separate confinement; but the buildings are dark and narrow, and quite unsuitable for efficiently carrying out the sentences of the law. It would be a great public advantage if this prison were only used for untried prisoners and those sentenced for very short terms; and all those under sentence for longer terms, as well as all the female prisoners, sent to Norwich or Wymondham. Mr. Joseph Giles is governor; the Rev. Canon Neville, chaplain; S. T. F. Stafford, Esq., surgeon, Mrs. Giles, matron; Joseph Jackson, schoolmaster; and Matthew Barker, turnkey. The average expenditure of the prison is upwards of £700 a year.

CORPORATION OF YARMOUTH, (1863-4.)

HIGH-STEWARD. — The Right Honourable Lord Sondes.

MAYOR.—Robert Steward, Esq. (Fourth Time.)

The Past Mayors since 1835 are Isaac Preston, jun., William Barth, (twice), George Penrice, Simon Cobb, Samuel Jay, Samuel Palmer, (thrice), Wm. Johnson, Saml. Chas. Marsh, (twice), Wm. Hurry Palmer, Wm. Norton Burroughes, Philip Pullyn, David Abraham Gourlay, (twice), Charles Pearson, Jas. Cherry, (twice), Charles John Palmer, (twice), Charles Cory Aldred, Francis Worship, Robert Steward, (thrice), Wm. Worship, and Samuel Nightingale, Esqrs.

RECORDER AND JUDGE OF THE COURT OF RECORD.—Nathaniel Palmer, Esq.

ALDERMEN.—Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., M.P., and Thos. Bunn, Robins Purdy, Geo. S. Shingles, Isaac Shuckford, and E. P. Youells, Esqs., who retire in 1865; and J. T. Bracey, J. W. Bunn, B. Fenn, H. R. Harmer, William Laws, and William Mabson, Esqs., who retire in 1868.

COUNCILLORS.

The figures show the year in which each Councillor retires from office.

St. Nicholas Ward.	Regent Ward.	Nelson Ward.
William Worship .. 1864	Robert D. Barber .. 1864	Charles J. Palmer.. 1864
John B. Hylton.... 1864	John Stephenson .. 1864	Charles Woolverton 1864
Henry Boulter 1865	Caleb B. Rose 1865	George D. Palmer.. 1865
John Mainprice ... 1865	Edward Stagg 1865	Cubitt E. Bartram.. 1865
Wm. Henry Bessey. 1866	Wm. C. Reynolds .. 1866	John Clark..... 1866
Samuel Nightingale 1866	William Wright.... 1866	Jas. H. Harrison .. 1866
Market Ward.	St. George's Ward.	St. Andrew's Ward.*
D. A. Gourlay 1864	Richard Ferrier.... 1864	Robert Steward 1864
E. A. Aldred 1864	Benjamin Jay 1864	William J. Brand .. 1864
C. C. Aldred 1865	John C. Smith 1865	E. H. L. Preston .. 1865
Francis Worship .. 1865	James Scott 1865	Henry Teasdel 1865
J. E. Barnby..... 1866	Wm. J. Foreman .. 1866	Samuel C. Richmond 1866
C. C. Nuthall..... 1866	Charles Palmer.... 1866	Thomas Wm. Gooda 1866

TOWN CLERK.—Charles Cory, Esq.—CLERK OF THE PEACE, J. L. Cufaude, Esq.

CORONER.—C. H. Chamberlin, Esq.—TREASURER.—Thos. Brightwen, Esq.

AUDITORS.—Messrs. Thomas Paul and J. A. Norman, Jun.

REVISING ASSESSORS.—Messrs. S. W. Craske and J. T. Buston.

AUDITOR OF ELECTION EXPENSES.—Mr. Edward R. Aldred.

COLLECTORS—of Rents, W. Hanworth: of Market Tolls, Messrs. Bower and Co.

GAOLOR.—Mr. Joseph Giles.—NEATHERD.—William Walpole.

SERJEANTS AT MACE.—J. G. Ellis and H. P. Thompson.

HALL-KEEPER.—R. Collins.—BELLMAN.—Richard Paul.

SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE AND FIRE BRIGADE.—Mr. George Tewsley.

POLICE SERGEANTS.—Henry Barnes, S. Allies, and George Berry.

BALLAST MASTERS.—Messrs. Bower and Co., of Leeds.

* St. Andrew's Ward comprises Southtown and Gorleston.

COLLECTOR OF PORT DUES, WATER BAILIFF, MET FARM OFFICER, AND CRANE MASTER.—Mr. George Colk.

INSPECTOR OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—E. D. Louttid.

CORPORATION ACCOUNTANT.—Henry Teasdel, Jun.

RECEIVER OF RENTS.—William Hanworth.

SUPERINTENDENT OF CORN METERS.—Joseph Morley.

SURVEYOR AND INSPECTOR OF GAS METERS.—A. W. Morant, Esq.

The BOROUGH MAGISTRATES are the Mayor, the Ex-Mayor, and Geo. D. Palmer, John Brightwen, R. P. Kemp, J. W. Shelly, W. Johnson, R. Hammond, J. F. Costerton, E. H. L. Preston, J. C. Smith, W. Thurtell, Benjamin Jay, W. H. Bessey, J. Fenn, W. H. Palmer, Thos. Brightwen, Robert Steward, J. Cherry, C. C. Aldred, Benjamin Fenn, P. Pallyn, D. A. Gourlay, F. Palmer, W. T. Clarke, J. Barker, J. Owles, F. Worship, E. P. Youell, John Clark, David Falcke, James Scott, and William Briggs, Esqs.—CLERK TO THE MAGISTRATES.—William Holt, Esq.

The BOROUGH CHARITY TRUSTEES are the Right Rev. George Hills, D.D., Bishop of Columbia; Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., M.P.; and G. D. Palmer, W. Johnson, C. J. Palmer, Thomas Brightwen, Benjamin Jay, John W. Shelly, E. H. L. Preston, W. N. Burroughes, C. C. Aldred, Charles Cory, Richard Hammond, William H. Palmer, and William P. Dowson, Esqs.

HAVEN AND PIER COMMISSIONERS.—Robert Steward, G. D. Palmer, and John Barker, Esqs., for Yarmouth, (see page 338.) Their officers are, D. A. Gourlay and Richard Hammond, Esqs., supernumerary commissioners; Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., M.P., treasurer; I. Preston, jun., Esq., clerk; J. Abernethy, Esq., engineer; Capt. S. Smyth, R.N., pier master; Capt. J. Betts, harbour master; G. Costerton, Esq., collector of haven dues; Mr. W. Teasdel, deputy engineer; and Mr. George Smouton, bridge master.

SUB-COMMISSIONERS OF PILOTAGE.—W. Davie, J. Barker, H. Jay, & W. Fisher, Esqs.

BOARD OF TRADE SURVEYORS.—Messrs. G. W. Moore and James Beeching.

LLOYDS' AGENT.—Capt. W. T. Rivers, R.N.

ADMIRALTY SOLICITORS.—Messrs. Reynolds and Palmer.

CUSTOM HOUSE OFFICERS.—W. C. Maclean, Esq., collector; Mr. G. W. Carr, clerk; J. Barker, R. B. Mitchell, and W. H. Palmer, jun., examining officers; Capt. George D. Bevan, R.N., inspecting commander of Coast Guard.

INLAND REVENUE OFFICERS.—Wm. Brown, Esq., collector; Mr. Chas. St. Quinton, supervisor; Mr. Daniel B. Palmer, stamp distributor; and Messrs. Heady, Townsend, Potts, Hoggett, Thickpenny, and Davey, division officers; and Messrs. Buxton, and Brooksby, clerks. The office is at 9, Norfolk terrace.

TAX OFFICE.—26, King street, George Brown, Esq., surveyor, and Robert Pizey and Samuel Stevenson, collectors.

The COUNTY COURT is held in the Tolhouse Hall, every month, and Yarmouth County Court District comprises the parishes of Ashby-with-Oby, Billockby, Burgh St. Margaret, Burgh St. Mary, Caister, Clippesby, Filby, Freethorpe, Halvergate, Hemsby, Horsey-next-the-Sea, Limpenhoe, Martham, Mautby, Great and Little Ormesby, Potter Heigham, Reedham, Repps, Rollesby, Runham, Scratby, East and West Somerton, Southwood, Stokesby-with-Herringby, Thrigby, Thurne, Tunstall, Wickhampton, Winterton, and Yarmouth, in Norfolk; and Belton, Bradwell, Burgh Castle, Fritton, Gorleston, and Hopton, in Suffolk. Thos. J. Birch, Esq., is judge, and J. Townley, Esq., treasurer. The COUNTY COURT OFFICE is at 23, King street, and Charles Henry Chamberlin, Esq., is registrar, and Capt. John Cox, high bailiff.

† MONASTERIES.—Yarmouth had formerly seven monastic establishments, all of which suffered the general fate of such institutions under the suppressing acts of Henry VIII. and Edward VI. St. Mary's Hospital, which stood in the Market place, in front of the present Children's Hospital, was founded in the reign of Edward I., by Thos. Fastolff, and its revenue was augmented in 1278, by Sir Wm. Gerbrygge. It maintained two priests or chaplains, eight brethren, and eight sisters, and received many subsequent benefactions. At the dissolution it was valued at £4. 13s. 4d., and was granted to the Corporation, who converted it into a Grammar School for the inhabitants, and afterwards into a Hospital-school and Workhouse. It was taken down at the erection of the new Children's Hospital, in 1843. A Benedictine Priory was founded on the Denes, in the 11th century, by Bishop Herbert de Losinga, at the time he built St. Nicholas' Church, to which it was attached. It was a cell to the Priory at Norwich, and some remains of it are still standing on the north side of the church, and were partly used as a stable and other offices, till 1851, when they were restored, enlarged, and converted into National Schools. Two Leper Houses, founded before the year 1374, stood near the North Gates, but their sites are unknown. Three friaries were founded in the reign of Henry III., viz., the Grey Friary, built by Sir Wm. Gerbrygge, in that part of the town now called the Broad row, and granted at the dissolution to Thomas Lord Cromwell and Sir Richard Williams; the Black Friary, founded by Geoffery de Pikgrin and Thomas Fastolff, at the south end, near Friar's lane, but burnt down in 1525; and the White Friary, which stood at the north end of the town, and was burnt down in 1509. Several Almshouses, at Priory place, and near the town walls, are supposed to have formerly appertained to the leper houses or some other of the above institutions. The buildings which had belonged to the Grey Friary became the property of the Corporation, who sold them in 1657, for £2600.

ST. NICHOLAS' CHURCH was founded in the early part of the 12th century, by Herbert de Losinga, the first Bishop of Norwich, and having been considerably enlarged by Bishop Walter de Suthfield, in 1250, it was dedicated in 1251 to the patron saint of fishermen. Transepts were added about 150 years after the original foundation, by Bishop Middleton; and in 1370 the Prior of St. Olave's erected a magnificent rood-loft, and a chapel at the east end dedicated to "Our Lady of Arneburgh." Sixteen other chapels or chantries, with altars, were subsequently founded within the walls of the church, and in many of them were interred the bodies of their benefactors. These chapels were rich in silver utensils, jewels, and precious stones, furnished by their respective guilds, and by various legacies, until the 37th of Henry VIII., when all the guilds were dissolved, except the merchants'; the plate and ornaments belonging to them sold, and the money applied to other uses. In 1551, the whole of the monumental brasses were cast into weights and measures for the use of the town. The building suffered much damage at the hands of the puritans, and during the Commonwealth the chancel was separated from the nave, the Independents occupying the former and the Presbyterians the latter. The old spire was much injured by lightning in 1683, and appeared crooked from whatever direction it was viewed. In 1803, it had become so insecure that it was taken down, and a new spire, 168 feet high, covered with tinned sheet copper, erected in its place, at a cost of £1890. The church was further repaired under an Act passed in 1806, when the south and west sides, instead of being refaced with the grey flints originally used, were injudiciously covered with cement. In 1807, a new clock was purchased, and in the following year a new peal of ten fine-toned bells was placed in the tower, at a cost of £1200. In 1847-'8, the interior of the church underwent a thorough restoration at a cost of nearly £6000, and the unsightly pews and galleries were replaced by good open benches. The exterior of the building, which is in a very dilapidated state, is about to be restored at a cost of £15,000, and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich have given £1000 towards repairing the chancel. If this restoration be properly carried out, this will be one of the finest, as it is one of the largest parish churches in the kingdom. The nave is 150, and the chancel 80 feet long, so that the extreme length of the church is 230 feet. The nave, or central aisle, is the narrowest, being only 30 feet wide, whilst the side aisles are each 39 feet wide. The transepts are 154 feet in length. The chancel is divided from the nave by a wall, giving it the appearance of a separate church, and it is entered by a door on the south side. The architecture of the building is of mixed character. The south porch has a chamber or parvise over it, and there are the remains of a crypt or charnel under the chancel. The tower is early English, carried on fine arches with rich mouldings, with singular bands of trefoils and quatrefoils round the shafts; the piers are of different periods, those on the east side being Perpendicular. The arches from the transepts to the aisles are fine early English, the arches and pillars of the nave are of the same style, but plainer; the pillars octagonal, with moulded caps and bases. The walls of the aisles are early English, with Perpendicular windows inserted in the original jambs, which retain their shafts. In the north wall is a good Decorated sepulchral recess, with a tomb ornamented with a floriated cross, and usually called the "Prior's Tomb." In the south wall is a Perpendicular recess for a tomb, with the remains of a shield of arms, apparently those of Fastolff. Close to this are the piscina and aumbry of a Perpendicular chantry, and at the east end of the aisle is an early English piscina, &c. At the west end of the north aisle is a handsome memorial window of stained glass, to Miss Sarah Martin, the prison visitor. There is a similar window in the south aisle to R. Reynolds and his wife. The heads of three other windows have been filled with stained glass at the expense of Charles J. Palmer, Esq. In the north transept are a library containing many editions of the Early Fathers, and a singular revolving reading desk. In a niche at the west door is a curious seat formed from the jawbone of a whale. It formerly stood at the church gate, and was popularly called the "Devil's Seat." The west end of the church is of unusual dimensions and design, having three large gables, the centre being the smallest, and having a triple lancet window over the west door; the other two gables seem also to have originally had triple-lancet windows and panelling, but these are now filled up with Perpendicular work. Between the gables and at the angles are tall pinnacles. The original corbel-tables remain on both sides of the nave, but are now under the roofs of the aisles, thereby showing that the former aisles were narrow and had lean-to roofs below these corbels. The chancel has a modern east end, and has been shortened, but it is proposed to restore it to its original length. There are the remains of a Perpendicular reredos, with a small doorway on each side of the altar; and there are also remains of fine Perpendicular sedilia and an arcade on the north side. The side windows are of early Decorated character, and were restored about twenty-five years since. The north chapel of the chancel is Decorated, and contains a handsome canopied monument of Robert Crowmer, erected in the early part of the 16th century. The south chapel has Perpendicular windows inserted, but contains the remains of good Decorated piscina and sedilia, and an interesting fresco painting representing two females, and a group of knights in chain armour. A great object of attraction within the church is its magnificent and powerfully toned organ, which was built in 1733, and repaired in 1810 and 1844. It is divided into three parts, and has eleven stops consigned to the great organ, five more to the choir, and eight others to the swell, which goes down to C, besides two octaves of pedal pipes. The chancel contains a number of marble tablets and other memorials of the dead. In the north aisle are interred the remains of John Carter, Esq., and Mrs. Bridget Bendish, the former the bosom friend, and the latter the granddaughter of Oliver Cromwell. The churchyard, which comprises nearly nine acres, was enlarged about thirty years ago, and is approached from the Market place by a fine avenue of trees. On the north side are the ruins of the priory cell, which had a deacon, three chaplains, and eight monks, who performed divine worship here under the control of the prior of Norwich, until the dissolution, when the Dean and Chapter of Norwich became the appropriators and patrons of the benefice, which is a perpetual curacy, not in charge, but valued at £360 a year, and now in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Ralph Nevill, M.A., Hon. Canon of Norwich. Mr. James Burman is parish clerk, Mr. Omar Osborn, sexton, and Mr. Henry Stonex, organist.

The parish church was the only episcopal place of worship in the town till 1714, when, in consequence of the great increase of the population, the Corporation obtained an Act of Parliament to erect St. GEORGE'S CHURCH, as a chapel of ease; and for liquidating the expense, they were empowered to levy a tax upon all coal, culm, and cinders imported and consumed within the town. This church is a handsome building of brick and stone, and of an extended octagonal form, with a square tower surmounted by an octagonal turret and dome. It is neatly pewed for about twelve hundred hearers, and has a good organ, a clock and a bell. The perpetual curacy was in the patronage of the Corporation, but about thirty years ago they sold the advowson to the Rev. Mark Waters, B.A., the present incumbent. The impost on coal, &c., was abolished in 1846, and the Corporation pay the following yearly salaries, viz., £200 to the minister; £24 to Mr. W. V. Nolloth, the organist; and £35 to Mr. Robert Child, the clerk.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH is another chapel of ease, erected in consequence of a further increase of the town, and finished in August, 1833, at a cost of £12,000, of which £2000 were raised by subscription, and the remainder was paid by the commissioners for building new churches. It is a large and handsome structure of white brick, but the buttresses are ornamentally chequered with square flints. It stands on the site of part of the town wall, near the Jetty road, and measures 123 feet 9 inches in length. 64 feet in breadth, and 40 feet to the height of the ceiling; but the tower rises to the altitude of 107 feet six inches, and had formerly pinnacles, but one of them being blown down in the terrific gale of May, 1860, did considerable injury to the building, and the others were then removed. The church is neatly pewed, and has 1800 sittings, of which 1096 are free. A new organ was erected in 1857, at a cost of £300. In the chancel is a fine painting of the descent from the cross, copied by T. Myers from Rubens' picture at Antwerp, and presented to the church by Colonel Mason. The Dean and Chapter of Norwich, as appropriators, endowed the perpetual curacy with £20 a year, and it is now valued at £190. The incumbent of St. Nicholas is patron, and the Rev. Bowyer Vaux, M.A., is the present minister, Mr. F. W. Rolfe is the organist, and Henry Panks, sexton.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, on the North quay, is a small structure in the early English style, erected in 1859, at a cost of about £2500, raised by voluntary subscription, and intended for the use of the wherrymen and poor of the district. It has a nave, one aisle, and an apsidal chancel, and is built of flint with stone quoins. It contains 450 sittings, all free, and has a stone turret containing two bells. The pulpit is of stone, and has a bas relief of our Saviour preaching from the ship, as described in the 13th chapter of St. Matthew; and under the spring of one of the arches is another carving, representing John the Baptist preaching in the wilderness. The arches between the nave and aisle are supported by four shafts of white stone, with sculptured capitals representing ferns, water lilies, &c. The roof is open, and the chancel is paved with encaustic tiles. The church contains an organ, and has three stained glass windows. The incumbent of St. Nicholas is patron, and the Rev. John Gott, M.A., through whose exertions the church was erected, is the first and present minister. The Rev. D. W. Seppings is the assistant minister.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, in York road, is a brick and flint fabric, in the early English style, erected in 1857 for the use of the beachmen and fishermen, at a cost of £2000, of which the late Miss Maurice and her friends contributed £500, and the late Rev. F. W. Johnson £500. The remainder was raised by subscription. The church has nave, aisle, chancel with apse, and turret containing one bell. The aisle is on the south side, and was added at a cost of £400, in memory of the late Miss Maurice, to whom there are also three memorial windows of stained glass. The church has 350 sittings, all free. Six of the windows are filled with stained glass, in memory of the late

Rev. Fredk. W., Johnson, the first minister of the church, who, in 1859, bequeathed £3000 for its endowment, and this sum is now intrusted to the Governors of Queen Anne's bounty. The incumbent of St. Nicholas is patron, the Rev. Arthur B. Crosse, M.A., minister, and the Rev. William Dawson, B.A., assistant minister. In connection with this church is a large iron mission room, near Queen's road, erected in 1862 at a cost of £600.

The ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH (St. Mary), in Regent road, is a handsome perpendicular structure, erected in 1850 at a cost of about £10,000. It is of flint, with freestone dressings, and consists of nave (with low clerestory having quatrefoil lights), lean-to aisles, chancel, chancel chapel, sacristy, and tower at the north-west angle. It contains about 500 sittings, and the altar, reredos, and pulpit are of stone, elaborately carved. In the chancel chapel is a recumbent stone effigy, representing the dead Christ, under a canopy. The east window is filled with stained glass, representing the Virgin and Child, St. Paul, St. John the Evangelist, &c. There are three other stained glass windows, one of them in memory of the Rev. Randal Lythgoe, a late priest. Attached to the church is a good residence for the priest, the Rev. Francis Daniels. The UNITARIAN CHAPEL, in Gaol street, is a gothic building of white brick, erected in 1845 at a cost of £1700, on the site of the Old Meeting House, which was a very ancient building, originally belonging to the Independents, a portrait of one of whose ministers, the celebrated William Bridge, still hangs in the vestry. Bridge was town minister in the time of the Commonwealth, and frequently preached before the Long Parliament, but was afterwards persecuted for nonconformity. The chapel had formerly an endowment of £60 a year, besides about £16 per annum for schooling ten poor boys and six girls; but these sums are now divided with the Independent Chapel in Gaol street, and arose from £800. 5s., Old South Sea Annuities, and £1167, New 3½ per Cents., purchased by the Presbyterian (now Unitarian) congregation, with various benefactions left since 1719, for the support of the chapel, the minister, and a charity-school. For these objects Robert Allen left £200, in 1794; George Henry £150, in 1796; Mary Hurry £60. 10s. in 1789; and Gabriel Clifton £100 in 1817. The Rev. Samuel Robinson is the present minister. The GENERAL BAPTIST CHAPEL, in Row 85, Howard street, is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Robert Fox Todd. The PARTICULAR BAPTIST CHAPEL is a large plain brick building, in Row 15, Church plain, and was erected in 1756. It contains 500 sittings, and the Rev. Joseph Green is its pastor. A farm at Bradwell belongs to this chapel. The CONGREGATIONAL BAPTIST CHAPEL, on Saint George's denes, was built in 1863, at a cost of more than £1700, and is a handsome edifice of Suffolk brick, with white stone facings. The Rev. W. T. Price is the pastor. There is also a small Baptist Chapel in Albion road, erected in 1852, but having no regular minister. The INDEPENDENT CHAPEL in Gaol street was erected about 120 years ago, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. Wm. Tritton and Rev. Wm. Griffiths, and shares the endowment mentioned with the Unitarian Chapel. It has large school rooms adjoining it, which were built in 1847 at a cost of £700; but they are now only used on Sundays. The NEW INDEPENDENT CHAPEL, or Congregational Church, in King street, was built in 1855, at a cost of £3700, and has sittings for 800 hearers. It is under the same ministers as the last-named chapel. The WESLEYAN CHAPEL on Theatre plain is a spacious white brick structure, built in 1837 at a cost of more than £4000, near an older one built in 1793. It has 1200 sittings. The WESLEYAN CHAPEL in Regent road was built in 1856, at a cost of £1800. It is a white brick edifice, with schools and minister's house attached. The Rev. Joseph Colman is the present minister. The METHODIST NEW CONNEXION CHAPEL, in King street, was built in 1835, at a cost of £2,200, including schools and minister's residence. It is a large red brick building with 800 sittings, and the Rev. Moses Cotton is its minister. The PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHAPEL, in Priory plain, was built in 1829 and enlarged in 1850, at a cost of £750; and a new Primitive Methodist Chapel is about to be built in Queen's road. The WESLEYAN REFORMERS' CHAPEL, in George's street is a small building erected in 1856. The MARINERS' CHAPEL, in South Denes road, is a small cemented building, erected in 1826 as a free meeting-house for sailors, and is open to ministers of all denominations. BETHEL CHAPEL, in Rodney road, is also for sailors, and was built in 1863; and there is another SAILORS' MISSION-ROOM in Caister road, built in 1847. LADY HUNTINGDON'S CHAPEL, in Fish street, was built by the Calvinists, but has been occupied for its present use during the last 50 years, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. J. Meffen. The FRIENDS' MEETING-HOUSE, in Row 60, Howard street, is an ancient building, chiefly of flint.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS are attached to most of the places of worship; and here are several auxiliary Bible, Missionary, and other Religious Societies. The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge has a depôt of books here. As Town Missionaries, the Church congregations have six persons wholly, and the Dissenters two persons partly, employed. Here are also a number of Charitable Institutions and Public Day Schools for the benefit of the poor.

The OLD CEMETERY, near the Market gates, was formed in 1828 by a company of proprietors, in 120 shares of £5 each; no person being allowed to hold more than two. It is only 155 feet long and 137 broad, and is well enclosed, having the town wall on the east, high walls and buildings on the north and west, and lofty iron palisades, with a neat entrance gate, on the east; but it has been closed as a place of sepulture since 1854. The NEW CEMETERY adjoins the north-east corner of the churchyard, and comprises about eleven acres. It was formed in 1855-'6, at a cost of more than £3500, by the Burial Board, which was established in conformity with the Burial Acts, and consists of a Committee of the Town Council. The ground is surrounded by a flint and stone wall, and appropriately planted. Part is consecrated for the use of members of the Established Church, another portion is for the use of Jews, and the remainder is used by Dissenters. Mr. Omar Osborn is the superintendent.

The CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL now occupies a neat building erected in 1843, and having a commodious house in the centre and a school-room on each side, with the figures of a boy and girl in the ancient costume of the charity children, well sculptured in stone over the principal entrance. It is situated in the Market place, a little beyond the site of the old hospital, which was part of the ancient Hospital of St. Mary (see p. 352), in which there was a grammar school from the time of the Reformation till 1797, when the Corporation discontinued their usual payment to the master, probably because there were no free-scholars. The master's house and the school were afterwards let to the overseers, for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. The origin of the hospital or workhouse school was owing to a contract between the Corporation and Mr. Edward Owner, in 1650, by which, on his having given about £1500, they agreed to give, as a growing fund, two yearly sums of £30 per annum, one moiety out of a "corn stock," and the other out of monies arising by "parted bills." They also agreed that in future every alderman, on his being elected, should pay £5, and every common councilman £2. 10s., towards the increase of the said fund, until it should be sufficient for the purchase and settlement of £500 per annum as a revenue for the maintenance, learning, and employment of a competent number of the poor children of the borough. At his decease, the said Mr. Owner gave, in addition to his former gift, £100. Of his first gift, £600 were subscribed by him for a share of "the lands forfeited in Ireland upon the late rebellion there." In 1653, the commissioners appointed by parliament for the speedy satisfaction of the "Adventurers for Lands in Ireland," allotted to the Corporation of Yarmouth, in satisfaction of this £600, land in the Barony of Iffa and Offa, in the county of Tipperary, comprising 2159A. 3R. 4P. English measure. In 1714, the Corporation, in consideration of £600 demised to

Richard Hamerton and his executors and assigns, the whole of this land for one thousand years, at the annual rent of £100 and an additional payment of £100 every seventh year. Other property, settled by the Corporation on the Hospital, is now let for about £800 per annum, mostly on leases of from 14 to 21 years, subject to fines averaging nearly $1\frac{1}{2}$ year's rent on every renewal. This property consists of land, houses, &c., in the town and vicinity, described under the heads—Butchery, St. Mary's Hospital, New England (a suburb of the town), Grounds out of North Gates, St. James's, and Quay Mill Grounds. There are also belonging to the charity £3200, vested in Consols and other funds. The total gross yearly income of the charity from the sources above-named is about £970, exclusive of the fines paid on the renewal of the leases, and of £100 paid every seventh year, by the lessee of the estate in Ireland. The intention of the parties by whom the hospital was founded appears, from the minutes of the Corporation, to have been "the providing a house and stock for setting the poor to work, and maintaining, instructing, and training up poor children in good order and employment, thereby to ease the town from the heavy charge thereof." In process of time, however, poor children became the immediate objects of the charity, and the adult poor were supported by the poor-rates. Part of the old hospital buildings was used as the parish Workhouse till 1837; and till that year an agreement existed between the Corporation and the Overseers of the Poor, that the latter should provide and dress all the victuals required for the hospital children and the nurse, at the rate of 2s. 2d. per week. There are generally about 280 day scholars (viz., 180 boys and 100 girls,) who are instructed in reading, writing, and arithmetic gratuitously. The boys are also taught navigation, drawing, geography, &c. Any children of poor parents belonging to the town are admissible. Mr. J. W. Hewke is schoolmaster, and Miss Charlotte Goffin schoolmistress. This, and all the other charities formerly vested with the Corporation, are now under the management of the CHARITY TRUSTEES appointed under the powers of the Municipal Reform Act. (See page 352.)

The GRAMMAR and COMMERCIAL SCHOOL was originally established by the Corporation at the Reformation, and existed for about 250 years, being maintained out of the funds of the Hospital of St. Mary, which had been granted to the Corporation in 1398, by Richard II., but remained in the possession of the monks till the dissolution of the monasteries. In 1797, the Corporation discontinued the payments to the master, and shortly afterwards the Children's Hospital was established, (see page 357,) and the funds of the Grammar School in the course of time were wrongly applied towards the maintenance and education of pauper children, and so continued till 1862, when, in consequence of an application made to the Court of Chancery by the trustees, (the majority of whom were of opinion that the funds ought to revert to their original purpose,) a new scheme was sanctioned, by which, whilst the Hospital School is still to be maintained in all its efficiency, the trustees are authorised to apply a portion of the Hospital funds in support of a Grammar School, open to all the inhabitants of the town, and in which a superior education may be obtained. In conformity with this scheme, a temporary school-room has been erected in Trafalgar road, at a cost of about £650, in which English, French, German, Latin, History, Geography, Navigation, Writing, Drawing, Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Algebra, Geometry, Mechanics, Surveying, &c., are taught. Each boy living in the town is admitted on payment of £6 per annum, and boys from other places pay £10 each per annum. These sums are paid by half-yearly instalments in advance, and no boy is admitted until he is eight years of age. The Rev. H. J. Evans, M.A., is the head master, and Mr. Richard C. Harding is the second master; and both are permitted to take boarders. Mr. Henri Butel is the French master, and Mr. H. Klein, German master.

The CHARITY SCHOOLS, for clothing and educating 100 boys and 50 girls, are supported chiefly by voluntary contributions, and were founded in 1713; but the present school-rooms, in Theatre plain, were built ten years afterwards, on a piece of ground at the south-east corner of the Market, given by the Corporation. The building was enlarged in 1785, and a dwelling-house added for the master and mistress. Many worthy and useful members of society are indebted for their education to this well-conducted institution, which is under the management of the minister of the parish, a treasurer, and 12 directors chosen by the yearly subscribers of 21s. and upwards. The annual subscriptions amount to about £45, and there is some property belonging to the school, which swells its total yearly income to about £250. The scholars are recommended by the subscribers, and are clothed every year at a cost of about 18s. each. The interest of £100, left by John Dawson in 1678, for teaching poor children arithmetic and mathematics, is paid by the Corporation. The Priory National School occupies the site and part of the remains of the Benedictine Priory on the south side of St. Nicholas' churchyard, and was opened in 1851. It is attended by 150 boys, 120 girls, and 100 infants. St. Peter's National School, Deneside, was built in 1849, at a cost of £2000, and is attended by about 180 boys, 100 girls, and 130 infants. Attached to it is a good residence for the master, who has the interest of £100 given in 1851 by the Rev. Tully Crosthwaite, and invested in three per cent. consols. St. John's School, York road, is attended by about 120 boys and girls. The British School is situated in Nelson road, and was built by subscription in 1813, for 300 boys. The erection of the school, with the purchase of slates, &c., cost £655. 12s. 5d. The Roman Catholic School, behind the Church in Regent road, is attended by a considerable number of boys and girls. The Unitarian School adjoins the chapel in Gaol street, and is exclusively devoted to the instruction of girls. The Primitive Methodist School, for boys and girls, is in Priory place, and was built in 1855, at a cost of £500.

The GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS OF NAVIGATION AND DESIGN, which occupy a building on the Quay, were established in 1857, through the exertions of the Rev. J. B. Bampton, and contain a good collection of casts, models, instruments, national flags, &c. The School of Navigation is in connection with the Board of Trade, and has day and evening classes both for boys and adults, in which all the theoretical parts of a sailor's duty are thoroughly taught for small weekly fees. Mr. J. R. Jones is the master. The School of Art is in connection with the Committee of Council for Education, and has day and evening classes for both boys and adults, and a special day class for ladies. Practical geometry, designing, mechanical and architectural drawing, painting, &c., are taught for small monthly fees, payable in advance. Mr. Patrick B. Brophy is the master. In addition to the fees paid by the pupils, a considerable sum is raised yearly by subscription, in order to assist in maintaining these excellent schools in a state of efficiency.

The ELOCUTION SOCIETY was established in 1855, and has now about 130 members. It holds its meetings in the Commercial Club House, every Wednesday evening from September to May, when readings and discussions take place, and occasional lectures are given. Eight or ten meetings during each session are held in the Corn Hall, and to these ladies are admitted, to their great edification and delight, the readings and discussions being agreeably diversified with music and singing. Mr. Richard Martins is the president; Mr. W. H. Hewett, treasurer, and Mr. Lovewell Blake, hon. secretary. The PUBLIC LIBRARY, in the Town House, was instituted in 1802, by a number of shareholders and yearly subscribers. It now possesses a valuable collection of about 10,000 volumes in the various branches of literature, and among them are forty large folios of the Public Records, printed by Government, and deposited here for public use, in 1825; but among these copies of the national archives, the great Domesday Book is wanting. The library is 45 feet long, by 22 feet 6 inches wide; and the reading room is 30 feet by 24, and is well supplied with all the principal magazines and London and provincial newspapers. The Bishop is patron, and Mr. Edward Cattermole, librarian. The PAROCHIAL LIBRARY AND MUSEUM was established in 1853, for the purpose of providing, at a reasonable rate, useful, entertaining, and instructive information on both religious and secular subjects, by means of a permanent library, a reading room, a museum, a book club, and lectures and classes. This institution occupies a building adjoining the Priory National School, and is open every afternoon and evening. Its library contains more than 3000 volumes. The reading room is supplied with a number of the best newspapers and periodicals. The museum contains an interesting collection of birds, &c., and the classes are well attended. The Bishop is patron; Rev. Canon Nevill, M.A., chairman; T. Brightwen, Esq., treasurer; and Mr. R. M. Musgrave, librarian.

The THEATRE, near the Market place, was built in 1778, at a cost of £1500, raised in fifteen shares of £100 each; but in 1820, the building was so dilapidated, that it was deemed proper to remove and remodel the whole of the interior, which was done at an expense of £1000, raised by the creation of ten new shares. The NEW ASSEMBLY ROOMS, opposite the Wellington Pier, were built in 1862, by a limited liability company, at a cost of £4000, in £5 shares. They comprise a handsome assembly room in the centre, lighted by five large and lofty windows, a reading room, a spacious billiard room, a ladies' reading and toilet room, superintendent's apartments, and refreshment rooms. Mr. Hy. Novis is the superintendent.

The BATH HOUSE, situate in the centre of the Marine Drive, is held on lease from the Corporation, by the executors of the late Mr. Samuel Walker Bly, for a term of 500 years, from Sept., 1759, with the sole right of laying pipes into the sea, and a covenant that no other baths shall be erected on the Corporation waste lands. It was rebuilt and enlarged in 1836, and fitted with baths of a modern construction, since which period the lessees have from time to time extended the bathing accommodation, so as to keep pace with the requirements of this rapidly improving bathing place; and the charges are considerably lower than those of similar establishments in other parts of the kingdom. For the convenience of visitors staying in the rooms connected with the baths, a wine and spirit license was obtained about sixteen years ago.

The FREEMASONS have two lodges in Yarmouth. The Lodge of Friendship (No. 100) was established in 1757, and holds its meetings at the Crown and Anchor Hotel, on the fourth Monday in each month. The Lodge of United Friends (No. 313) was established in 1797, and holds its meetings at the Star Hotel, on the second Monday in each month. Here are also numerous lodges of Oddfellows, Foresters, &c.

The VICTORIA BUILDING COMPANY was formed in 1841, for the purpose of providing, by means of a combined capital, large and elegant houses, &c., for the accommodation of the higher classes of sea-bathers. For this purpose the company, partly by purchase and partly by an arrangement with the Town Council, sanctioned by the Lords of the Treasury, became possessed of a considerable extent of building land on the South Denes, and has expended £17,800 in building houses and laying out the ground.

PUBLIC GARDENS and Bowling Greens are also among the various sources of amusement and recreation provided by Yarmouth for the use of the inhabitants and the numerous visitors who resort here in the bathing season. During the Races, the Victoria Gardens on the Blackfriars road, and Vauxhall Gardens on the opposite side of the Bure, near the Railway Station, are brilliantly illuminated, and singers of great celebrity are generally engaged for the orchestra; excellent bands are in attendance, and every method is resorted to by the proprietors to ensure the comfort and convenience of the visitors.

The YARMOUTH HOSPITAL was instituted on the 28th of June, 1838, the day of her Majesty's coronation, and occupies a handsome white brick building in St. George's square, finished in March, 1840, at a cost of more than £1700. It is situated upon a portion of the fortifications called the East Mount, the remains of which may still be traced. A new wing was added in 1855, at a cost of £800, given by an anonymous donor, so that it has now accommodation for 30 in-patients. The Dispensary, which was established in 1822, has merged into this institution for affording medical and surgical aid to the sick and lame poor of Yarmouth, and the Hundreds of East and West Flegg, in Norfolk, and Mutford and Lothingland, in Suffolk, as in and out patients. Of the latter, it relieves more than 1100, and of the former about 129 yearly. Its average annual income from subscriptions, collections at churches and chapels, &c., is about £640, and it possesses £3700 invested in the three per cent. consols, derived from legacies and benefactions. Its annual expenditure averages more than £730 per annum, so that a considerable sum has to be transferred from the stock every year to meet the deficiency. The total amount of benefactions and legacies received since the establishment of the hospital is £4602. 13s. 9d.; and of this sum £1361. 6s. 8d. were contributed by members of the old corporation. The Rev. H. R. Nevill, M.A., is president; John Brightwen, Esq., treasurer; R. R. B. Norman, Esq., hon. secretary; S. T. Smyth, Esq., M.D., F.R.C.S., Joseph Bayly, Esq., and Charles Palmer, Esq., surgeons; Mr. T. H. Colley, house surgeon; and Mr. C. L. Chipperfield, accountant.

The FISHERMEN'S HOSPITAL is a low quadrangular building, near the Church trees, erected by the Corporation, in 1702, at a cost of £621, for the reception of twenty decayed fishermen, of the age of 60 or upwards, and the wives of such as are married. Each has two rooms, and a weekly stipend of 2s. 6d. in winter and spring, and 2s. in summer and autumn; and a chaldron of coals yearly. In the hospital yard is a square pedestal, surmounted by a figure of Charity, cast in lead; and above the inner gate is a cupola, within which stands a figure of St. Peter. In the wall on the left side of the entrance, is a tablet recording the various benefactions to the hospital, which now produce £49. 10s. per annum. The hospital formerly had an annuity of £160, granted to the poor fishermen by King Charles II. in 1668, out of the excise, as a compensation for the duties paid on beer consumed in the fisheries. When the beer duty was repealed, this annuity was discontinued; but it was soon afterwards restored, through the influence of Earl Grey, and was for some years paid out of the customs, but has long been discontinued. The sum of £130, left by John and Rachel Fuller, in 1703, was laid out in erecting a gallery in the parish church, for which £5 a year ought to be paid to the hospital, which is now vested with the Charity Trustees.

A Branch of the SHIPWRECKED FISHERMEN AND MARINERS' BENEVOLENT SOCIETY was established here in 1839, and Mr. D. B. Palmer is the secretary. Here are also a Benevolent Society, a Lying-in Charity, and several other institutions for ameliorating the condition of the poor, who are likewise periodically relieved by the yearly proceeds of the following BENEFACTIONS:—In 1762, Benj. Jolly left the interest of £400 to be distributed by the ministers of St. George's chapel among 40 poor widows, and the interest of £100 to the said ministers for their trouble. Thrigby Charity consists of a farm of 224A. 3R. 5P., in the parish of Thrigby, now let for £500 a year, and bequeathed in 1700, by the Rev. Edward Warnes, rector of Lammas and Hautboys, in trust to the Corporation, for the relief of poor widows and other indigent parishioners. In 1556, Katharine Rogers, who built three wells on the Denes, bequeathed £100 to be lent to small tradesmen, and £100 to be employed for ever in buying and grinding corn, to be sold to the poor at cost price. The £100 for loans is lent in four sums free of interest, as also is £30, left by Henry Davie, in 1641, and £30, left by Wm. Southwell in 1639. Seven other benefactions, of which the Corporation were trustees, produce the following yearly sums, viz., £8 rent charge, left by Sir William Paston, in 6th James I.; £10 rent charge, by Ann Hall, in 1686; £10, as interest of £250, left by Dover Colby, in 1752; 30s., from £30, left by Susan Packer, in 1711; 40s. from £50, left by Robert Abbon, in 1758; 40s. from money left by Mrs. Davy, (who also left two yearly sums of 40s. towards the repairs of the parish church and the piers;) and 32s. rent-charge, left by John Warren, in 1693.

The SAVINGS' BANK occupies a commodious building at the south end of the Market place. It was established in 1818, and its deposits amounted, in November, 1862, to £118,395. 2s. 11d., belonging to 3543 depositors, 35 charitable societies, 34 friendly societies, and 1 penny bank. It is open on Wednesdays and Saturdays, from eleven till one o'clock. Its trustees and directors are selected from among the most wealthy and influential gentlemen of the town and neighbourhood. The Rev. Mark Waters is president, John Brightwen, Esq., treasurer, and Mr. Robert David Barber, secretary. The shipowners of Yarmouth have two mutual Ship Insurance Societies. The Royal Life Fund was raised in 1845 to make provision for the widows and orphans of the beachmen who lost their lives on the 26th of January in that year, in attempting to rescue the crew of a vessel wrecked on the Scroby sands. It originally amounted to £2012, but out of this sum a new yawl was purchased to replace the one lost, and the survivors were compensated. The remainder was invested for the benefit of the widows and orphans, who have been receiving weekly payments since. The amount now in hand is about £1600, the interest of which is more than sufficient to pay the claims upon it.

ALMSHOUSES.—There are, in different parts of the town of Yarmouth, about seventy small tenements, occupied rent-free by poor parishioners. More than 20 of them are held under the Corporation. Part of them are supposed to have belonged to the dissolved monasteries; several, in the Conge, were left by Margaret Cubit and Thomas Thompson, in 1611 and 1640; four by Jonathan Parker, in 1621, and two by Mr. Mortimer and Elizabeth Wilch, in 1636 and 1687.

WORKHOUSE, &c.—The parish of Great Yarmouth was constituted a Union under the Poor Law Act, in March, 1837, and authorised to expend £7100 in the erection of a new Workhouse, which stands on the North Denes, and is a large brick building, with room for 400 paupers. The old Workhouse, which had sometimes more than 300 inmates, formed, with the Children's Hospital, the remains of the ancient Hospital of Saint Mary, and was rented of the Corporation as already noticed. The poor rates collected in the parish in 1834, amounted to £8867; in 1840, to £6817; in 1861, to £13,156; and in 1862, to £14,603. The sums expended solely for the relief of the in and out-door poor, amounted in 1838, to £4708; in 1842, to £6108; in 1856, to £6939; in 1861, to 7990; and in 1862, to £8534. The parish is divided into three districts for collecting rates and relieving the poor, and into two districts for the purpose of registration. The Board of Guardians consists of sixteen members. Messrs. William Harbert and Wm. C. Nutman are the relieving officers, and Geo. A. Rainer, Benj. Lane, Wm. High, and Cornelius Hunter, collectors: John Stephenson, M.D., S. J. F. Stafford and John C. Smith, Esqrs., are the surgeons; Robert Rising, Esq., of Horsey, is auditor; John Brightwen, Esq., treasurer; Mr. W. and Mrs. Shuckford, master and matron of the workhouse; Rev. Canon Nevill, M.A., chaplain; Joseph Ward, schoolmaster; Eliza Gardner, schoolmistress; and E. B. Isaac, porter. John L. Cufaude, Esq., is union clerk and superintendent registrar: and the district registrars are Mr. F. W. Ferrier, Regent street, for the Northern District, which comprises St. Nicholas', Market, and Regent Wards; and Mr. Joseph Bayly, of King street, for the Southern District, which comprises St. George's and Nelson Wards. S. B. Cory, Esq., is the vestry clerk; and Mr. Frederick Crowe, of Howard street, registrar of marriages.

LORD NELSON.—Near the haven's mouth was a lofty pile, called Gorleston Steeple, but it fell down during a strong gale of wind, in 1813. Its great elevation was a sure friend to the mariner in making the land during thick weather. Its loss, as a sea mark, is now fully supplied by the Naval Pillar, which is already described at page 343, and was erected on the Denes, in memory of the immortal Nelson, who, though not a native of Yarmouth, was a freeman of the borough, by gift from the Corporation, and consequently may be properly placed at the head of the following list of worthies:—The Right Honourable HORATIO NELSON, VISCOUNT and BARON NELSON, of the Nile and of Burnham-Thorpe; Duke of Bronté, in Sicily; Knight of the Bath; Senior Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Sicilian Order of St. Ferdinand and of Merit; Senior Knight of the Imperial Order of the Turkish Crescent of the First Class; Knight of the Order of St. Joachim; and a Vice-Admiral of the White; was the fourth son of the Rev. Edmund Nelson, rector of Burnham-Thorpe, in Norfolk, and was born in the parsonage house of that parish, September 29th, 1758. He was educated partly at North Walsham; but in his twelfth year commenced his glorious career as midshipman on board the Raisonable, of 64 guns, commanded by his maternal uncle, Captain Maurice Suckling. His knowledge of naval affairs was afterwards improved by a voyage to the West Indies, which was followed by his admission on board one of the ships commanded by Captain C. J. Phipps, and destined for a voyage of discovery towards the North Pole. While yet young and necessarily in a state of subordination, he exhibited many proofs of that spirit of enterprise and that inventive skill, combined with an intelligence uncommon at his years, which laid the foundation of his future fame; though his constitution was originally delicate, and to the last, valetudinary. On his return from this expedition he went to the West Indies, on board the Seahorse, commanded by Captain Farmer. During all this time, although there was much in him that was extraordinary, his disposition to his profession was rather irresolute. He had some imperfect view of his future destiny, but he did not see it clearly; he felt the ambition of a hero, but saw no means by which it might be gratified. In 1779, he arrived, through the usual gradations, at the rank of post-captain, but had no opportunity for the display of his professional talents until the war with France commenced in 1793; when, as commander of the Agamemnon of 64 guns, he assisted in the capture of Toulon and the siege of Bastia. He was afterwards engaged in the siege of Calvi, where he lost the sight of his right eye; and with the French fleet in March and July, 1795; and in the blockade of Genoa. From the Agamemnon he was removed to the Captain, was now Commodore, and was employed in the blockade of Leghorn, and the taking of Porto Ferrajo. In the memorable engagement off Cape St. Vincent, between 15 English and 27 Spanish ships, he attacked the Santissima Trinidad of 136 guns, and obliged the San Nicolas of 80 guns, and the San Josef of 112, to strike. After this victory, he was made Rear-Admiral of the Blue, and appointed to the command of the inner squadron in the blockade of Cadiz. In a subsequent attack on the town of Santa Cruz, in the island of Teneriffe, he lost his right hand. But it would require a volume to detail the progressive steps which were now leading to the consummation of his renown, in the battles of the Nile and of Trafalgar: suffice it to say, that he had already been engaged with the enemy nearly 150 times, and on very few of those occasions escaped without a wound. By the victory over the French fleet in the Bay of Aboukir, in 1798, he captured and destroyed 11 ships of the line, with an inferior force fighting under every disadvantage. In the engagement with the French and Spanish fleets off Cape Trafalgar, Oct. 21, 1805, of 33 ships of the line belonging to the enemy, sixteen were destroyed, four were carried to Gibraltar, six escaped into Cadiz totally disabled, and four which retired from the action were a few days after captured by Sir R. Strachan's squadron. During this unparalleled victory, Lord Nelson fell from a shot from the top of one of the enemy's ships, but lived to know that the triumph of his fleet was secured. His body was brought to England, and interred in St. Paul's Cathedral, with the honours due to the greatest naval hero recorded in history, and one with whom the most decided success was the result of the most consummate skill. He was created Baron Nelson of the Nile, and of Burnham Thorpe, in 1798, and Viscount of the same, in May, 1801; but in the August following, he was created Baron Nelson of the Nile, and of Hilborough, in the county of Norfolk, which title devolved on his elder brother, William Nelson, who, in 1805, was created Viscount Merton and Trafalgar, of Merton, in the county of Surrey, and Earl Nelson of Merton and Trafalgar, with remainder, failing his issue, to the issue male of his sisters. Horatio, the present Earl Nelson, &c., was born in 1823, and resides at Trafalgar House, Wiltshire.

Among the Eminent natives of Yarmouth are the following;—ARTHUR WILSON, who was born in 1596, and published an account of the Life and Reign of James the First, written with much freedom and displaying a thorough knowledge of court intrigues; but the liberty he took in exposing the propensities of that monarch and his son towards the Catholic cause, brought upon him the vehement censure of the friends of the Stuart family, who said that he had written from conjectures rather than from records, and that his work was more like a pasquinade than an authentic history. He was for many years an attendant on the Earl of Essex, and afterwards steward to the Earl of Warwick. He died in 1652. NICHOLAS FELTON, Bishop of Ely, another native, was one of those prelates employed by James I. on the new translation of the Bible, and died in 1626. Dr. THOMAS SOAME was the son of a fisherman here, but related to a wealthy family of the same name at Burnham. He lived in the reign of Charles I., and having entered holy orders, he became minister of Staines, in Middlesex, and prebendary of Windsor. During the civil wars, he was so zealously attached to royalty, that he sent all he had to the King, so that when the rebels came to plunder him, "they found nothing to take but himself, which they did, and imprisoned him, first in Newgate, and afterwards in the Fleet prison, where he died in 1652." Sir WM. GOOCH, Bart., was born here in 1681. He entered early in the army, and distinguished himself in the rebellion of 1715. George I. made him lieutenant-governor of Virginia in 1727; and in 1740, he was appointed colonel of an American regiment, and assisted at the memorable siege of Carthage. For his services he was promoted, being first made brigadier and then major-general, in which capacity, in 1747, he commanded in the expedition to Quebec. His health declining, he returned to England, and died in 1751. JOSEPH AMES, author of "Typographical Antiquities, or Memoirs of Printing and Printers in England," was born here in 1688, and died in 1759. ANTHONY ELLYS, Bishop of St. David's, and author of several theological works, was born here in 1691, and died in 1761. HENRY SWINDEN, a diligent antiquary, who had collected and digested a large mass of information respecting this his native town, died while the last sheet was in the press, January 11th, 1772, in which year it was published with a preface written by JOHN IVES, F.R.S. and F.S.A., another native, eminent for his skill in antiquarian science, who was born in 1730, and died in 1776. JAMES SAYER, the celebrated caricaturist, who died in London in 1823, was the son of a Yarmouth block maker, and author of many satirical poems suited to the political topics of the times. EDMUND GIRLING, the celebrated self-taught engraver, is a native of Yarmouth; as are also those ingenious marine painters, the Joys, two brothers, now in London, and the sons of a mail guard, who owe much of their fame to the patronage and assistance afforded them in their youth by the late

Captain Manby, the barrack master of Yarmouth, whose ingenious apparatus for saving lives from shipwreck will ever blazon his name in the maritime annals of his country. DAWSON TURNER, Esq., A.M., F.R.S., F.A.S., and F.L.S., eminently distinguished as a botanist, and author of many articles in the "Philosophical Transactions," "A Synopsis of British Fuci," and many other works, was born in 1775, and died in 1857. His valuable collections for illustrating Blomefield's Norfolk were purchased by the British Museum.

EARL OF YARMOUTH.—Sir Robert Paston was created Baron Paston of Paston, and Viscount Yarmouth, in 1673, and Earl of Yarmouth in 1679, but on the death of his son William, the second Earl, in 1732, the title became extinct. Amelia Sophia de Walmoden, supposed to have been the mistress of George II., was created Baroness and Countess of Yarmouth for life in 1740, and died in 1750. The title of Earl of Yarmouth was revived in 1793, as the secondary title of the Marquis of Hertford, which it still continues.

GORLESTON (Suffolk) is a large and picturesque village, pleasantly situated on the crown of a hill, about two miles S. of Great Yarmouth, overlooking the river Yare, which flows in a rapid stream at the foot of the acclivity, and about a mile below is lost in the wide expanse of the German Ocean, after being separated from it for about three miles, only by the narrow strip of land upon which Great Yarmouth is built. The PARISH OF GORLESTON comprises also the populous hamlet of Southtown, or Little Yarmouth, which was anciently a separate parish, and was added to the Borough of Great Yarmouth in 1681, as also was Gorleston by the Parliamentary and Municipal Reform Acts of 1832 and 1835. It comprises 1931A. 1R. 11P. of land, and increased its population from 1728 souls in 1801, to 4472 in 1861. Of these contents 596A. 2R. 23 P. and 1714 souls are in Southtown hamlet, and 1334A. 2R. 28P. and 2758 souls are in Gorleston. According to Domesday Book, the whole parish was in one manor, held by Earl Guert, in the Confessor's time, and having five carucates of land, 20 villeins, five bordars, two carucates in demesne, three salt pans, 300 sheep, and 24 fishermen. Afterwards the parish was in four manors, a paramount, a principal, and two mesne, of all of which the Jernegans were lords. It is now only in two, viz., the paramount manor of Gorleston, of which Sir S. M. Peto, Bart., M.P., is lord; and the small manor of Bacon's, which is held in fee by the trustees of the late Samuel Palmer, Esq. To the former manor belong all the royalties and the two ferries, but the soil and buildings belong to various owners, the largest of whom are the Earl of Lichfield (owner of most of the land in Southtown), Capt. John Garnham, R.N., Mrs. Bell, Sir Fras. Crossley, Bart., M.P., George D. Palmer, Esq., Richard Hammond, Esq., Sept. Dowson, Esq., Mr. E. Martin, and several smaller owners. The greater part of Southtown is let on building leases for the term of 99 years. The present estimated gross yearly rental of the parish is £17,496. 8s. 4d., viz., Gorleston, £6811. 2s.; and Southtown, £10,685. 6s. 4d. The two divisions maintain their poor conjointly as one township, and are in the Incorporated Hundred of Mutford and Lothingland, in Suffolk, as noticed at page 330. The waste lands in the parish were enclosed under an act passed in 1812. Tradition says that Gorleston had once a weekly market; and the Index Monasticus informs us that in 1732 it had a house of lepers, but the site is unknown. By custom it has a small fair at Whitsuntide for toys, &c. In 1797, the mutilated remains of a stone cross were visible a little south of the village, but they disappeared many years ago. Almost every part of Gorleston commands a sea prospect over the river Yare and the narrow denes of Yarmouth, where the Norfolk Naval Column, in memory of Lord Nelson, is a conspicuous and pleasing object. The village has many excellent houses for the accommodation of sea bathers. The white cliffs, which extend in an uninterrupted curve from Gorleston to Lowestoft, are of considerable elevation, and afford delightful views of the harbour, the town, the ocean.

and the adjacent country. A little south of the village is Battery Hill, so named from a platform of guns placed there during the late French war. The sloping edge of this eminence is occupied by a range of neat houses, all built during the present century. The Parish Church (St. Andrew) is a large ancient structure, on a commanding eminence a little south-west of the village. It has a thatched nave, chancel, and side aisles, and a substantial square tower which formerly contained a peal of six bells. It is of plain architecture, and is constructed chiefly of flint, and lighted by sixteen windows. In cleansing and repairing the interior, about 25 years ago, a piscina, Sepulchrum Christi, and other antiquities, were discovered, and also two beautiful fresco paintings, one of which was demolished, and the other, though much injured, is still visible. Here is a fine brass in memory of a crusader. The curious antique font, which had long been covered with plaster and whitewash, was cleansed in 1842, when its rich painting and gilding were found untarnished, but much of the beautiful sculpture was destroyed by the puritans. It is octagonal, and its sides have carvings representing the seven sacraments and the Day of Judgment. The benefice is a vicarage, with the rectories of the decayed parishes of Southtown and West-town annexed to it, and valued in K.B. at £11, and now at £381. The Rev. Francis Upjohn, M.A., is the non-resident incumbent, and the Rev. A. D. Campbell, M.A., the present curate, is the patron. Here is a chapel belonging to the Independents, and another to the New Connexion Methodists. The latter was rebuilt on a large scale in 1844-'5. In the village is a spacious National School, erected in 1840, and consisting of three rooms for boys, girls, and infants, of whom about 250 are generally in attendance. Gorleston and Southtown Gas Works were erected in 1854, at a cost of £4320, in shares of £10 each, and gas is sold at 5s. 6d. per 1000 cubic feet. The two gasholders will contain 2200 cubic feet. Zachariah Eastick is the manager. The Gorleston and Southtown Seamen's and Working Men's Institution and Reading Room was opened December 1st, 1862, and occupies commodious premises containing library and reading-room, lecture-room, smoking-room, &c. The Rev. A. D. Campbell is the president. A Sick and Indigent Society, a Clothing Club, a Lying-in Society, and other charitable institutions, are liberally supported here.

SOUTHTOWN, or LITTLE YARMOUTH, is a hamlet of Gorleston parish, and a handsome western suburb of Great Yarmouth, with which it is connected by a good bridge across the Yare, which is here lined on both sides with extensive ranges of wharves, quays, warehouses, docks, and shipyards, but most of the latter are on the Southtown side of the river. This hamlet, as already noticed, was added to the borough of Great Yarmouth, in 1681, and comprises 596A. 2R. 26P. of land and 1714 inhabitants, though it was a very small and inconsiderable place till about 1806, when the merchants of Great Yarmouth began to erect their private residences here. It anciently formed two small parishes, called Southtown and West-town, the churches of which were dedicated to St. Mary and St. Nicholas, but went to decay before the year 1559, when the remains of the former were used in repairing the piers. In 1831, a handsome Chapel of Ease, dedicated to St. Mary, was erected here by subscription, at a cost of about £3000, on land given by the Earl of Lichfield. It is built of white brick and flint, and lighted by lancet-shaped windows. It has 600 sittings, and is in the patronage of the Rev. A. D. Campbell, M.A. Near the road, a little west of the greyhound public house, are some vestiges of a religious house, supposed to have been an Augustine Friary, founded by William Woodrove, and Margaret his wife. Fragments of the chapel and the dormitories of the Friars are still visible; but a large portion of the ruined walls was many years ago converted into a barn, which has since been transformed into cottages. The Church of St. Nicholas, the parish church of West-town, was attached to this friary, and stood on the west side of the High street, in Gorleston.

The eastern face of its lofty tower was standing till 1816, when it fell down during a high wind, and its materials were used in erecting a lofty wall round what was formerly part of the churchyard. The adjacent grounds exhibit marks of having been used for interment. In a garden adjoining the site of the tower, a brick vault was opened about forty years ago, and in it was found an entire skeleton. The friary was endowed by several benefactors, and was granted in 1544 to John Eyre. There was anciently a Hermitage here, but its site is unknown, as also is the site of a prison, noticed in the church books of Yarmouth as having been broken open by Simon Blaking, in 1297.

LIST OF STREETS, &c., IN YARMOUTH,

WITH REFERENCES TO THEIR RESPECTIVE SITUATIONS.

- | | | |
|--------------------------------|-----------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Adam and Eve Garden, | Brunswick place, Deneside | Fox's builds. Blkfrs. rd |
| Blackfriars road | Buckingham place, Wel- | Free Church ter. Regent rd |
| Albert place, King street | lington road | Freeman's buildings, South |
| Albert square, Victoria Espl | Caister road, Northgate st | Denes road |
| Albion road, Nelson road | Camden road, Queen's road | Friar's lane, King street |
| Albion terrace, 'Albion road | Camperdown place, Vic- | Frosdick builds. Market rd |
| Alfred terrace, York road | toria Esplanade | Fuller's hill, North Quay |
| Alma place, Nelson road | Camperdown ter Esplanade | Fuller's passage, Fuller's hl |
| Alma road, King street | Cemetery road, Caister rd | Gaol Paved row, Row 108 |
| Ames builds. St. Nichls. rd | Cerdic place, Marine par | Gaol street |
| Ansell place, Marine par | Chapel sq. Blackfriars road | Gaol street, Hall Quay |
| Apollo place and walk, | Charlotte st. Church plain | Garden lane, Blackfriars rd |
| Caister road | Charlotte ter. Camden rd | Garden row, Row 13 Geo. st |
| Apsley road, Regent road | Charles st. Blackfriars rd | Garibaldi place, York road |
| Apsley terrace, Apsley rd | Church plain, Market pl | Garrison walk, Caister rd |
| Arbon square, Garden lane | Clarence place, Regent rd | Gas Works, South Denes rd |
| Armoury, Southtown road | Clarence rd. Havelock rd | Gedge's bldgs. Regent rd |
| Baker's bldgs. Blkfrs. rd | Claremont ter. Victoria rd | Geneve terrace, Crown rd |
| Bank paved row, Hall plain | Cobb's place, Market road | George pl. St. Nicholas' rd |
| Barnby place, St. Peter's rd | Collingwood pl. Marine par | George street, Hall Quay |
| Barrack rd. Militia barracks | Columbia ter. Apsley road | Glasshouse row, N. Quay |
| Bath Hill ter. Trafalgar rd | Conge, The, North Quay | Gown's bldgs. Blkfrs. rd |
| Bath place, Nelson and | Cremorne place, Friar's ln | Grosvenor rd. Havelock rd |
| Rodney roads | Crown place, Crown road | Hall plain, Hall Quay |
| Beersheba pl. Havelock rd | Crown road, Nelson road | Hall's place, N. Market rd |
| Belgrave place, Rodney rd | Custom House, South quay | Hampshire pl. Garden lane |
| Bishop's buildings, Black- | Dene side, King street | Harrison's buildings, St. |
| friars road | Devonshire pl. Marine par | George's road |
| Blackfriars rd. St. Peter's rd | Donor place, Camden road | Havelock rd. St. Peter's rd |
| Blake's builds. Russell rd | Dowager place, Nelson rd | Henry place, Crown road |
| Bland's bldgs. Mariners' rd | Drum opening, York road | Hewitt's pl. S. Market rd |
| Bleach rd. North Market rd | Duncan place, Alma road | Higham pl. St. Nicholas' rd |
| Boardman's buildings, | East street, Camden road | Horace place, S. Market rd |
| Dene-side road | Edward place, Crown road | Howard street, Regent st |
| Brandon terrace, Victoria | Ely place, Albion road | Isabella sq. St. Geo's. rd |
| Esplanade | Elizabeth pl. Havelock rd | Jane place, Victoria road |
| Brighton ter. Havelock rd | Emm's builds. Victoria rd | Jay's bldgs. St. Nicholas' rd |
| Britannia cottages, north | Every terrace, York road | John street, Blackfriars rd |
| end of Nelson road and | Exmouth place, Albion rd | John's sq. St. Nicholas' rd |
| Marine parade | Exmouth road, Queen's rd | Johnson's builds. King st |
| Britannia opening, Apsley | Factory rd. St. Nicholas rd | Jury street, Nelson road |
| road | Fisher's Quay, N. Quay | Kemp's buildings, Alma rd |
| Britannia Pier, Marine par | Fish Market, Market pl | Kent place, St. George's rd |
| Britannia pl. Blackfriars rd | Fish street, Theatre plain | Kimberley terrace, Victoria |
| Britannia ter. Marine par | Fitzwilliam sq. Apsley rd | Esplanade |
| Broad row, Howard street | Florence place, Nelson rd | King street, Market place |
| Brown's builds. Jane pl | Flushing terrace, Nelson rd | King's place, Nelson road |

Lancaster road, Dene side
 Laughing Image Corner,
 North Quay
 Leicester terrace, Nelson and Victoria roads
 Lichfield pl. Southtown rd
 Limekiln ln. Southtown rd
 Limekiln walk, Bridgefoot,
 Southtown
 Litchfield pl. Lancaster rd
 Maddey's bldgs. Nelson rd
 Malakoff pl. Havelock rd
 Mansfield ter. Nelson road
 Marine par. N. & S. Beach
 Marine passage, Marine par
 Marine terrace, Marine par
 Mariners' rd. S. Denes rd
 Market place, King street Market road, Market place
 Market row, Market place Marlborough square and terrace, Marine parade Marshes bldgs. Albion rd
 Melbourne ter. Havelock rd
 Military pl. Exmouth rd
 Mill road, Southtown road
 Milton place, St. George's rd
 Moat road, Caister road Monument road, now Nelson road
 Napoleon pl. Lancaster rd
 Nelson Monument, South
 Denes
 Nelson pl. St. Nicholas rd
 Nelson road, Regent road
 Nelson terrace, Nelson rd
 Neptune place, Marine par
 Neptune ter. Victoria road
 Newcastle rd. S. Denes rd
 New Wellington place,
 Nelson road
 Norfolk ter. Crown road
 North Denes, North and East of Caister road
 Northgate st, Church pln
 NorthMarket rd. Market rd
 North Quay, Hall plain
 North terrace, Caister rd
 Northumberland place, St.
 Nicholas road
 Nursery place, Caister rd
 Ocean terrace, Albion road
 Ormond road, Caister road
 Osborne terrace, Victoria rd
 Page's bldgs. Marine par
 Pier place, Havelock road
 Pier terrace, Regent road Portland passage, Marine parade
 Portland pl., Marine parade

Post Office, Hall plain Priory plain, Church plain Priory row, Church plain Providence pl., Russell rd
 Public Library, S. Quay
 Quay Mill road, N. Quay
 Queen's place, Albion rd
 Queen's terrace, Crown rd
 Queen's road, Havelock rd
 Queen street, South Quay
 Rainbow corner, N. Quay
 Redan place, Havelock rd Red Lion Quay (now Fisher's Quay)
 Regent road, King street
 Regent street, King street
 Regent terrace, Regent rd
 Rodney road, Nelson road
 Roman place, Nelson road
 Rope walk, Queen's road
 Royal place, Wellington rd
 Rural place, Albion road
 Russell road, Albion road
 Russell square, Crown rd
 Saxon place, Albion road
 Saye's Corner, N. Quay
 Scarf's bldgs. Marine pasg
 Sefton terr., Southtown rd
 Selby place, S. Denes rd
 Seymour place, Victoria rd
 Short Quay, now Hall pln
 Silk Mill rd., St. Nicholas' rd
 Simon's square, Rodney rd
 Smiter's bldgs. Nelson rd
 Somerset place, Russell rd
 Southampton pl., Nelson rd
 South Beach place, Wellington road
 South Denes, near Nelson's Monument
 South Denes rd., S. Quay
 South Market rd., Mkt. rd
 South Quay, Hall Quay
 South st. now Friar's lane
 Southtown rd., Southtown
 Southtown terrace, South-town road
 Stanley road, Caister road
 Sterry's buildings, Adam and Eve gardens
 St. Geo's. Denes, Crown rd
 St. George's plain, King st
 St. George's rd, Nelson rd
 St. George's row East,
 Row 107, King street
 St. George's row West,
 Row 108 Gaol street
 St. George's terrace, St.
 George's road
 St. James' terrace, York rd

St. John's buildings, Saint
 George's road
 St. John's terrace, York rd
 St. Nicholas' rd, Market pl
 St. Nicholas' ter. Caister rd
 St. Peter's pl, Rodney rd
 St. Peter's plain, Lancaster road
 St. Peter's road, King st
 St. Peter's row East, Row
 130, connecting King st with Gaol street
 Suffolk pl., S. Market rd
 Swirle's place, Market rd
 Theatre plain, Regent rd
 Thompson's pl. Queen's rd
 Tottenham st, Nelson road
 Tower place, Blackfriars rd
 Trafalgar pl, Trafalgar rd
 Trafalgar road, Nelson rd
 Trafalgar ter, Apsley road
 Trinity place, Alma road
 Trueman pl, St. Nicholas' rd
 Tarrell's bldgs. Queen's rd
 Union place, Albion road
 Union road, S. Market rd
 Vauxhall gardens, near the Suspension bridge
 Vauxhall ter. Caister road
 Veale's bldgs. Mariners' rd
 Victoria Esplanade, Marine parade
 Victoria gardens, Black-friars road
 Victoria rd, St. Peter's rd
 Vince's bldgs, St. Geo's. rd
 Waterpark terrace, South-
 town road
 Well street, Nelson road
 Wellesley rd. North beach
 Wellington Pier, Victoria
 Esplanade
 Wellington place (New),
 Nelson road
 Wellington pl, Albion rd
 Wellington rd, St. Peter's rd
 West Bermondsey place,
 Nelson road
 West Nettle hill, Nelson rd
 White Horse plain, Northgate street
 Willow place, Sefton ter
 White Lion opening, Saint
 Peter's road
 Wilshere pl, St. Geo.'s rd
 Windsor ter, Blackfriars rd
 Windsor terrace, Market rd
 York place, York road
 York road, King street
 York terrace, Lancaster rd

YARMOUTH DIRECTORY.

INCLUDING SOUTHTOWN AND GORLESTON.

The following ALPHABETICAL DIRECTORY contains the Addresses of all the Inhabitants, except Journeymen and Labourers, arranged in the order of SURNAMES; and is followed by another arrangement, Classified under the Heads of Trades and Professions; after which will be found the Post Office Regulations and Public Conveyances.

The CONTRACTIONS used are such as it is hoped will be readily understood. Those most frequently used are the usual abbreviations of Christian names; and bdg. for bridge; bldgs. buildings; ct. court; gt. gate; h. house; ln. lane; rd. road; st. street; sq. square; and S. for Southtown.

The FIRMS to which Partners belong are shewn in Parentheses, with the residence of each Partner.

 Those marked * have Lodgings; and + are Master Mariners. Those without any designation are chiefly Clerks, Managers, &c.

Ablett Edward Abm, victualler, Fishing Boat, Gaol street

*Ablett Mercy, 16 Vernon terrace

Ablitt Charles, victualler, Queen Hotel, Regent road, and Victoria Gardens, Blackfriars road

Absolom Mrs Mary, Queen street

Adams Robert, fish curer and victualler, Rainbow, Rainbow corner

Adamson Peter, fish curer, 21 St Peter's rd

Adcock John, sweep, Conge

*Adcock Mary Ann, 22 St. Peter's road

Albrow Wm. cabinet maker & upholsterer, 63 Howard street

*Alden Emma, 20 St. Peter's road

Alden Jeremiah, cowkeeper, Nelson rd

Alden John, cowkeeper, Havelock road

Aldis John, cashier, Caister road

Aldis Mr Thomas, 36 King street

Aldiss James, butcher, Southtown

Aldous George, miller, Gorleston

Aldred Mrs Ann, 2 Clarence place

Aldred Charles Cory, surgeon, Regent rd

Aldred Curtis (A. & Morl); h Row 37

Aldred Edward Reynolds (A. & Son); house 65 George street

Aldred & Morl, mast, &c, mkrs. N. quay

Aldred Samuel, auctioneer, 9 Regent st

Aldred and Son, silversmiths, Berlin wool dealers, &c. 65 George street

Aldred Thomas, tailor, 154 Gaol street

Alexander Alfred, rag dealer, Laughing Image corner

Alexander Mrs Elizabeth, Dene side

Alexander George, artist, 7 Neptune ter

Alexander James, 2 Woolnough builds

Allan John, coal merchant, North quay; house 20 Southtown

Allard Miss E. milliner, 30 King st

*Allcock Henry Charles, 5 Henry place

Allcock Sarah, 3 Norfolk terrace

Allcock Sarah, milliner, 15 Market row

Aldridge Ann, beerhouse, Caister rd

+Allen Andrew Gilbert, 5 Florence pl

Allen Car. Brown, poulterer, 3 York st

Allen James, manager, Southtown

Allman Robert, shoemaker, Gorleston

*Allsop Stephen, 2 Devonshire place

Alwood Thomas, R.A., master gunner, S.

Ames Mr Edward, 3 York road

Ames Mr William, Row 44

*Ames Jas. 2 Ipswich pl. & Rodney rd

*Amis Henry, 47 Nelson road

Amis Hy. fish merchant, May place

*Amis Jas. Wm. 6 St. John's buildings

Amos Mr Abraham, 2 Mansfield terrace

Anderson Thos. & William, sail makers, South quay; h Rows 108 and 117

Andrews James, iron founder, Row 127

Andrews John, victualler, Trinity Arms, South Denes road

Andrews Susan, hairdresser, 12 King st

Andrews Mary, cowkeeper, Blackfriars rd

Annis Elizabeth, cowkeeper, Gorleston

Annisson Robert, victualler, Rising Sun, Southtown

Ansell Misses, North Beach

Ansell Robert, auctioneer, &c. 3 Pier terrace, and Fakenham

+Appleton James, 23 Market road

Arbon Charles J., Dene side

*Arbon Daniel, bricklayer, 3 Royal pl

Arbon George, fish curer, Saxon place

Arbon George, bricklayer, Regent road

Arbon Jas. Noah, fish mert. St George's rd

Arbon Mr Noah, Dene side

Archbold Henry, watchmaker, Gorleston

Archbold Hy. W. fish mert. Gorleston

Archbold Robert S. baker, Blackfriars rd

Archer Clement, marine store, N. quay

Archer Thomas, confectioner, 35 Saint Peter's road

Archer Mr. Wm. Robson, Southtown

Arnott Charles David, M.D., Gorleston

Arnott Mrs Frances Chte., Southtown

Arnoup George Goddard, shoemaker, 24 Charlotte street

*Arthur Mrs Sophia, 27 Trafalgar rd

- Artis Miss Frances, 2 Albert place
 Artis Jas. working cutler, 20 Howard st
 *+Artis Samuel, 2 May place
 Ashby Benj. greengrocer, 68 George st
 Asker James Robertson, Southtown
 Atherton James, cooper, Blackwall reach
 *Atkins Clare, 8 Russell road
 Atkins Wm. shipsmith, Quay mill road
 Athill Mrs Ann, 139 King street
 *Austin Harriet, 3 St. John's buildings
 Ayers James, fish curer, Nelson road
 *Ayres John, 4 Marine passage
 Ayers Thos. photographer, 4 Clarence pl
 Bacon George, blacksmith, Lancaster rd
 Bacon Robert Parker, hatter, Howard st
 Bacon Robert, victuallar, Waggon and Horses, Caister road
 Bacon Wm. vict., Barge, Hall quay
 Baddeley Lieut. Col. Wm., Gorleston
 Bailey Jas. Edmd. plumber, &c. Queen st
 Bailey Mr Robert, Clarence place
 Bailey Robert, shoemaker, 125 Gaol st
 Baird James, shoemaker, 5 Market row
 *Baker Anna, 1 Royal place [road
 Baker Geo. & Jno. bricklayers, Clarence
 Baker Henry Holmes, architect, 68 South market road
 Baker Mr James Edwin, Royal place
 Baker James, vict. Wheel of Fortune, 28 George street
 Baker Mr John, 8 Beersheba place
 Baker John, solr. Queen st, & London
 *Baker James (G. & J.); h 29 Nelson rd
 +Balch William, Gorleston
 *Baldry Ann & Julia, Nelson cottages +Baldry Benjamin, Exmouth road
 +Baldwin Henry, Row 113
 Baldwin Wm. Diboll, clerk, 1 Alma rd
 Bales Chpr. Ellis, butcher, Market place
 *Bales John Barney, 4 Market road
 Bales Wm. Ellis, baker, 7 Market place
 Baley Thomas, agent to Royal Liver Friendly Society, 3 Maddey's buildings
 *Ballard Joseph, Blackwall reach
 Balls Benjamin Barber, fruit and game dealer, 159 King street
 Balls Charles, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 Balls Mr Henry, 4 York terrace
 *Balls Henry, joiner, 1 Marlborough ter Balls James, shoemaker, St. Peter's plain +Balls John, 9 Tottenham street
 +Balls John, Lancaster road
 Balls My. vict. White Lion, 106 King st
 Balls Richard, fish curer, 45 Market road
 Balls Robert, beerhouse, Queen street
 Balls Samuel, victuallar, Victoria Hotel, Kimberley terrace
 Balls Wm. vict. Trafalgar, Osborne ter
 Balltis Maria, shopkeeper, 174 Gaol st
 Bambridge Henry, jeweller, 17½ Gaol st
 +Bamant Robert, Queen's road
 Banham Robert, baker, Gorleston
 Banham Wm. shoemkr. Blackwall reach
 +Banks Henry Nathl. 13 St. Peter's pl
 *Banks Mr Isaac Carr, 3 Brunswick pl
 Barber Henry Holt, ship broker, 10 South quay; h Friars' lane
 Barber James, shopkeeper, 16 Howard st
 Barber John & Son, corn, cake, & shipping agt., &c. North quay, & Norwich
 Barber Mrs Lydia, 5 Northumberland pl
 Barber My. Ann, shopkpr. 12 Norfolk ter
 Barber Robt. rope mkr. 4 St. George's ter
 Barber Robert David, sec. of Savings' Bank, Market place; h 1 Pier terrace
 Barber Mr Samuel S. 8 Florence place
 Barber Sl. tinner, Row 43; h Gorleston
 Barber Mrs S., Friar's ln & St. Geo's. ter
 *Barber Mrs Sarah, North beach
 Barber Thos. Robt. ironmonger, Mkt. pl
 Barber Wm. tailor & drpr. 19 Hall quay
 Barcham Mr Wm. Daniel, 44 North quay
 Bards Robert Benjamin, tide waiter, 4 Eastbourne terrace, Southtown Barge Samuel, ironmonger, 2 Church pin
 *Barham Charles, 2 Neptune terrace
 Barker Clementia, hosier, Market row
 Barker Mrs Elizabeth, 13 St. George's ter
 Barker Mr John, 7 South quay
 Barker Jph. customs officer, 69 King st
 Barker Matthew, turnkey, Gaol
 Barker William Wilson, cooper, Theatre plain; h Blackfriars road
 Barnaby Mr James, 3 Queen's terrace
 Barnaby Robt. Andrews, fish curer and merchant, Queen's road +Barnaby William Henry, Row 133
 *Barnard Barney, 2 St. John's buildings +Barnard Robert, 6 St. James' terrace
 Barnard Wm. draper, &c. 37 Market pl
 *Barnaschina Louisa, tobcnst. StPet's. rd
 Barnby Frederick, fish merchant, Saint Peter's road; h Exmouth place
 Barnby and Son, wine and spirit merchants, 38 Charlotte street
 Barnby John Eager: h 38 Charlotte st
 Barnby Mrs Susan, 11 St. George's ter
 Barnes Charles, hairdresser, 1 George st
 Barnes Edward, beerhouse, North quay
 Barnes Eliz. toy dealer, 146 Gaol st
 Barnes Eliz. My. A., vict. Rose, 11 King st +Barnes George Henry, Row 132
 *Barnes Henry, 4 Ely place
 Barnes Henry, broker, Church plain
 Barnes Sergt. Isaac, 8 Brighton terrace
 Barnes Jeremiah, law clerk, Duncan pl
 +Barnes Jonas, North quay
 Barnes Richd. engineer, 3 Northmbld. pl
 Barnes Robt. tide waiter, 7 Brighton ter
 Barnes Samuel, brick and tile maker, North quay, and Surlingham
 Barnes Susan, butcher, Market place
 Barrett Benjamin, school, North quay
 Barrett George, master, Charity school
 Barrett Miss Sarah, High st, Gorleston
 Barrett Thos. schoolmr. St. George's row

*Barrett William, Marine road
 Barrett Wm. tailor, 62 Howard street
 Barrow Ann, shopkeeper, Charlotte st
 Barrow William, baker, 2 Well street
 Bartram Charles, stonemason, & Charles Fuller, bricklayer, 15 Caister road; house 49 North quay
 Bartram Cubitt Engall, fish merchant,
 Nelson road; h 12 St. George's ter
 *Bartram George, 6 Britannia terrace Bartram John, victualler, Vauxhall Gardens, North quay
 Bartram John Clarke, pawnbroker and vict. Elephant and Castle, Market pl
 Bartram John, carter, Charles street
 Barwood Thomas Hy. joiner, Gorleston
 Batcheler Rev. Thomas John, B.D., 42
 King street
 Batchelor Hy. F. dentist, 7 St. Geo.'s rd
 Bately Benj. fish curer, 2 Cobb's place
 Bately Mrs Harriet, 67 Regent road
 Bately Stephen Godfrey, house and estate agent, 75 Southtown
 +Bateman Matthew, Flushing terrace
 Baumgartner John Percy, gent., Gln
 Bax Elizabeth, furrier, Caister road
 *Baxfield Ann, 27 Market road Baxfield Mr John, 1 Every terrace
 Bayes Benj. greengrocer, 62 S. quay
 *Bayfield Mrs Eliza, 23 Regent road
 Bayfield Doily Scott, coal mert. Nelson rd
 Bayfield Edm. fish mert. &c. Lancaster rd
 Bayfield and Middleton, boat owners, St.
 Peter's road
 Bayfield Shearman, fish curer, Row 60
 Bayley James Martin, fish salesman
 (Freeman and B.); h 1 Albert place
 Bayley Jph. surgeon & regr. 154 King st
 Beales Daniel, cowkeeper, Osborne ter
 Beales Frances, cowkeeper, Southtown Beales Mary Ann, fishmonger, Fish market; house Regent road Beales William, victualler, Anchor and Hope, St. Peter's road
 Bean Robert, fish curer, Blackfriars rd
 Beavers Eliz. shopkeeper, 6 Market rd
 Beazor Martin, harns. mkr. 21 Charlotte st
 Beckett Benjamin, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 *Beckett Samuel, tailor, 1 Duncan place
 Beckett Thos. grocer, St. Nicholas' road
 Beckett Wm. butcher, 46 St. Peter's rd
 +Bee John, Willow place
 Bee Robert, shoemaker, 35 Market place
 Bee Thomas, shoemaker, 152 Gaol st Beeching James & Henry, ship and boat builders, South Denes road
 Beecroft Peter, confecr. 35 Charlotte st
 Beets Mr John, York road
 Beets John, clothes dealer, 89 George st
 Beever Sir Thomas Branthwayt, Bart.
 17 Regent road and Hargham
 Beever Thos. Wm. confecr. 15 Gaol st
 Beever Wm. corn miller, Roman place

Beezley Mrs Mary, 85 Southtown
 Bell George, shopkeeper, 92 George st
 Bell James, shoemaker, 6 Friar's lane
 Bell Louisa, schoolmistress, 11 Row 107
 Bell Wm. Edw., Esq., Gorleston Villa
 Bellamy Charles, butcher, 12 Caister rd
 Bellamy Danl. W., butcher, 136 King st
 Bellamy David, butcher, Gorleston
 Bellamy Frederick, baker, 129 Gaol st
 Bellamy Winter, butcher, 61 King street
 Bellin Percy Blair, timber mert. Southtown
 Belson Elizabeth, beerhs. 74 George st
 Belson Mr William, Row 36
 Benjafield Mrs F. rag dealer, Gorleston
 Bennett Rt. baker & fish mert. Gorleston
 Benns George, farmer, Gorleston
 Bensly & Sons, bricklayers, Southtown
 Bensly Mark; house Southtown
 Bensly Mr Thomas, Nelson road
 *Bensly William, 7 Victoria road
 *Benslyn Hannah, Gorleston
 *Benslyn John, St. George's road
 Benslyn Thos. confecr. Marlborough sq
 Berry Hannah, shopkpr. Blackfriars rd
 +Besford James, Row 109
 Bessey Benj. vict. Lord Nelson, N. quay
 Bessey & Hylton, coal &c. merts. S. quay
 Bessey Jno. vict. Lord Collingwood, N. qy
 Bessey Robt., beerhouse, 17 North quay Bessey Wm. Henry, coal merchant and ship owner; h South Beach Lodge Betts Alfred, grocer, 171 King street; house 8 Claremont terrace
 Betts John, harbour master, 47 S. quay
 Betts Robert, shoemaker, 85 Gaol street
 +Betts Saml. master mariner, 110 Gaol st
 Betts Thomas, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Bevan Capt. Geo. Dacres, R.N., inspecting comndr. of coast guards, Gorleston
 Beverley Jno. victualler, Camden Tavern,
 Camden road
 +Beverley Robert, Dene side
 *Bexfield Anne, 4 Geneve terrace
 Bickers Wm. shoemaker, 16 Gaol street
 Biddlecombe & Boning, drprs. 5 King st
 Biddlecombe Henry; h 1 Apsley road
 *Biggs Edward Andrew 43 Nelson rd
 Bignold Samuel Frederick, Brandon ter
 +Binks Henry, Deneside
 Bird Mr James, 18 Queen's road
 Bird William, corn mert. 54 Southtown
 *Birkett Mary Ann, South beach
 Birstow William, tailor, Gorleston
 Bishop Benjamin, tailor, 10 Crown place
 Bishop John, baker, Camden road
 Bitton John, broker, 57 Charlotte street
 Black John, pilot, Blackfriars road
 Black Mr. William, 147 King street
 +Blackburn John, 12 St. Peter's place
 Blackwood Edm. shopkpr. North quay
 Blagg Mr Thomas, 40 Southtown
 Blagg Thomas Herring, grocer, Market row; house 13 Regent road

- Blake Brothers, printers, booksellers, & stationers, 12 Gaol street
 Blake Mr Charles, 6 St. George's road
 Blake Rev. Ephraim (Prim. Methodist), 12 Northumberland place
 Blake, Garson & Son, shipowners, ship brokers, coal merchants, &c. Hall quay
 Blake Garson; house 74 Southtown
 *Blake Geo. smackowner, 4 Blackfriars rd
 Blake James, pork butcher, Gorleston
 Blake Mr John, 3 Ely place
 Blake Lovewell (G. & Son); h Southtown
 Blake Robt. Thos. & Son, fish merts. & curers, & basket mkr. South Denes rd
 Blake Robert, jun.; h 14 Queen's road
 Blake Wm. fish curer, St. Nicholas' rd
 Blanchflower Timothy Coleman, chemist and druggist, 76 South quay
 Bland & Debbage, fish merts. Blackfriars rd
 Bland Arthur; house Mariners' road
 Bland James, fish mercht., Cemetery rd
 Blaxell Chas. vict., Steam Packet, S. beach
 Blaxell Samuel, fruiterer, Wilshire place
 Blaza John, shopkeeper, 20 Gaol street
 *Block Robert, 2 Cerdic place
 Blogg Jas. vict., Geo. & Dragon, Ch. pln
 +Bloom James Humphrey, Row 80
 Bly Henry, ironmonger, leather cutter, and toy dealer, 33 Market place
 Bly James Francis, 5 St. Peter's road
 Bly John Hy. wholesale ironmonger, and cooking stove &c. mfr. &c. 9 Market pl
 Bly Samuel Walker, Queen's road
 Blyth George, tailor, 6 Beersheba place
 Blyth Rt. John, engineer & boiler mkr. Cobham island; & tobacst. 2 Broad rw Blyth William, shoemaker, 13 Gaol st
 +Blyth William, 1 Belgrave place
 +Blyth William, Blackfriars road [plain Blyth Wm. plumber, &c. White Horse
 Boardman Misses Sar. & Ann, 14 S. quay
 Boast James, clerk, 33 Regent road
 Boatwright Ann, victualler, Champion, 170 King street
 Boatwright Mary Ann, victualler, London Tavern, Gaol street
 *Bolt Jas. Chas. pilot, Buckingham pl
 Bond Mr Henry, 2 Alma place
 Bond James, clerk, 69 Southtown
 Bond John, druggist, 183 King street
 Bond Louisa, milliner, 28 St. Peter's rw
 Bond Valentine, furrier, 183 Gaol street
 Bonfellow Mr Edmund, 20 Regent road
 Bonfellow Edm. John, clerk, Row 103
 Bonfellow Henry Thomas, clerk, Row 90
 Boning John, draper; h 3 St. Geo's. rd
 Bonney Edward, beerhouse, Gorleston
 Bonney Joseph, beerhouse, Gorleston
 Boreham John Bales, gun mkr., Hall qy
 Borking James, dyer, 82 George st
 *Borrett Anna Maria, school, Apsley ter
 Borrett Mr George, 7 Bath place
 Borrett Henry, coach bldr., Southtown
 Bostock Edward, hosier, &c. 10 King st
 *Boswell Mary Ann, 7 Devonshire place
 Botwright Chas. cabinet mkr., Regent st
 Botwright Francis, butcher, Market pl
 *Botwright Jane, 41 Camperdown place
 Botwright Jeffery, pawnbrkr. 39 Gaol st
 Bowles, Thomas, beerhs. Steam Mill ln
 Boulst Charles James, Buckingham place
 Boulter Mr Edward, 85 Regent road
 Boulter Henry, confectioner, 6 Northgt
 Boulton James, shopkeeper, Albion road
 Boulton Samuel, boatowner and fish merchant, Camden road
 Boulton Samuel, jun., joiner, Camden rd
 *Boulton Samuel, 5 Marine terrace
 Bowden John Brewer, manager, National Provincial Bank of Engl. 2 South quay Bowell John, pilot, 10 Seymour place
 Bowen David, beerhouse, 64 George st
 Bower Samuel, victualler, Britannia, South Market road
 Bowgin John, gentleman, 73 Southtown
 Bowles Samuel, rag dealer, 72 Gaol st
 +Bowles Thomas, Pier place
 Bowles Thomas, beerhouse, Southtown
 Bowles Wm. shopkeeper, St. George's rd
 Bowling Capt. Jno., R.N., 5 Trafalgar rd
 +Boyce John, Alma road
 *Boyce Philip, joiner, 2 Albion road
 +Boyce Robert, Gorleston
 Boyce Robert, cowkeeper, Southtown
 Bracey John Taylor, patent rope mfr. & ship owner, Queen's rd; h Dene side Bracey John, jun., ship owner and rope mfr.; house, 5 Saint George's road +Bracey Saml. Pagett, 3 Russell square
 Bradbeer Samuel, sail maker, Row 100; and ship agent, Row 107
 Bradbury Mr George, 6 Vernon terrace
 Bradnum Benjamin, shopkpr. Gorleston
 Brady Edward, broker, Row 60
 Brady Miss Eliz. J. 1 St. Peter's row
 Branch Eliz. corset mkr. 30 Charlotte st
 Branch Mr John, 14 Regent street
 Brand Henry (Wm. & Hy.); h Broad row
 Brand Mrs Prudence, 52 Southtown
 Brand Wm. J. & Hy. tailors, Broad row
 Brand Wm. Jermyn; h 1 Westbourne ter
 Breeze Frdk. haircutter, 18 Napoleon pl
 Breeze Robt. ironmonger, 20 Market pl
 +Brereton Benj. Mattw. 27 St. Peter's rd
 +Brereton Mattw. N., Adam & Eve garden
 +Brett John, Lancaster road
 Brewer Geo. shoemaker, 53 Charlotte st
 Brewer Henry, 8 Dowager place
 Brewer Sophia, victualler, Carpenters' Arms, Howard street +Bridge Isaac, 7 Beersheba place
 *Briggs Mary, 3 Britannia terrace
 +Briggs Robert, South Denes road
 Briggs Wm. ship agent, 37 South quay
 Brightin Isaac, vict. East and West Flegg House, 2 Northgate street

- Brightwen Thomas, Esq. banker, (Gurneys and Co.); h Hall quay
 Brindid Saml. salt merchant, Deneside
 Bristow Abraham, baker, Gorleston
 Bristow Isaac, cowkeeper, Bathhill ter
 Bristow William, victualler, Hope and Anchor, Church plain Bristow Wm. parish clerk, Gorleston
 Brock Eliza, tinmer, Theatre plain Brock Miss, school, 70 Southtown
 Brock Misses Sarah & Mary, Southtown
 Brock Saml. fish mert. Portland passage
 Brooks Mr John, Gaol street
 Brooks Thos. cabinet mkr. 34 Charlotte st
 Brophy Patrick B. master of School of Art, South quay
 Brown Alfred (Robt. & A.); h Row 112
 Brown Charles, ship owner, and agent to Barclay and Perkins, Rodney road; h 81 Southtown
 Brown and Cox, cabinet makers and upholsterers, 16 Charlotte street
 Brown & Colby, iron merts. 179 Gaol st
 Brown David, vict. Britannia, 72 S. quay
 Brown Edw. vict. Railway Tav. N. quay
 Brown Edw. fish curer, 3 Herring row
 Brown Francis, fish curer, Clarence rd
 Brown George, tax surveyor, 26 King st
 Brown Geo. Penrice, agent, 75 S. quay
 Brown Henry Amiss, fish merchant, Blackfriars road; h Exmouth road
 Brown Jane, vict. South Star, 79 S. quay
 *Brown Jeffery, shoemkr. 3 Dowager pl
 Brown John, vict. Jolly Waterman, Fuller's hill
 Brown John, crape manufacturer (Grout and Co.); h 13 Britannia terrace
 Brown John, jun. (do.); h St. Nicholas rd
 Brown John, cooper, Row 137
 +Brown John, 4 St. Peter's place
 Brown Mr Philip, 5 Pier terrace
 *Brown Richd. jun. Fitzwilliam square
 +*Brown Richard, 2 Brown's buildings, and 9 Napoleon place
 Brown Robt. gardener, Gorleston [hill
 Brown Robt. bathing machine propr. Bath
 Brown Robt. & Alfd. fish curers, Row 112
 Brown Robert; house 140 Gaol street
 Brown Mr Rbt. 9 South beach & Norwich
 +Brown Robert Wm. 1 Buckingham pl
 Brown Miss Sarah Jane, 7 Claremont ter
 Brown William Henry, iron merchant, (B. and Colby); h 15 Trafalgar road
 Brown Wm. Palgrave and Co. coal and timber merchants, Southtown
 Brown Wm. Palgrave, jun. (do. and B. and Cox); h 6 Claremont terrace Browne Fras. R. tide waiter, 11 Vernon ter
 Browne Mr Robert, 1 Bath hill terrace
 Bryant John, shoemkr. South mkt. rd
 Buck George, whitesmith, Silk mill road
 Buck James, fish mert. Gorleston [lane
 Buckingham Jas. anchorsmith, 20 Friar's
 Buckingham John, shoemkr. Blkfriars. rd
 Buckingham Jno. R. marine store, Friar's
 Buddery Robt. cowkpr. Caister rd [lane
 Budds Jas. Hor. hairdrrsr. 2 Howard st
 Budds Wm. Jonathan, sail maker and marine store dealer, Rows 136 & 138
 Bagden Miss Maria, Market road
 Bull George, bricklayer, Gorleston
 +Bullard Wm., Adam and Eve gardens
 Bullen Mrs Anne, 10 Brighton terrace
 Bullen Chs. Jno. vict. Grapes, 104 George st
 Bullen Joseph Ablitt, sea boot maker, St. Peter's row Bullimore G. R. carter, Fuller's hill
 Bullimore Robert, jun. joiner, St. Nicholas road, and beerhouse, Cemetery rd Bullimore Robert, sen. beerhs. Nelson rd
 Bullimore Ths. vict. Rose & Thistle, Gaol st
 Bulman Samuel, gardener, 16 Northgate
 Bultitude Geo. shoemkr. St. George's rd
 Bulwer Edgar Turner, tailor, draper and hosier, 22 Market row
 *Bulwer Wm. John, 2 Geneve terrace
 Bumpstead Mr George, Gorleston
 Bumpstead Robert, grocer, 8 Market pl
 Bunawell William, baker, Row 45
 Bunn Ann, farmer, Gorleston
 Bunn Jas. Wm. (T. & J. W.); h 25 South quay
 Bunn Mrs Sarah, 17 Southtown
 Bunn Thomas and James William, corn merchts. maltsters, &c. 44 Southtown +Burgell John, 2 Lichfield place
 Burgess Benj. plumber, &c. Caister rd
 Burgess Geo. vict. Anchor & Hope, Gorleston
 Burgess Richard, North quay
 Burgess Mary A. vict. Duke's Head, Gorlston
 Burgess Thomas, woollen draper and outfitter, St. Peter's row
 Burgess Thomas, 7 North quay
 Burkett William, tailor, Row 32
 *Burling William, 46 King street
 Burling Wm. Fras. tailor, St. Peter's rd
 Burman Chas. clothes dlr. 34 George st
 Burman Edward, butcher, St. Peter's rd
 Burman Miss Emily, 2 St. George's rd
 Burman Jas. parish clerk, Church plain
 Burrell Jas. marine store dlr. 35 Geo. st
 Burrell Rbt. marine store dlr. 8 Denes rd
 Burrell Mr William H., Gorleston
 Burroughs Thomas Proctor, solicitor, Church plain Burroughs Wm. Norton, wine, spirit, & porter merchant, 2 Market place
 Burton Benj. vict. Steam Packet, N. quay
 Burton Charles, plumber, 23 Gaol street
 Burton Clement, cow keeper, Mill lane
 Burton Eliz. china, &c. dlr. St. Nichls' rd
 Burton George, fish curer, Lancaster rd
 Burton Geo. & Son, victs. Queen's Arms, S.
 Burton Geo. Mihill, cabinet mkr. S. town
 Burton Mrs Hannah, 59 Southtown
 Burton Jas. grocer & wine mert. 3 King st
 Burton Mr John Robert, 12 Regent road

Burton Mrs Mary, 22 Hall quay
 Burton Mr Samuel, 67 Southtown
 Burton Saml. Crickmer, solicitor, Priory plain; house 12 King street
 Burward Eliz. Mary, confecr. Regent st
 Burwood Benj. lapidary, St. George's rd
 Burwood Henry, boat bldr. Exmouth rd
 *Burwood James, 4 Ipswich place
 Burwood Wm. bricklayer, Havelock road
 Bush Wm. cowkeeper, West Nettle hill
 Bushell Mrs Martha A. 5 Dowager pl
 Buston Hez. Wm. shoemkr. 153 King st
 Buston Mr John Trueman, Row 107
 Buston J.T. jun. collector, 3 Fuller's hill
 Buston Sarah, schoolmistress, Row 107
 Butcher Misses M. and E. 104 King st
 Butcher Matthew & Sons, timber merts. & sawyers, and shipping agents, vice-consuls, &c. Saint Peter's road +Butcher Robert, Exmouth road
 Butcher William, beerhouse, Nelson rd
 Butler Jas. W. cabinet mkr. 31 Charlotte st
 Butter Robt. shoemkr. 56 South Mkt. rd
 Butter Wm. shoemaker, 23 St. Peter's rd
 Butterfield John, vict. Oddfellows' Inn, 134 Gaol street
 Butter Mr James, 2 Bath place
 *Buxton Isaac, 4 Brandon terrace
 Buxton James, brazier, Market road
 Byford George, shopkeeper, Charlotte st
 Cady Geo. vict. Jolly Farmer, 1 Northgate
 Cady would Hy. cabinet mkr. Blkfrirs. rd
 Cady would James, shopkr. Queen's rd
 Cain Elizabeth, milliner, 10 Market pl
 Caldecott Barnes, Esq. at Victoria Hotel
 Callow Chas. vict. Regent Tav. 30 Regent rd
 Calls Mrs Ann, Southtown
 Calver Charles William, gasfitter, 131 King street; house Row 107
 Calver James S. pilot, Gorleston
 Calver My. Ann, clothes, &c. dlr. 124 Gaol st
 Campbell Rev. Alex. Digby, M.A. curate of Gorleston, Westbourne ter. Southtown
 Campbell Mrs Ann, Blackfriars road
 *Candler Edgar, 11 Albion road
 Candler Mr James, 55 Southtown
 +Candler Jesse, 89 Southtown
 Cannell Mr Charles, 55 King street
 *Capon William, 48 Southtown
 Carpenter Fredk. tobacnst. 31 Regent st
 Carpenter Wm. auctioneer, 69 King st
 Carr Chas. Fredk. clerk, Lancaster road
 Carr Geo. Wm. in customs, 3 Alma pl
 *Carr Onesimus, grocer, Lancaster road
 +Carr William, Alma road
 Carr William, fish curer, Market road
 Carrall Sarah, toy dealer, 181 King st
 Carrier Wm. Porter, baker, 35 Gaol st
 Carter Mr Daniel, 63 King street
 +Carter Daniel D. 14 Seymour place
 Carter George, baker, Norfolk terrace
 Carter George Cornelius, victualler, Bell and Crown, South quay

*Carter Horatio, 7 Saint Peter's place
 Carter Jas. tobacconist, St. George's rd
 *Carter John, shopr. 3 Litchfield place
 +Carter William, 59 South Market road
 +Catchpole William, Exmouth road
 Cater Rt. vict. Market Tav., Fish market
 Caton Thomas, clerk, Gorleston
 Cattee Fdk. shoemkr. Silk mill rd; h Fish st Cattee Robert, shoemaker, Fish street
 Cattermole Edw. librarian, St. Geo's. row Cattermole Eliz. cap mkr. St. George's rw Cattermole James, vict. Holkham Hotel, Northbeach [down place
 Cattermole Mr John Overton, 6 Camper-Cattermole Thomas, beerhs. Rodney rd Cattermole Wm. sailmaker, Camden road
 Ceiley Robert, herbalist, Church plain
 Ceiley Thomas, broker, 25 George street
 *Chadd Mary and Eliz. 14 Henry place
 Chaldoff Thomas, sweep, Row 28
 Chamberlin Charles Henry, solicitor, coroner, and registrar of County Court, 23 King street; h Britannia terrace
 Chamberlin Mary, vict. Princess Charlotte, 93 George street
 Chamberlin William Charles, music professor, and Mrs. school, Row 54
 *Chamberlin Wm. Daniel, 2 Blackfriars rd
 Chambers William, sailmaker, Row 117
 Chaney Charles, shoemkr. Gedge's bldgs
 Chaplin Robert, hay, &c. dlr. Deneside
 Chapman Jas. fish curer, 16 Blkfrirs. rd
 Chapman James, ship and boat builder, Southtown; h 156 Gaol street
 Chapman John, fruiterer, Theatre plain
 Chapman John, shoemkr. 9 Caister road
 Chapman Saml. fishmonger, Portland pl
 Chapman William, baker, 51 Gaol street
 Chapman William, broker, 59 Howard st
 Chapman Wm. cowkeeper, Row 141
 Chapman Wm. jun. cowkeeper, Row 109
 Chase John Beckett, hairdsr. 10 Friar's ln
 Chase Robert, beerhouse, 166 Gaol st
 Chase Robert, scripture reader, Row 33
 Chasteney Everson, baker, 2 Albion ter
 Chasteney John E. baker, 34 Caister rd
 *Chaston Daniel, 19 Market road
 Chaston James, carpenter, and Eliza, watchmaker, &c. 6 Saint Peter's row
 *Cheston William, 11 Britannia terrace, and 15 Columbia terrace Child Charles, tinner, &c. Row 132
 *Child Emma, 3 Marlborough terrace
 Child Fdk. Geo. tide waiter, 90 Southtown
 Child John, brazier, S. quay; h Row 132
 Child Robert, clerk, 13 Crown place
 Child Wm. hairdresser, 57 Gaol street
 *Childs Mrs Matilda, North beach
 Chilvers James, grocer, Charlotte st
 Chilvers Joseph, fish merr. Gorleston
 Chipperfield Chas. Lucroft, Willow pl. S.
 Chittleburgh Jas. toll colr. Southtown
 Christmas Mr Cornls. Harley, Market rd

Christmas John, beerhouse, Southtown
 *Christmas Mary Ann, 3 Brandon ter
 Clare Amelia, shipowner, Seymour place
 Clare James, clothier, St. Peter's row
 Clark Mr Edward, Row 57
 +Clark James, Gorleston
 Clark James, agent for Sutton & Co.'s parcel despatch, Market place
 Clark John, ship owner, &c. 33 South quay
 Clark Mr Samuel, 2 Crown place
 Clarke Edmund, baker, 24 Gaol street
 Clarke Mrs Eliza, Gorleston
 Clarke Mrs Eliz. F. 37 Camperdown pl
 Clarke George Anson, net tanner, South
 Clarke Mr. Hy., St. Geo'. rd [Denes rd
 Clarke Mrs Martha, 2 Royal place
 *Clarke Mary Ann, 46 Howard street
 Clarke and Reeve, steam packet owners,
 South Denes road, and Norwich
 Clarke Rd. cabinet mkr. &c. 25 Chrltte.st
 Clarke Saml. Tennant, beerhs. Regent rd
 Clarke Mr Thomas, 5 Ely place
 Clarke William Benjamin, solicitor, 40
 South quay ; house Gorleston
 Claxon James, baker, 36 George street
 *Claxton Emily, 18 Regent road
 Clayton John, cabinet mkr. 175 King st
 Clements George, coal dealer, Albion rd
 *Clements Geo. S. tailor, 6 Somerset pl
 Clements Thomas William, victualler,
 Saracen's Head, Church plain
 *Clifton Mr Robert, 2 Sefton terrace
 *Clipperton James, 4 Alma place
 Close John W. firewood dlr. Row 104
 Clowes George Washington, ironmonger,
 1 Howard street ; house Denes Clowes John, solicitor, 3 Regent street ; house 56 South quay
 Clowes John, grocer, 15 Hall quay
 Coates Henry, fish agent, St. George's rd
 *Cobb Elizabeth, North beach
 Cobb James, solicitor, 2 Regent street
 Cobb John, currier, &c. 54 Charlotte st
 Cobb John Swanton, dentist, 28 King st
 Cobb & Son, curriers & tanners, 6 Geo. st
 Cobb Mrs My. & Jas. Swanton ; h 6 Geo. st
 Cobb Wm. and Co. booksellers, stationers, & printers of Yarmouth Independent,
 Coble John, druggt. 63 Geo. st [Hall quay
 Cockrell John Waller, joiner, Gorleston
 Cockrill William, bricklayer, Southtown
 Cocks John and Son, tailors, 7 King st
 Cocks Jph. Atterton ; h 3 Exmouth st Coe David, gutta percha sea-boot manufacturer, 105 Gaol street
 Coe Thomas, keeper, North Battery
 Cohen Henry, painter, &c. Nelson road
 Coker Sarah, midwife, 16 George street
 *Colby Henry, New Wellington place
 Colby Jas. fish curer (Dyson & C.) Row 137
 Colby Marianne, fish curer, Gaol street Colby William, fish merchant, Grosvenor road ; house Jane place

Cole John Fry, hairdresser, and vict.
 Wrestlers' Inn, Church plain Cole John Pile, plumber, &c. Blackfriars road ; house Alma road Cole Thomas, fish curer, Row 145 ; house Mariners' road
 Cole Wm. fish mert. & vict. Wm. IV. Gor-
 Cole Wm. baker, Pier plain [leston
 Coleman Edward, cooper, St. Nicholas' rd
 Coleman Mrs Ellen Cath. 34 Regent rd
 Coleman James, shopkpr. 80 South quay
 Coleman Mr John, Wilshire place
 Coleman Thos. fish mert. Exmouth road
 Colk Geo. port dues colr. South quay
 Collier & Malden, fish salesmen, South quay
 Collier Thos. Wm. (C. & M.) ; h 2 York rd
 Collins Ann, shopkeeper, 82 Gaol street
 +Collins George, Camden road
 *Collins Wm. Manthorpe, 24 Market road
 Collinson Geo. Young, Esq. 42 Nelson rd
 +Collis James, 8 Crown road
 Colls Mrs Elizabeth, 84 Southtown
 Colman Rev. Jph. (Free Meth.) 64 Regent rd
 Colman Thos. carriage, &c. owner, & vict.
 Norfolk & Norwich Arms, St. George's rd
 Colthorpe Edw. D. vict. Greyhound, South-+Colthorpe John, Exmouth rd [town
 Colwell Mr Charles, Southtown
 Coman Wm. horse letter, 1 St. Peter's rd
 Combes Marinus, ham curer, 87 Gaol st
 *Cook John, 4 Napoleon place
 Cook Miss Margaret, 3 Claremont ter
 *Cook Thomas William, King's place
 Cooke Edw. brewery agent, Clarence rd
 Cooke Wm. corn agent, Regent road
 *Cooper Ann & Elizabeth, Regent road
 +Cooper Charles, Row 120
 Cooper Chas. plumber, &c. 27 George st
 Cooper Henry, corn miller, Southtown
 Cooper Isaac, builder, Row 51 ; h S. mkt. rd
 +Cooper James Henry, 1 Pier place
 Cooper John, bookseller, printer, &c.
 Hall quay ; h 79 Southtown
 +Cooper John William, Row 132
 Cooper Mrs Mary, 2 Westbourne terrace
 Cooper Thomas, joiner, South Market rd
 Cooper Wm. shoemkr. 16 White Horse pln
 *Cordran Mrs Harriet, 7 Bathhill terrace
 Corp James, tailor, North quay
 Cory Charles, solicitor, town clerk, &c.
 26 King street ; h Burgh Castle
 Cory Mrs Mary Ann, Deneside
 Cory Saml. Barnett, solicitor, vestry clerk, clerk to magistrates, &c. 7 Regent st ;
 house Runham
 Cossey John, beerhs. South Market rd
 Cossons John Richardson, draper, 180
 King street ; house 16 Regent road
 Costerton Frederick Samuel, solicitor,
 Queen street ; house Little Ormesby
 Costerton George, haven dues collector,
 Quay ; house Southtown
 Costerton Mr John Fisher, Southtown

- Cotton Chas. organ bldr. St. George's row Cotton Ellen, bonnet mkr. 7 Broad row
 Cotton Rev. Moses (New Connexion Methodist) 15 Queen's road
 Cotton Wm. watchmaker, &c. St. George's row; h Broad row
 + Cotton William John, Apsley road
 * Coulling James, 23 Vernon terrace
 + Coultwas Samuel, 1 Beersheba place
 * Courtman William, 4 Alfred terrace
 Cowl Henry, notary, conveyancer, &c., 40 South quay; h 43 Southtown
 Cox Mrs Angelina Peacock, cabinet mkr. (Brown and Cox); h 16 Charlotte st
 Cox Miss Elizabeth, Caister road
 Cox Capt. John, high bailiff of County Court, 16 Trafalgar terrace
 Cox John, vict. Dog & Duck, South quay
 Cox Sar. school, Gorleston [Southtown
 Cox Stephen Lee, vict. Rumbold Arms,
 Crane George Fras. county court clerk, 30 Regent street
 Crane Henry, haberdasher, Regent st
 Crane Isabella, shopkeeper, Charlotte st
 Crane John, shopkeeper, 32 Gaol street
 Crane John Wm. smith, Fish street
 Crane Mary, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 Crane Sarah, school, 2 Conge
 + Crane William, 26 Tottenham street
 * Crane William, 44 Nelson road
 Craske Samuel, Woodhead, timber merchant, 61 Caister road
 Creak Mrs Maria, 73 Gaol street
 * Crick Mrs Eliza, 6 Henry place
 Crick William, clerk, 3 Henry place
 Crickmay Miss Mary, 37 Southtown
 Crickmay Mr Saml. Thos. 11 Crown pl
 * Crickmer Charles R. 21 Market road
 Crickmer Eliz. shopkeeper, Gorleston
 Crickmer Mary, school, Gorleston
 Crisp Barker, beerhouse, North Denes
 Crisp Edmund, cab owner, Row 104
 Crisp Eliza, milliner, 7 Howard street
 Crisp Mrs Emma, Row 33
 + Crisp James, Row 145
 * Crisp John, Russell road
 + Crisp John, St. Andrew's place
 Critten James, boat bldr. Cobham Island
 Crocket Sarah Maria, school, Queen's pl
 + Crome John, Queen's road
 Crome Thomas, carpenter, Row 36
 Cross Ann, school, Row 102
 Cross Miss Jane, Gorleston
 Cross Valentine, druggist, 25 Regent st
 Crosse Rev Arthur Bayly, M.A., incumbent of St. John's, St. John's terrace
 * Crosswell Samuel, 22 Market road
 Crow Mr James, Gorleston
 Crow Mrs Mary, 4 Fuller's hill
 Crowe Fredk. estate agent & registrar of marriages, 49 Howard st; h 60 Rgt. rd
 * Crowe John, 12 Albion road
 Crowe W. vict. Yarmouth Arms, Hall quay
 Cruicknell Henry, shopkeeper and music professor, Market road
 Cubitt Saml. Jas. shopr. St. Nicholas' rd
 * Cudding Mary Susan, 1 Britannia ter
 Cufaude John Lomas, solicitor, clerk of the peace, clerk to guardians, clerk to visiting justices of the gaol, and supt. registrar, 145 King street; house 19 Britannia terrace
 Cullum James, butcher, Gaol street
 Cullum Stephen, butcher, 19 Gaol street
 Curson Mattw. watchmaker, Charlotte st
 Curtis Henry Laws, shopr. 51 Howard st
 Curtis Henry Saml. shipsmith, Row 123
 Curtis James, cowkeeper, &c. (and Wiseman & Co.) Marine passage
 * Curtis Maria, 12 Bath place
 Curtis Wm. cork cutter, Church plain
 * Cushing Susan, Regent road
 Cutting Chas. pork butcher, 11 Geo. st
 Cutting Edward, pork dlr. Church plain Cutting My. Ann, eating hs. Chlhte. st
 Cutts James, shipowner, 76 George st
 * Dabnam Abm. 8 Neptune terrace
 D'Ade Mr John, 92 Southtown
 Dale Thomas, engineer and manager of Water Works, York House, York road
 Dallistone John, hairdresser, Gaol st
 Daniel Rev. Richard, M.A., F.S.A., rector of Combes, and incumbt. of West Somerton, 41 Camperdown place
 Daniels Rev. Fras. (Cath.) Regent road
 + Darnell Charles, Alma road
 * Darnell Daniel, 2 Russell road
 * Darnell Henry, 5 Duncan place
 Darnell James, fish curer, Row 9
 * Darnell Thomas, Nelson road
 Darnell Thomas, Clarence road
 * Darnell Wm. Henry, 1 Dowager place
 Dashwood Charles Burton, surgeon, 135 King street
 Davenport Wm. grocer, Market place
 Davey Mr Daniel, South Market road
 Davie William, sub-commissioner of pilots, &c. 38 South quay
 Davie Wm. excise, 5 Queen's road
 Davies John, victualler, Theatre Tavern, Theatre plain
 * Davies John, 8 Henry place
 + Davis Henry, Military place
 Davis Mrs Margaret, 2 St. George's ter
 Davison James, fish curer, Friar's lane; house Dundee
 Davy Elijah, watchmaker, 12 Northgt. st
 Davy Elijah Frost, watchmr. 14 Chlhte. st
 Davy Frederick, druggist, 157 King st
 * Davy John Wm. grocer and tea dealer, St. George's road; h 2 Kent place Davy Robt. watchmaker, 56 Charlotte st
 Dawber & Son, slate merts. &c. Sthtown
 Dawson John, shipowner, 9 Regent road
 Dawson Mr Robert, 10 Gaol
 + Dawson Samuel, 53 King street

- Dawson Rev. Wm., B.A., curate, King st Dawson Wm. shoemaker, Broad row;
 house 29 Charlotte street
 Day Mrs Charlotte, 8 St. George's road
 Day George, shoemaker, 9 Market road
 +Day James Carter, 13 Duncan place
 *Day John, 3 Florence place, Alma road
 Debbage Wm. fish curer; h Row 119
 *De Carle Ann, North beach
 De Caux John William, auctioneer, &c.
 Theatre plain; h Regent road
 Dee William, South Battery keeper
 Deex Thomas, ham curer, 2 Fuller's hill
 Denew James Manning, printer, bookseller, &c. 10 Regent street
 Denney Mrs Elizabeth, 33 Southtown
 +Denton George, 15 St. Peter's place
 Denton Robert, beerhouse, Gorleston
 Denton Sl. vict. Salvage Boat, Gorleston
 Denton Wm. vict. Fountain, 127 Gaol st
 Denton Wm. fish merchant, Gorleston
 Derry Wm. tailor, 6 St. Nicholas' road
 Desfongerais Agenor Aubin, vice consul for France, 18 Regent road
 Devereux Edward, pilot, Seymour pl
 Devereux Wm. joiner, St. Nicholas road
 +Devon George Fredk. 10 St. Peter's pl
 Dexter John, cabinet maker, Row 45
 Diboll Jph. Wm. bookbinder, Howard st
 Dick Wm. Rose Pertwee, 25 Southtown
 Dickie David, draper, 62 King street
 Ding John, cabinet maker, Caister road
 +Ding Sarah, 38 Camperdown place
 +Ditcham John, beerhs. Blackfriars road
 Diver Charles, solicitor, 12 Regent st
 Diver George Holmes, victualler, Star
 Hotel, Hall quay
 Diver & Son, wine merchants, 13 King st
 Diver Oswald; house 13 King street
 Diver Mr Wm. Holmes, 20 King street
 Dodd Mrs Isabella, 13 Geneve terrace
 Dods Capt. Wm. adjutant of the East
 Norfolk Militia, 8 Kimberley terrace
 *Doidge Mrs Elizabeth, 9 Russell road
 +Dore William, Gorleston
 Dorla Augs. band master, 13 Queen's rd
 Doughty Chas. currier, White Horse pln
 Doughty Hy. plumber, &c. Trafalgar pl
 Doughty Ths. Drane, grocer, Northgt. st
 Doughty Thos. W. plumber, 180 Gaol st
 Douglas James, clerk, Theatre plain
 Douglas Sarah, milliner, 46 Caister road
 Douglass Misses Ann & Eliz. Queen's pl
 Dowey Geo. station master, Southtown
 Downing Charles, 1 Russell road
 Downing Henry, fish merchant, Chapel street; house 17 Friar's lane
 +Downing Thomas Leggett, Seymour pl
 Downing Thos. Wm. fish curer, Alma rd
 Dowling Mrs Clara Charlotte, Gorleston
 Dowson B. & Son, corn merts. Hall quay
 Dowson Benjamin; house Hall quay
 Dowson Sept, corn mert. &c. Southtown
 Dowson Wm. Postle, mert; h Trafalgar rd
 Drackett Robert Francis. fly, &c. owner,
 36 St. Peter's road
 Drake Mrs Ann, Southtown
 Drake Lieut. Jas. Roper, R.N. 9 Crown pl
 Drake My. Ann, chiropodist, 9 Crown pl
 Drane James, cashier, 4 Flushing ter
 Draper Joseph, butcher, 156 King st
 Draper Wm. Hy. vict. Turk's Hd., Gaol st
 Driscoll James Wm. vict. Queen Victoria,
 Caister road
 Dublack Mrs Martha, St. James' terrace
 Du Croz John Cotterill, gentleman 5
 Claremont terrace
 Duffell Sarah, shopkeeper, Queen's pl
 Duffell Thos. shopkeeper, 90 George st
 Duffell Thomas, jun. 136 Gaol street
 *Duffield Elizabeth, 9 Marlborough ter
 Duffield Mrs shopkeeper, 99 George st
 Duffield John, cowkeeper, Mill lane Dumbleton Robt. slate merchant (Dawber and Son); house 19 Southtown Duncan Alexander, bookseller & binder,
 1 Market row; house Southtown
 Dunn Edward, shoemaker, George's rd
 Dunn Rev. Chs. (Bapt.); 4 St. Peter's rd
 Dunnell George, shoemkr. Charlotte st
 Dunnell John, shoemaker, 175 Gaol st
 Durrant Alfred, baker, &c. 88 King st +Durrant Alfred, 9 Victoria road
 Durrant Edm. cabt. mkr. 11 Duncan pl
 *Durrant Elizabeth, Deneside
 Durrant George, gardener, Southtown
 Durrant Jane, school, 33 Howard street
 Durrant John, shopkeeper, Caister road
 Durrant Rt. Riches, shopr, 16 St. Pet's. rd
 Durrant Saml. wheelwright, Caister rd
 Durrant Thomas, fish mert. Gorleston
 Durrant Wm. fruiterer, 16 King street
 Durrell Robert Wm. 4 Lichfield place
 Durrell Samuel, shoemaker, Gorleston
 Dyball Mr John, 11 Northumberland pl
 Dye Charles, shopkeeper, 65 Caister rd
 Dye Charles, fish merchant. 2 Alma road
 +Dye James, 3 Blackfriars road
 Dye Mrs Matilda, 8 Crown place
 Dye Samuel, blacksmith, Stanley road
 Dye Wm. James, tailor, 57 King st
 Dyer Daniel, rope maker, Row 107
 Dyson & Colby, fish curer, Row 137 Dyson Wm. Ferrett (D. & Colby), and sailmaker, 73 South quay
 Eagleton Mr John, Nelson road
 +East Alfred, Pier place
 East of England Bank (joint stock), Regent st, Geo. Wm. Holmes, manager
 *Eastee Augustus John, 4 Vince's bldgs
 *Easter Louisa, 15 Napoleon place
 Easter Wm. beerhouse, Hall quay
 Eastick Jabez, draper, 19 Market row
 *Eastick Louisa, 17 St. Peter's road
 Eastick Zach. at Gas Works, Southtown
 Eastoe Robt. bookseller, &c. 2 Market row

*Eaton James, 3 Leicester terrace
 Ecclestone Richard, draper, Broad row
 Ecclestone Wm. shoemaker, 11 Caister rd
 Edmonds John, beerhouse, North quay
 +Edmonds John, Row 119
 Edmonds John, shoemaker, Burnt In S.
 Edmonds John, ropemaker, Southtown
 +Edmonds Samuel, Every terrace
 Edwards My. Ann, beerhouse, Southtown
 Edwards Benj. shopkeeper, Rodney rd
 Edwards Chas. photographer, Regent rd
 Edwards David, baker, Southtown
 Edwards Edw. Rt. agent, 5 St. James' ter
 Edwards James Lee, builder, Conge
 Edwards John Draper, pk. buter. King st
 Edwards Robert, joiner, Regent road
 Edwards Thomas Booth, tailor, &c. 27
 Regent street; house 102 George st
 *Edwards William, 6 St. Peter's road
 Eidsforth Wm. Spencer, tailor, Gorleston
 Eldridge Mrs Harriet, 13 Regent st Elkington Thomas, victualler, King's Head, 48 King's street
 Ellen Mrs Alice, 37 Well street
 *Eller Mary Ann, 13 Russell square
 Ellerd Mary, confectioner, 155 King st
 Ellett James, mast, &c. mkr. Southtown
 Elliot Thomas, beerhouse, 132 Gaol st
 *Elliott Philip, 11 Market road
 Elliott Wm. whitesmith, Row 38
 Ellis Eliza, eatinghouse, 131 Gaol street
 Ellis George, basket maker, North quay
 Ellis James, tailor & draper, 15 Regent st
 Ellis James, shopkeeper, Southtown
 Ellis Mary Ann, victualler, Two-necked Swan, 6 Market place
 *Ellis Mary Ann, 26 Trafalgar road Ellis Robert Bean (E. and White) and brush maker, Broad row
 Ellis and White, coopers, Row 102
 *Ellis William, South beach place
 *Elmer James, collector, 6 Ely place +Elsdon William, 6 Seymour place
 Elsey Charles, shopkeeper, Albion road
 Emanuel Isaiah, clothes dlr. 47 Chlthe. st
 Emes Miss Susan, 6 Fuller's hill
 Emes Rd. Hammond, colr. 49 Nelson rd
 Emmerson Jas. bricklayer, S. Market rd
 +Emmerson John, 10 Geneve terrace
 Emmerson Mrs Martha, Waterpark ter
 Emms Eliz. school, 44 St. Peter's road
 *Emms Martha, 5 Devonshire place
 Emms Wm. Hy. plumber, &c. 5 Vict. rd
 Empson John, school, 22 N. Market rd
 Empson Elizabeth, school, Priory plain
 *English Charles, 21 North Market road
 English Jph. shopkeeper, N. Market rd
 *Etheridge Robert, 25 Trafalgar road
 *Ettridge John, 9 Bath place
 Evans Rev. Hy. Jas., M.A., head master of Grammar School, Trafalgar road
 *Everitt Henry Beckett, 2 Lichfield pl
 Everitt John, rope maker, 121 King st

Ewles Clarissa, shopkeeper, 44 Gaol st
 Fabb Miss Rebecca, 62 Southtown
 Falcke David, Esq., J.P., *Sutherland
 House*, South beach
 *Farey Mrs Lucy, 24 Havelock road
 Farman George, shopr. South Market rd
 Farman Mr James, Southtown
 +Farman William, 7 Duncan place
 Farraby Mrs Agnes, 35 South quay
 *Farrow George, North beach
 *Farrow Sarah, Apsley road
 *Farthing Eleanor, 4 Bath place
 Faulke Wm. butcher, 9 Friars' lane
 Feek Mrs Elizabeth, 71 Regent road
 Feek John Townley, baker, Row 34
 Fellows Henry & Son, shipbuilders, S.
 Fellows Henry; house Albert square
 Fellows John Henry; h 78 Southtown
 Fellows Mr John Frederick, Gorleston
 Feltham Keziah, shoemaker, Market pl
 Fenn Benj. (Robt. & B.); h 69 Regent st
 Fenn John, shipowner, 26 North quay
 *Fenn Robert, 76 Regent road
 Fenn Robt. & Benj. fish merts. StPet's. rd
 Fenn Robert Boulton; h 27 Southtown rd
 Fenner Horatio, grocer and ironmonger,
 63 South quay
 +Fenwick John, 4 Brunswick place
 Ferrier Fredk. Wm. solicitor, insurance agent, registrar, and clerk to tax commissioners, 11 Regent street Ferrier Richard, brewer, maltster, and spirit mert. Row 103; h 10 Trafgar. rd Ferryman Hnh. news agt. &c. 61 Chlthe. st
 Field Mr Michael, 12 Southtown
 Field Michael, jun., earthenware dealer,
 119 King street
 *Filby Robert, 17 Napoleon place
 +Fill John, 9 St. Peter's place
 +Fill John William, 2 Victoria place
 Fill Joseph, mate, 11 Vernon terrace
 Fill Samuel John, ship chandler, oilman, &c. Steam Tug Office, 41 South quay; house 31 Nelson road +Fill Thomas, Row 121 [Gaol st
 Finch John, cowkeeper & beerhouse, 184
 Fish Ann, shopkeeper, Dene side
 Fish Frederick, fish curer, 41 N. Mkt. rd
 Fish James Aldred, coal mert. 8 King st
 Fish Jeremiah, fish merchant, Southtown
 Fish John, cooper, South Denes road
 Fish Mrs Mary, 10 Regent road
 Fisher Miss Sarah, 78 Gaol street
 Fisher Wm. Thornton, optician, S. quay
 Fisk Benjamin, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Fisk Chlthe. dress maker, 28 Windsor ter
 Fisk George, hairdresser, North quay
 Fisk George, shoemaker, 128 Gaol st
 Fisk Henry, fruiterer, Market row
 Fisk Robert, fish merchant, 127 Gaol st
 Fisk Robert, beerhouse, Havelock road
 Fisk Samuel, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Fisk Wm. net tanner, 2 Beersheba place

Flaxman Barker, joiner, Trinity place
 Flaxman Rbt. coachsmith, Foundry walk
 +Fleming Edmund, Willow place
 Fleming Thomas R. baker, Gorleston
 Flemming Samuel, pilot, Gorleston
 Flemming Wm. pilot, High st, Gorleston
 Fletcher Robert, shoemaker, 110 King st
 Flower Jph. Geo., fruiterer, Market row
 *Flowerdew Robert, 4 Russell road
 Flowerday Wm. timber dlr., Southtown
 Floyd James, druggist, Market place
 Ford James Pearce, artist, Regent road
 *Forder Cs. cabt. mkr. 6 Harrison's bldgs Forder Fredk. cabinet mkr. Church pln Forder Mary and Hannah, brokers, 4
 Charlotte street
 Forder Robert, broker, Row 30
 Forder Tereza, victualler, Tanners'
 Arms, Union road
 Foreman Eliz. haberdasher, Broad row
 Foreman Jas. Ridley, secretary to Steam
 Tug Company, 10 Nelson terrace
 *Foreman Thos. Clifton, 5 Buckghm. pl
 Foreman Wm. Jas. coal mert., Hall quay
 Forster Miss Emily, Camperdown place
 Foadike Robt. ironmgr. 39 Charlotte st
 Foster Mrs, Saint John's terrace
 *Foulsham Jph. Simpson, 84 Regent rd
 Fowler Danl. Read, draper, 18 Market pl
 Fowler Mrs Emily, 9 Florence place
 Fowler Mr John, 3 Sefton terrace, S
 Fox John, cowkeeper, Row 54
 *Fox Mary Ann, 3 Devonshire place +Fox Orris, Camden road
 Fox Thomas, joiner, 2 Marlborough sq
 +Fox Thomas, 14 Napoleon place
 *Fox William, 5 Bathhill terrace
 Francis George, beerhouse, Caister road
 Francis John, victualler, Red Lion,
 Blackwall reach, Gorleston Franklin John, victualler, Crown and Anchor, Hall quay
 Fransham Jerh. gardener, Apollo walk
 Freeman & Bayley, fish salesmen, Saint
 Peter's road
 Freeman Charles, grocer, 62 Charlotte st
 Freeman Sarah, school, 14 Britannia ter
 Freeman Ts. Geo. currier, 56 Howard st
 Freeman Thomas Tripp (F. & Bayly); house 3 Saint Peter's road
 Freeman Wm., engraver, Market place
 Free Press Newspaper and Printing Co.
 (Limited) Regent st, publr. of the Yar- mouth Independent; Hy. Goodwin sec +Freestone Robert, Willow place
 French C. B., clerk, St. Peter's row
 French Miss, school, 2 Queen street
 French James, carter, North quay
 French John, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 French John, beerhouse, North quay
 French John Hastings, victualler, York,
 128 King street
 French Thos. corn agent, 4 Clarence pl

French Thomas, fish curer, Row 135; house 109 King street
 Frere Edgar Barker, wine merchant,
 (Williams, F. & Co.); h 148 King st
 Frere Rev. Ed. Barker, M.A., 148 King st Frere Frederick, wine merchant (Williams, F. & Co.); h 43 Regent rd
 Frere Geo. Edw., Esq., 4 Kimberley ter
 Fromow Geo. hairdresser, Charlotte st
 Frosdick Christmas, fish curer, Mrkt. rd
 Frosdick Eliz. shopkpr. 19 St. Peter's rd Frosdick Henry, victualler, Rose and Crown, 41 Charlotte street
 Frosdick Jas. Thos. fish mert. Mrkt. rd
 Frost Thomas, shoemaker, 113 Gaol st
 Fryer Joseph, police sergeant, Gorleston
 Fryer Robert, coal dealer, 45 Caister rd
 Fulcher Benj. hairdrrs. 22 St. Peter's rw
 Fulcher Edmund, turnkey, Market place
 Fulcher Edward, hairdresser, Market pl
 Fulcher Mrs Elizabeth, 4 Roman place
 Fulcher Henry, beerhouse, 64 Caister rd
 Fulcher James, pilot, 9 Victoria place
 Fulcher John, vict. Black Lion, Queen st
 *Fulcher Martha, Horace place
 Fulcher Wm. blacksmith, Fuller's hill
 +Fuller William Hector, Albion road
 Fyson Edward, draper, 29 Market place
 Fyson Mr Joseph, St. Nicholas' road
 Gage Mr William, 18 Caister road
 Gambling Horace H., miller, Albion rd; house Buxton
 Garbon John, shoemkr., South Denes rd
 *Gardiner Mrs Sar. St. George's road
 *Gardiner Elizabeth, 2 Victoria road
 Gardiner Thos. rope mkr., Havelock rd
 Gardiner Wm. editor, 1 Sefton terrace
 +Gardner Thomas, Pier place
 Garnham Capt. John, R.N., Southtown
 Garratt John, vict., Angel, Market place
 Garrett George, surgeon, 63 Regent rd
 Garrod David, gas fitter, Charlotte st
 Garrod David, beerhs. 6 St. Peter's rd
 Garson Louisa, school, 127 King street
 Garwood Chas. Ives, victualler, Queen's Head, Charlotte street
 Garwood Robert, fish curer, Row 29
 Gas Company's Office, 39 King street
 *Gathergood Jane, 4 Marine terrace
 *Gay Samuel, 18 Vernon terrace
 Gaze Mark, shoemaker, 3 Wilsheer place
 *Gaze Martha, 5 Crown place
 Gedge Wm. vict. Three Herrings, S. quay
 General Steam Navigation Co., Hall quay
 *George Elizabeth, 4 Howard street
 *George Hannah, 6 Neptune terrace
 *George Mr Henry, 7 Geneve terrace
 *George Isaiah, 5 Russell road
 +George John, Adam and Eve garden
 +George Robert, Exmouth road
 *George Sarah, Queen's place George Robt. beerhouse keeper, horse letter, and fish curer, Southtown

George Thomas, draper, 178 King street
 +George William, John street George Wm. vict. Barking Fishery; and fish merchant, Southtown
 George William, cowkeeper, Mill lane
 Gibbs Chas., hat maker, South Denes rd
 Gibbs Mr Henry Harris, 1 Brunswick pl
 +Gibbs John, Southtown
 Gibbs Jonas, hay dealer, Gorleston
 Gibbs Robt. oil cloth mkr. 75 George st
 Gibson Benj. vict., Suffolk Tav. Gaol st
 Gidney Wm. Hy. shopkr. South Mkt. rd Gilbertson Capt. John, Adjutant of Norfolk Artillery, 4 Trafalgar road
 Giles Mrs Elizabeth, 3 Queen's place
 Giles Geo. Wm. fish mert. 6 South quay
 Giles Joseph, governor, Borough Gaol
 Gilham Mr William, 7 Norfolk terrace
 Gillings George, baker, 70 George st
 Gillings Jas. (G. & Tubby); h Row 40
 Gillings John, beerhouse, Caister road
 *Gillings Joseph, 2 Duncan place
 Gillings Richard, tailor, Gorleston
 Gillings and Tubby, joiners & builders,
 Saint Peter's plain
 Girling John, victualler, Waterloo, 32
 St. Peter's road
 Girling John W. butcher, 15 Howard st
 *Gissing Susan, 2 Ocean terrace
 Gladman Fdk J., school, Nelson road
 Glanfield Wm. house agent, St. Geo's. rd
 *Glenester Ann, 1 Kent place
 *Glover Georgina, shopkr., Clarence rd
 Godbolt Geo. boatowner, Lancaster road
 Godbolt John, cooper, Southtown
 Goddard Hy. Ed. drugst. 4 White Horse pln
 Godfrey Chas. (Steer & G.), 17 Regent st
 Goffin Alfred, marine store, Fuller's hill
 Goffin Charlotte, St. Mary's Hosp. Schl
 Goffin and Co., Cement mfrs. 92 North quay, and Reedham
 Goffin James Crisp, plumber, &c., 58
 King street; house Dene side
 Goffin John and Co., cement, brick, tile, &c. mfr., Waterside; h Burgh Castle
 Goffin Robert, baker, Nelson place
 Golbourne Wm. dispenser, R. L. Asylum
 Goldsmith Saml. shopkeeper, Theatre pln
 Gooch David, pawnbroker & watchmkr.
 164 Gaol street and 150 King street
 *Gooch Henry, 9 Marlborough square
 Gooch Mary, school, Gorleston
 Gooch Thos., basket maker, Church pln
 Gooch Thomas, beerhouse, Nelson road
 Gooch Thos. Hy. spirit mert., Fuller's hl Gooch Capt. Thos. Lewis, R.N. 8 S. quay
 Gooda Thos. Wm., blacksmith, Bridge rd
 *Goodings Ambrose, 2 Marine passage Goodrick George Thomas, shoemaker & auctioneer, Market pl. & Market row
 Goodrick Misses, school, Market place
 Goodwin Rev. Harvey, D.D., Dean of Ely,
 3 Marine terrace

*Goodwin Ambrose, Marine passage
 Goodwin Henry, secretary to Free Press
 Company; house Exmouth place
 Goodwin Mr John, 52 Caister road
 Goodwin Richard, beerhs. Havelock rd
 Goodwin Saml. victualler, St. George's Tavern, St. Geoage's road
 Gosling Mr William, 14 St. Peter's road
 Gosnall Walford John D., South quay
 Gott Rev. John, M.A., incumbent of St.
 Andrew's, Trafalgar road
 Goulder John, victualler, Marine Hotel,
 South Beach
 Gourlay Dd. Abm. toy dlr., Market row
 *Gowen Jemima, 2 Marlborough terrace
 Gowen John, fish curer, 39 Howard st
 Gowen John, chimney sweep, Row 3
 *Gowing Elizabeth, 5 Seymour place
 Gowing Samuel, tunist, Blackfriars road
 Gravenall Chas. shoemkr. N. Market rd
 Graver John, cowkeeper, Blackfriars rd
 *Gravner Daniel, 8 Northumberland pl
 Gray Thos. Edw. ironmgr. 144 King st
 Gray Robert, victualler, Angel Tap
 Gray William, surgeon, 35 Regent road
 Grayson John, agent for Phillips's ale,
 Lancaster road; h 14 Apsley road
 +Graystone George, St. Peter's place
 Graystone Robt. shopkr. 49 Charlotte st § Graystone Samuel, 100 Gaol street
 Greaves Sarah, school, Row 60
 Green Anna Jane, school, 14 Regent rd
 Green George Edward (Neale and G.);
 house 19 Charlotte street
 Green George, wheelwright, Gorleston
 Green Rev. Jph. (Bapt.) 6 Nelson terrace
 Green Mark, boat owner, Marine passage
 Green Rt. vict. Gallon Can, Fuller's hill
 Green Mr William, St. Peter's plain
 Greenacre Jas. shopr. 1 White Horse pln
 Greenhow Hy. beerhouse, Garrison walk
 Greenhow Jph. watchmkr. &c. 38 Mkt. pl
 Greenwood Mrs F. 3 Market road
 Greenwood Wm. Grew, builder, Mkt. rd
 Grey Mrs Charlotte, 55 North quay
 Grey Robert, bricklayer, 68 Camden rd
 Grief James, fish curer, Row 135 & 138
 Grief William, fish curer, Grosvenor rd
 Griffiths Ald. china &c. dlr. 29 St. Ptr's. rd
 Griffiths Mr Roberts, Row 122
 Griffiths Rev. Wm. (Indpt.) 4 Russell sq
 Grigson Mr William, Gorleston
 Grimmer Mrs Ann, 3 Hall plain Grimmer Alex. Jno., wine mert. (Seaman
 G. and Co.); house 177 King street
 *Grimmer Chas. John, 6 Florence place
 Grimmer Mr Marcus John, Henry place
 Grout and Co. silk, crape, &c. mfrs., St.
 Nicholas' road, & Norwich, &c
 Grymes, James, shoemaker, 4 Market pl
 Gunn Henry, joiner, 93 Trafalgar terrace
 Gunton Jeremiah B. butcher, Market pl
 Gunton Samuel, butcher, Market place

Gunton Simon, sen. & jun. butchers, Mkpl
 Gurney Matw. fishmgr., 15 Wht. Horse pln Gurneys, Birkbeck, and Brightwen, bankers, Hall quay
 Guthrie Robert, clerk, 1 Crown place
 Guyton Geo. cabinet maker, 60 N. quay
 *Gyton George, 1 Maddey's buildings
 Gyton James, vict. Albion, Nelson road
 Gyton Thos. cabinet maker, 151 Gaol st
 Gyton Wm. grocer, 37 George street
 *Haburgh Frederick, 8 Bathhill terrace
 Hacon Henry, butcher, 98 George street
 Hacon Hy. Thain, butcher, 103 Geo. st
 Hacon James, butcher, Blackfriars road
 Hacon Wm. Craske, grer, 2 White Hs. pln
 Hadcock John, manure dlr. Eliz. place
 Haddon Rev. Thos. Comfield, L.L.B., incumbent of Tunstall, 9 Brandon ter
 +Hagan William, Gorleston
 Haggis Wm. coach propr. South Mkt. rd
 Haines Capt. Berry, R.N., Southtown
 Haines John, jun., vict. Prince Regent,
 176 Gaol street
 *Hales Lydia, 3 Vince's buildings
 +Halfnight John, 7 Providence place
 Halford Mr Alfred, 2 Flushing terrace
 Hall Abm. pork butcher, St. Nicholas' rd
 *Hall Eleanor, 5 Roman place
 Hall Mr George, 83 Regent road
 Hall James, baker, Hall plain
 Hall Mrs Susan, 5 Queen's terrace
 *Hall Susannah, 75 Regent road
 *Hall William, 2 Somerset place
 Hall Wm. whitesmith, Row 118 Hallday William, upholsterer, &c. (Hickling and H.); house Priory plain Halls Mr James Henry, 77 South quay
 Hallum Robert Henry, West Nettle hill
 Hammond Mrs Ann B. 22 Regent road
 Hammond Hinchman, joiner and builder,
 2 Garibaldi place, York road
 Hammond Henry, corn miller, Gorleston; house Bradwell [lers, Gorleston
 Hammond John and Charles, ship chan-
 Hammond John, farmer, Gorleston
 Hammond Rev. John (Prim.) 10 Market rd
 Hammond Nathaniel, miller, Gorleston
 Hammond Richard, Esq. J.P. 4 Regent rd
 Hammond Mr Richard, Caister road
 Hammond Robert, carpenter, 9 Victoria pl
 Hammond Robert, brazier, Gorleston Hamond Frederick Stevenson, ironmonger, 2 George st; h 4 Queen's road
 Hannah Alex. tea dealer, Southtown
 Hanneysee John, blacksmith, Row 128
 Hansell Benj. beerhouse, 78 South quay
 +Hanson George, Elizabeth place
 Harbert Wm. relieving officer, 178 Gaol st
 Harbert Wm. jun. shopkeeper, 9 Gaol st
 Harbord James, cowkeeper, 147 Gaol st
 Harbord Jno. Serjeant, confecr. King st
 *Harbord Robt. cowkpr. 7 Dowager pl
 Harbord Thomas, smith, Priory plain

Harbord Wm. shopkeeper, Market road
 Harding Richard Charlton, second master of Grammar School; h 134 King st Hardiment Wm. quartermaster, Barracks
 Hardingham Thomas Hopner, Nelson rd
 Hardingham Wm. Allen, 5 Flushing ter
 Hare Wm. Jones, mast and block maker,
 Quay; h 3 Queen's road
 Harley George Kirby, victualler, New Queen's Head, 65 Howard street
 Harling Ann Eliz. milliner, South Mrkt.
 Harman Wm. beerhs. North quay [rd
 Harmer Henry Robert, solicitor, 17 Regent street; house 68 South quay
 *Harpley Christiansa, 2 Belgrave place
 Harpoun Adolphus John, agent for London Steamers, &c. Hall quay
 Harris Benj. vict. Duke of Sussex, Market pl
 Harris Capt. Fras., R.N. 1 Eastbourne ter
 Harris Fredk. vict. Black Swan, 6 Howard st
 Harris William, hair cutter, Gorleston
 +Harrison Alfred, Adam and Eve garden
 Harrison Hy. (W. & H.) 1 Harrison's bldgs
 Harrison James, hardware and smallware dealer, 46 Charlotte street
 Harrison Mr James Hargrave, 40 Gaol st
 Harrison Jas. Wm. dyer, &c. Broad row
 *Harrison Martha, 20 Napoleon place
 Harrison Mrs Mary, 28 Regent street
 Harrison Samuel, marine store, Row 136
 Harrison Sar. vict. Hearty Tar, Albion rd
 Harrison Wm. & Hy. fish merts. Rodney rd
 Harrison William; h 61 Gaol street
 Harrison Rev. Wm. Thomas, 8 Nelson ter
 *Harriss Sarah, shopkeeper, Nelson road
 Harrod Richd. John, boat bldr. Southtown
 +Hart James, Gorleston
 Hartley Robert, shopkpr. 83 South quay
 Hart John, fish merch. Blackwall reach
 Harvey Elizabeth, shopkpr. 11 Gaol st
 Harvey Eliz. shopr. & beerhs. Gorleston
 Harvey George, whitesmith, Row 136
 Harvey Isaac, fishmgr. Rainbow corner
 Harvey James, cowkeeper, Exmouth rd
 Harvey John, lath render, 15 Well street
 Harvey Rt. Butcher, tobacnst. Blkfrs. rd
 Harwood Eliz. beerhs. 28 St. Peter's rd
 Hastings Bros. boat builders, S. Denes rd
 Hastings George Thos.; h Exmouth rd
 Hastings Henry, boat bldr. 74 South quay
 Hastings Jas. Hy. (H. Bros.); h Southtown
 Hastings Joseph Pitchers (H. Brothers); house Pier place
 Hastings Rd. Benj. baker, Victoria pl
 Hastings Sus. & M.A. milliners, 17 Mkt. row
 *Hatch Emma, Wellington road
 Hatch George, plumber, &c. 48 Howard st
 Hatch Job, brazier, Row 48; h 29 St. Nchls. rd Haw Sarah, depôt of Christian Knowledge Society, Regent road
 Hawkins Isabella, Unitarian Sch. Gaol st
 *Hawkins Elizabeth, Edward place
 Hawkins Geo. Drew, shopr. Charlotte st

Hawkins John, baker, Saye's corner
 +Hawkins Joseph, Gorleston
 Hayes John, script. reader, 11 Brighton ter
 *Hayes Thomas, 6 Adam & Eve garden
 *Haylett Samuel, 5 Neptune terrace
 Hayward Ann, school, Row 107
 Hayward Frederick, solicitor, 7 Brandon terrace, and Needham Market
 Hayward Isaac, basket maker, and vict.
 Prince Albert, Howard street
 Hazell Mrs Susannah, 2 St. George's pln
 Heady James, exciseman, Gorleston
 Healley John, rope maker, Standard pl
 *Heard Eliza, 5 Albion road
 Heath Louisa, haberdasher, Market row
 *Hebner Jane, 5 Blackfriars road
 Helsdon Wm. vict. Golden Ball, 70 Geo. st Hemsworth Capt. 1 Marlborough square
 +Henn William, Gorleston
 Heriot Rt. Maitland, ship agt. Row 103.
 Herring Jno. Geo. ham curer, 161 King st
 Hewett Mr Daniel, 10 South beach
 Hewett Thomas, shoemaker, 31 Gaol st
 Hewett Wm. shoemaker, Church plain
 Hewitt Mr Daniel, 70 South Market rd
 *Hewitt Sophia Louisa, Apsley road
 Hewitt Thomas, baker, Gorleston Hewitt Wm. Henry, dentist, 26 Market place; house Deneside Hewke John Wm. head master of Saint Mary's Hospital School, Market place
 +Hewson John, South Denes road
 Hickling and Hallday, furniture brokers, mattress makers, &c. Priory plain Hickling John Henry; h Priory plain Hickling Mary Ann, victualler, Cattle
 Market Inn, Priory plain
 Hickling Robt. auctioneer, &c. Priory pln
 High James, rag dealer, South quay
 *High Louisa, 10 Albion road
 High Wm. rate collector, 37 Gaol street
 +Hilham William, Blackwall reach
 Hill Mr Isaac, 2 Camperdown place
 Hill Robert, clerk, 37 King street
 Hill Rev. Thos. (P. Meth.) 13 Northumbd. pl
 Hills Robt. Edwards, accept. 50 Southtown Hilton Joseph Deane, grocer (Sewell and H.); house Caister road
 Hindes William, farrier, 92 North quay
 Hockley Mr Charles, St. Nicholas' road
 Hockley James, shopkpr. South Mkt. rd
 Hodds James, shopkpr. 96 George st
 +Hodds John, New Wellington place
 Hodekinson Fdk. solicitor, 12 South quay
 Hogarth Miss Ellen T. at Post Office
 Hogarth Thomas, tailor, 51 North quay
 Hogg Daniel, oyster dealer, Row 127
 +Hogg Robert, 9 Geneve terrace
 *Hogg Sarah, 89 Southtown
 Hoggett John, excise, 2 Nelson terrace
 Hoggett Wm. Sayer, tide waiter, Gorleston
 *Holland George, 5 Maddey's buildings
 *Holland Martha, 5 Russell square

Holl John, vict. Albion, Fuller's hill
 Holliday Mr Daniel, Northgate street
 Holliday David Henry, hairdresser, 111
 King street; house Blackfriars road
 Holliday Wm. hairdresser, Church plain
 Holmes Rev. Arthur P. curate, 24 Market pl
 Holmes Francis Sloman, 3 Nelson ter
 Holmes Geo. Martin, hairdsr. Gaol st
 Holmes George William, manager, East of England Bank, 37 Hall quay
 Holmes Richd. twine spinner, Moat road
 +Holmes Robert Charles, Alma road
 +Holt George, Row 113
 Holt Mrs Martha, 5 South quay
 Holt Mrs Sophia, Southtown
 Holt William, solicitor, and clerk to magistrates, 6, house 51 South quay
 *Hood Samuel, 3 Duncan place Horne William, twine spinner, North quay; house Caister road
 Horne William Lowther, sail maker, &c.
 South Denes road
 Hornsby Mrs Maria, 2 Saint Peter's row
 +Horridge James, 7 Military place
 Horth Charles, manager, Southtown
 Horth James, fish curer, Row 57
 Horth Wm. rag, &c. dlr. 17 George st
 Hotblack Mr Henry, 4 Horace place
 Hotson Mrs Sarah, Southtown [corner
 Howchin Chas. baker, Laughing Image
 Houghton Thos. Terry, baker, 93 Gaol st Houghton Wm. boat builder, North quay; house Quay Mill road
 Howard Anna, stay maker, 46 King st
 Howard Benj. beerhs. South Denes rd
 Howard Benj. hair dresser, Market pl
 Howard Chas. vict. Norfolk Tav. Gaol st
 +Howard Henry, Gorleston [S. beach
 Howard James, vict. Barking Smack,
 Howard Capt. John, R.N., Bath hill
 Howard John, butcher, South Market rd
 Howard Mary, baker, 52 Charlotte street
 Howard Samuel, baker, George street
 Howard Samuel, shoemaker, 28 Well st
 *Howard Thomas, 3 Jane place
 Howarth Mr Thos. Hyde, 37 Regent road
 Howes Charles, shoemaker, Row 130
 Howes Edw. & Thos. bricklayers, Deneside
 Howes Edward; house Isabella square
 Howes Emma, grocer, 119 Gaol street
 Howes Henry, plumber, &c. Gorleston
 Howes Jas. shopkeeper, 12 Flushing ter
 Howes John, vict. White Hoase, 185 King st
 Howes John, shopkeeper, Albion road
 +Howes Jonas, 15 Blackfriars road
 Howes Thomas (E. & T.); h Dene side
 Howes Wm. vict. Golden Anchor, Queen st
 Howes Wm. vict. White Lion, King st
 Howes Wm. plumber, &c, Gorleston
 Howlett Ann, pawnbroker, 29 Howard st
 Howlett Benj. flour dealer, Rodney road
 Howlett Mr Horatio, Queen's road
 Howlett James, basket maker, Friar's ln

Howlett John, cabinet mkr. 21 Gaol st
 *Howlett Richard, 14 St. Peter's place
 Hubbard Ellis, chimney sweep, Row 60
 Hubbard John, dyer, 135 Gaol street
 Hudson Thos. boat owner, 5 Nelson ter
 Hudspith Joseph, clerk, 5 Queen's road
 Huggins Saml. missionary, Grosvenor rd
 *Hughes William, 2 Dowager place
 Huke James, smith, Row 142 and 136
 Hulley Thos. Spencer, archt. St. Peter's row
 Hulley Wm. Hy. music profsr. Theatre pln
 Humfrey Henry Thos. joiner, Gorleston
 Humphrey William Dickson, Southtown
 +Humphrey Wm. Henry, 9 St. George's rd
 Humphries John, clerk, 7 Ely place
 Hunt Charles Geo. plumber, 137 Gaol st
 Hunt Fredk. hair dresser, 23 Market row
 Hunt Henry, watchmkr. &c. 5 Broad row
 Hunt Walter, beerhouse, 122 King st
 Hunt William, Corn Hall keeper
 Hunt Wm. Howes, 6 Marlborough terrace
 Hunter Cornelius, rate colr. 131 King st
 Hunter Phoebe, hosier, Fuller's hill
 Harrin Eliz. vict. Ferry Boat, Southtown
 *Hurst Mary, 4 Buckingham terrace
 Hurst Rev. Saml. Sheppard, 80 Southtown
 *Hutchins William, 2 Marine terrace
 Hylton John Bessey, coal merchant,
 (Bessey and H.); h 17 South quay
 Image Thos. shell dlr. 31 St. Peter's st
 Ingram Charles, sail maker, North quay
 Ingram Robt. hair dresser, 4 Northgate st
 Irons William, shoemaker, Gorleston
 Isaacs John Jph. builder, Market road
 IteImann Charles, pork butcher, Gaol st
 Ives James, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Ives James Thomas, Nelson road
 Ives Jonathan, gardener, Gorleston
 Ives Sl. Royle, soda watermfr. 143 Gaol st
 Ives Samuel and Son, soda water mfrs.
 and confectioners, 8 Howard street
 Ives Samuel; house 23 Southtown
 Ives Walter Edmund; h 8 Howard st
 *Jackells James, 1 Neptune place
 Jackson Henry, builder, Bermondsey pl
 Jackson John, baker, Moat road
 Jackson Joseph, school, King street
 Jackson Wm. cheese factor, North quay
 James Miss Mary, 2 Nelson cottages
 *James Richard, 6 Buckingham place
 Jarrad Fredk. fishmonger, 60 George st
 Jarvis John, painter, &c. 4 Bath hill ter
 +Jarvis Thomas, 45 Saint Peter's road
 Jay Benjamin, coal merchant, Hall quay; house 149 King street
 Jay Mr Edward Ward, 1 Geneve terrace
 Jay Mrs Elizabeth, Church plain
 Jay Francis, baker, 65 King street
 Jay Mr Henry, 67 King street
 Jay James B. baker, 7 Rainbow corner
 +Jay Thomas, 12 Geneve terrace
 Jaynes Anna, school, 8 Albion road
 *Jealous Sarah, 7 Northumberland pl

Jecks Mr Isaac, 70 South quay
 Jecks Wm. and Chas. timber merts. South
 +Jenkerson Saml. 4 S. Market rd [quay
 Jenkins Mr Nathl. 6 Bath hill terrace
 Jenner Lieut. Geo., R.N. 39 Southtown
 Jenner Mr James, 3 Waterpark terrace
 *Jenner Mary, 5 St. John's buildings
 Jephson Chas. grocer, &c. 1 George st
 Jermyn Daniel, shipping agent, &c. 33
 Well street and South beach
 *Jermyn James, 8 Victoria road
 *Jewell Amelia, 7 Henry place
 +Jewett John, Adam and Eve garden
 Jex Mrs Ann, and Ellen M. school, 9
 Sefton terrace, Southtown
 Jex Edward, vict. Unicorn, South quay
 +Jinkerson James, Mariners' road
 +Johnson Benjamin, 10 Tottenham st
 Johnson Christopher Betts, Albion road
 Johnson Clement William, music professor, 101 King street
 Johnson Edwin Orfeur, stone and marble mason, and builder, Theatre plain; house 39 Camperdown place
 Johnson George, fish curer, and vict.
 Horse and Groom, Market road
 Johnson Henry Wm. shopr. Cemetery rd
 Johnson James, fish mercht. Camden rd
 +Johnson James Appleton, Row 108
 +Johnson James, 9 Southtown
 Johnson James Watson, shipowner, 93
 *Johnson Job, 41 Nelson rd [Southtown
 Johnson John, bricklayer, King street
 Johnson John, wheelwright, 2 St. Peter's rd
 Johnson John, confectioner, 13 Market pl
 Johnson Joshua, baker, 42 Howard st
 Johnson Maria, vict. Jamaica Store, 152
 King street
 Johnson Robt. (& Sons); h 44 South quay
 Johnson Robt. pork butcher, 118 King st
 Johnson Rt. Sherrington, grocer, Southtown
 Johnson Saml. fish mert. Camden road
 Johnson and Sons, drapers, Market row
 Johnson Tobias, cowkeeper, Market rd
 Johnson Wm. (& Sons); house Caister
 Johnson Wm. Steward (do.); h 3 Regent rd Johnson Wm. Tobias, victualler, New Royal Standard, Saint Peter's road
 Johnstone Samuel, draper, 34 Gaol st
 Jolly Wm. grocer, 34 Market place
 *Jones Ann, 4 Seymcour place
 *Jones Mrs Emma, 26 Nelson road
 Jones James Robert, navigation schoolmaster, 4 Dowager place
 Jones John, dentist, 65 Regent street
 Jones John, boat owner, Lancaster road
 +Jones John, Havelock road
 Jones Robert, clothes dlr. 73 George st
 Jones Mr Samuel, Southtown
 Jones Wm. missionary, Blackfriars road
 Joyce Rt. Thos. vict. Blue Anchor, 11 Mar-
 *Juby Eliz. 9 Bath hill ter [ket place
 Julier Saml. Thos. joiner, 4 Jane place

*Julier John, 2 Alfred terrace
 *Keable Hannah, Albion road
 Keable Henry, blind mkr. Theatre plain
 Keeler James, twine spinner, Gaol street
 *Keeler Samuel, meter, 27 Market road
 Keevil George, bookseller, 142 King st
 Kelf Maria, midwife, 1 Marlborough sq
 Kelf Thomas Philip, shoemaker, Charlotte street and 169 King street
 Kemp James, school, Caister road
 Kemp Richard, beerhouse, Gorleston
 Kemp Robert, carver and gilder, Church plain ; house Mansfield terrace
 Kemp William, shoemaker, 3 Market row ; house 8 Flushing terrace
 Kemp William, baker, Row 125
 Kempson Rev. Geo. A. E. curate, 24 Mkp.
 Kennett Martha, draper, 7 Victoria road
 Key John, bricklayer, 67 North quay
 *Key John, 3 Russell road
 Key Robt. vict. Market Gate, Market road
 *Kerridge Mary, Apsley road
 Keymer Miss Ann, 63 Southtown
 Kidall Mrs Maria, 12 Henry place
 Killelt Robert, beerhs. 71 George street
 Killington Edw. watchmkr. & c. 4 Regent st
 King Abel, pilot, Gorleston
 King Abel, jun. fish merchant and tobacconist, 24 Saint Peter's road
 King Charles, pilot, Blackwall reach
 King Lady, Marine parade
 King Charles Leggett, pilot, Gorleston
 King Cath. vict. White Swan, South quay
 King Daniel, ship builder, South Denes rd
 King Eliz. Jane, beerhouse, 18 Gaol st
 *King Elizabeth Ann, 24 Trafalgar road
 King Frederick Robert Martin, chemist and druggist, Gorleston
 King Hy. vict. Half Moon, 16 Market pl
 King Henry, shopkeeper, King's place
 +King Henry, Southtown
 King Henry W. carter, Row 100
 King John, vict. Angel, South quay
 King John F. pilot, Gorleston
 +King John, Gorleston
 *King Matthew, 3 Well street
 King William, gardener, Apollo walk
 Kirby Mr George, Row 57
 *Kirkham Clarence, 4 Brighton terrace
 Kisbee Capt. Thos., R.N. 11 Claremont ter
 *Kittle Susannah, 2 Providence place
 Knight Wm. shoemaker, 35 Caister road
 *Knights Henry, 4 Florence place
 Knights Mr Saml. Breeze, Geneva terrace
 Knights Jas. Pulham, joiner, Selby pl
 Knights Mr Samuel Gedge, 1 Ocean ter
 Knowles Ann, mast & block mkr. N. quay
 Knowles James, mast maker, North quay
 Knox Geo. custom house agt. ship broker and vict. Royal Exchange, South quay
 Lacey Chpr. Thomas, beerhs. Russell sq
 Lacon, (Sir E. H. K.) Youell, and Co. bankers, Hall quay

Lacon (Sir E. H. K.) and Sons, brewers, maltsters, & spirit merchants, Church plain ; house Ormesby House
 Lacon Mrs Harriet, 8 St. George's ter
 Lacon Mrs Jane, Hall plain
 Lacon Mortlock, clerk, Hall plain
 Lacon Wm. cooper, King st ; h Friar's ln
 Ladbroke Rbt. carver & gilder, Row 88
 Laird Robert, vict. Boat, North quay
 Lake Thos. Constable, cabt. mkr. Row 54
 Lake Wm. beerhouse, North Market rd
 Lamb Ann, butcher, 139 Gaol street
 Lamb Charles King, watchmkr. 8 Gaol st
 Lamb James, fish merchant and curer ; Row 51 ; house 13 Market row
 Lamb Mrs Mary, 87 Southtown
 +Lamb Robert A. 3 Albion terrace
 Lamb Ths. Wm. watchmkr. 18 Regent st
 Lamb William, butcher, St. George's rd
 Lane Benj. rate collector, 10 Flushing ter
 Lane Thomas, ferryman, Southtown
 Langley Sl. & Geo. shoemkrs. Gorleston
 +Langley William, 5 Alfred terrace
 Langton Horatio, postman, Albion road
 Lark Arthur, shoemaker, 125 King st
 Lark Jas. fishmonger, 37 St. Peter's rd
 Lark John, coal mert. ; h Southtown
 Lark Rt. tailor, 130 Gaol st & 113 King st
 Larke Hy. John, boat builder, Southtown
 Larke Wm. jun. baker, 12 S. Market rd
 Larke Wm. stonemason, Hall plain
 *Larham Jane, dressmaker, Albert sq
 Larham Mrs Mary, 2 Gaol street
 Larter Miss Jane, 158 Gaol street
 Last Mr James, 35 Southtown
 Last James, victualler, Horse & Groom, 5 Northgate street
 Last Wm. tobacco agent, Wellington pl
 Last Wm. Robert, watchmaker, King st
 Latham Edward & Richard, carvers and gilders, 53 Howard street
 Lawes Capt. John Porter, 5 St. Geo's. ter
 Lawn Elfred James, tailor, Broad row
 Lawn Mr James, 10 Russell road
 Lawn James, draper, 6 King street
 Lawrence Hy. shopkeeper, 144 Gaol st
 Laws Joseph, baker, St. Nicholas' road
 Laws Noah, confectioner, St. George's rd
 Laws Wm. grocer, 62 George street
 Lawson Geo. beerhouse, 36 South quay
 *Lawson James, 3 Brighton terrace
 Laxon John, eatinghouse, 27 Gaol st
 Laxon John, shopkeeper, 50 North quay
 Laxon Robert, beerhouse, Blackfriars rd
 *Laxon Susanna, 3 Marine passage
 *Layton George, 3 Alfred terrace
 Layton Hez. M. confectr. 6 Southtown
 Layton Joseph, caulker, Alma road
 Layton Mrs Mary Ann, 19 Northgate st
 Layton Ths. boat builder, Cobham island
 Layton Wm. Benj. hairdrsr. Theatre pln
 Lee John, druggist, 9 Kimberley street
 Lee Wm. photographer, 6 Providence pl

*Leech Ellen, 1 Vince's buildings
 Leeder Wm. cowkeeper, Row 45
 Leeds Mrs Ann, 1 St. George's terrace
 Leeds Mrs Eliz. 16 North Market road
 Leggett Edw. vict. Buck, 2 Hall quay
 Leggett Henry, pilot, 3 Providence pl
 Leggett James, bricklayer, Dene side
 Leggett James, pilot, Gorleston
 *Leggett Mary, Gorleston
 Leggett Richard, pilot, Blackwall reach
 *Leggett Robert, 5 Brighton terrace
 Leggett Thomas, pilot, Gorleston
 Leggett Wm. Thomas, victualler, White
 Lion, Gorleston
 Legood Robert, fish curer, Row 137; house 1 Victoria road
 Leman Henry, clerk, 1 Queen's terrace
 Lemmon Mrs Sarah, Southtown
 Lermite Miss Matilda, Gorleston
 Lessey Samuel, grocer, 129 King st
 Lettis Mary Crow, rope mfr. Crown road
 Lettis Sarah, school, 21 King street
 Lettis Thomas, 21 King street
 Levy Solomon, tobacconst. 26 Charlotte st
 *Lewin Mrs Sophia, 2 Maddey's bldgs.
 Lewin Miss, school, Maddey's buildings
 Lewin Miss Mary Elizabeth, mistress of Charity School, Theatre plain
 Leyton Michael, fishmonger, Fish mkt Libbis Jas. vict. Anson Arms, Southtn.
 Limmer Samuel, 'bus owner, Gorleston
 Linay Samuel, collector, 8 Nelson ter
 Lincoln Henry, tailor, 51 North quay
 Lincoln Walker James, clerk, Jury st
 *Linder Thomas, Blackfriars road
 *Lines John, 20 Market road
 Ling James, relieving officer, Gorleston
 Ling Mr Wm. High street, Gorleston
 *List Charlotte, Saxon place
 *List Elizabeth, Wellington road
 Little Wm. grocer, 25 Market place
 Littlewood Mr Enoch, 7 Flushing ter
 *Littlewood Leonard, 6 Albion road
 Littlewood Robt. ironmonger, 130 King st
 *Littlewood William, 22 Vernon terrace Livingston William & Son (Wm. jun.), drapers, 1 King street
 Lockett Wm. shopkeeper, Southtown
 Lodge Wm. beerhouse, 52 North quay
 +Lone John, Gorleston
 Long Lieut. James, R.N., Gorleston
 Long Capt. Robt. Bacon, 30 Nelson rd
 Long Nichls. jeweller, St. George's rd
 Long Samuel, blacksmith, Gorleston
 +Long Thomas, Malakoff place
 Longhurst William Overton, victualler,
 Foundry Arms, Gaol street
 Lonsdale Mrs Elizabeth, 13 South quay
 Lorrimer John, grocer, 15 Market place
 Lott John Hy. sailmaker & ship chandler, 107 King st; h 5 Blackfriars road
 Lottimer Andrew, trav. draper, 26 Gaol st +Louttid Christopher, 62 Regent road

Louttid Edwin Duncan, inspr. of weights,
 &c. and brewery agent, 16 Regent st
 Lovick Thomas, smith, St. Nicholas rd
 Lowe Christopher, joiner, Southtown
 Lowne Mr Joseph, Southtown
 Lowne Hy Wm. shopkeeper, Gorleston
 Lowrie Cath. milliner, 183 Gaol street
 Lubbock Mr Charles, Eastbourne ter
 Lubbock Chas. Robt. brewer, 70 King st
 Lucas & Steward, solrs. St. George's row
 Lucas George, solicitor; house Filby
 Lummis John, fish mert. Havelock road
 Lummis Samuel Webster, 157 Gaol st
 Lupson Edw. John, reader, Somerset pl
 Lydamore Ambrose, mason, Dene side
 Mabson Wm. druggist, 19 Market place
 Mace Chtte. vict. Liverpool Hotel, Gaol st
 Mack Alfd. Newton, irongr. 120 King st
 Mack Brothers, ship builders, Southtown
 Mack Freeman Newton; h 65 Southtown
 Mack Isaac Geo. (Bros.); h 71 Southtn.
 Mack Wm. Christmas, organ builder and tunist, Saxon place; h 3 Somerset pl
 Mack Miss, music profr. 3 Somerset pl
 Mack Wm. Leeder, tailor, 12 Market row
 Mackie John Jas. artist, 70 Regent road
 Maclean Wm. Crighton, colr. of customs,
 South quay; h 5 Camperdown place
 Mc Bride Mary, school, Regent road
 Mc Ivor Joseph, baker, 42 Howard st
 Maddeys Jas. bricklayer, Marsh's bldgs
 Maddeys Mr Thomas, Albion road
 Maddison Saml. cabinet maker, Row 110
 Mainprice John, fish merchant and vict.
 King's Head, 17 Market place
 +Major John, Gorleston
 Makepeace Wm. Hy. tailor, Broad row Malden John, fish salesman (Collier and M.); h 3 Osborne terrace
 Mallett Samuel, rag dealer, 49 Gaol st
 Mallitt Mr William, 28 North quay
 Manley Jas. H., Esq., R.N., Regent rd
 *Mann Hephzibah, 6 Marlbro' square
 Mann John James, joiner, Saxon place
 Mann Miss Maria, 1 Waterpark terrace
 Mann Wm. fish salesman, St. Geo's. rd
 Manning Geo. Hy. joiner, South quay
 Manning Miss Sarah, Cemetery road
 Manning Wm. smith, St. Nicholas road
 Manship Ruth, beerhouse, North quay Manthorpe Geo. Lemon, agt. 42 Southtn.
 Manthorpe Geo. Sl. druggist, 14 King st
 Margetson Hy. gardener, 5 Market rd
 Marsh Mrs Mary, 24 South quay
 Marsh Mary, pork butcher, 18 George st
 Marshall Edward, gardener, North quay
 +Marshall James, Trinity place
 *Marshall John, 2 Bath Hill terrace
 Marston Thos. pork butcher, 9 N. quay
 Martin George, pork butcher, Gaol st
 Martin Mr Hezekiah, 32 Southtown
 Martin Jas. cab propr. 13 Flushing ter
 Martin Robt. Fras. druggist, 8 King st

- Martin Samuel, shoemaker, 45 Gaol st
 Martin Wm. grocer, &c. Gorleston
 Martins Mrs Caroline, victualler, Northumberland Arms, Nelson road
 Martins Rd. & Thos. tailors, 9 Market rw
 Martins Richard; h 8 Russell square
 Martins Thomas; house Crown road
 Maryson Elizabeth, victualler, George and Dragon, Gorleston
 Maryson Francis, bookbinder, Row 101
 Mason John Chas. grocer, 30 King st
 Mason Wm. vict. Fourteen Stars, Gaol st
 Master Miss Isabella, 4 Camperdown pl
 Masterson Wm. blacksmith, Gorleston
 Masterson Henry Butcher, sail maker, Row 92; house Trafalgar place +Matson George, 3 Woolnough buildings
 Watson Wm. fish merchant, Gorleston
 Matthews Benjamin, baker, 116 Gaol st
 Matthews Wm. shopkpr., Camden road
 Matthews William, Esq., Gorleston
 Mayers, John, pork butcher, 89 Gaol st
 Mayes Mr Wm., St. Andrew's place, S.
 Mayhew Jno. vict. Duke's Head, Hall quay
 Mays Jas. vict. Horse & Groom, Gorleston
 Mayston John Henry, brazier, &c., South quay; house Row 134
 Meadows Danl. surgeon, 7 St. Geo's. ter
 Meadows Wm. shopkpr. 34 North quay
 *Mears Eleanor, 1 Victoria place
 *Meen Fanny, 2 Apsley terrace
 Meffen Rev. Jno. (Huntingdon) 5 Mkt. rd
 +Mellish Sydney, Blackfriars road
 *Metheringham Mr Wm. 6 Apsley ter
 Meyers Henry, at baths, 68 Regent road
 Middleton Jas. fish mert., Lancaster rd
 Miles Robt. Tennant, ginger beer maker, North quay
 Miller Mrs Ann, 4 St. George's road
 Miller Caroline, toy dr. 4 Church plain
 *Miller Elizabeth, 3 Ipswich place
 *Miller George, Bath hill
 Miller Mrs Harriet, Gorleston
 Miller (W. T.) and Hind (J.), coal merchants, Southtown
 Miller Thos. Moore, beerhs. Victoria rd
 +Miller Wm. vict. Royal Oak, Hall plain
 *Miller William, 1 Ely place
 Millican John, fishmonger, Fishmarket
 Millichamp Edw. Wheeler, tea dr. Stown
 Mills Edw. watch maker, St. Peter's rd
 Mills Elizabeth, school, Church plain
 Mills & Blake, ship builders, Southtown
 *Mills Jas. Talbot, oil agent, 10 Bath pl
 Mills Thomas Reed; house Southtown
 Mingay Eliz. vict. Railway Hotel, N. quay
 Minn Mr John, 9 Marlborough terrace
 Minns George, cowkeeper, Pier place
 Minns James, fish curer and merchant, Row 135; house Ditchingham
 *Minns Samuel, Nelson road
 Minter George, joiner, South Market rd
 Minter Robert, shoemkr. St. Andrew's pl
 Mitchell Mr Michael, North quay
 Mitchell Robt. B. tide survr., Gorleston
 Mitchell Mr William, 36 Southtown
 Mitchell Wm. draper, 10 Northumbld. pl
 Mobbs Mrs Frances, victualler, Mariners' Tavern, 52 Howard street
 Mobbs Samuel, baker, Market road
 *Mobbs Thomas, 4 Brown's buildings
 *Money Maria, 28 Trafalgar road
 Monsey Mary, clothes dr. 91 George st
 Moore Arthur Valentine and Mrs Mary Hanb. (M. & Sons); h South Denes rd
 Moore Charles B. tailor, Gorleston
 Moore George William (M. and Sons); house 27 Albert square
 Moore Mr James Burwood, Osborne ter
 Moore John, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 Moore John, tidewaiter, Willow place
 Moore John Christmas, smith, Row 72
 Moore John Lewis, cooper, Row 103
 Moore Mrs Sarah, 6 Trafalgar place
 Moore & Sons, engineers, founders, boiler makers, &c. South Denes road
 Moore Thomas, tailor, 174 King street
 Moore Wm. fish curer, Row 109
 Morant Alfred Wm. architect and town surveyor, 27 King street
 Morl Jas. beerhouse, 11 Charlotte street
 Morl Robt. mast maker; h Southtown
 Morley Edmund Norton, Regent street
 Morley Joseph, clerk, Row 36
 *Morley Maria, North beach
 Morley Mary, register office, 26 Regent st
 *Morris Mary Ann, Nelson road
 Morris Mrs Emily, 7 Clarence place
 Morse Charles, hairdresser, Gorleston
 Morter Edw. gunmaker, 19 Northumbld. pl
 *Moss Mary, 4 Devonshire place
 Moss Martha, shopkeeper, St. Peter's rd
 *Moss William, 2 Claremont terrace
 Mott Mr William, 6 Marlborough square
 Motts Benjamin, baker, Alma road
 Motts George, butcher, 8 North Mkt. rd
 Moughton Js. twine spinner, Apollo walk
 Moughton Wm. shopkpr. Blackfriars rd
 Mountjoy William, at Savings' Bank
 Mouse Barcham Phillips, pawnbroker, and furniture broker, 80 George street
 *Moyse Thomas, 5 Norfolk terrace
 Munsey Henry, plumber, Market road
 Murray Robert, clerk, 8 St. Peter's place
 Musgrave Rd. Medway, school, Ch. pln
 Muskett George, butcher, 83 George st
 Myhill Robert, shoemaker, 43 Gaol st
 Nall Geo. bookseller, printer, stationer, and librarian, 182 King street
 *Nash Mrs Emma, 2 Britannia terrace
 Nash John, leather cutter, 33 King st
 National Provincial Bank of England, South quay; J. B. Bowden, manager
 Naunton Mr George, 64 Southtown
 Neale Stephen, fish merchant, 11 Bath pl
 Neale & Green, pawnbrkrs. 19 Charl't. st

- Neale Wm. pawnbroker; h 10 Russell sq
 Neave Jas. Wm. tailor, 17 Northgate st
 Neave Joseph Fleming, rope maker, 20
 Caister road
 Neave Thomas, butcher, St. George's rd
 Neep Wm. Ed. Jno. dentist, 26 Regent st
 Neslen Wm. Bond, shoemaker, Row 60
 Nevell Jas. Townsend, confectioner, &c.
 4 Howard street
 Nevill Rev. Hy. Ralph, M.A., hon. canon of Norwich, incumbent of St. Nicholas, &c. The Parsonage
 Newark Fdk. Isc. confecr., Charlotte st
 Newark Hy. cabinet mkr. 32 George st
 Newark John, broker, Charlotte street
 Newark Mr Charles, 3 Roman place
 Newby Francis, beerhouse, Factory road
 +Newby Jas. Patterson, 3 Ocean terrace
 Newby Ralph, wheelgt. St. Nicholas' rd
 Newcomb Chas. postmaster, Hall quay
 Newman Charles, smith, Caister road
 Newman Eliza, school, 2 Conge
 Newman Lee, butter dlr. 1 Mansfield ter
 Newman Samuel, clerk, Caister road
 Newman Samuel, smith, St. Nicholas' rd
 Newman Samuel, butcher, Gorleston
 *Newman William, 2 Ansell place
 Newson Dd. joiner, &c. 18 Friar's lane
 *Newson Mrs Elizabeth, 1 Alfred terrace
 *Newson Harriet, Havelock road
 Newstead James, tailor, Gorleston
 Newstead Samuel, rigger, Brunswick pl
 *Newstead Thomas, 3 Marsh's buildings
 Newton Jas. shopman, 16 Brighton ter
 Newton Wm. shoemaker, 8 Market row
 Nichols Edward James, fish curer & merchant, Row 145; house 101 Gaol st +Nichols George, New Wellington place
 Nichols Mrs Elizabeth, 7 Nelson terrace
 Nichols Hy. blacksmith, St. Nicholas' rd
 Nichols Hy. Watson, shoemkr. Swirls's pl
 Nichols John, corn agent, Caister road
 Nichols John, beerhouse, Nelson road
 *Nicholson Sophia, 13 Bath place
 Nickerson Robert, bricklayer, 23 Gaol st Nightingale Samuel, brewer (Lacon and Sons); h North-quay House
 Nobbs Edward, shoemaker, Row 85
 +Nobbs James, Mariners' road
 Nobbs Robert, shoemkr. 44 Charlotte st
 Nockolds Robt. fish curer, Blackfriars rd
 Nolloth Mr John, 36 Regent road
 Nolloth Wm. shoemaker, 173 King st
 Nolloth Wm. Vincent, piano dlr. 173 Kingst
 Norfor Henry Jas. builder, St. Geo's. rd
 *Norgat William, Brown's buildings
 Norman Mr John, Theatre plain Norman John & Son, plumbers, & lead and glass merchants, Theatre plain Norman John Arundel; h Dene side
 Norman John Howes; h 6 Regent road
 Norman Richard Robt. Bowles, surgeon,
Collingwood House, St. George's rd
 Norman Simon John, cabinet mkr. &c.
 14 Market place; h Flushing terrace
 Norton Alfred Crow, grocer, 21 Market row; house 8 Marlborough square
 Norton Chas. smack owner, 77 Gaol st
 Norton Jas. Wm. news agent, 62 Gaol st
 Norton Robert Plowman, grocer & draper,
 18 Blackfriars road
 Noverre Frank, prof. of dancing, & Josephine, music & singing, Dene side
 Novis Hy. Assembly Rooms manager
 *Nunn Charles, 1 Charles street
 Nunn Jph. nuisance inspr. 43 St. Peter's rd
 Nuthall Chas. Chpr. tailor, 22 Market pl
 Nuthall Neville, cowkeeper, North quay
 Nuthall Mrs Sarah, 17 Trafalgar road
 Nutman Edward, vict. Ship, 7 Gaol st Nutman John Hawkins, ironmonger and whitesmith, 41 Fuller's hill
 Nutman Wm. C. relvg. officer, 4 Nelson ter
 Obee Obadiah, 11 Regent road
 Offord Dd. Duffield, old bklsr. St. Geo's. rd
 Offord Geo. shopkeeper, 44 Howard st
 Oliver Mr Thos. Hutchinson, Southtown
 Olley James, eating house, St. Peter's rd
 Olley Thos. Lettis, tailor, 15 Market row
 Olley Wm. coal dealer, Marine passage
 Olliver Mrs Sarah, 6 Dowager place
 Orde Lady Elizabeth, 16 Hall quay
 Orfeur Mrs Sarah, 2 Queen's road
 Orfeur Mrs A. E. school, Dene side
 *Osbiston Ann, 22 Trafalgar road
 *Osborne George, 7 Mansfield terrace
 Osborne Omar, sexton, Church plain Osborne Thos. shopkpr. Elizabeth place
 Osborne Thomas, grocer, &c. Broad row
 Osborne Wm. coal mert. 68 North quay
 Ostler Leonard, spirit agent, 66 N. quay
 *Oughton Robert, 5 Columbia terrace
 Oughton Rt. Wm. confectioner, Mkt. rd Overend John Gartside, grocer (Walton and O.); house 23 Market place
 *+Overton Frederick, 15 North Beach
 Owles John, druggist, 3 Hall quay
 Page Eliz. shopkeeper, 38 Gaol street
 Page James, grocer &c. Gorleston
 *Page John, 25 Market road
 Page Mr John, 47 Southtown
 Page Miss Matilda, 34 Southtown
 Page Nathaniel Enget, vict. Mariners'
 Compass, 61 South quay
 Page Pp. Wm. hairdresser, 64 Howard st
 Page Robert, bill poster, Theatre plain
 *Page Sarah, 20 Trafalgar road
 Page Mr Sherwood Wm. 4 Albion ter
 *Page Thomas, Havelock road
 *Page William, Wellington road
 Page Wm. shopkeeper, 51 George street
 *Page William, Gorleston
 Page Wm. John, grocer, 14 Gaol street
 Pain Thos. steam tug mgr. 28 Nelson rd
 Palgrave Mr Henry, Row 107
 Palgrave Rt. Hy. Inglis, 4 Britannia ter

- Palk Thomas Nicholas, glass dealer,
 Market row and St. Nicholas' road
 Palmer Ambrose John, ship bldr., South
 Denes rd; h Queen's rd. & Haddiscoe
 Palmer Mrs Ann, 7 Water Park terrace
 Palmer Mrs Ann Southtown
 Palmer Chas. surgeon, 44 King street Palmer Charles John, solicitor (Reynolds and P.); house 4 South quay Palmer Danl. Bly, stamp distr. 3 Regent st
 Palmer Mrs Emma, Southtown
 Palmer Mr Frederick, 5 Sefton terrace, S
 Palmer Frederick, surgeon, 16 S. quay
 Palmer Garwood Burton, draper, Market place; house Gorleston
 Palmer Geo. shipping agent, Southtown
 Palmer George Danby, shipowner, &c. 52
 South quay
 Palmer Geo. Jas. comsn. agt. Southtown
 Palmer Mrs Harriet, 4 Pier terrace
 Palmer Hy. solict. 8 Regent st; h 11 S. town
 Palmer Jas. vict. Spread Eagle, 50 King st Palmer James Hurry, brewer, St. Peter's road; house 116 King street
 Palmer Jonathan, dyer, Church plain
 Palmer Sar. cork cutter, White Horse pln
 Palmer Mrs Mary, 40 King street
 Palmer Mrs Mary Ann, 29 Regent street
 Palmer Robt. brush manfr. Church plain
 Palmer Thos. John, beerhs. Factory rd
 Palmer Wm. shoemaker, 18 Howard st
 Palmer Mr Wm. Danby, 18 Britannia ter
 Palmer Wm. Hurry, customs, 137 King st
 Palmer Wm. Thos. tailor, Camden road
 Panchen Charles, baker, South Denes rd
 *Panchen Thomas Utton, joiner, &c. 18
 Northumberland place
 *Panks Henry, shoemaker and chiropodist, Deneside, and 1 Bath place
 *Parker Edgar, 6 Alfred terrace
 Parker George, shopkpr. 12 Charlotte st
 Parker Wm. fish mert. 5 Geneve terrace
 Parker William, corn miller, Mill lane, Southtown, and 14 Caister road, Fish street, and Fuller's hill Parmenter Richard George, victualler,
 White Swan, North quay
 Parmenter Thos. boat builder and vict.
 Railway Bowling Green, North quay Parmenter William, timber merchant and manure dealer, North quay
 Parsely Saml. cowkeeper, 12 Vernon ter
 Parsons John George, draper, Market pl
 Partridge Edw. fish curer, North Mkt. rd
 Partridge Rev. John, M.A. boarding school, Southtown
 Partridge Mr William, Edward place
 Paston James, beerhouse, Isabella sq
 Paston Jas. jun. vict. Cock, 74 Gaol st
 Patrick Mr William, Caister road
 Patterson Jas. shoemkr. 59 Charlotte st
 Patterson Wm. shopkpr. 55 Charlotte st
 Pattman Chas. turner, 76 North Quay
 *Paul Ann, Gorleston
 Paul Thos. bookseller, stationer, & account book mfr. 181 Gaol st; h 1 Camperdown pl
 Payfield Shearman, fish curer, 3 Howard st
 Peachment Stephen, Garden lane
 *Peachment Ann, 7 Alma place
 Peacock Henry, shopkpr. 13 Vernon ter
 Pearce James, eating house, Broad row
 Pearson Miss Harriet, 5 Albert square
 Pearson James, rope maker, York road
 Peck James, beerhouse, 19 Friar's lane
 Peek George, beerhs. South Denes road
 Pegg Mrs Eleanor, 8 Vernon terrace
 Pells Mrs Margaret, Gorleston
 + Penny Samuel, Mariners' road
 Penrice Mrs Ann, 146 King street
 Penrice Major John, 15 Nelson road
 Perry Wm. corn dealer, 42 Gaol street
 Pestell Mr Henry, 2 Henry place
 Pestell Henry Edm. hosier, 6 Broad row
 Pestell John Simon, bathing machine owner and shopkpr. North Market rd
 Pestell Robt. joiner, Row 125; h Union pl
 Pestell Samuel, victualler, Guardian
 Angel, Southtown
 Pettingill Alfred, auctioneer, &c. Regent street; house 7 Albion road
 Pettingill Mrs Mary Ann, Albion road
 Pettingill Walter Douglas, agent to Sun
 Fire Office, Regent street
 Petts John, chief officer, Coast Guard Statn
 *Phillips William, 6 Duncan place
 Pidgeon Jph. ginger beer mkr. Row 54
 Pigney Samuel, fish curer, Row 78
 Pigott Mrs Mary, 1 Henry place
 Pike Mrs Angelina, Southtown
 Pike Maria, glass dealer, 7 Market row
 Pike Robt. sail maker, Row 109; h Row 99
 Pike Robert, jun.; house North quay
 Pitcher James, ship owner, Apsley road
 *Pitcher William, 2 Jury street
 Pitcher William, shoemaker, Nelson rd
 Pizey Robert, accountant, 3 Crown place Plane John, ship smith, South quay; house Blackfriars road
 Plane John, vict. Norwich Arms, 16 N. quay
 Plane Sar. Eliz. vict. Red Lion, Gaol st
 Platford Jas. eating house, 26 Howard st
 Platt George, plumber & painter, Row 45
 Plowman Mr Thomas, Gorleston
 Plowright Susan Sar. school, 133 King st
 Plumb Jas. fish merchant, 15 Vernon ter
 Plummer Mrs Ann, 6 Pier terrace
 Plummer John Bruce, coal mercht. ship agent, &c. Regent st; h 6 Pier terrace
 *Plummer Mrs Sarah, Blackfriars road Poley Rev. William Weller, rector of Santon; house 2 Brandon terrace Poll William Sheppard, pharmaceutical chemist and druggist, 29 Regent road
 Poole Mr George, 41 St. Peter's road
 Poole Mrs Louisa Caroline, 4 Waterpark ter
 Popay George, bricklayer, Gorleston

Pope George, vict. Gallon Pot, Gaol st
 Pope Isaac, mail guard, Market road
 Poppy Thomas, cabinet maker and eating house, 50 Charlotte street
 Porter Charles, bailiff, Southampton pl
 Porter Edw. vict. Star & Garter, Hall quay
 Porter Harriet, school, Southampton pl
 *Porter James, Blackfriars road
 *Porter Sarah, 6 Crown place
 Portwood Wm. tailor, 17 North Mkt. rd
 Postle Christopher, vict. Albert Hotel, South Denes road
 *Potter Mrs Sarah, 10 Camperdown pl
 Potts Anthony, excise, 11 Flushing ter
 Potts Miss Elizabeth, Gorleston
 +Powditch William, beerhs. South quay
 Powell Benj. fish curer, 5 Albert pl. and vict. Newcastle Tavern, South quay Powell Mary, shopkeeper, 33 George st
 Powley Matthew, shopkpr. Seymour pl
 Pracey James, baker, Row 141
 Pratt Jas. Howard, bricklayer, 61 N. quay
 *Pratt Robert, Providence place
 Pratt Robt. builder & lime burner, N. quay
 Prentice William, joiner, Gorleston
 Press Elizabeth, miller, Mill lane, S.
 Press George, flour dealer and miller, 39 Fuller's hill; house Southtown +Press Joseph, 10 Norfolk terrace
 +Press John William, 5 Queen's place
 Press Thos. Crisp, ship owner, Row 126
 Preston Chas. Abbott, solr.; h 3 S. quay
 Preston Edw. pork butcher, 5 Victoria pl
 Preston Edw. Harbord Lushington, timber merchant. (Isaac and Son) and consul for Belgium, Hanover, &c. North quay
 Preston Miss Harriet, 1 Garibaldi place
 Preston Isaac & Chas. A. solicitors, Hall pln
 Preston Isaac, solr. and clerk to Haven Commissioners; h St. George's Denes Preston Isaac & Son, timber merts. S. town
 Preston Isaac, sen.; h 3 South quay
 Preston Jacob, wine mert. 48 South quay
 Preston Misses, 69 South quay
 Price Alexander, boat builder, 9 Conge
 +Price Benjamin, Pier place
 Price Rev. Wm. Thos. (Bapt.) 6 Russell sq
 Priestley Joseph, vict. Queen's Arms, Havelock road
 Prime Wm. vict. Golden Lion, 25 George st
 Proudfoot Edmund, carpenter, Row 73
 Pulford Geo. cheese, &c. factor, 16 Mkt. row
 Pullyn Miss Catherine, 50 Caister road
 Pullyn Mr Philip, 7 Harrison's buildings
 Pumfrey Jas. vict. Bush Tav. 15 S. quay
 Punchard Mrs Hannah, 86 King street
 Pardey James, ironfounder, engineer, &c. North quay
 Parry Joseph Henry, printer, Hall quay
 Purdy Robins, ship owner, 38 Southtown
 Purkis Joshua, chain maker and vict. St. John's Head, North quay
 Pattuck Edward, wood turner, Row 45

Pye Martin, shopkeeper, 69 Gaol street
 Pye Martin, jun. shopkpr. 71 Gaol st
 Pye Mrs Elizabeth, school, Row 121
 Pye Rd. Saml. baker, White Lion opening
 Pye Robert, china, &c. dlr. 145 Gaol st
 Pye Wm. Bloomfield, fish mert. 33 Gaol st
 Quinton Mr John, 6 Ocean terrace
 Quinton John, beerhouse, 6 Geneve ter
 *Quinton Mary Ann, 3 Trafalgar place +Race William, Southtown
 Rackham Charles, baker, Saxon place
 Rackham John, vict. Nelson, 89 King st
 Rackham Mary, milliner, White Horse pln
 Rae Jas., M.D. Royal Lunatic Asylum
 Rainer Francis, boot maker, 47 King st
 Rainer Geo. Ashby, rate colr. & tailor, Conge
 Rainer Geo. Edw. plumber, &c. 17 Conge
 Rainer Samuel, plumber, &c. 47 King st
 Rand Wm. Chas. shoemkr. 138 King st
 Randell Samuel, tailor, 63A Market place
 *Ranney William, 1 Alma place
 Rant George, grocer, &c. 3 Market pl
 Rant Joseph, grocer, Broad row
 Ratcliffe John, coach builder, Fuller's hl
 Ray Misses Mary, Ann, & E. 6 Queen's ter
 Raynes Mr John, 49 Southtown
 Rayson Geo. wheelwright, Stanley road
 Read George, plumber, &c. Gorleston
 Read Henry John, eating hs. 42 Charlotte
 Read John, smith, Gorleston [street
 Read Mr Robert, 12 Claremont terrace
 Read Ruth, dressmaker, 10 Regent street
 +Read Joseph, Gorleston
 Read Samuel, blacksmith, Gorleston
 Read Sar. vict. Weavers' Arms, Mkt. pl
 Read Thomas William and Co. coal and corn merchants, &c. North quay
 Read Thos. Mattw. (do.); h 9 St. Geo's. ter
 Read Trevett Wm. carpenter, Fuller's hill; house 46 George street
 Read William, joiner, 25 North quay
 Reader Richd. Edm. shoemkr. Broad row
 Reading Isaac, vict. Lion and Lamb, 140 King street
 Reddish Mr James, 3 Flushing terrace
 +Redman Wm., Military place [quay
 Reed Chas. Lancelot, bricklayer, 1 Hall
 Reeder William, pilot, Brighton terrace
 Reeve John Rt. wine, &c. agt. 59 S. quay
 Reeve James, shoemaker, 75 Gaol st
 *Reeve Martha, 2 Harrison's buildings
 Reynolds George, confectioner, Gorleston
 Reynolds & Palmer, solicitors, 28 Regent st
 Reynolds Wm. Collett, solr.; h 2 Albert sq
 +Rice George James, 64 Gaol street
 Riches Mrs Ann, Victoria place
 Riches John, vict. King's Arms, Northgate
 Riches Mary, baker, 126 Gaol street
 Riches Misses L. and C., 1 Lancaster rd
 Riches William, shopkeeper, Caister rd
 +Riches William, Alma road
 Richmond and Lark, coal merts. S. town
 Richmond Robert, baker, Howard street

- Richmond Samuel Cubitt (R. and Lark); house Southtown
 Richmond Rev. Thos. Knyvett, M.A. curate of St. Nicholas, &c. 24 Market place
 *Ridgway Mrs Eliza, 31 Regent road
 Rigby Arthur & Co. brush mkr. 21 Mkt. pl
 Ringwood Saml. cattle dlr. 45 Southtown
 *Rising Charlotte, 132 King street
 Rising Edw. flour dlr. South Market rd
 Rising Miss F. dressmkr. 10 Marlbro' ter
 Rising Mrs Eliz. & Miss, 5 Britannia ter
 *Rising Patience, 10 Marlborough ter
 Rising Thomas, pilot, 11 St. Peter's pl
 Rising William, grocer, St. Peter's road
 Rivers Benj. railway inspr. Marlbro' ter
 Rivers Capt. Wm. Ths. R. N. 2 Kimberley ter
 Rivett Henry Wm. basket mkr. Southtown
 Rivett Mr James, Southtown
 Rivett James, confectioner, Broad row
 Rivett John E. farmer, Southtown
 Rivett John Grimes, ship agent, &c. Gorrivett Mr Richard, Queen's ter [leston
 Rivett Wm. cattle dealer, Gorleston
 Roberts Mr Griffiths, Row 122
 +Roberts Henry, Pier place
 Roberts James, school, 110 George st
 Roberts Misses Sarah & Har. 117 King st
 Roberts Misses Eliz. & Sush., Southtown
 Roberts Samuel Bultitude, mast & block maker, Mariners' rd; h 53 St. Peter's rd
 Robinson Ann Eliz. clothes dlr. Gaol st
 *Robinson James, 15 North Market road
 *Robinson John, 2 Wilshire place
 Robinson Rev. Saml. (Unitn.) 2 St. Jas'. ter
 Robinson Thos. telegraph clerk, Row 90
 +Rockett William, 21 Vernon terrace
 *Rodwell Deborah, 4 Adam & Eve garden
 Roe John, corn agent, 24 Regent road
 *Rogers Joseph Boyce, 4 Crown place +Rogers William, 9 Somerset place
 Rolfe Fdk. Wharton, music profr. 92 King st
 Roling William, baker, Charlotte street
 Roll James, shopkeeper, 142 Gaol street
 Rolling James, baker, Image corner
 Roof Edw. vict. Three Tuns, Southtown
 Rooks Mr Charles, Southtown
 Roote Robert, carter, South Market road
 Rope Mr Robert Margetson, Gorleston
 Rose Caleb Burrell, Esq., F.G.S. 25 King st
 Rosetti Giuseppe, interpreter, Victoria rd
 Ross Constantine Jas. agent, R.L. Asylum
 Rounding Mr John Wm. Fdk. 4 Wesbourne
 Rouse Royal, pilot, Gorleston [terrace
 *Rouse Susannah, 1 Norfolk terrace Routledge Edward, victualler, City of London, Charlotte street
 Royall Mrs Areba, 72 North quay
 Royall George, fish curer, Havelock rd
 +Rudd Samuel, Havelock road
 +Rudd Samuel, Exmouth road
 Rudd Thos. basket maker, 45 George st
 Rumball Mr George, 4 Queen's terrace
 Rumball Geo. Jas. miller, North Denes
 *Rumbell Henry, Clarence road
 Rumble Wm. Geo. glass dlr. 19 King st
 Rumbold Charles, jun. 46 North quay
 Rump Mrs Hannah, Cemetery road
 Rump James, wheelwright, St. Nicholas' road; house Priory plain Runacre James, baker, Row 123
 Runacre James, jun. joiner, Row 111
 Runniff Eliz. fishmonger, Market road
 Runniff John Joshua, fish merchant,
 Nelson road and 3 Bath place
 Rushmer Miss, Church plain [King st
 Rushmer My. Ann & Jane, milliners, 137
 Rushmer Ts. Wellington, shoemr. Row 107
 Rushmere Mrs Hannah, 50 Southtown
 *Russell Martha, 7 Crown place
 Rust John Wm. ship builder, Southtown
 Ruthen James, beerhouse, 150 Gaol st
 Rutter Elizabeth, beerhs. St. Nicholas' rd
 *Rycraft Alfred Draper, 5 Marine passage +Rycraft William, Havelock road
 Sacret Robert, bootmaker, 1 Broad row
 Sacret Mr Thomas, 66 Southtown
 St. Quintin Chas. supervisor, 9 Norfolk ter
 Sadler John, bricklayer, Gorleston
 Salmon James, pilot, Gorleston
 Salmon John, fish mert. Deneside; h St.
 Salmon Jno. pilot, Gorleston [Peter's row
 Salmon Richard, pilot, Gorleston
 Salmon Richard, cabinet mkr. Gorleston
 Salter Mrs Martha, 9 Flushing terrace
 Sandall Edw. plumber, &c. 77 North quay
 Sanders Mr Geo. Samuel, 3 Columbia ter
 +Sanders Richard, Trinity place
 *Sanders Mrs Sarah, 16 Regent road
 Saul & Frazer, timber sawing, planing,
 & moulding mills, Southtown, & Norwich
 Saul Thomas John; house 22 Southtown
 *Saunders James Larne, Fitzwilliam sq
 Savage John Thos. fish curer, auctioneer, spirit merchant, and victualler, Penrice
 Arms, 151 King street
 Savory Hy. vict. Steam Packet, Hall quay
 Sawyer John, gunsmith, Fuller's hill
 Sayer Thomas, wine agent, Southtown
 Sayers Hannah, baker, 106 Gaol street
 Seales Robert, fishmonger, Fish market
 Seales William, ship owner, Row 118
 *Scafehorne Esther, 24 Regent road Scarce John, joiner, Gorleston
 *Scarf Miss Hannah, South beach
 Scott Mrs Elizabeth, 5 Providence place
 Scott James, ship owner, 22 King street
 Scott James Algar, confecr. 60 King st
 Scott Mr John Larter, Church plain
 Scott Lucy, school, Friar's lane
 *Scott Martha, 4 Heary place
 Scott Robert, vict. Jolly Tar, Rodney rd
 Scotten Sarah, shopkpr. 24 Fuller's hill
 Scotter John, hairdresser, St. Peter's rd
 *Scrutton Samuel, 1 Providence place
 *Scrutton Susan, 5 Bath place
 Scully Edw. Wm. draper, 3 Buckgm. pl

Seago Saml. fish curer, South Market rd
 Seagar Ann, shopkeeper, 55 Charlotte st
 Seaman Misses, fancy dépôt, King street
 Seaman, Grimmer, & Co. wine and spirit merchants, 177 King' st. & Norwich
 Seaman Mrs Mary, 36 Well street
 Seaman William, sweep, Market road
 Seeley Ann, vict. White Horse, Gorleston
 Self George, shoemaker, 166 King street
 Self James, fish curer, Moyses's alley Seppings Rev. Dillingham Wm., M.A. curate of St. Andrew's, 19 Trafalgar rd
 Sewell & Hilton, grocers, &c. 28 Market pl
 Sewell Charles Edward; h 28 Market pl
 Sewell Robert, shopkeeper, 173 Gaol st
 +Sewell Wm. Farman, Somerset place
 Sexton Jas. rag dlr. Fuller's hl [Geo's. rd
 Sexton Wm. corn miller, George st; h St.
 Shadrake Jas. Boreham, school, Gorleston
 Shales Wm. coffee house, Charlotte st +Sharman Edward, 1 Blackfriars road
 Sharman John, confcer. 169 King street
 Sharman John, shopr. 76 George street
 Sharp George, music profr. 24 Market pl
 *Sharpen Martha, Harrison's buildings
 Shattock Mr James, Southtown
 Shaul Edward, pilot, Gorleston
 Shaul Sarah, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 *Shearwood Mrs Elizabeth, 7 Russell rd
 Sheffer Martha, beerhouse, George street
 Shelly Mrs Elizabeth, 49 South quay Shelly John Wilton & Co. ship agents & brokers, hemp and tar merts. Russian vice-consuls, &c. 9 South quay; h 76
 Southtown
 +Shepherd Thos. Rump, Ipswich place
 Sheppard Mr William, Southtown
 Sherrington Mrs Isabella, Priory plain Sherrington Sl. Benj. solr. 16 Fuller's hill
 Shimman Jacob, joiner, Albion rd [Conge
 Shingles Jas. broker, & Eliz. midwife, 19
 Shingle Mr George Smith, 38 King st
 Shipley Wm. vety. surgeon, 12 Southtown
 Shipston Saml. J. butcher, 42 South quay
 Shockley Richard Chas., St. Peter's school
 *Shore Elizabeth, 8 Bath place Shore Richard Bayfield, victualler, White Horse, 8 White Horse plain
 Shorten Sannel, shopkpr. 115 George st Shortman Edward Willis, reporter to the Norfolk Chronicle, & correspondent to the London daily and sporting news,
 6 Sefton terrace
 Shreeve Geo. vict. Gallon Can, South quay
 Shreeve Henry Stacey, tailor, 5 Albion ter
 Shuckford Isaac, fish mert. 10 Britannia ter
 Shuckford Mrs Mary, St. Nicholas' road
 Shuckford Wm. master of Workhouse
 Sidle Wm. beerhouse, Blackfriars road
 Silcock Miss Mary, 3 St. James' terrace
 *Sillis William, 21 Howard street
 Sillis Wm. Isaac, flour dlr. 22 Howard st
 Silvers Mr Brighten, 103 King street

Silvers Jane, school, 15 Howard street
 Silvers Robert, druggist, 55 Gaol street
 Simmons David, coach bldr. Priory plain Simmons Edward, grocer, 99 King street
 Simmons Philip, cork cutter, Priory plain Simmons William, shoemaker, Row 119
 *Simpson Caroline, 3 Mansfield terrace
 Simpson Wm. M. watchmaker, Broad row
 Simpson Rev. Wm. (Wesleyan) Row 78
 Sinnett John, beerhouse, Friar's lane
 +Sims Robert, South beach
 *Sims Thomas, 5 St. Peter's road
 +Sims William, Mariners' road
 Singleton Henry, draper, &c. 105 Georgest
 *Sirridge Eliz. 12 Napoleon pl [beach
 Sizeland Eliz. vict. Royal Hotel, South
 *Skill Mrs Fanny, 27 Regent road
 Skinner Mr James, 4 St. James' terrace
 Skinner John, fish mert. Blackfriars rd
 Skinner Wm. Barlow, miller, Nelson road
 Skipper Wm. solr. 7 Britan. ter. & Norwich
 Skoulding George Smith Frederick, druggist, &c. 1 Charlotte street
 Skoyles Wm. blacksmith, Osborne ter
 Slann Mrs Martha, Southtown
 Sloman Mr Charles, Southtown
 Sloman Isabella, school, Dene side
 *Smiter Elizabeth, 36 St. Peter's road
 *Smith Ann, Britannia terrace
 Smith Charles, oyster dealer, Row 130
 Smith Charlotte Barber, shopr. Row 130
 Smith Edw. corn mert. & vict. Bear, Stown
 Smith Mr Edward, 12 Market road
 Smith Edw. blacksmith, St. Peter's plain
 Smith Eliz. (Smith & Son) Nelson road
 *Smith Emily, 15 Northumberland place
 Smith Fredk. fancy dealer, 4 Market row
 +Smith George, Row 132
 +Smith Henry Harrison, South Denes rd
 *Smith Mrs Jane, 1 Marine parade
 Smith James, plumber, &c. Gorleston
 Smith James, butcher, Havelock road
 Smith James, tailor, Church plain
 Smith James, hairdresser, George street
 Smith James, clerk, 7 Queen's place
 *Smith James, Brown's buildings
 Smith Jas. Hy. shoemkr. 17 Fuller's hill
 *Smith Jane, 5 Brandon terrace Smith Job, shoemaker, Broad row
 Smith Mr John, 31 Southtown
 +Smith John, Alma road
 Smith John Caporn, surgeon, 24 King st
 +Smith John Harper, 6 St. Peter's place
 +Smith John H. jun. Alma road
 Smith Rev. John (P. Meth.) Jury street
 Smith Joseph, Artillery Barracks
 Smith Miss Louisa, St. George's plain
 Smith Mrs, 2 Osborn terrace
 *Smith Mary Ann, 2 Vince's buildings
 Smith Reuben William, South quay
 Smith Richard, brazier, 133 Gaol street
 Smith Robert, butcher, Gorleston
 Smith Robert, tailor, 7 Gaol street

- Smith Robert, beerhouse, St. Nicholas rd
 Smith Robt. Reuben, wheelgt. Gorleston
 Smith Robert Sharman, cabinet maker,
 60 Charlotte street
 Smith Robert, shopkeeper, Alma road
 *Smith Robert, 6 Russell road Smith Samuel Simpson, corn dealer and vict. British Lion, 36 Market place
 Smith & Son, fish curers and merchants,
 2 St. Peter's road
 Smith Saml. (& Son); h 2 St. Peter's rd
 Smith Susan, haberdasher, 53 Gaol st
 Smith Thomas, grocer, &c. 9 Howard st
 Smith Wm. shopkeeper, 59 Gaol street
 Smith Mr William, Gorleston
 +Smith William, Row 132
 Smith Wm. fish merchant, North quay
 *Smith William, Apsley road
 Smith Wm. Forester, cattle dlr. Gorleston
 Smith Wm. Graves, railway inspector, 2
 Columbia terrace
 *Smith Zebedee, Bath place
 Smouton John, rope maker, 12 Jury st Smouton Stephen, bathing machine proprietor, 28 Havelock road
 Smyth Capt. Spencer, R.N., pier master,
 Gorleston
 Smyth Spencer Thomas, M.D., surgeon,
 St. George's road
 Snell Wm. fish merchant, Southtown
 Snoad Wm. grocer, &c. 1 George street
 Soames Hy. fish curer, Rainbow corner
 *Soames Louisa, 1 St. John's buildings +Soanes Richard, Blackfriars road
 Solomon Abraham, optician, 164 King st
 Sommerville Joseph, draper, N. Mkt. rd
 +Soulsby Henry Wm. Row 132
 Southgate Jacob, butcher, 7 Charlotte st
 Sowell Edmund, plumber, painter, &c.
 167 Gaol street; h 11 Russell square
 Spanton Benjamin, reader, 23 Well street
 *Spanton Mrs Susannah, 6 Albion road
 Sparrow Samuel James, saddler and vict.
 Watermans' Arms, 66 North quay
 Spashett Chpr. vict. Feathers, Gorleston Spelman Henry & S. W. auctioneers and estate agents, Hall quay and Norwich
 Spelman Samuel Waters; h South Denes
 Spencer Isaac, beerhouse, Market place
 Spilling Robert, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Spilling Wm. joiner, &c. Hall plain; h
 28 Southtown
 Spratt Edward, coal merchant, Gorleston
 Springall Benj. joiner and tea dealer,
 Marsh's buildings, Albion road
 Springall Edw. wheelgt. White Horse pln
 Springall Geo. shoemaker, Marsh's bldgs
 Springall Robt. Christmans, tobacconist,
 4 Broad row; h 3 Geneve terrace
 *Spurgin Elizabeth, 40 Camperdown pl
 Squirrell Manning Prentice, 4 Columb. tr
 Squirrell Robt. haberdasher, 26 Mkt. row
 +Stacey Absalom, 4 Queen's road
 +Stacey James, Alma road
 Staff Amelia, staymaker, 11 Howard st
 Staff Wm. Henry, shopr. St. Peter's rd
 Stafford Stephen John Fredk. surgeon,
 Market place
 Stagg Edward, auctioneer, 60 Howard st Stagg George, ironmonger, Broad row; house Hall quay
 Stagg James Henry, druggist, Broad row
 Stagg Wm. Playford, ship agent, 61 S.
 +Stanford John, 3 King street
 Stanford Joseph, pilot, Southtown
 +Stanford Wm. S. 46 Southtown
 Stanley John, stonemason, Caister road
 Stannard Wm. turner, 50 Howard street
 Starling John, cap maker, Market row
 Starling John, beerhouse, Willow place
 Starling Jonathan, shopr. 27 Howard st
 Steam Tug Company, St. Peter's road
 Stebbens Mr Alfred, Gorleston
 Stebbings Jane, school, Howard street
 Steel Samuel, tug master, St. Peter's rd
 Steele Lieut. Edward, 8 Regent road
 Steele Richard, eatinghouse, 57 Howard st Steer & Godfrey, publishers of Yarmouth
Chronicle, 17 Regent street
 Steer Charles B. printer, 17 Regent st
 Stephenson Jane, milliner, Friar's lane
 Stephenson John, M.D. and surgeon, 5
 Regent street [Dene side
 Stephenson Mattw. vict. Rifle Volunteer,
 Sterry Mr Nathaniel, Gorleston
 *Stephens John Brown, Apsley road
 Stevenson Mrs Eliza, 4 Albert place
 +Stevenson John Downing, 6 King st
 Stevenson Samuel, tax collector, York rd
 Steward Alfred, druggist; h 5 Market pl
 Steward Mrs Anne, 64 South quay
 Steward Arthur, brewer; h 141 King st
 Steward Burton, clerk, 41 King street
 Steward Charles Samuel Dale, druggist,
 (S. & Son); h Priory plain Steward Chpr. pawnbroker, 163 King st
 Steward Mr Daniel, Southtown
 Steward Eaton Stannard, Esq. 64 S. quay
 Steward Jas. cowkpr. 50 North Market rd
 Steward Joshua, cab owner, Neptune ter Steward Joseph Henry, lessee of Britannia Pier, 74 Regent road Steward, Patteson, Finch, & Co. brewers, spirit merts. &c. North quay, & Norwich
 Steward Richd. wheelgt. Wellington pl
 Steward Robt. timber mert. 56 Southtown
 Steward and Son, druggists, 6 Market pl Steward Thomas Fowler, solicitor (Lucas and S.); house 26 South quay Stolworthy Edmund, millwright and founder, 14 Northgate street
 Stone Allison Davy, sail maker and fish merchant, 58 South quay and Row 117
 Stone Thomas, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Stone Wm. Isaac, saddler, Gorleston
 Stonex Henry, music profr. 32 Regent rd

Storey Geo. Richd. clerk, 41 Southtown
 Storey James, plumber, &c. Southtown
 Storey John, carpenter, Southtown
 *Storey Martha, Camperdown place
 Steve Wm. Isaac, saddler, Market place
 Stubbs James, hosier, 124 King street
 +Sturgeon Edward, Queen's road
 Suffling Jermh. vict. Earl Grey, Gorleston Suffling Mary & Son, (Norford) corn and flour factors, Church plain Suggate Mrs A. school, 123 King street
 Suggate Henry Ezra, druggist, St. Peter's
 road; house 123 King street
 Sumner George, traveller, 9 Albion road
 Sumner John, tailor, St. Peter's road
 Sumner William, cutler, Row 107
 +Sutton Edward John, 19 Vernon terrace
 *Swanbrow Mary, 13 Henry place
 Swann Alfred, 3 Bath hill terrace
 Swann Henry King, fish curer, Clarence rd
 +Swann John Thomas, 105 King street
 Swann Matw. Hastings, school, Queen st
 Swann Nathl. fish merchant, Swirle's pl
 Swann Samuel, butcher, Market place
 Swann Wm. Christmas, butcher and fish mert. Market place; h 1 Nelson ter Swann Wm. Diver, packet agent & ship broker, South Denes rd; h Queen's rd
 Swann Wm. King, fish mert. Neptune ter
 Swanston James, manager, Row 108
 Swanston Martha, milliner, Market row
 Swanston Wm. shoemaker, Russell sq
 Symonds John, oilcloth dlr. Friar's lane
 Symonds Rbt. John, boat bldr. Southtown
 Symonds Samuel, shopkpr. 30 George st
 *Tann Elizabeth, 7 Kimberley terrace
 Tann Sarai, school, 66 Regent road
 Tanner Mary Ann, vict. Wilshire Arms,
 Northgate street
 Taylor Charles, horse letter, Row 50
 Taylor Geo. confectioner, 30 St. Peter's rd
 Taylor Henry, hairdresser, 17 King st
 Taylor Henry, tobacconist, 114 King st
 Taylor James, pipe maker, &c. Row 50
 Taylor John, shopkeeper, Rodney road
 *Taylor Martha, 7 Somerset place
 *Taylor Sarah, 2 Russell square
 Taylor Thomas, ship builder, Gorleston
 Taylor William, joiner, 69 North quay
 Teasdel Alfred, clerk, 7 Sefton terrace
 Teasdel Charles, shopkpr. 24 Howard st
 Teasdel Henry, iron mert. ship chandler, and steam tug manager, Southtown; house 5 Waterpark terrace
 Teasdel Henry, jun. accompt. 2 Pier ter +Teasdel John, 2 St. Peter's pl [quay
 Teasdel John, vict. First & Last, 84 South
 Teasdel Mary Ann, fancy depôt, King st
 Teasdel Saml. plumber, &c. 60 Southtown Teasdel William, engineer for haven and pier; house Gorleston
 Teasdel James, ship broker, South quay
 *Teasdel Mr Robert, 3 Apsley terrace

*Tebbutt Rachel, 14 Vernon terrace
 Tennent Robert, clothes broker, Row 40
 Tewsley George, supt. Police Station
 +Thaxter Benjamin, 3 St. Peter's place
 Thaxter Mrs Elizabeth, 51 Southtown
 Theobald Benjamin, shoemaker, 46 Gaol street; house 1 Russell square
 Thetford Saml. cab propr. St. George's rd
 Thirkettle John, fish curer, Apollo walk
 Thoennison Jno. umbrella mkr. 149 Gaol st
 *Thomas Annie, 4 Russell square
 Thomas Jane, shopkpr. 13 Charlotte st
 Thomas Joseph, fish curer, Row 143; house 122 Gaol street
 Thomas Mary, school, Church plain
 *Thompson Elizabeth, 6 Clarence place
 Thompson Henry Bayes, sergt. at mace, and rabbit dealer, St. George's row
 Thompson Jas. eating house, Market pl
 Thompson Mr Jas. G. 1 Queen's road
 Thompson Jas. Thos. builder, Regent rd
 Thompson Leond. bricklayer, S. Mkt. rd
 *Thompson Lydia, St. George's road
 Thompson Mrs Margaret, 101 King st
 *Thompson My. Ann, Woolnough bldgs Thompson Sophia, bathing machine proprietor, 2 Northumberland place
 Thorn Harriet, beerhouse, Nettle hill
 Thorndick (Eliz.) and Fish (Mary Ann), baby linen dealers, 18 King street
 Thorndick Mrs Harriet., 5 Eastbourne ter
 *Thorndick Rachael, 5 Somerset place
 Thrower Jas. shoemaker, 36 Gaol street
 Thrower Mrs Elizabeth, Southtown
 Thurgate Christpr. plasterer, Havelock rd
 Thurlow Eliz. Coach & Horses, Caister rd
 *Thurlow James, 4 Northumberland pl
 Thurtell Wm., Esq., J.P., 3 Camperdown pl
 Thurtell Mrs Harriet, 8 Sefton ter. Sthtn
 +Tidman George, Gorleston
 Tilmouth Joshua, clerk, 4 Sefton terrace
 Tingay Jno. Webster, baker, &c. 10 Mkt. row
 Titshall Miss Maria, 30 Southtown
 Todd Charles, joiner, Row 27
 Todd George, cowkeeper, 11 Conge
 Todd Robert, shopkeeper, Caister road
 Todd Rev. Robert Fox (Bapt.) Row 85
 Todd Thos. smack owner, 42 Regent rd
 Tolver Samuel, Esq., Hall plain
 Tomkins Daniel, school, 27 South quay Tomlinson Joseph, brewer, maltster, & spirit merchant, Howard street
 Tooley Charles, shopkeeper, 109 Geo. st Tooley William and Robert, millers, Nelson road; house Church plain Topps Thomas, fish curer, Market road
 Towler Fdk. Chas. Abel, farmer, Gorlston.
 Towner Chas. joiner, Exmouth road
 Towns Mrs Anna, 61 Regent road
 Townsend Jno. Wm. exciseman & inspector of corn returns, 16 Southtown
 +Trett Charles, Row 116
 Tricker Samuel, shopkpr. 47 St. Peter's rd

- Tripp Edward, shoemkr. Blackfriars rd
 Tripp John, shoemaker, Church plain
 Tritten Rev. Wm. (Indept.) 4 Ocean ter
 Trorey Emma, school, Row 121
 Trorey William, shopkeeper, 31 Geo. st
 Trorey Wm. broker, Church plain
 *Trunk Mary Ann, 38 Regent road Tubby James, joiner (Gilling and T.); house 9 Brighton terrace
 Tanbridge Mrs Margaret. Gorleston
 Tunbridge Richd. & Son (Richard Henry) tallow chandlers, South Market road
 Turner Joseph Ellis, Row 63
 Turner Miss Mary Ann, St. John's ter
 Turner Mrs Mary, Southtown Turrell James, fish merchant, Mariners' road; house Camden road
 Turrell Mrs Mary Ann, 26 St. Peter's rd
 Turrell Thos. fish curer, Blackfriars rd; house Queen's road
 Turrell Wm. Henry, joiner, Row 56
 +Tuthill John, Row 99
 Tuttle Henry, grocer, 179 King street
 Tuttle Wm. district secretary to British Equitable Assurance Co. 19 Regent rd
 Tydeman Lucy, school, Queen street
 Tyrrell Geo. contractor, 6 Water Park ter
 *Tyrrell Charles, joiner, 5 Wilshire place and Nelson road
 *Tyrrell George, 7 Apsley road
 *Utting Charles, 3 Victoria place
 *Utting John Thos. D. 9 Harrison's bldgs
 Utting Leneve, paper hngr. 115 Gaol st
 Utting Wm. fish curer, Nelson road
 Utton Misses B., A. H. & F. 43 King st
 Valiant Cs. cooper, Friar's ln; h Preston sq
 Vallius James, missionary, Leicester ter
 Vaughan Geo. guard, 4 Maddey's bldgs Vaux Rev. Bowyer, M.A., incumbent of St. Peter's, St. John's terrace
 Veal Mr Wm. 15 St. Peter's road
 Veale Henry, fish mert. Blackfriars road Veale Henry John, fish merchant and confectioner, 176 King street
 Veale Robert, mast and block maker,
 Queen's road; h 57 South quay
 *Vince Elizabeth, 2 Ely place
 Vincent James, shoemaker, Gorleston
 Vores Wm., M.D., St. George's gate
 Voyce Hannah, shopkeeper, 138 Gaol st
 Wade Herman, tailor, Alma road
 Wade Hy. Rice, shopkeeper, 29 Gaol st
 Wade Wm. beerhouse, Alma road
 *Waite Elizabeth, 10 Vernon terrace Wales Charles, gardener, Southtown
 Wales Cs. Wm. cowkpr. 44 St. Nichls'. rd
 Walesby Sl. Jno. shoemkr. St. Nicholas' rd
 Walker John, victualler, Saint George's Tavern, 162 King street
 Walker John, vict. Wm. Tell, Howard st
 Walker Mary Ann, 8 Ely place
 Walker Robert, shoemaker, 163 Gaol st
 Walker Sarah, vict. Feathers, Market rd
 Wall Wm. flour dealer, 3 Northgate st
 Waller Geo. cabinet maker, 44 George st
 +Waller Thomas, 91 Southtown
 Waller Mr William, Mill lane
 Waller Wm. cabinet maker, 4 Queen st
 Walpole Rd. Hy. Vade, Esq. 16 N. beach
 Walpole Mrs Sarah, 21 Regent road
 Walpole Mr William, 26 Southtown
 Walpole Wm. drugst. 3 White Lion opng
 Walsh John, hatter, 61 Howard street
 Walton and Overend, grocers, &c., 23
 Market place and Hall quay
 *Want John Henry, joiner, Regent road +Ward Charles, 4 Somerset place
 Ward David, victualler, Tomlinson's
 Arms, 14 Gaol street
 +Ward George, 5 Ocean terrace
 Ward Mrs Harriet, 7 Southtown
 Ward Joseph, schoolmaster, Workhouse
 Warner Eliz. shopkeeper, Gorleston
 +Warner Thomas, Exmouth road
 Warner Robert, boat owner, Gorleston
 Warnes Martha, shopkeeper, 7 North ter
 Warren Eliza, shirt maker, 11 Howard st +Wase Nathaniel, Gorleston
 Waters Azariah, hosier, 6 Market row
 Waters Mrs Hannah, Saxon place Waters Rev. Mark, B.A., incumbent of St. George's, 51 King street
 Watling Robert Shingles, corn mert. & maltster, Mill lane; h 6 Brandon ter
 Watson Alfd. Stacey, artist, 2 Regent rd
 Watson Edward, hatter, 15 King street
 Watson Fras. Sedley, fish curer, 19 N. qy
 Watson Frdk. vict. Silk Mills, St. Nichl's. rd
 Watson Geo. game dlr. 40 Fuller's hill
 +Watson George, Row 116
 Watson Mr George Thomas, secretary of Sailors' Home, South Beach
 Watson Jas. grocer, &c. 24 George st
 Watson James, basket maker, Gaol st
 Watson Mr John, 1 Conge
 Watson Jph. greengrocer, Charlotte st
 Watson Joseph, tailor, 12 Market place
 Watson Richard, vict. Bull, Market pl
 Watts Edward, baker, 111 George street
 Watts John, cowkpr. 19 North Mkt. rd
 Watts John, baker, Isabella square
 *Watts Matthew, 16 Queen's road
 *Watts Robert, Wilshire place
 Watts Wm. fish merchant, Camden rd
 Weaver Jno. marine store dlr. Gorleston
 Webb Rt. vict. Sons of Commerce, S. qy
 Webb John, rope mkr. St. Nicholas' ter
 *Weeds Francis James, 9 Mansfield ter
 Welch Alfred, stationer, 160 King street
 +Welch Samuel, 2 Queen's place
 Weller-Poley Rev. William, M.A., rector of Santon, 2 Brandon terrace
 Wells Henry, tailor, Broad row
 Wells Henry, basket maker, 84 King st
 Wells James, pawnbroker, 126 King st
 *Wells Maria, 4 Marlborough terrace

Wells Meditation, victualler, Ropemakers' Arms, 9 Charlotte street
 Wells Saml. dep. pier master, Gorleston
 *Wells Susan, 6 Blackfriars road
 *Wells Sarah, 4 Victoria road
 +Welton James, Alma road
 Welton Jno. shoemkr. High st. Gorleston
 West John Davey, coach bldr. Market rd
 *West Thomas, 4 Albion road
 West Wm. clerk, 16 Northumberland pl
 +Westbrook John, Camden road
 +Westgate John, Grosvenor road
 Westgate Robt. shopkr. Blackfriars road
 Westgate Saml. joiner, Camden road
 Westgate Wm. plumber &c. Clarence rd
 Westoby Mr Matthew, 7 Florence place
 *Westoby John, 2 Lancaster road
 Weston Caroline, milliner, Market row
 Wheeler John, baker, Mill ln. Sthtown
 Whaites Mr Edward, Gorleston
 *Whall Mary, 37 Camperdown place
 *Wheeler John, 3 Albion road
 +Wheeler John, 4 Havelock road
 *Wheeler Thomas, 10 Florence place +Whelam John, Exmouth road
 Whicher Js. surgeon, Royl. Lunatic Asylum
 Whiley Jas. boatowner, Gorleston
 Whiley Cphr. fish merchant, Gorleston
 Whiley John, pilot, Gorleston
 *White Mrs Elizabeth, 11 Norfolk ter
 White John, gent. White Lion opening
 White Jno. cooper (Ellis & W.); h 5 Well st
 White Peter, shoemkr. 9 White Horse pln
 Whiting Mr John, 6 Eastbourne terrace
 Whittleton Edm. cutler, St. Nicholas' rd
 Whur Robt. grocer, 34 Trafalgar terrace
 *Widgery Mary, 7 Napoleon place
 Wigg Mr Samuel, 6 White Horse plain
 Wigg Mr Wm. Shank, 68 Southtown
 Wightman Abel Woods, beerhs. Gorleston
 Wightman Robert, shoemaker, Gorleston
 Wilkins James, 5 Alma place
 Wilkins William, shopkeeper, Southtown
 +Wilkinson John, 5 Military place
 Willemite Miss Rebecca, 2 Norfolk ter
 Williams Eliz. St. Peter's schoolmistress
 Williams, Frere, & Co., wine and spirit merchants, 148 King street
 Williams Mrs Isabella, 79 Caister road
 +Williams Luke, 13 St. Peter's rw. West
 Williams Wm. Hy. (W. & Son); h 3 Seymr. pl
 Williams William Pitt and Son, brewery agents, &c. North quay
 Williams Mrs J. Caister road
 *Willimont Wm. Edward, Market road
 Willis Wm. Henry, secretary & manager of gas works, 39 King street
 Willis Wm. Hy. smack owner, Gorleston
 Wilshack Harris, fishing net agent, and victualler, Crown, Nelson road
 Wilshack Jph. watchmaker, Market pl
 Wilson Geo. shoemaker, 9 Northgate st
 Wilson Mrs Lucy, 10 St. George's ter

Wilson Miss, St. Peter's schools
 Wilson William, draper, Broad row
 Winder Matthew Henry, victualler, Bath and Norfolk Hotels, North beach
 Winsen Mr George, Regent road
 Winter Ann, butcher, Market place
 Winter Cornls J. W. artist, Gorleston
 Wise Edwin, 56 Gaol street
 +Wiseman Benj. Robert, Malakoff place
 Wiseman & Curtis, cowkeepers and coal and rabbit dealers, May place
 Wiseman & Grey, bricklayers, 83 Gaol st
 Wiseman Richd. builder; h 83 Gaol st
 Wiseman Saml. (W. & Curtis); h May pl
 Wiseman Sarah, shopkpr. Blackfriars rd
 Withers Jph. smith, Row 96; h Row 100
 Withers Robt. carpenter, Fisher's quay
 +Womack George, Willow place
 Womack Wm. smack owner, 29 Sthtown
 Wood Rev. John, B.A. (Wes.) 22 Gaol st
 Wood Jno. Minter, vict. Mitre, George st
 Wood Simon, fish curer, Row 141
 Wood Wm. fish curer, Row 123; h Row 118
 +Woodcock Thos. shopkpr. Lancaster rd
 Woodcock Mary Ann, school, Row 50
 Woodcock Robert, shoemkr. Southtown
 Wooden Chas. mast mkr. South Denes rd
 Wooden Thomas, mast and block maker, South quay; house Row 139
 Woodger John, fish curer, Nelson road
 Woodhouse Rt. twine spur, Blackfriars rd
 Woodhouse Robert, sweep, Row 3
 Woodhouse Saml. twine spinner, Row 136
 Woodrow Edm. confectioner, 45 King st
 Woodrow Edmund, jun.; h 45 King st
 Woodrow Nevil Fuller, grocer, 28 Gaol st
 Woods Charles, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Woods Henry, fish merchant, Gorleston
 Woods Mrs Jex, Southtown
 *Woods John, 6 Bath place
 Woods Onesimus, vict. Vine, 5 Howard st
 Woods Robert, pilot, Gorleston
 Woods Thomas, shopkeeper, Gorleston
 Woods Wm. Hy. shopkpr. 106 George st
 Woodthorpe Mrs My. Ann, 13 Market rd
 Woolby Geo. carver & gilder, 36 N. quay
 Woolnough Js. mail contr. Woolnough blds
 Woolsey Geo. vict. Earl St. Vincent, King st
 Woolsey Louisa, bonnet mkr. S. Mkt. rd
 Woolsey Margt. E. school, 64 King st
 Woolsey Sar. & Lydia, school, N. quay
 Woolsey Wm. rope maker, Moat road
 Woollorton (Susan) and Jane (Eliza), haberdashers, 28 Market row
 Woolverton Chs. plumber, &c. 39 S. quay
 Woolverton Mrs Mary C. 59 King st
 Woolverton Mary Ann, school, 68 King st
 Woolverton Niels. plumber &c. 29 King st
 Worlege Wm. baker, &c. Nelson terrace
 Worship Mr Francis, 7 Trafalgar road
 Worship William, solicitor, Regent st; house 17 Britannia terrace Worth Geo. railway inspr. Trafalgar rd

Worts Mr Robert, 4 Blackfriars road
 Wright Artr. Turkish Baths, 68 Regt. st
 Wright Benj. fish merchant, Gorleston
 Wright Mr Cs. Bosworth, 9 Camperdn. pl
 *Wright Charlotte, 3 Kent place
 +Wright Francis, Camden road
 Wright George, beerhouse, 40 George st
 +Wright George, Adam & Eve garden
 *Wright Henry, 1 Wellington Cottages
 *Wright Henry Royal, 39 Regent road
 Wright James, shoemaker, Row 60
 Wright James, shoemaker, Gorleston
 +Wright James, 1 Southtown terrace
 +Wright Jasper, Queen's road
 Wright Joseph, druggist, 159 Gaol st
 Wright Jph. pork dlr. 55 Howard street
 *Wright Mary Ann, 1 Devonshire place
 Wright Misses, 11 South quay
 Wright Richard, shoemaker, Church pln
 Wright Richd. beerhouse, 7 Queen's pl
 Wright Robert, grocer, 52 King street
 *Wright Susan, Queen's road
 *Wright Thomas, 11 Dowager place

Wright Wm. victualler, Royal Standard,
 North beach
 Wright Wm. joiner, Row 118; h Caister rd
 Wright Wm. Stannel, colr. of ballast dues,
 South quay; h 5 Adam & Eve garden
 Wynyard Mrs M. Regent road
 Yaxley James, fishmonger, Market road
 Yaxley John, fish curer, Caister road
 Yaxley Robt. cab propr. 8 Norfolk ter Yaxley Sar. Ann, fish curer, 56 Market rd; & pork butcher, 26 North Mkt. rd
 Youell & Co., nursery & seedsman, &c.
 1 Market place and Caister road
 Youell Edward, Esq., banker, Hall quay
 Youell Ed. Pitt, Esq., banker, Queen's rd
 Youell Eliza, ironmonger, Broad row
 Youell Fredk. florist; h 47 Caister rd
 Youell Hy. florist &c.; h 2 Northgate st
 Youell Wm. florist &c.; h White Hrs. pln
 +Youman John, Camden road
 Youngs Mr Joseph, 5 Mansfield terrace
 Youngs Jph. Sydney, fish cur. Bermudsy. pl
 +Youngs Robert Wm. 11 Geneve terrace

CLASSIFICATION OF TRADES AND PROFESSIONS.

ACADEMIES.

(* take Boarders.)

*Barrett B., North quay
 Barrett T., St. Peter's row
 Bell Louisa, 11 Row 107
 *Borrett A. M., Apsley ter
British School, (see p 359)
 Brock Miss M. A., Southn
 Buston Sar., St. Geo.'s row
 Chamberlain Sus., Row 54
Charity School, Theatre
 plain; George Barrett and Miss M. E. Lewin
 Clark Miss, 2 Royal place
 Cox Sarah, Gorleston
 Crane Sarah, Conge
 Crickmer Mary, Gorleston
 Crockett S. M., Queen's pl
 *Cross Ann, 150 King st
 Durrant J., 33 Howard st
 Eller Miss, Russell square
 Emms Eliz., St. Peter's rd
 *Freeman S., Britannia ter
 French Miss, 2 Queen st
 Garson Louisa, King st
 Goodrick Misses, Mktp. l.
 *Grammar School, Rev. H.
 James Evans, M.A., and
 R. C. Harding
 Greaves Sarah, Row 60
 Green A. J., Regent road
 Green Rbla., George st

Hawkins Isabella (Unitrn.)

Gaol street

*Haywood Ann, Row 107
Hospital School, (see p 357)
 Hunt A. H., Broad row
 James S., Buckingham pl
 Jaynes A., 8 Albion ter
 *Jex Ellen M., 9 Sefton terrace, Southtown
 Kemp James, Caister rd
 Lettis Sarah, King street
 Lewin Miss, Maddeys bldgs
 Lincoln Har., North quay
National Schools, (p. 359)
 Newman Eliza, Conge
 Orfeur Mrs, Deane side
 *Partridge Rev. John, M.A.
 Mill lane, Southtown
 Porter H. A., Southptn. pl
 Plowright S.S., 133 King st
 Powell My. A., 33 Geo. st
 Pye Mrs, Row 121
 Ratcliffe E., Fuller's hill
 Roberts Jas. 105 Geo. st
School of Art, South quay;
 Patrick B. Brophy
School of Navigation,
 South quay; J. R. Jones
 Scott Lucy, Friar's lane
 *Sloman Isbla., Dene side Silvers Jane, 15 Howard st
 Simmons Jane, King st

Smith Jane Amelia, 4 Harrison's buildings

Stebbings Jane, Row 60
 *Suggate Mrs, 123 King st
 *Swann M. H., Queen st
 Tann Sarai, Regent road
 Thomas My., Church plain
 *Tomkins D. South quay
 Trorey Emma, Row 121
 *Tydeman L., Queen st
 Woodcock My. A., Row 50
 *Woolsey Mgt. E., King st
 *Woolsey S. & L., N. quay
 *Woolverton, M.A., King st AGENTS. (SHIP, &c.)
 Barber H. H., 10 S. quay
 Bradbeer S., Row 107
 Briggs Wm., 37 S. quay
 Butcher Mattw. & Sons, St.
 Peter's road
 Heriot R. R., Row 103
 Jermyn Daniel, 33 Well st
 Palmer G. J., Southtown
 Plummer J. B., Regent st
 Shelley & Co., 9 S. quay
 Stagge W. P., 61 Southtown
 Swann W.D., 12 Queen's rd
 Teasdel Henry, Southtown
 Teasdel Jas., South quay
 ANCHORSMITHS.
 Buckingham James, 20
 Friar's lane

Curtis Henry S., Row 123
Moore & Sons, S. Denes rd
ARCHITECTS.

Baker H. H., South Mkt. rd
Hulley T. S., St. Peter's row
Morant Alfred Wm., C. E.
(& town surveyr.) 27 Kg. st
ATTORNEYS.

Baker John, Queen street
Burroughs T. P., Ch. pln
Burton S. C., Priory plain Chamberlain C. H. (Boro' Coroner, &c.) 23 King st
Clarke W. B., 40 S. quay
Clowes John, 3 Regent st
Cobb James, 2 Regent st
Cory Chas. (town clerk),
26 King street

Cory Saml. Barnett, (ves. try clerk), 7 Regent st Costerton F. S., Queen st Cufaude J. L., (clerk of peace), 145 King street
Diver Chas. 12 Regent st
Ferrier F. W., 11 Regent st
Harmer H. R., 17 Regent st
Hodskinson Fdk., S. quay Holt Willm. (magistrates' clerk), 6 South quay
Lucas and Steward, Saint
George's row

Palmer Hy. 8 Regent st
Preston Isaac and Charles
Albert, Hall plain
Reynolds and Palmer, 28
Regent street

Sherrington Samuel Benj.
16 Fuller's hill

Worship W., 20 Regent st
AUCTIONEERS,

Estate Agents & Valuers.

Ansell Robert, 3 Pier ter
Aldred S., 9 Regent street
Carpenter Wm. 69 King st
De Caux J. W., Regent rd
Goodrick G. T., Market pl
Hickling R., Priory plain Pettingill Alfd., Regent st
Savage J. T., 51 King st
Spelman Hy. & Sml. W.,
Hall quay

Stagg Edw. 60 Howard st
BAKERS & SHOPKPRS.
(Marked* are also Confectioners.)

Archbold R. S., Blackfrs. rd
*Archer T., St. Peter's rd
Bales W. E., 7 Market pl
Banham Robert, Gorleston
Barrow Wm., Well street
*Beecroft Pet., 30 Chtte. st
*Beavor T. W., 15 Gaol st
Bellamy F., Gaol street

Bennett Robert, Gorleston
*Benslyn Ts., Marlbro' sq
Bishop John, Camden rd
*Boulter Hy., Northgt. st
Brady Edward, Row 60
Bristow Abm., Gorleston
Bundwell Wm., Row 45
*Burwood E. M., Regent st
Carrier W. P., Gaol street
Carter George, Norfolk ter
Chapman Wm., 51 Gaol st
Chasteney E., Albion ter
Chasteney J. E., Caister rd
Clarke Edm., 24 Gaol st
Claxon James, 36 Geo. st
Cole Wm., Pier place
Durrant Alfd., 88 King st
Edwards Dd., Southtown
*Ellerd Mary, King street
Feek John T., Row 34
Fleming T., Gorleston
Giles Geo. W., South quay
Gillings G., 70 George st
Goffin Robt., St. Nichls. rd
Hall James, Hall plain
Hallams Robert Hy. West
Nettle hill

Harbord J. S., 158 King st
Hastings Rd. B., Vict. pl
Hawkins J., Sayes corner
Hewitt Thomas, Gorleston
Houchen Charles, Laughing Image Corner

Houghton T. T., Gaol st
Howard My., Charlotte st
Howard Saml., 23 Geo. st
*Ives Saml. R. 143 Gaol st
*Ives & Son, Howard st
Jackson John, Moat road
Jay Francis, 65 King st
Jay J. B., Rainbow corner
*Johnson J., Market place

Johnson Josh., Howard st
Kemp Wm., Row 125
Larke W., 12 S. Market rd
Laws Joseph, Silk Mill rd
*Laws Noah, St. Nichls. rd
*Layton H. M., Southtown
McIvor J., 42 Howard st
Matthews B., 116 Gaol st
Mobbs Samuel, Market rd
Motts Benj., Alma road
*Nevell J. T., 4 Howard st
*Newark F. J., Chrltte. st
Oughton Rbt. W., Mkt. rd

Panchen C., S. Denes rd
*Pearce James, Broad row
Pracey James, Row 141
Pye Robt. S., St. Pet.'s rd
Rackham Chas., Saxon pl
*Reynolds G., Gorleston
Richards Hy., 126 Gaol st
Richmond R., Howard st

*Rivett Jas., Broad row
Roling W., Charlotte st
Rolling James, Laughing
Image corner

Runacre James, Row 123
Sayers Hannab, Gaol st
*Scott James A., King st
*Sharman John, King st
Sillis W. Isaac, Howard st
Smith Thos. 9 Howard st
*Taylor G., St. Peter's rd
Tingay J. W., 10 Mkt. row
Tooley Chas. 109 Geo. st
*Veale H. J., 176 King st
Watts Edw., 111 Geo. st
Watts John, Isabella sq
Wheeler J., Southtown
*Woodrow E., 45 King st
Worledge Wm., Nelson ter
BANKS.

East of England Bank,
Regent street, draw on London & Westminster;
G. W. Holmes, manager
Gurneys, Birkbeck, and Brightwen, Hall quay,
(draw on Barclay & Co.)

Lacon Sir E. H. K., Bart., Yonell, & Co., Hall quay,
(draw on Glynn & Co.)

National Provincial Bank of England, South quay, (draw on London Joint Stock); J. B. Bowden, manager

Savings' Bank, Market place; R. D. Barber, sec Post Office do., Hall quay Penny do., Market place, and Charlotte street
BASKET MAKERS.

Blake Robert Thos. & Son,
South Denes road
Ellis George, North quay
Gooch T., Church plain
Hayward Isaac, Howard st
Howlett J., Friar's lane
Lamb James, Market row
Moore Wm., Row 109
Paston Jas. jun., Gaol st
Revett Hy. W., Southtown
Rudd Thos. 45 George st
Watson James, Gaol street
Wells Henry, 84 King st
BATHING MACHINE OWNERS.

Brown Robert, Bath hill
Pestell J. S., N. Market rd
Smouton S., Havelock rd
Thompson Mrs Sophia, 2
Northumberland place
BLACKSMITHS.
Bacon G., Lancaster road

Beeching John & Henry,
South Denes road
Crane John Wm., Fish st
Dye Samuel, Stanley road
Flaxman R., North quay
Fryer Robert, Caister rd
Fulcher W., Faller's hill
Gooda T. W., Southtown
Hall William, Row 118
Hanneyssee J., Row 128
Harrison W. & H. Rodney rd
Harvey George, Row 136
Huke James, Row 142
King Dnl., South Denes rd
Long Samuel, Gorleston
Lovick T., St. Nicholas rd
Manning W., St. Nicholas rd
Masterson Wm., Gorleston
Mills & Blake, Southtown
Moore & Sons, S. Denes rd
Nichols H., St. Nicholas rd
Plane John, Blackfriars rd
Read John, Gorleston
Read Samuel, Gorleston
Skoyles W., Victoria road
Smith E., St. Peter's plain
Smith Robt. R., Gorleston
Springall Edward, White
Horse plain

Withers Joseph, Row 100

BOAT BUILDERS.

See also Shipbuilders.

Critten J., Cobham Island
Harrod R. J., Willow pl
Hastings Bros., S. Denes rd
Hastings Hy., South quay
Houghton Wm., N. quay
Larke H. J., Southtown
Layton T., Cobham Island
Parmenter Thos., N. quay
Price Alexander, 9 Conge
Rust John W., Southtown
Symonds R. J., Southtown
Taylor Thomas, Gorleston

BOAT OWNERS.

See also Ship Owners.

Allen James, Southtown
Annisson Robt., Southtown
Archbold H. W., Gorleston
Bayfield & Middleton, St.
Peter's road

Barnaby R. A., Queen's rd
Bennett Robert, Gorleston
Betts Thomas, Gorleston
Bland Arthur, Mariners' rd
Bland James, Cemetery rd
Blake George, Exmouth rd
Bonney Edward, Gorleston
Boulton Sl., Camden road
Brown C., Southtown
Brown H. A., Exmouth rd
Burgess G., Gorleston
Carler G. C. 45 South quay

Chilvers J., Gorleston
Cole Wm., Gorleston
Cutts Jas. 77 George st
Dawson J. 9 Regent road
Denton Wm., Gorleston
Durrant Thos., Gorleston
Fenn Rt. & B., Southtown
Fisk Benjamin, Gorleston
Foreman J. R., Nelson ter
Godbolt G., Lancaster rd
Hart John, Gorleston
Hawkins G. D., Charlotte st
Helsdon Wm., Queen's pl
Hudson Thos., Nelson ter
Ives James, Gorleston
Jones John, Lancaster rd
Leggett Richd., Gorleston
Mainprice John, Market pl
Middleton Js., Lancaster rd
Neale Stephen, 11 Bath pl
Norton Charles, Gaol st
Osborn Wm. 68 N. quay
Pitchers James, Apsley rd
Plumb Jas. 15 Vernon ter
Rivett J. G., Gorleston
Runniff J. J., Nelson road
Scales William, Row 18
Snell William, Southtown
Spilling Robert, Gorleston
Smith Wm., North quay
Stone A. D. 58 South quay
Swann H. King, Clarence rd
Swann Nathanl., Gorleston
Todd Thos. 42 Regent rd
Turrell Thos., Queen's rd
Warner Robert, Gorleston
Whiley Cphr., Gorleston
Whiley James, Gorleston
Willis Wm. Hy., Gorleston
Wilkins Wm., Southtown
Woods Charles, Gorleston
Woods Henry, Gorleston
Womack Wm., Southtown
Wright Benj., Gorleston
Yaxley Robert, Norfolk ter

BOOKBINDERS.

Cobb & Co. 14 Hall plain
Diboll J. Wm., Howard st
Maryson Francis, Row 101
Nall George, 182 King st
Paul Thomas, 181 Gaol st

BOOKSELLERS, PRINTERS. & STATNRS.

(* Printers only.)

Blake Brothers, Gaol st
Cobb Wm. & Co. 14 Hall quay
Cooper John, Hall quay
Denew J. M. 10 Regent st
Duncan A. 1 Market row
Eastoe Robt., Market row
Keevil Geo., 142 King st
Nall George, 182 King st
Offord D. D. (old) St Geo's rd

Paul Thomas, 181 Gaol st
*Purdy Jph. Hy., Hall quay
*Steer Chas. B., Regent rd
Welch Alfred, 160 King st
BOOT & SHOE MAKRS.
Allman Robert, Gorleston
Arnoup G. G. 24 Charlottest
Bailey Robert, 125 Gaol st
Baird James, Market row
Ball Jas., St. Peter's plain Banham William, Gorleston
Bee Robert, 35 Market pl
Bee Thomas, 152 Gaol st
Bell James, 6 Friar's lane
Bickers Wm. 16 Gaol st
Blyth William, 13 Gaol st
Brewer Geo., Charlotte st
Brooks Wm., Caister road
Brown Jeffery, Dowager pl
Bryanton John, 8 Market rd
Buckingham J., Blkfriars. rd
Bulley J. A., St. Peter's row
Bultitude G., St. Geo's. rd
Buston Hezh., 153 King st
Butler Rt., South Market rd
Butler Wm., St. Peter's rd
Cattee Robert, Fish street
Chaney C., Bulling's bldgs
Chapman J., Caister road
Cobb & Son, 6 George st
Coe David, 105 Gaol street
Cooper W., White Horse pln
Dawson William, 29 Charlotte street & Broad row
Day George, 9 Market rd
Dunn Edw., St. George's rd
Dunnall John, 175 Gaol st
Dunnell Geo., Charlotte st
Durrell Samuel, Gorleston
Ecclestone Wm., Caister rd
Edmonds John, Southtown
Feltham Kezia, Market pl
Fisk George, 128 Gaol st
Fletcher Rt. 110 King st
Frost Thomas, 113 Gaol st
Garbon John, S. Denes rd
Gaze Mark, Wilshire place
Goodrick Geo. Ths., Market place and 11 Market row
Gravenall C., North Mkt. rd
Grymes James, 4 Market pl
Hewett Thos. 31 Gaol st
Hewett Wm., Church plain
High William, 37 Gaol st
Howard Saml. 28 Well st
Howes Charles, Row 130
Irons William, Gorleston
Kelf Thos. Philip, Charlotte street and 169 King st
Kemp Wm. 3 Market row
Knight Wm. 35 Caister rd
Langley Geo., Gorleston
Langley Saml., Gorleston

Lark Arthur, 125 King st
 Martins Saml., 45 Gaol st
 Minter R., St. Andrew's pl
 Myhill Robert, 43 Gaol st
 Nash John, 33 King street
 Newton Wm., Market row
 Nichols Hy. W., Swirle's pl
 Nobb Edward, Row 85
 Nobbs Robt., Charlotte st
 Nolloth Wm., 173 King st
 Palmer Wm., 18 Howard st
 Panks Henry, Dene side
 Patterson Jas., Charlotte st
 Pitcher William, Nelson rd
 Rainer F., 47 King street
 Rand Wm. C. 138 King st
 Reader Rd., Broad row
 Reeve Jas. 75 Gaol street
 Rushmer Ths. W., Row 107
 Sacret Robt. 1 Broad row
 Sager Dnl., N. Market rd
 Self George, 166 King st
 Simmons William, Row 119
 Smith Jas. H., Fuller's hill
 Smith Job, Broad row
 Springall Geo., Albion rd
 Swanston Wm., Russell sq
 Theobald Benj., Russell sq
 Thrower Jas., 36 Gaol st
 Tripp Edw., Blackfriars rd
 Tripp John, Church plain
 Vince Thomas, Southend
 Vincent J., Gorleston
 Walesby S. J., St. Nichls' rd
 Walker Rbt. 163 Gaol st
 Welton John, Gorleston
 White P., White Horse pln
 Whiteman Robt., Gorleston
 Wilson G., 9 Northgate st
 Woodcock Rt., Southtown
 Wright James, Row 60
 Wright James, Gorleston
 Wright Rd., Church plain
BRAZIERS & TINNERS.
 Barber Samuel, Row 43
 Brock Eliza, Theatre plain
 Buxton James, Market rd
 Child Charles, Row 132
 Clowes Geo. W., Howard st
 Hammond Robt., Gorleston
 Hatch Job, 29 St. Nichls' rd
 Mayston John H., Row 134
 Smith Richd. 133 Gaol st
BREWERS & MALTSTERS.
 Barclay, Perkins, and Co.
 Rodney road & London;
 C. Brown, agent
 Bowden J., 22 South quay
 Ferrier Richard, Row 103
 Lacon Sir E. H. K. and Sons, Church plain
 Lubbock Chs. Rt. 70 King st
 Palmer Jas. H. 116 King st

Phillips Bros., Lancaster road and Stowmarket;
 J. Grayson, agent
 Steward, Patteson, Finch,
 & Co., North quay
 Tomlinson Jno., Howard st
BRICK, TILE, & LIME
 DEALERS.
 Barnes Samuel, North quay
 Goffin J. & Co., North quay
 Pratt Robert, North quay
 Spilling Wm. 28 Southtown
BRICKLAYERS, and Builders.
 (* Plasterers also.)

Arbon Daniel, Dene side
 Arbon George, Regent rd
 Baker J. & G., Clarence rd
 Bartram C. F., Caister road
 Bensly & Sons, Southtown
 Bull George, Gorleston
 Burwood W., Havelock rd
 Cockrill W., Southtown
 Emerson Jas., South mkt
 Howes E. & T., Dene side
 Jackson Henry, Nelson rd
 *Johnson E. O., Theatre pln
 Johnson John, King street
 Key John, 67 North quay
 Leggett James, Dene side
 Maddeys Jas., Albion road
 Nickerson Rbt. 23 Gaol st
 *Page Robert, Nelson rd
 Popay George, Gorleston
 *Pratt Jas. H. 61 North quay
 Pratt Robert, North quay
 Read Charles L., Row 52
 Sadler John, Gorleston
 Stanley John, Caister road
 Thompson Eliz., Roman pl
 Thompson Lnd., S. Mkt. rd
 Wiseman & Grey, Gaol st
 Wright Jph., 55 Howard st
BRUSHMAKERS.
 Ellis Rt. Bean, Broad row
 Palmer Robt. 8 Church plain
 Rigby A. & Co., Market pl
BUTCHERS.

(* are Pork Butchers.)
 Aldis James, Southtown
 Bales Chpr. E., Market pl
 Barnes Susan, Market pl
 Beckett Wm., St. Peter's rd
 Bellamy Chas. 12 Caister rd
 Bellamy Dnl. W. 136 King st
 Bellamy David, Gorleston
 Bellamy Winter, 61 King st
 *Blake James, Gorleston
 Botwright Fras., Market pl
 Burman E., St. Peter's rd
 Cullum James, Gaol street
 Callum Stephen, 19 Gaol st
 *Cutting Chas. 81 George st

Draper Joseph, 156 King st
 Draper Jph. jun. Gorleston
 *Edwards J. D. 143 King st
 Faulke Wm. 9 Friar's lane
 Girling J. W. 15 Howard st
 Gunton J. B., Market pl
 Gunton Saml., Market pl
 Gunton Simon, Market pl
 Gunton S. jun. Market pl
 Hacon A. T., N. Market rd
 Hacon Hy. 98 George st
 Hacon Hy. T. 103 George st
 Hacon Jas. T., Blk. friars. rd
 *Hall Abm., St. Nichls. rd
 Howard John, S. Market rd
 *Itelman Chas. 70 Gaol st
 *Johnson Robt. 118 King st
 Lamb Ann, 139 Gaol st
 Lamb Wm., St. George's rd
 *March Mary, 18 George st
 *Marston Thos. 9 N. quay
 *Martin Geo. 153 Gaol st
 *Mayers John, 89 Gaol st
 Motts Geo. 8 N. Market rd
 *Musket Geo. 83 George st
 Neve Thos., St. George's rd
 *Newman Saml., Gorleston
 *Preston Edw. 5 Victoria pl
 Shipston S. J. 42 S. quay
 Smith James, Havelock rd
 Smith Robert, Gorleston
 Smith Robert, 7 Gaol st
 *Southgate Jacob, Chlotte. st Swann Samuel, Market pl
 Swann W. C., Market pl
 Winter Ann, Market place
 *Wright Jph. 55 Howard st
 *Yaxley S. A., N. Market rd
CABINET MAKERS

and Upholsterers.
 Albrow Wm. 63 Howard st
 Botwright Chas., Regent st
 Brooks Thos., Charlotte st
 Brown & Cox, Charlotte st
 Butler Jas. W., Charlotte st
 Burton Geo. M., Southtown
 Cady would Hy., Blk. frs. rd
 Clarke Richd., Charlotte st
 Clayton John, 175 King st
 Devereux Wm., St. Nichls. rd
 Dexter John, Row 45
 Durrant Edm., Duncan pl
 Forder C. 6 Harrison's bldgs
 Forder Fdk., Church plain
 Guyton Geo. 60 N. quay
 Gyton Thos. 151 Gaol st
 Hickling & Hallday, Priory plain
 Howlett John, 21 Gaol st
 Lake Thomas C. Row 54
 Maddison Sml., Row 110
 Newark Hy., 32 George st
 Norman S. J. 14 Market pl

Poppy T. 50 Charlotte st
 Salmon Richard, Gorleston
 Smith Rbt. S., Charlotte st
 Waller Geo. 44 George st
 Waller Wm. 4 Queen street
 Withers Rbt., North quay
CARPET DEALERS.
 Johnson & Sons, Market row
 Palmer G. B., Market pl
CARVERS & GILDERS.
 Kemp Rbt., Church plain
 Ladbroke Rbt., Row 88
 Latham E. & R., Howard st
 Woolby Geo., North quay
CHEESE, BUTTER, &
 BACON FACTORS.

(See Grocers, &c.)

Jackson Wm., North quay
 Palford G. 16 Market row
CHEMISTS & DRUGSTS.
 Blanchflower T. C., S. quay
 Bond John, 183 King st
 Coble John, 63 George st
 Cross Valentine, Regent st
 Davy Fredk. 157 King st
 Floyd James, Market pl
 Goddard H., Wht. Horse pln
 King F. R. M., Gorleston
 Lee John, Kimberley ter
 Mabson Wm., Market pl
 Manthorp G. S., 14 King st
 Martin Rbt. F. 8 King st
 Owles John, Hall quay Poll Wm. Sheppard (phar- maceutical) 29 Regent rd
 Silvers Robert, 55 Gaol st
 Skoulding George S. F.

1 Charlotte street

Stagg Jas. Hy., Broad row
 Steward & Son, Market pl
 Suggate H. E., St. Peter's rd
 Walpole Wm., St. Peter's rd
CLOTHES DLRS. (Old.)
 Beets John, 89 Gaol street
 Burman Chas. 34 George st
 Calver My. A. 124 Gaol st
 Emanuel Isaiah, Chlotte. st
 Hewitt Wm., Church plain
 Jones Robert, 73 George st
 Monsey Mary, 91 George st
 Newark John, 22 Charlotte st
 Robinson Ann, Gaol street
 Tennant Robert, Row 140

COACH BUILDERS.

Borrett Henry, Southtown
 Ratcliffe John, Fuller's hill
 Rayson Geo., Stanley road
 Simmons D., Priory plain
 West John D., Market rd
COAL MERCHANTS.
 Allan John, Southtown
 Barber H. H., South quay
 Bayfield D. S., Dowager pl

Bessey & Hylton, S. quay
 Blake & Son, Hall quay
 Brown W. P. & Co., S. town
 Fish James A., Albert pl
 Foreman W. J., Hall plain
 Jay Benjamin, King street
 Knox George, South quay
 Miller & Hind, Southtown
 Osborn Wm. 68 North quay
 Plummer J. B., Regent st
 Read T. W. & Co., N. quay
 Richmond & Lark, S. town
 Spratt Edward, Gorleston
 Watling R. S., Brandon ter
CONFECTIONERS.

(See Bakers.)

CONSULS (VICE).

Austria and Russia, J. W.
 Shelley, South quay
 France, A. A. Desfougerais,
 18 Regent road
 Italy, Greece, Ottoman Empire, &c. Butcher & Sons,
 Saint Peter's road
 Prussia, Spain, Netherlands, Belgium, &c.
 E. H. L. Preston, N. quay
COOPERS.

Artherton James, Gorleston
 Barker W. W., Blk friars. rd
 Brown Edward, Row 145
 Brown John, Row 137
 Chapman Jas., Blk friars. rd
 Coleman E., St. Nicholas rd
 Ellis and White, Row 102
 Fish John, Row 128
 Godbolt John, Southtown
 Gytton Wm. 37 George st
 Moore John L., Row 99
 Paston James, Isabella sq.
 St. George's road
 Valiant Charles, Friar's ln
CORK CUTTERS.

Curtis Wm., Church plain
 Palmer Sar., White Hrs. pln
 Rigby A. & Co. 21 Market pl
 Simmons Philip, Priory pln
CORN & FLOUR DLRS.
 Dye Chas. 55 Caister road
 Freeman C., Charlotte st
 Gambling H. H., Southtown
 Goldsmith S., Theatre plain
 Greenacre J., Wht. Hrse. pln
 Hammond Nath., Gorleston
 Harbord Wm., N. Market rd
 Howlett Benj., Rodney rd
 Lacon Wm., Friar's lane
 Parker Wm., Caister road
 Perry Wm. 42 Gaol street
 Powley M., Seymour place
 Press Geo. 39 Fuller's hill
 Rising E., South Mkt. rd
 Sexton Wm., St. George's rd

Suffling & Son, Church pln
 Tooley W. & R., Church pln
 Wall Wm. 3 Northgate st
CORN MERCHANTS.
 Barber John & Son, North quay and Norwich
 Beevor Wm., Southtown
 Bessey Wm. Henry, South
 Beach Lodge
 Bunn T. & J. W., Southtown
 Culley and Hart, Regent street and Norwich
 Dowson B. & Son., Hall quay
 Dowson Septs., Southtown
 Jackson Wm., North quay
 Nichols J. (agt.) Caister rd
 Parker Wm., Mill lane, S.
 Press George, Southtown
 Read T. W. & Co., N. quay
 Skinner W. B., Nelson rd
 Smith Edward, Southtown
 Watling R. S., Brandon ter
CORN MILLERS.

Aldous George, Gorleston
 Beevor Wm. Nelson road
 Cooper Henry, Southtown
 Gambling H. H., Southtown
 Hammond H., Gorleston
 Hammond N., Gorleston
 Parker Wm., Mill lane, S
 Press Eliz., Mill lane, S
 Rumball J. G., N. Denes
 Sexton Wm., George st
 Skinner W. B., Nelson rd
 Tooley W. & R., Church pln
CURRIERS & LEATHER CUTTERS.

Bly Hy. 33 Market place
 Cobb & Son, 6 George st
 Cobb John, Charlotte st
 Doughty Cs. 5 White Hs. pln
 Freeman Ts. G., Howard st
 Nash John, 33 King street
CUTLERS

And Hardware Dealers.

Artis James, Howard st
 Sumner W., St. Geo's. row, E
 Whittleton E. St. Nichls'. rd
DYERS.

Borking Jas., 82 George st
 Harrison J. W., Broad row
 Hubbard J. 135 Gaol st
 Palmer J., Church plain
EATING HOUSES.
 Cutting My. A., Charlotte st
 Ellis Elizabeth, Gaol st
 Hansell Benj., 78 S. quay
 Laxon John, Gaol street
 Olley Jas., St. Peter's rd
 Pearce James, Broad row
 Plattford Jas., Howard st
 Poppy T., 50 Charlotte st
 Read Hy. J., Charlotte st

Shales Wm., Charlotte st
Steel Richd. 57 Howard st
Thompson Jas., Market pl
ESTATE AGENTS.

Aldred Saml. 9 Regent st
Bateley S. G. 75 Shtown
Buston J. T. 4 Fuller's hill
Carpenter W. 27 Regent st
Crowe Fredk., Regent rd
Goodrick G. T., Market pl
Hulley T. S., St. Peter's rw
Pettingill A., Regent st
Spelman H. & S. W., Hall qy
Stagg E., 60 Howard st
FANCY DEALERS.

Aldred & Son, 65 George st
Andrews Sus. 12 King st
Barber T. R., Market place
Barnes Elizabeth, Gaol st
Blyth H., 32 Market place
Carrall Sarah, 181 King st
Gourlay D. A., Market rw
Hastings S. & Mary Anne,
Market row

Mack Wm. L., 12 Market rw
Miller Car., Church plain
Salmon John, Gorleston
Seaman F. D. & M., King st
Smith Fdk. 4 Market row Squirrel Rt., Market row
Taylor H. 17 King street
Teasdel My. A., King st
Wooltorton & Jane Mkt. row

FIRE & LIFE OFFICES.
The Agents' Offices will be found in the Alphabetical Directory.

Amicable, T. P. Burroughs
Anchor, J. Mainprice
Argus, H. & S. W. Spelman
Atlas, W. Laws
Britannia, A. W. Morant
British Empire, J. F. Neave
British Equitable, W. Tuttle
Briton, W. D. Burton
City of Glasgow, J. W. Neave
Colonial, F. S. Costerton
County, & C. J. Humphries
Eagle, John Clowes
Economic, R. D. Barber English Widows; Travellers & Marine; Accidental, Live Stock, & Scottish Provincial, F. W. Ferrier
Essex & Suffolk Equitable, and National Provincial,
S. Aldred
Globe, E. H. L. Preston
Guarantee and Union, G.
W. Holmes
Guardian, W. Mabson
Imperial, W. C. Reynolds and J. L. Cufaude

Law Union, T. P. Burroughs and H. Palmer
Legal and Commercial, W.
H. Williams

Life Assurance of Scotland,
Henry Goodwin
Liverpool & London, J. H.
Norman & Jas. Cobb
London, Wm. Cobb & Co.
Manchester, Star, & Accidental, R. B. Norman Minerva, R. M. Heriot
National, Henry Goodwin
Naval & Military, J. Cobb
Norwich Union, J. Clowes,
W. Glanfield, W. Holt,
and R. B. Norman Phoenix and Pelican, Blake
and Son

Plate Glass, J. H. Norman
Railway Passgrs. S. Aldred
Royal Farmers F. R. M. King
Royal Insurance, J. Cobb Scottish Equitable, Butcher
and Son
Scottish Union, E. W. Last
Suffolk Allnc. E. R. Palmer
Sun, W. D. Pettingill
United Kingdom, J. Baker
Universal, W. T. Clark
Victoria and Legal, J. T.
Buston

Westminster, E. D. Louttid
West of England J. Baker Yorkshire, F. Crowe

FISH CURERS AND MERCHANTS.

Adams R., Rainbow corner
Adamson P. 21 St. Peter's rd
Amis Henry, York road
Arbon George, Albion rd
Arbon J. N., St. George's rd
Archbold H. W., Gorleston
Ayers James, Nelson road
Balls Richard, Market rd
Barnaby Rt. A., Queen's rd
Barnby F., Exmouth pl
Bartram C. E., St. Geo's. ter
Bately Benj. 2 Cobb's pl
Bayfield Edm. St. Peter's rd
Bayfield S., Row 30
Bean Rt., Blackfriars road
Bennett Robert, Gorleston
Betts, Thomas, Gorleston
Blake Robert T. and Son,
South Denes road
Blake W., St. Nicholas' rd
Bland & Debbage, Blkfrs. rd
Bland Jas., Cemetery rd
Bonney Edwd., Gorleston
Boreham J., Hall quay
Boulton Saml., Camden rd
Brock S., Portland passage

Brown Alfred, Row 112
Brown Edward, Row 145
Brown Fras., Clarence rd
Brown H. A., Exmouth rd
Brown Rt. & A., Row 112
Buck James, Gorleston
Burton G., Lancaster road
Carr Wm., Market road
Chapman J., 16 Blkfrs. rd
Chapman Wm., 16 do
Chilvers J., Gorleston
Clark J., 33 South quay
Clarke G. A., S. Denes rd
Colby M., 96 Gaol street
Colby Wm. Jane place
Cole T., Mariners' road
Cole Wm., Gorleston
Colman Thos., Exmouth rd
Curtis Wm., Church plain
Darnell James, Row 9
Davison James, Friar's In Denton Wm., Gorleston
Downing H., Friar's lane
Downing T. W., Alma rd
Durrant Thos., Gorleston
Dye Charles, 2 Alma road
Dyson & Colby, Row 137
Fenn Rt. & B., St. Peter's rd
Fish Fdk., 41 N. Market rd
Fish Jer., Southtown
Fisk Benjamin, Gorleston
Fisk Robert, 127 Gaol st
Fisk Samuel, Gorleston
Fisk Wm., 151 King st
French Thos., 109 King st
Frosdick C., Market road
Frosdick J. H. Market rd
Garrod Dd., 6 St. Peter's rd
Garwood Robt., Row 29
George Robert, Southtown
George Wm., Southtown rd
Giles Geo. W., 60 S. quay
Gowen J., 39 Howard st
Grief James, Row 138
Grief Wm., Grosvenor rd
Gurney M., Caister road
Hart John, Gorleston
Harrison W. & H., Rodney rd
Holliday D. H., Blkfrs. rd
Horth James, Row 27
Hudson T., 5 Nelson ter
Ives James, Gorleston
Jarrad Fdk., 60 George st
Johnson J., Camden road
Johnson S., Camden road
King A., 24 St. Peter's rd
Lamb Jas., 13 Market row
Legood Robt., Victoria rd
Lummis J., Havelock rd
Mainprice J., Market pl
Matson Wm., Gorleston
Minns James, Row 135
Moore William, Row 910

Neale Stepn., 11 Bath pl
 Neave Jph. F., Caister rd
 Nichols E. J., 101 Gaol st
 Nockolds R., Blkfrirs. rd
 Parker W., 5 Geneve ter
 Partridge E., N. Market rd
 Pigney Samuel, Row 78
 Plumb Js., 15 Vernon ter
 Powell Benj., Albert place
 Powell B., jun., South qy
 Pye Wm. B., 33 Gaol st
 Rivett J. G., Gorleston
 Royal G., Havelock road
 Runniff J. J., Bath place
 Salmon J. St. Peter's row
 Savage J. T., 151 King st
 Seago S., South Mrkt. rd
 Self Jas., Moyses's alley
 Shuckford I., 10 Britan.ter
 Skinner J., Blackfriars rd
 Smith W., North quay
 Snell William, Southtown
 Spilling Robt. Gorleston
 Stone A. D., South quay
 Stone Thomas, Gorleston
 Swan Hy. K., Clarence rd
 Swan N., St. Nicholas' rd
 Swan W. K., Neptune st
 Swan W. C., Market place
 Thirkettle J., Apollo walk
 Thomas Joseph, Gaol st
 Topps Thos. Market road
 Turrell J., Camden road
 Turrell T., Blkfrirs road
 Veale H., Blackfriars road
 Veale H. J., 176 King st
 Utting W., Nelson road
 Wade William, Alma road
 Watson F. L., 19 N. quay
 Watts Wm., Camden road
 Whiley C., Gorleston
 Wightman A.W., Gorleston
 Wood William, Row 118
 Wood Simon, Row 41
 Woodger J., Nelson road
 Woods Charles, Gorleston
 Woods H., Gorleston
 Wright B., Gorleston
 Yaxley John, Caister road
 Yaxley S. A., Market road
 Youngs J. S., Nelson road
FISHMONGERS.
 Beales My. A., Fishmarket
 Chapman S., Portland pl
 Durrant Rt. R. 16 St. Peter rd
 Gurney M., White Horse pln
 Harvey Isaac, Fishmarket
 Hogg Daniel, Row 127
 Jarrad Fdk., 60 George st
 Lark J., 37 St. Peter's rd
 Leyton Michael, Fishmkt
 Millican John, Fishmarket
 Runniff Eliz., Fishmarket

Runniff J. J., Nelson road
 Scales Robt., Fishmarket
 Soames H., Rainbow corner
 Yaxley James, Fishmarket
FISH SALESMEN.
 Collier & Malden, South qy
 DeCaux J. W., Regent rd
 Edwards E., St. Jas'. ter
 Freeman and Bayly, 3 St.
 Peter's road
 Giles G. W., South quay
 Mann W. St. George's rd
 Savage J. T., King street
FISHING TACKLE
DEALERS.
 Barber T. R. Market place
 Budds J. H., 2 Howard st
 Page P. W., 64 Howard st
FRUITERERS.
 Balls Benj. B., King street
 Byford Geo., 32 George st
 Chapman J., Theatre pln
 Cubitt S. J., St. Nicholas' rd
 Durrant Rt., St. Peter's rw
 Durrant Wm., 16 King st
 Fisk H., Market row
 Flower J. G., Market row
 Hawkins G. D., Charlotte st
FURNITURE BROKRS.
 Barnes H., Church plain
 Bitton J., Charlotte street
 Botwright J., Gaol street
 Brown & Cox, Charlotte st
 Ceiley Thos., 26 Geo. st
 Chapman Wm., Howard st
 Forder M. & H., Charlotte st
 Forder Robert, Row 20
 Gooch Dd., 164 Gaol st
 Hickling and Hallday,
 Priory plain
 Howlett J., 21 Gaol st
 Mouse B. P., 80 George st
 Neale W., Charlotte street
 Newark J., Charlotte st
 Shingles James, Conge
 Steward Chpr., King street
 Trory Wm., Church plain
 Wells James, 126 King st
FURRIERS.
 Bax Elizabeth, Alma road
 Bond Val., 110 Gaol st
 Livingston & Son, 1 King st
 Waters Azh., 6 Market row
GAME DEALERS.
 Balls B. B., 159 King st
 Durrant Wm., 16 King st
 Watson Geo., Fuller's hill
GARDENERS.
 Brown Robert, Gorleston
 Bulman S., Northgate
 Chapman J., Theatre pln
 Cutting E., Church plain
 Durrant G., Southtown

Fransham J., Apollo walk
 Goose R., Ormond road
 Ives Jonathan, Gorleston
 King W., Southtown
 King William, Row 97
 Margetson H., S. Market rd
 Marshall Ed., North Quay
 Palmer J., Church plain
 Wales Charles, Southtown
 Youell and Co., Caister rd and 1 Market place
GAS FITTERS.
 Calver C. W., St. Geo's. rw
 Doughty T. W., 180 Gaol st
 Garrod Dd. Charlotte st
 Gray T. E., 144 King st
GINGER BEER MKRS.
 Ives S. R., 143 Gaol street
 Ives & Son, Howard st
 Miles Rt. T., North quay
 Pidgeon Joseph, Row 54
 Sayer Thomas, Southtown
GLASS, CHINA, &c.
DEALERS.
 Barber T. R., Market pl
 Burton E., St. Nicholas' rd
 Field M., 119 King street
 Griffiths A., St. Peter's rd
 Palk Thos., N. Market row
 Pike Maria, Market row
 Pye Robert, 145 Gaol st
 Rumble W. G., 19 King st
 Wade Hy. R., 29 Gaol st
GROCERS & TEA DLRS
 Beckett T., St. Nicholas' rd
 Betts Alfred, 171 King st
 Blagg T. H., Market row
 Bumpstead R., 8 Market pl
 Burton James, 4 King st
 Carr O., Lancaster road
 Chilvers J., Charlotte st
 Clowes J., Hall quay
 Davenport W. 31 Mrkt. pl
 Davy J. W., St. Geo's. rd
 Doughty T. D. 7 Northgate
 Fenner H. 63 South quay
 Freeman C., Charlotte st
 Guyton Wm. 37 George st
 Hacon W. C., White Hs. pln
 Howes E., Gaol street
 Johnson R. S., Southtown
 Jolly Wm., 34 Market pl
 Laws Wm. 62 George st
 Lessey Saml. 129 King st
 Little Wm. 25 Market pl
 Lorimer J. 15 Market pl
 Martin W., Gorleston
 Mason Geo. C. 30 King st
 Norton A. C. 21 Market rw
 Norton R. P., Blackfriars rd
 Osborne Thos., Broad row
 Page James, Gorleston
 Page Wm. J. 14 Gaol st

Rant Geo. 3 Market place
 Rant Jph., Broad row
 Rising Wm., St. Peter's rd
 Sewell & Hilton, 28 Mkt. pl
 Snoad Wm. 1 George st
 Springall Benj. 2 Albion rd
 Simmons E., King street
 Smith T. 9 Howard street
 Tuttle Henry, 179 King st
 Walton and Overend, 23
 Market pl & 1 Hall quay
 Watson Jas. 24 George st
 Whur Robt., Trafalgar ter
 Wise Edwin, 56 Gaol st
 Woodrow N. F. 28 Gaol st
 Wright Robt. 52 King st
GUN MAKERS.

Boreham J. B. 1 Hall qy
 Morter E., Northumbld. pl
 Sawyer J., Fuller's hill
HABERDASHERS.

Barker C., Market row
 Bateman M. A., Market rw
 Crane Henry, Regent st
 Bulwer E. T. 22 Mkt. row
 Foreman E., Broad row
 Gourlay D. A., Market row
 Harrison Js., 46 Charlottest
 Heath Louisa, Market row
 Hewitt S. L., Apsley road
 Hunter P., 42 Fuller's hill
 Mack W. L., 12 Market rw
 Miller Car., Church plain
 Pestell H. E., 6 Broad row
 Seaman F. D. and Martha,
 31 King street

Singleton Hy. 105 Geo. st
 Smith Fredk., Market row
 Squirrell Rt., Market row
 Stubbs Jas., 124 King st
 Wooltorton and Jane, 28
 Market row

HAIRDRESSERS

And Perfumers.

Andrews Sus. 12 King st
 Barnes Chas. 1 George st
 Breeze Fdk., Napoleon pl
 Budds J. H. 2 Howard st
 Chase J. B., Friar's lane
 Child Wm. 57 Gaol street
 Cole John F., Church pln
 Dillistone J. 3 Gaol street
 Fisk George, North quay
 Fromow G., Charlotte st
 Fulcher B., St. Peter's row
 Fulcher Edw., Market pl
 Harris William, Gorleston
 Holliday D. H., King st
 Holliday Wm., Church pln
 Holmes G. M. 148 Gaol st
 Howard B., Market place
 Hunt Fredk. Market row
 Ingram R., 4 Northgate

Layton W. B., Theatre pln
 Morse Charles, Gorleston
 Page P. W. 64 Howard st
 Scotter J., St. Peter's road
 Smith Jas. 64 George st
 Taylor Henry, 17 King st
HAM, &c., CURERS.
 Combes M. 87 Gaol street
 Deex Thos. 2 Fuller's hill
 Herring J. G. 161 King st
HATTERS.

Bacon Rt. P., Howard st
 Cocks and Son, 7 King st
 Lawn E. J., Broad row
 Moore Thos., 174 King st
 Nuthall C. C., Market pl
 Starling J., Market row
 Walsh J. 61 Howard st
 Watson Edw. 15 King st
HAY &c. DEALERS.
 Chaplin Robt., Dene side
 Calthorpe E. D., Southtown
 Day Geo. 9 Market road
 Gibbs Jonas, Gorleston
 Goodwin Rd., Havelock rd
HORSE, CHAISE, GIG, &c. OWNERS.

(See also Coach Builders.)
 Colman Ts., St. Geo's. rd
 Coman W. 1 St. Peter's rd
 Crisp Edmund, Row 104
 Drackett R. F. 36 Saint
 Peter's road

George Robert, Southtown
 Haggis W., South Mkt. rd
 King Henry, 16 Market pl
 Limmer Samuel, Gorleston
 Martin Js. 13 Flushing ter
 Mayhew John, Hall quay
 Muskett Geo. 83 George st
 Ratcliffe J., Fuller's hill
 Smith Rt., St. Nicholas' rd
 Steward J., Neptune ter
 Thetford Sl., St. Geo's. rd
 Yaxley Rt. 8 Norfolk ter
HOTELS, INNS, AND TAVERNS.

Albert, Christopher Postle,
 South Denes road
 Albion, J. Holl, Fuller's hill
 Albion, J. Gyton, Nelson rd
 Anchor & Hope, William
 Beales, St. Peter's road
 Anchor and Hope, George
 Burgess, Gorleston
 Anchor & Hope, William
 Bristow, Church plain
 Angel Hotel, Jno. Garratt,
 Market place
 Angel, John King, S. quay
 Anson's Arms, Jas. Libbis,
 Southtown
 Barge, Wm. Bacon, Hall qy

Barking Fishery, William
 George, Southtown road
 Barking Smack, James
 Howard, South beach
 Bath Hotel, Matthew Hy.
 Winder, North beach
 Bear, E. Smith, Southtown
 Bell and Crown, George C.
 Carter, South quay
 Black Lion, John Fulcher,
 Queen street
 Black Swan, Fdk. Harris,
 Howard street
 Blue Anchor, Robt. Thos.
 Joyce, Market place
 Britannia, Samuel Bowen,
 South Market road
 Rritannia, Dd. Brown, S. qy
 British Lion, S. S. Smith,
 36 Market place
 Buck, E. Leggett, Hall qy
 Bull, R. Watson, Mkt. pl
 Bush, J. Pumfrey, S. quay
 Camden Tavern, John
 Beverley, Camden road
 Carpenters' Arms, Sophia
 Brewer, Howard street
 Cattle Market, Mary A.
 Hickling, Priory plain Champion, Anne Boatwright, King street
 City of London, Edward Routledge, Charlotte st
 Coach and Horses, Eliz.
 Thurlow, Caister road
 Cock, J. Paston, Gaol st
 Crown, Harris Wilshak,
 Nelson road
 Crown, Seaman, Grimmer and Co. 177 King street
 Crown and Anchor, John Franklin, Hall quay
 Dog & Duck, J. Cox, S. quay
 Duke's Head, Mary A.
 Burgess, Gorleston
 Duke's Head Hotel, John
 Mayhew, Hall quay
 Duke of Sussex, B. Harris,
 Market place
 Earl Grey, Jerh. Suffling,
 Gorleston
 Earl St. Vincent, George
 Woolsey, King street
 East and West Flegg, J.
 Brightin, Northgate st
 Elephant and Castle, J. C.
 Bartram, Market place
 Feathers, Chpr. Spashett,
 Gorleston
 Feathers, Sarah Walker,
 Market road
 Ferry Boat, Eliz. Hurren,
 Southtown

- First & Last, John Teasdel, South quay
 Fishing Boat, Edward Ablett, Gaol street
 Founders' Arms, Wm. O. Longhurst, Gaol street
 Fourteen Stars, William Mason, Gaol street
 Gallon Pot, George Pope, Gaol street
 Gallon Can, Geo. Shreeve, South quay
 Gallon Can, Robert Green, Fuller's hill
 George & Dragon, James Blogg, Church plain
 George & Dragon, Eliz. Maryson, Gorleston
 Golden Anchor, W. Howes, Queen street
 Golden Ball, Wm. Helsdon, George street
 Golden Lion, Wm. Prime, George street
 Grapes, Chas. J. Bullen, George street
 Greyhound, Edward D. Colthorpe, Southtown
 Guardian Angel, Jas. Pestell, Southtown
 Half Moon, H. King, Mkt. pl
 Hearty Tar, Sarah Harrison, Albion road
 Holkham Hotel, James Cattermole, North beach
 Horse & Groom, G. Johnson, Market road
 Horse and Groom, James Last, Northgate street
 Horse and Groom, James Mayes, Gorleston
 Jamaica Stores, Maria Johnson, King street
 Jolly Farmers, Geo. Cady, Northgate street
 Jolly Tar, Robert Scott, Rodney road
 Jolly Waterman, J. Brown, Fuller's hill
 King's Arms, Jno. Riches, Northgate street
 King's Head, T. Elkington, 48 King street
 King's Head, John Mainprice, Market place
 Lion & Lamb, Isc. Reading, King street
 Liverpool Tavern, Chltte. Mace, Gaol street
 London Tavern, Mary A. Boatwright, Gaol street
 Lord Collingwood, John Bessey, North Quay
 Lord Nelson, Benj. Bessey, North quay
 Marine Hotel, J. Goulder, South beach
 Mariners' Tavern, Frances Mobbs, Howard street
 Mariners' Compass, Nathl. E. Page, South quay
 Market Gates, Robt. Key, Market road
 Market Tav. Robert Cater, Market place
 Mite, J. M. Wood, Geo. st
 Nelson, John Rackham, King street
 Nelson's Monument, Thos. Lane, South Denes
 Newcastle Tavern, Benj. Powell, South quay
 New Fountain, Wm. Denton, Gaol street
 New Queen's Head, Geo. K. Harley, Howard st
 Norfolk Hotel, Matthew H. Winder, North Beach
 Norfolk Tavern, Charles Howard, Gaol street
 Norfolk & Norwich Arms, T. Colman, St. Geo's. rd
 Northumberland Arms, C. Martins, Nelson road
 Norwich Arms, Jno. Plane, North quay
 Odd Fellows, John Butterfield, Gaol street
 Old White Lion, William Howes, King street
 Penrice Arms, John Thos. Savage, King street
 Pleasure Boat, Robt. Laird, North quay
 Prince Albert, Isaac Hayward, Howard street
 Prince Regent, J. Haines, Gaol street
 Princess Charlotte, Mary Chamberlin, George st
 Queen's Arms, G. Burton and Son, Southtown
 Queen's Arms, Joseph Priestley, Havelock rd
 Queen's Head, Charles I. Garwood, Charlotte st
 Queen Victoria, J. Wm. Driscoll, Caister road
 Queen Hotel, Chas. John Ablitt, Regent road Railway Hotel, Elizabeth Mingay, North quay
 Railway Tavern, Edward Brown, North quay
 Railway Bowling Green, Ts. Parmenter, N. quay
 Rainbow, R. Adams, Quay
 Red Lion, John Francis, Gorleston
 Red Lion, Sarah E. Plane, Gaol street
 Regent Tavern, Chas. Callow, Regent road
 Rifle Volunteer, Matthew Stephenson, Dene side
 Rising Sun, Rbt. Annison, Southtown
 Ropemakers' Arms, Meditation Wells, Charlotte st
 Rose and Crown, Henry Frosdick, Charlotte st
 Rose and Thistle, Thomas Bullemore, Gaol street
 Rose, Elizabeth Mary Ann Barnes, 11 King street
 Royal Exchange, George Knox, South quay
 Royal Hotel, Elizabeth Sizeland, South beach
 Royal Oak, William Miller, Hall plain
 Royal Standard, William Wright, North beach
 Royal Standard (New), W. T. Johnson, St. Peter's rd
 Rumbold Arms, Stephen L. Cox, Southtown
 St. George's Tavern, John Walker, King street
 St. George's Tavern, Sml. Goodwin, St. Geo's. rd
 St. John's Head, Joshua Purkis, North quay
 Salvage Boat, Samuel Denton, Gorleston
 Saracen's Head, Thomas W. Clements, Church pln
 Ship, Ths. Stone, Gorleston
 Ship, Edw. Nutman, Gaol st
 Silk Mills, Frederick Watson, St. Nicholas' road
 Sir Samuel Hood (empty) Charlotte street
 Sons of Commerce, Robert Webb, South quay
 South Star, Jane Brown, South quay
 Spread Eagle, Jas. Palmer, King street
 Star Hotel, Wm. Shales, Hall quay
 Star and Garter, Edward Porter, Hall quay
 Steam Packet, Henry Savory, Hall quay
 Steam Packet, B. Burton, North quay
 Steam Packet, Charles Blaxell, South beach

Suffolk Tavern, Benjamin Gibson, Gaol street
 Swan-with-two-Necks, My. A. Ellis, Market place
 Tanners' Arms, Tereza Forder, Union road
 Theatre Tavern, John Davies, Theatre plain Three Herrings, William Gedge, South quay
 Three Tuns, E. Roof, S. town
 Tomlinson's Arms, David Ward, Gaol street
 Trafalgar Tavern, William Balls, Victoria road
 Trinity Arms, John Andrews, South Denes rd
 Turk's Head, William H. Draper, Gaol street
 Vauxhall Gardens, John Bartram, Acle road
 Victoria Gardens, Chas. J. Ablitt, Blackfriars road
 Victoria Hotel, Saml. Balls, Kimberley terrace
 Victoria Tavern (empty) Charlotte street
 Vine, O. Woods, Howard st
 Waggon & Horses, Robert Bacon, Caister road
 Waterloo Tavern, John Girling, St. Peter's road
 Waterman's Arms, S. J. Sparrow, North quay
 Weaver's Arms, Sarah Read, Market place
 Wheel of Fortune, James Baker, George street
 White Horse, Ann Seeley, Gorleston
 White Horse, John Howes, King street
 White Horse, Richard B. Shore, White Horse pln
 White Lion, Mary Balls, King street
 White Lion, Wm. Thomas Leggett, Gorleston
 White Swan, Richard G. Parmenter, North quay
 White Swan, Catherine King, South quay
 Wm. IV., Wm. Cole, Gorlston
 William Tell, J. Walker, Howard street
 Wilshere Arms, M.A. Tanner, Northgate street
 Wrestlers, John Fry Cole, Church plain
 Yarmouth Arms, William Crowe, Hall plain
 York, John H. French, 128 King street

BEERHOUSES.

Aldridge Ann, Caister rd
 Balls Robert, Queen street
 Barber Samuel, Gorleston
 Barnes Edw., North quay
 Belson Eliz. 74 George st
 Bessey Rt. 17 North quay
 Bland A., Mariners' road
 Bonney Edw., Gorleston
 Bonney Joseph, Gorleston
 Bowles Thos., Southtown
 Bowen Dd. 64 George st
 Bullimore Robert, jun., Cemetery road
 Bullimore Rt., Nelson rd
 Butcher Wm., Nelson road
 Cattermole T., Rodney rd
 Cattermole Wm. Camden rd
 Chase Robert, 166 Gaol st
 Christmas J., Southtown
 Clarke S. T., Regent road
 Cossey J. S., Market road
 Crisp B., North Denes
 Denton Robert, Gorleston
 Ditcham Jno., Blkfriars. rd
 Easter Wm., Hall quay
 Edmonds Jno., North quay
 Edwards My. A., Southtown
 Elliot Thos. 132 Gaol st
 Finch John, 184 Gaol st
 Fisk Rt., Havelock road
 Francis G., Caister road
 French John, North quay
 Fulcher Henry, Caister rd
 Garrod Dd., St. Peter's rd
 George Robt., Southtown
 Gillings John, Caister rd
 Goodwin Rd., Havelock rd
 Gooch Thomas, Nelson rd
 Gray Robert, Angel Tap
 Greeahow H., Garrison wlk
 Hansell Benj., South quay
 Harman W. 47 North quay
 Harvey Eliz., Gorleston
 Harwood E., St. Peter's rd
 Horne W. L., S. Denes rd
 Howard B., S. Denes road
 Howes Wm., Gorleston
 Hunt Walter, 122 King st
 Kemp Richard, Gorleston
 Killelt Robt. 72 George st
 King Eliz. J., Gaol street
 Lacey Cphr., Crown road
 Lake Wm., North Mkt. rd
 Lawson Geo. 36 S. quay
 Laxon Joseph, 27 Gaol st
 Laxon Robt., Blkfriars rd
 Layton E. N., Southtown
 Lodge W. 52 North quay
 Manship Ruth, North quay
 Miller T. M., Victoria rd
 More Jas., Charlotte st
 Newby Frs., Factory rd

Nichols John, Nelson rd
 Paston Jas., St. Geo's. rd
 Peck James, Friar's lane
 Peek Geo., Sth. Denes rd
 Platford J., Howard street
 Pye W. B., 33 Gaol street
 Quinton John, Geneve ter
 Ruthen Jas., 150 Gaol st
 Rutter E., St. Nicholas' rd
 Sheffer Martha, George st
 Sidle W., Blackfriars road
 Sinnett John, Friar's lane
 Smith Rt., St. Nicholas' rd
 Spencer Isaac, Market pl
 Starling John, Southtown
 Steward J. H., Brit. Pier
 Thorn H., West Nettlehill
 Wade W., Alma road
 Wightman A. W., Gorleston
 Worledge W., Nelson ter
 Wright Geo. 40 George st
 Wright Richd., Albion rd
 IRON, &c., FOUNDERS.
 Andrews Jas., 14 Row 127
 Moore & Sons (& boiler &c. makers), South Denes rd
 Pardey Js., 32 North quay
 Stolworthy Edmund, 14 Northgate street

IRON MERCHANTS.

Brown and Colby, Gaol at Teasdel Henry, Southtown
 IRONMONGERS.

Barber T. R., Market pl
 Barge Saml. 2 Church pln
 Bly J. H. (and stove grate, &c. mfr.), 9 Market pl
 Bly Henry, 32 Market pl
 Breeze Rt., 20 Market pl
 Clowes G. W. 1 Howard st
 Fenner Hor., South quay
 Fosdike Rt., Charlotte st
 Gray T. E. 144 King st
 Hamond Fdk. S., 2 Geo. st
 Littlewood Rt. 130 King st
 Mack A. N. 120 King st
 Nutman J., Fuller's hill
 Stagg George, Broad row
 Youell Eliza, Broad row
 JEWELLERS (Working).
 Bambridge Hy. 17½ Gaol st
 Long Nichs., St. Geo's. rd

JOINERS

And Builders.

Balls Henry, Marlbro' ter
 Bartram C. F., Caister rd
 Barwood T. H., Gorleston
 Boulton S., jun., Camden rd
 Bullimore Rt., Cemetery rd
 Burgess R., St. Nicholas' rd
 Chaston Jas., 6 St. Peter's rw
 Cockrell J. W., Gorleston
 Cooper I., South Mrkt. rd

Cooper T., South Mkt. rd
Crome Thomas, Row 36
Devereux W., St. Nichls'. rd
Edwards J. L., Conge
Edwards Rt., Regent road
Flaxman B., Alma road
Fox Thomas, Marlbro' sq
Gedge Charles, Market pl
Gillings and Tubby, St.

Peter's plain

Gooda T. W., 4 Southtown
Green George, Gorleston
Greenwood W. G., Mkt. rd
Gunn Henry, Trafalgar ter
Gyton James, Nelson road
Hammond H., York road
Hammond R., Victoria pl
Humfrey H. T., Gorleston
Isaac John J., Market rd
Johnson E. O., Theatre pln
Julier Saml. T., 4 Jane pl
Knights J. P., Selby place
Lake Thomas, Row 54
Lowe Cphr., Southtown
Mann J. J., 4 Saxon place
Manning G. H., South qy
Minter G., 1 South Mkt. rd
Newsom Dd. 18 Friar's ln
Norfor H. J., St. Geo's. rd
Obce Obdh., 11 Regent rd
Panchen T., Northbld. pl
Pestell Robert, Union pl
Prentice Wm., Gorleston
Proudfoot Edm., Row 73
Read T. W., 46 George st
Read T. W. 79 North qy
Read Wm., 25 North quay
Runacre James, Row 111
Scarce John, Gorleston
Shimman Jacob, Albion rd
Spilling Wm., Southtown
Steward R., Wellington pl
Storey John, Southtown
Taylor Wm., 69 N. quay
Thompson J. T., Regent rd
Todd Charles, Row 27
Towner Chas., Exmth. rd
Turrell W. H., Row 56
Tyrrell C., Wilshire place
Tyrrell Geo., Southtown
Want J. H., Regent road
Westgate Sl., Camden rd
Withers Rt., North quay
Wright W., 49 Caister rd
LIME (See Brick, &c.)
LINEN & WOOLLEN
DRAPERS, &c.
(See also Haberdashers.)
Barnard W., 37 Market pl
Biddlecombe and Boning,
5 King street
Bostock Edw., 10 King st
Cossons J. R. 180 King st

Dickie David, 62 King st
Eastick J., Market row
Ecclestone Rd., Broad row
Fowler D. R. 18 Mkt. pl
Fyson Edw. 29 Market pl
George Thomas, King st
Johnson & Sons, Mkt. row
Kennett M. 7 Victoria rd
Lawn James, 6 King st
Livingston & Son, King st
Martin W., Gorleston
Page James, Gorleston
Palmer G. B., Market pl
Parsons J. G., Market pl
Waters A. 6 Market row
Wilson W., Broad row

LODGINGS.

(See pages 369 to 396.)

MALTSTERS.

(See also Brewers.)

Bunn Thomas and James
William, Southtown
Combe, Delafield, & Co. (& London), Sept. Dowson agent, Southtown
Martineau Rd. (London),
B. Dowson & Son, agents,
Hall quay

Watling R. S., Southtown
MARINE STORE DLRS.

Alexander Alfd., Laughing
Image corner

Archer C., North quay
Benjafield F., Gorleston
Bowles Saml., 72 Gaol st
Buckingham J. R., Friars ln
Budds W. J., Row 156
Burrell Jas. 35 George st
Burrell Rt., S. Denes rd
Garrod Dd., Charlotte st
Goffin A., Fuller's hill
Gourlay D. A., Market row
Harrison Saml., Row 136
High James, South quay
Horth Wm. 17 George st
Killett Rt., 72 George st
Mallett Samuel, 49 Gaol st
Matson Wm., Gorleston
Watson J., Charlotte st
Weaver J., Gorleston

MAST, BLOCK, AND PUMP MAKERS.

Aldred & Morl, N. quay
Beeching J. & H., S. Denes rd
Ellett James, Southtown
Hare W. J., 3 Queen's rd
King Dl., South Denes rd
Knowles Anne, N. quay
Knowles Jas., 53 N. quay
Mills & Blake, Southtown
Roberts S. B., St. Peter's rd
Veale Rt. 57 South quay
Wooden Chas., S. Denes rd

Wooden Ts., South quay MASTER MARINERS.

(See pages 369 to 396.)

MILLINERS, &c.

(See also Linen Drapers.)

Allard Madlle., King st
Allcock Sar. 15 Market rw
Batchelor Miss 7 St. Geo's rd
Bond Lsa., 28 St. Peter's rd
Bostock Edw. 10 King st
Bunn Sar., Seymour place
Cain Eliz. 10 Market pl
Chipperfield M. A. Camdnd rd
Church A., Blackfriars rd
Clover M. H., St. Nichls'. rd
Cole S., Leicester terrace
Corbyn E., Crown road
Crane Henry, Regent st
Crisp Eliza, 7 Howard st
Crisp Mary A., Row 33
Douglas Sar. 46 Caister rd
Elmer M. A. 30 Windsor ter
Harling A. E., South Mkt. rd
Hastings S. and Mary A.,
Market row

Hewitt S. L., Apsley road
Hindes M., Albion road
Holley Car., George street
Howard A. E., Well street
Larham J., Albert square
Mack Susan, Southtown
Mason Mrs., 30 King st
Newton Mrs., 16 Brighton ter
Pincanea A., Providence pl
Rackham My. White Hs. pln
Read Ruth, 10 Regent st
Rising Miss F., Marlbro' ter
Rosetti My. & R., Victoria rd
Rowland M., Fuller's hill
Rushmer M. A. & J., King st
Stephenson J., Friar's ln
Swanston M., Market row
Walker E., Albion road
Weston Car., Market row

MILLWRIGHTS.

Moore & Sons, S. Denes rd
Stolworthy Edm. 14 Nthgtst

MUSIC TEACHERS

AND DEALERS.

Chamberlin W. C., Row 45
Crucknell Hy., Market rd
Hulley Wm. H., Theatre pln
Johnson C. W. 101 King st
Mack Miss, 13 Somerset pl
Nolloth Wm. V. 172 Kingst
Noverre J., Dene side
Rolfe Fdk. W. 92 King st
Sharp Geo. Market place
Stonex Hy. 32 Regent rd

NET TANNERS.

Clarke Geo. H., S. Denes rd
Fisk W., Havelock road
Horne Wm., S. Denes rd

NEWS AGENTS.(See Booksellers, &c.)NEWSPAPERS.

Yarmouth Independent, published on Friday evening by the Free Press Newspaper Company, Regent street
Yarmouth Chronicle, pub. on Friday evng. by Steer & Godfrey, 17 Regent st
OPTICIANS.

Fisher W. T., 55 S. quay
 Solomons Abm. 164 King st

ORGAN BUILDERS.

Cotton Chas., St. Geo's. rw
 Mack W. C., (and tunist), Saxon place

PAINTRS., PLUMBERS, AND GLAZIERS.

Bailey Jas. E., Queen st
 Blyth Wm., White Horse pln
 Burgess Benj., Caister rd
 Burton Chas. 25 Gaol st
 Cohen Henry, Nelson rd
 Cole John R., Alma road
 Cooper Chas. 27 George st
 Doughty Hy., Trafalgar pl
 Doughty T. W., Gaol st
 Emms Wm. H. 5 Victoria rd
 Goffin Jas. C., Dene side
 Hatch G. 48 Howard st
 Hatch John, Gorleston
 Howes Henry, Gorleston
 Howes Wm., Gorleston
 Hunt C. G. 137 Gaol st
 Jarvis John, Bath hill ter
 Munsey Henry, Market rd
 Norman & Son, Theatre pln
 Rainer Geo. E. 17 Conge
 Rainer Samuel, 47 King st
 Read George, Gorleston
 Sandall Edw. 77 N. quay
 Smith James, Gorleston
 Sowell's Edm. 11 Russell sq
 Storey Jas. 10 Southtown
 Teasdel Sml. 60 Southtown
 Westgate Wm., Clarence rd
 Woolverton C. 39 S. quay
 Woolverton N., King st
PAWNBROKERS.

Bartram John C., Mrkt. pl
 Botwright J. 39 Gaol st
 Gooch David, 164 Gaol st and 150 King street
 Howlett Ann, Howard st
 Mouse B. P. 80 George st
 Neale Wm., Charlotte st
 Steward Cphr. 163 King st
 Wells James, 126 King st
PHYSICIAN.

(See also Surgeons.)

Vores Wm., St. Geo's. gate

PHOTOGRAPHERS.

Alexander G., Neptune ter
 Ayers Thos., Clarence pl
 Edwards Chas., Regent rd
 Fisk Henry, Market row
 Flower J. G. 16 Mrkt. row
 Ford James P., Regent rd
 Lee Wm., Providence pl
 Mackie John J., Regent rd
 Watson A. S. 2 Regent rd
PILOTS.

Black John, Blackfriars rd
 Bolt J. C., Buckingham pl
 Bowell John, Seymour pl
 Calver Jas. S., Gorleston
 Carter D. 14 Seymour pl
 Fleming S., Gorleston
 Flemming W., Gorleston
 Devereux E. 7 Seymour pl
 Fulcher James, Victoria pl
 King Abel, Gorleston
 King Charles, Corleston
 King Chas. L., Gorleston
 King John F., Gorleston
 Leggett Edw., Hall quay
 Leggett H., Providence pl
 Leggett James, Gorleston
 Leggett Richd., Gorleston
 Leggett Thomas, Gorleston
 Reader Wm., Brighton ter
 Rising T., St. Peter's pl
 Rouse Royal, Gorleston
 Salmon James, Gorleston
 Salmon John, Gorleston
 Salmon Richd., Gorleston
 Shaul Edward, Gorleston
 Stanford Jph., Southtown
 Whiley John, Gorleston
 Woods Robert, Gorleston
PLASTERERS.

(See Bricklayers.)PLUMBERS.(See Painters.)ROPE & TWINE MKRS.

Barber Rt. 4 St. Geo's. ter
 Bracey John Taylor (patent), Queen's road
 Dyer Daniel, Row 107
 Edmonds John, Southtown
 Everitt John, 121 King st
 Harrison W. & H. Rodney rd
 Healley J., St. Peter's rd
 Holmes Richard, Moat rd
 Horne Wm., Caister road
 Keeler James, Gaol street
 Lettis Mary C., Crown rd
 Moughton Js., Apollo walk
 Neave Jph. F., Caister rd
 Pearson James, Row 76 and York road
 Smouton John, Jury st
 Webb John, Caister road
 Woodhouse R. Blkfriars. rd

Woodhouse S., Row 136

SADDLERS.

Beazor M., Charlotte street
 Sparrow Sml., North quay
 Stove Wm. I., Market pl
SAILMAKERS.

Anderson T. & W., S. quay
 Bradbeer Samuel, Row 107
 Budds Wm. J., Row 136
 Cattermole W., Camden rd
 Chambers Wm., Row 117
 Dyson Wm. F. 73 S. quay
 Harrison W. & H., Rodney rd
 Horne W. L., S. Denes rd
 Ingram Chs., North quay
 Lott J. H., 107 King st
 Masterman H. B., Trafgr. pl
 Pike Robert, Row 109
 Stone A. D., 58 South quay

SALT MERCHANTS.

Brindid Saml., Dene side
 Culley & Hart, Regent st
 Savage J. T., 151 King st
SHIP BROKERS.

Barber H. H., South quay
 Barber Rt. 4 St. Geo's. ter
 Blake G. & Son, Hall quay
 Butcher Matthew & Sons, St. Peter's road

Heriot R. M., Row 103
 Knox George, South quay
 Shelly & Co., South quay
 Stagg W. P., Southtown
 Teasdel Jas., South quay
 Swan W. D. 12 Queen's rd
SHIP BUILDERS.

(See also Boat Builders.)

Beeching James & Henry, South Denes road
 Chapman Jas., Southtown
 Fellows & Son, Southtown
 King D., South Denes rd
 Mack Bros., Southtown
 Mills & Blake, Southtown
 Palmer A. J., Sth. Denes rd
 Rust J. W., Southtown
 Taylor T., Gorleston

SHIP CHANDLERS.

Fill S. J. 41 South quay
 Hammond J. & C. Gorleston
 Lott John H. 107 King st
 Teasdel H., Bridge foot
SHIP OWNERS.

(See Boat Owners.)

Barber H. H., South quay
 Barber Rbt., St. Geo's. ter
 Barker John, 7 South quay
 Bayfield D. S., Dowager pl
 Beeching J. & H., S Denes rd
 Bessey W. H., South beach
 Betts John, South quay
 Blake G. & Son, Hall quay
 Bracey Jno. 5 St. Geo's. rd

Bracey J. T., Dene side
 Briggs Wm. 47 S. quay
 Brown Charles, Southtown
 Bunn T. & J. W., Southtown
 Burroughs W. N., Mrkt. pl
 Butcher & Sons, St. Pet.'s rd
 Clare A., Seymour place
 Clark John, 33 South quay
 Clifton Robert, Southtown
 Dowson & Son, Hall quay
 Fellows Henry, Southtown
 Fenn Benj. 69 Regent rd
 Fenn John, 26 North quay
 Fill Saml. J. (tug) S. quay
 Foreman W. J., Hall plain
 Gourlay D. A., Market row
 Hammond R., Regent rd
 Hylton J. B. 17 S. quay
 Jay Benjamin, 149 King st
 Jay Henry, 67 King st
 Johnson J. W., Southtown
 Pilot Steam Tug Company,
 Bridge foot, Southtown
 Palmer G. D., South quay
 Plummer Jas. 26 Howard st
 Plummer J. B., Regent rd
 Press Thomas, Row 126
 Purdy R. 33 Southtown
 Read T. M., St. Geo.'s. ter
 Richmond S. C., Southtown
 Scott James, 22 King st
 Shuckford I., Britannia ter
 Standard Steam Tug Co.,
 St. Peter's road
 Stanford W. S. 46 Sthtn.
 Steward Robert, Southtown
 Teasdel Hy., Bridge foot
 Watling R. S. 6 Brandon ter

SHOPKEEPERS.

(Grocery, Flour, &c.)
 Archbold R. S., Blk'friers rd
 Archer T., St. Peter's rd
 Balls Charles, Gorleston
 Balltis Maria, Gaol street
 Banham Robt., Gorleston
 Barber James, Howard st
 Barber My. A., Norfolk ter
 Barnaschina L., St. Petr.'s rd
 Barrows Ann, Charlotte st
 Beavers Eliz., Market rd
 Beckett Benj., Gorleston
 Bell George, 92 Geo. st
 Berry H., Blackfriars rd
 Blackwood Edm., N. quay
 Bonfellow Maria, Jury st
 Boulton James, Albion rd
 Bowles W., St. George's rd
 Bradnum B., Gorleston
 Brown J. 3 Dowager place
 Burward E. M., Regent st
 Cadywould J., Queen's rd
 Carpenter Fdk., Regent st
 Carrier W. P., 35 Gaol st

Chapman W. 51 Gaol st
 Chastaney E., Albion ter
 Chastaney J. E., Caister rd
 Clarke Edm. 24 Gaol st
 Claxon Jas. 36 George st
 Cole Wm., Blackfriars rd
 Coleman Jas. 80 S. quay
 Collins Ann, 82 Gaol street
 Crane Isabella, Charlotte st
 Crane John, 32 Gaol st
 Crane Mary, Gorleston
 Crickmer Eliz., Gorleston
 Crucknell Hy., Market rd
 Curtis H. L., Howard st
 Duffell T., jun. 136 Gaol st
 Duffell Thos. 90 George st
 Duffield Mrs. 99 George st
 Durrant Alfred, 88 King st
 Durrant John, Caister rd
 Dye Charles, 55 Caister rd
 Edwards Bnj., Rodney rd
 Edwards Dd., Southtown
 Ellis James, Southtown
 Elsey Charles, Albion road
 English J. 20 N. Market rd
 Fisk Henry, Market row
 Fleming Thos., Gorleston
 French John, Gorleston
 Frosdick E., St. Peter's rd
 George Hanh., Neptune ter
 Gidney W. H., S. Mrkt. rd
 Glover G., Clarence road
 Graystone Rt., Charlotte st
 Harbert Wm., 9 Gaol st
 Harbord James, Gaol st
 Harriss Sarah, Nelson rd
 Hartley Robt. 83 S. quay
 Harvey Eliz., 11 Gaol st
 Harvey Eliz., Gorleston
 Hastings R. B., Victoria pl
 Hatch Joseph, Gorleston
 Hockley J. 26 S. Market rd
 Hodds Jas. 96 George st
 Houchen Charles, Laughing Image corner
 Howes Jas., Flushing ter
 Howes John, Albion road
 Johnson H. W., Cemety. rd
 King Henry, Nelson road
 Larke W., 12 S. Market rd
 Lawrence Henry, Gaol st
 Laxon John, 50 Nth. quay
 Laxon Rbt., Blackfriars rd
 Levy Sol., Charlotte st
 Lockett Wm., Southtown
 Lowne H. W., Gorleston
 Manning G. H., S. quay
 Matthews W., Camden rd
 Meadows Wm. 34 N. quay
 Moughton W., Blk'friers. rd
 Newson David, Friar's In Offord Geo. 44 Howard st
 Osborne T., Elizabeth pl

Page Elizabeth, 38 Gaol st
 Page Wm., 51 George st
 Panchen Chs., S. Denes rd
 Parker Geo., Charlotte st
 Patterson W., 55 Chltte. st
 Pestell John S., Market st
 Powell Mary, 33 George st
 Powley Matt., Seymour pl
 Pye Martin, Gaol street
 Pye Robert, 145 Gaol st
 Ranney Wm., 1 Alma pl
 Read Thomas, 13 N. quay
 Riches Wm., Caister road
 Roll James, 142 Gaol st
 Scotten Sarah, Fuller's hill
 Shaul Sarah, Gorleston
 Shorten Saml. 115 Geo. st
 Smith Robert, Alma road
 Smith Wm. 59 Gaol street
 Staff Wm. H., St. Peter's rd
 Starling J. 27 Howard st
 Symonds Sml. 30 Geo. st
 Teasdel Chas., Howard st
 Thurgate C., Havelock rd
 Todd Robert, Caister rd
 Tooley Chas., 109 Geo. st
 Towner Chs., Exmouth rd
 Trorey Wm. 31 George st
 Voyce Hanh. 138 Gaol st
 Wade Wm., Alma road
 Wade Hy. R. 29 Gaol st
 Warner Eliz., Gorleston
 Warnes Martha, Caister rd
 Westgate R., Blackfriars rd
 Wheeler John, Southtown
 Wilkins Wm., Southtown
 Wiseman S., Blackfriars rd
 Woodcock T., Lancaster rd
 Woods Thomas, Gorleston
 Woods Wm. H. 106 Geo. st
 SILK MANUFACTURERS.
 Grout & Co., St. Nicholas rd
 SLATERS.

Dawber & Son, 19 Southtown
 STONEMASONS.

Bartram Chas. 49 N. quay
 Burgess Thos. 7 North quay
 Johnson E. O., Theatre plu
 Lark William, Row 30
 Larke Wm., Hall plain
 Lydamore A., Dene side
 Stanley John, Caister rd
 STRAW HAT MAKERS.
 Bond Hannah, Gaol street
 Cain Eliz. 10 Market place
 Cotton E. 7 Broad row
 Hammond K., York road
 Howard A. E. 28 Well st
 Moore Matilda, Gorleston
 Swanston M. 17 Gaol street
 Woolsey L. 13 S. Market rd
 SURGEONS.

Aldred Chs. Cory, Regent rd

Arnott C.D., MD., Gorleston
 Bayly Joseph, 154 King st
 Dashwood C.B. 135 King st
 Garrett Geo. 63 Regent rd
 Gray Wm. 35 Regent road
 Meadows D. 7 St. Geo's. ter
 Norman R.B. St. Geo's rd
 Palmer Charles, 44 King st
 Palmer Fredk. 16 S. quay
 Smith John C. 24 King st
 Smyth Spencer Thomas,
 M.D., St. George's road
 Stafford S. J. F., Market pl
 Stephenson J., M.D. Rgnt. st
SURGEON DENTISTS.
 Batchelor H.F., St. Geo's rd
 Cobb John S. 28 King st
 Coble John, 63 George st
 Hewitt W.H. 26 Market pl
 Jones John, 65 Regent st
 Neep Wm. E. J., Regent st
 White Richard, Dene side
TAILORS.
 * Woollen Drapers also.
 Aldred Thomas, Gaol st
 * Barber Wm., Hall quay
 Barrett Wm., Howard st
 Beckett Sml. 8 Duncan pl
 Birstow Wm., Gorleston
 Bishop Benj. 10 Crown pl
 Blythe Geo., Blkfriars. rd
 * Brand W. & H., Broad row
 * Bulwer E. T. 22 Market row
 * Burgess T., St. Peter's row
 Burket William, Row 32
 * Burling W.F., St. Peter's rd
 * Clare Jas., St. Peter's row
 Clements G.S., Somerset pl
 * Cocks & Son, 7 King st
 Corp James, North quay
 Derry W., St. Nicholas' rd
 * Dye Wm. J. 57 King st
 Edwards T.B. 27 Regent st
 * Eidsforth W.S., Gorleston
 * Ellis James G., Regent st
 Gillings Richd., Gorleston
 Hogarth T. 51 North quay
 * Lark Robert, 130 Gaol st
 * Lawn E. J., Broad row
 Lincoln Henry, 51 N. quay
 * Mack W. L., Market row
 * Makepeace W.H., Broad row
 * Martins R. & T., Mkt. row
 Moore Charles, Gorleston
 * Moore Thos. 174 King st
 * Neave J.W., Northgate st
 Newstead Jas., Gorleston
 * Nuthall C. C., Market pl
 * Olley T. L., Market row
 Palmer W. T., Camden rd
 Portwood W., N. Market rd
 Randell Saml. 63A Market pl
 Rainer Geo. A. 17 Conge

Shreeve H. S., Albion rd
 Smith James, Church plain
 Sumner John, St. Peter's rd
 Wade H., Alma road
 Watson Jph. 12 Market pl
 * Wells Henry, Broad row
TALLOW CHANDLERS
 Fenn John, Market road
 Tunbridge Richard & Son,
 South Market road
TANNERS.
 Cobb & Son, 6 Hall quay
TEA, &c. DEALERS.
 (Travelling.)
 Goldsmith S.2 Trafalgar pl
 Hannah Alex., Southtown
 Lottimer A. 26 Gaol street
 Millichamp E. W., S. town
TIMBER MERCHANTS.
 Bellin P. B., Southtown
 Brown W.P. & Co., Southtown
 Butcher M. and Sons, St.
 Peter's road, and Steam
 Saw Mills
 Craske Samuel, Caister rd
 Jecks William & Charles,
 Southtown & Norwich
 Orfeur John, Southtown and Norwich
 Parmenter W., North quay
 Preston I. & Son, Southtown
 Saul & Frazer, Saw Mills, S.
 Steward Robt. 56 Southtown
TOBACCONISTS.
 Barnaschina L., St. Ptr's rd
 Blyth Rt. John, Broad row
 Carpenter Fdk., Regent st
 Carter Jas., St. George's rd
 Ferryman Hanh., Chlotte. st
 Flower J. G., Market row
 Harvey Rt. & B., Blkfriars. rd
 Levy Solomon, Chlotte. st
 Springall R. C., Broad row
 Steele Rd. 57 Howard st
TOBACCO PIPE MKRS.
 Taylor Henry, 114 King st
 Taylor James, Row 47
TOY DEALERS.
 (See Fancy Dealers.)
TURNERS (Wood).
 Pattman Chas. 76 N. quay
 Pattuck Edward, Row 45
 Stannard W., Howard st
UMBRELLA MAKERS.
 Artis James, Howard st
 Thoennissen J., Gaol st
 Whittleton E., St. Nichls'. rd
VETNRY. SURGEONS.
 Hindes Wm. 92 N. quay
 Shipley Wm. 12 Southtown
WATCHMAKERS,
Jewellers, &c.
 Aldred and Son, George st

Archbold Henry, Gorleston
 Chaston Eliza, 6 St. Ptr's. rw
 Cotton Wm. 7 Broad row
 Curson Mattw., Charltte. st
 Davy Elijah, Northgate st
 Davy E. F., Charlotte st
 Davy Robt. 56 Charlotte st
 Gooch David, 150 King st
 Greenhow J. 38 Market pl
 Hunt Henry, 5 Broad row
 Killington E., Regent st
 Lamb C. K. 8 Gaol street
 Lamb T.W., Regent street
 Last William, 172 King st
 Mills Edw., St. Peter's rd
 Simpson W. M., Broad row
 Wilshak Jph., Market pl
WHEELWRIGHTS.
 Durrant Saml., Caister rd
 Gooda T. W., 4 Southtown
 Green George, Gorleston
 Johnson J., St. Peter's rd
 Newby R., St. Nicholas' rd
 Rayson Geo., Stanley rd
 Rump Jas., Priory plain
 Simmons D., Priory plain
 Smith Robert, Gorleston
 Springall Edward, White
 Horse plain
 Steward Richd., Albion rd
WHITESMITHS.
 Atkins Wm., North quay
 Buck Geo., Silk Mill road
 Elliott William, Row 38
 Flaxman Rt., Foundry walk
 Hall William, Row 118
 Harbord Ths., Priory plain
 Harvey George, Row 136
 Ives James T., Nelson rd
 Moore John, Row 72
 Moore & Sons, S. Denes rd
 Newman C. 51 Caister rd
 Newman S., St. Nicholas' rd
 Withers Joseph, Row 96
WINE, SPIRIT, & POR-TER MERCHANTS.
 Barnby & Son, Charlotte st
 Burroughs W.N., Mrkt. pl
 Burton James, 4 King st
 Diver and Son, 13 King st
 Ferrier Richard, Row 103
 Gooch T. H., Fuller's hill
 Lacon Sir E.H.K. & Sons,
 Church plain
 Mainprice J., Market pl
 Preston Jacob, 48 S. quay
 Seaman, Grimmer, & Co.
 177 King st. & Norwich
 Steward, Patteson, Finch,
 & Co. 66 North quay
 Tomlinson J., Howard st
 Williams, Frere, and Co.
 148 King street

YARMOUTH POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

The POST OFFICE is at Hall quay, and Mr. Charles Newcomb is the postmaster. MAILS are despatched to LONDON, Norwich, &c., at 9 a.m., and 8.10 p.m.; to NORWICH, at 3 p.m.; to Suffolk and Essex at 5 p.m.; to Lowestoft, 10 p.m.; to Caister, &c., 6 a.m.; and to Gorleston, &c. at 8½ a.m. The MONEY ORDER AND SAVINGS' BANK Department is open from 9 a.m. till 6 p.m., and on Saturday till 8 p.m. There are RECEIVING LETTER OFFICES at Fuller's hill, Norfolk terrace, 45, King street, Gorleston, and Southtown; and PILLAR BOXES at Theatre plain, Kimberley terrace, Norfolk Hotel and South quay. Eight letter carriers and four messengers are employed. MAIL CARTS to Norwich at 3 p.m., and to Lowestoft, Ipswich, &c., at 5½ p.m. There are three deliveries of letters in the town, commencing at 7 a.m., 10 a.m., and 3.30 p.m.

RAILWAY CONVEYANCE.

The VAUXHALL STATION is near to North quay; and the EAST SUFFOLK STATION is in Southtown. Mr. G. Dowe is station master for both. Passenger trains six times a day, and Luggage Trains daily.

OMNIBUSES, COACH, &c.

To GORLESTON.—An Omnibus from the Buck, three times a day.

To LOWESTOFT.—An Omnibus from the Duke's Head, daily, at 5 p.m., and from the Buck, daily, at 6 p.m.

To STALHAM, CAISTER, &c.—A Coach from the George and Dragon, on Monday, Wed. and Sat. at 4½ p.m.

CONVEYANCE BY WATER.

The GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION Co.'s packets from the South quay every Wednesday and Saturday to London.

A. J. Harpour, agent, Hall quay

The HULL AND NEWCASTLE STEAM Co.'s packets from the South quay to Hull and Goole every Tuesday, and to Newcastle, every Wednesday. Wm. D. Swann, agent, South Denes road SAILING VESSELS to London, Newcastle, Hull, Goole, &c., weekly.

WHERRIES to Norwich, daily, W. D. Swann, agent; and to Bungay and Beccles, daily, R. S. Watling, agent

CARRIERS TO AND FROM YARMOUTH,

WITH THE DAYS AND TIMES OF LEAVING, AND THE INNS THEY USE.

ACLE, Young, Saracen's Head, W. S.; Turner, George and Dragon, W.; and Harrison, King's Head, Sat. 4

BECCLES & BUNGAY, Jordan, Buck, W.S. 4

BURGH, Turner, Geo. & Dragon, Wed. 4

CROMER, Foulger, King's Head, Sat.; and Wiseman, White Horse, Sat. 1

FREETHORPE, Playford, Geo. & D., S, 4½

GORLESTON, from the Buck, daily

HADDISCOE, Turrell, Buck, Wed. Sat. 4

HALVERGATE, Wyand, Norwich Arms, Wednesday and Saturday, 4

HAPPISBURGH, Bullimore, Geo. & D., S.4

HARLESTON, Davis, Feathers, S. 11 p.m.

HEMSBY, Boulton, Flegg House, M.W.S. 4½; and Knight, Waggon, W. Sat. 4

HORSEY, Johnson, Geo. & D., Sat. 4

LESSINGHAM, Lacey, Saracen, Sat. 4½

LODDON, Lack, Buck, Wed. Sat. 4

LOWESTOFT, Fisk, Buck; and Stebbings, Duke's Head, daily

MARTHAM, Dove, Horse and Groom; and Gaze & Dow, Waggon & H., W. S. 4½

NEWPORT, Gallant, Flegg House, W.S. 4

NORTH WALSHAM, Saunders, Farmers, S. 2½

ORMESBY, Shalders & Light, Jolly Farmers, daily; Gill, Flegg Hs., W. S. 4

PALLING, Plummer, Farmers, W. S. 4½

ROLLESBY, Simnet, Farmers, Sat. 5

SCRATBY, Smith, Flegg Hs., M. W. S. 4

SOMERTON, Hales, Flegg House, Sat. 3½

SOUTH WALSHAM, Cater, Horse & Gm., W. 4

SOUTHWOLD, Newton, Buck, Tu. Sat. 12

STALHAM, Whall, Geo. & D., M. W. S. 4½

SUTTON, Bean, Saracen, M. W. S. 4½

UPTON, Turner, George and D., Wed. 4

WINTERTON, George, Farmers, daily; & Brown, Flegg House, M. W. S. 5

EAST AND WEST FLEGG HUNDREDS.

EAST AND WEST FLEGG, two of the smallest Hundreds in Norfolk, are on the sea-coast, at the east end of the county, and are of nearly equal extent, containing together nearly 9000 inhabitants and 26,000 acres of land, stretching nearly eleven miles northward from the borough of Yarmouth, and forming in ecclesiastical affairs, the DEANERY OF FLEGG, to which the DEANERY OF YARMOUTH was perpetually united in the year 1345; so that the Archdeacon's visitations for the whole district have since been held in Yarmouth. Petty Sessions for the two hundreds are held every alternate Tuesday, at the Workhouse, Rollesby; and every alternate Wednesday, at the Police Court, Yarmouth. Samuel B. Cory, Esq., is clerk to the magistrates. Both hundreds are in Acle Police Division, and in Yarmouth County Court District. All their parishes were incorporated for parochial purposes by an act of the 15th of George the Third; and a HOUSE OF INDUSTRY, for the reception of the poor of both hundreds, was erected at Rollesby, in 1776, and enlarged in 1818 and 1837, so that it will now accommodate 280 paupers, though the number of inmates seldom exceeds 100. It is under the control of 48 guardians, chosen yearly, and a number of directors, consisting of all the magistrates and freeholders of £200 per annum, resident in the incorporated parishes. The dietary system now in use has been introduced by the Poor Law Commissioners, who have here no further authority than the Poor Law Act gives them in similar incorporations. The Rev. Charles Lucas, M.A., is chairman of the BOARD of DIRECTORS AND ACTING GUARDIANS, and S. B. Cory, Esq., is their clerk. John Turpin Waller, Esq., of Burgh, is superintendent registrar; Robert Woodman, Esq., registrar of marriages; and Chas. Cooper, Esq., of Martham, and Mr. R. S. Beare, of Caister, registrars of births and deaths. Mr. James Linford is the relieving officer, and Messrs. Charles Cooper and Robert Woodman, surgeons. The Rev. J. C. Clapcott is chaplain, and Mr. Richard and Mrs. George, master and matron of the Workhouse. In 1862, the Board of Directors and Acting Guardians formed itself into a Board of Health, under the powers of the Public Health Acts, and has already made several useful sanitary improvements. Wm. Rising, Esq., is chairman; John Cory, Esq., clerk; and Mr. James Linford, inspector of nuisances.

EAST FLEGG Hundred, the most eastern division of Norfolk, is of an irregular triangular figure, extending west and north from Yarmouth, and bounded on the east by the German Ocean and on its other sides by the rivers Yare and Bure and the hundred of West Flegg, from which latter it is separated for a considerable extent by a chain of marshland lakes or pools, called the "Broads," and forming a small river called the "Muck Fleet," which flows westward to the Bure; indeed, both the Flegg Hundreds are nearly insulated with salt and fresh water. East Flegg extends about five miles along the coast northward from Yarmouth, and about seven miles westward on the north side of the river Bure, which divides it from Walsham Hundred.

WEST FLEGG is bounded by East Flegg on the south, Walsham Hundred on the west, Happling Hundred on the north, and the Ocean on the east. It extends about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles along the coast, and $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles inland, and is nearly surrounded by marshes; but its interior rises in bold and well-cultivated swells. Mr. Young, in his "Farmer's Tour," recommends the method of farming practised here; and even Camden extols the soil as being fruitful in corn, and says that here "the Danes seem to have made their first settlement, both because it was nearest their landing, and pretty well fortified by nature, being almost surrounded by water."

There were formerly 26 Parish Churches in these hundreds, but seven of them were dilapidated many years ago, and their cures annexed to the present nineteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing the population of each in 1861, the annual value of their land and buildings as assessed to the county rate in 1843, and their territorial extent:—

EAST FLEGG PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.	WEST FLEGG PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.
Caister-next-Yar- mouth	1203	5876	2689	Ashby-with-Oby. }	96	2412	1343
Filby.....	517	3026	1191	Thurne*	210	1252	582
Mautby.....	68	2854	1626	Billockby	46	900	376
Ormsby St. Mar- garet with.... }	777	4500	1559	Burgh St. Mgt. & My	554	3406	1451
Scraby	309			Clippesby	97	1682	802
Ormsby St. Michael	311	1648	590	Hemsby	664	3922	1686
Runham	412	3306	1522	Martham	1092	5490	2281
Stokesby with }	418	3438	1804	Repps-cum-Bastk.	293	2092	1179
Herringby .. }	45	1174	575	Rollesby+	531	3330	1407
Thrigby				Somerton East* ..	62	1290	768
				Somerton West ..	244	1786	1101
				Winterton	682	1566	1562
Total.....	4060	25,822	11,556	Total.....	4571	29,128	14,479

* East Somerton church is in ruins, and the parish annexed to Winterton; and Thurne is a township annexed to Ashby parish.

+ Rollesby included 80 persons in the Workhouse, in April, 1861.

CAISTER-NEXT-YARMOUTH is a scattered village and parish, on the sea coast, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of Yarmouth, containing 1203 inhabitants, and 2689 acres of land, exclusive of roads and sea-beach, and consisting chiefly of a rich loamy upland, and a tract of fertile marshes, for the better draining of which a steam-engine was erected in 1841. The soil belongs to a number of freeholders, some of whom have houses here; but John Clowes, Esq., is lord of the manor. Caister is more ancient than Yarmouth, and derives its name from the Roman Station, already noticed at page 333, but now nearly obliterated by ploughing and other improvements. About two miles west of this ancient encampment are the ruins of CAISTER CASTLE, erected by Sir JOHN FASTOLFF, who was born here or at Yarmouth, in 1378, and in early life entered upon a brilliant military career. Having received an appointment under the English regency in France, he signalled himself by many acts of bravery, during a forty years' campaign. In the course of this period he was made in the field of battle, knight banneret, a baron of France, knight of the garter, marshal of the regent's household, and the king's lieutenant in Normandy; and was progressively appointed to various other public offices. After his return to Caister, he was constantly exercised in acts of hospitality, munificence, and charity, and became a founder of religious and other edifices, a generous patron of learning, an encourager of piety, and a benefactor to the poor. Yet this truly great and eminent character has, by a quibble on the name, been, by hypercritics, supposed to be the Sir John Falstaff, whom our immortal bard Shakspere has exhibited in the various characters of an old, humorous, vapouring, cowardly, lewd, lying, and necessitous debauchee, who was constantly lounging about Prince Henry's court. Never were two characters more strongly and distinctly contrasted. When Prince Henry was degrading his high birth by associating with a Falstaff, the Norfolk hero was honourably employed fighting the battles of his country in France. Fastolff was heir to large estates, and afterwards immensely rich. The poetical Falstaff was nearly three score years of age at the battle of Shrewsbury, A.D. 1403, when the historic Fastolff was not more than twenty-five. The former ended his career soon after Prince Henry ascended the throne; the latter survived Henry V. no less than 37 years, and died at Caister in 1459. His castle is said to have been finished with part of the money which he received for the ransom of John II., King of France, whom he took prisoner at the battle of Verneuil, in 1424; but a manuscript in the possession of Anstis, late Garter King at Arms, relates that Sir John, having taken the Duke of Alençon prisoner at the battle of Agincourt, in 1415, the Duke agreed, as a ransom, to build a castle here similar to his own castle in France. After the death of Sir John Fastolff, this castle passed to Sir John Paston; and in the reign of Edward IV. it was twice besieged, once by the Duke of Norfolk, and again by Lord Scales. It appears to have been an extensive castellated mansion, forming a rectangular parallelogram, and was entered by a drawbridge over a moat, which is said to have had a creek extending to the ocean. A lofty circular tower, and a large portion of the north and west walls, (all of brick, with stone quoins,) still remain. Eastward from the castle stood a College, forming three sides of a spacious square, with two circular towers, founded in the reign of Edward I., by some of the Fastolffs, and afterwards patronised by the founder and subsequent owners of the castle. The ruins of this college have been converted into barns and stables, adjoining to which is a modern mansion, belonging to the trustees of the castle estate. In ecclesiastical matters, Caister is divided into two parishes, which were consolidated in 1608; since which period the church of St. Edmund has been suffered to go to decay, so that nothing now remains of it except a portion of a tower upon an eminence on the west side of the parish. The present parish church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, stands on an acclivity above the village, and is a plain edifice of mixed architecture, consisting of nave, chancel, south aisle, porch, and tower. The latter contains one bell, and is about 80 feet high. It has a pitched roof, rising above the battlements, and covered with tiles; but the rest of the building is slated. In the chancel are sedilia for four priests, and several monuments of the Crowe and Blenerhyssett families. The Rectory is valued at £942.8s.11½d., for which sum the tithes were commuted in 1841. It is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. George Wm. Steward, M.A. The Rectory House is a small building at the west end of the parish. It is occupied by the curate, and has about five acres of glebe attached to it, on which a small Chapel of Ease was erected in 1856. The National School occupies a good building purchased by the rector some years ago, and is attended by about 80 scholars. The Infant School was built in 1834, by the late Thos. Clowes, Esq., at a cost of £70, and is attended by 50 children. There is also a small Infant School in West Caister, chiefly supported by Mr. Chas. Moore. The Wesleyans, Reformed Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists have small chapels here, the former built in 1820, and the latter in 1837. Here are about 100 fishermen, a coast guard, consisting of an officer and six men, and 40 beachmen. A life boat was placed here in 1845, and has been the means of saving more than twenty ships' crews. The parish is remarkable for its market gardens, and especially for its production of potatoes and raspberries, large quantities of the latter being sent to the London and continental markets. Here is a large filter-bed, belonging to the Yarmouth Waterworks Company (see page 350.) The encroachments of the sea are particularly noticeable in this parish, the Clowes family having lost no less than 60 acres in as many years. Several Scottish gold coins, dated 1590 and 1599, were found on the beach some years since, as perfect as if just come from the mint; and Roman coins, and fragments of sepulchral urns, pottery, and glass, are found in great profusion in the parish, particularly in a field west of the church, where the Roman camp is supposed to have been situated. Several carved stones, apparently taken from an ecclesiastical edifice, were dug up in 1837, in the grounds attached to Caister Lodge, the residence of Mr. Charles Moore, which is situated on an eminence at West Caister. Two almshouses were built here in 1856 by the late Thomas Clowes, Esq., who endowed them with 1A. 0R. 34P. of land, for the purpose of keeping them in repair and providing fuel for the inmates.

The total cost was about £300. The parish has also the following CHARITIES:—In 1718, Eliz. Blenerhyssett left Leman's Close (5A. 25P.) in trust, that the rents thereof should be applied towards the relief of the poor and the reparation of her monument. There are now vested with the same trustees, 3A. 1R. 24P., given by unknown donors; 10A. 2R. at Hemsby, purchased with £150, left by Wm. Crow, in 1672; 3A. 2R. 25P., allotted to the charity lands; and the Poor's Allotment (12A. 2R. 21P.), awarded at the enclosure, in 1815. The rents derived from the above sources amount to £81. 10s. per annum, which is distributed chiefly in coals among the poor parishioners. The poor have also the dividends of £114. 17s. 6d. three per cent. consols, purchased with £100 left by Mary Hill, in 1736; and the dividends of £207. 12s. 5d. new 3½ per cent. stock, purchased with £200, left by John and Mary Maria Baxter, in 1805. Half of the latter sum is for apprenticing poor children. In 1608, SIR WM. PASTON gave the dissolved free chapel of Caister St. Edmund, with the tithes, and 120A. of land in Caister, Ormesby, and Scratby, formerly belonging to the said chapel, to the rector of Caister, so long as he should reside and preach there weekly, and pay out of the rents and profits thereof £8 yearly for the poor of Great Yarmouth, and £2 yearly for the poor of Caister.

POST OFFICE at Saml. Davey's. Letters despatched via Yarmouth at 7 p.m.

Beane Mrs		Daniel Mr Thomas	Steward Rev. George Wm., M.A. rector
Beare Rt. Spence, registrar of births and		Bessey Benjamin, farm bailiff [deaths	Warnes Thomas Dawson, corn miller
Blyth Timothy, tailor; & Thos. par. clerk		Bren Rev. Robert, curate, Rectory	BAKERS.
Burton Edward, victualler, Lord Nelson		Chase Rbt. bricklayer Laws Rd. joiner	Woodrow Edward
Davey Samuel, post master, Post Office		Durrant Hy. wheelwright & blacksmith	Woodrow Thomas
Edwards Geo. saddler & harness maker		George Rbt. beerhs. Johnstone Mr Wm.	BOOT AND SHOE
Humphrey Jph. blacksmith Morton Mrs		Lydamore Eliza, mistress, Infant School	MAKERS.
Manthorpe James, basket maker		Moore Charles, gent. Caister Lodge	Brown Thomas
Powley Mr Wm. Purdy Mr Jonathan		Read James, collector of assessed taxes	Cox Charles
Real James, chief officer of coast guard		Rose Saml. & Sarah, teachers, Natl. School	Greenacre Benj.
Shalders Edward, horse breaker and		dealer, and victualler, King's Arms	Yeoman Charles
Spendlove Mr John			FARMERS.
			(* are Owners.)
			Bond John Mayes,
			Castle Farm
			*Bond Wm. Mayes
			Clowes Rd. Hall
			Crane Thomas
			Durrant James
			Kittle George
			Pettingill Wm.
			Riches Thomas
			Smith George
			Webster James
			*Wigg Mayes
			MKT. GARDENERS.
			Bullock Edward Burton Clement
			Catchpole John
			Edmonds Martin
			Hewitt Edward
			Kerridge William
			Pettingill William
			Ruthen James
			Tubby James
			Tubby William
			Watson James
			Wright James
			SHOPKEEPERS.
			Birch David
			Blyth John
			Gill Samuel

FILBY is a small parish and straggling village on the Norwich turnpike, 6 miles N.W. of Yarmouth. It has 517 inhabitants, and 1191 acres of land, exclusive of roads, 100A. in plantations, and about 160A. in a fine lake, called Filby Broad, and abounding with fish and wild ducks. The soil is a rich deep loam, and market gardening is carried on extensively in the parish, large quantities of raspberries and other fruit being annually sent to the London markets. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a nave, chancel, north and south aisles, a north porch, and a lofty embattled tower with five bells. It stands on an eminence above the lake, and contains a beautiful marble monument in memory of the late Charles Lucas, Esq., and three stained glass windows in memory of members of the Lucas family. The font is of Purbeck marble, and there is a stoup near the north door. The lower part of the rood-screen is finely painted, and contains the figures of eight saints. The building was considerably improved in 1851 and 1855, and contains 300 sittings. The rectory, valued in the King's Books at £11. 1s. 6d., and in 1331 at £520, has 24 acres of glebe, and is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Lucas, who is also chief owner, and lord of the manor, which was anciently held by a family of its own name. Filby House, the seat of the rector, is a handsome mansion of white brick, rebuilt in 1833. At the enclosure in 1802, 10A. 1R. 23P. of the marsh was allotted to the poor, and 2R. 4P. for the repairs of the roads. Here are a small Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1853, and an Unitarian Chapel built and endowed by Henry Daliel, who died in 1710. The tithes have been commuted for £597. 13s. 8d. per annum. The School was built in 1852, at a cost of £200, by the rector, who gives a frock and pair of shoes to each child every year. It is attended by about 45 girls and boys.

POST OFFICE at William Harrison's.
 Bunn John English, beerhouse
 English John, tailor & woollen draper
 Exton Rev. Francis, M.A., curate
 Green Robert, plumber, painter, &c.
 Green Susan, schoolmistress
 Harris John, harness maker
 Harrison Wm. farrier, post office, & shopr
 Humphrey George, joiner
 Lucas Rev. Chas., M.A., inct. Filby House
 Lucas Geo. sol. (& Yarmouth) Filby House
 Saunders William, wheelwright
 Skoyles Howard, machinist & founder Thurtle Walter Ts. vict. Fox & Hounds
 Trett John, baker
 Utting John, parish clerk & sub-bailiff

Letters via Yarmouth and Norwich.

BLACKSMITHS.

Hunt William
 Shreeve John
 BOOT & SHOE MKRS.
 Ames George
 Chase George
 English William

FARMERS.

Humphrey Benj.
 Lucas George
 Parker George
 Parker John
 Read Henry
 Skoyles Henry
 Skoyles James

MARKET

GARDENERS.

Allard John
 Crisp William
 Dixon Robert
 Green John
 Lingard James
 Moore Mary
 Nockolds Henry
 Nockolds Robert
 Palmer Edmund
 Ruthen James
 Trett Thomas
 Walpole Samuel
 Walpole William

MAUTBY, a parish $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Yarmouth, has only 68 inhabitants, six scattered farm houses, and 1626 acres of land, of which 900 are arable, 200 meadow, and 450 marsh, including several modern plantations and a decoy of nine acres. Robert Fellowes, Esq., is patron of the rectory, lord of the manor, and owner of the whole parish, which was anciently held by the Mautebys, of whom there are some ancient monuments in the Church, which is dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, and is a small thatched fabric, consisting of a nave and chancel, with a tower, round at the base and octagonal above, containing one bell. In the chancel are sedilia and a piscina, and some of the windows contain fragments of stained glass. The rectory, valued in the King's Books at £13. 6s. 8d., has 45A. 2R. of glebe, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Charles Fellowes, of Shottesham, for whom the Rev. John Joseph Badeley officiates. The FARMERS are—Henry Brown, Decoy farm; Hy. Brown, jun., New farm; Jas. Garret, Hall farm; David Hewitt, Marsh farm; Samuel Hewitt, Church farm; and George Samuel Humphrey, Rectory farm. Post via Filby.

ORMESBY (GREAT), or Ormesby St. Margaret, is a large and handsome village, about one mile from the sea, and 5 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth; and has annexed to its parish the hamlet and manor of SCRATBY, which lies about $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile to the north-east. They contain together 1086 inhabitants, of whom 777 are in Ormesby and 309 in Scratby. Ormesby St. Margaret comprises about 1600 acres of land, belonging to a number of freeholders, some of whom reside here; but the Rev. Charles Lucas is lord of the manor, which anciently belonged to the Ormesby family. One of the four co-heiresses and daughters of the last Sir Thos. de Ormesby gave birth to Alice, the famous mistress of Edward III. The village is said to have been anciently a market-town, and the inhabitants are exempt from serving on county juries. Ormesby House, a large mansion in a small park, is the seat of Sir Edmund Hy. Knowles Lacon, Bart., M.P. for Yarmouth, and Lieut.-Colonel Commandant of the East Norfolk Militia, whose son, Edmund Broughton Knowles Lacon, Esq., is heir to the title and estates. The Lacons were originally settled in Shropshire, and afterwards at Otley, in Yorkshire. Sir Edmund Lacon, who died in 1820, was created a baronet in 1818. The workmen employed in laying pipes for the Yarmouth Water Company in this parish, some years ago, discovered an old brick drain about 8 inches square, 3 feet below the surface; and about 18 inches deeper they found a lead pipe about $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch bore. Both ran in a south-easterly direction from the Manor House, and at a distance of about 500 yards from it. The Church (St. Margaret) consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower. The latter contains one bell, and has figures of four monks in lieu of pinnacles. The south door has a finely-moulded Norman arch, enriched with the chevron and other ornaments. The font is octagonal and ancient, and the sedilia still remain in the chancel. Here are tablets to the Clere, Lacon, and Ramey families. The building was re-roofed a few years ago. The vicarages of Ormesby St. Margaret and Scratby were consolidated with the curacy of Ormesby St. Michael in 1548, and valued in K.B. at £10. 10s., and now at £420, being augmented in 1719 with £210, given by N. Symonds, Esq., and £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The rectorial tithes were commuted in 1838 for £796, and the vicarial tithes for £304 per annum. The glebe land is 21A. 1R. 21P. The Rev. Rd. Foster, M.A., is the vicar, and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are patrons, and also appropriators of the rectorial tithes, which are now leased to Sir E. H. K. Lacon. There were anciently four churches in the united parishes, but two of them have been long in ruins, viz., St. Peter's, on an eminence between the two Ormesbys; and All Saints, at SCRATBY, a manor of 300 acres, with about 40 scattered houses, belonging to various owners. The population of Scratby increased from 177 in 1851, to 309 in 1861, chiefly owing to the migration of beachmen and fishermen to the edge of the sea cliff, called California, where they established a life-boat station in 1853, and purchased a fine life-boat at a cost of £300, by which means they have rendered succour to more than 30 distressed vessels. Scratby Hall, now the seat of the Rev. Richard Foster, M.A., was purchased by him of Lady C. B. Hamilton, and was formerly the seat of the Earl of Home. It is approached by a fine avenue from the church, and formerly had a lofty tower at the south-west angle, from the top of which sixty churches could be seen with the naked eye, but this was pulled down in 1838. Scratby Cliff commands one of the finest sea prospects in England. The Commons of Scratby and Ormesby were enclosed under an Act passed in 1842, and 34A. 3R. 35P. were awarded to the poor of Great and Little Ormesby for cutting fuel. This land is situated in Little Ormesby, and was leased in 1861 for 15 years to Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., at a rent of £20, which is distributed in coals amongst the poor. The FREE SCHOOL at Ormesby, for eight poor girls, was founded in 1723 by Jonathan Symonds, Esq. The endowment now consists of only three roods of land adjoining the school, and an acre at Mautby, but is said to have originally comprised about 20 acres. It is now conducted as a National School, and the Dean of Norwich, the Vicar of Ormesby, and Barnes Caldecott, Esq., are the trustees. The poor parishioners have six chaldrons of coals yearly from Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., in consideration of a road and two pieces of waste land which his family were allowed to enclose in 1818 and 1828. The Wesleyans, Primitive Methodists, and Particular Baptists have chapels here.

POST OFFICE at John Dunt's, jun. Letters desp. via Yarmouth at 5.45 p.m.

Marked + are in Scratby, and the rest in Ormesby St. Margaret.

Blanchflower William, hawker	Ferrier Miss, day and boarding school
Bradfield Thos. & Eliz. National School	Foster Rev. Rd., M.A., vicar, Scratby Hall
Carpenter Mr Hy. Collyer Mr Robert	Flegg Mr James Francis Mrs Ann
Derry Wm. blacksmith & wheelwright	Gill Hubert William, nurseryman
Fellows Wm. Manning, Esq., & Miss E.A.	Hallock Charles, plumber, painter, &c.
Ferrier Mrs Charl't. & Miss Har., Mill Hs.	Harwood Rev. Reynold, curate

Hanrott Misses		Scarlett John	Pearse Edward
Hudson Charles, gamekeeper		CARPENTERS.	*Read Robert
Johnson Richard, blacksmith		Clarke Richard	*Tenant William(& thatcher)
Knowles John Gilbert, cooper		Shrimplin James	*+TungateBenj.jun
Lacon Dowager Lady		Simnett Saml. jun.	*+Tungate James
Lacon Sir E. H. K., Bart., M.P., Ormesby Hs		FARMERS.	*Westgate Thomas
Linford James, relieving officer & inspector of nuisances		(* are Owners.)	*Woolston Henry
Manship Mr Benj. Myhill Eliz. baker		Beck Geo. Morris	+Woolston Jno. jun.
Pratt Mr James Waters Mrs		(and miller)	+Woolston Mark
Riches Henry, victuallar, Royal Oak		*+Catchpole Robt,	+Woolston Rt. jun.
Richmond Edward, bricklayer & maker		Chapman Geo. Betts	MARKT. GARDENERS.
Rose Henry, shopkeeper		Collyer Geo. Betts	Brunson James
Shalders Samuel, carrier & shopkeeper		Crisp Joseph	Candler Charles
Starling Benj. miller Smith Mr Thos.		+Daniel Benjamin	Flowerdew Robert
Underwood Joseph, bricklayer		+Daniel Joseph	+Gill Samuel
Woodman Robert, M.D., aurgeon		+Edmunds Mary	TAILORS.
Woolston Mr Robt. Wortley Eliz. lodgs.		*Elliot Mary Ann	Dunt John
BEERHOUSES.	Nichols John	*Elliot Thomas	Dunt John, jun.
Davey Judith	Simnett Robert	*Flowerdew Robert
Page Ann	Younges Aaron	+Green Thomas	AN OMNIBUS
+Woolston Rt. jun.	BUTCHERS.	*Hubbard Wm. (& thrashing mechn. proprietor)	Passes through from Sutton to Yarmouth, every Mon. Wed. & Sat.
+Woolston Wm.	Elliot Thomas	*+Neave Matthew
BOOT & SHOE MKRS.	Elliot Mary Ann	*Kittle George
George William	Harvey Job

ORMESBY ST. MICHAEL, or Little Ormesby, is a small village and parish, lying west of Great Ormesby and six miles N.N.W. of Yarmouth, and containing 311 inhabitants, and 900 acres of land, of which 400 acres were enclosed in 1842, and more than 100 acres are in the extensive lake called Ormesby Broad, whence the Yarmouth Water Company, whose chief works are situated in this parish, draw their supply of water. (See p 350). The Rev. Charles Lucas is lord of the manor, and the other principal freeholders are Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart., F. S. Costerton, Esq., Mrs. Glasspoole, Robert Copeman, Esq., and Mr. Benjamin Waters. Mrs. Glasspoole has a good residence here, in which is a fine collection of Indian and Chinese productions, purchased by the late Capt. Glasspoole when in the East India Company's service. The Church is a small edifice, with several monuments of the Upcher, Glasspoole, Lucas, and Manning families. It has a square embattled tower containing three bells, and the perpetual curacy, as already stated, is consolidated with Ormesby St. Margaret and Scratchby. The Rev. Reynold Harwood is the officiating curate. The Land left for repairing the Church and relieving the poor, comprises 16A. 2R. 20P., let for £32. 15s. a year, which is partly distributed in coals. The poor of this parish have also a yearly distribution of coals, derived from the rent of land awarded at the enclosure, and now leased to Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart. (See Ormesby St. Margaret). Post from Yarmouth.

Costerton Frederick Samuel, Esq., solicitor at Yarmouth	Stytle Richard, blacksmith
Culpepper Mrs Ann, Ormesby Cottage	Walpole William, market gardener
Glasspoole Mr H. Glasspoole Mrs	FARMERS.
Groom Martha, beerhouse and gardener	Bullimore John
Munford Elizabeth, day school	Bunn Stephen
Page Charles, market gardener	Chapman John
Robinson Saml. engineer, Water Works	Dunham Jeremiah
	Goulder George
	Manship William
	Shalders Jeremiah
	(and beerhouse)
	Munford William
	(and owner)
	Trivett Thomas

RUNHAM village stands on the north bank of the Bure, five miles W. N.W. of Yarmouth; but its parish, which contains 412 inhabitants and about 1600 acres, includes Vauxhall Gardens and a number of modern houses near Yarmouth Suspension Bridge. The Evermores formerly held this lordship by petit serjeanty; and one of them obtained a charter for a fair and market, in 1226; but both have long been obsolete. George Brightwen, Esq., is lord of the manor, and the principal landowners are Thos. Brightwen, Wm. Fabb, Thos. Browne, Robt. Fellowes, and Samuel B. Cory, Esqrs. The Church (St. Peter and St. Paul), is of perpendicular architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, north porch, and a square tower with three bells. It was restored in 1856, at a cost of £1000, raised by subscription, grant, and rate. The chancel arch is lofty and finely moulded, and the floor is laid with encaustic tiles. The seats are good oaken benches, all free; and many of the windows are filled with stained glass. The font is octagonal and well carved, and the ancient piscina still remains. Here are tablets to the Price and Boulton families. The parish register dates from 1588. The vicarage valued in the King's books at £4, and now at £225. has 35A. 2R. 21P. of glebe, partly purchased with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, obtained in 1780. The Bishop of Norwich is patron; and the Rev. Edward Gillett, M.A., is the incumbent, and resides at Runham Hall, which he purchased of T. Brightwen, Esq., in 1853. The great tithes belong to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and are leased to Sir E. H. K. Lacon, Bart. The tithes were commuted in 1840, for a yearly payment of £223. 16s. 3d., to the lessee of the rectory; £145. 5s. 10d. to the vicar of Runham; and £32. 4s. 6d. to the vicar of Gorleston. The Poor's Allotment, 27A. 3R. 19P., was awarded at the enclosure of the marsh in 1802, and is now let for £45 a year, which is distributed in coals. The old poor's land, 1A. 35P., is let for £3. 15s., which is distributed among poor widows. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, which was opened in 1852. The National Schools for boys and girls, with a house for the mistress, were built in 1854, at a cost of £512, of which £200 were given by the Committee of Council on Education. Salt Works are mentioned in Domesday Book as existing in this parish. Post from Norwich via Filby.

*Marked * are at New Runham, near Yarmouth.*

*Archer Clement, marine store dealer
 *Barnes Jonas, artificial manure mert
 *Bartram John, vict. Vauxhall Gardens
 Carr Christmas, shoer. and parish clerk Cory Samuel Barnett, Esq., solicitor, and at Yarmouth
 Cory John, clk. to Board of Health, &c.
 Dean William, shoemaker
 *Ellis Geo. cowkeeper and basketmaker
 Fuller Elizabeth, vict. Three Horse Shoes
 Gillett Rev. Edward, M.A. vicar, Hall
 Gowen Henry, millwright, joiner, &c.
 Johnson Emma, schoolmistress
 *Marshall Edward, gardener
 Newson John, wheelwright
 *Nuthall Neville, cowkeeper

Palmer Clement, blacksmith & shopkpr.
 *Parmenter Wm. timber merchant and manure dealer
 Read John, shopkeeper
 Shrimpling Nicholas, joiner
 *Smith Robert, waterman
 *Smith William, fish merchant
 Thompson John, blacksmith
 *Tripp John, toll collector
 *Wisker John, cowkeeper

FARMERS.

Chapman Isaac	Hewitt William
Chapman Wm. jun.	Howell John
Fabb Wm. (owner)	Howes William
Gowen Henry	Kindle John
Gowen Robert	Knights Edward
	Snowley Edward

STOKESBY-CUM-HERRINGBY is a parish on the north bank of the Bure, containing 418 inhabitants, about 2000 acres of land, and the village of Stokesby, 7 miles W. by N. of Yarmouth by the Ferry, and 2 miles E. of Acle. The greatest part of the soil is low but fertile marsh, bounded on three sides by the Bure and the stream which divides the two Fleggs. Robert Copeman, Esq., is lord of the manor, but Wm. Bagg, Esq., as lord paramount, claims a fine of £5 per annum from the Hall estate. The other principal landowners are Messrs. K. F. Daniel, J. Steward, John Blake, and W. Waters, and the Earl of Rosebery. The Church (St. Andrew) is a neat thatched structure, consisting of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower containing one bell. The nave was re-roofed in 1856, and the entire fabric was restored in 1858, at a cost of about £600,

A new pulpit and reading-desk beautifully carved in oak, and a well executed reredos were erected by the rector and his late brother, and the new carved oak benches, tessellated pavement, &c., were at the expense of the parish. The rector has also inserted a painted window in the chancel, and caused texts in fresco to be painted on the walls. The tower is early English, but the windows are all of the decorated period, with the exception of a perpendicular insertion on the south side. The font, eastern gable, and porch are modern. The cradle roof of the nave is a copy of the ancient one, but of less solidity. The sedilia are three graduated seats cut in the sill of a window. Some of the ancient benches remain at the west end for the use of the children, and are of unusually good design. The backs are pierced with tracery of four varieties under a line of Tudor flowers, and the elbows of the poppy-heads bear figures of quaint design. During the restorations several extraordinary mural paintings were discovered, representing the seven deadly sins and other subjects, but they have all been obliterated. Here are several brasses and the matrices of others which have been removed. On the south side of the chancel is a knight in plate armour, with a lady by his side. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., and now at £539, has 46A. 3R. of glebe, and is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. John Lucas Worship, B.A., who has a handsome rectory house, built in 1849, at a cost of £2000, and commanding fine views of the surrounding country. The tithes have been commuted for a yearly rent charge of £536. 5s. 2d. The School is held in a small brick building, which is lent ill a new one is erected. Here is a Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1811. After the enclosure in 1721, Major England, then lord of the manor, gave an Allotment of 20A. 2R. of marsh land, for the poor parishioners to graze their cows upon. It was exchanged in 1812 for 21A. 30P. In 1841, J. C. Norton, Esq., greatly improved his mansion at Hilborough Farm, and erected a steam engine for draining the marshes.

HERRINGBY, the south-eastern division of the parish, now belongs to Wm. Waters, Esq. At the Domesday survey it had five salt works, and was afterwards celebrated for its college or hospital, founded in 1475, by Hugh Attefenn, for "a master, three priests, eight poor folks, and two servants," with an endowment of £44 per annum. At the Dissolution, this establishment was granted to Sir Thomas Clere. Some remains of the college may be seen in the Hall, the pleasant and tasteful residence of Wm. Waters, Esq., but the site of the chapel is occupied by a bullock shed. A square enclosure discovered a few years ago in making a drain in the Herringby marshes, has been conjectured to have been one of the Salinæ or salt works mentioned in Domesday; and on digging the foundations of a draining mill near this, a submerged thicket was discovered, with roots in situ, but the branches, &c., broken in small pieces; the wood was alder, ash, &c. The parish of Herringby was annexed to Stokesby for ecclesiastical purposes in the reign of James I., in consequence of its church having gone to decay.

POST OFFICE at G. B. Herrington's, Stokesby. Letters from Norwich, via Filby.

Binns William, boatman
Burrowes Wm. bricklayer & shopkeeper
Capon Thomas, corn miller
Cudden John, jun. joiner & beerhouse
Daniel Knights Francis, Esq., Cottage
Eateher George, baker and pork butcher
Fearman Christmas, brazier & parish clk
Frosdick Richard, blacksmith
Fowler William joiner
Gaze Harriett, schoolmistress
Gaze William, farm bailiff

Shore Denis, shoemaker
Southgate William, victualler, Ferry
House , and carrier to Yarmouth Spanton Chas. land steward, Hilborough
Steel George, farm bailiff
Waters Wm. Esq., Herringby Hall
Worship Rev. John Lucas, B.A., Rectory
FARMERS.	MKT. GARDENERS.
Moore Aaron	Moore James
Myhill Robert	Palmer Edward
Read Samuel	Palmer James

THRIGBY is a hamlet and parish, 7 miles N.W. of Yarmouth, containing only 45 inhabitants, and 575 acres of land, of which 224A. 3R. 5P. belong to the poor of Yarmouth, by the bequest of the Rev. Edward Warnes, in 1700; and the remainder is the property of Thomas Browne, Esq., the lord of the manor and patron of the rectory, who resides at the HALL, a retired residence with pleasant grounds, in which are two remarkably fine yew fences, 12 feet high and 8 broad. The Church (St. Mary) is an ancient structure, with nave, chancel, and square tower with one bell. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, is now in the incumbency of the Rev. John Clapcott, B.A., who has 6 acres of glebe, a yearly rent charge of £212. 13s. in lieu of tithes, and a neat residence of white brick, built in 1863, at a cost of £700. The principal inhabitants are Thomas Browne, Esq., Thrigby Hall; Wm. Brown, corn miller; Rev. John Clapcott, B.A., Rectory; Wm. Hood, market gardener; and John Skinner, farmer, Charity farm. Post from Norwich, via Filby.

WEST FLEGG HUNDRED.—(See page 411.)

ASHBY-WITH-OBY and THURNE, at the north-western angle of West Flegg Hundred, were consolidated as one parish in 1604, and now comprise 306 inhabitants, of whom 210 are in Thurne, 80 in Oby, and 16 in Ashby. They contain about 2000 acres of land, a number of scattered houses, and the small village of THURNE, or Thirne, on a declivity near the confluence of the rivers Thurne and Bure, 11 miles north-west of Yarmouth. The Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, stands near this village, and is a plain thatched structure, consisting of nave, chancel, north aisle, and a square embattled tower with one bell. The church was re-seated in 1851, when a new font was purchased, and five new windows were inserted in the chancel, all at the expense of the rector. The piscina still remains in the chancel. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £10, and now at £700, is in the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. Horatio Bolton, M.A., who has a good rectory house at Oby, and is also vicar of Docking. The glebe is 21A. 1R. 23P., and the tithes have been commuted for £690 per annum. The School was built by the rector in 1848, and is attended by about 50 children. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel at Thurne, built in 1855, by Mr. Henry Brown, at a cost of £100. Thurne is a separate township of 582A., but its rectory is consolidated with those of Ashby and Oby. The Rev. Wm. Hannard is lord of the manors of Thurne and Ashby, and the other principal land-owners are the Rev. C. Cremer, Mr. John Christmas, Executors of late Robert Waters, Esq., Mr. Samuel Wigg, and others. ASHBY is now only one farm, 1 mile S.E. of Thurne, though it had formerly a church, dedicated to St. Mary, of which some ruins remain. OBY, or Ouby, contains the rectory house and four farms, one mile S. of Thurne. The Rev. Wm. Hannard is lord of the manor, which was anciently held by the Clippesby's; but the Rev. Cremer Cremer, Mrs. Parker, and Henry Muskett, Esq., have estates here. The manor house is an ancient mansion, with a barn of vast dimensions, bearing the date 1622. The poor's land, belonging to Ashby and Oby township, is 3A., let to the rector for £6. The POOR'S ALLOTMENTS, in Thurne township, awarded at the enclosure in 1820, comprise 18A. 1R. 8P., let for £25. 14s., and 18A. 2R. 4P., on which some of the poor inhabitants keep cows, for which they pay £2. 5s. each. The yearly income is distributed in coals. Post from Norwich, via Burgh.

*Marked * are in Oby, and the rest in Thurne, (except Mr. O. Waters.)*

Bolton Rev. Horatio, M.A. Rectory	FARMERS.	Davey William
Brody William, blacksmith	Bishop Benjamin	English George
*Gape Rev. Charles, B.A. curate	Brown Hy. (owner)	Garrett William
Hales James, victualler, Lion	Old Abbey farm	*Harrison Henry,
Howes Samuel, wheelwright & shopkpr	Brown Thomas	Roper's farm

Howes Samuel, (owner)	*Page W. Sherwood, Cottage farm	Waters Charles, Ashby Hall	SHOEMAKERS.
*Page Wm. Angsts. (& miller) Broom farm	Parker Thomas Reeve Wm. Glebe farm	*Wiseman John W. George, Manor House	Broom Daniel (and parish clerk)
			Grapes Charles
			Skoyles William

BILLOCKBY, $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Yarmouth, is a small parish, with only 46 inhabitants, and about 380 acres of land, belonging to Robert Joy, Esq., and Miss Brown, the former of whom is lord of the manor. The Church (All Saints) is in ruins, except the chancel. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £2. 8s. 9d., was augmented in 1780 and 1792, with £400 of Q. A. B. The Rev. Charles John Lucas, M.A., of Burgh, is patron and incumbent. The tithes have been commuted for £147. 10s. per annum. The Poor's Allotment, 4A. 1R. 30P., was awarded at the enclosure in 1804, and is now let for £9 per annum. The principal inhabitants are Robert Gown and George Manship, farmers, and James Steward, farm bailiff. Post from Norwich, via Burgh.

BURGH ST. MARGARET and ST. MARY have long been considered as one parish, and now contain 554 inhabitants, 1451 acres of enclosed land, and the village of Burgh St. Margaret, sometimes called Flegg Burgh, on the Norwich road, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Yarmouth; but the ruined church of St. Mary, with a few scattered houses, lies half a mile to the east, near the lakes or broads which flow through the marshes, and divide the two Fleggs. Of these broads, about 200 acres are in this parish. In the reign of Edward I., William de Burgh claimed free warren, with a market and fair here, and a fishery from Burgh bridge to Stokesby fleish. The manors of Burgh Hall and Stalham were enfranchised about four years ago; but the Rev. Charles Lucas, of Filby, is lord of St. Mary's, or Vauxhall manor. The Rev. Charles John Lucas, M.A., owns most of the parish, and resides at Burgh House, a handsome white brick mansion, which was erected in 1825, and commands extensive views. He is also patron and incumbent of the living, which is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £12. 13s. 4d., and was augmented in 1771 with £200 of Q. A. B. The glebe is 22 acres, and the tithes have been commuted for £466. 10s. per annum. St. Margaret's Church, which now serves the whole parish, is an ancient fabric, covered with thatch, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and tower with three bells. The porch contains a fine Norman arch enriched with the chevron, and in the chancel is a brass to John Burton, dated 1608. The school is a small structure, built many years ago, and attended by about 60 children. Here is a Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1841, on land given by Mr. Robert Moore. Thomas Wymer left a house, and 5A. 1R. 26P. of land for the use of the poor. To this, 5A. 3R. 10P. were awarded at the enclosure, and the whole is now let for £26 per annum, which is distributed in sums of from 5s. to 20s., among poor parishioners. Edward Peecke, in 1705, left a sum of money to provide for a weekly distribution of 24 penny loaves. The Poor's Allotments, awarded at the enclosure in 1804, comprise 146A. 1R. 4P., of which 40A. 1R. 20P. are let for £60 a year, and the rest is used for cutting fuel, reeds, &c., but the poor cottagers are allowed to turn cows upon it. The rents, after paying rates, &c., are distributed in coals and blankets.

Post Office at William Woodhouse's. Letters via Norwich.

Beverley William, corn-miller	Mallett Samuel, victualler, King's Arms
Green Wm. blacksmith and wheelwright	Moore Mr Robert
Green John, parish clerk	Nicholls Jeremiah, blacksmith
Harrison Mary Ann, day school	Sawyer Elizabeth, schoolmistress
Howe Robert, beerhouse	Waller John Turpin, surgeon, and super-
Jeary Wm. bricklayer Laxon Chtte. shopr	intendent registrar
Lucas Rev. Chas. John, M.A. rector, Hall	Woodhouse William, Post Office

BOOT & SHOEMERS. Ames George Wright William	Florence John Florence Thomas Gibson Benjamin Gidney Robert Green James Green Wm. (& shopr) Greenacre Charles Grimmer Richard Hales William	Newman John, sen. Newman John, jun. (& pork butcher) Nockolds John Saunders Jonathan Steward John (and pork butcher) Tooke James Youngs John	MARKET GARDENERS. Durrant Waterloo Hales William Munser Benjamin Nicholls Thomas Pulford Richard Saunders Jonthn. Thurtle William, (and tailor)
FARMERS. Bond George Claxton William Coppin William Durrant George

CLIPPESBY parish, nine miles N.W. of Yarmouth, has only a few scattered houses, 97 inhabitants, and 870A. 1R. 38P. of land, all the property and manor of the Rev. Henry Jph. Muskett, M.A., who is also patron and incumbent of the living, which is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d. He resides at Clippesby House, a handsome modern mansion of white brick, with stone quoins and pilasters, pleasantly seated at the head of a fine lawn, sheltered on the north by thriving plantations. The Church (St. Peter) is an ancient thatched edifice, on an eminence, and consists of nave and chancel. A part of the ancient circular tower remains, and the north door, which is now closed, has a fine Norman arch. A piscina was discovered a few years ago. Here are several tablets of the Muskett family; a tombstone to Thomas Pallinge and his wife, dated 1503, but stripped of its brasses; and a raised altar-tomb, dated 1594, to the memory of John Clippesby and his wife, whose effigies are beautifully portrayed in brass. The tithes were commuted, in 1839, for £244. 19s. 4d., and the glebe is 3A. 1R. 9P.

Barwood George, butcher
 Barwood James, shopkeeper
 Dawson Jas. rush-mat and collar maker
 Edmonds Thomas, gardener
 Garrett Edward, farmer, South House
 Morl Edward, farmer

Muskett Rev. Henry Joseph, M.A. rector
 Palmer Denny, blacksmith
 Thaine William, carpenter
 Warnes Jonathan, parish clerk
 Wiseman John, farmer, Old Hall
 Post from Norwich via Burgh.

HEMSBY, or Hemesby parish, extends to the sea, and has a pleasant village on a declivity half a mile from the beach, and 6 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth. It has 664 inhabitants and 1686 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, among whom are Robert Copeman, Esq., the executors of the late Rev. Thomas Clowes, Messrs. Francis and Richard Clowes, and others. Robert Copeman, Esq., resides at the Hall, and is patron of the Church, and lord of the manor, which anciently belonged to Norwich Cathedral; for we find that the prior, in the reign of Henry III., claimed homage of the tenants, and gave two palfreys to have a market; and in the reign of Edward I., he claimed here "wreck at sea, frankpledge, assize, free-warren, pillory, and tumbrel." The remains of four stone crosses, or pillars, with the emblems of the evangelists boldly carved upon them, are still to be seen in different parts of the parish, and it is supposed that the space between them was once appropriated as a sanctuary. The Church (St. Mary) is a thatched fabric of perpendicular architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square tower with four bells. The font is octagonal, and has carvings of the four evangelists, &c., on its sides; and the south porch has a groined roof, on the bosses of which are carved the Romish sacraments. In the church are tablets of the Glasspoole and Tilyard families. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 6s. 8d., and now at £187, is in the incumbency of the Rev. Clement Gilbert, M.A., who has a good residence, built in 1854 at a cost of £800. The corn tithe is mostly redeemed, and the glebe is 36A. The old Poor's Land, 10 acres, was exchanged at the enclosure, in 1810, for an allotment of 10A. 22P., which is let in small lots to the poor, at rents amounting to about £6 a year, which is divided in small sums on Plough Monday. The Poor's Allotment, awarded in 1810, consists of 15A. 3R. 35P., let for about £21 a year, which is distributed in coals, together with £2, the rent of 2R. 30P., allotted to a cottage, formerly used as a poor-house. The School, with a house for the teachers, was built in 1841 at the expense of R. Copeman, Esq. It is attended by about 80 children. A new Independent Chapel was built here in 1863, at a cost of £1000, chiefly contributed by Mr. Francis Clowes. It is a large brick structure, surmounted by a clock, and has 500 sittings. Here is also a Primitive Methodist Chapel, built in 1852.

POST OFFICE at William Boyce's. Letters via Yarmouth.

Copeman Robert, Esq., Hemsby Hall	BLACKSMITHS.	Silcock Cubitt
Copeman Robert, jun., Esq., J.P., Hemsby Lodge	Pestle William	Saunders John
Cowan Rev. William (Independent)	Pettingill Edw. D.	Warnes Hewling (& corn miller)
Emmerson George, wheelwright	FARMERS.	Woolston John
Gilbert Rev. Clement, M.A., vicar	Agus Wm. Gibbs	Woolston Mark, jun.
Green John Geo. & Jane, National Schl	Barnes Edward	Woolston Mark, sen.
Greenacre Thomas, carpenter	Barnes Stephen	MARKT. GARDENERS.
Harbord Jno. bricklayer Ferrier Misses	Bond John	Boulton Robert
Parry William, cattle salesman	Bramble Samuel	Frosdick Benj.
Pickstone Robert, beerhouse	Dunham Richard (and butcher)	Symonds John
Ransom George, baker	Durrant Edmond	CARRIERS to Yarmth
Thurtle Thomas, victualler, Bell	Edmunds Joseph	Boulton Robert
Woolston John, grocer, draper, &c.	Green Robert	Green Robert
BOOT & SHOE MKRS. Lound John	Hewitt Stephen	Knights Samuel
Grymes James Nichols Charles	Knights Samuel	Pestle William
Lingwood Robert Nichols Joseph	Littlewood David	Woolston Mark, jun.

MARTHAM is a pleasant village, with several handsome houses surrounding a large green, seated on rising ground above the marshes, $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.N.W. of Yarmouth. Its parish extends above a mile westward to the hamlet of Cess, on the river Thurne, and comprises 1092 inhabitants and 2281 acres of enclosed land, of which nearly half is copyhold and subject to arbitrary fines. Thomas Fraser Grove, Esq., is lord of the manor, for which he holds a court at Michaelmas; but Moregrove and Knightsley form a small manor, belonging to the Rev. George Pearse, M.A.; and Wm. Rising, Esq., owns the Martham Hall estate. The Church (St. Mary) is the largest and handsomest in the deanery of Flegg, and consists of nave with aisles, south porch with parvise, chancel, and square west tower with six bells. It is chiefly of the early perpendicular period, and was probably erected in the reign of Richard the Second, towards the latter end of the 14th century. The nave and aisles are separated by fine piers having laterally engaged shafts with caps, and the arcades are enriched with boutel mouldings. On each side are four fine windows, and in the clerestory five, with one of different pattern at the east end of each aisle. The south porch has a plain stone roof with moulded ribs, and the south door is a magnificent specimen of medieval carving, in two leaves panelled, with tracery heads of rich design, and surrounded with a graceful band of vine leaves and fruit. The north door has no porch. The nave and aisles are covered with elaborate oak roofs; that of the nave being of the hammer-beam kind, with carved angels, and open-work tracery in the spandrels. The tower arch is lofty, and contains a series of shields in the mouldings, each suspended on a quatrefoil. The west window is of three lights with embattled transom, and beneath it is a good doorway. The tower is of very fine proportions, with embattled parapet, good base mouldings, and stone panels filled in with squared flint. The font is octagonal, of perpendicular character, and sculptured with the seven Romish sacraments and the Last Judgment, in panels with crockets and finials and flowered spandrels. The stem bears similar panels, containing figures of saints much mutilated. The chancel is of the florid gothic style, and was rebuilt in 1855, when the entire building underwent a thorough restoration at a cost of £8000, given by Mrs. Catherine Alice Dawson, of Rollesby Hall, as a memorial of her late husband, the Rev. Jonathan Dawson, M.A., to whom there is a raised altar tomb. The east window is filled with beautiful stained glass, by Hardman, of Birmingham. The chancel arch is cusped and enriched with foliage, and rests upon massive corbels with carved angels bearing the sacramental emblems. The windows of the church appear to have been anciently filled with splendid stained glass, of which some fragments still remain; and one of them contains a beautiful full-length figure of St. Michael weighing the souls of men against demons. Here is also a tablet with a singular inscription to the memory of Christopher Burraway, who, being the fruit of an incestuous intercourse between a father and a daughter, was placed as an infant in the Foundling Hospital, but coming in after years to Martham, was unwittingly hired as farm steward by his own mother, who afterwards married him, and thus became successively mother, sister, mistress, and wife to this modern Œdipus. Discovering him to be her own son by a peculiar mark on his shoulder, she was so struck with horror that she soon died, and he survived her only a few months. The discharged vicarage, valued in the King's Books at £6. 13s. 4d., is in the incumbency of the Rev. George Pearse, M.A., who has a good residence, built in 1836. The Dean and Chapter of Norwich are patrons, and also appropriators of the rectory, now leased to Mrs. Ann Francis, and Wm. Rising, Esq. In 1160, Roger Gunton gave the church to the prior and convent of Norwich, "for the redemption of his soul." In 1843, the rectorial tithes were commuted for £628. 18s. 2d., and the vicarial for £363. 17s. 9d. The Baptists and the Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. A fair, chiefly for pleasure, is held here on the last Tuesday and Wednesday in July. About 60 years ago, a man was gibbeted here for setting fire to part of the village. The FREE SCHOOL was founded pursuant to the will of Christopher Amys, who, in 1622, left £110 for that purpose. This legacy and several small donations were laid out in purchasing the school-house and 5A. 1R. of land. A new school-room was built in 1850 at a cost of £100; but the land was exchanged at the enclosure in 1812 for 8A. 1R. 29P., now let for £17. 16s. a year; and for this income, and the use of the house and garden, the master teaches about 20 poor children. In the garden is a cork tree more than 100 years old. In 1815, Sarah Bowman left £300 three per cent. consols, in trust to dispose of the yearly dividends as follows:—£2 to be divided among the poor on St. Thomas's day; and £7 to be laid out in the education of six poor children. In 1834, Miss Diana Creasey left the dividends of £400 of the same stock, to be applied in clothing and schooling six poor children. These two charities are applied in educating and clothing poor girls, and here is also a small National School. The Poor's Allotments, comprising 78A. 6P., were awarded in 1812. Upwards of 41A. form a pasture for the cows of the poor inhabitants, and the rest is let for about £50 a year, which, after paying the drainage rate, is distributed in coals among poor families. Of a yearly rent-charge of 13s. 4d., left by an unknown donor, only 3s. 4d. is now paid to the poor.

POST OFFICE at Mr. John Lee Hunt's. Letters are despatched, via Yarmouth, at 5.30 p.m. This is also a Money Order Office and Post Office Savings' Bank.

Barber Mr George || Braddock Mr Wm.
Belson Robert, wherryowner, and corn, seed, and coal merchant

Bushell Mr Thomas || Chapman Mrs
Cooper Charles, surgeon & registrar
Crisp Anthony, surgeon
Daniels Robert, veterinary surgeon
Dawson Mr John || Gedge Saml. Cooper
Ferrier Miss Ellen, boarding school
Harmer James, wherry owner
Haywood Mr Wm. || Leach Mr Stephen

Hunt John Lee, master Free School
Palmer Mrs Emily || Pitcher Rt. bailiff
Parker Wm. flour, malt, and seed dealer
Pearse Rev. George, M.A., Vicarage
Procter Thomas, parish clerk
Purdy Mr Chas. || Raven Jno. farm bailiff
Rising Wm., Esq., J.P., Martham Hall
Rising Thomas Sutfield, gentleman
Rogers Richard, victualler, King's Arms,
Rounce Everitt, flour dlr [& bowling gn
Rust Daniel, millwright and engineer

Varley Ann M. teacher, National School
Ware Joseph, corn miller
Woodhouse Robert, basket maker
Woods Nicholas, wheelwright

BEERHOUSES.

Dove Samuel
Hindry Martin Skoyles Samuel (& carpenter)

BLACKSMITHS.

Harmer William
Lambert Henry

BRICKLAYERS.

Braddock Daniel
Felmingham John
Piggin Thomas
Wright James, jun.

BUTCHERS.

George John
Jeary John, sen. & jun.

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)

*Bane James
Braddock Daniel
Dyball Humphrey
England Henry
Faulke Js. (& miller)
Fuller John
Gaze William
Gibbs George
Gillett William
Green Robert
Grimble William
Grimson William
Grimson Wm. jun.
Haddon Horace
Harmer Hy. (& dlr.)
Jeary John, sen.

Johnson William
Knights Aldf. (& dlr)
Littleboy Robert
Long Robert
Payne William
*Pollard John
Thompson Mary
Waite Jno. N., Hall

GROCERS.

(* are Drapers also)
Grimble William
Hodds Benjamin
*Lack William
*Linford William
Lacey Susan
*Moore Robert
Nichols Robert

PLUMBERS, &c.

Durrant Robert
Self George

SADDLERS.

Allcock John

Allpress James
SHOEMAKERS.

Brookes John
Greenacre Richard
Johnson James
Kerrison Mark
Nichols Robert
Smith Albert

TAILORS.

Edwards Alfred
Smith Thomas

THATCHERS.

Braddock James
Deary John

WATCHMAKERS.

Braddock George
Reeve Hy. Webster

CARRIERS.

Dove Samuel
Gedge John
Meadows Samuel

REPPS-CUM-BASTWICK are two hamlets, half a mile from each other, and 10 miles N.W. by N. of Yarmouth. They form one parish, containing 293 inhabitants, and about 1200A. of land, of which nearly 300 acres are marshes on the south side of the river Thurne. The Rev. Henry Lombe owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor. Of the Church at Bastwick nothing now remains except the tower; but Repps Church (St. Peter) is a small dilapidated fabric, consisting of nave, chancel, north porch, and tower. The latter is round at the base and octagonal above, and contains three bells. The church chest contains an old black-letter bible, dated 1617. The ancient font and part of the old screen still remain, and in the nave are several tombs with brasses. The perpetual curacy is valued at £156, having been augmented in 1802 with £200 of Q. A. B., and in 1840 with an addition of £50 per annum out of the tithes, which are appropriated to Norwich Grammar School; and were commuted in that year for an annual rent of £400, exclusive of 18s. to the Dean and Chapter, and 4s. 6d. to the vicar of Martham. The Governors of Norwich Grammar School are patrons; and the Rev. Geo. Fdk. Hill, M.A., of Acle, is incumbent. The Poors' Allotment, awarded at the enclosure in 1808, consists of 19A. of marsh land, of which 9A. are let for £18 a year, and on the remainder poor persons are permitted to depasture their cows at the rate of 2s. a head for drainage rate. Here are 33 acres of glebe belonging to the appropriators. The School is attended by about 30 children. Post from Flegg Burgh.

Those marked + are in Bastwick, the others in Repps.

Addy John, victualler, White Hart
Halls John, corn miller
Miller Robt. beerhs. and coal merehant
Thaine Noah, blacksmith

FARMERS.

* are Owners.

+*Belson Richard
Dane Robert

Haddon George
Haddon Mrs
+Haddon John +*Haddon Wm.

Kidman Robert
Manship William
+Postle Samuel

JOINERS.

Flowerdew George
Hadden George
SHOEMAKERS.
Barber James

Powley Frances
SHOPKEEPERS.
Balls Js. & (butchr)
Dane Robert
Merrison Elizabeth
Rice Geo. (& tailor)
Yallop Martha

ROLLESBY is a large scattered village and parish, 8 miles N.W. by N. of Yarmouth, containing 531 inhabitants, 1407 acres of enclosed land, and about 200 acres of the waters called the Broads. Capt. Charles Ensor owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor. The Hall, a handsome building, which was in the Elizabethan style, but was new fronted with white brick and otherwise improved about 40 years ago, is now rented by Mrs. Dawson, and is delightfully situated east of the village, in the vale of the Broads, eight of which unite, and covering a long strip of 400 acres, forms the largest fresh water lake in the county. The Church (St. George) stands on an eminence at the west end of the village, and consists of nave with aisles, chancel, south porch, and tower. The latter is round at the base and octagonal above, and contains three bells. In the chancel is a raised altar-tomb, dated 1601, and bearing a recumbent effigy of Miss Rose Claxton, in Elizabethan dress. Here is also an ancient monument in marble, with figures of Leonard Mapes, Esq., his wife and family, in the attitude of prayer. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £17, and now having a clear yearly rent charge of £648, awarded in lieu of tithes in 1839. Thomas Sewell Moore, Esq., is patron, and the Rev. Robert John Francis, M.A., is the incumbent, and has an ancient residence near the church. Here is a small National School, and also a Primitive Methodist Chapel. The Workhouse for the incorporated Hundreds of East and West Flegg stands in this parish, on a declivity near the Broads, and is already noticed at page 411. In 1836 it was partly destroyed by fire (supposed to be the work of an incendiary), and its restoration cost about £2000. A fire-engine is now kept on the premises. The Poor's Allotment, awarded at the enclosure of Rollesby in 1816, comprises 23A. 1R. 32P., now let for about £23 a year, which is distributed in coals. In 1620 and 1669, Cpfr. Amys and Leonard Mapes left to the poor parishioners $1\frac{1}{2}$ A. of land, now let for £4. 10s., which is applied towards the support of a Sunday School. Post from Flegg Burgh.

Annisson Richard Steward, wheelwright
Boyce Mr John Hudson

Brown Benjamin, vict. Horse & Groom
Ensor Capt. Charles || Rising Mrs
Dawson Mrs Catherine Alice, Hall
Francis Rev. Robert John, M.A., Rectory

George Richard, master, and Emily, matron, Union House

Harvey George, gardener & pork butcher
Harrison Mary, teacher, National School
Lincoln Richard Fabb, boarding school
Pulford John, farm bailiff

BEERHOUSES.
Frosdick Daniel

Gaze James

BLACKSMITHS.

Lowne David

Nicholls William

CARPENTERS.

Gaze James and Richard

FARMERS.

Baldry John

Beck Benjamin

Christmas J. (owner)

Daniels George

Daniels Robert

Dunham John

Green Robert

Frosdick James

Kemp William

Lowne David

Manship Thomas

Myhill William

Nicholls William

Palgrave Richard

Ransome Richard

SHOPKEEPERS.

Nicholls William

Simnett William

SOMERTON (EAST) 8 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, is a small but picturesque hamlet and parish, now united with Winterton, its own Church (St. Mary) having long been an ivy-mantled ruin. It comprises only 62 inhabitants, and about 800 acres of land, all belonging to the widow of that distinguished statesman, the late Joseph Hume, Esq., M.P., who purchased it in 1824. Burnley Hall, now occupied by Mrs. Hume, was built about the beginning of the 18th century, by J. Husband, Esq.; and its beautiful lawn, gardens, walks, and plantations, were much improved by the late J. B. Huntington, Esq. The other principal inhabitants are James Dransfield, gardener; Wm. Hewitt, gamekeeper; Hy. Gudgeon Nelson and Jas. Plane, farmers; and Benjamin Varley, blacksmith. Post from Yarmouth, via Hemsby.

SOMERTON (WEST) village is pleasantly scattered at the foot and on the declivities of a gentle eminence, 9 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth. Its parish contains 244 inhabitants, and upwards of 11 acres of land. Thomas F. Grove, Esq., is chief owner, and lord of the manor, which is mostly copyhold, subject to arbitrary fines. Robert and Wm. Rising, Esqrs., have estates here. The Church (St. Mary) is a thatched edifice, consisting of nave, chancel, north porch, and tower. The latter is round at the base and octagonal above. In the chancel are several tablets of the Rising family. The perpetual curacy was certified at £16, but it has been augmented with £1600 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and £200 given by Thomas F. Grove, Esq., the patron and owner of the tithes, in 1825. These sums were laid out in the purchase of land, and the living is now valued at £98. The tithes were commuted in 1840 for £317. 10s. per ann. The Rev. Richard Daniel, M.A., is the non-resident incumbent, and the Rev. J. J. Badeley, of Mautby, is the officiating curate. In the reign of Henry II., Ralph de Granville, Lord Chief Justice of England, founded a Hospital here for lepers, subject to the priory of Butley, in Suffolk. On the Hall estate human bones have occasionally been found, and in 1844 a stone jug and a skeleton were dug up near the churchyard. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, built in 1857. Robert Hales, the celebrated "Norfolk Giant," was born in this parish in 1820. This remarkable man stood 7 feet 6 inches high, and weighed 452lbs. When in his prime he measured 64 inches round the chest, 62 round the waist, 36 across the shoulders, and 21 round the calf of the leg. In early life he was engaged in seafaring pursuits, but his enormous height induced him to travel and exhibit himself, and in this way he visited America and various parts of the Continent, as well as all the principal towns in the kingdom, and was presented to the Queen, the late King of the French, and other potentates. Being at length tired of his wandering life he settled in London, but afterwards removed to Sheffield, where he for some years kept a public house. His health was much impaired by the close confinement of the caravans in which he exhibited, and he died in November, 1863, at the early age of 43, whilst on a visit to Yarmouth. Hales' parents were conspicuous for their great height, his father being 6 ft. 6 in. in height, and his mother 6 feet. His four brothers averaged 6 ft. 5 in., and his five sisters averaged 6 ft. 3 in. One of the latter, Mary, was 7 ft. 2 in. high and for some years travelled with her brother, but died in 1842, at the age of 20. Several members of this Patagonian family are still resident in this neighbourhood.

POST OFFICE at G. Howe's. Letters desp. to Yarmouth via Hemsby, at 4.40 p.m.

Annison Daniel, butcher	Rising Robert, Esq., Somerton Cottage
Blackburn William, shoemaker	Warnes Wm. corn, coal, and reed mert.
Hales Thos carrier and coal dealer	FARMERS.
Howes Benjamin, mail cart driver	Andrews James
Howes George, blacksmith, wheelwright,	Dyball John (owr.)
and victualler, Lion	Gibson John
Howes Samuel, post messenger	Howes George
Moll Isaac, farm bailiff	Jay Thomas, Hall
	Varley John
	SHOPKEEPERS.
	Kipping John
	Plane Charlotte

WINTERTON is an ancient fishing village, lying in a bay, 8 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, and sheltered on the north-east by Winterton Ness, well known to the mariner as the most fatal headland between Scotland and London. (See p. 340). It has 682 inhabitants, and contains 1562 acres of land, exclusive of a large extent of sea-beach and warren. The Earl of Winterton is lord of the manor, but Mrs. Hume and W. B. Hume, Esq., have estates here. The rectory is valued in the King's Books at £20. 13s. 4d., and has annexed to it the curacy of East Somerton. The Rev. J. Nelson, B.A., is the incumbent, and the joint benefices are valued at £492 per ann. The Church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity and All Saints, consists of nave, south porch, chancel, and fine embattled tower. The latter is 120 feet high, and is surmounted by four carved figures in lieu of pinnacles. It contains five bells, and its summit commands an extensive view of the ocean. New windows were inserted in the chancel in 1859. The roof of the nave is supported by eighteen wooden pillars, nine on either side, and the pulpit stands under the centre of the chancel arch. Here is a brass to Thomas Husband, dated 1676, and several tablets of the Knights, Lens, Huntington, and Hume families. The Rectory House was built in 1822. In the village is a National School, and also a small Primitive Methodist Chapel. The Light House, which stands on a lofty summit on the south east side of the village, is an hexagonal tower, nearly 70 feet high, and now illuminated with patent lamps and reflectors. It is the property of Trinity House, London, and was granted in 1687 to Sir Edward Turnour, with "1d. per ton for every vessel sailing by." There were formerly two lights on the Ness, more than a mile north of the village, but they were removed about 35 years ago. In 1843, a Floating Light was placed in the Cockle Gatt, at the north entrance to Yarmouth Roads. Two neat houses were erected on the cliff in 1840, for the residence of the light-keepers. A coast-guard consisting of seven men and a chief-officer, and a number of beachmen, are stationed here. In 1859, a Life Boat was placed here by the National Life Boat Association, and is manned by thirteen beachmen and a coxswain. It has been the means of affording assistance to many distressed vessels. Winterton had formerly a market, fair, and races. In 1665, by the sea encroaching on the cliffs, several large bones were found, and one of them, weighing 57 pounds, and measuring 3 feet 2 inches, was pronounced by the faculty to be the leg-bone of a man! On Dec. 27th, 1791, a high tide caused such alarming sea-breaches at Winterton, Horsey, and Waxham, as to threaten destruction to all the level marshes from thence to Yarmouth, Beccles, &c. Since 1766, Winterton has given the title of Earl (in the Irish Peerage) to the Turnour family. The Right Hon. Edward Turnour, the present Earl of Winterton and Viscount Turnour, resides at Shillinglee Park, Surrey. A National School was built here in 1845, on land given by the late Joseph Hume, Esq., M.P. Post from Yarmouth, via Hemsby.

Bell John, shopkeeper
 Boulton Edward, farmer, Hall Farm
 Brown Robert, carrier to Yarmouth
 Bungard John, coast guard officer
 Crisp Jas. farmer || Empson Jas. farmer
 George Philip, carrier to Yarmouth
 Green John, farmer || Leach Edw. shopr
 Hewitt James, baker and shopkeeper
 Hume Wm. Burnley, Esq., Hill House

Jay Christopher, parish clerk
 Juby John, vict. Fisherman's Return
 Larner George, vict. Three Mariners
 Nelson Rev. John, B.A., Rectory
 Pearce Jas. and Smith Wm., Lighthouse
 Smith James, shoemaker
 Starling George, corn miller
 Wilton George & Mrs. National School

HAPPING HUNDRED

Is of a triangular figure, stretching about eleven miles along the sea-shore, from Winterton Ness to Walcot, and bounded on the south by West Flegg and Walsham Hundreds, and on the west by Tunstead Hundred; two of its boundaries being about eleven miles and the other nine miles in length. The villages are mostly surrounded by low marshes, intersected by numerous broads, or lakes, connected by rivulets and drains, flowing southward, in two channels, to the Bure and the Thurne, and opening a direct navigation to Yarmouth, for boats of 14 tons, from almost every part of this hundred, the greater portion of which was formerly watery meadows, open commons, and extensive rabbit warrens; but the grounds are now well drained, and all enclosed, except a few small warrens, and several allotments awarded for the use of the poor. The drain waters are pumped from the lower levels by a number of windmills. Happing Hundred has suffered considerably from the encroachments of the ocean, though it appears now to be pretty well protected by the high ridges of sand hills drifted on the coast, and the occasional assistance of a few men employed to repair the breaches. This Hundred forms, with Tunstead, the Deanery of Waxton, or Waxham, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich, and was united with that hundred (except North Walsham) for the support of the poor, in the 25th of George III., when a House of Industry was erected for the incorporated parishes, at Smallburgh. Happing Hundred contains 16 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1861, their annual value, as assessed to the county rate, in 1843, and their territorial extent, in assessable acres:—

PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Acres.
Brumstead	99	1242	768	Ludham	884	4724	2678
Catfield	660	2648	2216	Palling.....	442	1630	788
Happisburgh	584	3998	1917	Potter Heigham..	439	3356	2347
Hempstead-with	178	1836	1131	Ruston (East) ..	757	5078	2086
Eccles	28			Stalham	750	3374	1277
Hickling.....	776	4786	4020	Sutton.....	338	2240	1310
Horsey-next-the	206	1242	1588	Walcott	141	1582	674
Sea				Waxham	75	2126	1911
Ingham	464	2616	1440	Total.....	6996	43,558	26,780
Lessingham	175	1080	629

+ The area of this Hundred, including roads, wastes, and "broads," is about 30,000 acres. Its annual value, as assessed to the property tax, was £26,101, in 1815, and £48,818, in 1842. It is in Loddon Police Division, and North Walsbam County Court District.

BRUMSTEAD, or Brunstead, 7 miles E.S.E. of North Walsham, and 16 miles N.N.E. of Norwich, has 99 inhabitants, and 789 acres. Cubitt Durrant, Esq., is lord of the manor and owner of most of the soil. He resides at the Hall, a good residence, which was improved at considerable expense in 1844. The Church (St. Peter) is a small structure, with nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower containing one bell. In the chancel is a piscina; and here are tablets of the Comyn and Durrant families, and several stones stripped of their brasses. The discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 5s. 7d., is in the patronage of the Earl of Abergavenny. The Rev. Horatio Nelson Wm. Comyn, B.A., who is also incumbent of Walcott, is the present rector, and has a good residence, 22A. 3R. 16P. of glebe, and a yearly rent-charge of £240, awarded in 1843 in lieu of tithes. The other principal inhabitants are Wm. Faulke (owner), George Gladden, Margaret Newman (owner), and Cubitt Obadiah Silcock, farmers; Jas. Dexter, parish clerk; and Thomas Riches, blacksmith. Post from Norwich, via Stalham.

CATFIELD, a large but straggling village, in several detached portions, 14 miles N.W. of Norwich, and three miles S. by E. of Stalham; has in its parish 666 inhabitants, and 2393 acres of land, including part of Hicklingham and Ludham Broads. Mrs. Colonel Cubitt is lady of the manor of Catfield Hall, and the rest of the parish is in the out-soke manor of Sutton, of which the Earl of Abergavenny is lord; but Mr. Geo. Barber, Mrs. Maria Crowe, and some smaller proprietors, have estates here. The Hall, a good residence, situated on a verdant lawn, embosomed in woods, belongs to Mrs. Cubitt, and is occupied by her son, Capt. Henry Cubitt, R.A. The Church (All Saints) is an ancient building of flint and rubble, consisting of a nave with aisles, chancel, south porch with parvise, and low square embattled tower containing five bells. It is chiefly of the late decorated period of architecture, and contains a good chancel screen and a small organ. In the chancel are marble tablets of the Cubitt, Prowett, and Storey families, and also a stone coffin in fine preservation. Here are many tombs which have been stripped of their brasses. The church was repaired, cleansed, and beautified in 1840, when, on removing the numerous coats of whitewash, it was found that the whole surface of the walls of the nave had been covered with paintings, representing a variety of scriptural and legendary subjects,

The finest of these was of such curious character, as to have been deemed unique. The general idea of the artist seems to have been to represent a tree, bearing for its fruit the seven deadly sins, and at the same time exhibiting their fatal consequences in a language that the most ignorant could not fail to comprehend with ease, the most learned to contemplate with advantage. The whole picture was treated with great spirit, and displayed more artistic skill than could have been expected from the period, which from the dresses of some of the figures must have been about the reign of Edward III. All the paintings have been again hidden from observation. In 1852, the seats in the church were re-arranged, by which 145 additional sittings were obtained. The living is a discharged rectory and vicarage united, and is valued in K.B. at £7. 10s. The Bishop of Norwich and the Rev. B. L. Cubitt, B.A., are patrons alternately, and the latter is the present incumbent. The Rectory House is a good residence of white brick, erected in 1852 on the site of an older building, in which the poet Cowper is said to have once resided. The glebe is 21A. 3R. 11P., and the tithes have been commuted for £606 per annum. Here is a Primitive Methodist Chapel, built in 1838, and enlarged in 1859. The National School was built in 1853, and will accommodate about 100 children. The poor have 4A. 22P. of land at Ludham, given by unknown donors, and now let for £10; and the interest of £43, arising from the sale of five tenements. The Poor's Allotment, awarded at the enclosure, in 1802, consists of 57A. 9P. of heath land, now let for £13 per annum. A coach and several carriers pass through the village from Sutton to Yarmouth on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays.

POST OFFICE at John Ball's. Letters desp. at 2.45 p.m. via Stalham to Norwich.

Baldwin George, bricklayer
 Christmas William, tailor Dye William, victualler, White Horse
 Cubitt Rev. Benj. Lucas, B.A. Rectory
 Cubitt Capt. Henry, R.A. Catfield Hall
 Hammond Edward, carrier to Norwich
 Hewitt Richard, farm bailiff
 Moore Mrs Maria || Newman Mr Sml.
 Myhill Martin, gardener
 Pycroft John, gardener and poulterer Riches Wm. and John, wherry owners, and corn and seed merchants
 Riches Mr Richard || Woolston Rt. carter
 Hammond Edward, victualler, Crown
 BLACKSMITHS. BUTCHERS.
 Gibbs William Bensley Charles
 Harbord Thomas Southgate William

FARMERS.
 (* are Owners.)
 *Barber George
 Barber William
 *Beck James
 *Beck William
 *Crowe Mrs Maria,
The Grove
 Cubitt Charles Geo.
 Dawson Alice
 *Dawes George
 *George Robert
 *Mace John Neave Edward (and cattle dealer)
 Neave Frederick,
Wood street

*Neave William
 *Pigg Philip, sen.
 *Rice Robert, Wood street
 Riches Wm. & John
 Slipper William
 Ward George, (and miller)
 GROCERS & DRPRS.
 Balls John
 Barcham Samuel
 JOINERS, &C.
 Myhill Edward
 Page John
 SHOEMAKERS.
 Pigg Philip, jun.
 Pycroft Thomas

ECCLES-BY-THE-SEA, nine miles E. by S. of North Walsham, is a decayed parish, once a noted fishing town, with a lordship of 2000 acres, but so wasted by the incursions of the ocean, that the inhabitants, in their petition for a reduction of taxes, in 1605, complained that they had then only 14 houses, and 300 acres of land, "the rest being all destroyed by the sea, together with the church." It has now only 28 inhabitants, and 253 acres of land, divided into two farms, occupied by John Clements and Henry Whittaker. Charles Lombe, Esq., is lord of the manor, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K.B. at £8. The Rev. J. F. Osborn, of Norwich, is the incumbent, and has a yearly rent-charge of £58. 10s. in lieu of tithes; but owing to the want of a church, this is a sinecure benefice, and the inhabitants use the church at Hempstead, with which parish they have long been united for the support of the poor. Eccles Church (St. Mary) was destroyed about 260 years ago, as noticed above; but the tower and part of the walls are still standing. The tower is round at the base and octagonal above, and is about 9 feet in diameter. The remains of the walls of the church are about six feet high and three feet thick, but were entirely covered by the accumulated sand hills, which had been thrown up by the sea and served as barriers against the encroachments of the tides, till the great storm of November, 1862, swept the greater portion of them away.

HAPPISBURGH, commonly called Haisborough, is a considerable village, scattered on the summit and declivities of the sea-bank, four miles N. of Stalham, seven miles E. of North Walsham, and 15 S.E. by E. of Cromer. Its parish has 584 inhabitants, and 1953 acres of land. The soil belongs to a number of proprietors; but Messrs. Andrew and Cubitt Johnson Siely are joint lords of the manor, which was anciently held by the Parkers, who had here and at Eccles many privileges and customs, amongst which were view of frankpledge, waif, wreck, free warren, free fishing, gallows, tumbrel, &c. The copyholds are subject to fines certain. The Church (St. Mary) is a lofty pile of flint and stone, consisting of nave with aisle and clerestory, chancel, south porch with parvise, and fine embattled tower containing five bells and rising to the height of 112 feet. The font is octagonal, and bears carved representations of the symbols of the evangelists. The chancel screen, holy water stoup, and piscina, still remain. The building, which has been recently restored at a cost of £1000, stands on an elevated point of land, within a short distance of the sea-cliff, which, rising perpendicularly, and having an under stratum of sand and gravel, is so continually wasted by the agitation of the tides and storms, that it is more than probable that at some future time the church will be engulfed in the ocean, like the neighbouring church of Eccles. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £6. 6s. 8d., and now in the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich. The Rev. Jas. Slater, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a good residence, built in 1857, at a cost of £1000. The tithes have been commuted for £687 to the Bishop, as appropriator of the rectory, and £230 to the vicar; but owing to the encroachments of the sea, these sums are now somewhat reduced. The vicarial glebe is 2A. 15P.

In 1727, the Rev. Jonathan Chaloner charged his estates, now belonging to Lord Suffield, with the following yearly payments, amounting to £21 per annum, viz., £10, for the education of poor children of Happisburgh and Lessingham; and £6. 14s. to the former, and £4. 6s. to the latter parish, to provide clothing and bread for the poor. In respect of the £6 for education at Happisburgh, several children are instructed at the National School, which is a large and handsome red brick structure of Gothic architecture, erected in 1861 at a cost of more than £600, raised by subscription and a government grant. The Poor's Allotment, 3A. 3R. 28P. awarded at the enclosure, is let for £8. 8s. a year, which is distributed amongst the poor parishioners, who have also 30s. a year from several rent-charges, left by Robert Smith, Mary Williams, and Mr. Allison; and 21s. a year from the charities of James Seamlar, from which the clerk has 2s. 6d., and the vicar £4. 6s. 8d. for four sermons. Charles Summers, son of a late schoolmaster here, gave some years ago, 10A. 3R. 27P. of land at East Ruston, in trust to apply the yearly rent as follows:—£5 in monthly distributions of bread at the parish church; £3 towards the support of the school; and the remainder to a gratuity fund in aid of the Clothing Club. The land is now let for £26 per annum. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, built in 1862.

There are two Lighthouses within a mile S.E. of Happisburgh, erected in 1791, one a hundred, and the other eighty feet high. Both are lighted with patent lamps and reflectors. The lights are red and fixed, and may be seen at a distance of from 15 to 17 miles in clear weather. They light mariners through Haisborough Gat, and on a clear day about 45 churches may be seen with the naked eye, from the top of the highest. The NEWARP FLOAT-

ING LIGHT, at the north end of the Newarp sand, is moored in 21 fathoms, and carries three lights and a flag. During fogs, a gong is sounded on the vessel every ten minutes. At the north end of Haisborough Sand, off the coast, is another floating light vessel, with two fixed lights and a flag, moored in 13 fathoms. The Coast Guard Station was established here about 40 years ago, and has an officer and five men. A new station is about to be built, as the present one is in danger of being swallowed up by the ocean.

POST OFFICE at Hanh. Ducker's. Letters desp. to Norwich via Stalham, at 2.20 p.m.

Blogg William, victualler, Windmill
 Brown Paul, shopkeeper || Birch Miss
 Cautman Wm. rush candlestick maker
 Clarke Thos. land surveyor, tax collector, mail contractor, & vict. Swan Inn
 Comben Richd. asst. Upper Light House
 Cutting Thos. asst. Lower Light House
 Daniels Frances Agnes, National School
 Dilling Mr Jas. || Faulke Mrs My. Ann
 Driscoll Daniel, schoolmaster
 Ducker David, carpenter and shopkeeper
 Ducker Hannah, draper and shopkeeper
 Green William, tailor
 Humphries Joseph, coast guard officer
 Jimpson Robert, beerhouse & shopkpr
 Kelsey William, Upper Light House
 Monk George, Lower Light House
 Slater Rev. James, M.A. Vicarage

Storey William, bricklayer
 Suffling William, thatcher

BLACKSMITHS.

Drake Charles
 Thompson John

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)

Barney Benjamin
 *Bartram Robert
 *Clarke Thomas
 *Faulke James
 Frarey Jnth. Harvey
 Frarey Ths. Harvey,
 (& corn miller)
 Lacey John
 Palmer John
 Siely Cubitt J.
 *Siely James

*Siely John, Grub st

*Thompson John

*Vincent Geo. Hall

FARM BAILIFFS.

Allard James

Burton James

Earl Richard

Pye William

SHOEMAKERS.

Cole Frederick

Cooke Robert

Hanant Solomon

CARRIERS

To Yarm. Wed. & Sat

Bullimore Robert

Purdy James

HEMPSTEAD, a village and parish, eight miles E. by S. of North Walsham, and $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.E. by E. of Stalham, has 178 inhabitants, and 907 acres of land, exclusive of Eccles-by-the-Sea, which is united with it for the support of the poor, as noticed at 430. J. Blake, Esq., of Bramerton, owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor. The Church (St. Andrew) is an ancient thatched fabric, consisting of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with three bells. The twelve lower panels of the chancel screen have painted figures of saints upon them, and the font is ornamented with the symbols of the evangelists. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £7. 2s. 6d., and now at £542, with that of Lessingham annexed to it. It is in the patronage of King's College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Edward Wilkins, M.A., who has a neat brick residence near the church, built nearly sixty years ago. The glebe is 47A. 3R. 34P., and the tithes of Hempstead were commuted, in 1840, for £290 per annum. The Poor's Pasture consists of nine acres, let for £9, and was awarded at enclosure. The poor have also the interest of £32, and a yearly rent of 3s. 4d., left by Mr. A. C. Grey. Post from Norwich, via Stalham. The chief residents are the rector, John Dyball, cattle dealer; and Cubitt Howes and William Littlewood, farmers.

HICKLING, a scattered village and parish, 18 miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, and four miles E.S.E. of Stalham, has 776 inhabitants, and 4334 acres of land, of which nearly 2000 are marshes. About $1\frac{1}{4}$ mile S. of the church, is Hickling Broad, an extensive lake, upwards of three miles in circumference, and navigable for small craft to the Thurne and the Bure. The Rev. John Nathaniel Micklethwait is the principal landowner, and lord of the manor, for which he holds a court in November. He is also impropriator of the rectorial tithes, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in K.B. at £5. 3s. 4d.; and from 1782 to 1784 was augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and £200 given by John Micklethwait, Esq., and the Rev. John Wells. These sums were laid out in the purchase of 17 acres of marsh land at Acle. The Rev. Sotherton Nathaniel Micklethwait, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a commodious residence, built in 1850, at a cost of £1400. The rectorial tithes have been commuted for £814, and the vicarial for £344 per annum. The Church (St. Mary) is a handsome structure, consisting of nave with aisles, chancel, south porch with parvise, and a fine square embattled tower with five bells. Part of the chancel screen remains, and here is also an ancient altar-tomb. The interior is in a very dilapidated condition, and sadly needs judicious restoration. In the out-buildings of a farm-house, about half a mile north of the church, are the remains of a Priory, which was founded in 1185, by Theobald de Valoins, for canons of the order of St. Austin, and granted at the dissolution to Sir W. Woodhouse. The last remaining window of the priory was taken down in 1825, and forms a porch to the farm-house. Hickling had anciently a market, and has now a holiday fair, on April 23rd. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have each a chapel in the parish. The parish school was built in 1860, at a cost of £250, raised by subscription. In 1682, James Scamler left the yearly sums of 10s. to the poor, 2s. to the parish clerk, and £2. 2s. to the vicar for a sermon. The Poor's Allotments, awarded at the enclosure in 1805, comprise 83A. 2R. 30P., about 70 acres of which are let for £45 a year; and the remainder is let in half acre lots to poor people, free of tithes and poor's rates, at rents amounting to £24 a year. The whole produces £69 a year, which, after the payment of the drainage rate, &c., is distributed in coals, together with the interest of £106, which arose from the sale of two poor-houses, in 1811. The rent of five roods of land, called the Widow's Acre (£4), is distributed among poor widows. In 1803, the Rev. John Wells left £250 four per cent. consols, for the education of poor children, for the dividends of which ten free scholars are instructed.

POST OFFICE at Lydia George's. Letters are despatched to Norwich, via Stalham, at 2.30 p.m.

Annison Samuel, victualler, White Horse
 Beevor Robert, tailor Cook Cubitt, victualler, Greyhound
 Ebbs Robert, victualler, Bull
 Gibbs Mrs Sarah || Gibbs Mr Philip
 Lambert Mr Benjamin, parish clerk
 Lambert Joshua, bricklayer
 Lowne George, victualler, Ferry Boat
 Micklethwait Rev. S. N., M.A. Vicarage
 Nelson Thurlow and Hannah, School
 Ready Rev. Henry, M.A. vicar of Palling and rector of Waxham

Curtis Benjamin
 Dawson Robert
 Deary Thomas
 *Durrant Charles
 Garrett L.R. (& millr)
 Gibbs Alfred Geo.
 Goulder William
 *Harbord Robert
 *Howes George
 Kirby Clement
 Lowne George
 *Minner Edward *Myhill John (and joiner & wheelgt)
 *Neal Samuel
 Newman Henry
 *Newman John Newman Saml. jun.
 *Nudd John
 Paine Benjamin

Pratt Robert
 Slap William
 *Slipper Thomas
 Trory William
 Turner Richard
 Turner William

PORK BUTCHERS.

Beckett Arthur
 Mason John

SHOPKEEPERS.

George Lydia
 Mallett Elizabeth
 Reeve Henry
 Taylor Maria

OMNIBUS

To Norwich, Wednesday and Sat.

CARRIER.

Goose Thomas, to Norwich, Sat.

BLACKSMITHS.

Gibbs Samuel
 Pilgrim William
 Thaine John
 BOOT & SHOEMKRS.
 Beevor William
 Gibbs Samuel
 Woolston Robert

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)
 Barber Geo. Vincent
 Barnes Richard
 *Bond George
 *Bishop James
 *Borrett John, Hall
 Cubitt Thomas

HORSEY-NEXT-THE-SEA, on a gentle eminence, 11 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, and one mile from the beach, has in its parish 206 inhabitants, and 1839 acres of land, including Horsey mere, a fine sheet of water in the middle of the parish, covering nearly 130 acres. Robert Rising, Esq., of Horsey Hall, is owner of most of the soil, and lord of the manor, which was purchased by the late R. Rising, Esq., of Sir G. B. Brograve, Bart., and others, upwards of sixty years ago, when it was of little value, being generally flooded; but this gentleman, by repairing the sea-bank, draining the marshes, planting quickthorn hedges, and making a road to Somerton, rendered it one of the most fertile estates in the county. The Hall is a handsome residence, which was rebuilt in 1845, and contains a large library, a number of rare autographs, and one of the finest collections of Norfolk birds in the kingdom. Over the fire-place in the drawing room, is a copy of the Declaration of American Independence, presented to the late Mr. Rising by Joseph Hume, Esq., M.P., to whom it had been bequeathed by President Jefferson. A small Roman urn was found in trenching the ground at the back of the house in 1848; and a brass coin of Vespasian and two querns have been found near the same place. The Church (All Saints) is an ancient thatched fabric, with nave, chancel, and tower. The latter is round at the base and octagonal above; it is embattled and contains one bell. The building was restored a few years ago, and is fitted with open seats with poppy heads, some of them ancient. There is a piscina on the south and an aumbry on the north side of the chancel; and the old carved oaken screen and the stairs leading to the rood loft still remain. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in the King's Books at £3. 1s. 5½d., and augmented from 1739 to 1788, with £800 of Q.A.B. The Rev. Edward P. Neale, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a good vicarage house built in 1844 at a cost of £750, a yearly rent-charge of £83 in lieu of tithes, and about £80 a year from lands purchased with augmentation money. Robert Rising, Esq., is patron, and also impropriator of the rectorial tithes, which have been commuted for a yearly rent-charge of £70. The School was built by the patron in 1858, and is attended by about 30 children. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. The Poor's Allotment, 9A. 3R. 9P., was awarded at the enclosure in 1816, and is now let for £11 a year, which is distributed in coals. Post from Yarmouth, via Hemsby.

Rising Robert, Esq., J.P. Horsey Hall
 Neale Rev. Edward P., M.A. Vicarage
 Gedge John, victualler, Nelson's Head
 Goose John, shopr. & Thos. farm bailiff Harrington Mary Ann, schoolmistress

FARMERS.
Beckett John
Gedge John
Grapes John, (and warrenre)

Johnson Wm. (and carrier to Yarm.)
Laws James
Laws Samuel
Saunders Valentine

INGHAM, a scattered village, 1¼ mile E. of Stalham, 9 miles S.E. by E. of North Walsham, and 16 miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, has in its parish 464 inhabitants, and 1503 acres of land, two-thirds of which are arable. A large stock fair is held here on Trinity Monday. Robt. Francis Whaites, Esq., is lord of the manor, which was successively held by the Inghams, Stapletons, Calthorpes, and Johnsons. He resides at the Manor House, which was built in 1861; but the Hall and a great part of the soil belong to Orton Lucas, Esq.; and Messrs. William Wenn, Robert Frarey, George Matthews, John Harvey, and others have land here. The Church (Holy Trinity) is a large and handsome building of flint and stone, erected during that transition period when the decorated was fast merging into the perpendicular style of architecture. It comprises nave with aisles, chancel, south porch with parvise, and square embattled tower. The latter contains two bells, and is ornamented by four crocketed pinnacles. The south porch is very large, and the parvise or chamber above it, was some years ago used as a school room. One of the canopied niches of the sedilia remains, but the other three have been destroyed. Here are several large tombstones, which have been stripped of their brasses; and also some antique monuments, two of which have the effigies of Sir Oliver de Ingham and Roger le Blois, the former of whom rebuilt the church in 1360, and annexed to it the College, which he had founded here for a prior, a sacrist, and six canons of the Order of Trinity and St. Victor, for the redemption of captives from Turkey. This College adjoined the north side of the Church, where some of the ruins still remain. Its revenues were valued at the dissolution at £74. 2s. 7d. The founder, Oliver de Ingham, was a valiant knight, and a great favourite of Edward II., who made him governor of several castles, seneschal of Gascoigne, and lord warden of the marshes of Guienne, at which time he had raised a large army and recovered the country of Agnois. Previous to its being made collegiate, the Church was a rectory, but it is now a perpetual curacy, certified at £28, and augmented in 1810, '17 and '20, with £600 of Q. A. B. The Rev. Edward Wymer, B.A., is the incumbent; and the Bishop of Norwich is patron, and also appropriator of the tithes, which are leased to Messrs. Keith, Blake, and Keith, and were commuted about 20 years ago for £471. 15s. per annum. Bishop Bathurst augmented the curacy with the value of eight quarters of wheat yearly. The Baptist Chapel is a handsome brick structure, with minister's house adjoining, and cost about £1000. It has a good library, and the minister has an endowment of £8. 10s. a year from 3A. 2R. of land. The Poor's Land comprises 2A. given by one Durrant, and 1R. 13P. awarded at the enclosure, and is let for £5. 5s. a year, which is distributed amongst poor widows. The Fuel Allotment, awarded at the enclosure in 1812, is 17A. 2R. 28P., let for £24. 15s., which is given in small sums to the poor, who have also the interest of £51. 10s., of which £36. 10s. arose from the sale of an old poor-house. Post from Norwich via Stalham.

Ames Robert, blacksmith & wheelwright
Bachelor Martin, shoer. || Barcham Mr
Beck Wm. blacksmith and parish clerk
Bird Denham, gardener and shopkeeper
Clements My. Ann, shopkeeper & tailor Green Thomas, brickmaker
Kirby James, marshman
Lack Wm. victualler, Swan
Lichtenstein Rev. Isidore, curate
Neve John, gardener
Rump John, grocer, draper, & auctioneer
Thompson Mrs Elizabeth
Venimore Rev. James, (Baptist)
Whaites Robt. Francis, Esq. Manor House

Worts Mr Thomas

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)

*Ames John
Amos Wm. Cook
*Beck William
Bentham Thomas
Borrett Alfd. Hall
Culley Henry
*Frarey Robert,
New Hall
Frost Mary Ann Harvey John (and brickmaker)

Harvey Charles

Hales Robert
Hewitt Mrs, Grange
Howes John, Villa
*Lack William
*Long Saml. (and bricklayer)
*Matthews George (and corn miller and merchant)
Neve George

LESSINGHAM, 8 miles E. by S. of North Walsham, and $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. N.E. of Stalham, has in its parish 175 inhabitants, and 640A. of land, mostly belonging to Mr. John Cubitt Nickells, but the manor is held by King's College, Cambridge. The Church (All Saints) is an ancient thatched fabric, with nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower containing three bells. The base panels of the chancel screen have twelve figures painted upon them, representing St. Giles, St. Matthew, St. Simon, St. James the Greater, St. Andrew, St. Jerome, St. Gregory, St. Augustin, St. Ambrose, St. Philip, St. Jude, and St. James the Less. The original figures were the twelve apostles but probably, in consequence of their being injured at the Reformation, the places of five of them appear to have been filled with paintings of the Fathers, delicately executed upon paper and pasted over their predecessors. The heads of the Apostles may still be traced above the new figures, which are less in height. The doors of the screen have paintings of St. Catherine, St. Appolonica, St. Mary Magdalen, and St. Margaret upon them. An ancient black-letter copy of the Book of Martyrs, chained to a box, is preserved in the chancel. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, and consolidated with Hempstead. (See p. 432.) The glebe here is 21A. 1R. 16P., and the tithes were commuted in 1841 for £240 per annum. The rector also receives £20 a year from the tithes of Happisburgh. Here was a Priory, subject to Bec Abbey, in Normandy, but it was suppressed in the reign of Henry VI. The Poor's Allotment, 3A. 32P., was awarded at the enclosure, and is let for £3. 15s. a year. In 1727, the Rev. Jonathan Chaloner left to this parish the yearly sums of £4 for schooling three children, and £4. 6s. for the poor, who have also £1. 7s. 8d. per annum, left by John Ringer, Oliver Hartstrong, and Thomas Smith, out of a piece of land behind the Star Inn, now belonging to Mr. J. C. Nickells. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, built in 1843, at a cost of £70. Owners of property in Lessingham Court are exempt from serving on juries.

POST OFFICE at Phœbe Woodrøw's. Letters from Norwich, via Stalham.

Appleton Wm. wood turner, tax collector, and assistant overseer
Barber Mr Jonathan || Waterson Mr Geo.
Bartram John, farmer and owner
Clements James, shoemaker
Hewitt, Benjamin, blacksmith
Lacy Cubitt, carrier and vict. Star

Lack Jas. parish clerk and schoolmaster
Nickells John Cubitt, farmer and owner
Nurse Robert, harness maker
Osborn Edward, grocer
Reynolds James, butcher
Woodrow Phœbe, grocer and draper
Wilkins John, farmer and bricklayer

LUDHAM, a large and well-built village, 13 miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, and N.W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 884 inhabitants, and 2977 acres of land, bounded on three sides by the Bure, the Thurne, and the Ant. It is in two manors, called Waltham Hall and Ludham Bacon, of both of which the Bishop of Norwich is lord. He is also principal owner of the soil, the whole having been granted to the See by Henry VIII. (in exchange for other estates), after the dissolution of the abbey of St. Bennet's at the Holm, to which this parish belonged. This monastery stood in the adjacent parish of Horning, but its mitred abbot had here a residence and farm called The Grange, which was afterwards used as the Bishop's Palace, but the greater part of it was burnt down in 1611; since which the domestic chapel has been converted into a granary, and the remains of the palace into a farm house, now called Ludham Hall. The Church (St. Catherine) is a large and handsome fabric of flint and stone, chiefly of perpendicular architecture. It consists of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, north and south porches, and square embattled tower containing five bells. The chancel was restored in 1861 by the Bishop of Norwich, at a cost of £400, and contains a piscina and canopied sedilia. The font is octagonal, and ornamented with the symbols of the evangelists. The chancel screen is of elaborate workmanship, and was formerly richly gilt. It has the figures of twelve saints painted on its lower compartments, and is one of the finest screens in the county. The chancel floor is inlaid with encaustic tiles. In the church chest is preserved a black-letter Bible of the time of James I. Here are brasses to Grace Whitey, dated 1633, and tablets to the Beecroft, Howse, Browne, Johnson, Horsley, and Rust families. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and now at £303, in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Walker, B.A., who has a good residence built in 1858, at a cost of £800, and 3A. 1R. 1P. of glebe. The Bishop of Norwich is patron, and appropriator of the rectorial tithes. About 314 acres are tithe-free, and the rent-charge on the remainder is £943. The Wesleyans and Baptists have each a chapel here. In Elizabeth's reign, Bishop Redmor procured a fair and market for Ludham, and the former is still held as a pleasure mart, on the Thursday and Friday after Trinity Sunday. Here is a National School, built in 1841, and supported by the Vicar. The three Poor's Allotments, awarded at the enclosure in 1802, comprise 124A. 3R. 35P. One of them (about 80A.) is a wet marsh, abounding in reeds, though let for £36 a year. Another, containing 11A. 2R. 4P., is let for £7, and the other (33A. 1R. 31P.) is let for £21. The rents and profits are distributed in coals, together with £23 a year, arising from 8A. 2R. 5P., awarded at the enclosure, in lieu of land left by Philippo and Francis Haddon, in 1630, and other donors; and 50s. a year as the interest of £50, derived from the sale of the Town House, in 1790. The navigable river Ant, which bounds the parish on the west, drains a very large district, and the marshes extend to a great width at the lower part of its course from Wayford bridge to Ludham bridge. The latter has but a very narrow waterway, and after much rain, at certain states of the tide, the wherry-men have as great a difficulty in forcing their vessels through it, as formerly the lightermen had at Old London bridge. Ludham bridge was erected and repaired by the Abbots of St. Bennet's, afterwards by the Bishops of Norwich, who succeeded to the Abbots' property, and now, we believe, by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. It does not appear that any one is bound to enlarge the waterway, though to do so would benefit both the drainage of the land and the health of the inhabitants; and when once done it could be kept up at a small expense.

POST OFFICE at Robert Newton's. Letters despatched to Norwich at 2.45 p.m.

Bunn Sarah, victualler, Dog Inn	COAL, &c. MERTS.	Nash Samuel
Clarke Samuel, maltster	Clarke John	*Neve Aaron
Crowe William, refreshment and commercial boarding house	Green William	*Neve Alfred
Dale Sarah, baker, flour dealer, & beerhs	Griffin George	Rice John
England William, millwright, &c.	CORN MILLERS.	*Rice Robert
Fairhead Clarissa, glass & china dealer	Chapman Jeremiah	Slipper Thomas
Fairhead George, carrier to Norwich	Grapes Simon	Thirtle John
Farrow James, plumber, painter, &c.	FARMERS.	Thirtle Maria
Forder Richard, farrier Garrett Mrs	(* are Owners.)	GROCERS & DRAPRS.
Girdlestone Horatio, teacher, Natl. School	Applegate Wm.	Bayles John
Grapes Geo. hawker Hacon Mrs Ann	Beck William	Fendick William
Harling George, parish clerk	*Bond Ann	MOLE CATCHERS.
Huke Samuel Taylor, surgeon and regr.	*Clarke John	Bessey Charles
King James, victualler, King's Arms	Clarke Robt. Saml.	Wright Thomas
James George, exciseman	Davey Rice	SHOEMAKERS.
Jones Thomas, farm bailiff	*Ford Thomas	Green John
Myhill Saml. Glover Sadler Mr John	*Garrett James	Slaughter John
Newton Robert, victualler, Crown	Grapes Simon	Smith George
Purdey John, chimney sweep	*Green Edward	SHOPKEEPERS.
Ulph John, basket maker	*Green William,	Fairhead Ann
Walker Rev. Henry, M.A., vicar	Fritton	Murray Robert
BRICKLAYERS.	Heath William	TAILORS.
Davey Dd. & Wm.	*Harrison Robert,	Colman James
Lincoln William	(& boat builder)	Smith George
BLACKSMITHS.	*Lacey James, (and	WHEELWRIGHTS.
Thurgate Thomas	saddler)	Bubbings William
	Lubbock Robert	Chaplin John
Varley Robert
BUTCHERS.
Clarke Robt. Saml.
Pigg Mary, (pork)

PALLING, a small fishing village and parish, on the sea coast, 18 miles N.E. of Norwich, and 4 miles E. by N. of Stalham, has 442 inhabitants, and 880 acres of land. The Hon. John Anthony Ashley, of Copt Hall, Essex, owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor, impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the discharged vicarage, which was valued in K.B. at £2. 6s. 8d., and has been augmented with £800 of Q. A. B., vested in 20A. 3R. 27P. of land at Hickling. It is consolidated with Waxham rectory, in the incumbency of the Rev. H. Ready, M.A., of Hickling. The tithes here were commuted in 1838—the rectorial for £162. 18s., and the vicarial for £93. 8s. per annum. The Church (St. Margaret) is a plain thatched fabric, comprising nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with one bell. In the nave is a tombstone stripped of its brasses, and in the chancel is a piscina. The church is partly pewed, but has some open benches with poppy heads. The School is supported by the vicar and the patron, and is used by the children of both Palling and Waxham. Here is a chapel built in 1860, at a cost of £105, and used by both Baptists and Primitive Methodists. The sea is making rapid encroachments in this parish. The coast guard station was established here in 1820, and has now an officer and seven men attached to it. Here are about 40 beachmen and 40 fishermen, employing seven small fishing boats. In 1858, the National Life Boat Association gave a fine life boat to the beachmen. The Poor's Allotment, 14A., was awarded at the enclosure in 1812, and is let on lease till 1870, at a rent of £17. 10s. per annum, which is distributed in coals to the poor. Post from Norwich, via Stalham.

Banfather Rev. H. curate of Ingham	Lane Thomas	Woodrow James
Durrant Wm. pork butcher and poulterer	Nurse Richard	*Wright James
Empson Margaret, victualler, Cock	Plummer Robert	SHOEMAKERS.
Horner Wm. V. draper and shopkeeper	Riches James, (and	Crowe Horace
Manship Sophia, beerhouse	corn & coal mer-	Gaze Charles
McDowell James, coastguard officer	chant)
Sadler Thos. shopr. & clerk of Waxham	*Sutton Sendall,	CARRIERS
Sadler William, parish clerk	Palling Hall	To Yarmouth, Sat.
Tuck Thomas, joiner Thain Mrs	Thompson William
BLACKSMITHS.	Warnes Elizabeth,	Durrant William
Thain John	(and corn miller)	Plummer Robert
Wright James
FARMERS.
Barber George
Crowe Alfred

POTTER-HEIGHAM, 15 miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, and 10½ N.N.W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 439 inhabitants and 2347A. of land, exclusive of about 200A. in the large broads or ponds, on the north side of the vale of the Bure. A large portion of the soil is held by leaseholders under the Bishop of Norwich, the lord of the manor, appropriator of the rectorial tithes, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and is in the incumbency of the Rev. Rd. Bentley Porson Kidd, M.A., who has a good residence, built in 1844 at a cost of £700, and about 11 acres of glebe. The vicarial tithes have been commuted for £223. 15s., and the rectorial for £366. 5s. per annum. The latter are leased to Mr. S. Thaxter, The Church (St. Nicholas) is a thatched building of the perpendicular period, consisting of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, south porch with parvise, and tower. The latter is round at the base and octagonal above, and contains three bells. The roof of the nave is supported by stone corbels, decorated with angels' heads, &c.; and the lower compartments of the chancel screen have figures of angels painted upon them. In the south aisle are sedilia and a piscina; and in the chancel is a marble tablet to the memory of the Rev. Robert Mihill, who died in 1696, after having "suffered much during the Oliverian times, for his loyalty to his Prince." The National School, built in 1844, is a neat brick building with teacher's house adjoining, attended by about 86 children. The Poor's Allotments, comprising 98A. 3R. 8P., were awarded at the enclosure in 1803. About 22 acres are depastured by the poor, who pay 5s. a head for their cattle, and the remainder is let for pasture at the rate of 30s. for each cow. The whole rent is now about £80 a year, which is distributed among the poor who have no cows. Post from Norwich via Stalham.

Chase James, parish clerk	Blackburn George	Grapes John
George James, beerhouse & shopkeeper	(and shopkeeper)	Green Samuel
Grapes James, jun., vict. Falgate	*Blaxell John	*Greenacre Wm.
Kidd Rev. Richd. B. Porson, M.A., vicar	*Bower Edmund	Neve James
Rickard Mary Ann, National School	*Boyce Simonds (&	Rudd George corn miller)	Thaxter Saml. Hall
BLACKSMITHS.	Chapman W. Stamp	SHOEMAKERS.
Ewles William	*George Henry	Blackburn William
George William	Grapes James, sen.	Chase Edward
FARMERS.	(and joiner)
(* are Owners.)
Addy Edw. (& shopr)
Applegate William Bensley Charles

RUSTON (EAST), or Riston, a large scattered village, 6 miles E. by S. of North Walsham, has in its parish 757 inhabitants and 2494A. of land, mostly arable. In 1810, about 303 acres were allotted to the poor, who pasture their cattle upon it. The rest belongs to a number of free and copyholders. The Rev. F. W. Cubitt is lord of the manors of East

Ruston and Burnells, and Ash Rudd, Esq., is lord of Kerdiston Netherhall. Here is also a rectorial manor, leased with the tithes. The Church (Saint Mary) consists of nave, chancel, south aisle, south porch, and square tower with one bell. The panels of the chancel screen are embellished with paintings of the four evangelists, and St. Gregory, St. Augustine, St. Ambrose, and St. Jerome. The font is octagonal, and is enriched with carvings representing the symbols of the evangelists, &c. In the chancel is a piscina. The benefice is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £11. 11s. 10d., and annexed to the rectory of Ridlington, in the alternate patronage of Lord Wodehouse and the Dean and Canons of Windsor. The latter are appropriators of the tithes, which are subject to the payment of only £13. 6s. 8d. to the vicar, and were commuted in 1841 for £941. 5s. per annum. They are held on lease, with the Rectory manor, by Messrs. Ash Rudd, M. Shepherd, Henry Taylor, Wm. Garrett, George Wilkinson, and Jacob Neave. The Wesleyans have a small Chapel and Sunday School here. The National School for the parishes of East Ruston and Ridlington, was built in 1839 at a cost of £130. It is a neat structure with master's house attached, and is attended by 50 children. In the parish is a small wharf for landing coals, &c. East Ruston is distinguished as the birth-place of that truly eminent Greek scholar, RICHARD PORSON, M.A., who was born here in 1759, and was first initiated in letters by his father, then clerk of the parish. He was sent to Eton by the liberality of his patron, Mr. Norris, and afterwards to Trinity College, Cambridge, where he was elected fellow in 1781, and proceeded to a master's degree in 1785. His acquisitions in Grecian literature were uncommonly extensive, as his criticisms and emendations of authors in that language clearly evince. In 1703, he was unanimously chosen Greek Professor of the University. A short time before his death, which happened in 1808, he was appointed principal librarian to the London Institution. Post from Norwich via Stalham.

Hammond Joseph, victualler, Chequers
Hollis Mary, victualler, Fox & Hounds
Moyse Rt. coal dealer and wherry owner
Pye Robert, pig dealer and victualler,
Butchers' Arms

Rudd Ash, Esq., Ruston Hall
Simms James, carrier to Norwich
Trory George & Mrs., National School

BLACKSMITHS.	CARPENTERS AND
Gibbs Charles	WHEELWRIGHTS.
Riches William	Dixon John
BOOT & SHOE MAKERS	Hewitt Lacey
Gaze Edward (and	Plummer Charles parish clerk)	Plummer William
Grimes Robert	Riches Charles

CORN MILLERS.
Bristow John
Turner John Rudd

FARMERS.
(* are Owners.)
*Atthill Anthony. Jno
*Allen Joseph
Barber Benjamin
Bates William
Bates John
Dixon William
*Durrell John
*Durrell Samuel
Durrell William
*Gaze Robert

*Le Neave Charles,
Grove House
*Lubbock John
*Reynolds Noah
Short Robert
Whittleton Geo. W.
Whittleton Robert
SHOPKEEPERS.
Grimes James
Hollis Mary
Suffling Richard
Youngman Eliz.
TAILORS.
Curtis William Riches Isaac

STALHAM, a small market-town, $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. of North Walsham, and $14\frac{1}{2}$ N.E. by N. of Norwich, includes within its parish 750 inhabitants, and 1759A. of land, exclusive of 33A. of roads and water. A little south of the village are two wharves or staiths, with corn warehouses, coal yards, &c., on the Broads, which are navigable thence to Yarmouth. John Craske Webb, Esq., is lord of the manor of Linford and Wilds, and Geo. Randall Johnson, Esq., is lord of the manor of Stalham Hall. They are also improPRIATORS of most of the great tithes, and owners of the chief part of the soil; and the rest belongs to several smaller proprietors. The Church (St. Mary) consists of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with one bell. The clerestory is lighted by quatrefoils. The south side of the chancel screen remains, and its panels bear painted figures of St. Andrew, St. Thomas of Canterbury, St. Edward, St. Edmund, St. Roch, and St. Francis. In the south aisle is the ancient but mutilated stoup. The octagonal font was restored in 1861, and bears carvings of the Apostles, the Baptism of Christ, &c. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5; but it was augmented in 1753 with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and has now a good residence, with 8A. 3R. of glebe. The Rev. Jas. White, M.A., is patron, and the Rev. Joseph Neville White, B.A., is the incumbent. The rectorial tithes have been commuted for £557. 11s. 10d., and the vicarial for £194 per annum. About 480 acres are free of great tithes. The National School was built by the Rev. B. Cubitt in 1841, and enlarged by the present vicar in 1862. It is attended by upwards of 50 children. Here is a small Methodist Chapel. The Police Station was built in 1855 at a cost of £750, and here are an inspector and five policemen. A Fire Engine was established here in 1833. The Corn Hall is a neat brick structure, erected in 1855 by a company of shareholders at a cost of about £470, but it is now used as a library and reading room, and occasionally for concerts, lectures, &c. The farmers and corn merchants meet for the transaction of business at the Maid's Head Inn. The Lecture Hall was built in 1858 and afterwards enlarged, at a total cost of about £200. It is used by various denominations for religious meetings. Stalham Hall, the residence of J. C. Webb, Esq., is an ancient mansion containing a good collection of old china. The Poor's Allotment, 72A. 34P., awarded under the enclosure act of 47th Geo. III., is partly used for pasture, and partly let for £32 a year, which is given in money to the poor. In 1626, John Riches left for the poor £10, which was laid out in the purchase of a house, which was sold by the overseers for £80. In 1634, Thomas Smith left a house and land, to pay yearly £5 to the poor, and 13s. 4d. to the vicar. Including an allotment of 3A. 18P. awarded to it at the enclosure, the property now belonging to this charity consists of a house, stable, blacksmith's shop, and 7A. of land, let for £27 per annum, the whole of which, except 13s. 4d. to the vicar, is distributed among the poor. In 1718, Catherine Smith left six acres, called the Long Closes, to the vicar, for reading prayers every Wednesday and Friday in Lent, but subject to the yearly payment of 16s. for the poor, and 4s. to the clerk for cleaning her monument.

POST OFFICE at Miles Fenns. Letters despatched to Norwich at 4.20 p.m. This is also a Money Order Office and a Post Office Savings' Bank.

Allcock George, saddler
 Annison John, thatcher
 Barber James, boatwright
 Bates Robert, gig maker
 Belding Wm. grocer (& Norwich)
 Bond Garrett, surgeon
 Bond John, cooper || Bourne Mr Wm.
 Breeze Emma, dressmaker
 Brooke Miss Susan E., Hall
 Bulley William, blacksmith
 Burton Jonathan, corn & coal merchant
 Clarke Joseph, basket maker
 Clarke Richard, butcher
 Clowes Francis, surgeon & registrar
 Fenn Miles, grocer, draper, & glover Fenn Thomas Miles, vict. Swan
 Fisher Henry, pork butcher
 Fitt Thomas, ironmonger, &c.
 Girdlestone Robert, hairdresser
 Grapes John, vict. Maid's Head
 Juby Thomas, cattle dealer
 Kelsey John, draper || Jay Mr William
 Lack Thomas, tailor || LeFrank Mr Jas.
 Lacey Robert, veterinary surgeon
 Martins James, farm bailiff
 Parr & Dyball Misses, boarding school
 Pegg Sophia, schoolmistress

Perfitt Rt. mason || Porter Chs. druggist
 Rust William, engineer & millwright
 Salmon Henry, collar maker
 Silcock John & Son (Edward), wine and spirit merchants [drapers]
 Silcock Rd. B. & Son (Thos.), grocers & Stearman George, relieving officer
 Stimpson George, parish clerk
 Walker John, boarding school
 Webb John Craske, Esq., Hall
 West Mr John Merriman
 White Rev. Jph. Neville, B.A., Vicarage
 Wilson Thomas, police inspector

CONFECTIONERS.

Naunton Libbis
 Turner Samuel
 CORN MILLERS.
 Cook Robert
 Stearman Rt. Marler

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)
 Boardman Charles
 Silcock
 *Cook Robert
 Harvey Robert
 *Jay Wm. Howard
 Salmon William

GARDENERS.

Gaze Jno. & Robt.
 Gray Denis & John
 JOINERS, &c.
 Allcock Robert
 Hallock James
 Pestell Peter Balls
 PLUMBERS, &c.
 Pestell John Balls
 Spanton Robert
 SHOEMAKERS.
 Brookes Charles
 Howard John
 Salmon Robert

Snelling William SHOPKEEPERS. Fielding George Kemp John WATCHMAKERS. Bates Geo. John	Miles Robert A COACH To Norwich from the Maid's Head, on Monday, Wed-	nesday, and Sa- turday. CARRIERS To Norwich. Andrews William, Wed. and Sat.	Marsh — Friday To Yarmouth, Fri- day Foulger & Wise- ham
---	---	--	--

SUTTON, one mile S. of Stalham, and 10 miles S.E. of North Walsham, has in its parish 338 inhabitants, and 1310 acres of land. The copyholders are subject to a fine of 4s. per acre on the death of the lord, or change of tenant. The Earl of Abergavenny is lord of the manor, which has an out-oke jurisdiction extending to Catfield, Hickling, &c. He is also patron of the rectory, which was valued in K.B. at £6 16s. 8d., and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. George Bond, M.A., who has a pleasant residence, built in 1845 at a cost of £800, and about 15 acres of glebe. The tithes were commuted in 1839 for £325 per annum. The Church (St. Michael) is an old flint building, comprising nave, chancel, south aisle, porch, and square embattled tower with three bells. The seats are open and have poppy heads. The chancel was restored in 1849, and the east window is filled with stained glass. Many of the other windows contain fragments of ancient stained glass. The church contains 300 sittings, all free; and in a small gallery at the west end is a harmonium. The ancient piscina still remains. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, built in 1846, at a cost of £200, given by John and Sarah Durrant. The Poor's Allotment, awarded at the enclosure in 1809, is 80A., now covered with water, the shooting on which is let for £5. 15s. a year. The poor have also the interest of £20, left by an unknown donor. Post from Norwich via Stalham.

Bond Rev. George, M.A., Rectory Crowe Mr Robert Durrant Samuel, collar maker Durrant John, victualler, Windmill Ebbs William, shoemaker Flowerday Edw. shoemkr. & Sarah, school Mayes Sarah, day school Paine Benjamin, millwright Read John, parish clerk Rudd Mr. Savory Mrs Sarah Smith Samuel, vict. White Horse Southgate Richard, boat builder Suffling Mrs Mary Thornton Geo. brewer and spirit mert. Worts Thomas, corn miller & merchant	BLACKSMITHS. Beane John Richardson Joseph FARMERS. (* are Owners.) *Barber George *Breeze George Burton Juby Clarke Richard *Durrant John Durrant William Knights Sarah Thornton George HORSEBREAKERS. Burton James	Southgate Robert SHOPKEEPERS. Beane John Frosdick My. Ann, (and draper) Whall Robert A COACH To Yarmouth, Mon. Wed. and Sat., at 7 a.m., Robert Whall, proprietor CARRIERS To Yarmouth, Mon. Wed. and Sat. Jno. Bean & R. Whall
---	---	---

WALCOTT, or Woleot, on the coast, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile W. of Happisburgh, and $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. by N. of North Walsham, has in its parish 141 inhabitants and 685A. of land. Sir Samuel Bignold, Kt., is lord of the manor, but part of the soil belongs to several other proprietors. The Church (All Saints) is an ancient flint building of the perpendicular period, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with one bell. The sedilia and chancel-screen still remain, and are of good decorated work, the former having four seats, with canopies resting on clustered columns. Here are several marble tablets. Eighty-two members of the Siely family have been buried in their vault in this church. The perpetual curacy was certified at £26, and is now valued at £43. It was augmented in 1800 and 1817 with £600 of Q.A.B., and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. H. N. W. Comyn, of Brunstead. The Bishop of Norwich is patron, and also appropriator of the tithes, which have been commuted for £321 per annum, exclusive of the yearly payment of £24. 10s. to the rector of Ridlington, and £2. 10s. to the impropiator and vicar of Happisburgh. The poor have

40s. a year from Mr. Wenn's farm, as compensation for a piece of waste land, enclosed about 50 years ago by Mr. Atkinson. The sea is rapidly encroaching on this parish. Post from Norwich via Stalham.

Cook William, vict., Light House	FARMERS.	Palmer James, jun.
Gaze Mrs & Miss, boarding school	(* are Owners.)	(& coal &c.mert.)
Gaze Rt. cattle dlr. Gibbons Jno. smith	*Bush John	Turner Edmund
Harbord Sarah, grocer and draper	Lyall Robert	*Wenn William
Plummer Wm. wheelwright & par. clerk	Sandell William	Wiseman John

WAXHAM, on the sea coast, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Stalham, and 14 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 175 inhabitants, and 1911 acres of land; including Little Waxham, which has only 12 inhabitants and 206 acres of land, though it was anciently a large parish, but its village and church (St. Margaret) were engulfed in the ocean several centuries ago. The Hon. Jno. Anthony Ashley is lord of the manor, owner of the soil, and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and now at £343, with the vicarage of Palling annexed to it. The Rev. Henry Ready, M.A., of Hickling, is the incumbent. The tithes of Waxham have been commuted for £343. 6s. per annum, but Little Waxham is tithe-free. The Church (St. John) is a plain thatched building, consisting of nave, south porch, and tower. There is no bell, and the chancel is in ruins. In the nave is an altar tomb enriched with shields charged with armorial bearings, and having a canopy supported by two fluted columns. Waxham Hall is an ancient mansion, with many remains of fine arches, columns, and windows, giving tokens of its former magnificence. It has a rectangular court on its northern side, enclosed by a lofty stone wall, having crocketed pinnacles at the angles and a large gateway in the centre. Near it is an immense barn 180 feet long by 27 feet wide. Post from Norwich via Stalham. The FARMERS are—Saml. Cubitt, Brograve Farm; Geo. S. Gibbs, Hall Farm; John Grapes (and warrener), Hy. Harvey, Robt. Tuck, and Hy. Whitaker.

WALSHAM HUNDRED

Is a long, narrow district, of an irregular figure, bounded on the south-east by the river Yare; on the north, by the river Bure, which separates it from Tunstead Hundred; and on the south and west, by Blofield and Taverham Hundreds; extending about 15 miles north-west from the confluence of the two rivers near Yarmouth, and varying from two to eight miles in breadth. A considerable portion of the soil is low marshy land, and was frequently subject to inundation, particularly in the vale of the Bure, which extends the whole length of the hundred; but the commons and marshes have been nearly all enclosed and well drained during the present century. At the Norman Conquest, this hundred was called Walesha, from the watery nature of its soil, and was then held by the Crown. Henry I. transferred a great part of it to Eborard, Bishop of Norwich, as a life-hold, at an annual rent of 100 shillings. In the time of Edward II., John de Clavinger was seized of many manors here and in Blofield, and one court was held for both these hundreds, which together form the Deanery of Blofield, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. A House of Industry was erected at Acle, in 1788, for seven parishes, to which ten other parishes were afterwards united, but the house was burnt down in Nov., 1834. Walsham Hundred is crossed both by the Norwich and Yarmouth railway and turnpike, and contains thirteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1861, their annual value as assessed to the county rate, in 1843, and their territorial extent, in assessable acres:—

PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.	PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.
Acle	926	5828	3165	Upton-with- Fishley* }	601 10	3996	2112
Beighton	365	2568	996	Walsbam (South)
Halvergate	511	5722	2636	St. Mary	386	2152	1285
Hemblington	219	1630	663	St. Lawrence ..	220	3562	1867
Moulton	259	2068	1001	Wickhampton	119	2708	1602
Ranworth-with- Panzworth* .. }	282 121	3614	2444	Woodbastwick ..	294	2572	1418
Reedham	836
Tunstall	112	2748	1598	Total	5241	44,156	24,058

* Fishley and Panzworth are ecclesiastically separate parishes.

 The whole Hundred is in BLOFIELD UNION, and in Acle Police Division. All its parishes are in Norwich County Court District, except Wickhampton, which is in Yarmouth District.

ACLE is a pleasant and well-built village, on two opposite acclivities, 11 miles E. of Norwich, and eight miles W. by N. of Yarmouth. At the Conquest, it was a fief of the Crown, and was granted by the Conqueror to Roger Bigod, who obtained for it a market and fair. The former has long been obsolete, but the latter is now held on Midsummer day. Richard the Second granted the inhabitants freedom from all tolls, suits of shire and of hundreds, with some other immunities. The parish contains 926 inhabitants, and 3165 acres of land, the greater part being marsh; a small portion of which is a detached allotment, made at the enclosure, in 1797, and lying near Yarmouth. Lord Calthorpe is the principal owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K.B. at £20, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Robert Winter Kennion, M.A., who has a large brick residence in the Tudor style, built in 1858; a yearly rent-charge of about £700 in lieu of tithes; and 13A. 3R. 27P. of glebe. The Church, dedicated to St. Edmund the King, consists of nave, chancel, north and south porches, and tower. Each of the porches has a parvise or chamber over it; and the tower, which contains five bells, is round at the base and octagonal above. The building is of rubble and flint with stone quoins, the nave thatched and the chancel slated. The font is octagonal, and bears upon its sides representations of the symbols of the Evangelists, the Trinity, the patron saint, &c. The chancel was restored in 1860, at a cost of £400; and on its south side are sedilia for three priests. Here is a brass to the Rev. Thomas Stones, a former minister; and many tombs stripped of their brasses still remain. The church contains an organ presented by the patron in 1837; and has a handsome chancel screen. In the churchyard is a number of fine lime trees. Acle Bridge, on the Bure, a mile east of the village, is called in all legal documents Weybridge; and a little below it, a short canal branches to a staithe or wharf. At a short distance east of the church are some small remains of Weybridge Priory, founded in the reign of Edward I., by Roger Bigod, for regular canons of the order of St. Augustine. At the dissolution, it was valued at £7. 13s. 4d., and granted to the Duke of Norfolk. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. A National School was established here about fifty years ago, and is now attended by 130 children. A Lodge of Oddfellows is held at the Queen's Head Inn. About an acre of land left by an unknown donor, and called the Poor's Acre, is let for 30s. a year, of which 10s. 6d. is paid for a sermon, 1s. goes to the clerk, and the remainder is distributed in bread on Good Friday. The poor have also two other pieces of land which are let for small sums; and they had a sand pit till 1861, when it was sold to the rector for £20, and the money applied to other purposes.

POST OFFICE at Richard Leeder's. Letters are despatched to Norwich at 4.50 p.m., and to Yarmouth at 8.20 a.m. Letter carriers to Reedham daily, and to Upton every alternate day. This is also a Money Order Office and a Post Office Savings' Bank.

Bensley Mr Wm. || Boulter Mrs Hannah
 Bilsdon George, vict. Queen's Head
 Briggs Samuel, razor grinder
 Church Joseph Only Curtis, druggist
 Cufande William Henry, surgeon
 Craske John, watchmaker
 Drake Lieutenant Spencer, R.N.
 Edwards Henry, hairdresser, &c.
 Farrance George, bricklayer
 Garwood Benjamin, veterinary surgeon
 Garratt Mr Wm. || Hacon Mr Henry
 Harrison Daniel, hay and straw dealer
 Harrison James, hay and straw dealer, and victualler, King's Head
 Hinchcliffe Chas. cowkeeper || Hart Miss Hill Rev. George Frederick, M.A., incumbent of Repps-with-Bastwick
 Holmes Charles, market gardener
 Hunn James, victualler, Hermitage
 Jay Joseph Tillett, surgeon
 Kennion Rev. R. W., M.A. Rectory
 Knights William, grocer and draper
 Leeder Rd. grocer, draper, & hairdresser Mallett Joshua, wherry owner, lime, tile, brick, &c. merchant, and vict. Angel
 Money John, basket maker
 Meen Mr John || Peachment Miss
 Pierpoint Rev R. D., B.A. curate
 Read Mrs Sarah || Watts Mr George
 Riches John Worship, vety. surgeon
 Riches John, superintendent of police Squire J. & A. corn millers; h Fishley
 Wigg George, jun. insurance agent
 Wingfield Mr Jas. || Woods John, sweep

BLACKSMITHS.

Russell Robert
 Tills Samuel

BUTCHERS.

Bunn George
 Fowler Wm. Daniel

Wilkins Susan

CARPENTERS, &c.

Dawson Thomas
 Fowler Elizabeth
 Moore Edmund
 Stockings Edward

COAL MERCHANTS.

Benns William
 Mallett Joshua
 Porter William

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)

*Baker Benj. Hall
 Baker Howard
 Baker Robert
 Broom Samuel
 Daniels George
 *Evans Benjamin
 *Greenacre Simon
 Fowler Wm. Daniel
 Harrison Edmund
 *Hunn Joseph
 *Porter William
 *Riches John W.
 *Squires Mary
 *Tills Charles
 *Waters William

PAINTERS, &c.

Coman William
 Lemmon Thos. Jas.
 Wright James

SCHOOLS.

Boardman George
 Church Mary Eliz.
 Melville Thos. Hy.
 Shingles Mary

SHOEMAKERS.

Church John
 Church John, jun.
 Church Thomas
 England Robert
 Gillings Charles
 Harding John

SHOPEEKEEPERS.

Brown Sarah
 Brunning Abraham
 (and baker) Bunn George (and beerhouse)
 Dunt James
 Sparks John

TAILORS.

Church Joseph
 Dunt James

THATCHERS.

Hunn Jas. and Jph.

CARRIERS

to Yarmouth.
 Harrison Daniel
 Holmes John

BEIGHTON, on a gentle eminence, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles S. by W. of Acle, and 10 miles W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 365 inhabitants and 1016 acres of land, belonging to the Rev. Daniel Gillett, Magdalen College, Oxford, the Rev. J. Burroughes, H. N. Burroughes, Esq., and a few smaller owners; but Robert Fellowes, Esq., is lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K.B. at £13, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Lyon Fellowes, M.A., who has a pleasant rectory-house, built in 1846, a yearly rent-charge of £420 in lieu of tithes, and 8A. 1R. of glebe land. The Church (All Saints) is of decorated architecture, and consists of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, south porch, and low square tower with one bell. The seats are good open benches with poppy heads. Here are canopied sedilia for three priests, and a small piscina. A portion of the chancel screen remains. The two east windows of the aisles, the three windows on the north side of the chancel, and the head of the large geometrical east window, are filled with painted glass, executed by Warrington, of London. The three chancel windows contain good figures of St. Peter, St. Andrew, St. James, St. John, St. Bartholomew, and St. Philip, and the windows on the south side of the chancel will shortly be filled with painted glass representing the other six apostles. The font is early English and octagonal, and the pulpit, reading desk, and eagle-lectern are handsome and substantial. The restoration of this church has been gradually carried on during the last eighteen years, since the incumbency of the present rector, at a cost of more than £1600. The National School was built in 1856 at a cost of £200, and the Primitive Methodists have a small chapel built in 1862 at a cost of £200. The rector of this parish has been engaged for a number of years on a work replete with interest and importance, and calculated to be of invaluable service if ever the present translation of the Bible shall be revised. It may be called an "Historical Research into the Greek Text, Versions, and Translations (Latin and English) of the Epistles." The method adopted is somewhat of this sort. Each verse is divided into three or more clauses; in the centre stands the Greek text, on the left hand the MSS. confirming each respective reading, and on the right hand the Greek Fathers and the Greek editions of the New Testament, from Erasmus to the present time, all placed in chronological order. The editions of the Greek Testament are classified under the heads of Complutensian, Erasmus, Stephens, &c.; and where they respectively agree, only the head one of each is given. Under the Greek text stand the Latin versions, with the Latin translations of the Syriac, Æthiopic, Coptic, Arabic, Gothic, &c. On the left side of the Latin versions are placed the MSS., and on the right side the Latin Fathers. Under the Latin version stand the English translations, from Wiclif downwards. The Elsevir edition of 1624 is taken as the basis for all the collations of the Greek text, which will embrace about one hundred editions. It will contain a collation of more than one hundred English versions. Such is a rough outline of this vast undertaking. "To Biblical students it will be in the place of hundreds of volumes they could not collect, of time which they could not spare, and of research, which if they possessed both books and time, very few would undergo. For one person that would or could institute the comparison for himself, there are thousands who would be glad to profit by it when it is made to their hands." Such is the honest testimony borne to this work by one most competent to form an opinion. The Poor's Allotment, 9A. 1R. 37P., awarded at the enclosure in 1803, is let for £20. 5s. a year.

POST OFFICE at Mrs. Neave's. Letters from Norwich via Acle.

Barker Robert, parish clerk
 Brundell Geo. Rbt. smith & wheelwright
 Fellowes Rev. Thos. L., M.A. Rectory
 Loads Wm. shoemaker || Miles Mrs
 Maddison Geo. registrar of births, &c.
 Mihill John, shopr || Youngs Jas. shopr

Pipe Eliz. mistress, National School
 Read Robt. shopkeeper and vict. Nelson
 Rowland Martha, milliner & dressmaker
 FARMERS.—Wm. Fowler, sen. & jun.
 (owners); Jas. Howard & John Warnes.

FISHLEY, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles W.N.W. of Yarmouth, is a decayed parish, united with Upton for the support of the poor and roads, and containing only ten inhabitants, and 475A. 3R. 26P. of land all in one farm, occupied by Mr. John Squire, of Fishley Hall, (a large and ancient mansion which was re-fronted a few years ago,) but belonging to Miss Edwards, of Hardingham, who is also patroness of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £5, and now in the incumbency of the Rev. Joseph Potter, M.A., of Lingwood. The glebe is 4A. 3R. 10P., and the tithes were commuted in 1841 for £167. 3s. 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., of which £2 go to the Bishop of Norwich and £1 to the vicar of Upton. The Church (St. Mary) is a small but neat structure of early English architecture, and was almost entirely rebuilt by Miss Edwards in 1861, at a cost of about £1000. It consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and circular embattled tower with one bell. The pulpit, reading desk, and font are handsome, and the seats are open benches with poppy heads. The east window is filled with stained glass in memory of the late Rev. Edward Marsham; and here is a good harmonium. During the restoration, two stone coffin lids, with floriated crosses upon them, were found, and are now in the churchyard. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

FOLDHOLME and SKEETHOLME are Salt Marshes, on the north side of Breydon Water, three miles west of Yarmouth, forming an Extra- parochial Liberty of 484 acres, belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, and let to the farmers of the adjacent parishes.

HALVERGATE, a parish and well-built village, seven miles W. of Yarmouth, has 541 inhabitants, and 2675A. 2R. 35P. of land, two-thirds of which are marshes. Though now distant about three miles S. of the Bure, and four miles N. of the Yare, Halvergate was a seaport, before the land was formed on which Yarmouth is built. (See page 332.) Robert Fellowes, Esq., is lord of the manor, and owner of part of the soil; and the rest belongs to Robt. Gillett, Esq., Andrew Fountaine, Esq., Richard Gillett, Esq., Major Nesbitt, Rev. D. Gillett, and a few smaller owners. The Church (St. Peter and St. Paul) is an ancient fabric of brick, rubble, and flint, with stone quoins. It consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square tower. The latter contains six bells, and is surmounted by figures of the four evangelists in lieu of pinnacles. The nave is thatched and the chancel tiled. The lower part of the screen remains, and four of its panels have paintings of saints upon them, now nearly obliterated. Here are several tablets of the Gillett and Bately families. In 1852, the tower was restored at a cost of £300; in 1853 the church was re-seated with neat open benches; and in 1862 new windows were inserted. The tower has some pretty specimens of what are called in Norfolk, "sound-holes." The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5, is in the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. Arthur Stanley Ormerod, M.A., who has a good residence near the church, a yearly rent-charge of £236. 9s. 4d. in lieu of tithes, and 43A. 1R. 14P. of glebe land. The Bishop of Ely is appropriator of the rectorial tithes, and has 2A. 13P. of glebe, and a rent-charge of £330. 9s. 10d. The tithes were commuted in 1840. The National School is a neat red brick building, erected in 1855, and attended by about 60 children. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, built in 1858 at a cost of £100. Halvergate Hall, the seat of Robert Gillett, Esq., is a handsome white brick residence, built in 1840, surrounded by pleasant grounds, and commanding a fine view of the marshes, with Yarmouth in the distance. The Fuel Allotment, 16A. 3R. 12P., awarded at the enclosure in 1805, is let for £40, which is distributed in small sums among the poor, who have also a yearly rent-charge of £5, left by Judith Lambe, in 1735, out of her estate here, and expended in weekly distributions of bread. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

Beck Bessy, vict. Hare and Hounds
Crane Jacob, jun. corn miller
Flint Robert, parish clerk
Gedge Robert, plumber, painter, &c.
Gillett Robert, Esq. The Hall
Gillett Richard, Esq.
Harper Robert, victualler, Crown
Hunting Daniel John, vety. surgeon
Ives William, farrier
Mallett Robert, joiner and carpenter
Ormerod Rev. A. S., M.A. (and surrogate) vicar, Vicarage

Sharman Thomas, victualler, Red Lion Skipper Nathaniel, pork butcher
Solomon Mary Ann, National School
BLACKSMITHS.	Mallett James
Harper John	SHOPKEEPERS.
Thrower Robert	Ives Sarah
Wyand Alfred	Jones Elizabeth
BRICKLAYERS.	CARRIER
Beck Bessy	Philip Wyand, to
Mutton James	Yarmouth, Wed.
SHOE MAKERS.	& Saturday
Jones Thomas

HEMBLINGTON is a small scattered village and parish, eight miles E. by N. of Norwich, containing 219 inhabitants, and 736 acres of land, belonging to the lord of the manor, H. N. Burroughes, Esq., except 91 acres, belonging to William Jary, Esq., and 12 acres to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The latter are appropriators of the tithes, which were commuted in 1840 for £290 a year. They are also patrons of the perpetual curacy, which was certified at £15, and has been augmented since 1775 with £1400 of Q.A.B., so that it is now worth £56 per annum. The Rev. George Day, M.A., of Norwich, is the incumbent, for whom the Rev. James Simpson, of South Walsham, officiates. The Church (All Saints) is a small dilapidated fabric, consisting of nave, chancel, south porch, and round tower with one bell. It contains tablets of the Heath and Burcham families, and in the chancel is a piscina. About $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile N.W. of the church is Pedam, a scattered hamlet, which derives its name from a fine lake or dam, that covers ten acres, and has a beautiful waterfall, ornamented with grottoes, arches, piles of stones and clumps of trees, arranged in the most fantastic manner. The principal inhabitants are—Robt. Bayes, carpenter; Edw. Crowe, parish clerk; John Cotton, plumber and glazier; Jas. Howes, farm bailiff; Robert Gowen, pork butcher; Robt. London, travlg. tea dealer; Stephen Thrower, blacksmith; Nathaniel Weston, farmer; and Joseph Wigg, shoemaker. Post from Norwich, via Blofield.

MOULTON village is scattered on a pleasant acclivity, 9 miles W. of Yarmouth, and includes within its parish 259 inhabitants, and 1018A. 3R. 36P. of land. Lady Catherine Whyte-Melville owns the whole, except 200 acres, and is lady of the manor, impropiator, and patroness of the vicarage, which is valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 3d., and was augmented with £200 of Q. A. B. in 1775. The Rev. Augustus Frederick Bellman, B.A., is the incumbent, and has a good residence of red brick, built in 1854, at a cost of £700. The glebe is 34A. 19P., and the tithes were commuted in 1844 for £153. 4s. 6d. to the vicar, and £215. 2s. 6d. to the impropiator. The Church (St. Mary) is a small antique structure, comprising nave, chancel, south porch, and round tower. A mural painting was discovered here in 1848. In the chancel is a marble monument to Edward Anguish, who is represented with his wife and children in the attitude of prayer, and near it are a double piscina and a tombstone ornamented with a double cross. In the nave is a stone coffin, which was for sometime used as a watering trough. The School was established in 1859, and the lady of the manor contributes £10 a year towards its support. She also gives £20 worth of sheets and blankets annually to the poor. The Church Land consists of $3\frac{1}{2}$ acres, given by Henry Palmer in 1523. The Poor's Allotment, 9A. 2R. 22P., was awarded at the enclosure in 1803, and is now let for £20. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

Bellman Rev. Augustus Frederick, B.A.,	Youngs Edward, carrier, & John, miller
Vicarage	FARMERS. (* are Owners.)
Blackwood Miss, schoolmistress	*Allard Francis Gilbert Charles
Fane Mr Chpr. Fowler John, tailor	Boult Edward Rising, Church farm
Hall Chas, carpenter Tills Rbt. smith	Broom John, Ball's farm
Harrison John, parish clerk	Porter Benjamin Thirkettle Robert
Thirkettle Daniel, shoemaker	Woods James *Wright Adam
Tills Charles, beerhouse and shopkeeper	*Wright Sl. & bricklayer *Wright S. jun

PANXWORTH, 9 miles E.N.E. of Norwich, is a small village and parish, containing 121 inhabitants, and about 577 acres of land, united with Ranworth, for the support of the poor. J. Kerrison and H. N. Burroughes, Esqrs., own some of the soil, and the former is lord of the manor. The Church (All Saints), after being many years in ruins, was entirely rebuilt in 1847, at a cost of £600, except the ancient tower, which still remains and has two bells. It is a neat but small edifice with good open benches, having sittings for 120 hearers. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, and has been consolidated with Woodbastwick, since 1699. The glebe here is 32A. 2R. 30P., and the tithes were commuted in 1839 for £143. 15s. 9d. per annum. The chief residents are—James Chapman, corn miller and farmer; Robert Moor and David Walker, farmers; Michael Hardy, parish clerk; James Ives, vict. Lion; Matthew Rix, shopkeeper; and Thomas Starling, blacksmith. Post from Norwich, via Blofield.

RANWORTH, on a small broad, near the river Bure, 10 miles E.N.E.

of Norwich, has in its parish 282 inhabitants, about 1867 acres of land, and several broads or lakes, one of which is a large decoy. Panxworth is united with it for the support of the poor. John Kerrison, Esq., owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor, which was anciently held by the Bigods and Howards. He resides at the Hall, a neat mansion, with pleasant grounds and a fine sheet of water. The Church (St. Helen) comprises nave, chancel, north and south porches, and square embattled tower with five bells, and is celebrated for the rich remains of ancient wood carving still preserved in it. Its magnificent chancel screen, adorned with painting and gilding, is considered to be one of the best examples of that branch of art in the county, and bears figures of St. Simon, St. Thomas, St. Bartholomew, St. James the Greater, St. Andrew, St. Peter, St. Paul, St. John, St. Philip, St. James the Less, St. Jude, and St. Matthew. The parclose screens are equally gorgeous, the angels above the figures producing a striking and brilliant effect, but they are not remarkable for beauty of execution. The north side has figures of St. Withburga, St. John the Baptist, St. Joseph, St. Barbara, St. George, and St. Stephen. Above the latter is the figure of a Bishop. The south side has figures of St. Laurence (with an archbishop above him), St. Michael, St. Salome, St. Mary the Virgin, St. Mary (the mother of James), and St. Etheldreda. The ancient lectern is also deserving notice, but much of the splendid carving which once adorned this church has been destroyed by mistaken zeal or the slower decay of time. In the chancel is a piscina, and here are several tablets of the Kerrison, Preston, and Heath families. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £4, and now at £308, with that of Upton annexed to it. In 1773 and '87, it was augmented with £400 of Q.A.B. The Rev. John Wm. Greaves, B.A., is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Norwich patron; but the Bishop of Ely is appropriator of the rectorial tithes, which are now leased to J. Kerrison, Esq. The glebe here is 10A. 19P., and the tithes were commuted in 1839—the vicarial for £132. 5s., and the rectorial for £225. 5s. per annum. The Vicarage House is a good white brick residence, built in 1845, at a cost of £900. The School is held in a small building purchased in 1859. On the 13th January, 1855, a singular prodigy was born here and is still living. It is a boy with six toes on each foot, and five fingers and two thumbs on each hand. He is double-jointed, his fingers and toes are webbed, and his face presents a grotesque appearance. The Poor's Land (about $3\frac{1}{2}$ acres), belonging to Ranworth-with-Panxworth, is let for £2. 15s. 6d., but the donor is unknown. The common was enclosed in 1800. The chief residents—are the Rev. J. W. Greaves, B.A., Vicarage; John Kerrison, Esq., Hall; Edward Elliott, farmer; Wm. Jarman, parish clerk; Robert Lemmon, vict., Jolly Maltsters; Sarah Mallett, schoolmistress; and Robert Thurtle, shopkeeper, and carrier to Norwich, Saturdays. Post from Norwich, via Blofield.

REEDHAM is a large scattered village, on the north side of the river Yare, 9 miles S. by W. of Yarmouth, and near the junction of the two branches of the Great Eastern Railway from Yarmouth and Lowestoft to Norwich. The Railway Station, a good red brick structure of Elizabethan architecture, was built in 1844, at a cost of about £2000, and is about a mile west of the village. Reedham is supposed to have derived its name from the great quantity of reeds growing in the marshes, and is noticed as being one of the seats of the Saxon Kings of East Anglia, and as the place where Lothbroch, the Dane was murdered. (Vide p. 333.) The matrix of an Agnus Dei was found here in 1816, in a field supposed to be site of a Roman station, and many Roman coins of Hadrian, Vespasian, Antoninus Pius, Faustina the Younger, and Gordianus III. have been dug up here. About 3 miles N.E. of the church is the little hamlet of Berney Arms, on the banks of the Yare, where there is a small station on the Norwich and Yarmouth Railway. The parish contains 826 inhabitants, and has 3241 acres of land, of which 2163 are meadow and 1067 arable. H. M. Leathes, Esq., is lord of the manor, but John Rose, T. T. Berney, and R. H. V. Walpole, Esqrs., Colonel Edward Stracey, Major Nesbitt, the Rev. G. D. Tuck, and others, have estates here. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £18, and now at £607, with the vicarage of Freethorpe annexed to it, is in the patronage of the lord of the manor. The Rev. Frederick Leathes is the present rector, and has a large and commodious residence near the church. The glebe here is 92A. 1R. 9P., and the tithes have been commuted for £520 a year. The Church (St. John the Baptist) is an ancient thatched fabric of rubble and flint, with many Roman bricks disposed in the herring-bone style in the north wall of the chancel. It consists of a nave, a chancel with an aisle or chapel on its south side, a north porch, and a square embattled tower containing five bells and surmounted by crocketed pinnacles. Several of the windows are filled with stained glass in memory of the rector's wife, brother, &c. In the chancel aisle are two altar tombs, one of which, dated 1584, bears figures of Henry Berney, Esq., his wife, and nine children, in the attitude of prayer. Here are also tablets of the Leathes, Reading, Berney, and Melling families, and several brasses. The chancel was restored about 20 years ago, at the expense of the late rector; and the rest of the building underwent considerable improvement at a cost of £500 given by the parishioners. A National School, of brick and stone, in the Elizabethan style, was erected here in 1844, at the expense of the patron and incumbent, aided by grants from the National School Society and the Committee of Council on Education. It has room for 100 children. Here is a small Primitive Methodist Chapel, built in 1851. About £6 a year derived from 2A. 2R. 32P. left by an unknown donor, are expended in repairs of the church.

POST OFFICE at John Hindle's. Letters from Norwich, via Acle.

Barnes Edward, vict., Railway Hotel
 Barnes James, millwright
 Burton John, blacksmith, horse letter, and coal dealer
 Crane Mr Jacob || Darby Thos. miller
 Gilbert Horace, marshman
 Goffen Ann, wherry owner
 Goffen Jas. lime burner & coal merchant
 Hall Charles, vict. Brickmakers Arms
 Hall James, boat builder & vict. Nelson
 Hindle John, plumber, painter, &c.
 Houghton Chtte. mistress, Natnl. School
 Hurst John, policeman
 Jackson William, station master
 Jones Sl. bricklayer, & Wm. horsebreaker
 Knights Charles, vict. Berney Arms
 Leathes Rev. Frederick, rector, Rectory
 Leathes Rev. Wm. curate of Wickhampton
 Manthorpe Robert, ferryman
 Mutton Richard, victualler, Ship

Playford John, cattle salesman
 Rose John, Esq.
 Sewell James Cooper, tailor
 Smith Edw. butcher, & Robt. beerseller
 Stone Benjamin, brickmaker
 Wales Isaac, cooper

CARPENTERS.

Chester Francis
 Crouchen Henry
 Leyton George

FARMERS.

Benns Philip
 Browne Rt. (ownr)
 Burgess Eliz. M.
 Cockerill Ezekiel
 Duffield John
 Jary Wm., Hall
 Ward James

SHOEMAKERS.

Nicholas Robert

Sales Samuel (and parish clerk)
 Stone Thomas

SHOPKEEPERS.

Barton Sarah
 Cable Arthur, (and hairdresser)
 Hall James
 High James
 Hindle Elizabeth
 King George
 King Robert
 Smith Samuel

TUNSTALL, 8 miles W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 112 inhabitants, and about 1612 acres of land, mostly the property of Andrew Fountaine, Esq., the lord of the manor; but the Bateley family, Mrs. Boulton, Sir H. J. Stracey, Bart., M.P., and Bacon Frank, Esq., have small estates here. The Church (St. Peter and St. Paul) appears to have been a good building of the 15th century, but it has long been in ruins except the chancel, which was fitted up for divine service in 1705. In 1853 it was re-seated with neat open benches at a cost of £350, contributed by the landowners. In the parish chest is a register commencing in 1557, but it has the appearance of being only a copy. A double piscina still remains. No tithes have been paid within the memory of man, but in 1848 they were estimated at £389 a year. The living is a perpetual curacy, certified at £6. 13s. 4d., and now valued at £72 per annum. It was augmented from 1743 to 1801, with £800 of Q.A.B. which was laid out in the purchase of 30A. 1R. 36P. of land, now let for £50 a year. The Bishop of Norwich is patron, and the Rev. Thomas C. Haddon, LL.B., of Yarmouth, is the incumbent, and has £6 a year from the lord of the manor. The chief residents are Wm. Arnip, marshman; Joseph Powley, coal dealer and wherry owner; Wm. Lawn, parish clerk; Thomas England Sampson, vict., Stracey's Arms; James Skinner, farmer; and Benj. Wm. Rising, farmer, Lower farm. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

UPTON, a straggling village, 9 miles W.N.W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 601 inhabitants, and about 1636 acres of land, exclusive of Fishley, which is united with it for the support of the poor. John Waters, Esq. owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor. He resides at the Hall, a neat brick mansion, built about 30 years ago, and commanding extensive views. The Church (St. Margaret) consists of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, south porch, and square tower in ruins. The building is of the perpendicular period, and retains part of its ancient chancel screen, with painted panels containing figures of St. Augustin, St. Jerome, St. Gregory, St. Ambrose, St. Helena, St. Etheldreda, a female saint (unknown), and St. Agatha. The font bears the symbols of the evangelists. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5, is consolidated with that of Ranworth, in the incumbency of the Rev. J. W. Greaves, M.A., and patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, who is also appropriator of the great tithes, which are leased to J. Waters, Esq. The tithes of Upton were commuted in 1839, the vicarial for £163, and the rectoral for £283. 15s. 6d. per annum. The School was built by John Waters, Esq. Here is a Primitive Methodist Chapel. The Poors' Allotment of 3A. 20P., awarded at the enclosure, is let for £6 a year, which is applied with the poor rates. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

Brown Mr Enoch

Brown Wm. wheelwright and beerhouse

Cockrill John, parish clerk

Farman Samuel, basket maker & thatcher

Johns John, victualler, White Horse

Helsdon John, wherry owner & coal dlr.

Parker James Brown, builder, coal merchant, and wherry owner

Stout Joseph, blacksmith

Turner Mr John

Turner Robert, wheelwright and joiner

Waters John, Esq. Upton Hall

Wright George, victualler, Cock

CARPENTERS.

Agus Robert

Willgress Benj.

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)

*Adams Benjamin

Brown Samuel

*Brown Wm. Hy.

Capon Robert

Cater John

Gaze Jasper

*Hood James

Howes William

Munford Samuel

Parker Jas. Brown

Porter James

*Turner Geo. sen.

Turner Wm. sen.

Turner Wm. jun.

*Waters Adams (& miller & butcher)

*Willgress Benj.

Willgress Jno. Dnl.

Willgress Jas. sen.

Willgress Jas. jun.

*Wright George
SHOEMAKERS.

Odell William

Willgress John

SHOPKEEPERS.

Boast Margaret

Turner Wm. jun.

Waters Adam

CARRIER.

Turner Wm, jun.

to Yarmouth, W.
& Norwich, Sat.

WALSHAM (SOUTH) is a considerable village, with 556 inhabitants, 11 miles N.W. by W. of Yarmouth, and 13 miles E. by N. of Norwich, remarkable for having two parish churches in one grave-yard. The parishes are St. Mary and St. Lawrence; the former containing 336 inhabitants and 1285 acres; and the latter, 220 inhabitants and 1867 acres. To settle previous disputes, it was determined at the enclosure that the road which runs through the village should be the boundary of the two parishes. H. N. Burroughes, Esq., is lord of four of the manors, and also chief owner of the soil; but W. H. Jary and Wm. Cater, Esq., have estates here; and the Rev. G. C. Pollard is lord of the rectorial manor of St. Lawrence. St. Mary's Church is a large and handsome fabric of the perpendicular period, and consists of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, south porch with parvise, and square embattled tower containing five bells. It is chiefly built of rubble, but the tower and porch are faced with cut flints, and have stone quoins. The roof is of the hammer beam kind, and the seats are good open benches with poppies. The stairs to the rood loft may still be seen, and in the north aisle is an aumbry. The east window of the south aisle is filled with stained glass in memory of the late William Jary, Esq. The chancel screen remains, but is not quite perfect. At the foot of the decalogue is an easily-solved enigma, consisting of the following letters:—"PRSVRYPRFCTMNVKRKPTHTSPRCPTSTN." Over the south porch doorway are finely executed symbolical figures, supposed to represent the annunciation, conception, and assumption. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5, and now at £195. It has 32A. 2R. 23P. of glebe. The Rev. Jas. Deacon, M.A., of Norwich, is the incumbent; and the trustees of the Great Hospital, Norwich, are patrons, and also impropriators of the great tithes. The Rev. Jas. Simpson, M.A., is the curate, and occupies the Vicarage House, which is an old brick and stone building. St. Lawrence's Church was a large and handsome structure, repaired in 1813 at a cost of £855; but the nave and tower were destroyed in the great fire on the 30th of June, 1827, when four barns of Wm. Jary, Esq., the vicarage barn, three wheat-stacks, a hay-stack, a dwelling-house, and some other property, were destroyed. This fire was occasioned by the carelessness of a cottager's wife, who threw a shovelful of hot ashes on a quantity of dry material lying adjacent to Mr. Jary's farm-yard. The roof and interior of St. Lawrence's church (which had a thatched chancel) were entirely consumed, and one of the bells was melted and the other rendered useless. The chancel was repaired, and a small portion of the nave added to it, and the church thus formed was opened for Divine service in 1832. The ruined walls of the tower are still standing, but of the nave nothing remains, except that which is built up with the chancel. The walls are of flint, and the interior is fitted with open benches, affording accommodation for 250 hearers. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., and now at £567. It has 57A. 2R. 27P. of glebe, and is now in the patronage of Queen's College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Geo. Cox Pollard, M.A., who resides in the Rectory House, a plain brick building, erected about 80 years ago. The tithes of the two parishes were commuted in 1839 for £1000 per annum, paid as follows:—To the rector of St. Lawrence, £511. 10s.; to the impropriators of St. Mary's, £270; to the vicar, £160. 6s.; to the rector of Burlingham, £24. 15s., and £12. 9s. to the impropriator and vicar of Upton. About 300A. of marsh, lying near Yarmouth, are in St. Lawrence's parish. The School is supported by subscription, and attended by about 42 children. The Poor's Allotment for the two parishes was awarded at the enclosure in 1801, and comprises 44A. 1R. 6P., let for £34 a year. In 1718, Richard Harrold left a house and 12A. 13P. of land (now let for £22. 10s.), and directed the rents to be applied in apprenticing and clothing poor children.

POST OFFICE at T. S. Ecclestone's. Letters to Norwich via Blofield, at 3.20 p.m.

Marked * are in St. Mary's and the rest in St. Lawrence's parish.

- | | | |
|---|-------------------|---|
| *Blake Wm. par. clk. | *Crowe Wm. tailor | *Gray Robert Alexander, Esq., Hall |
| *Bugg James, saddle & harness maker | | *Mutton Robert, grocer and draper |
| *Burton Luke John, wheelwright | | Pollard Rev. George Cox, M.A., Rectory |
| *Cutton Wm. victualler, King's Arms | | Pratt Alfred, shopkeeper |
| *Debbage Hannab, wherry owner | | *Robertson George, corn & coal mercht. |
| *Debbage Robert, coal and turf dealer | | and wherry owner |
| Durrant Geo. joiner and victualler, Ship | | Sibel Mr. Thomas (and chief constable) |
| Drake Miss, mistress National School | | *Simpson Rev. James, M.A., curate |
| *Ecclestone Ts. Sowell, grocer & draper | | *Spanton Jonathan, plumber, painter, &c |
| Evans Wm. bricklayer & rate collector | | Starling James, blacksmith |
| Fowler Richard, corn miller | | Toplis Mrs. Elizabeth, Glebe Cottage |

BUTCHERS. *Hall Moses Norton Matthew FARMERS. Burcham Ezra Ts. *Benns John	Cater William *Edrich Robert *Evans Edward *Hall Moses Hewitt Edward Pearce William	Westgate W. (owner) SHOEMAKERS. *Alexander Edwd. *Batley James *Harbord Bygrave and Robert	Turner William CARRIER. Cater Wm., to Yar- mouth, Wednes- day, and to Nor- wich Saturday.

WICKHAMPTON, 8 miles W. of Yarmouth, and 2 miles from Reedham and Berney Arms' Stations, has in its parish 119 inhabitants and about 1620 acres of land, of which 250 are upland, and the rest marsh. The soil belongs chiefly to John Rose, T. T. Berney, and H. N. Burroughes, Esqs., the Rev. W. Emmett, and some smaller owners. The Church (St. Andrew) is an ancient thatched building, chiefly in the early English style, but its east and west windows are of the perpendicular period. It consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower. The latter is surmounted by figures of the four evangelists, in lieu of pinnacles. On the north side of the chancel are the recumbent effigies of Sir Wm. Gerbrygge and his lady, resting on altar tombs, under highly enriched canopies with crocketed finials, and dating about A.D. 1300. The male figure is dressed in armour, his feet rest upon a lion, and he has a shield on his left arm. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £4, in the patronage of H. M. Leathes, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Frederic Leathes, of Reedham. The glebe is 16A. 2r., and the tithes have been commuted for £195 per annum; besides £4. 17s. to the vicar of Halvergate, £1. 15s. 10d. to the rector of Reedham, and 2s. 6d. to the vicar of Upton. The Rev. William Leathes, of Reedham, is the curate. The Methodists have a chapel in the parish; and the common was enclosed in 1811. The chief residents are—Samuel Howard, parish clerk; James Newsome, shopkeeper; and James Youngs, and Robert Ives, farmers. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

WOODBASTWICK, 8 miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, has in its parish 294 inhabitants, and 2162 acres, but only 1418 acres are assessable, there being in the marshes several large broads or lakes, near the river Bure. Albemarle Cator, Esq., owns the greater part of the soil, is lord of the manor. impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in K.B. at £6, and has been united with the rectory of Panxworth since 1699. The joint benefices are valued at £206 per annum, and the Rev. Hy. Peter Dunster, M.A., is the incumbent. The Vicarage House is a thatched residence of red brick, with pleasant grounds, near the church; and there are 26A. of glebe here, and 32A. at Panxworth. The Church (St. Fabian and St. Sebastian) is a neat fabric of early English architecture, covered with thatch, and consisting of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with two bells. Here are several mural tablets of the Cator family, who support a small school in the village. The Hall, a large mansion, situated in extensive and park-like grounds, about a mile from the church, is the seat of A. Cator, Esq., and was much enlarged a few years ago. The poor have £7. 13s. a year, as the rent of 2A., called "Town Land," and 5A. allotted to them at the enclosure of Mousehold Heath, in 1810.

POST OFFICE at William Fryer's. Letters to Norwich via Rackheath, at 4 p.m.
Cator Albemarle, Esq. Hall
Dunster Rev. Hy. Peter, M.A. Vicarage
Fryer Wm. shopkeeper, blacksmith, carpenter and parish clerk
Goulder John, farmer, Street farm
Goulder Samuel, farmer, Ferry farm
Herwin Samuel, farmer, Hall farm
High William, farmer, Church farm
Lemon William, farmer and coal dealer
Webb Jas. & Winter Wm. shoemakers

BLOFIELD HUNDRED

Extends nearly thirteen miles along the northern bank of the river Yare, from Norwich, eastward to Hardley cross, and varies from two to four miles in breadth, being bounded on the north and east by Walsham Hundred, and on the north-west by Taverham Hundred. Its southern side, throughout its whole length, is traversed by the Norwich and Yarmouth Railway, running near and parallel with the river Yare. It is a fine agricultural district, having rich loamy uplands, rising boldly from the verdant valley of the Yare. It anciently comprised Tombland, and all the north end of the city of Norwich; and the hamlet of Thorpe, within the county of the city, still remains a member of the parish of Thorpe St. Andrew, in Blofield, which forms, with Walsham Hundred, the Deanery of Blofield, in the Arch-deaconry of Norwich. In the 38th of Henry III., on an appeal of death in the Court of King's Bench, the defendant put in a plea of jurisdiction, alleging that he was a clerk. The Dean of Blofield appeared in court, with the letters patent of the Bishop of Norwich, and demanded the said defendant to be given up to the ecclesiastical court. This privilege, called the benefit of clergy, like that of sanctuary, became, in course of time, a most intolerable nuisance to society, as it often enabled the crafty and vicious to defeat the ends of justice. Every culprit who could read was allowed this clerical privilege; but in more enlightened times, learning was considered rather as an aggravation than an extenuation of guilt. By virtue of this privilege, the punishment of death was commuted for branding in the hand and imprisonment. Blofield contains 19 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1861, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed to the county rate in 1843, and their territorial extent in assessable acres. Blofield and South Walsham Agricultural Association holds its annual meetings at the Globe Inn, Blofield, and the Rev. T. L. Fellowes and Edward Gilbert, Esq., are the honorary secretaries.

PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Nam- ber of Acres.	PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Nam- ber of Acres.
Blofield.....	1155	6268	2277	Lingwood*	509	1816	643
Bradestone	133	960	513	Plumstead (Great)	343	3176	1383
Brundall	104	772	525	Plumstead (Little)	319	2476	1395
Buckenham Ferry	49	1034	908	Postwick	291	2936	1772
Burlingham.St.And	186	2102	809	Southwood	39	840	471
Burlingham St.Ed	85	1310	646	Strumpshaw	386	2362	1337
Burlingm. St.Peter	80	948	399	Thorpe-next- Norwich }	1453	4490	1804
Cantley.....	235	2322	1850	Witton	144	1196	576
Freethorpe	425	1806	816
Hassingham	118	760	562
Limpenhoe	227	1580	1010	Total†	6281	39,154	19,676

* Lingwood included 164 persons in Blofield Union Workhouse, and Thorpe 381 in the County Lunatic Asylum.

† Blofield Hundred is all in the Union to which it gives name, and in Acle Police Division.
 Petty Sessions, for Blofield and Walsham Hundreds, are held at Blofield every alternate Monday; and Mr. W. H. Codling is clerk to the magistrates.

BLOFIELD UNION comprises the 32 parishes of Blofield and Walsham Hundreds, embracing an area of 73 square miles, or about 44,000 acres, and 11,521 inhabitants. The average annual expenditure of the 32 parishes on their poor, from 1832 to 1835, was £5815, and since then it has been less than £4000. The Union Workhouse is at Lingwood, and was built in 1836, at a cost of £5810. It has room for 250 paupers. Mr. Wm. Hy. Codling, of Blofield, is union clerk and superintendent registrar. Mr. Jehosaphat Postle, of Blofield, is registrar of marriages for the whole union. He is also relieving officer and registrar of births and deaths for the western or Blofield district; and Mr. Geo. Maddison of Beighton, holds the same appointments for the eastern or South Walsham district. The Rev. Augustus Frederick Bellman, B.A., of Moulton, is chaplain, and Mr. Richard and Mrs. Mary Ripp, master and matron of the Workhouse.

BLOFIELD, which gives name to this Hundred, is a large village and parish, containing many neat houses, 1155 inhabitants, and 2277 acres of land, pleasantly situated on the Yarmouth turnpike, one mile N. of Brundall railway station, and 7 miles E. of Norwich. H. N. Burroughes, Esq., is lord of the manor, which was held by the Bishop till about the year 1070; but the greater part of the land belongs to the Rev. G. Tuck, W. H. Jary, Esq., Mr. Robt. Goulder, Mr. Joseph Lynes, and some smaller owners. The Church (St. Andrew) is a spacious building of the perpendicular period, and consists of nave with aisles, chancel, north porch, and fine square tower. The latter contains six bells, and is surmounted by figures of the four evangelists in lieu of pinnacles. The nave and aisles are separated by quatrefoil columns, supporting handsome arches, but the internal appearance of the church is sadly marred by a low and ugly flat ceiling which partially conceals the arches of the tower and chancel, and also by the bricking up of eight large windows. The east window is very plain, but there is a fine perpendicular window in the tower. The chancel screen is finely painted, and has good figures of the twelve apostles upon its panels. In the chancel is a piscina, and the font is curiously carved with scenes from the life of Our Saviour. Here are tablets of the Carlos, Berry, Borton, Deneau, and Saul families; and one with kneeling figures of Edward Paston, Esq., his wife, and nine children. The arms of the Paston and Catlyn families still remain on the heads of their stalls. In 1850, the screen and piscina were well restored, the chancel was refitted, and a new vestry was built, at the expense of the rector. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £23. 6s. 8d., and now at £1050, is in the patronage of Caius College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Thos. Smith Turnbull, M.A., F.R.S., who has a good residence which was rebuilt in 1806. The tithes were commuted in 1845 for £974. 7s. 6d., and the glebe is 61a. 3R. 22P. The Particular Baptists have a small chapel here which they purchased of the Wesleyans, about twelve years ago. The School House and garden were given in 1727 by the Rev. Charles Reeve, who left out of his estate at Halvergate the following yearly rent-charges, viz.:—£10 to the schoolmaster, for teaching poor children; 52s. for a weekly distribution of 1s. worth of bread; 40s. for distribution on Whitsunday; and 35s. for clothing three poor widows at Christmas. The school room was enlarged by subscription in 1813. The Poor's Land, 37a. 29P., allotted at the enclosure in 1805, is let for £60 a year, which is distributed in coals. The poor have also a yearly rent-charge of £2, left by a Mr. Buttifant, out of land now belonging to W. H. Jary, Esq. Petty Sessions are held at the Globe Inn, every alternate Monday. Here is a Rifle Corps, with about 40 members. It was established in 1860, and has a good butt with a rifle range of 720 yards. W. H. Jary, Esq., is lieutenant; Edward Gilbert, Esq., ensign; and R. B. Kidd, Esq., surgeon.

POST OFFICE at John Wright's. Letters to Norwich at 5.30 p.m.

Button Rev. John Viny, M.A. curate
 Codling Robert John, victualler, Globe
 Codling William Henry, union & magistrates' clerk, & superintendent registrar
 Cooke William Larke, wine merchant
 Earl John, chimney sweeper
 Farman Wm. saddler || Daveney Mr Hy.
 Gilbert Edward, Esq. Blofield House

Goulder Mr Robert || Palmer Mr Charles
 Haggata Leonard, victualler, Swan
 Kidd Robert B. surgeon
 Lambert Thomas, brazier and tinner
 Lubbock John Wm. cabinet maker
 Nursey Claude Lorraine, artist
 Onslow Mrs Lavinia, Camperdown Cottage

Postle Jehosaphat, relieving officer, and registrar of births and deaths
 Postle Peter, wheelwright
 Reynolds Miss, milliner and dressmaker
 Tidman Chas. victualler, King's Head
 Tuck Misses Sarah and Louisa, Grove
 Turnbull Rev. T.S., M.A., F.R.S. Rectory
 Welch Mrs Emily || Withers Mrs Amelia
 White George, watch and clock maker
 Worth Misses Sus., Sophia, & Maria, Lodge

BEERHOUSES.

Gowen Benjamin
 Postle Alfred
 Rushmore Robert
 Thurtle Robert

BLACKSMITHS.

Easthaugh George
 Sizer Henry
 Sutton Benj. jun.
 Woodrow John

BRICKLAYERS.

Ellis William
 Withers John
 Withers John, jun.

BUTCHERS.

Read Richard

Redgment Robert

CATTLE DEALERS.

Merrison Benjamin

Postle Alfred

CORN MILLERS.

Postle Philip
 Rogers Francis

FARMERS.

Bane Jph. Emerson
 Brown William
 Edrich Henry
 Long Rt. Manor fm
 Lynes Joseph
 Reynolds Noah
 Spanton Robert
 Sutton Benj. sen.

Watts Isaac
 Worme Henry
 Waters Robert
 GARDENERS.

Fenn Charles (and brickmaker)

Hazell Charles

King John

JOINERS, &c.

Benns Thomas
 Francis Robert
 Stockings William

PLUMBERS, GLAZERS, &c

Barrett Benjamin
 Fisher William

Fox George

SCHOOLS.

Barker Mary
 Codling Wm. Hy.
 Dingle Mary Ann
 Newton Harriet
 Starling William Stockings Ann & My.

SHOEMAKERS.

Bailey John
 Bell Robert

Fox Richard
 Gowen Benjamin
 Harper Tovel
 Read Robert

SHOPKEEPERS.

Allen John
 Bowen James (and baker)

Fisher William
 Rogers Francis
 Rushmore Robert
 Sadler Mary Ann
 Thurtle Robert
 Wright John

TAILORS.

Newby Daniel
 Skoyles John B.
 VETENRY, SURGEONS.
 Coleman Timothy
 Overed John Davy

CARRIERS

From Acle, &c. pass through to Norwich on Wed. & Saturday

BRADESTONE, 7 miles E. of Norwich, has in its parish 133 inhabitants, and 513 acres of land. Some of its houses adjoin the village of Brundall, where there is a station on the Norwich and Yarmouth railway. R. H. Nevill, Esq., is lord of the manor and owner of the greater part of the soil, and the rest belongs to Mrs. Lydia Tuck and Mr. D. E. Read. The Church (Saint Michael) is a plain building of perpendicular architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, north porch, and square tower with one bell. In the chancel are marble tablets of the Drake and Frost families. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and consolidated with that of Strumpshaw. The tithes have been commuted for £150 per annum. Near the railway station there formerly stood the ruins of an ancient religious edifice, of the dedication, endowment, or architecture of which nothing is known, though the site is still called Chapel field. These ruins were removed in 1820, and the surrounding soil was levelled, when a vast quantity of human bones were laid bare, and a number of urns of Roman construction, containing ashes, were found. The chief residents are Thos. Wm. Gilbert, Esq., Hall; Richard Hy. Gilbert, Esq.; Mr. Robert A. Wortley; Sarah Agus, vict., White Horse; Hy. Capon, cattle agent; George Hutchins, and Mary Chapman, shopkeepers; John Postle, farmer and coal merchant; James Smith, blacksmith; Ambrose Smith, shoemaker; and Henry Lawrence, station master. Post from Norwich, via Blofield.

BRUNDALL, a small village, on a commanding eminence above the Yare, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Norwich, has in its parish 104 inhabitants, and 525A. Mrs. Lydia Tuck is lady of the manor, and owner of most of the soil. Here is a station on the Norwich and Yarmouth Railway. The Church (Saint Lawrence) is a small building, consisting of nave and chancel, with a bell-cot containing one bell. It was re-roofed and partly fitted with open benches about 10 years ago. The present roof is of lower pitch than the original one, and the windows on the north side are bricked up. The east window is perpendicular, and the others early decorated. Here is a holy-water stoup. The font is curiously covered with lead. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £4. 10s., and consolidated with Little Plumstead and Witton. The glebe here is 9A. 3R. 16P. Brundall House, a large brick mansion, is occupied by Robert John Harvey Harvey, Esq., and Lady Henrietta Harvey; and the other residents are John Cory, overseer and tax collector; Mrs. Bridget Cubitt; George Hawkins, excise officer; John Glasspoole, gardener; Stephen Green, farm bailiff; and John Harper, wheelwright and vict., Ram Inn. The land is farmed by Messrs. R. H. Gilbert, of Bradeston, and G. S. Culley, of Witton. Post from Norwich, via Blofield.

BUCKENHAM FERRY is a pleasant village, on a bold elevation above the Yare, 9 miles E. by S. of Norwich. Its parish has only 49 inhabitants, and 923 acres of land. Sir Thomas Wm. Brograve Beauchamp-Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., is lord of the manor, owner of the soil, and patron of the living, which is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, and now at £230 per annum, with that of Hassingham annexed to it. The Rev. Wm. Haslam, M.A., is the incumbent, and has 37 acres of glebe, a yearly tithe-rent of £124, and a good Rectory House, built in 1828 in the style of a Norman chateau. The Church (St. Nicholas) is a small but handsome building of perpendicular architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and tower. The latter is octagonal, and contains one bell, and the south porch is used as a vestry, the entrance to the church being through a handsome new Norman doorway in the tower. The interior of the edifice was well restored in 1829 by the late rector. The seats are of oak, and the roof is panelled and decorated with gold stars on a blue ground. The east window is filled with stained glass, representing St. Nicholas and the four evangelists. In the chancel is a piscina, and also a tablet of the Newbery family; and on the south side is a Norman doorway. In 1840, a curious alabaster tablet and a crucifix were discovered, wrapped up in sedge, about two feet below the chancel floor. The tablet represents the singularly cruel martyrdom of a saint, probably St. Erasmus, and contains five figures, well executed, but somewhat mutilated. It still exhibits traces of the gilding and colours with which it was once decorated. The crucifix is of copper gilt, and the drapery round the body of our Saviour was of curious enamel of various colours, portions of which yet remain. A School is supported by the rector. The Godsalve family were lords of the manor till after the reign of Henry VIII., and their arms may be seen in the carved wainscot of the old hall, now a farm house. Here is a station on the Norwich and Yarmouth Railway, which was opened in 1844, when several Roman urns were discovered in excavating the ground. The chief residents are—the Rev. Wm. Haslam, M.A., Rectory; Miss Hubbard, schoolmistress; John Pike, station master; Charles Layton, vict., Three Horse Shoes; John Green, farmer, Hall; and Benj. Waters, farmer, White House. Post from Norwich, via Burlingham.

BURLINGHAM (NORTH) is a scattered village, on and near the Yarmouth turnpike, from 8 to 9 miles E. of Norwich, lying in the two parishes of Burlingham St. Andrew and St. Peter, the former of which has 186 inhabitants and 809 acres, and the latter 80 inhabitants, and about 400 acres of land. Part of the former belongs to Wm. Heath Jary, Esq., of Burlingham House, a spacious brick mansion, built in 1790, and surrounded by pleasant grounds; and nearly all the other land in the two parishes is the property of Henry Negus Burroughes, Esq., late M.P. for East Norfolk, who resides at Burlingham Hall, a large cemented mansion, with a richly-wooded lawn of about 100 acres. The two churches are within a quarter of a mile of each other. St. Andrew's is a fine building, consisting of nave, north aisle, chancel, south porch, and square tower with three bells. It is chiefly of perpendicular architecture, but the north and south doors of the nave are early English, and the east window is of the decorated period. The hood moulding over the entrance to the porch is curiously enriched, and the north aisle extends beyond the nave to part of the chancel. The roof of the latter is hidden by a ceiling, but the nave roof is remarkably fine, being of richly decorated open work, with carved figures on the corbels, and angels with extended wings on the hammer beams. The rood-screen has upon its lower panels beautifully painted figures of Saint Withburga, Saint Benedict, St. Edward the King, St. Thomas the Martyr, St. John the Baptist, St. Cecilia, St. Walstan, St. Catherine, St. Edmund, and St. Etheldreda. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £12, and now at £560, with that of Burlingham St. Edmund annexed to it, in the gift of H. N. Burroughes, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Jeremiah Burroughes, M.A., of Lingwood. The Rectory House is an ancient brick building, occupied by the curate. The tithes of St. Andrew's have been commuted for £300, and those of St. Edmund's parish for £292 6s. There are 11A. of glebe in the former, and 10A. in the latter. The former has also 2A. of poor's land, and the latter 1A. St. Peter's is a small perpendicular church, comprising nave, chancel, north porch, and tower. The tower contains three bells, and is round at the base and octagonal above. The screen and piscina still remain, and here are several tablets of the Burroughes family, and one to the late Colonel Sir George Charles Hoste, C.B. The tithes of St. Peter's have been commuted for £148. 13s., and here are 10 acres of glebe. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £5, is in the same patronage and incumbency as St. Andrew's. The parish clerk has an acre of land. The children of North and South Burlingham attend the school at Lingwood, which is supported by the patron. DIRECTORY; St. Andrew's—W. H. Jary, Esq., Burlingham House; Charles Farman, wheelwright and shopkeeper; John Thrower, blacksmith and shopkeeper; Jeremiah Littlewood, farm bailiff; William Broughton, farmer; and George Tooley, shoemaker. St. Peter's—H. N. Burroughes, Esq., Burlingham Hall; Robert Hammond, parish clerk; Robt. Aldous, farmer; and John Bessey, farm bailiff. POST OFFICE at Charles Farman's. Letters despatched to Norwich at 5 p.m.

BURLINGHAM (SOUTH), or Burlingham St. Edmund, is a small village and parish, 9 miles E. by S. of Norwich, containing 85 inhabitants, and 646 acres of land, belonging H. N. Burroughes, Esq., and the Rev. J. Burroughes, the former being lord of the manor. The Church is an interesting building of mixed architecture, chiefly early English and perpendicular. It is covered with thatch, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square tower with three bells. It has two Norman doorways, but that on the north side is bricked up. The pulpit is of richly carved oak, and of the date of the early part of the fifteenth century. The painting and gilding upon it remain perfect, and attached to it is the Jacobean hour-glass stand, with its original glass. The rood-screen and several oak benches are also finely carved, and here are a few remains of ancient stained glass. A curious and well-preserved fresco painting was discovered in 1856 on the south wall of the chancel, representing the murder of Thomas à Becket. The figures are three-fourth life-size, and remarkably well executed. On the north wall is a painting of St. Christopher, but not in so perfect a state as the other. The rectory is consolidated with that of Burlingham Saint Andrew, as noticed as above. The farmers are Henry Case, Wm. Green, and George Read. Post from North Burlingham.

CANTLEY, near the river Yare. 10 miles S.E. by E. of Norwich, has in its parish 235 inhabitants, and 1850 acres of land. Wm. Alexander Gilbert, Esq., who resides at the Manor House, a spacious mansion, with well-wooded pleasure grounds, is lord of the manor and owner of most of the soil. He is also patron of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £14, and now in the incumbency of the Rev. John Bellamy Gilbert, B.A., who has a handsome residence of Italian architecture, built in 1862. The tithes were commuted in 1838 for £308 per annum, and the glebe is 45A. 2R. The Church (Saint Margaret) is of the perpendicular period, and consists of nave, south porch, chancel, lady chapel, and square tower with one bell. There is a piscina in the chancel, and another in the lady chapel. Here are also tablets of the Shanke, Layton, and Leedes families, and a curious old Norman font of marble. The east and west windows are filled with stained glass. In 1854, the building was restored, the old pews were replaced by handsome open benches, and a new pulpit and reading-desk were added, at a cost of £500, given by the patron. The Poor's Allotment, 18A. 2R., awarded at the enclosure, is let for £40. Here is a station on the railway from Norwich to Yarmouth and Lowestoft.

POST OFFICE at Harriet Brett's. Letters to Norwich, via Burlingham, at 3 p.m.

Cholmondeley Capt. Joseph John Geary,	Gilbert Rev. John B., B.A., Rectory
Crowe Walter, vict. Red House [Lodge]	Harding Thomas, station master
Curtis Samuel, marshman	Reynolds Amos, farmer, & vict., Cock
Dunt William, tailor and parish clerk	Tills David, blacksmith
England William, shopkeeper	FARMERS.—Thomas D. Gilbert; Samuel
Gilbert Wm. Alex., Esq., Manor House	Hewitt (of Mautby); & Robert Howes

FREETHORPE, 8 miles W. by S. of Yarmouth, and 12 miles E.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 425 inhabitants, and 903 acres of land. R. H. V. Walpole, Esq., is lord of the manor and owner of most of the soil, and the remainder belongs to T. W. Gilbert, Esq. The Church (All Saints) is an ancient building of early English architecture, and consists of nave with aisles, chancel, and round tower with one bell. The windows are all of the simple lancet shape; and the chancel contains a piscina and several tablets of the Walpole family. The building was handsomely restored, at the expense of the lord of the manor, in 1850, when it was re-roofed and refitted with open benches and a new pulpit. A handsome stained glass window of two lights was also inserted in the east end, and the churchyard was enlarged. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £12, is consolidated with the rectory of Reedham. (See p. 449.) It has 9A. 2R. 30P. of glebe, and was augmented with £400 of Q.A.B. in 1760 and 1784. The two landowners are impropiators of the rectorial tithes. The School was built by subscription in 1847, at a cost of £200, and is attended by above 50 children. Post from Norwich, via Acle.

Brock Chas. tailor Carter Wm. smith	Lincoln George, vict. Rampant Horse
Cory Christopher, saddler & parish clerk	Mallett John, shoemaker & shopkeeper
Crane Thos. & Eacher John, shopkeepers	Moll Geo. carrier to Norwich, Wed. Sat.
England Geo. farmer Farman Hy. gardnr	Read Richard, farmer, Manor House
Gooch Mary Ann, joiner	Waters Hy. shopkeeper & pork butcher
Harvey Charles, beerhouse	Waters Maria, brick and tile maker
Hindes John, smith & wheelwright	Waters Sarah Ann, schoolmistress

HASSINGHAM, near the north bank of the Yare, 10 miles E.S.E. of Norwich, and 2 miles E. of Buckenham station, has in its parish 118 inhabitants, and 710 acres. The land belongs in nearly equal portions to Sir Thos. W. B. Beauchamp-Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., and Mr. John Green, but the former is lord of the manor. The Church (St. Mary) is a neat thatched building of perpendicular architecture, and consists of nave, north and south porches, chancel, and octagonal tower with one bell. The chancel contains a piscina, and its roof is higher than that of the nave. Over the south door the old Norman billet and chevron mouldings are very perfect. The building was thoroughly restored in 1849 by the late rector, who fitted it with new open benches, pulpit, and reading-desk, gave a handsomely-carved screen, and filled the east window with stained glass. The interior of the roof is enriched with panelling and colour, that of the chancel having gold stars on a deep blue ground. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £4, is consolidated with that of Buckenham Ferry. The glebe here is 3A. 1R. 18P.

The Poor's Allotment, 14A. 3R. 12P., awarded at the enclosure in 1800, is let for £10 a year. Half an acre of old poor's land is let for 10s. a year. The resident farmers are—James Green Bessey, Church farm; John Shepherd, Broad farm; and Saml. Nockolds. Post from Norwich, via Burlingham.

LIMPENHOE, 11 miles E.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 227 inhabitants, and 1077 acres of land. Isaac Everett, Esq., owns most of the soil, but H. M. Leathes, Esq., is lord of the manor, impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in K.B. at £6. 13s., and now annexed to the rectory of Southwood. The Church (St. Botolph) is a rude thatched structure, consisting of a nave, and a square tower with a conical roof and one bell. The east end is of modern brickwork. There is a fine Norman doorway on the north side, and the font is also Norman. The church was re-pewed by subscription in 1851; and in 1852, three curious paintings were discovered on the north wall, representing the martyrdom of St. Catherine, who suffered at Alexandria under the Emperor Maximinus II. early in the fourth century. The Rectory House is situated in this parish, and is a good residence, which was purchased and altered in 1852, at a cost of £1000. Here are 10A. 2R. of glebe; and the poor have half an acre, let for 10s. The National School was erected in 1850, at a cost of £150, and is attended by about 40 children. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. The chief residents are the Rev. Carteret Henry Leathes, B.A., rector of Southwood and vicar of Limpenhoe, The Rectory; Eliz. Barnes, schoolmistress; Dick Bullard, farmer, Hill House; William Chester, shoemaker; George Dingle, shopkeeper; John England, wherry owner and beerseller; Henry Fisk, farmer; Wm. Fowler, parish clerk; Robert Gray, butcher; Wm. Mallett, shoemaker; Danl. Playford, farmer; and Wm. Scales, blacksmith and victualler, Falcon. Post from Norwich, via Burlingham.

LINGWOOD is a scattered village, 8 miles E. of Norwich. Its parish has 643A. of fertile land, and had 509 inhabitants in 1861, including 164 in the Blofield Union Workhouse, which is already noticed at p. 453. Robert Fellowes, Esq., is lord of the manor, but most of the soil belongs to H. N. Burroughes, Esq., who is also impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the perpetual curacy, which was certified at £10. 0s. 6d., and is now worth £60 per annum, having been augmented from 1762 to 1824 with £1000 of Q.A.B. The Church (St. Peter) is a neat building of perpendicular architecture, consisting of nave, chancel, south porch, and square tower with one bell. The roof of the nave is lofty, and has been handsome, most of the bosses remaining; but the chancel roof is hidden by a low ceiling. Here are tablets of the Goddard and Ayers families, and also a piscina. The Rev. Joseph Potter, M.A., is the incumbent. The National School is held in a building altered for the purpose in 1848, by H. N. Burroughes, Esq., and is attended by about 75 children from this and the neighbouring parishes of North and South Burlingham. The Rev. Jeremiah Burroughes, M.A., has an estate here, and resides at Lingwood Lodge, a spacious brick mansion, surrounded by pleasant grounds. The Fuel Allotment, 8A. 1R. 34P., awarded at the enclosure in 1803, is let for £28 a year, which is distributed to the poor in coal. Post from Norwich, via Burlingham.

Allen Thomas, victualler, King's Head
Ayers Mrs Annie, Lingwood Hall
Bradfield S.A. schoolmistress, Workhouse
Burroughes Rev. Jeremiah, M.A., rector of Burlingham, Lingwood Lodge
Cooper James, pork butcher
Hands Thomas, wheelwright
Lake Benjamin, parish clerk
Mayne Susannah, mistress, Natl. School

Merryson Benjamin, cattle dealer
Potter Rev. Joseph, rector of Fishley and incumbent of Lingwood Ripp Richard, master of Workhouse
Read Mrs Sarah || Seeley Mr William
Steward Philip, vict. Jolly Farmers
FARMERS.
Aldous Jas. Arthur | Harrison William
(and seed mert.) | Postle Thomas

Reed Robert Rust	SHOEMAKERS.	SHOPKEEPERS.	Pryke James
Symonds William	Loynes William	Beckett Robt. (and	Rix Robert (and
(and owner)	Spalding Jeremiah	blacksmith)	hawker)

PLUMSTEAD (GREAT) 5 miles E. of Norwich, has in its parish 343 inhabitants, and 1383 acres of fertile land. The Earl of Rosebery is lord of the manor and chief landowner, but W. Birkbeck, Esq., C. W. Unthank, Esq., and Messrs. John Moore, Geo. Gowing, and Hy. Newman have small estates here. The Church (St. Mary) is a plain fabric of perpendicular architecture, consisting of nave, chancel, and tower. The latter, which is of brick and contains three bells, was erected in 1711, and is disfigured by a gig-house and stable built on either side of it by a late incumbent. The holy-water stoup and a fine carved rood-screen still remain, but the piscina has been plastered up. The living is a perpetual curacy, certified at £16, and now valued at £100. It was augmented from 1764 to 1817 with £600 of Q.A.B., laid out in land. The Rev. Edward Cole, M.A., is the incumbent, and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons and appropriators, but the tithes are leased to C. W. Unthank, Esq. The Church Land is 5A. The Fuel Allotment, 29A. 3R. 5P., awarded at the enclosure in 1811, is let for £40 a year, which is distributed in coal.

POST OFFICE at Robert Maidstone's. Letters despatched to Norwich at 5 p.m.

Brister Mary, shopkeeper	Sutton Francis, farrier and smith
Campbell Alexander Francis, Esq.	FARMERS.
Cole Rev. Edmund, M.A., incumbent	(* are Owners.)
Crowe Fredk. carpenter & wheelwright	Parker Peter
George William, carpenter	Brown Robert
Hawes Wm. tailor and vict. Hare Inn	Briggs W. Red house
Lond Thomas, boot and shoemaker	Goose William
Maidstone Sophia, schoolmistress	Gostling John
	*Gowing George; house Hellesden Newman Robert
	*Maidstone Robert
	Scott Jonathan
	Sutton Francis
	Tills John

PLUMSTEAD (LITTLE), 6 miles E. by N. of Norwich, is a village and parish, with 319 inhabitants, and 1395 acres of good loamy land. Edw. Steward, Esq., is lord of the manor, but a great part of the soil belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, Major Penrice, and Charles Jecks, Esq. The Hall, a large brick building with embattled towers and turrets, is the property of the last-named gentleman. It has recently been considerably enlarged, but is now unoccupied. The Church (St. Gervase) is a small structure, with nave, chancel, and round ivy-covered tower containing one bell. The chancel contains a handsome brass, representing a knight in armour, to the memory of Sir Edward Warner, who died in 1565; and a fine marble monument copied from that of Scipio Africanus at Rome, in remembrance of Thomas Penrice, Esq., who died in 1816. In 1834, a late rector filled the east window with stained glass representing the fall of man, the Redeemer, the Crucifixion, and the four evangelists; but in 1851, this window was removed to the south wall, and a new and handsome perpendicular window of stained glass, containing figures of Faith, Hope, and Charity, was inserted in its stead, in memory of the late Admiral Stephens. The rectory valued in K.B. at £7. 12s. 6d., and now at £851, with the rectories of Winton and Brundall annexed, is in the patronage of Major Penrice, and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Berners Penrice, M.A. There are 12 acres of glebe in this parish; and the Rectory House is a handsome embattled brick residence with extensive and picturesque grounds. There is a small School, supported by subscription, and attended by about 25 children. The Poor's Allotment, 31A. 1R. 22P. was awarded at the enclosure in 1801, and is let for £50 a year, which is distributed in coal, clothing, &c. A double cottage and 3A. of land were given by the Hobart family. The chief residents are the Rev. C. B. Penrice, M.A., Rectory; John Chamberlain, shoemaker; Eliz. Nichols, shopkeeper; Wm. Fryer, vict. Brick Kilns; Mr. Chas. Gaze;

Moses Boast and John Boughton, gardeners; Wm. Harmer, carpenter; W. Littlewood, parish clerk; Sarah Newson, schoolmistress; Clare Sewell Read, farmer and land agent, Manor House; and Wm. Dye, and John and George Nichols, farmers. Post from Great Plumstead.

POSTWICK, near the Railway, 4 miles E. by S. of Norwich, is situated in a romantic glen which opens into the vale of the Yare. Its parish has 291 inhabitants, and 1772 acres of land, including a detached marsh of 346A., lying near Yarmouth. The Earl of Rosebery owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which was valued in K.B. at £10, and is now worth £468 per annum. The Rev. Wm. Andrews, M.D., is the incumbent, and has 47A. 0R. 35P. of glebe, and a spacious and handsome residence. The Church (All Saints) is a good building of mixed perpendicular and decorated architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, handsome porch, and lofty square tower with three bells. It contains several mural tablets and a handsome double piscina, and was restored and re-seated in 1847, at a cost of £220. The School is held in a neat building given by the Earl of Rosebery in 1814, and is attended by about 40 children. Several bronze fibulae have been found in the parish. The poor have 5A. 2R. 30P. of land in Surlingham, let for £10. 10s., and received at the enclosure, in lieu of other land that had been purchased many years ago with £50 given by an unknown donor. The Fuel Allotment, 4A. 3R. 37P., awarded at the enclosure in 1811, is let for £8. 5s., which is distributed in coal. The Earl of Rosebery lets to the cottagers, at low rents, allotments of half an acre each.

Post Office at George Attoe's. Letters despatched to Norwich at 5.30 p.m.

Andrews Rev. Wm. M.D., Rectory
 Attoe George, carpenter & wheelwright
 Attoe William, gardener
 Edwards James, shopkeeper

Fox Chtte. school || Hood Peter, smith
 Pummell James, parish clerk
 FARMERS.—Cyrus Gillett, Hall; James
 Parker, J. W. Parker, & John Seeley

SOUTHWOOD, 11 miles E.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish only 39 inhabitants, and 471A. of land, mostly belonging to R. H. Nevill, Esq., the lord of the manor. The Church (St. Edmund), is a plain whitewashed building, with nave, chancel, and square tower containing one bell. There is a triple lancet window at the east end, but the other windows are of the early decorated period. There are a piscina and an aumbry in the chancel, but the former is plastered over. Here is also a curious piece of tapestry representing Abraham offering up Isaac. The font is Norman, but disfigured with plaster and whitewash. The discharged rectory, valued at £292, with Limpenhoe vicarage annexed, is in the patronage of H. M. Leathes, Esq., and the Rev. Cartaret Henry Leathes, B.A., of Limpenhoe, is the incumbent. (See page 459.) The tithes have been commuted for £145 per annum. In 1801, Richard Walpole, Esq., as lord of the manor, enclosed 6A. of common land, and charged it with the yearly payment of £4 for the poor. The chief residents are John Tuthill, gentleman; and Wm. Case, farmer. Post from Norwich.

STRUMPSHAW is a well-built but scattered village, on an eminence, 8 miles E. by S. of Norwich, comprising within its parish 386 inhabitants and 1337 acres, belonging to a number of freeholders and some copyholders. The latter are subject to arbitrary fines, payable to R. H. Nevill, Esq., as lord of the manor. The ancient lords were the Dan-Martins and the Bardolphs. The Church (St. Peter) is a plain building, with nave and chancel under one roof, north porch, and square tower containing three bells. In the chancel is a handsome double piscina, and in the nave are mural tablets of the Barnes, Smith, and Atkins families. Here are also a good font and a finely carved screen. The chancel was restored in 1848 by the rector, who inserted four new lancet windows, and filled that at the east end with stained glass. The west window, and also one in the south wall, were at the same time enriched with stained glass at the expense of the parishioners. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £8, and now at £536, with that of Bradestone annexed to it, in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. E. S. Whitbread, M.A., who has a commodious residence, and 64A. of glebe. The tithes of Strumpshaw were commuted in 1844 for £370 per annum. The Hall, a handsome white brick mansion, about half a mile south of the village, is the seat and property of Mrs. Tuck. It has a fine lawn, and was built in 1835, near the old hall, which is now used as servants' offices. The windmill in this parish is supposed to stand on the highest hill in Norfolk, and the prospect which it commands is certainly the finest coup d'œil in the county, extending to Yarmouth, Norwich, the lighthouses of Happisburgh, and the country southward to the borders of Suffolk. It is said that more than 200 churches may be seen from it on a clear day with the naked eye. The summit of the hill is about 146 feet above the level of the sea. The Fuel Allotment, about 10A. of marsh, was awarded at the enclosure in 1810, and is let for £9 a year. The poor have also a coomb of wheat yearly out of Mr. Atkins' farm, pursuant to the bequest of Wm. Black, in 1755. Post from Norwich, via Burlingham.

Alexander Thomas, tailor & shopkeeper
 Appleton John, victualler, Goat Inn
 Atkins Mrs Deb. || Burton Mrs Eliz.
 Cory Mary Ann, schoolmistress
 Culley Frederick W. H., Esq.
 Goodings Wm. boot and shoe maker
 Greenacre William, corn miller
 Hylton William John, blacksmith
 Oakley Thomas, parish clerk
 Plow Christopher, brick and shoemaker

Pyle Mr John || Porter Benj. coal dealer
 Smith Richard, blacksmith
 Spooner John, wheelwright and vict.,
Shoulder of Mutton
 Tuck Mrs Lydia, Strumpshaw Hall
 Whitbread Rev. E. Salter, M.A., Rectory
 FARMERS.
 (* are Owners.)
 *Atkins Thomas
 *Barnes John Tuck

Chapman John
 Goffen Alexander Pyle Thomas (and brewer)

THORPE-NEXT-NORWICH, or Thorpe St. Andrew, is a handsome village, delightfully situated two miles E. of Norwich, on the side of a declivity which overlooks the city, the railway, and the river Yare. The beauty of this vicinity has induced many gentlemen to erect elegant mansions here, to which are attached spacious gardens and ornamental plantations. The views down the river and over the adjacent country, skirted in the distance by flourishing plantations, are highly picturesque; and this "Richmond of Norfolk" is considered one of the most charming inland summer retreats in the kingdom. The parish of Thorpe St. Andrew comprises about 2000 acres, and had 1453 inhabitants in 1861, including 381 in the County Lunatic Asylum. Thorpe Hamlet, which maintains its poor, &c., as a member of the City and County of the City of Norwich, was formed in 1852 into a separate ecclesiastical district, for which a church has been erected at a cost of £2300 (see pages 218 and 243). Mousehold Heath, which was enclosed in 1800, and abounds in chalk and flint, is mostly in this parish. Wm. Birkbeck, Esq., is lord of the manor and owner of a portion of the soil, and the remainder belongs to Chas. Jecks, Esq., the Earl of Rosebery, R. K. Harvey, Esq., and a few smaller owners. The copyholds are subject to arbitrary fines, and the manor extends into Great and Little Plumstead, Brundall, and Thorpe-Hamlet. The parish was anciently called Thorpe Episcopi. It was held by the Bishop and the Prior and Convent of Norwich from 1101 till it was taken possession of by Henry VIII. The Bishop had a palace here, and its site is now occupied by Thorpe Hall, a fine old Elizabethan mansion, built in 1583, beautifully situated on the river bank at a bend of the stream, and now the seat and property of Mrs. Blakiston. The bishop's chapel still remains entire, near the Hall, and is used for stabling. Thorpe Lodge, a spacious brick building with pleasant grounds, is the seat and property of Dr. Donald Dalrymple, and was long a seat of the Harveys. Guild House, the seat of H. S. Patteson, Esq., is a neat brick structure near the river. The Oaks, a spacious mansion on an eminence north-west of the village, is the seat of the Rev. William Frost, B.A. The Woodlands, the seat of Charles Jecks, Esq., is pleasantly situated in well-wooded grounds, in which is a small lake. The Grove, a large house with an extensive lawn, on a commanding eminence, is the seat of Wm. Birkbeck, Esq. The parish Church is a small thatched fabric of perpendicular architecture, with nave, chancel, and south porch. On the top of the latter, and evidently of much later date, is a short square tower containing one bell. The windows are enriched with stained glass, and that at the east end represents the Crucifixion, and was inserted by the rector in 1856. Here are mural tablets of the Vere, Postle, Humfrey, Harvey, Yellup, Dale, Newham, and Sudbury families. A new and more commodious church is about to be erected behind the present building, and will probably be completed in 1864. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £8, and now at £621, in the patronage of Wm. Birkbeck, Esq. The Rev. Armine Herring, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a handsome brick residence. The Independent Chapel is a neat brick building in the Elizabethan style, erected in 1859. Two acres of land were purchased as a burial ground, and a neat mortuary chapel erected in 1859, at a total cost of £500. Half the amount was raised by voluntary rate, and the remainder was contributed from the funds of the Lunatic Asylum, to which one acre is appropriated. Roman remains have occasionally been found in this parish, and a short time ago several fragments of urns, large amphoræ, bronze ornaments from a leather shield, an elegant ring-shaped fibula, iron spear heads and bridle bits, coins of Nero, &c., were dug up in the grounds of the Rev. W. Frost, at the Oaks.

THE NORFOLK COUNTY LUNATIC ASYLUM stands a little south-east of the village of Thorpe, three miles from Norwich. It is a spacious and handsome building of white brick, with stone quoins, erected in 1814, under an act of the 48th of Geo. III., for the better care and maintenance of lunatics, being paupers or criminals. It is 654 feet long, with a Grecian portico in the centre, supported by four columns. The cost of the erection and the adjacent grounds was £40,000, paid out of the county rates. It was enlarged in 1842, at a cost of £2300, and from 1857 to 1859 new wings, chapel, dining hall, laundry, and workshops, were added at a further expense of £30,000. The stone staircase is particularly worthy of notice, from the lightness and strength of its construction. The apartments and galleries are well ventilated, and fitted up for the accommodation of 450 patients, of whom it has generally upwards of 360, who are maintained at the average weekly cost of 8s. 6d. per head for the pauper lunatics, and 14s. for the boarders. The asylum is under the control of a committee of the county magistrates, and none of its inmates are subjected to coercive measures, all being allowed perfect freedom within the precincts of the building. The principal rooms are decorated with pictures and other ornaments, within easy reach, and thirteen male and fifteen female attendants are continually at hand to assist and watch over the patients. The grounds of the institution are extensive, and tastefully laid out. Wm. Chas. Hills, Esq., M.D., is medical superintendent; Chas. White, Esq., assistant medical officer; Mrs. Hills, matron; Mr. William Moore Girling, clerk and house steward; Rev. Edward Cole, M.A., of Plumstead, chaplain; and Francis John Blake, Esq., treasurer.

In 1706, the Rev. Samuel Chapman left 45A. of copyhold land at Brundall, in trust for the education of six poor children, except the yearly payment of 26s., as follows, viz.:—13s. 4d. for a sermon, 1s. 8d. for the clerk, and 11s. for distribution among the poor. The land is now let for £54 a year. In 1730, a Mr. King left £50 for schooling poor children, and in 1785 it was laid out in the purchase of 3A. 1R. 21P. of land at Caston, now let for £3. 12s. In 1766, Thomas Vere left £350, to be invested in three per cent. stock (now amounting to £417), and the dividends applied yearly as follows:—£3 for a sermon, £3 for a distribution of bread on St. Thomas's day, 10s. (and a calimanco gown when necessary) to the clerk, £3 to the schoolmaster, and 20s. for repairing the school. In 1813, the Rev. Richard Humfrey, a late rector, left £100 towards building a house for the schoolmaster, and this sum was applied towards building a National School in 1841. This school, which is supported by subscription and the children's pence, is attended by about 60 girls and infants, and was enlarged in 1855; when a new school and master's house were also built adjoining it, at a total cost of £500, raised partly from the funds of Chapman's charity, and partly by subscription. It is attended by about 50 boys, who pay 1d. per week each. The poor parishioners have a yearly rent-charge of 20s., left by Wm. Johnson, and the dividends of £130 three per cent. stock, of which £40 was left by John Boycott, in 1780, and £90 by Rice James, in 1821. The Fuel Allotment, 57A. 2R. 15P., awarded to the poor at the enclosure, is let, with four acres allotted to the Town Houses, for £74 a year, which is distributed in coals. The Church Houses (four tenements) with an orchard and two acres of land, are let for £26 a year, which is applied towards the repairs of the church: General Sir R. J. Harvey, Kt., C.B., gave £100 in 1846, the interest to be given to the poor widows of pensioners of the parish.

POST OFFICE at Daniel Todd's. Letters despatched to Norwich at 6 p.m.

Bacon Miss Mary Ann || Barber Mr Wm.
Birkbeck Wm. Esq. banker, The Grove
Blakiston Mrs Harriet, Thorpe Hall
Bolingbroke Augs. Fdk., Esq. Hillyfield
Brightwen John, Esq. banker
Bright John, beerhouse keeper
Cator William Thornhill, Esq.
Claburn William, Esq. Sunny Hills
Corsbie Mrs Sush. || Dale Mr Robert
Dalrymple Donald, M.D. Thorpe Lodge
Davey Joseph, gentleman
Douglas Capt. John, Berks Militia
Forman Robert, joiner and wheelwright
Foster Charles, Esq. solicitor
Frost Rev. William, B.A. The Oaks
Gillett Mrs Sar. & Thos. Esq. Walpole Hs
Girling Wm. clerk and house steward,

County Lunatic Asylum

Goddard Mrs Ann || Jay Mr Thomas
Gurney Francis Hay, Esq. banker
Hansell Peter Edward, Esq. Holly Lodge
Herring Rev. Armine, M.A. Rectory
Hills Wm. Charles, M.D. superintendent,
County Lunatic Asylum
Hopcroft Thomas, gent. Myrtle Cottage
Jecks Charles, Esq. The Woodlands
Jecks Wm. jun. Esq. || King Mr Robert
Lovick Mr William Frederick
Overton James, cooper
Partridge Mr Anthony W. and Misses Louisa, Fanny, & Blanche, Covey House
Patteson Hy. Staniforth, Esq. Guild House
Palmer Thomas Hitchen, Esq. solicitor
Postle Misses Sarah & Charlotte, Manor House

Rodwell Frances & Elizabeth, lodgings
Shardelow Mary, plumber, painter, &c
Weston Chas., Esq. || Wells Robt. gent.
Wilde Mr Edward, Willow Cottage
Wild Mrs Mary Ann, Elm Cottage
White Chas. surgeon, Lunatic Asylum
INNS AND TAVERNS.

Buck, Mary Smith
Cremorne Gardens, William Steward
Griffin, Henry Southgate
Hero of Redan, John Burton
King's Head, John Dowland
Three Tuns, Mary Cattermole

BLACKSMITHS.

Martin William
Sabberton Thomas

BRICKLAYERS.

Brindid Robert

Fenn Elijah

Moll Abraham

Hardy John

COAL DEALERS.

Mann John

Sabberton Thomas

Smith Mary

FARMERS.

Albin Samuel

Brand William

Bright John

Parker Thomas

Starling Samuel G.

Whitaker Samuel,

(and brickmaker)

GARDENERS.

Mayor William

Rayner John

White William

SCHOOLS.

Dabson James

Gaff Robert

Stanley Emma

SHOEMAKERS.

Bracey Frederick

Plow Robert

Spooner John

Weeds Edward (and parish clerk)

SHOPKEEPERS.

Bolton Curtis (and baker)

Bracey Robert (and lime burner)

Burton Thomas

Chamberlin George

Hardisty John (and baker)

Nockall David

WITTON is a small parish and scattered village, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Norwich, containing only 144 inhabitants, and 576 acres of rich loamy land. Edward Wm. Trafford and James Green, Esqrs., are the principal owners, and the former is lord of the manor, which, in the seventh of Richard II., was given by Margaret, Countess of Norfolk, to the nuns minoresses of Bruisyard, in Suffolk, to pray for the soul of her daughter Ann, late Countess of Pembroke, and for her own state whilst living and her soul when deceased. The Church (St. Margaret) is a small but handsome building, which was mostly rebuilt in 1857, the chancel by the rector, and the nave by subscription. It is in the early English style, and consists of nave, chancel, porch, and short tower. The latter is octagonal, and contains one bell. The chancel arch is very handsome, and is supported by pillars with finely carved clusters of grapes for capitals. The roof is decorated with gold stars on a deep blue ground, and the triple-lancet window at the east end is enriched with stained glass by Hardman, representing the Crucifixion, and the appearance of Our Saviour to Mary Magdalen and to his disciples at Emmaus. The side windows of the chancel contain the evangelistic symbols, and there are handsome stained windows in the nave to the memory of John and Mary Culley and the Whaites family. Here are also brasses to Major Culley, a distinguished soldier, who served in sixteen actions and died in 1834; and to Lady Juliana Anyett; and also a marble tablet to J. Penrice, Esq. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and now at £500, with that of Brundall annexed to it, is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. James Spurgeon Green, M.A., who has a spacious residence, erected in 1854, on an elevation which commands an extensive view. There are 33 acres of glebe in Witton, and 9A. 3R. 16P. at Brundall. The chief residents are Henry Prescott Green, Esq., Witton Hall; Rev. J. S. Green, M.A., Rectory; Mrs. and Miss Penrice, Witton House; Mr. Geo. B. Culley; George S. Culley, farmer and maltster, Yew Tree Farm; Charles Wood, corn miller; and Robert Ling, parish clerk. Post from Norwich.

CLAVERING HUNDRED

Lies at the south-east extremity of the county, being bounded on the west by Loddon Hundred, on the north by the river Yare, and on the south and east by the river Waveney, which divides it from Suffolk; but it has a detached member, encompassed by Loddon and Henstead Hundreds, at the distance of four or five miles, and containing the three parishes of Burgh-Apton, Brooke, and Howe. Exclusive of this insulated member, it averages from six to eight miles in length and breadth, except at the north-east end, where it is crossed by the Norwich and Lowestoft Ship Canal and terminated by a narrow peninsular slip, three miles in length, ending at the confluence of the navigable rivers Yare and Waveney. It is also traversed by the East Suffolk and Norwich and Yarmouth Railways, and skirted on its south side by the line from Lowestoft to Beccles, Bungay, &c. The soil is generally rich and fertile, though a great part of it is in wet marshes. The Deanery of Brooke, in the Archdeaconry of Norfolk, comprehends all the parishes in the Hundreds of Clavering, Loddon, and Henstead. Petty Sessions for this and Loddon Hundreds are held at the Swan Inn, Loddon, every alternate Wednesday, and James Copeman, Esq., is clerk to the magistrates. Mr. Thos. Robert West, of Raveningham, is high constable of the Hundred. The following enumeration of the twenty parishes of Clavering Hundred, shows their population in 1861, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed to the county rate in 1843, and their territorial extent, in assessable acres:—

PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.	PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.
Aldeby	557	4236	3268	Howe	113	1100	766
Brooke.....	746	3676	2135	Kirby Cane	448	2352	1467
Burgh-Apton ...	544	3380	1939	Norton Subcourse	376	2674	1849
Burgh St. Peter ..	298	3024	1979	Raveningham	264	3140	2415
Ellingham	386	2338	1337	Stockton	129	1412	1023
Geldeston	345	1932	823	Thorp-nextHadsco	84	1253	824
Gillingham All } Sts. & St. Mary }	390	3194	1962	Tburilton	420	2074	1170
Haddiscoe	355	3320	2066	Toft-Monks	427	3898	2238
Hales	315	1646	912	Wheatacre All Sts	160	1526	1163
*Heckingham	317	1480	1107	Total	6674	47,644	30,443

* Heckingham return included 162 persons in the Union Workhouse.

LODDON and CLAVERING UNION comprises all the 40 parishes of Loddon and Clavering Hundreds, and also Yelverton, in Henstead Hundred. These 41 parishes were incorporated for the support of their poor, by act of parliament, in 1763, when they built a large House of Industry at Heckingham, with room for about 500 paupers. This was adopted as the Union Workhouse, in 1836, when it was much injured by fire, supposed to have been occasioned by an incendiary. It was repaired, altered, and enlarged, at a cost of £3145, and has now room for 510 paupers; but it has seldom half that number, and in summer only about 150. Attached to the House are about $9\frac{3}{4}$ acres of land, of which about two acres are appropriated as a burial ground. The Union comprises an area of 89 square miles, and had 14,242 inhabitants in 1861. The average annual expenditure of its 41 parishes, from 1832 to 1835, was £6494. In 1838, it was £4474; in 1839, £5230; in 1842, £4348; and it is now about £5000 a year. John Kerrich, Esq., is chairman of the Board of Guardians; Jas. Copeman, Esq., of Loddon, union clerk and superintendent registrar; Mr. Wm. Hoddy, of Loddon, registrar of marriages; and the registrars of births and deaths are Mr. Ellis Easter, of Hales, for Aldeby District; Mr. John Greengrass, of Loddon, for Loddon District; and Mr. John Balls, of Seething, for Woodton District. Messrs. Ellis Easter and John Greengrass are also the relieving officers; and George Peskitt, M.D., Geo. Gillett, Edward B. Adams, and George Rodwell, Esqrs., are the surgeons. Mr. Frederick and Mrs. Susanna Elmer are master and matron of the Workhouse; the Rev. Wm. Willes Hobson, chaplain; Wm. M. Atkinson and Mary A. Groome, school teachers; and Thomas Bell, porter.

ALDEBY, a parish of scattered houses, in the vale of the Waveney, three miles N.E. of Beccles and 16 miles S.E. by E. of Norwich, contains 557 inhabitants, and 3268 acres of land. Sir Wm. Foster Bart., is lord of the manor, in which the copyholds pay small certain fines. The trustees of Ampton School, Suffolk, own the Hall farm (380 acres), and the rest of the land belongs to Edw. H. Colman, Esq., Messrs. J. Mapleston, Robert Hunt, A. Carman, and others. Here was a small Priory, founded in the reign of Henry I., by Agnes, wife of Robert de Kia, for black monks. Its remains are now a malt-house. It was granted at the dissolution to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, who are still appropriators of the tithes and patrons of the perpetual curacy, which is valued at £113, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Arthur Wm. Boycott, B.A., who has a good Parsonage House, built about twenty years ago out of Queen Anne's Bounty Fund. The tithes were commuted in 1840 for £735 per annum, and are held on lease by the Carpenter family. The Church (St. Mary) is an ancient structure of brick and rubble, with occasional facings of flint, and consists of nave, chancel, chancel aisle, north transept, north porch, and square embattled tower. The latter rises at the intersection of the nave, chancel, and transept, and contains four bells. Two of the windows of the nave have small fragments of stained glass. In the chancel are a sedile and a piscina, and in the north transept a piscina and an aumbry. The west doorway is a fine specimen of Norman architecture, enriched with the chevron and other ornaments. The National School is a neat brick building, erected in 1840, and attended by about 40 children. Here is a station on the East Suffolk railway. The Poor's Allotment, awarded at the enclosure in 1806, is about 22 acres, let for £60 a year, which is distributed in coals.

POST OFFICE at Wm. Lee's. Letters despatched via Beccles at 3.25 p.m.

Banns George, bricklayer
 Beare Robert, jun. victualler, Dun Cow
 Beckett Robert, corn miller
 Boycott Rev. Arthur Wm., B.A. Parsonage
 Futter James, parish clerk
 Garwood James, station master
 Grimmer James, carpenter
 Haken Elizabeth Ann, National School
 Lee Wm. shopkpr || Pooley Rbt. woodman
 Mills Alfred, grocer and draper
 Mills George, boot and shoemaker
 Newson William, wheelwright

Tibbenham Arthur, pork butcher
 Tibbenham Henry, vict. Three Tuns
 Ward Noah, market gardener
 Wright Aaron, bricklayer

FARMERS.

(* are Owners.)

Beare Robert (and butcher)
 Bloomfield John
 Brown Edw. Hall
 *Carman Allington
 Chandler Mrs

Grimmer Charles
 *Hunt Robt. Priory
 Lurkins James
 *Maplestone John
 Muttitt William
 Prior Maria
 Sutton Richard
 Weavers William

BROOKE, a large and well-built village, and one of the three detached parishes of Clavering Hundred, is seven miles S.S.E. of Norwich, and has 746 inhabitants and 2135A. 2R. 20P. of land. The Rev. John Holmes is lord of the manor, in which the fines are certain. He is also impropiator of the great tithes, and resides at Brooke Hall, an elegant cemented mansion, erected in 1830 near the site of the Old Hall, and having an extensive and well-wooded park. Brooke House, another handsome residence, standing in a beautiful park, is the seat of G. S. Kett, Esq., who has in his possession the blue sash worn by William Penn at the treaty of Pennsylvania. William the Conqueror gave this manor to the Abbey of Bury St. Edmund's; and one of the abbots in the 10th of Edward I., obtained for it a market and fair, but both have long been obsolete. The Church (St. Peter) appears to have been mostly built at the latter end of the 11th or early in the 12th century, and comprises nave, chancel, north aisle, clerestory, south porch, and round tower. It was thoroughly restored and refitted a few years ago at a cost of £1200, of which the greater part was contributed by the Rev. John Holmes. The dark oaken roof, with its bosses, its Tudor string course, and its corbels representing angels bearing shields, is one of the finest specimens of open wood-work in the neighbourhood. The open benches, of English oak, have carved poppy heads, and are nearly all free. The pulpit, the reading desk, and the front of the gallery, are also of carved oak. The font is of the florid Gothic style, and its sides are charged with carvings of the seven sacraments and the crucifixion, with the four evangelists and four other saints under rich canopies, beneath. It was formerly elaborately gilt. In the chancel is a double piscina, and here is also one of the few hour-glass stands originally set up by command of Queen Elizabeth in the days of early nonconformity. The south doorway is of transitional character, having an early English arch springing from late Norman capitals. The organ was given by the Rev. Wm. Castell, a late vicar, who also gave a house worth £10 a year to provide for its repairs. Here are also tablets to the Castell, Fowler, Seaman, Burshill, and Cooper families. During the restorations several highly interesting frescoes were discovered upon the walls of the building, after the numerous coats of whitewash had been cleared off. Some of the subjects were of so singular a character that it was impossible to decipher their meaning; but the parable of the Prodigal Son was represented with great beauty and detail; and in an arcade beneath it were emblematical representations of four of the seven deadly sins, the figures in the act of sinking into the jaws of the monster of hell. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5, is in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor, and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Beal, LL.D., F.S.A., who has a good residence, rebuilt in 1849, a yearly rent-charge of £240, awarded in 1842 in lieu of tithes, and 2A. 3R. 32P. of glebe. A large National School, for the parishes of Brooke, Howe, and Kirstead, was built here about 20 years ago. The TOWN LANDS consist of 43A. 3R. 2P. in this parish, let for £41 a year; and Pevens farm, 53A. 2R. in Kirstead, let for £90 a year. To the latter is attached the reputed manor of Pevens, now yielding only a quit rent of 8s. 2d. per annum. This property was vested in trustees before the reign of Henry VIII., for the payment of tenths, fifteenths, and other taxes, levied by the king on the parishioners of Brooke; but from 1692 till 1858 the rents were applied with the poor rates; and they are now, under the powers of a decree of the Court of Chancery, applied towards the maintenance of the National School, an adult evening school, and a parochial library; except £25 a year, which is awarded in lieu of church rates. Part of the original trust lands were exchanged for others in 1813. The Fuel Allotment, 5A., was awarded at the enclosure in 1800, and is let for £14, which is distributed in coals amongst the poor, who have also the following yearly doles, viz., 20s. left by John Kerrison, in 1756; 40s. left by John Fowle, in 1786; and the interest of £20, derived from a house left by Wm. Brereton, but sold by the overseers about 1832. The Baptists have a small chapel here, built in 1839. The celebrated surgeon, Sir Astley Paston Cooper, Bart., was born at Brooke Hall, on the 23rd August, 1768, and was the fourth son of the Rev. Dr. Cooper, then curate of this parish. As a boy he was remarkable for his liveliness and good humour, but not for his application to study. In 1784, he was placed with that distinguished surgeon, Mr. Cline, to whose influence and example much of young Cooper's success in after life must be attributed. In London he at once began to devote himself with earnestness to the acquisition of a thorough knowledge of his profession, and attended the lectures of the great John Hunter, the value of whose theories and experiments was then but little understood. In 1792, he was appointed professor of anatomy at Surgeons' Hall, and was re-appointed in 1794 and 1795. In 1800, he obtained the situation of surgeon to Guy's Hospital, and in 1813, became professor of comparative anatomy to the College of Surgeons. In 1820, he was called in to attend on George IV., although he then held no official position at court. Shortly after this he removed a steatomatous tumour from the head of the king, who within six months afterwards conferred on him a baronetcy, with special remainder in default of male issue. In 1822, Sir Astley was elected one of the Court of Examiners of the College of Surgeons, and in the same year brought out his great work on "Dislocations and Fractures." He was afterwards elected President of the College of Surgeons, Vice-President of the Royal Society, a member of the Royal Institute of France and of the Royal Academy of Sciences. He also received the honorary degrees of D.C.L. from the University of Oxford, and LL.D. from that of Edinburgh. He died Feb. 12th, 1841, and was interred, at his own request, beneath the chapel of Guy's Hospital. Sir Astley Cooper is a striking instance of what unceasing industry will accomplish. As a teacher, his kindness and the easy manner with which he communicated his knowledge, placed him far above his contemporaries; and his influence on the surgery of the day was very great. His mother was a popular authoress, and published several novels and other literary works.

POST OFFICE at Richard F. Yallop's. Letters despatched via Norwich at 5.15 p.m.
 Alborough James, shoemaker
 Barker Rev. John, (Baptist minister)
 Barling Rev. Charles Harris, M.A.

Beal Rev. Wm., LL.D., F.S.A., vicar, surrogate & diocesan inspr. of schools
 Bridges Mr James || Chase Mrs Mary

Dunt William, tailor
 Ellis Robert, seed grower and dealer
 Everett George, harness maker
 Peek Hy. builder || Haggith Wm. tailor
 Gillett George, surgeon
 Holmes Geo. John, Esq., Brooke Lodge
 Holmes Rev. John, J.P., D.L., Hall
 Holmes Mrs Margaret
 Horth Miss, schoolmistress
 Hunting George, veterinary surgeon
 Hupton Henry, bricklayer
 Johnson George, plumber, painter, &c.
 Kett Geo. Sl., Esq., J.P., D.L., Brooke Hs.
 Knights Keziah, victualler, King's Head
 Lloyd William, estate joiner
 Matthews John, head gardener
 Mayes Thomas, master, National School
 Milnes Miss Sarah || Nichols Miss
 Newson John, wheelwright
 Norman Harriet, boarding school

Peck Mrs Ann || Nursey Benj. policeman
 Thompson Henry Kett, Esq.

BLACKSMITHS.

Clarke John
 Dunt George
 Maggs John

FARMERS.

Bridges Jas. Harvey
 Eastaugh William
 Frost George
 Harwin Mary
 Leeder Palmer (& cattle dealer)
 Mickleburgh Edw.
 Mickleburgh John
 Marston Alfred (& harness maker)
 Rackham —
 Rix George
 Tibbenham George

Tibbenham James
 Utting J. (& butcher)
 Weston James
 Yallop Richd. Fryer
 (and owner)

GROCERS & DRAPERS

Garrard John
 Harvey Geo. Edw.
 (& beer retailer)

SHOPKEEPERS.

Atmore John
 Goodrum Robert (& gardener)
 Tidnam John

CARRIER.

Edw. Mickleburgh, to Norwich, Wed. and Saturday.

BURGH-APTON, or BERGH-APTON, is a pleasant village, in the detached part of Clavering Hundred, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles W. by N. of Loddon, and $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.S.E. of Norwich, on a branch of the river Yare. It has been much improved during the last sixty years. Its parish increased its population from 304 souls, in 1801, to 544 in 1861, and contains 1938A. 3R. 21P. of land, belonging to a number of owners, some of whom reside here. The Earl of Abergavenny is lord of the manor of Burgh-cum-Apton; Thomas Cooke, Esq., is lord of Washingford manor; and Sir Charles Rich, Bart., is lord of the manor of Hillington, which includes part of this parish. The Earl of Abergavenny is also patron of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., and now having a mediety of Holverstone (£5. 5s. a year) annexed to it, in the incumbency of the Rev. Wyndham Carlyon Madden, who has a commodious Rectory House. The glebe is 47A. 2R. 38P., and the tithes have been commuted for £598. 10s. per annum. The Church (St. Peter and St. Paul) is a cruciform structure of rubble and flint, and comprises nave, chancel, transepts, and tower. The latter contains six bells and a clock, and is square and embattled. The organ was given by the present Bishop of Norwich, who was rector here from 1837 till 1852. Here was anciently another church (St. Martin), but it was dilapidated in the 15th century, and its remains were cleared away in 1834. Here is a commodious National School, built in 1839, at a cost of £700, and attended by about 80 scholars. A farm of 60 acres, now let for £90 a year, was left by Christopher Tenwinter, in 1599, for the general benefit of the parish, but subject to the yearly distribution of 20s. among the poor. Since 1660, the rent has been applied in defraying the churchwardens' and constable's accounts. The Poor's Allotment, awarded at the enclosure in 1801, is 22A. let for £28, which is distributed in coals. Several tumuli on White Heath, in this parish, have been examined at various periods, and a sword, several urns, and other remains, evidently of the British or Celtic age, have been found. There is a tradition that a battle was fought here, one force occupying White Heath, whilst the enemy was placed on Barnes' Heath; and it is not improbable that this spot was the scene of an engagement between the Romans and the native Iceni.

POST OFFICE at Daniel Carr's. Letters despatched via Norwich, at 4.45 p.m.

Carr Daniel, shopkeeper
 Cooke Mr Thos. || Cooke Mr Rt. Williman
 Denny Rev. Richard Cooke
 Denny Miss Harriet || Seago Mrs

Freestone Jas. shopkeeper & blacksmith
 Frost Wm. & Lucy, National School
 Lloyd Stephen, parish clerk
 Madden Rev. Wyndham Carlyon, rector

Tompson Mrs Parsons Lydia, beerhouse	Dunham James	Utting Samuel
Watterson James blacksmith	Giles Ebenezer (&	GARDENERS.
Weddup Jonathan, cowkeeper	corn miller)	Frost Alfred
FARMERS.	Peake John	Scarlett William
(* are Owners.)	*Smith William	Smith Job
*Batchelder Saml.	Strowger Samuel	Wall Thomas
*Carr Freeman	Utting James
*Clarke Samuel
*Clarke Thomas S.
*Catchpole Avoice
Cotton Robert

BURGH ST. PETER, or WHEATACRE BURGH, is the most south-eastern parish of Norfolk, lying in the vale of the Waveney, 6 miles E. by N. of Beccles, and 12 miles S. by W. of Yarmouth. It contains many scattered houses, 298 inhabitants, and 1979 acres of land belonging to the trustees of the late R. H. Gurney, Esq., Sir Robert Shafto Adair, Bart., Marcus John Grimmer, Esq., and some others. The vale of the Waveney, as far as this and the adjacent parishes, was anciently a large estuary (see page 322); and a Roman station is commonly supposed to have been placed here, but neither coins, pottery, nor other remains, have been found, to warrant the tradition. The Church is an ancient thatched structure, comprising an unusually long nave, a chancel, a south porch, and a singular brick tower of six diminishing stages, surmounted by a cross. There is a piscina in the chancel, and in a field adjoining are the ruins of what appears to have been another church. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £7. 6s. 8d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. William Boycott, who has 15 acres of glebe, a yearly rent-charge of £377 in lieu of tithes, and a commodious residence about a mile west of the church. The Wesleyan Chapel, near Wheat-acre and Aldeby is in this parish, and was enlarged in 1835. Near the church is a wharf for landing bricks, coals, &c. At the enclosure in 1811, about 13 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, and the rent, amounting to £36 a year, is distributed in coals.

POST OFFICE at Samuel Beare's. Letters despatched via Beccles, at 2.45 p.m.

Baley Hy. par. clerk Beare Sl. shopkpr.	Pitts Mrs Martha, schoolmistress
Boycott Rev. William, Rectory	Tripp Edw. fish merchant & brickmaker
Flaxman Robert, beerhouse	FARMERS.	Hammond George,
Flaxman Mr Benj. Mills Wm. shoemkr.	(* are Owners.)	(and miller)
Huke Edward, blacksmith	Boon George Wm.	James Js. (&grdnr.)
Parker John, corn and coal dealer, and	*Briggs John	Jex William wherry owner	Cooper George (&	*Sayer John Parker Wm., jun., brewer, malt dealer,	marshman)	Tibbenham Thos.
and victualler, Marsh House	*Ellis Thomas	Wooltorton James

ELLINGHAM, on the north bank of the Waveney, 2 miles E.N.E. of Bungay, and 4 miles S. of Loddon, has in its parish 386 inhabitants, and 1337 A. 1R. 36P. of land. The Hall, a substantial residence, containing a fine collection of stuffed bears and tigers shot by the late Colonel Smith in India, is situated in a small park, and is the seat of Henry Smith, Esq., who is lord of the manor of Ellingham Nevills; but all the rest of the parish is in the manor of Stockton-with-the-Soke, which belongs to John Kerrich, Esq. The trustees of Sir W. F. Middleton, Bart., Mr. John Tallent, and some others, have small estates here. The Church (St. Mary) appears to have been erected in the 12th century, and consists of nave, chancel, south aisle, south porch, and square embattled tower with five bells. In the chancel are sedilia for two priests, and also a piscina. Over the altar is a painting of St. Peter in the Prison, given by a former owner of the Hall. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £12, in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Robert Cobb, B.A., who is also rector of Thwaite, and has here 120A. of glebe, a yearly rent-charge of £362, awarded in 1840 in lieu of tithes, and a commodious residence built 40 years ago. The TOWN LANDS, mostly granted in the 16th century for the payment of tenths and fifteenths and the relief of the poor, by the wills of Richard Chamberlain and others, and partly by allotment and exchange at the enclosure in 1806, consist of about 31 acres, with two cottages, now let for about £53 a year. The Poor's Allotment, 20 acres, was awarded at the enclosure, and is now let for £18 per annum. The poor of Ellingham have £28. 4s. 9d. yearly from Bonfellow's Charity, as noticed with Kirby-Cane. The income derived from the sources above-named, amounts to about £99 per annum, which is carried to the churchwardens' account, out of which the poor receive yearly distributions. They have also an annuity of 20s., left by one Packard in 1822, out of a farm belonging to Mr. Tallent. Here is a station on the Waveney Valley Railway. Celts, and other flint implements, have been occasionally found in this parish. Post from Bungay.

Atkins Daniel, bricklayer
 Bullen Robert, mole catcher
 Beverley Miss || Pettet Mrs
 Brown Wm. victualler, Bird-in-Hand
 Buckel Edward, warrener
 Cobb Rev. Robert, B.A., rector
 Godbolt George, pig dealer
 Gorden Alexander, vict., Lock House
 High Jas. wheelgt. & vict., White Horse
 Ingate Mr Wm. || Lodge Mr Samuel
 Kent James, parish clerk
 Middleditch James C. station master
 Read William, cattle dealer
 Smith Hy. Esq., & Mrs & Miss, Hall
 Spanton John, market gardener
 Snowling William, coal dealer

Thrower John, head gardener
 Thrower William, gamekeeper
 Ward Mr James
 Watson Charles, blacksmith
 Youell Joseph, foreman

BUTCHERS.

Boggis Robert
 Fisk James

FARMERS.

Boggis Robert
 Cannell John
 Clarke Philip
 Hayward Frederic
 High James Shearing Wm. (and miller & mert.)

Read Benjamin
 Walker Charlotte

SHOEMAKERS.

Stannard David
 Worr William

SHOPKEEPERS.

Daniel Henry
 Kent Samuel

TAILORS.

Chipperfield Geo.
 Fisk William

GELDESTON, on an acclivity above the Waveney, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles W.N.W. of Beccles, and 6 miles S.S.E. of Loddon, has in its parish 345 inhabitants, and 823A. 0R. 15P. of land, mostly the property of John Kerrich, Esq., who resides at the Hall, a modern white brick mansion, in a pleasant and well-wooded park. Geldeston is included in the manor of Stockton-with-the-Soke, of which J. Kerrich, Esq., is lord. It was granted by King Stephen to Hugh Bigot, on being created Earl of Norfolk, and a piece of land opposite the Hall is still known as "Bigot's Hill." The Romans had a station here, on an elevation called Dunbury hill, which commanded the bend of the river; and some years ago a beautiful Roman glass vase, part of a child's bulla, and some earthen vessels were dug up on this spot. In digging the foundations of the Hall, about 60 years ago, two bands or fillets of pure gold were found, and although broken, all the parts of one and the greater part of the other have been preserved. The length of one band is nearly twelve inches and the breadth one and a quarter; the other was probably of the same dimensions when perfect. They are bent at either extremity, so as to overlap and form a sort of clasp; and a waving cable-like ornament is observable upon both, though slightly different in detail. These remarkable and precious ornaments were probably used as torques and worn round the neck, or perhaps as fillets for the head, and appear to be of the Celtic period. They are still in the possession of J. Kerrich, Esq., as are likewise a Roman diota dug up here, a magnificent pair of red-deer antlers found at Haddiscoe, and a small horn dredged from the river. Here are several malt-houses, a staithe with a navigable cut to the Waveney, and a station on the Waveney Valley Railway. The Church (St. Michael) is a thatched fabric of perpendicular architecture, and comprises nave, chancel, south porch, and round embattled tower with one bell. It is about to be restored at considerable expense. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor, and incumbency of the Rev. Daniel Gillett, M.A., who has 86 acres of glebe, a yearly rent charge of £170. 6s., awarded in 1837 in lieu of tithes, and a small Rectory House, built in 1812. The Poor's Allotment, 7A. 20P., was awarded at the enclosure, and the rent, amounting to £12 a year, is distributed in coals. The School, conducted on the British system, was built by H. G. Dowson, Esq., in 1825, and is still chiefly supported by his family.

Post Office at Saml. Clarke's. Letters despatched via Beccles, at 4 p.m.

Baker Thomas James, station master	Kerrich John, Esq., J.P., D. L., Hall
Amos Robert, blacksmith	Porter Rev. Albert John, B.A., curate
Balls Mary, shopkeeper	Thornhill Mrs Charlotte
Belward John, sen., coal meter	Webb Elizabeth, victualler, Wherry Inn
Bradnum Abraham, fruiterer	CARPENTERS.
Bradnum John, beerhouse & shopkeeper	Chapman Charles
Bradnum William, gardener	Fisk Anthony
Brown John, schoolmaster	FARMERS.
Dowson Miss Emily	Boggis James
Dowson Edward Utton, maltster, and	Boggis Joseph corn and coal merchant	Butcher Robert (&
Gillett Rev. Daniel, M.A., Rectory	corn merchant)
	Clarke Philip
	Hinsley Richard
	Hobbles Robert
	Read John
	Rose William
	SHOEMAKERS.
	Barkaway William
	Clarke Samuel

GILLINGHAM ALL SAINTS and ST. MARY, now form one consolidated parish, comprising 390 inhabitants, 1962 acres, and the pleasant village of Gillingham, adjoining the marshes on the north side of the Waveney, 1 mile N. of Beccles, and 16 miles S.E. of Norwich. The parish is mostly in J. Kerrich, Esq.'s, manor of Stockton-with-the-Soke; but a great part of the soil belongs to Vice-Admiral Eden, who resides at Gillingham Hall, a handsome mansion of white brick, standing on a bold eminence, surrounded by a beautiful lawn and plantation, and built by the father of the first Sir Nicholas Bacon. Winston and Wyndell, two decayed parishes, have long been lost in the bounds of Gillingham, the former being consolidated with All Saints in 1440, and the latter in 1449. Their churches were both dedicated to St. Andrew, and no vestige of them remains, though their sites are well known. The boundary of All Saints and St. Mary's is but little known; the two rectories, valued in K.B. at £10. 6s. 8d., being consolidated in 1748, when All Saints' church was taken down, except the tower, which is now thickly mantled with ivy. Its burial ground is still used. St. Mary's Church, on the opposite side of the road, is a fine specimen of pure Norman architecture, apparently built in the reign of Henry I., and in its plan unique, or nearly so. It is divided lengthwise into five parts—a western compartment, a tower, a nave, a chancel, and an apse. The western part is more than a mere porch, as it opens into the tower, not by a door, but by an arch similar to that between the tower and the eastern part of the church; and the tower, being somewhat narrower than the nave and this compartment, is supported by arches to the north and south, as though it were the centre of a cross church. There is an arch between the nave and chancel, and also between the chancel and apse. There are small modern transepts or aisles to the nave, that on the north being separated from it by three Norman arches, supported on massive shafts, having moulded bases and carved capitals; and that on the south will shortly be rebuilt, to correspond. The tower is of four stages, and contains three bells. The roof of the nave is of the hammer-beam kind, supported by corbels with winged angels; and the seats are good open benches. The flooring of both nave and chancel is formed of monumental slabs of black polished marble, and the rest of the church is paved with Staffordshire tiles. The apse is divided into three bays with shafts, &c., supporting moulded ribs, intersecting in the centre. It is enclosed by mediæval iron standards with oak capping, and contains three pretty Norman windows filled with rich stained glass by Mrs. Farr, in memory of her father, the late R. K. Cobbold, Esq. Under each of the windows is arranged double-arched stonework supported upon shafts and corbels, forming deeply recessed panels and serving as a reredos. The two remaining windows of the chancel have been filled with stained glass in memory of the late J. L. Farr, Esq., and his lady, by their children. The stoup remains near the south door. In 1859, the whole building underwent a complete restoration at a cost of £1100, chiefly contributed by Lady George Beresford, Admiral and Mrs. Eden, and the rector. Part of a beautifully illuminated perpendicular screen was discovered behind the hall pew during the alterations. Here are tablets of the Lewis, Hussey, and Athow families, and also one to Sir Nicholas Bacon, Bart. The rectory is in the patronage of Admiral and Mrs. Eden, and in the incumbency of the Rev. John Farr, B.A., who has a good residence about a mile west of the church. The National School, a neat building with residence for the mistress, was built in 1863, at the sole expense of Mrs. Eden. The glebe is 69A. 1R. 30P., and the tithes were commuted in 1840, for £482. 18s. 1d. per annum. The wharf, warehouses, &c., at the North end of Beccles Bridge, are in this parish. A very perfect denarius of Alexander Severus, and three pennies of Henry III. were found here some years ago. The Town Lands, &c., consist of 10A. 12P., and two tenements called the Leet-House, given by an unknown donor, and now let for £25 a year; and 18A. 1R. 35P., let for £56 a year, and given in 1596, by Edward Everard. There is also the interest of £120 derived from the sale of an acre of land to the Railway Company. The rents are applied yearly as follows:—about £30 in distributions of coal among the poor; £5 to the superintendent of a Sunday School; and the remainder in the service of the church; but about £20 are distributed every third year in blankets. Post from Beccles.

Banham John, jun. gamekeeper
 Barber John, gamekeeper
 Boon Amelia, victualler, Swan Inn
 Eden Vice-Admiral, Hall
 Farr Rev. John, B.A., rector, Rectory
 Fairweather Thomas, toll collector
 Godfrey Mr William
 Gowing Samuel, thatcher and gardener
 Grimson Robert, parish clerk
 Mobbs James Merry, shoemaker
 Owles Edward, maltster's clerk
 Stammers William, cowkeeper

Sims Amelia, schoolmistress
 Thacker Mr William

BLACKSMITHS.

Osborne William
 Tripp George

FARMERS.

Banham George
 Banham John, sen.
 Balls Charles
 Balls William
 Bexfield Benjamin
 Brundell Benjamin

Darby Samuel (and timber merchant)

Hallam Isaac

Nixon Charles

Playford John

Thacker William

Woodthorp Wm.

SHOPKEEPERS.

Barkaway James
 Constance Mrs

HADDISCOE is a pleasant village, 6 miles E. by S. of Loddon, and 9 miles S.W. by S. of Yarmouth. Its parish has 325 inhabitants, and 2066A. of land, a great part of which is in low marshes in the watery vale of the Waveney. It is in several manors. Henry Septimus Grimmer, Esq., is lord of the manor of Haddiscoe and owner of a great part of the soil, and the rest belongs to Messrs. William Jex, A. Carman, and John Elliott. The Manor House, a good modern residence near the banks of the Waveney, is the seat of H. S. Grimmer, Esq., who has in his possession a charter granted by Charles II., exempting the inhabitants of Haddiscoe, Thorpe, and Toft Monks from serving on county juries. The Church (St. Mary) stands on an eminence above the marshes, and is a very curious building of Norman architecture, which was judiciously restored in 1861, at a cost of about £700, towards which the rector contributed £200, and H. S. Grimmer, Esq., £100. It comprises nave with clerestory, chancel, north aisle, south porch, and tower. The latter, which is round and remarkable for its triangular-headed windows of Norman workmanship, contains five bells. The seats are good open benches, and the font bears carvings of the symbols of the evangelists. The chancel contains a double piscina with trefoil arches. The south doorway is a beautiful specimen of Norman workmanship, and in a niche over it is a sitting figure with a dove above it.

Several mural paintings were discovered during the alterations. Here are several tablets of the Grimmer family. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £12, and now at £797, with that of Toft Monks annexed to it, in the gift of King's College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Talman, M.A., who has a good residence, built about 20 years ago. In the reign of Henry III. here was a Preceptory of Knights Templar, who had a chapel in the church dedicated to St. John. In the wall of the churchyard, fronting the road, is a long inscription in memory of William Salter, who for many years drove the machine from Yarmouth to London. The tithes of Haddiscoe have been commuted for £348. 10s. per annum, and the glebe is 20A. 2R. 32P. The National School is attended by about 40 children; and here is a small Primitive Methodist Chapel. The TOWN LANDS, given by Thomas Strange, in 1556, for paying the taxes of the parishioners, repairing the church and highways, and relieving the poor, were partly exchanged at the enclosure in 1814, and now consist of 15A. 1R. 1P., let for £35 a year, the whole of which is applied towards the discharge of the land-tax levied in the parish. The Dam Land, exchanged at the enclosure for an allotment of 2A. 2R. 28P., was given in 1614, by Thomas Battely and William Stone, for repairing the causeway across the marshes, called Haddiscoe Dam, and for the relief of the poor. About one acre of it is a gravel pit, and the rest is let for £2, which is applied in repairing the road which crosses the marshes to St. Olave's Bridge, near which is a station on the East Suffolk Railway. The Poor's Allotment, awarded at the enclosure, consists of 4A. 2R. 16P., let for £14, which is distributed in coals. St. Olave's Bridge, which crosses the Waveney, near the site of Herringfleet Priory, in Suffolk, was founded in the reign of Edward I., and rebuilt in the reign of Henry VIII., and again in 1770.

POST OFFICE at James Bee's. Letters desp. to Norwich, via Loddon, at 1.35 p.m.

Bee James, wheelwright	Durrant John	Flaxman Absalom
Brown John, victualler, Three Tuns	Flaxman Benjamin	Flaxman Benjamin
Foulger Cornelius John, station master	Garwood George	Flaxman Henry
Grimmer Henry S., Esq., Manor House	Garwood James	Flaxman John
Garrood Charles Ling, blacksmith, rate collector, and parish clerk	Grimmer George	Kett George
Garrood Harriet, schoolmistress	Palmer Ambrose	MARSHMEN.
Gowing Samuel, thatcher	John, Hall farm	Elliott Jacob
Howlett John, victualler, Queen's Head	MKT. GARDENERS.	Farman Jacob
Howard Wm, plumber, painter, glazier, and victualler, Crown Inn	Balls Benjamin	Webb James
Kemp Rachel, milliner and dressmaker	Beckett John	Webb William
Searll William, carpenter	Buck James	SHOEMAKERS.
Talman Rev. William, M.A., Rectory	Buck William	Curtis Robert
Weeds Eliza, schoolmistress	Cable James	Flaxman Henry
FARMERS.	Cole William	SHOPKEEPERS.
Barker Dnl. (owner.)	Dawson James	Cole William
Bond Robert and Gregory	Dawson Thomas	Hubbard Rose Ann
	Easter Robert

HALES, is a scattered village, skirting a green of 66A., from 2 to 3 miles S.S.E. of Loddon. Its parish has 325 inhabitants, and 980A. 1R. 13P. of land, in the manors of Hales Hall and Loddon Hall, of which George Danby Palmer, Esq., is lord; but a great part of the soil belongs to Sir Edmund Bacon, Bart., J. D. Palmer, Esq., Mr. Robert F. Fuller, Mr. E. Easter, Brandford's Executors, and others. It was anciently a seat of the Hales family, who had a chapel at the hall, dedicated to St. Andrew. The Church (St. Margaret) is a small thatched fabric of Norman character, and comprises nave, chancel with semicircular apse, and round tower with two bells. In the chancel is a sedile or stone seat, and both the north and south doorways are fine specimens of the Norman style. The living is a perpetual curacy, valued at £63, with that of Heckingham annexed to it, in the incumbency of the Rev. W. Willes Hobson, B.A., of Loddon. Sir W. B. Smijth, Bart., is patron, and also impropiator of the tithes, which were commuted in 1838 for £246 per ann. The Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists have chapels here, built in 1840 and 1846. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

Beckett John, grocer and draper
 Buck Mrs Sarah || Fisher John, smith
 Burgess Thomas, vict. Carpenters Arms
 Easter Ellis, regr. of births and deaths
 Preston Benjamin, vict. Garden House
 Spinlove John, wheelwright

FARMERS. (* are Owners.)
 Bristow Isaac (and woodman)
 *Easter Edward || *Fuller Rt. Freston
 *Hammond Thomas || Preston Daniel
 *Preston George (and brickmaker)
 Spurgeon William (and grocer)

HECKINGHAM, a parish of scattered houses, 2 miles E. of Loddon, comprises 1106A. 3R. 22P. of land, and had 317 inhabitants in 1861, including 162 in the large Union Workhouse, which is already noticed at page 466. The manorial rights and most of the soil belong to Sir W. B. Smijth, Bart., and Mrs. Elizabeth Freston, but Mr. John Rose has an estate here. The Church (St. Gregory) is a small thatched building, comprising nave, chancel with semicircular apse, north aisle, south porch, and round ivy-clad tower with two bells. The south doorway is a fine specimen of Norman work; and the north doorway is of similar character, but less ornate, and is now blocked up. The perpetual curacy is annexed to that of Hales. (See page 474.) The tithes were commuted in 1838 for £134. 3s. 2d. per annum, and belong to Sir W. B. Smijth, Bart. The Poor's Allotment, 2A. 3R. 32P., was awarded at the enclosure in 1822, and is now let for £4, which is distributed in coals. The principal residents are—Eliz. Freston, Henry Blunderfield, Edward W. Hayward, Charles Abbott Lewin, and Wm. Shardalow, farmers; and the following Workhouse officials, viz.:—John Elmer, master; Mrs. Elmer, matron; Wm. Milnes Atkinson, schoolmaster; Mary Anne Groome, schoolmistress; and Samuel Thomas Bell, porter. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

HOWE, a small parish in the detached member of Clavering Hundred, 7 miles S. by E. of Norwich, has only 113 inhabitants, and 757 acres of land. The Rev. John Holmes is owner of the soil and lord of the manor, which was anciently held by the noble family of Denny. The Church (St. Mary) comprises nave, chancel, south porch, and round tower with one bell. The roof of the nave is of the hammer-beam kind, decorated with winged angels. The chancel contains a piscina; and also a brass tablet, recording the name of Lady Elizabeth Hastings (who was seized of the perpetual advowson of this parish), and setting forth the moral and ecclesiastical duties expected to be fulfilled and discharged by all future incumbents. The building is about to be restored. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £8. 13s. 4d., and now at £407, with that of Little Poringland annexed to it, is in the patronage of the Rev. Charles Wheeler, and incumbency of the Rev. William Tattersall, B.A., who has a commodious residence, built about 50 years ago, and recently enlarged. The glebe is 53A., and the tithes of Howe have been commuted for £202 per annum. In 1738, Lady Elizabeth Hastings left a house here for a school, but it is now let for £2. 10s., which, with £14. 5s. a year, received from the trustees of her valuable charities, is applied as follows:—£11. 10s. for the instruction of poor children of Howe and Little Poringland in reading, writing, and arithmetic; 20s. for the purchase of school books; 10s. for sacramental bread and wine, and the residue in distributions of bread among the poor, together with two yearly rent-charges of 8s. left by Ezekiel and John Skoyles, in 1661 and 1672. The chief residents are—the Rev. Wm. Tattersall, B.A., rector; Philip Stone, parish clerk; and Robert Cole and Frederick Carman, farmers. Post from Norwich, via Brooke.

KIRBY-CANE is a parish of scattered houses, mostly occupying a high situation above the broad vale of the Waveney, about 4 miles S. of Loddon and N. of Bungay. It contains 448 inhabitants, and 1467 acres of land, mostly in the manor of Stockton-with-the-Soke, of which John Kerrich, Esq., is lord; but Lord Berners owns a great part of the soil, and Mrs. Carlos and Mrs. Rogerson have small estates here. The Hall, a large white brick mansion, in a small park, belongs to Lord Berners, but is occupied by his sister, the Honourable Elizabeth Chester, widow of the late Rev. William Chester. His lordship is also patron of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £10. The glebe is 41 acres, and the tithes have been commuted for £436. 10s. per annum. The Rev. Abbot Upcher is the rector, and has a good residence built about 75 years ago. The Church (All Saints) was restored in 1857, at the expense of the rector, and consists of nave, chancel, north aisle, vestry, south porch, and round tower with five bells. The east window has been filled with stained glass at the expense of Lord Berners. Here are tablets in memory of Lord and Lady Berners and Elizabeth Catelnye; a brass to the Rev. John Watson, a former rector; and a tablet recording that the vestry was built in 1753, by Sir Charles Turner, Bart, "out of a pious and pure regard for the memory of his second wife." In the chancel is an old altar tomb. The south doorway is a good specimen of Norman architecture. The National School, built in 1861, is attended by about 50 children, and chiefly supported by Lord Berners and the rector. The Wesleyans have a chapel here. Some workmen who many years ago were digging in a field called "Pewter Hill," in this parish, came upon a confused mass of human bones, among which were several spear heads, a jewelled buckle, and two swords, apparently of Roman workmanship. Many fragments of Roman pottery have at different times been found at the same place, and a kind of oven or kiln of Roman tiles was also discovered, leading to the inference that a potter's kiln existed there, and that the present name of the hill is a corruption of "Potter's Hill." Since 1786, an estate of 42A. 2R. 28P., called Partable Lands, has been held for the benefit of the poor of the parishes of Kirby-Cane and Ellingham, pursuant to the will of Henry Bonfellow, dated 1650. It is let for £58. 9s. per annum, out of which about £2 are paid for expenses, and 20s. for catechising children. The residue is divided equally between the two parishes. The moiety belonging to Kirby-Cane (about £27), is distributed in bread and coals, with the proceeds of the following charities, viz.:—£18. 10s., from land left by Thos. Potts, in 1646, and £4. 6s. 6d. from an allotment of 5A. awarded to the poor at the enclosure.

POST OFFICE at Joseph Youell's. Letters despatched via Bungay, at 4 p.m.

Bradnum Joseph, market gardener	BLACKSMITHS.	Clarke John South
Boggis Mrs, market gardener	Brown Philip (and	Crickmore Wm.
Chester Hon. Mrs. Elizabeth, Hall	wheelwright)	Doe John (owner)
Goodman William, victualler, Swan	Goodman William	Doe John, sen.
Ives Wm. Thatcher & hay & straw dealer	Kemp John	Laws William
Jarvis Mrs Elizabeth Trower Mr Jas.	CARPENTERS.	Long John, sen.
Pitchers Wm., pork butcher & fruiterer	Howes Edward	Long Thomas
Stannard Stephen, foreman brickmaker	Youell Joseph	Long William
Upcher Rev. Abbot, rector & rural dean	FARMERS.	SHOEMAKER.
Westrip John, shopkeeper	Brown Thomas	Worr William

NORTON-SUBCOURSE is a parish of scattered houses, in the vale of a rivulet, 3 miles E of Loddon. It has 376 inhabitants, and 1849 acres of land, belonging chiefly to Sir W. B. Smijth, Bart., and partly to the Rev. R. C. Denny, Mr. James Bexfield, and a few smaller owners. It is in two manors, of which Sir W. B. Smijth, Bart., and Sir Edm. Bacon, Bart., are lords. The latter is also impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the discharged vicarage, which was augmented in 1817, with a parliamentary grant of £600, and £400 given by the patron and incumbent. It is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Joseph George Jessep, M.A., who has a neat residence here. The Church is a long, ancient structure of flint and rubble, and comprises nave, chancel, and low tower with four bells. In the chancel are three canopied sedilia and a double piscina. Most of the windows are of the early-decorated period and contain some fragments of stained glass. The tithes have been commuted—the rectorial for £181, and the vicarial for £161. 10s. per annum. The National School is a neat red brick structure with residence attached, and was built in 1857, chiefly at the expense of Sir Edmund Bacon, Bart. It is attended by 40 children. The Church Land, 6A. 2R. 22P., was received at the enclosure in exchange for the old Town Lands. At the same time (1822) eight perches were allotted for the site of a school, and 8A. 2R. 8P. for the poor. The latter is let for £27. 5s., which, after the payment of rates, is distributed in coals amongst the poor. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

Bull Mary Ellen, National School
Cumby Perry, butcher & vict. Swan
Curtis James Smith
Evans William, wheelwright
Fearman Robert, pig dealer, &c.
Jessep Rev. Joseph George, M.A., vicar,
The Vicarage
Napp Thornton Mace, travlg. tea dealer
Ray John, bricklayer
Reeve James, marshman
Woodcock Daniel, market gardener
Wigg James, jun., coal and malt dealer and victualler, Cockatrice

COWKEEPERS.
Grimmer John
Nursey Robt. (and shoemaker)
Shardalaw Samuel

FARMERS.
 (* are Owners.)
 Andrews John
 Bexfield James
Grice Joseph
Hayward Nelson (& grazier and cattle dlr.) Carr House

Nursey Daniel
Shardalaw Francis
Shardalaw Thomas (and plumber, carpenter, &c.)
Woods Robert
Wigg Js. sen. Hall
Wigg Js. jun. Staithe
 SHOPKEEPERS.
Leman Timothy
Scarll James (and carpenter)
Yallop Margaret

RAVENINGHAM, a parish of scattered dwellings, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles E.S.E. of Loddon, has 264 inhabitants, and 2415A. 25P. of land. The principal owner of the soil and lord of the manor is Sir Edmund Bacon, Bart., who resides at the Hall, a large modern brick mansion, standing in a verdant park. Sir Edmund is the possessor of two baronetcies, being 9th baronet of Redgrave, and 10th baronet of Mildenhall. In right of the former he is premier baronet, the title having been conferred on his ancestor early in 1611, before the date of any other baronetcy in England, though many were created in the same year. He is impropiator of the tithes, and patron of the perpetual curacy, which was certified at £30, and is now valued at £100 a year. It was augmented in 1817 and '19 with £400 of royal bounty, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Frederick George Goodwin, M.A., of Thurlton, who has eight acres of glebe here. The Church (St. Andrew) stands in the park, and is a neat edifice, comprising nave with north aisle and clerestory, chancel, south porch, and tower. The latter is round at the base and octagonal above, and contains three bells. The windows of the nave are perpendicular. In the north wall of the chancel are four recesses under highly-finished canopies, in which are monumental tablets to the Bacon family. Eastward of these are the effigies of a man and woman under rich canopies and arches of tabernacle work; and on the floor is a brass on which is engraved the portrait of Margaret Castylle, or Castell, with a dragon peeping from under her flounce. On the south side of the chancel, under an arch similar to those on the north, is a tombstone to Roger Castell, Esq., and in the middle of the floor stands a large square white marble monument surmounted by an urn, to the memory of Major Edward Hodge, of the 7th Hussars, who was killed at Waterloo. The Castell family, now extinct, formerly owned the parish, and their old hall is still standing near the road side. Their property, which devolved upon two co-heiresses, passed by marriage to the Bacon and Kerrieh families. A COLLEGE was founded here in 1350, by Sir John de Norwich, for a master and eight secular priests, to officiate in the church. The impropriate tithes were commuted in 1840 for £519.2s. 10d. per annum. At the dissolution, the college and tithes were granted to Sir Anthony Denny, from whose descendants they passed to the Bacons, of which family were those illustrious characters, Friar Roger Bacon, Sir Nicholas Bacon, Lord Keeper of the Great Seal to Queen Elizabeth, and the celebrated Francis Bacon, Lord Verulam. The National School was erected and is supported by the lord of the manor. It is attended by 45 children. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

Bacon Sir Edmund, premier baronet of England, Raveningham Hall
Chapman Samuel, estate carpenter
Dicker Mrs My. housekeeper at the Hall
Cossey John, farm bailiff
Cossey Anna, schoolmistress
Grice William, blacksmith
White Samuel, parish clerk
White William, boot and shoe maker

FARMERS.
(* are Owners.)
Barwick Isaac
Beane Francis
Blunderfield Fras.
Easter Thomas (& gamekeeper)
Easter William
Farrow Benjamin

Fuller William
*Herrod John
Shardalow George
*West Thos. Rt. (& high constable)
Sycamore Farm
MARSHMEN.
Benns George
Thaxter John

STOCKTON, a small straggling village, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.S.E. of Loddon, has in its parish 129 inhabitants, and 1023A. of land, mostly the property of John Kerich, Esq., and Mrs. Lydia Louisa Carlos, the former of whom is lord of the manor of Stockton-with-the-Soke, which comprises most of this parish and those of Geldeston, Gillingham, Ellingham, and Kirby-Cane, and an exclusive right of fishing in the river Waveney. It was held by the Crown in the reign of Elizabeth, but was let in fee farm. A court baron and leet was then held on St. Margaret's day, with exclusive jurisdiction for the recovery of debts under 40s. The tenants were exempt from serving on juries at assizes or sessions, and had commonright on Mickle-fen, now enclosed. The soil is chiefly clay, and produces fine oak timber. At the side of the road, near the boundary of Stockton and Hales, is a large stone, weighing about two tons, called "Stockton Stone," and in the ancient Town Book, still preserved, is an entry, dated 1645, recording the payment of a small sum for "putting stulps to Stockton Stone." The Church (St. Michael) is a small thatched fabric, which was restored and seated with poppy-headed benches in 1856, at a cost of £86. It comprises nave, chancel, south porch, and round tower. The latter contains five bells, and is surmounted by a short spire. The font is octagonal, and ornamented with grotesque winged figures. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £8, and now at £280. It is in the gift of Mrs. Carlos, and incumbency of the Rev. John Coldham, M.A., of Snettisham, for whom the Rev. Daniel Gillett, M.A., of Geldeston, officiates. The glebe is 32 acres, and the tithes were commuted in 1846 for £259. 18s. The Rectory House is occupied by a farmer. The School, a small red brick building, with residence, was built in 1857 by Mrs. Carlos, who still supports it. The Town Estate, which has been held from an early period, for the benefit of the parish at the discretion of the chief inhabitants, comprises two cottages and upwards of 48 acres of land, let for £72 a year, which is applied in the repairs of the church and the relief of the poor. The latter have occasionally distributions of coals, blankets, and bread. Carr's Marshes, an extensive tract of low swampy lands in Stockton and Toftmonks, have long been under a regular system of drainage, and are now well cultivated. The chief residents are—John Barber, gardener and game dealer; Robt. Fulcher, blacksmith; Sarah Grice, vict., Black Boy; Richard Savage, parish clerk; Hannah Wright, schoolmistress; Henry Youell, carpenter; and Elizabeth Abram, James Barwick, Robert Morris (Manor House), Mrs. Page, and Richard Pearce, farmers. Post from Bungay.

THORPE-NEXT-HADDISCOE, 5 miles E. of Loddon, and 10 miles S.W. of Yarmouth, has in its parish 84 inhabitants, and 824A. 1R. 8P. of land, mostly in the low marshes of the vale of the Waveney, and in the manors of Haddiscoe, Overhall, Netherhall, &c. Sir E. Bacon, Bart., Col. Onslow, H. S. Grimmer, Esq., Jonathan Farrow, Esq., and Messrs. Thos. Sacret, and William Shardalow own most of the soil. The Church (Saint Matthias) is a small fabric, comprising nave, chancel, south porch, and low round tower with two bells. Here are a double aumbry, and a bible dated 1617. The chancel is of red brick, and was built in 1835. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £3. 6s. 8d., in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor and Lord Calthorpe, alternately. The Rev. Geo. Stammers Barrow, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a good residence of white brick, built in 1844 at a cost of £800; a yearly rent-charge of £164. 16s. 8d. awarded in 1840 in lieu of tithes; and 14A. 3R. 24P. of glebe. The Town Land was exchanged, at the enclosure in 1814, for a cottage and 2A. 2R. 19P. let for £6. 10s., which is applied with the church rates. The chief residents are—the Rev. G. S. Barrow, M.A., Rectory; Jas. Hammond, parish clerk; and the following farmers:—Edward Shardalow (and miller), Thomas Bexfield, Thomas Blunderfield, Geo. Beckham, and Amy Brabben. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

THURLTON, a pleasant village, about five miles E. of Loddon and N. of Beccles, has in its parish 420 inhabitants, and 1170 acres of land, half of which is marsh, near the Waveney and the Norwich and Lowestoft Navigation. Jonathan Farrow, Esq., is lord of the manor, but a great part of the soil belongs to H. N. Burroughes, Esq., Messrs. J. E. Sayer, James Spencer, and John Sewell, and some smaller owners. The manor extends into Thorpe and Haddiscoe, and the fines are arbitrary. The Hall estate belongs to Cambridge University, and the rents are attached to the professorship of geology. The Church (All Saints) is a thatched building, comprising nave, chancel, north porch, and square embattled tower with five bells. It was re-roofed in 1859, when the chancel was restored at the expense of the rector. The south doorway and the north porch and doorway are handsome specimens of Norman architecture, but the side windows are perpendicular. The beautiful screen still remains, and here are some old and curious monuments of the Denny family. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d. It is in the patronage of the trustees of the Great Hospital, Norwich, and in the incumbency of the Rev. Fredk. Geo. Goodwin, M.A., who has a commodious white brick residence, built in 1847. The glebe is 23 acres, and the tithes have been commuted for £211 per annum. The National School was built in 1848, at a cost of £220, and is attended by 40 children. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have each a chapel in the parish. Several flint celts have been found here. The Church Land was exchanged at the enclosure, in 1814, for 3A. 1R. 26P., let for £10. 10s. a year. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

Curtis Mrs || Gooch John, hawker
Flaxman William, farm bailiff
Goodwin Rev. Frederick George, M.A., rector of Thurlton, incumbent of Raveningham, and surrogate, Rectory
Grint John, victualler, Queen's Head
Harrison Jas. cowkpr || Taylor Rt. butcher
Manthorpe James, horse breaker
Manthorpe William, veterinary surgeon
Minister Robert, parish clerk & tailor
Money Lieut. George || Scarlett Mr Jas.
Roe Ellen, schoolmistress
Rushmere Sarah, shopkeeper
Smith William, victualler, White Horse
Spore William, victualler, White Hart

Woolorton Robert, schoolmaster	Disney Robert
BLACKSMITHS.	Fox Thomas (and Cooke George	rate collector)
Grint John (and	Hubbard George
gigmaker)	Jennins John
CORN MILLERS.	Napp Thornton
Beck Charles	*Pope Alfred
Disney Robert	*Scarll Charles
FARMERS.	*Sayer John Elliott
(* are Owners.)	*Sayer William
Brabben Robert	Shardalow John
Bond Joseph	Rushmer James
Bond Robert and	*Wigg Freeman
Gregory
*Chapman John

TOFT-MONKS, six miles S.E. by E. of Loddon, and four miles N. of Beccles, has in its parish 427 inhabitants and 2238A. 1R. 36P. of land, including 600 acres of marsh and 76 acres of woods and plantations. The principal owners of the soil are M. McGregor Blacker, Esq., Edward H. Colman, Esq., the Jex, Fuller, Sayer, and other families, and the Master and Fellows of King's College, Cambridge. The latter are lords of the manor, appropriators of the great tithes, and patrons of the discharged vicarage, which is valued in K.B. at £8, and is consolidated with that of Haddiscoe (see page 474). The tithes were commuted in 1840 for £501 per annum, of which the rector of Gillingham receives £26, the rector of Haddiscoe £158. 6s. 8d., and the appropriators £316. 13s. 4d. The glebe is 16 acres, and the common 13A. 1R. 10P. The Church (St. Margaret) comprises nave, chancel, south porch, and octagonal tower. The latter, which is embattled and contains three bells, is a fine specimen of Norman architecture. The windows of the church are of perpendicular character. The chancel was entirely rebuilt in 1849, at a cost of £295; and its roof is of the hammer-beam kind, supported by stone corbels, embellished with winged angels. Here are tablets of the Bayspoole and Lodington, and brasses of the Kedgell and Howlett families. The Elms, the seat of Edw. H. Colman, Esq., is a handsome residence in the Tudor style, surrounded by a moat, and situated near the bank of the Waveney and within a mile of Aldeby railway station. The Town Estate consists of three tenements, a garden, and 11A. 3R. 3P., let for £44. 19s. a year, which is partly distributed in coals and partly applied with the church rates. The poor have the dividends of £42 new $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. stock, left by William Crisp, in 1798.

POST OFFICE at Robert Tripp's. Letters despatched via Beccles at 4 p.m.

Colman Edward Hovell, Esq. The Elms
 Forder Mr James || Ives Wm. thatcher
 Pettingill William, marshman
 Rackham John, shoemkr || Riches John,
 Tibenham Richard, butcher [shoemaker
 Tripp Robt. blacksmith & rate collector Wooltorton Mr. Robert, Windle Place
 Youngman Charles, vict. White Lion

FARMERS.
 (* are Owners.)
 Broek Jeremiah
 Brown Samuel
 Dawson Jonathan
 Farrow Edmund
 *Fuller James
 *Fuller John

*Jex William
 *Maddle William
 *Rabett Thomas
 Winter Alfred
 Wood Thomas
 SHOPKEEPERS.
 Allison Mary Ann
 Farrow Elizabeth

WHEATACRE ALL SAINTS is a parish of scattered houses, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles E.N.E. of Beccles and 12 miles S.S.W. of Yarmouth. It comprises 160 inhabitants and 1163A. 2R. 20P. of land, partly in low marshes near the river Waveney, which divides it from Suffolk. The executors of the late R. H. Gurney, Esq., are lords of the manor and owners of a great part of the soil. The Church (All Saints) stands on an eminence, commanding extensive prospects, and is a thatched edifice consisting of nave, chancel, chancel aisle, south porch, and low square tower with one bell. The upper part of the screen remains, and in the chancel is a piscina. Here is also a harmonium presented by the rector in 1859. The aisle, or mortuary chapel, contains an aumbry, and is separated from the chancel by two arches, now blocked up, under one of which is an altar tomb. The parish school is held in this part of the sacred edifice, and is attended by about 35 children. The discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 6s. $5\frac{1}{2}$ d., is in the patronage of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge. The Rev. Wm. Henry Brown, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a good residence, about 70 acres of glebe, and a yearly tithe rent-charge of £224, awarded in 1840. At the enclosure, 8A. 3R. of marsh were awarded to the poor, and are now let for £16, which is distributed in coals. Post from Beccles.

Brown Rev. Wm. Henry, M.A. Rectory
 Greengrass William, market gardener, parish clerk, and rate collector
 Huke Martin, blacksmith
 Last George, victualler, White Lion

FARMERS.—(* are Owners.)
 *Cooper Robert || *Eade Robert
 Ellis Samuel || *Turner Robert
 *Grimmer George (and carpenter)
 Gardiner Samuel, Hall farm

LODDON HUNDRED

Extends about ten miles south from the river Yare, and is from five to six miles in breadth, being bounded on the north by Blofield, on the east by Clavering, on the south by Earsham and a small part of the river Waveney, near Bungay; and on the west by Depwade and Henstead Hundreds. It has generally a fertile soil, is well cultivated, and abounds with wood and water. Near the river Yare it has a rich but watery tract of marshes, with several rivulets and "broads." It is in the Deanery of Brooke, and Archdeaconry of Norfolk. It has its name from the market town of Loddon, where Petty Sessions are held every alternate Wednesday; and Jas. Cope- man, Esq., is clerk to the magistrates. It comprises 21 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1861, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed to the county rate, in 1843, and their territorial extent, in assessable acres:—

PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.	PARISHES.	Popln. in 1861.	Annual Value. £.	Num- ber of Acres.
Alpington.....	208	1054	520	Langley	316	3244	2700
Ashby	257	1064	488	Loddon	1153	5724	2988
Bedingham	288	1868	1340	Mundham	282	2316	1547
Broome	505	2526	1443	Seething	431	2620	1571
Carleton St. Peter..	79	1000	765	Sisland.....	76	726	467
Chedgrave	387	2318	1432	Thurton	257	1346	772
Claxton.....	202	1134	992	Thwaite St. Mary.	136	970	667
Ditchingham	1100	4586	2083	Topcroft	418	3230	1875
Hardley	271	2132	1428	Woodton	531	3516	2112
Hedenham	280	2530	1770
Hellington	98	888	516	Total*	7520	46,340	28,495
Kirstead	245	1548	1009

* The whole Hundred is in Loddon and Clavering Union, which was incorporated under an act passed in 1765, but is now managed in accordance with the provisions of the Poor Law Acts (see page 446). It is in Loddon Police Division.

ALPINGTON, a pleasant village on the southern acclivity of a lofty ridge, near Yelverton, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. by S. of Norwich, has in its parish 208 inhabitants, and about 520 acres of land, mostly belonging to E. W. Trafford and W. P. Moore, Esqrs. Its church was dilapidated many centuries ago, and no traces of it now remain. Its rectory has been consolidated from an early period with that of Yelverton, a parish on the opposite side of the hill, with which Alpington was united also for the support of the poor till 1836. The tithes of the two parishes have been commuted for about £410 per annum. The Fuel Allotment, awarded to the poor of Alpington at the enclosure, is 9A. 1R. 31P., let for £13 a year. They have also a share of Rant's Charity, as noticed with Yelverton. Here is a small National School. The chief residents are Sarah Bacon, vict. Wheel of Fortune; Wm. Bassham, shopkeeper and wheelwright; Mr. James Freestone; James Whitmore, market gardener and shoemaker; and the following farmers, viz.:—Wm. Andrews, John Burgess, Saml. Knights, John Lester, Chas. Reeder, Mrs. Taylor, Randell Ward, and Thomas Williamson. The last two are landowners. Post from Norwich, via Bergh Apton.

ASHBY, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. by E. of Norwich, and three miles N.N.W. of Loddon, has in its parish 257 inhabitants, and 488 acres of land belonging to Robert Gilbert, Esq., and some smaller owners. Sir Charles H. Rich, Bart., is lord of the manor; and he and Sir T. W. Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., are alternate patrons of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, and consolidated with Carleton St. Peter. The Church (St. Mary) is a long structure of brick, flint, and rubble, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with three bells. The ancient stoup remains; and the south doorway is of pure Norman character, with well-executed chevron and other mouldings. The Rectory House stands in this parish, and was built in 1858 at a cost of £900. The tithes of Ashby were commuted in 1840 for £176 a year; and here are 28 acres of glebe and a small school. Ashby Hall, the seat of Robt. Gilbert, Esq., is a handsome modern residence of white brick, situated on an eminence and commanding extensive views. Post from Norwich, via Bergh Apton.

Cooper Henry, Esq. Berry Mr Wm.	Whiles Samuel, cowkeeper, and thrashing machine proprietor
Forder Thomas, boot and shoemaker	FARMERS.
Gilbert Robert, Esq., J.P. Ashby Hall	(* are Owners.)
Pegg Rev. David, Baptist minister	Smith John (and parish clerk)
Perowne Rev. John, Rectory	Bedingfield Frances *Starling James
Rushmore John F. corn miller	Chamberlin Michael Tibbenham Charles
Shreeve Isaac, cowkeeper	Fisher Geo. Basey Waites William
Tabor Henry, shopr. & Hannah, school	*Hawkins John Woolnough George

BEDINGHAM, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Bungay, and 11 miles S. by E. of Norwich, has in its parish 288 inhabitants and 1340A. 1R. 20P. of land. Clement Wm. Unthank, Esq., is lord of the manor and chief owner, but Thos. French, Esq., Capt. Margitson, Miss Foster, and others, have estates here. The Church (St. Andrew) is an interesting structure of transitional architecture, and comprises nave with aisles and clerestory, south porch, chancel, and tower. The latter contains five bells, and is round at the base and octagonal above. There is an aumbry in the north and a stoup in the south aisle. The chancel screen is in a good state of preservation, and retains part of its gilding. In the chancel are sedilia and a piscina. The windows of the aisles are perpendicular, and those on the north side contain some fragments of old painted glass. The chancel doorway is a fine specimen of the transition style, having a pointed arch with well-executed mouldings and late Norman shafts and capitals. The north doorway is of similar character. The discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5, is in the incumbency of the Rev. Chas. W. Löhr, B.A., and was augmented in 1778 with £200 of Q.A.B., and £200 of benefaction money, laid out in 14 acres of land at Pulham. C. W. Unthank, Esq., as principal impropriator of the great tithes, is the patron, on the nomination of the Bishop. There are seven other impropriators. The rectorial tithes were commuted in 1840 for £280. 10s., and the vicarial for £142. 10s. per annum. The Vicarage House was built in 1844 at a cost of £631, and here are about ten acres of glebe. The School, with teacher's house annexed, is a neat building of coloured brick in the domestic Tudor style, and was built in 1863 at a cost of £450. Woodton and Topcroft were anciently in this parish. The Town Lands, 29A. 1R., are let for £49, applied in the service of the church; but the poor have a right to part of it. The poor have about £15. 15s. a year from 10A. 1R. 8P. in Seething parish, left by Wm. Purser, in 1634; and 15s. a year, left by Thomas Stone, in 1687. The latter is paid by the lay rector, with 15s. for a sermon. Mary Button, in 1834, left one right of commonage at Bungay, the income of which, amounting to £2 a year, is distributed in bread on Good Friday; and Phæbe Gooch, in 1856, bequeathed £105. 5s. 3d. three per cent. consols, the interest of which (£3. 3s.) is given in bread on Christmas day. Post from Bungay.

Bailey James, victualler, Triple Plea
Beckett Robert, carpenter and joiner
Everett George, miller
Palmer Eliza, shopkeeper
Fairhead Samuel, parish clerk

Fairhead John, cowkeeper
Folkard William, blacksmith
Löhr Rev. Chas. Wm., B.A., Vicarage
Pearce Catherine, schoolmistress
Ringer William, boot & shoe maker

FARMERS.
(* are Owners.)	Banham Robert	Everett Geo., jun.	Rackham George,
Banham George	Barber Thomas	Hardy William	Priory Farm
Banham Jas., sen.	Borrett Samuel	Lodge Frederick	Tidnam Ts. (& car-
Banham Jas., jun.	*Burgess Joseph	Poll Robert, Lodge	rier to Norwich)
	Cunningham Thos.	Farm	*Walker Tiffard

BROOME, 2 miles N. by E. of Bungay, and 13 miles S.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 505 inhabitants and 1443 acres of land. The Trustees of the late Sir Wm. F. Fowle Middleton, Bart., own most of the soil, and are lords of the manor. Broome Place, a neat mansion overlooking the vale of the Waveney, belongs to Mrs. Carlos, but is now occupied by Col. Pillans. Mr. Wm. Edward Cross also has an estate in the parish. The Church (St. Michael) is a small building of perpendicular architecture, and comprises nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with five bells. The chancel contains sedilia and a piscina; and the heads of two of its windows are filled with old painted glass. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., is in the patronage of Miss Benjafield, and incumbency of the Rev. James Wm. Wenn, M.A., who has a substantial brick residence, rebuilt in 1861. There are 26 acres of glebe, and the tithes have been commuted for £292 a year, of which £6 belong to the rector of Ditchingham. The Town Lands, 27A. 3R. 19P., let for £79. 7s. 6d. a year, have been vested in trust since the 11th of Henry VIII., for the repairs of the church and other "town charges." The Fuel Allotment, awarded at the enclosure in 1806, is 10A. 1R. 30P., let with 4A. 19P. awarded to the Town Lands, for £17. 8s. a year, which is distributed in coals to the poor, who have also the interest of £120. 12s. 5d. three per cent. annuities, derived from the sale of an acre of allotment land. Post from Bungay.

Catchpole John, brick-kiln manager	BRICKLAYERS.	Long James
Crowfoot William, victualler, Artichoke	Bull Isaac	Palmer John
Frost William, cowkeeper	Elden James, sen.	Pulford Charles
Hunt Jane, shopkeeper	Elden James, jun.	Snowling Frederick
Long Robert, beerhouse	FARMERS.	(& cattle dealer)
Smith Jeremiah, carpenter	Barrett Benjamin	Spilling Maria
Pillans Colonel, Broome Place	Cross Wm. Edward	Smith John
Smith Perigrine, victualler, Tuns	Doe James	MARKT. GARDENERS.
Sutton William, wheelwright	Gooda John	Harper William
Wenn Rev. James Wm., M.A., Rectory	Minns James (and	Ramus George (&
Wisken Thomas, corn miller	boat owner)	shoemaker)

CARLETON ST. PETER, 8 miles S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 79 inhabitants and 765 acres of land. Sir T. W. B. Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., owns all the soil, and is lord of the manor; and he and Sir Chas. H. Rich, Bart., are alternate patrons of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £9, and now at £294, with that of Ashby annexed to it. The Rev. John Perowne is the incumbent, and resides at Ashby, where the Rectory House is situated. (See page 482.) Here are three acres of glebe, and the tithes of Carleton were commuted in 1840 for £118. The Church was thoroughly restored in 1844 at a cost of £700, and comprises nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with four bells. In the chancel is a piscina. About forty years ago an urn containing several gold and silver Roman coins of the lower empire was found here. The chief residents are—Wm. Smith, market gardener; John Fish, farmer and vict., Beauchamp Arms; and My. A. Branch, and Edm. P. Hylton, farmers. Post from Norwich via Loddon.

CHEDGRAVE, on the north bank of the Thurne rivulet, is a northern suburb of Loddon, 9 miles S.E. of Norwich. Its parish has 387 inhabitants, and 1432A. 2R. 22P. of land, mostly belonging to Sir T. W. B. Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., the lord of the manor and patron of the discharged rectory, which was valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Alfred Barrett, M.A., who has a small residence, 6A. 1R. 15P. of glebe, and a yearly rent charge of £221. 10s. The Church (All Saints) is a small building, consisting of nave, chancel, north aisle, and low square tower containing one bell and having a thatched roof. The south doorway is a good specimen of Norman work, and the east window is filled with beautiful stained glass, purchased by a former Lady Beauchamp, and brought from Rouen Cathedral at the time of the first French Revolution. A National School and teacher's residence were built a few years ago. The Rev. J. D. Gilbert, Peterhouse College, Cambridge; Rev. George Tuck, G. S. Kett, Esq., and Edmund Holmes, Esq., have estates in the parish. The poor parishioners have the use of four acres of common land, called Lye's Heath. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

Barrett Rev. Hy. Alfred, M.A., rector of Chedgrave & inc. of Langley, Rectory
 Baldwin Wm. cooper || Burton Miss Eliz.
 Cheston Charles, head gardener
 Cleveland Alfred, veterinary surgeon
 Comby Wm. smith || Forder Geo. thatcher
 Gilbert Rev. John Denny, M.A., rector of Hellington, Manor House
 Goff Johnson, shopkeeper
 Hewitt William, marshman
 Hunting Daniel, veterinary surgeon
 Lodge Mrs Sush. || Newson Robert, tailor

Lusher Christopher, shepherd
 Rudrum Daniel, farmer
 Randlesome James, scripture reader
 Ship Rob. par. clerk || Wigg Jno. pig dlr.
 Watson James, victualler, White Horse
 Wright Sarah N., mistress, National Schl
 BRICKLAYERS.
 Branch Robert
 Crisp Charles
 CARPENTERS.
 Armsby Joseph (&
 well sinker) | Hoddy Jno. & Wm.
 Leech Jno. (estate)
 SHOEMAKERS.
 Cullum William
 Mallett James
 Snelling Samuel

CLAXTON, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 202 inhabitants and 991A. 3R. 28P. of land. Sir Charles H. J. Rich, Bart., owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor, impropiator, and patron of the vicarage, which was augmented with £200 of Q.A.B. in 1810. The Rev. George Gilbert, M.A., is the incumbent, and the tithes were commuted in 1846 for £130 to the impropiator, and £57. 1s. 1d. to the vicar. The Church (Saint Andrew) is a thatched building, comprising nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with three bells. The chancel contains a piscina; and an altar tomb with mutilated effigies of Henry Gawdy, his wife, and four children. He is represented in armour, and his wife in a dress of the Elizabethan period. Here are also inscriptions to the Bushby, Rouse, and other families. A National School was built in 1848, and a teacher's house has since been added. The Particular Baptists have a chapel here, built in 1749 and enlarged in 1800. It has 800 sittings, and is under the ministry of the Rev. David Pegg, of Ashby. In the reign of Edward III., the Kerdistons had license to castellate their manor-house here, and a charter for a market and fair. Here are still some remains of the ancient manor-house. The Poor's Allotment, 6A. 3R. 5P., was awarded at the enclosure, in the 48th of George III., and is now let for £8. 15s. a year. The Church Land is 5A. 24P. Post from Norwich, via Bergh Apton.

Chapman Eliz. & Durrant John, shops.
 Folkard James, blacksmith
 Fuller John, carpenter and joiner
 Gilbert Rev. George, M.A., vicar
 Hood Ruth, teacher, National School
 Sharman Thomas, victualler, Folly
 Walpole Henry, parish clerk

FARMERS.
 (* are Owners.)
 Batchelder Jerh.
 Burton Maria
 *Chapman Geo. (& corn miller)
 *Crane Thomas

Hazell Charles
 Martin Robert
 Youngs Arabia
 MARKT. GARDENERS
 Long Robert
 Lovewell William
 Sharman Thomas

DITCHINGHAM, a large scattered village, extending southward to the river Waveney, opposite Bungay, 13 miles S.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 1100 inhabitants, 2084 acres of land, and a large Silk Mill, erected about 32 years ago, and belonging to Messrs. Grout and Co., of Norwich, who employ here about 500 hands. The large heath in this and Broome parish, was enclosed in 1812. The manors are—Ditchingham and Pirnhow, and the fines are arbitrary. The Duke of Norfolk is lord of the former, and John Longueville Bedingfeld, Esq., is lord of the latter, and owner of Ditchingham Hall, a handsome mansion, built in 1727, with picturesque grounds, near a rivulet which is expanded into a fine broad or lake. Ditchingham House, a substantial brick residence on a large lawn, is the seat of Capt. John Margitson, who also owns The Lodge, a good residence, now occupied by Colonel Wilson. Holly Hill Lodge, a neat modern residence with pleasant grounds, is the seat and property of Robert White, Esq. Tindall Hall, now a farm house, belongs to the executors of the late Sir W. F. Middleton, Bart.; and several smaller landowners have estates in the parish. Close to the Waveney is a Bath, formed by the late Wm. Windham, Esq., and supplied by remarkably cold water. The Church (Saint Mary) stands on an eminence, nearly 2 miles N. of Bungay, and is a handsome flint-and-stone building of perpendicular architecture, comprising nave, chancel, north and south porches, and lofty square tower containing six bells and having four crocketed pinnacles. The rood-screen is of the date of Henry II. The reredos is modern, and beautifully carved. In the chancel is a brass dated 1490, representing Philip Bosard; and in the nave is another to Roger Bosard, dated 1505. The east window is of three lights, and is filled with stained glass by O'Connor, of London, to the memory of Capt. Samuel Ives Sutton. It represents the Lord's Supper, the Ascension, and the three Marys with the Angel at the Sepulchre. The church contains a harmonium, purchased by subscription in 1862. Mural paintings representing the Resurrection, and the legend of "les trois vifs et les trois morts" were discovered on the north wall in 1848. A neat Chapel of Ease, in the early English style, was built in 1863, at a cost of about £1400, in that part of the parish which was anciently the parish of Pirnhow. The Rectory, valued in K.B. at £12, is now in the patronage of George Shaw, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. William Edward Scudamore, M.A., who has a commodious red-brick residence in the Elizabethan style, built about 60 years ago. The tithes were commuted in 1839 for £560 per annum, and here are 30 acres of glebe. The National and Infant Schools form a neat building, erected in 1839, and attended by about 160 children. The House of Mercy, or Female Reformatory, was founded in 1858 by the rector, and is a large building, with room for 30 penitents. It is conducted by the Church of England Sisterhood, who are now building an Orphanage for impoverished female children of the better classes, at a short distance from the Reformatory. The rector is Warden of the House of Mercy and Orphanage, and Miss Lavinia Cross is the Superioress. The poor have four tenements occupied rent free, and 3A. 1R. 32P. of land, let for £12. 18s. 6d., left by John Gowing and John Towers, in 1668; and a yearly rent charge of £2 left by Robert Davy in 1725, out of a meadow now belonging to J. L. Bedingfeld, Esq. The Town Lands, 61A. 1R. 25P., are let for £120 a year, which is applied towards the repairs of the church and in distributions of coals. In 1862, some labourers discovered eight or ten earthenware jars or urns about 2½ feet below the surface, near the Orphanage. Only three of them were preserved entire. Many years ago an urn was found here filled with those minute late Roman coins which are supposed to have been thrown among the populace on public occasions.

POST OFFICE at Robert Davy's. Letters via Bungay.

Bedingfeld Geo. Longueville, Esq., Hall	Burcham Robert, victualler, Falcon
Bedingfeld John Longueville, Esq., Hall	Brown Cath. & My. A., National School
Boulter Thomas Hy., silk mill manager	Cross Miss Lavinia, House of Mercy
Bowes Rt. police man Bull Sl. bricklayer	Charlish John, gamekeeper

Cornaby John, plumber, painter, &c.
 Cuddon Thomas, brewer and maltster
 Cuddon Wm. corn and timber merchant
 Dann Wm. dyer || Foreman Robt. cooper
 Dutt William, coach builder
 Draper Elizabeth, earthenware dealer
 Godbolt Wm. carter || Legood Rbt. joiner Grout and Co., silk manufacturers (and Norwich and Yarmouth)
 Gibbs Edward, victualler, Duke of York
 Harris Absalom, cowkeeper & beerseller Margitson Capt. John, Ditchingham Hs.
 Margitson Mrs, Ditchingham House
 Mann Rd. & Wm. corn & coal merchants
 Norman Mr Robert
 Pipe John, furniture broker
 Raven Charles and Mark, woodmen
 Robson Jonathan, wheelwright
 Roe John, parish clk. || Todd Js. rag dlr
 Smith Robert Roger, corn miller

Stowards William, beerhouse
 Scudamore Rev. Wm. Edw., M.A., Rectory
 Utting Mr Thomas || Webb Mr J. G.
 White Robert, Esq., Holly Hill Lodge
 Welton Hazel, thrashing machine owner
 Wilson Colonel George, The Lodge
 Woods Jas. butcher || Tyrrell Mark, clk.
 Watson George, station master

BLACKSMITHS.

Folkard Henry
 Smith William

FARMERS.

Brock John Johnson David (and hay dealer)
 Millard Philip S.
 (and land agent)
 Minns John, Town
farm
 Minns Mrs

Simmons Francis

Skinner Samuel
 Smith John

Walker William

SHOEMAKERS.

Bransby Brown
 Tidnam Edward

Tidnam Samuel

SHOPKEEPERS.

Claxton Henry
 Garrould William
 Skinner John

HARDLEY, in the vale of the Yare, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E.N.E. of Loddon, and 12 miles E.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 271 inhabitants, and 1428A. of land belonging to several owners, the largest of whom is Sir T. W. B. Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., lord of the manor. Hardley Cross, near a staithe, is the boundary of the jurisdictions of Norwich and Yarmouth on the river. The Church (St. Margaret) is a small edifice, comprising nave, chancel, north porch, and round tower with three bells. In the chancel is a piscina; and the font is ornamented with the evangelistic symbols. Here is a small harmonium, given by the parishioners. The Trustees of the Great Hospital, Norwich, are impropriators of the tithes, which were commuted in 1842 for £328 per annum. They are also patrons of the perpetual curacy, valued at £120 a year, and now in the incumbency of the Rev. George S. Goodman, M.A., of Loddon. The Wesleyans have a chapel here, built about fifty years ago, and enlarged in 1835 and 1857. The Church Land, 6A. 2R. 25P. is let for £11 a year. The chief residents are Mrs. Sarah Belward, Jas. Belward. vict., Staithe House; James Brundell, blacksmith, farmer, and rate collector; Wm. Crisp, carrier to Norwich; Wm. Colls, carpenter; William Fish, shoemaker and parish clerk; John Forder, thatcher; John Plow, wheelwright, farmer, and owner; Wm. Plow, shoemaker; John Reeve, farmer and market gardener; Daniel Rudrum, farmer, butcher, and shopkeeper; Wm. Shreeve, cowkeeper; and Wm. Edward Cross, William Carver, Edward Goddard, Wm. Goddard, George Page; Martha Riches, and Robert Riches Spence, farmers. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

HEDENHAM, 3 miles N.N.W. of Bungay, and 11 miles S.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 280 inhabitants and 1770A. 2R. of land. F. W. Irby, Esq., is lord of the manor, but a considerable part of the soil belongs to J. L. Bedingfeld and C. W. Unthank, Esqrs. At the Mermaid Inn is a beautiful Rosary of three acres, highly celebrated for supplying the most valuable varieties. There is an extensive brickyard in this parish, the brick earth of which furnishes excellent materials for red and white tiles, drain pipes, vases, and other ware. In 1858, the brickmakers discovered about a foot below the surface, near the Bungay road, a Roman cinerary urn and the fragments of several others; and about 25 yards distant they found at a depth of a yard from the surface, a perfect Roman kiln. This was $7\frac{1}{2}$ feet across at the mouth, but at three feet below the top contracted suddenly to 5 feet, forming round the interior a flat shelf 13 inches wide, on which the ware was placed for burning. Four feet below this shelf the floor was reached; and on the west side a rudely arched stoke-hole opened from without into the lower part of the kiln, exhibiting traces of fierce fire on its reddened and smoked sides. This furnace-hole was flanked on either side by five rude steps cut in the solid clay, and evidently partially baked. The interior shewed the action of intense firing on the native clay, out of which the kiln was scooped; what seemed at the first glance to be rude courses of brick, being only the varying beds of stratified brick-earth, which had taken different shades of colour, red or white, as the thin beds were more or less sandy or clayey. At the top was a flue-like aperture, on the south side, much smoked and charred. A quantity of lumps of hard chalk, which must have been brought from a considerable distance, was found at the bottom, and leads to the inference that the kiln had been used for lime burning after it was abandoned by the potters. This interesting relic of antiquity was soon destroyed after being exposed to the rain and frosts. The date of both kiln and urns may undoubtedly be assigned to a period anterior to the close of the fourth century. The Church (St. Mary) is a large structure of early-decorated architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower with six bells. The chancel contains sedilia and a piscina, and its floor is laid with encaustic tiles. The reredos bears symbolic carvings of the sacramental elements, and here are many monuments of the ancient family of Bedingfeld. In 1863, the church was fitted with new oak benches, the north windows were restored, and a new chancel arch was inserted. The discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., is in the patronage of J. L. Bedingfeld, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Robert Manning Marshall, M.A., who has a good residence, about 30 acres of glebe, and a yearly rent-charge of £458, awarded in 1839 in lieu of tithes. The dividends of £62. 2s. 4d. stock, left by William Crispe, are applied towards the support of the school, which is attended by 30 scholars. The Town Lands, 54A. 34P., are let for £80, which is applied with the church and poor rates. The parish has a double cottage occupied by poor families.

POST OFFICE at Robert Benj. Bircham's. Letters via Bungay, at 4 p.m.

Bircham Robt. Bj. florist & vict.	Mermaid	Mann Colonel John, Hedenham Hall
Brooks Simon, wheelwright		Read James, carpenter and joiner
Cattermole Clarissa, schoolmistress		Smith George, parish clerk, boot and shoe maker, rate collector, & overseer
Catchpole John, manager of brick kilns		FARMERS.
Folkard Thomas, blacksmith		Moore Wm. Richd.
Foulsham Geo. shopr Juby Wm. shoer		Reeve Edward
Goodram Benjamin, cowkeeper		Sampson George
Leach Emanuel, market gardener		Stamford William
Marshall Rev. Robert M., M.A. Rectory		Woods John Cattermole George
		Faulke Robert
		Freeman Frederic
		Hudson John

HELLINGTON, or Hillington, 7 miles S.E. of Norwich, has only 98 inhabitants, and 516A. of land, belonging to Doughty's Hospital Norwich, Major Marcon, Rev. R. C. Denny, Rev. George Gilbert, and Thomas Cooke, Esq. Sir Charles H. J. Rich, Bart. is lord of the manor, and he and W. A. Gilbert, Esq., are alternate patrons of the discharged rectory, which is now in the incumbency of the Rev. John Denny Gilbert, M.A., of Chedgrave Manor House. The Church (St. John the Baptist) is a small but interesting building chiefly of early-decorated architecture, and consists of nave, chancel, south porch, and round tower. The north side of the chancel is without windows, but on the south side are three, each of two lights, but all differing in the pattern of the tracery; and to the east of them is a double piscina. Outside the chancel is a beautifully designed gable-cross. The tracery of the east window is gone, but its shafts with flowered capitals remain in the inside. On the south side of the nave are two early-decorated windows, differing from each other and from those in the chancel; but on the north side there is only one window, which is of the perpendicular style, and of two lights. The two doorways of the nave are Norman; that on the north side is of handsome character, having shafts with cushion capitals, a kind of lozenge or saltire ornament on the arch and the billet moulding on the label. The south doorway is much finer, and has three orders of mouldings, with capitals of various design. The arch is richly sculptured with the chevron, double cone, and other mouldings. The porch is a highly ornamented specimen of the early decorated style, and has three windows or open arches on each side. These differ in design; that next the church being trefoiled, the middle one cinquefoiled, and the outer one trefoiled and double-feathered. At the angles are buttresses, with elegant trefoiled niches in them, the triangular heads crocketed. Above the outer doorway was a niche containing a figure of the patron saint, but the upper part has been destroyed. Here is a small brass to Sir Anthony Gawdy, Kt., dated 1642. In 1796, John Cock charged the farm, now belonging to Major Marcon, with £5 a year, for apprenticing a poor boy alternately from Hillington, Rockland, and Bramerton. He also left yearly 10s. to Hillington, and 20s. each to Bramerton and Rockland, for distributions of bread. The poor of Hillington have also a yearly rent-charge of 20s. left by John Seaman, in 1749, and 20s. 8d. per annum as the interest of a sum of money in the three per cent. consols, left by John Barham. The chief residents are James Hazell, shopkeeper and parish clerk; Robert Thorpe, butcher; and Jessie Andrews, George Brewer, John Goddard, and John Hurrell, farmers. Post from Norwich, via Framingham.

KIRSTEAD, 8 miles S.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 245 inhabitants, and 1009 acres of land. G. S. Kett, Esq., is lord of the manor and owner of a great part of the soil. The rest belongs to Charles Kerrison, Esq., Bethel Hospital, in Norwich, Mr. Wm. D. Whall, and a few smaller owners. The Hall, a large Elizabethan mansion of red brick, is the property of G. S. Kett, Esq. It contains some excellent carvings in wood, and has the date 1614 over the entrance. The Church (St. Margaret) is a small building, consisting of nave and chancel, with a wooden cupola containing two bells. The seats are open poppy-headed benches, and the communion rails are of iron with brass finishings. In the chancel are four small windows filled with stained glass, some of them in memory of members of the Kerrison family, to whom here are also several mural tablets. About seven years ago two stone coffin lids were dug up in the churchyard. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £10, is in the patronage of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and in the incumbency of the Rev. Jonathan Bates, M.A., who has a neat residence, a yearly tithe rent-charge of £300, and about 38 acres of glebe. Here was anciently another parish called Langhale, but its church (St. Stephen) was long ago demolished, and its rectory annexed to that of Kirstead, which is sometimes called Kirstead-with-Langhale. The poor have 20s. a year left by Thomas Spooner, in 1630, out of land belonging to G. S. Kett, Esq.

POST OFFICE at John Booth's. Letters from Norwich, via Brooke.

Bates Rev. Jonathan, M.A., Rectory
 Booth John, shoemaker
 Howlett Zachariah, parish clerk
 Kerrison Charles, Esq., Langhale House
 Loynes William, shoemaker
 Redgrave Richard, shopkeeper
 Tibbenham William, vict., Green Man

Utting John, farm bailiff, Hall
 Whall Mr William Dring
 Whurr William, bricklayer

FARMERS.

Atmore Michael Baxter Thomas
 Butcher George

Martin William
 Tibbenham James
 Wilson John
 Yallop Rbt. (owner)

LANGLEY is a parish of scattered dwellings, extending from the river Yare southward to within a mile of Loddon, and about 10 miles S.E. of Norwich. It has 316 inhabitants, and 2700A. of land, of which 1000A. are in low marshes. The Church (St. Michael), is a long structure, comprising nave, chancel, north porch, and square tower with five bells. The east window is filled with stained glass of rich colour and rare shades, which was brought from Rouen cathedral at the time of the first French Revolution, and placed here by a late Lady Beauchamp. It represents Pilate coming out of the Hall of Judgment, the Adoration of the Magi, &c. Two of the side windows of the chancel contain stained glass with the arms of the Berney and other families, and the windows of the nave have the four evangelists painted upon them. The roof of the nave is of the hammer-beam kind, and bears carvings of the Beauchamp arms. The perpetual curacy, certified at £20, and now valued at £45 per annum, was augmented from 1772 to 1824 with £600 of Q.A.B., and is in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Alfred Barrett, M.A., of Chedgrave. Sir Thomas William Brograve Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., is patron. He is also impropiator of the tithes, owner of the soil, and lord of the manor, and resides at Langley Hall, a large and elegant mansion in a beautiful park of 800 acres, chiefly erected about the year 1740 by Mr. Recorder Berney, of Norwich, and finished by George Proctor, Esq. It was afterwards enlarged by Sir W. Beauchamp-Proctor, who was created a baronet in 1744, and made a Knight of the Bath. Additions were made to its wings some years ago. The centre is in five divisions, and has a handsome Doric portico; and the wings are connected with it by a semicircular sweep, and at each end of them are statues from the antique, placed in niches. The apartments contain a large collection of paintings, statues, busts, &c. The first baronet, Sir Wm. Beauchamp, was the son of the heiress of the Proctor family, and added their name and arms to his own. He represented Middlesex in parliament from 1747 to 1768. The present baronet resumed the name of Beauchamp by royal license in 1852. Near the park is a stone cross, ornamented with four statues in niches; and at a short distance are the ruins of Langley Abbey, founded in 1198, by Roger Fitz-Roger, for an abbot and 16 canons of the Præmonstratensian order. The ample endowment of the founder was confirmed by King John, who granted the parish a market and fair, with sac, soc, and other privileges. The abbey received considerable additions from the posterity of the founder, who took the name of De Clavinger. It had many other benefactors, and its revenues were valued at £128. 19s. 9d. per annum at the dissolution, and were granted, with the site of the abbey, to John Berney, Esq. The abbey farm house was burnt down in 1800, and afterwards rebuilt. About a mile from the church is Langley Staithe, on a small navigable stream, which crosses the marshes to the Yare. At the enclosure, 40 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, and are now let for £40 a year. The Church Land is 2A. 1R. 18P.; and here is a parish gravel pit of one acre. Here is a large parochial School, built in 1830, and having a residence attached. In 1861, Sir Thos. Beauchamp built almshouses for six poor widows, as a tribute of affection to his parents. The chief residents are—Sir Thomas W. B. Proctor-Beauchamp, Bart., Hall; Charles Cumby, blacksmith; Moore Cumby, beerhouse; William Crisp and Samuel Ecclestone, marshmen; Edward Ecclestone, cowkeeper; Robert Hubbard, shopkeeper; Robt. Preston, carter; Barzillai Stimpson, parish clerk; and the following farmers:—Thomas Burton, Wm. Burton, George Chilvers (and butcher), John Cossey, John Rudd (and coal merchant), Jas. Spence, and Rt. Spence. Post from Norwich, via Loddon.

LODDON is a small but pleasant market-town, consisting chiefly of one long street, 10 miles S.E. of Norwich, 6 miles N. by E. of Bungay station, 5 miles S.W. of Reedham station, 15 miles W.S.W. of Yarmouth, and 112 miles N.E. by N. of London. It gives name to this Hundred, and has in its parish 1153 inhabitants, and 2988 acres of land, belonging to G. D. Palmer, Esq., Rev. E. Holmes, Rev. J. D. Gilbert, Jonathan Farrow, Esq., Sir Robert Shafto Adair, Bart., and some smaller proprietors, and lying in the manors, of which the following are the names and lords:—Loddon Hall and Bacons and Hales-Hall, George Danby Palmer,

Esq.; Kirby Hall with Sisland, (otherwise Charles') Lord Berners; and Ingloss, Jas. Cuddon, Esq., late of Norwich. The last was formerly the property of the ancient family of Berney. The chief manor was granted by Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk, to John Segrave, on condition that he should serve him with six knights, as well in time of peace as war, for the term of his whole life. Segrave obtained for it a charter for a market and fair, in the 28th of Edward I. The market is held every Tuesday, for corn, sheep, &c.; and fairs, for stock, &c., on Easter Monday and the first Monday after November 22nd. Petty Sessions are held at the Swan Inn every alternate Wednesday, as noticed at page 481. The magistrates who usually attend here are—Sir E. Bacon, Bart., Sir Thomas P. Beauchamp, Bart., G. S. Kett, Esq., John Kerrich, Esq., J. L. Bedingfeld, Esq., H. K. Tompson, Esq., Henry Smith, Esq., Robert Gilbert, Esq., and the Revs. J. Holmes, E. Postle, and J. J. Smith. James Copeman, Esq., is their clerk. The County Police Station is a commodious building, erected in 1853, and near it is a fire-engine, belonging to the Norwich Union Company. Gas Works were established here in 1864. The Church (Holy Trinity) is a large and handsome structure of perpendicular architecture, built in the reign of Henry VII., about the year 1492. It is faced with cut flints, and consists of nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, south porch, and square embattled tower. The latter is of five stages, contains eight bells, and is surmounted with crocketed pinnacles. The porch has a groined stone roof, with a chamber or parvise above; and in a niche over the outer doorway is a representation of the Holy Trinity. There are fifteen windows on each side of the clerestory, and the roof is of open timber of the hammer-beam kind, resting on stone corbels, over which is a wooden cornice, carved and perforated. The pulpit is of oak, well carved, and of the Jacobean age. On the base panels of the screen (now converted into the backs of pews) are painted the Virgin and Child, the Crucifixion, the Presentation, the Adoration of the Magi, and St. Thomas of the Wood. The fine five-light lofty east window is filled with painted glass, representing Our Saviour, the Twelve Apostles, and numerous shields of arms. The font was once distinguished by the beauty of its sculpture, but in 1642 it was defaced by the Puritans, as shown by the Churchwardens' books, which have been regularly kept since 1554. An organ, given by Mr. Thomas Reynolds in 1821, is placed in a small gallery at the west end. There is a curious old painting hanging on the wall of the south aisle, in which Sir James Hobart and his wife are represented in the attitude of prayer, with Loddon church and St. Olave's bridge in the background, and an inscription beneath, recording that he built the church, and she the bridge. The Hobarts were long seated at Hales Hall, in this parish, and the founder of the church was Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, who died in 1525. His grandson, Sir Henry Hobart, Knight and Baronet, became also Chief Judge of the same Court, and Chancellor to Henry and Charles, Princes of Wales. The foundations of the outer walls of their mansion may still be traced, surrounded by a moat, and the stables are now occupied as a farm-house. The church contains several fine monuments. At the east end of the north aisle is a white marble altar-tomb, with a recumbent effigy of Lady Dionis Williamson, who died in 1684. She gave £2000 towards the rebuilding of St. Paul's, and occupied the mansion of Hales Hall. In the chancel is an altar-tomb, with a brass representing Henry Hobart, Esq., dated 1561; and within the communion-rails is another, having a perfect and rich brass, dated 1615, recording the deaths of James Hobart, Esq., and Frances his wife. Here are mural tablets of the Seymour, Palmer, Brown, and other families. The Bishop of Norwich is appropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage (not in charge), now in the incumbency of the Rev. John James Smith, M.A., who has a large and handsome residence situated on a pleasant lawn. The tithes were commuted in 1841; the vicarial for

